Towing at the parking lot of the Library Avenue Professional Building has caused expensive headaches for parents and teachers at nearby Newark High School.

Towing flattens pocketbooks

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

PARENTS AND TEACHERS at Newark High School have been complaining that parking for some school events is hazardous to their wallet. When the lot at the high school is full during school meetings and athletic events, students and parents have been parking in the lot of the Library Avenue Professional Building next to the high school at the corner of Library and Delaware avenues. According to one parent, who did not want to be named, it cost $85 to get their car back after a soccer game but that was only the beginning.

"We went down to Ewing Towing on Elkton Road as soon as we knew the car was towed," said the parent. "We had money with us, even though we thought $85 was a lot, and there were several employees there but they wouldn't let us have the car."

The parent said they were told Ewing only released cars between 7 a.m. and 6 p.m. because they had problems with fights there when cars were picked up at night.

"My husband had to go to work the next day," said the parent. "We had to make special arrangements to get the car back during the day. What do you do if you can't take time off to go get your car?"

Rock, an employee of Ewing Towing confirmed the times when the company is open and also said that at $85 a tow, they were "the cheapest towing company around."

However, according to a part-time employee who answered the phone at Bryan Towing on Peoples Drive, that company charges only $75 to tow cars from private lots. You can also pick up cars any time, day or night, if you call ahead of time, according to the employee.

Improving traffic could take years

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A pedestrian walkway in the narrow Casho Mill Road underpass could be the first step in improving traffic problems on Newark's western side but there's still a long way to go.

"Are we going to solve Newark's problems one intersection at a time?" asked Jim Terry, Chrysler's representative on the Western Newark Traffic Relief Committee. "We could be here for years and years and years."

At the first meeting of the committee this week, chair Nancy Turner led those attending in drawing up a list of "problem areas" in Newark. "This will give us something to think about," said Turner.

Areas identified in addition to the Casho Mill underpass included:

- Hillside and West Main Street, which does not have enough turning radius for trucks;

- Casho Mill and Barksdale roads;

- Casho Mill and Elkton roads where a traffic light would help;

- South College Avenue where trucks and crosswalks cause constant congestion;

- Christina Parkway which committee members would like extended to Route 273;

Governor drops in for press-side chat

IT WAS "bring-the-governor-to-work-day" at the Newark Post on Oct. 4 when Thomas Carper dropped by to chat with the staff.

Gov. Carper wanted to know what was "hot" in the Newark area and jokingly remarked that he had never heard of the "bypass."

According to Gov. Carper, DelDOT secretary Anne Canby is not convinced that a bypass is the answer to Newark's traffic problems and said other traffic improvements were also being considered.

"The problem with a bypass is Maryland," the governor said. "The Cecil County Commissioners have been presented as the problem, but I've also discussed this in passing with Governor Glendenning (of Maryland) and he's not behind it either."

Asked about repeated requests that he come and talk with residents about construction along along Route 896, Carper said, "I know that these issues go right to the heart of where you live and DelDOT is supposed to be the experts, so I've asked Anne Canby to meet with the residents."

Gov. Carper noted that the new paint facility at Chrysler's assembly plant here will mean jobs during and after the work is complete. "Plant manager Jim Wolfe told me a critical reason Chrysler likes this location is the way the governor of Delaware works with them," said Gov. Carper. "We're known for the fact that if we hear about a business interested in relocating, we'll go and get them!"

Carper, who is running for re-election against state treasurer Janet Rzewnicki, said he has been both coach and quarterback in his career as a legislator and governor. "As governor I get to be quarterback and call the plays for awhile," said Gov. Carper. "I like that."

Gore store burglarized

Newark Police report that on Oct. 8 at about 9:30 p.m. two suspects stole clothing and camping gear valued at over $2,400 from the Gore Apparel Center in Suburban Plaza on Elkton Road. Witnesses said the suspects shattered the store's glass window before removing the items and fleeing in a grey or blue van. Anyone with information is asked to call Newark Police at 366-7111.

Infant carjacked

New Castle County police report that on Oct. 7 around 3:45 p.m. a 31-year-old Bear man had his car and child stolen when he stopped his Jeep Cherokee in the Four Seasons Shopping Center. A suspect, described as a white man in his late 20s, 5 foot 8 inches tall, 200 pounds, wearing a dark bomber jacket and blue pants, jumped in the car and almost ran the man down when the man tried to stop the suspect from driving away. The suspect drove into the development of Four Seasons, taking the man's 9-week-old son who was strapped in the rearseat of the car at the time. After a short time, the suspect abandoned the car and fled on foot. The child was not harmed. Anyone with information is asked to call police at 323-4411 or 1-800-TIP-3333.

Car "picked up" during party

On Oct. 6 about 1:30 a.m. the owner of a 1994 Ford Escort told police that unknown persons moved "picked it up" and moved while he was at a fraternity party on Delaware Avenue. The man told police that the car had a paint streak and blood on the side and handprints which suggested it had been lifted. The car was further dented during a fight which broke out after the man found it had been moved. Police are investigating.

Man threatened with gun

On Oct. 5 around 1:50 a.m. occupants of two vehicles stopped at Delaware and Library avenues got into a verbal argument. When the driver of one car got out, he was maced and hit in the head with a beer bottle by one of the occupants of a third vehicle. When someone in the first vehicle pointed what appeared to be a handgun at the man in the road, he jumped back in his car and drove into the College Square Shopping Center. His vehicle was pursued and pinned in by the other two cars at which point the gun was discharged into the air. The trapped man accelerated and rammed one of the cars to escape. Police found one of the suspect vehicles with rearend damage. The vehicle with the weapon, which police said was a starter pistol, left the scene but was later located. Police said warrants were pending but no one had been charged as yet.

Window broken during party

On the evening of Oct. 16, students threw some people out of a party at a fraternity house on Delaware Avenue next to the Hillel Student Center. Shortly after, the students heard glass breaking and discovered a group in the driveway between the center and the house. A fight then started about the broken window which no one admitted breaking. Police are investigating.

Cooperation possible with youths

By MARY E. PETZAK

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A GROUP calling themselves the "Autonomous Youth Cooperative" hopes to plan youth programs and possibly a community center for young people in Newark.

According to Peter Wells, pastor of the New Ark United Church of Christ and head of a community coalition addressing downtown issues, the people from the group told him they want to organize the plan themselves.

"They want to run this themselves, but they need help," said Wells. "We see this as working together and not as 'doing something for them.'"

Wells said the coalition was setting up an advisory council of community people to meet with the youth to provide support and advice. "Initially the youths have plans for programs, like discussion groups, dances, and coffee houses, that are not site-dependant," said Wells. "But their vision is directed to a youth center."

A group of approximately 25 young people came to city council in August to express their view that Newark needs a youth center.

"Whether it's public or private property, there's no place in Newark for young people to hang out," said Nathan Gray, who spoke at the council meeting. "We want a community center where we're not obliged to purchase (something) in order to be there."

Gray said most of the young people who frequent Main Street do not cause problems and just wanted "to hang out" and not be bothered by police. They wanted to know where in the city a youth center could be located.

Councilmembers at the August meeting said a youth center was proposed in Newark a number of years ago but organizers could not agree on a location.

"We also found that only a few of the young people gathering on Main Street were actually from Newark," said district one member Harold Godwin. "And when we surveyed the kids, they said they did not want to come to a community center because that was too structure."

Councilmembers also commented that community dances for young people sponsored by the city in the past had to be abandoned when fights and drinking caused problems.

In a memo on zoning prepared at the request of city manager Carl Luft, city planning director Roy Lopata said youth centers are permitted "just about anywhere in the city" depending on whether the center is for profit or non-profit.

Where a youth center "should" be was another issue, said Lopata, which involved whether the center can be operated as a non-profit at a reasonable cost or whether it can make money; will the center be acceptable and appropriate at a given location to the nearby community; and do the operators have the ability to manage it?

Lopata added that other issues which potential operators would need to address include building and fire code requirements, parking, and possible state regulations if the center were defined as a "social club."

Miller's jazzes up for re-opening

Miller's Furniture celebrated the grand re-opening of its University Plaza store in style last Friday.

With the Banjo Busters, a Dixieland jazz band, hitting all the right notes, one would have confused the occasion with a small town dedication. Something out of an episode of the TV show "Happy Days."

This impression may not be too far off.

After all, Miller's Furniture has been in New Castle County for nearly a century. The company, which specializes in medium-priced furniture, made its area debut in downtown Newark before moving the store to the Christiana shopping center 25 years ago.

The Christiana store features a selection of name brand items, including Rowe, Pennsylvania House and Drexel-Heritage as well as an expanded leather furniture to keep up with the increased demand. "We're showing all the newest in home furnishings, both traditional and contemporary," said Andrew Miller, president of the company, which spans four generations of his family.

"[The store] needed an updating," Miller said. "It needed to be more consumer-friendly. We decided to reinvest in an area that's been good to us. ...So why leave? Time has made this an even better location."

Renovations for the 30,000-square-foot store, which included a brand new facade, started last March. The store closed for a couple weeks in September to add the finishing touches to the $1 million project.

"I love it," said Amanda Lydic, who lives in Newark. "We went shopping all last week and hit about 10 furniture stores. And we came back here and bought a whole bunch of stuff. We were very impressed."

"It's quite an investment Andy made," store manager Ken Schaefer said. "I'm very proud of what he did. Maybe he'll stay around another 96 years."

The biggest change in the business? Customer knowledge.

"We find that today's consumer is much more educated," said Jason Kraft, who as general manager, has been a fixture (pardon the pun) for 51 years. "And as a result, our staff has to be more educated."

Kraft said the company, which also operates stores in north Wilmington and New Castle, puts much more emphasis on sales training and keeping up with the latest styles in trade publications.

Teacher of the Year at McVey

A THIRD-GRADE teacher at McVey Elementary School in Newark has been named Teacher of the Year for 1996 in the Christina School District.

Cheramy Lee-Howe Farina, who has taught at McVey for 12 years, was applauded by both past and present students as she accepted the award from the Christina school board on Tuesday night.

"My class is very excited," said Farina. "I had to do a portfolio about my background, education, and philosophy of teaching, and apparently mine was what the judges liked."

Originally from Virginia, Farina has taught kindergarten through fourth grade in her 16 years of teaching. "I taught in Virginia Beach and Henrico County (Va.) before coming to Christina," Farina said.

Farina, who holds a bachelor's degree from Longwood College in Virginia, is working on a masters degree in history from West Chester University in Pennsylvania. "I'm interested in any kind of history," said Farina. "The past two summers I studied music history at Oxford University in England."

Giving it the works!

THE CHRISTINA District School Board recently honored Greenworks for the landscape work done in front of the district administration building on Main Street.

Part of REACH, a special education program in the district, Greenworks provides intensive job-training in landscaping and lawncare for students between the ages of 18 and 21.

Randy Bies, site coordinator for Greenworks and Teamworks, which teaches screen-printing, said the district has a number of these "works" programs for special-needs students.

"We just placed a student from Teamworks in a full-time screen-printing job at MBNA," said Bies. "The district also has Autoworks which does auto-detailing, Copyworks which does copying, and Tradeworks which does office cleaning for local organizations."

The student services during job-training are available to the public for a fee which is reinvested in equipment and supplies for the programs.

Comedian, Olympic gold-medalist to appear at Rotary fund-raiser

RAISING FUNDS to send handicapped persons to summer camp could not be more fun than the Newark Rotary Club's wine tasting party this year.

According to organizer Fred Dawson, of Newark, the service club's seventh annual wine tasting fund-raiser on Monday, Oct. 28, will include:

- Special guests including Dionne Harris, Delaware's gold medal-winning Olympic athlete;
- A performance by nationally known stand-up comedian Patrick O'Donnell;

- An appearance by the Diamond Exchange, an all-female barbershop quartet;

- A Halloween contest for those arriving in costume;

- A "silent" auction of a variety of goods and services; and

- A full selection of wines for tasting, as well as "heavy" hors d'oeuvres.

"We plan to have fun, fun, fun," said Dawson, a long-time Newark resident and past president of the Rotary club. "Because this is an annual event, we wanted to bring in some exciting new elements that our supporters will enjoy."

The Rotary event will be held from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Holiday Inn, Route 273, in Newark. Tickets are $15 per person. They are available from any member of the Newark Rotary Club or by calling 737-1711 or 737-0724.

Since the wine tasting fund-raiser was founded by past president John Hentkowski six years ago, the proceeds have gone to fund "camperships" for handicapped persons at Camp Fairlee. The Chesapeake Bay facility is operated by the local Easter Seals office.

"Our club has always been a leader in providing these camperships, thanks to those Newarkers who support our wine tasting party," Dawson said, "and we hope to do even better this year!"

Last year, the Newark Rotary Club gave more than $3,300 to Camp Fairlee, allowing five deserving handicapped persons to attend summer camp.

O'Donnell, who has written material for Jay Leno and others, won $10,000 on "America's Funniest People" and has appeared on the Arts & Entertainment and Comedy Central cable channels.

Harris was the sole Delaware native to win a gold medal in the 1996 Olympics at Atlanta this summer. Harris medaled in softball.

Journalist Chuck Stone to speak at university

Noted journalist Chuck Stone, a former professor of English at the University of Delaware, will return to the Newark campus on Oct. 17, for a program entitled "Black Power in American Politics, Media and Education: A Conversation with Chuck Stone."

Currently the Spearman Professor of Journalism at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the 72-year-old has had a long career in journalism, politics and education. In addition to his 4,000 newspaper columns, magazine stories and scholarly essays, he is the author of three books, "Tell It Like It Is," "Black Political Power in America" and a novel, "King Strut."

He was editor of three influential black newspapers, Harlem's New York Age, the Washington Afro-American and the Chicago Daily Defender.

For three years, he was chief administrative assistant to Harlem's charismatic and controversial U.S. Rep. Adam Clayton Powell Jr., writing the legislator's speeches and helping to direct the strikingly successful legislative activities of the House Education and Labor Committee, which Powell chaired.

With Stokely Carmichael, he helped found the "Black United Front" and, when he left Washington, D.C., in 1969, the Washington Star profiled him as a "tough-minded militant" who had "probably poured forth more angry rhetoric, ruffled more political moderates and simultaneously pacified and frightened more whites than most of the city's other black leaders" during the tumultuous decade of the 1960s.

From 1972 to 1991, Stone was a political columnist and senior editor at the Philadelphia Daily News, where his ongoing battles with Mayors Frank Rizzo and Wilson Goode and with U.S. Representative Bill Gray made him the best-known journalist in Philadelphia.

For more information on the lecture, contact the UD Department of English at 831-2361.

Hanging at the art museum

GAUGER-COBBS middle school students Keeno Exum, Staci Ceaser and Ryan Lantagne display a piece of artwork which will become part of the permanent collection at the Delaware Art Museum.

According to art teacher Karen Yarnall, 78 of her students created the 18-inch x 18-inch quilt square which will be added to a quilt for the Delaware Art Display in the museum from Nov. 22 through Jan. 12.

"After this exhibit the quilt remains at the museum for future display," said Yarnall.

The 78 students each created an individual 2-inch piece with "self-portrait" for their quilt square which is entitled "8th Grade Thoughts."

Towing is big business in Newark

LAST SPRING, businesses in downtown Newark were asked to review their towing arrangements in the interest of good community relations.

According to a memo prepared by Gene Dannemann, president of the Newark Business Association and owner of the Copy Maven on Main Street, $85 a tow was one of the highest amounts charged at that time.

"I have called several Newark tow companies and the charges for towing range from $35 a tow to $85 a tow," said Dannemann in her memo. "If you look at the number of cars towed in February alone, the tow companies made about $20,000. The only winners in this situation are the tow companies."

Figures prepared for the business association by the city planning department showed that a total of 585 cars were towed from downtown lots in the first three months of this year. Following Dannemann's appeal to fellow business owners, the tows fell sharply to only 99 in April and 64 in May.

"We really don't know whether that happened because the businesses spoke to the towing companies or not," said assistant city planner Maureen Roser who compiled the figures for the business association. "The numbers in the earlier part of the year were really phenomenal."

Dannemann asked downtown lot owners to post signs in their businesses and lots to clearly indicate when cars will be towed. Persons using parking lots are responsible for checking for the regulations and looking for posted information.

During his two-day visit to Newark in July, parking expert John Edwards said he was "appalled" by the statistics on towing from earlier in the year. "You need a uniform policy about towing in public and private lots," said Edwards. "There are always people more interested in dollars than the longterm effects of (indiscriminate towing)."

Roser said that currently there are no city or state regulations for towing companies. "The fees and procedures are between the property owner and the tow operator," said Roser. "Maybe it's something city council should look at."

Park at your own risk

► TOWING, from 1

School said the school staff was "embarrassed" on Sept. 18 when over 700 people attended an open house at the school. "The first we knew people couldn't park there was when they came in and said their cars were being towed," said Carr. "And I mean, they towed a lot of cars!"

Carr said subsequent to that night, someone claiming to be the Library Professional Building owner also called the night school which runs at the high school site and told them not to use the building's lot. "If you're thinking of parking there," said Carr, "don't!"

Betty, an employee at Fusco Enterprises which owns the Library Avenue building, said they have had calls from parents and teachers at Newark High School about the towing.

"I have sympathy for people who are towed when school events are going on," said Betty. "But this is a brand new building and we've already had vandalism and graffiti here. We had to have towing."

Betty said Fusco employees have seen students from the high school hanging around the lot and pushing down the fence between the school and the building. "And the trash back there is awful," said Betty. "We've even found a couch back there."

According to Betty, the tow company is supposed to check with the building occupants before towing any cars. "If there's a meeting at WILMAPCO (which has offices in the new building), for instance, those people won't be towed."

Cooperation pays off

AT FIRST GLANCE, the story on Page 4 of our Sept. 27 edition was newsworthy but not particularly noteworthy. No quick assumption could be further from the truth.

Prior to an announcement this week at the University of Delaware, the story told of Mayor Ronald Gardner's delight that Newark will receive a first-ever grant to combat binge drinking. This news is of significant importance to all of Newark, those who live off and on campus.

Binge drinking by college students is a cultural problem, here and elsewhere. In past decades while much attention has been thrust upon smoking, sexually transmitted diseases and drug use, alcohol abuse by young adults has grown undeterred.

The problem is serious here in Newark. Read our Police Blotter this week. Ask any resident who has had to conduct a Sunday morning clean-up of the neighborhood following a party at a nearby college residence. Ask the Newark police who deal with the consequences of overindulgence every day. Ask the president of the university. In a meeting last week, Dr. David P. Roselle shared his concern about binge drinking with us. Despite the university's best efforts — and it was the UD's innovative programs to date that earned the grant award — additional work is necessary.

Now, the city and the university have become partners with the American Medical Association and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation in a national effort to curb binge drinking. Newark will receive $770,000 to establish a joint city-UD committee that will commence design of programs and approaches that will change norms, attitudes, policies and practices affecting drinking on and off campus. The announcement this week is the first stage of a seven-year, $8.6 million program.

Not only is the need here to attack binge drinking, there's a critically important need for the City of Newark and the university to work together to combat this problem.

And work together they have. The grant was realized because of the significant groundwork by Dr. Roselle and his staff and Mayor Gardner. The top executives spent two days in New York City earlier this year pitching our case for the award. Their efforts paid off.

The cooperation will continue as work funded by the grant gets underway. While the worlds are different, our town is one. The problem of binge drinking on and off campus is inseparable between town and gown.

One prestigious American university nixed their grant application because the administration feared the action would be a public relations blunder. Here, the president and his staff have put principle ahead of PR. We applaud Dr. Roselle for his bold decision to move toward a solution.

Bus route causes feud

By SHIRLEY TARRANT

NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

THE HATFIELDS and McCoys are alive and well in west Newark. In this case, the Hatfields are the DART bus riders and the McCoys are the non-bus riders.

This neighborhood feud began last summer when DART proposed to eliminate Nottingham Green and Dallam Road from its Number 16 route. The "notice" of an Aug. 16, 1996, public hearing distributed to bus riders failed to meaningfully describe the change under consideration. My husband, who has boarded the Route 16 bus for 20 years at the corner of Dallam and Old Oak Roads, logically concluded that a "minor change in the route alignment near Apple Road" would have no impact on him. Apple Road is no where near Old Oak or Dallam Roads! Consequently, he did not attend the public hearing to express what would have been his opposition. I understand there was only one person who spoke in opposition to the August proposal. Apparently, non-DART riders and residents of Nottingham Green (the McCoys) attended in great numbers and voiced their approval of the route change.

Since affected regular riders (the Hatfields) were not given "fair" notice, on Aug. 12, they organized a letter-writing and telephone campaign to DART and 52 people signed petitions, in which "the undersigned strongly oppose the proposal to eliminate Nottingham Green from the Number 16 DART route and request that some alternate plan be implemented to deal with whatever problems have given rise to this proposal." Also, the Hatfields urged Senator Steve Amick and Representative Tim Boulden to persuade DART to schedule another public hearing.

Lo and behold! DART conducted a public hearing workshop on Oct. 3 in the WILMAPCO Conference room on Library Avenue (behind Newark High School).

What, may I ask, is a public hearing workshop? I always thought a public hearing was open to the knowledge and judgment of all. And a workshop is when a group of people meet for a seminar in some specialized field. The Oct. 3 DART debacle was neither of these! I was there. I know from whence I speak. It was not a democratic process. When I attempted to remove a chair from a stack of metal chairs at the back of the room — I was going to sit and wait for my husband to speak — I was boldly challenged by a DART staffperson: "No ma'am, do not take that chair. We don't want people to sit down and stay." Eh, what? So I asked permission to sit on one of the comfortable upholstered chairs arranged around the unused conference table. Unused, except for the two or three DART

Conrad clobbers defenseless Newark

Last Saturday afternoon, Newark intended to sting Conrad High. But, as it turned out, the Redskins broke the 'Jacket stinger and got their first BHC Flight A scalp, 44-8.

The breaks couldn't go their way. Newark was penalized nearly 100 yards.

Overall, a disastrous day for Newark. The defense couldn't hold and the offense lost several scoring opportunities.

Glasgow soccer team defeats Hodgson

The Glasgow High soccer squad shutout Hodgson 2-0 on Thursday evening.

The win pushed the Dragons' record to 6-1-2 and set up a big week of matches with two of the state's best in St. Mark's and Newark.

Glasgow, while only scoring two goals, dominated play throughout peppering Hodgson goalkeeper Scott Manelski with 32 shots.

Sinking home eats savings

On Aug. 23, 1989, contractors working on installing a draining system that would pump out excess water from the basement of Samuel and Linda Burns' basement made a discovery that would alter their lives. The French drain they were digging also allowed the Burns family to discover an old American hustle that's as empty as a bad check.

Contractors found nothing, unless space is counted as something.

Their basement collapsed and their home on Elm Street, Newark, sunk almost two feet in the the ground.

Why? Because their home was built on top of a construction pit.

"Pages from the Past" is compiled from early editions of the Newark Post and its forerunners by staffer Julia Sampson. Efforts are made to retain original headlines and style.

Busing feud

personnel sitting around to answer the public's questions.

Meanwhile, the public entered the room and was herded into a long line, where they waited their turns to express their opinions to a court reporter who sat at the end of the line. Some folks read their statements. Others just talked. My husband, an attorney, had "exhibits A and B," along with his prepared notes.

The entire evening was a farce! I wonder if DART will determine its decision by using a head count: more McCoys than Hatfields? Many of the non-bus riders—Nottingham Green residents—attended in pairs. Husband-wife teams were in abundance. Does such representation render a fair perspective on the needs of DART's ridership? Do the 52 petition signers lend any weight to DART riders concerns?

The Route 16 bus has traveled Dallam Road for 20 years or more. Why are complaints only now surfacing? Maybe the McCoys would be satisfied if only the Radcliffe Drive and Lafayette Road route was discontinued.

It strikes me as ironic that this non-public hearing was held in WILMAPCO's building. WILMAPCO's mission is "to ensure the implementation of the best multi-modal and intermodal transportation plan which meets all the requirements mandated by the Federal Clean Air Act and the 1991 Intermodal Surface Transportation Efficiency Act." One of the goals for the region, as seen through WILMAPCO's "visioning process" is: "Improved mobility and Transportation Alternatives to provide for efficient people and goods movement."

If the McCoys get their way; the Hatfields will have fewer travel options in their future which are convenient and safe alternatives to their cars. One thing for sure, the feud goes on. And no McCoy better ask a Hatfield for a ride in his or her car!

Working at Continental Fibre

Post-war years on South Chapel St.

By RUTH LEWIS MILLER

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

■ The following is a two-part guest column recounting one local resident's memories of her years at the Continental Diamond Fibre Company on South Chapel Street.

JUST A MONTH AFTER V-E DAY, I graduated from Newark High on June 6, 1945. Three days later I started my first job at Continental-Diamond Fibre Company in Frogtown, earning $80 a month as clerk-typist for Carl S. Rankin, chief of the engineering department.

South Chapel Street was called Frogtown then because after heavy rains the area flooded from an inadequate drainage system. I remember once or twice removing my shoes and wading across the street to get to my brother's car in the parking lot.

On Monday mornings, boiler startups caused soot to belch from one of the two tall chimneys that still stand today. If there was a westerly wind, we could count on irate telephone calls from housewives protesting the black plague that descended on their clotheslines of white sheets and linens.

These complaints most likely never reached the town council or the Newark Post. Continental provided 600 jobs for our little town and no one cared to disturb the harmony and security it provided.

One of my first duties each day was to test the boiler water at a lab station located in the power house. To reach there I walked through the deafening clatter of Sam Stradley's machine shop where more than 50 operators ground fiber bolts and other fittings to specification. Then I continued through Karl Krim's electric shop to the steep metal staircase and descended to the cavernous basement where ear-splitting noise accompanied the pump-motors as they moved up and down seemingly at their own will.

The water sample came from a steam-spurting valve which was a scalding hazard in spite of the long tongs I used to hold the beaker.

Sometimes Len Rhodes, the power house leader, retrieved the sample for me.

I had no chemistry background but my predecessor, Dorothy Rose, taught me how to determine the water's impurities and acidity. From those results we calculated the amount of caustic soda and other chemicals to be added to the water purification system to prevent clogged boiler pipes.

I then returned to the engineering office and my manual Royal typewriter for the rest of the day. When I needed an adding machine, I used the one on Marie Gregg's desk next to the windows. From there I could watch company president J. P. Wright disembark each day from his impressively large, gray, two-door Packard, driven by his chauffeur, Dan DuHamell.

I left Continental the first time for work at the Chrysler Parts Plant in 1948. My exit interviewer warned me that the auto industry would take away my name and give me a number. The interviewer was right, and that was partly the reason why I returned to South Chapel Street after only a week or so for a second stint at Continental Fibre.

Local candidates honest & respectful

To: The editor
From: Dorothy M. White
Newark

I am so proud of our Delaware, but I was the proudest last night (Oct. 1) to be a Delawarean.

We had an "old fashion" political get-together through the courtesy of the Brookside Civic Association.

Both Democrat and Republican representatives were there and the candidates running for office were included. The questions were tough, but the answers were honest, straight, and without the bitter hate that seems to be in Washington politics. I thank our Delaware representatives for respecting each other.

My concern was that the railroad system is not in use. I remember as a 1944 senior in high school faking the B & O train from Main Street in Newark to New York for our senior trip. I also remember riding the train all the way down the Delmarva peninsula to Norfolk, Va. Navy station. It was an overnight trip before the (Chesapeake) tunnel/bridge and we took the ferry over to Virginia.

I also remember taking the local train from Main Street to Wilmington and the Train stopped at the Delaware Race Track and ended at the B & O station near Trolley Square, Wilmington. We all took the train.

The same rail tracks are still there, the land is already owned by the railroad, but no trains. Now, we have the land developed for profit, using public money for more highway construction, more bridges to go over the canal, and new construction that sprawls all over, taking valued park land and wildlife areas. Development is out of control.

Where are the planners? It's called the "power of the people." Is Newark up for sale?

Protecting yourself isn't easy

AMONG MY FAVORITE television shows are Dateline NBC, 48 Hours and Primetime. I like the segments that are done on consumer issues, especially where the unsuspecting are being ripped off. For the last several weeks however, I haven't had time to watch these shows. I think I've actually become part of them.

It all started the day before the last payday in August. I came home early and got the mail. I opened a letter from the bank and found checks bouncing all over the place. I found a charge for over $1800 that I knew for sure wasn't mine. I went down to the bank and they were very helpful. We determined that the charge was from an art dealer in Australia. Now I was sure it was a mistake. If I'd been to Australia in the last week I certainly would have remembered. We determined that the error was probably a single digit transcribed wrongly somewhere along the way. Fiscal integrity restored, I returned home feeling better but still a little shaken.

Two weeks later my statement from the bank arrived. I immediately opened it to make sure that the bank did what they were supposed to do. Several things immediately caught my attention. There were numerous large disbursements to CompuServe and Microsoft as well as America Online. Now I knew something was wrong. I went back to the bank and immediately disputed the charges. I then called each of the computer companies in question. At least two accounts had been set up in my name with each service, with bills of $150 to nearly $300 occurring with each billing cycle. The people at CompuServe traced the calls on "my" account, and found that the users were calling in from computers all over the world. Each log in call came from a different location somewhere on the planet. Now my worst fears were realized. Professional hackers had access to my bank account through my debit card. By now my overdraft protection had been wiped out and some of the charges from the online services were being refused because there wasn't any money in my account. The bank "hot carded" my account so that no additional damage could be done, but now the

Haunting weekends

By JULIA R. SAMPSON

NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

GHASTLY ghouls and fearsome frights are all part of Halloween night, and Ed Lesniczak Jr. and his friends are out to scare all those who dare the Haunted Path at Red Mill Farms.

As a youngster Lesniczak said he liked the way some people scared trick-or-treaters when they come to the door "like having a ghost or something drop out of a tree."

About six years ago Lesniczak and some friends did indeed drop a ghost out of a tree but when a child ran into the street in fright they decided to turn the Lesniczak's backyard into a haunted trail.

"We weren't going to do (the trail) this year but alot of my friends wanted to," said Lesniczak, who heads the group of about 20 kids ranging in age from 11 to 19.

Many of the scenes changed from last year so what materials couldn't be scrounged up, the kids who have jobs chipped in some money to purchase the needed supplies. Also his neighbors support their efforts by donating materials and offering ideas to make the trail different or better.

Teens from Red Mill farms dare you to wander down their haunted path this weekend

A maze, made of black plastic, houses more than a dozen scenes and ghastly surprises that took over a month to build. A guide takes five to eight people through the path at a time.

When young children attempt the path, the teens cater their ghastly antics to that group. "We want the kids to have a good time, not scare them to the point that they cry all the way through the path," said Lesniczak.

Speakers are set up on the trail to provide the haunting music that can be heard many houses away. "We really do play the music loud," said Lesniczak who laughed when he said his neighbors may have to buy ear plugs.

Among those who participated with Lesniczak and his brother Corey in the trail this year were: Tina Laps, Brad Tally, Doreen Conway, Sarah D'Auito, Susan Carbine, Drury Knight, Frank Lawler, Andrew Benson, Chris and Brandon Allen, Nick Jones, and Bob Holloway.

"The best part about the trail is that it keeps us out of mischief," quipped Lesniczak. The Haunted Path is open every Friday, Saturday, and Sunday in October, including Oct. 31, from 7:30 to 10 p.m. at 15 Bisbee Rd., off Red Mill Road and Kirkwood Highway and costs $2 per person. GHS hosts 2nd 24-Hour Relay

By JEAN M. TOMAN

SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

OVER 70 STUDENTS, ranging from middle school through college, and adults logged 781 miles in a 24-hour period last weekend during the Second Annual New Castle County 24 Hour Relay Challenge at Glasgow High School.

"Building community to support the healthy, positive development of young people is at the heart of the 24 Hour Relay Challenge," said Linda Kopishke of the Hunt at Louviers, president of Community Works Foundation, sponsor of the event. "The 24 Hour Relay Challenge is more than a walk/run, more than a fundraiser for youth programs and more than a round-the-clock test of stamina and spirit. It's a dynamic process that mobilizes schools and communities to plan and produce a community involvement event and creates momentum for ongoing collaboration."

Linda Lucas-Cooper and Jiminda Lucas share some fun on the field at Glasgow High School during the 24 Hour Relay Challenge.

Eight teams of no more than 10 per team took turns running or walking a mile on the Glasgow High School track throughout the 24 hour period, 10:30 a.m. October 5 to 10:30 a.m. October 6.

"This is the second year I've participated," said Jiminda Lucas, a 10th grader at Glasgow and member of the Integrity team. "Not only are we exercising and supporting and good charity, I'm having fun hanging out with my friends and making new friends from the other schools participating."

"What we hope is happening here is that we are preparing kids to deal with life's ups and downs," said Det. Diane Moss of the Delaware State Police, a school resource officer stationed at Glasgow and member of the event planning committee. "If these kids can learn to get along, understand diversity in culture and music, learn to laugh and play together here during this period, then maybe they can carry that into the rest of their lives and also learn to give back to their community."

The money raised in the event through team sponsorships as well as corporate sponsorships will be used to benefit programs for the youth of New Castle County through mini-grants awarded by Community Works Foundation.

"Last weekend saw the temperature dip to 30 degrees Saturday night, but these kids kept on going," said Kopishke, "and a large majority of them are ready to sign up for next year's event, which we're planning to move to June in the hopes of a warmer night."

Macabre walk in Newark

THE SPIRIT of Edgar Allan Poe, an early master of the macabre, will invade Newark this year for a celebration of Halloween theatre and drama.

According to spokesperson Terry Foreman, the Newark Arts Alliance wanted a fundraiser that would reach new audiences. "This is for adults — not a family event," said Foreman. "We're interested in a theatre and cultural audience."

Four local theatre groups chose material from Poe's works and agreed to present them at four sites in Newark — complete with costumes and sets.

"We considered having one group do the whole thing," said Jon Cooper, Alliance member and president of the City Theatre Company. "But we wanted to make connections in the community and this is also a way to publicize area theatre."

The City Theatre Company and Chapel Street Players, both based in Newark, will be joined by University of Delaware companies, Harrington Theatre Arts and E-52, for one evening of "spine-tingling" entertainment.

"We told them the presentation had to be spirited and high-energy," said Cooper. "And said 'don't be afraid to be differ-

"This will be a guided, walking tour to all four homes during one evening," said Foreman. "People should come prepared for rain or shine." Wine and hors d'oeuvres will be offered at each stop together with the tours and "mini-plays."

Cooper and Foreman said as far as they know, this event is unique anywhere. "We hope it will become an annual event with more houses and other authors," said Foreman. "We have high hopes for it."

The Chrysler and Zeneca companies are serving as corporate sponsors and refreshments are provided by the East End Cafe, Jude's Diner, Triangle Liquors, Park N' Shop Liquors and caterer Dee Dee Morris.

Tickets are $20 and include tours and presentations at all four homes on Oct. 19 starting at 7 p.m. Information and reservations are available at 731-5801 or 392-7803.

Craftsmanship makes for an historic exhibit

YOU HAVE READ IT before in this column, but I believe it bears repeating. When art and another discipline, in this case history, come together, the whole is greater than the sum of its parts. Each one builds upon the other for a wonderful experience. As a case in point, the exhibit which opens this week and runs until January 5, 1997, at the Delaware Art Museum, 2301 Kentmere Parkway in Wilmington.

The traveling exhibition is called "Shaker: The Art of Craftsmanship" and consists of 86 artifacts originally belonging to the Shaker community of Mt. Lebanon, New York, which was established in 1785. Included are furniture, kitchenware, clothing, textiles, basketry, dolls and tools. The spare, elegant Shaker design exemplifies the ideas of simplicity, harmony and craftsmanship which were the cornerstones of their identity and spiritual life. It was at Mt. Lebanon that these design principles were developed and later sent forth to other Shaker communities, primarily in the East and Midwest.

The Mount Lebanon Shaker Collection was formed to insure the preservation of the community's legacy in this country. By 1929, the community that once numbered over 6,000 had fallen on hard times and had to sell their holdings to a boys prep school. At the beginning of this decade, financial concerns at the school brought forth the idea of selling all the artifacts and dispersing them forever. Enter Ken and Marilou Hakuta, a couple well known among the leading figures in the preservation of Shaker history. They bought what the school had to relinquish and the collection was saved. A Tip of The Toman Topper to the Hakutas!

A bit of history, if I may. The Shaker community at Mt. Lebanon was founded by Mother Ann Lee and her followers who came here from Manchester, England in 1774. Religious historians categorize the Shakers as "Protestant Utopians." (If you REALLY know just what that means, please drop me a line here at the paper.) The Shakers believed in communal living, purity - even celibacy - and simplicity. Ann Lee's organization was copied by 18 other communities in New England, New York, Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky.

Interest in the Shakers, particularly their artifacts, has been growing in recent years, partly due, I am sure, to the work of the Hakutas. Isabelle Farrell, source of artistic wisdom at the Delaware Art Museum, told me that many artist and designers today believe that the Shaker aesthetics anticipated contemporary tendencies toward the reduction of ornament, the innovative use of materials and the integration of form and function.

Isabelle researched the following quote for me from artist and historian Charles Sheeler, "In some Shaker cabinet work is the anticipation, by a hundred years or more, of tendencies of some of our contemporary designers toward economy and what we call functional in design."

THE ARTS

The work ethic of the Shakers was summed up by Lee, "Put your hands to work and your hearts to God and blessings will attend you." The simplicity of Shaker designs encouraged equality because the embellishment of furniture and clothes often indicated differences in wealth and social status, a concept which was taboo in their community. They regarded such things as the root of disharmony and the greatest hindrance to spiritual fulfillment.

The community of over 6,000 in 1860 was in serious decline near the end of the century. It seems they took the concept of celibacy too seriously. With less than 1,000 members and few wishing to come in with the rigorous demands of the community, the proverbial handwriting was on the wall.

If you find the exhibit as interesting as the preview made it for me, there is an excellent, well-illustrated catalog on sale in the museum store. Just for the length of the show, DAM is operating a Shaker Store in the upper lobby area. It is offering a collection of Shaker boxes, music on CD and tape, even some furniture. There is also a fine library of tomes on the Shakers for sale.

The Delaware Art Museum is open Tuesday through Saturday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and on Sunday from noon to 5 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults and $2.50 for children and students with proper ID. For more information you may call the museum at 302-571-9590.

Enjoy!

■ Author's note: Lunacies like these have been inflicted on my poor wife, children and colleagues for years. They have been greeted by both groans and guffaws — the latter, perhaps, to pacify the punster and offset a further barrage. To its victims, punning can be seen as a disease, since any laughter, however sparse, can be contagious. I hope Newark Post readers will tackle this word-play nonsense with zest, thereby assuring them Eternal Joy and a letter from Ed McMahon.

Two-term senator faces retired engineer

Use personal funds for legislative pensions

TWO-TERM Democratic State

Senator David P. Sokola, a resident of Beech Hill, has been representing the 8th District for six years.

Born in Wilmington, Sokola is a graduate of the University of Delaware and is currently a research lab technician at DuPont, where he has worked for 15 years.

He is the former president of the Beech Hill Community Association, and a long-time supporter of youth soccer.

The senator is part of the advisory board for the Delaware Teachers Academy for Service Learning, and a member of the Superstars in Education Selection Committee. He is also on the Bancroft School PTA and on the Board of Directors of the University of Delaware Sea Grant College Advisory Council and Civic League of New Castle County.

Some random comments by

18-year-veteran Joe Petrilli challenged by George Little in 22nd

VOTERS of the 22nd Representative District elected state Rep. Joseph Petrilli to the House of Representatives 18 years ago. The 53-year-old retired DuPont engineer now serves as the House majority leader.

Petrilli, R-Hillstream, has sponsored legislation dealing with tax reduction, education reform, land use, school funding and juvenile crime. The length of his term has given him the distinction of serving under three different governors: Pete DuPont, Mike Castle and Tom Carper.

What stands out the most for Petrilli during his nearly two decades in office? The ability of legislators representing both parties to work together.

"We're a close-knit state," he said. "We've had an opportunity to bring together leaders from business, labor and government at crucial times when we've had to deal with problems affecting the entire state — which is generally not the case in other states."

— Eric Fine

Education, crime, jobs concern challenger

CHALLENGER George Little sees development, education, crime and job security as the crucial issues in the 22nd Representative District and across the state.

Little, an Elkton native who lost to Petrilli two years ago, has served as president of the Linden Hill Square Civic Association for the past three years. His résumé also boasts a community service record that includes the Elkton Jaycees, Junior Achievement of Delaware, the Paranatal Association of

Sokola:

• On creating jobs: "I think we have to focus on ways to give prospective small business people the money to start up new ventures," said Sokola.

• On education: Sokola agrees with the idea of neighborhood, Charter and theme schools. "We have to monitor it closely with the intent of getting feedback from parents," said Sokola.

• On zoning: Follow the Shaping Delaware's Future Act. "We should not do construction until the infrastructure is in place."

When asked about growing resentment of incumbents after such items like pensions came out in the local media, Sokola reacted by saying, "That was signed in 1982 by Pete DuPont. I didn't even know it existed." Sokola would like pensions to involve personal donations and no state money.

— Rob Wherry

Education, pensions top issues for challenger

IRWIN J. BECNEL, a resident of North Star, is the Republican challenger for the 8th District state senate race.

Becnel served on the Red Clay School District Board since 1990, is past president of the Caesar Rodney Rotary Club, and is active with the Boy Scouts.

He is retired from DuPont where he was a chemical engineer. He is now a consultant for the Syzegeph Corporation to which he provides management, advisory and technical expertise.

His wife, Mary Lou, has been a preschool teacher for over 12 years.

Becnel feels the main issues this year are pensions for politicians, "double dipping" and education. His comments include:

• On education: Becnel feels this issue divides the candidates. He supports Charter, theme and neighborhood schools, but disagrees on how to achieve the required balance. "My opponent supported the desegregation consent order," said Becnel.

• On zoning: Becnel wants infrastructure in place before development. "Before, not afterwards. Development itself is not an issue for my constituents," said Becnel. "It's getting to and from a development that's concerning everyone."

He concluded by saying he was tired of the double-dipping, the pensions, and the bipartisanship in Delaware politics. "It's not a two-party system anymore, it's the incumbent versus the challenger."

Veteran senator Sharp faces Jimmy Flynn

STATE SENATOR

Thomas B. Sharp has been the 9th Senatorial District representative for the last 22 years. From 1978 to 1994, he served as majority leader in the senate.

Sharp, 56, is a life-long resident of Delaware. He graduated from Conrad High School and has four years technical school experience.

Currently, he is employed as a facilities manager for the New Castle County Vo-Tech School District.

Sharp is past president of the Pinecrest Civic Association, Heritage Elementary PTA, and a member of the New Castle County Board of Planning Standards.

Involved in many state senate committees, Sharp is chair of the committees on drug abuse and judiciary.

His take on several issues include:

• On the job market: "There's nothing you can do about companies like DuPont downsizing," said Sharp. "But I've tried to bring more jobs into the state."

• On education: "I wanted the federal courts out of our schools," said Sharp. He added that new ideas like theme and charter schools are good and that he helped appropriate $10 million for new textbooks.

• On incumbent versus competitor: "The voters should look at what (the senate) has done this year," said Sharp. "We're doing a great job."

— Rob Wherry

JAMES E. FLYNN is the Republican opponent in the 9th Senatorial District, but many

9th DISTRICT

Delawareans probably know his face for another reason.

Flynn, who first came to the state in 1951 to play football at the University of Delaware, formerly owned the Jock Shop sporting goods store on Main Street and the Elkton Tennis Center.

He has coached football at Pittsburgh Central Catholic high school, where the Miami Dolphins quarterback Dan Marino played. He also served as an assistant to ex-Delaware football coach Dave Nelson in the 1960s.

Flynn has worked as a financial planner and has been a high school teacher at schools like Delcastle. Flynn has also coached track and tennis at many local schools.

The challenger has served as president of the Roosevelt Park Civic Association, and as a volunteer at the annual Blue and Gold All Star Game, Special Olympics and as the Colonial Highland gatherings.

He is married with six grown children, including five boys.

His comments on the issues include:

• On education: "I want discipline back in the schools," said Flynn. "I want to give the classroom back to the teachers." He mentioned that he would remove disruptive children to other programs. "I don't want to abandon them, but they don't have the right to take the opportunity away from other students."

• On zoning: "I think it should be a local issue," said Flynn who wasn't totally against all development. "I do think it's a normal growth process." He added that infrastructure should be in place first, before construction begins.

• On incumbent versus competitor: "I'm a strong proponent of term limits," said Flynn who feels his opponent has become invisible to the voter. "They have seen more of me since April than they have seen of Tom Sharp in 22 years," he claims.

Clarkin-Wiant

JENNIFER LYNN and Timothy James Wiant were married on Saturday, April 27, 1996, during a double ring ceremony at St. Anthony of Padua Catholic Church, Wilmington.

Father Mark Hushen and Rev. Robert Starrett officiated the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Peter H. and Sandra S. Clarkin of Newark. She was given away at the ceremony by her father.

The bride wore an off-the-shoulder gown of silk shantung decorated with Alencon lace and pearls with a cathedral train.

The maid of honor was Suzanne Geist of Newark, friend of the bride.

Bridesmaids were Kimberly Hayles of Virginia, Kelly Claudfelter of Maryland, Michelle Klawitter of Ohio, Julianne DiFonzo of California, Kathleen Mason of Bear, all cousins of the bride; and Ann Bailey of Bear, friend of the bride. Flower girl was Kyle Ann Klawitter of Ohio, cousin of the bride.

The best man was Patrick Ward of Newark, friend of the groom. Groomsmen were Brent Wiant of Rehoboth, brother of the groom; Peter Clarkin Jr. of Newark, brother of the bride; Edward Dixon of Newark, Chicko Rehal of Kenya, Christopher DuVillia of Wilmington, and Charles DeWeese of Maryland, all friends of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony at Fournier Hall in Wilmington.

The bride is a 1990 graduate from Christiana High School and is currently employed by MBNA America.

The groom, son of Ronald and Joan Wiant of Newark, is a 1990 graduate of Christiana High School and Goldey-Beacon College. He is currently employed by Computer Aid, Inc.

The couple honeymooned in Hawaii, and will reside in Newark.

WINDY CITY BEEF AND DOGS

You'll enjoy being in 'dog house' at new shopping center eatery

CHICAGO has its own tradition of fast food. And the Windy City's "dog houses" stand up to any Philly cheese steak or hoagie, any New York deli sandwich or pizza, any Southern barbecue.

What is a dog house? A hole-in-the-wall specializing in hot dogs; and in Chicago, they're as common as hamburger franchises.

"It's like a McDonald's, one on each corner," says Helaine Pearlman Rothschild, co-owner of the brand new Windy City Beef and Dogs in the Newark Shopping Center.

Chicago dog houses stay open until 5 a.m., are tiny and feature abrasive types behind the counter. "They yell at you: 'What the hell do you want on your dog,'" she says. "They'll throw food at you."

Rothschild says throwing food isn't her style, but she promises that her dogs are authentic. They are truly the "Chicago Classics" that some consider to be a delicacy. "This is a pure beef hot dog," says Rothschild, whose father Steven Pearlman is her new business partner. "There's a snap to the flavor."

The poppy seed buns are shipped in straight from Chicago. The dogs are smothered with pickles, onions, mustard, celery salt and "sport" peppers.

"We're trying to bring a regional taste to the East Coast," Steven Pearlman says. "Chicago natives are coming in droves for this food. They come all the way from North Wilmington and even South Jersey."

Rothschild, 30, got her start vending Chicago Classics from a cart on the streets of Normal, Ill., while completing her psychology degree at Illinois State University. She and her husband eventually reached the point of owning three restaurants.

Rothschild keeps her recipes a closely guarded secret, though she admits to steaming her dogs before putting them on the grill. That's all the restaurateur will reveal.

Other Windy City Beef and Dog specialties include an Italian Beef sandwich and the Maxwell Street Sausage.

The Italian Beef is similar to a roast beef sandwich. "It's top of the round," she says. "It's seasoned, but it's not like a cheese steak."

The Maxwell Street sausage is in the tradition of the Polish sausage, but it, too, struts with its own Chicago style. Combine the Italian Beef and the Maxwell Street Sausage and you have the Italian Beef Combo, which surrounds the sausage with Rothschild's beef on the same roll.

Condiments include such exotic Windy City entries as "neon relish" and Gardenaiire peppers, which pack enough heat, Rothschild says, "to make a grown man cry."

Catsup is absolutely forbidden in Chicago, but Rothschild is willing to let her First State patrons do as they please. There's also horseradish and real Cheddar cheese. Nothing is out of a can.

"I'm really proud of the menu," Rothschild says. "I take pride that I get my ingredients from the best sources in Chicago. I'll be out of something before I settle for a different item. The people I'm using have been in this business for 125 years."

"People have to try our product. It's definitely different."

Windy City Beef and Dogs is open Monday through Saturday, from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. The dog house provides delivery service for orders falling within a five-mile radius. Catering is also available. Call (302) 266-9600 for further information.

Newark conquers Christiana

Faces Wm. Penn Saturday

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

CHRISTIANA — Though undefeated, the hill the Newark High football team is climbing continues to get steeper. The Yellowjackets knocked off Christiana 21-6 last Saturday behind two touchdowns by Corey Wallace and a tenacious defensive effort.

But this Saturday's road game against William Penn is the latest in a series of challenges the undefeated 'Jackets face as they battle one of the toughest early-season schedule in Delaware.

The Colonials (3-1), who defeated Newark in the state final last season, have won three straight after dropping their opener. Though they lost much of the 1995 squad that went undefeated, William Penn's 41-12 drubbing of Glasgow last Friday served notice that this year's edition may be finding itself.

The Colonials' offense hinges on the speed of halfback/flanker Ira Brown and fullback Lavar Carter's power. But traditionally, it has been the size and strength of their linemen that has allowed William Penn to distance itself from the pack.

"Every game with William Penn starts with what happens within the offensive and defensive fronts," Newark Coach Butch Simpson said. "They've simply been dominant through the '90s [on both sides of the line of scrimmage]. We have to match up there."

"Nothing works if we can't match up there," Simpson added grimly. "I'm concerned about a letdown this week."

Kids that are young and inexperienced are getting a lot of deserved attention. You just hope that, individually and collectively, we remain humble and determined."

Conquering the Vikings

Wallace's 89-yard run up the right sideline halfway through the third quarter broke open a stalemate between two team battling for bragging rights in the Blue Hen Conference Flight A. And, for that matter, all of Newark.

Richie Parson's five-yard burst early in the final period gave the 'Jackets a commanding 13-0 lead. The lead appeared a bit shaky after Christiana's Jim Murphy, who backs up starting quarterback Joe Rineer, hit Shannon Lawson on a 71-yard pass play.

But Wallace, who rushed for 182 yards, again took matters into his own hands, intercepting a Murphy pass and running 36 yards into the end zone. Newark's Barry Word finished the day's scoring with a two-point conversion.

"[The Vikings] stepped their game up to match [our level]," the junior fullback said. "Everybody was frustrated. We all got ourselves together."

Wallace credited the right side of the 'Jackets' line — center Jeff Bush, tackle Duevorn Harris and tight end Chris Adams — for finding him space. "Once I saw the hole was there, I just had it in my mind that no one would tackle me," he said.

And no one did.

"[The first touchdown] gave us a boost," said Parson. "It pumped up our offense. It made us realize what kind of team we have."

St. Mark's High soccer team unbeaten in season's first half

Squad wins three games during the week

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

While a high school sports season is usually full of surprises, one team that isn't surprising is the St. Mark's High soccer squad.

The Spartans, midway through the season, are 10-0 and once again one of the best teams in the state.

St. Mark's knocked off West Chester East 3-1, Wilmington Christian 6-1 and Dover 3-1 in the past week to set up Saturday's home match against St. Elizabeth and Tuesday's titanic matchup against archrival Salesianum.

"Well, we've kept on winning," said St. Mark's Coach Tom DeMatteis assessing his team at this point in the season. "And we've done it without a healthy squad."

The Spartans have had several injuries to starters throughout the season and are just getting healthy again.

Chris Ricevuto, Rob Ruberto and Jason Dzielak each scored a goal in the win over West Chester East. Ruberto scored twice to lead the Spartans to the big win over Wilmington Christian while Angel Robert, Dzielak, Ricevuto and Greg Czerwinski added one each. Mike Romanczuk recorded three assists.

"We were only up 2-1 at halftime and one of those was an own-goal," DeMatteis said of the game against Wilmington Christian. "But we really came out and played a strong second half."

Ruberto, again, scored two goals in the 3-1 victory over Dover. Dan Keane added the other.

Ruberto, with his five goal in the past week, now has 10 goals for the season as does Jason Dzielak. Ricevuto has six goals and five assists.

"Ricevuto is the main focus," DeMatteis said. "He opens things up for everyone else. Other teams just spend so much trying to stop him."

Despite the team's unbeaten record, DeMatteis still sees ways for it to improve.

"I still think we need more consistency," the coach said. "We haven't played as we can for both halves. And I still am looking to have a full healthy team."

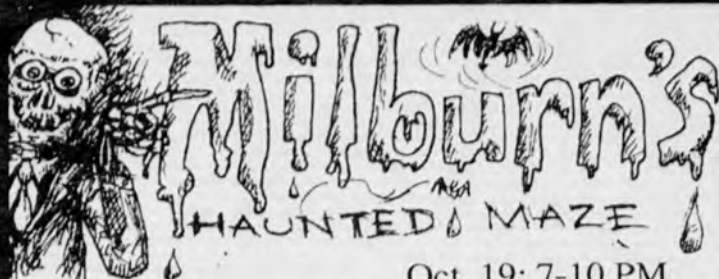

"I don't think we've peaked yet."

St. Mark's game with St. Elizabeth, scheduled for Tuesday, was washed out by the strong rains that swept through the area early in the week. The game will be made up Saturday at 2 p.m. at St. Mark's.

The Spartans then turn their attention to Salesianum, who they will play Tuesday night at Baynard Stadium. Already an intense rivalry, this year's match will be fueled by the memory of last season's controversial state semifinal match, which the Sals won.

ATHLETE OF THE WEEK

Corey Wallace – Newark

CHRISTIANA – Newark High versus Christina High: It was easily the biggest game in the Blue Hen Conference Flight A this season. Newark's Corey Wallace broke it open, and then put it away.

Wallace, who plays both full-back and linebacker, rumbled 89 yards in the third quarter to break open a 0-0 game against the Vikings. And shortly after Christina cut the Yellowjackets' lead to 13-6 late in the game, he picked off a pass and ran 36 yards into the end zone.

The preseason hype Christiana received gave the game an extra bit of significance for the 6-foot, 190-pound junior.

"I heard people talking, Christiana this, Christiana that," Wallace said. "I wanted to see for myself how they play, what they are like."

He attributed the team's sluggish first-half performance more to frustration than anything else. "We knew what we were doing wrong," he said. "We just had to show it."

Which is exactly what Wallace and company did in the second half. The 21-7 final score did little justice to what was a dogfight last Saturday.

"He's had two runs of over 80 yards this season," Newark Coach Butch Simpson said. "Both were huge because of the timing."

Wallace's first, a good imitation of a runaway freight train, occurred during the Yellowjackets' win over Salesianum in the season opener. He also scored all four Newark touchdowns in the 'Jackets' win over St. Mark's in Week 3.

"He's a complete player," Simpson said. "He is one of the best blocking backs... in our history. Most backs don't like to block. But our blocks block for each other. They have to because it's part of our system."

And Simpson, whose eloquence has been a part of the Newark High football program for more than two decades, seldom gives himself over to superlatives. But in Wallace's case, he is apparently making a concession.

Regrouped Hens take on Richmond

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

The University of Delaware football will try and continue its trek back up the Yankee Conference ladder Saturday at the University of Richmond.

After lopsided loss to Villanova in their second game, the Blue Hens have ripped off three straight wins, including last Saturday's 50-16 rout of Boston University. The wins have improved Delaware's record to 4-1 on the season, 2-1 in the Yankee Conference. The mark puts the Hens just a game back (behind 2-0 James Madison, Villanova and William & Mary) in the league's Mid-Atlantic Division — clearly the better of the conference's two divisions.

New Hampshire, who was waffled 31-7 by William & Mary last Saturday, leads the New England Division.

Richmond is 1-2 in the league and 2-3 overall after last week's 27-10 loss to Northeastern.

The Spiders have been strong on defense but woeful on offense. They rank only ahead of Boston University in the conference's total offense statistics. Defensively, though, Richmond is third in the league behind William & Mary and Northeastern.

"The athleticism of the Richmond front is exceptional. Without question, this is the best defense we've seen so far," said Delaware Coach Tubby Raymond. "It may be the best defense we'll see all year."

Offensively, however, it has been a tough go.

"We've just been very fragile on offense this year," said Richmond Coach Jim Reid. "We've had a tough time."

Reid doesn't see any of those problems with the Delaware offense.

"I still dream about them — I think those are called nightmares," Reid said. "Leo Hamlett is an outstanding player at quarterback and they have great skilled people to go with him. I also think they're offensive line is developing well."

"Defensively, they are a real tough, hard group. That's the kind of defense we hope to be."

Raymond, while seeing improvement, is still unsure about the status of his club.

"I still have that corner of hope that we have a chance to be a decent football team before it's over," he said. "Our greatest source of concern on the football team is getting the offensive line going again. I think the offensive line is still having a tough time getting under way."

The University of Delaware defense stuffed the Boston University running game in last Saturday's 50-16 victory at Delaware Stadium.

As far as Richmond is concerned, Delaware leads the series 10-2 with three straight wins. In those last three meetings, the Hens have outscored the Spiders 91-13.

Richmond, on the other hand, is 6-1 in its last seven home games.

NOTES — Raymond gave only his defense a better mid-season grade than a C (B). . . The Hens are 20-3-1 in their last 24 games and 14-1 in their last 15. . . League leaders James Madison and William & Mary will square off Saturday at James Madison.

POST PICKS OF THE WEEK

The leaves are starting to turn and the best high school football teams in the state are starting to sort themselves out.

The Newark High Yellowjackets got a huge win last week over Christiana and will have another big test this week against William Penn. Christiana comes right back with a must-win game against Brandywine.

In Division II, Caravel continues to roll toward a possible state tournament berth while Hodgson faces Dickinson in a big Flight B contest.

There are six more big games this week and we'll try to improve on a 15-6 (.714) record.

ST. MARK'S (3-2) VS. DOVER (3-1) — Friday night at Dover, 7:30. Another big game for the Spartans, who seem to play one every week. They need a victory to keep their state tournament hopes alive, but, once again, they'll have to beat a good team.

Dover has started its season well and has playoff hopes of its own. Look for Mike Watkins to again be an offensive force for St. Mark's, who held on to beat Concord 17-12 last week. This time, the Spartans will look to put the game away if they have a chance. The Pick: St. Mark's 24, Dover 14.

GLASGOW (1-3) VS. DELCASTLE (3-1) — Friday night at Glasgow, 7. The Dragons need this win to turn their season around. Last week's loss to William Penn was the first time they were out of a game all season. If they can keep their spirits up, they have a winnable game this week. Delcastle, on the other hand, is off to a fine start. The Cougars blasted Mount Pleasant 27-6 last week and have a lot of momentum going their way. It should be a competitive game. The Pick: Glasgow 16, Delcastle 13.

NEWARK (4-0) VS. WILLIAM PENN (3-1) — Saturday afternoon at William Penn's Cole Stadium, 1:30. Here's another huge game in the race for the Flight A championship. Newark topped Christiana last week while the Colonials ripped Glasgow to earn its second straight conference victory.

The Yellowjackets, though, are full of big-play potential and also possess a strong defense. We were a bit misguided last week in going away from the Jackets. That won't happen again this week. The Pick: Newark 20, William Penn 16.

CHRISTIANA (2-2) VS. BRANDYWINE (3-1) — Saturday afternoon at Brandywine, 2. The Vikings continue their version of a murderer's row schedule. St. Mark's, Dover, Seaford, Newark and now Brandywine. It's a very big Flight A contest. Christiana, with a loss to Newark in the league and St. Mark's out of it, cannot afford another loss if it wants to play on Thanksgiving weekend. The Bulldogs were upset by Concord but beat St. Mark's — a team the Vikes lost to. Nevertheless, we feel Christiana will rebound and play a very good game. The Pick: Christiana 29, Brandywine 20.

HODGSON (4-1) VS. DICKINSON (2-2) — Saturday afternoon at Hodgson, 1:30. The Silver Eagles are coming off a shutout win over Wilmington while the Rams rolled over McKean. The game is a big Flight B contest with the winner staying in title hunt.

Both teams are 1-0 in the league and want to stay that way. The Rams schedule has been a bit tougher up until this point. That may be the difference. The Pick: Dickinson 22, Hodgson 21.

CARAVEL (4-0) VS. ST. ANDREWS (1-2) — Saturday afternoon at St. Andrews, 2:30. The Bucs are rolling along this season with four straight wins. Last week they blasted Harford Tech 44-6. Caravel knows that if it keeps winning, it has a great chance of qualifying for the state tournament. The Bucs won't let St. Andrews stand in the way. The Pick: Caravel 35, St. Andrews 12.

Glasgow nips Delcastle in Flight A soccer game

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

GLASGOW — The Dragons pushed their winning streak to seven after defeating Delcastle 2-1 in a Blue Hen Conference Flight A soccer match. But a brief letdown late in the second half almost cost Glasgow the contest.

"We're this close to a major upset," Glasgow Coach Bob Bussiere told his team at halftime Monday. "We just came into this game expecting to win. And you can't do that against Delcastle anymore."

Bussiere's prophecy nearly came true after the Cougars' Dino Medori tied the match at the 71:12. But Brooks Buckingham's goal at 74:53 following Josh Katz's direct kick put the match in the win column. The ball may have deflected off one of Delcastle's defenders.

Glasgow started slowly, allowing Delcastle's midfielders to control the match for the first 20 minutes. The Dragons woke up afterward, and Ryan Bordas' shot by the Cougars' Bryheem Hancock following Steve Scruggs' corner kick staked Glasgow to a 1-0 lead.

Bussiere considered his team fortunate to sneak two balls by Hancock, a goalkeeper on the under-17 U.S. National Team. "Heck yeah," the coach said. "You're talking about international play... It's unbelievable."

"People don't realize the level he's playing at. They have no idea."

But the coach had some grievances about his team's play, most of which centered around his players' inability to exploit some mismatches up top. However, Delcastle made it difficult for the Dragons to get much penetration in the box by stocking its back row with two extra players for most of the match.

Several Glasgow players blamed the Cougars' goal on carelessness. "[The goal] didn't catch us off guard. We just didn't close down," said Katz, a midfielder who serves as a senior co-captain.

"We didn't get there fast enough," Katz added. "It was a nice shot."

Christiana edges Glasgow in exciting v-ball match

By MARTY VALANIA

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

CHRISTIANA — Christiana High nipped cross-town and Flight A rival 2-1 in a thrilling volleyball match Wednesday night.

The Vikings, after dropping the first game 15-12, rallied for a 15-10 win in the second game and a 16-14 squeaker in the third.

Glasgow, trailing 13-7 in the deciding game, did some rallying of its own and fought back to take a 14-13 lead. The Dragons even served for the match at one point, but Christiana battled back to earn the last three points and the victory.

"It's a focus thing," said Christiana Coach Kim Huggins of her team's ability to come from behind. "It was Parent's Night; we were playing a team that already beat us this year; there was just a lot going on. It took us awhile to get into the match."

"With us, it's not a matter of ability. It's all mental."

Sharna Gray led the Vikings with 10 kills, five blocks, six digs and nine perfect passes. Erin Pfozter added six kills and eight assists while Jamie Kirchenbauer had 18 digs and three aces. Jen Pruitt chipped in with 15 assists while Amber Hickman had five kills.

The win broke a tie between the two teams for second place in Flight A behind Newark, who was 7-1 in league play entering Wednesday. Christiana improves to 8-2 overall, 7-2 Flight A while Glasgow falls to 7-3, 6-3.

"It was a good match," said Glasgow Coach Dan Rebilas. "A dink here, a touch there, or a call here or there and it might have been different."

"We played pretty good."

Jill Biggs led the Dragons with 13 kills and 28 perfect passes while Natalie Dunlap had 34 assists and Kristin Nau had six kills and 35 perfect passes.

St. Mark's spikers rolling

By ERIC FINE

NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

The St. Mark's High volleyball team continues to rip through its schedule. The undefeated Spartans passed the season's halfway point with a 15-4, 15-5 win over Padua in a Catholic Conference match.

Tuesday's victory put the defending state champs in the win column for the 11th straight time; it also was their fifth straight conference win. Can the team breeze through the rest of its schedule and the state tournament en route to its second consecutive title? It seems likely.

Outside hitter Kristen Darby (10 kills, 8 digs, 4 aces) paced the offense. Allison Sternberg and Jen Mack each had five kills and Lisa Darby had 26 assists. Mack led the team with seven blocks followed by Megan Donachie (5) and Kate Hubbard (4).

The Spartans played St. Elizabeth Thursday, then tackle Archmere next Tuesday in what are both conference matches. They face Dover in a nonconference match Oct. 17.

St. Mark's Coach Dave Stover was pleased with his team's all-around game. "We were playing pretty well, but not all parts of our game were in synch," he said. "I'm hoping we've reached that point in the year where we're consistent in all parts of the game."

"If we're consistent, we're a very difficult team to beat."

The coach used a week-long break in the schedule to improve its serving and receiving and to alter the rotation to give Sternberg and Sue Oberlander more opportunities to contribute.

He is also happy with the juniors Donachie and Alyssa Fanelli are filling in for injured off-side hitter Lauren Williams.

"It's the home stretch now. I told [the team] it's time to really focus and bare down," Stover said.

The player apparently agree with him.

"I'm excited," said Oberlander. "The momentum is building up... We're as good a team as we were last year. We may be better. We're working really well together."

Added Sternberg: "I feel really good about it. I have no doubts. It's one more year that we're playing together, so our teamwork has improved a lot."

Hawks fall to Storm

The Delaware United FC Hawks fell 4-2 to the Hockessin Storm last Sunday.

The Storm scored twice in the first half and early in the second to build a 3-0 lead. The Hawks, though, got two goals from Blake Willey to cut the deficit to one. The Storm tacked on a late goal to secure the win.

Alex Rawles had two assists for the Hawks.

Hodgson gridders blank Wilmington

Hodgson Vo-Tech rebounded from a disappointing loss against Caravel to post an 18-0 shutout over Wilmington in a Blue Hen Conference Flight B football game.

Jabarr Truitt scored two touchdowns and Alvin Ennis added another to boost the Silver Eagles' record to 4-1. They face Dickinson at home Saturday.

Ennis caught a touchdown pass in the second quarter after Hodgson's defense pressured the Red Devils down to their own 15-yard line following a high snap on a punt attempt.

NEWARK POST ♦ OBITUARIES

▶ OBITUARIES, from 23

Denison, Texas, has been a Delaware resident for 40 years. She worked as a comptometer operator for the Texas Department of Agriculture.

She was a member of Kingswood United Methodist Church, and the Osiris Court No. 69, Ladies Oriental Shrine of North America where she has been a past high priestess.

Mrs. Russell enjoyed bowling, needlework, reading, and traveling.

She is survived by her husband of 56 years, James S. Russell Sr.; son James J. Jr. of Glasgow; daughter, Beverly Sue Russell Broomell of Stonybrook, N.Y.; sister, Sylvia Wiedel of Dublin, Texas; five grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

A service was held Sept. 23 at Beeson Memorial Services of Christiana-Elkton.

Burial was in Gracelawn Memorial Park, New Castle.

The family suggests contributions to Shriners Hospital for Children, c/o Nur Temple, P.O. Box 10085, Wilmington 19850-0085.

John E. DeFanti Jr., 44, machinist at Gore

Newark resident John E. DeFanti Jr. died Wednesday, Sept. 24, 1996, of complications from diabetes at home.

Mr. DeFanti, 44, a native of Wilmington, was a member of the New Castle Moose Lodge No. 1578. He worked for W.L. Gore as a machinist for 13 years, from where he retired on disability in 1989.

He enjoyed antique cars and hot rods and was very active in local car shows. He also restored a 1946 Chevy pick-up truck.

He is survived by daughter, Jaclyn M. DeFanti of New Castle; his parents, John E. Sr. and Nellie DeFanti of Newark; two sisters, Louise D. Sciacvico of Bear and Judy DeFanti Whoston of Newark; a granddaughter and a nephew.

A service was held Sept. 28 at Beeson Memorial Services of Christiana-Elkton. Burial was in Gracelawn Memorial Park, New Castle.

The family suggests contributions to the American Heart Association of Delaware, Inc., 1096 Old Churchman's Road, Newark 19713 or the American Diabetes Association, 110 South French Ave., Suite 400, Wilmington 19801.

Charles B. Lynch, 82, retired from Newark school district

Former Newark resident Charles B. Lynch died Tuesday, Sept. 24, 1996, in East Pasco Medical Center, Zephyrhills, Fla.

Mr. Lynch, 82, was retired from the Newark Special School District.

He is survived by his wife, J. Elizabeth Lynch; daughters, Nancy Mahanna of Newark and Anna Stevens and Marian Daulton, both of Zephyrhills; brothers, Earl, George and Merritt, all of Newark, and Harold of Wilmington; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

A service was held at Robert T. Jones & Foard Funeral Home, Newark. Burial was in St. Georges Cemetery.

The family suggests contributions to Newark United Methodist Church, Box 595, Newark 19715.

Rodney L. Willon III, 37, enjoyed fishing

Bear resident Rodney L. Willon III died Tuesday, Sept. 24, 1996, of cardiopulmonary arrest at home.

Mr. Willon, 37, a heavy-equipment supervisor for 20 years, worked for Christiana Excavating Co. for two years, E.A. Goodwyn Construction for six years, and Zak Construction Co.

He was a member of Bass Anglers and the Sportsmen's Society.

He is survived by his wife, Victoria L. Crossan Willon; daughters, Valerie L. and Vanessa E., both at home; parents, Lois Gillen of Carneys Point, N.J., and Rodney L. Willon II of Bridgeville; sisters, Debbie Elliott of Richmond, Va., and Kelli Willon of Carneys Point.

A Service was held Sept. 28 at Spicer-Mullikin & Warwick Funeral Home, Newark. Burial was in Cathedral Cemetery, Lancaster Avenue.

Madeline Wheatley

Newark resident Madeline Wheatley died Friday, Sept. 27, 1996, at Millcroft Health Care Center.

Mrs. Wheatley, 98, formerly of Stanton, was a homemaker. A native of Cambridge, Md. she was a member of St. Mark's United Methodist Church and Mid-County Senior Center. Her husband, Ernest Wheatley, died in 1978.

She is survived by daughters, Virginia Poole and Viola Walker, both of Wilmington, and Verna Willey of Cambridge; five grandchildren, ten great-grandchildren and six great-great-grandchildren.

MANAGEMENT

American General Finance, one of the leading consumer finance organizations, has the following positions open in our Oxford & Thorndale office.

FINANCIAL REPRESENTATIVE

Our Financial Representatives participate in an intensive on-the-job training program designed to prepare you for branch manager responsibilities. The 18 month modular training program instructs you in all aspects of managing credit extension, account adjustment, business development and personnel staffing. Applicants for this entry level opportunity should have four years post high school education, training or work experience (sales experience preferred); strong written and verbal communication skills; and a valid driver's license. Must be open to relocation and have the desire to assume managerial responsibility.

SALES ASSOCIATE

We are currently seeking a Sales Associate to introduce our customer base to new products and services. This highly visible position gives you an opportunity to develop a variety of business skills with the opportunity to advance within branch operations.

Qualified applicants should have a high school diploma with three years work experience, preferably in sales. Strong communication, negotiation and sales skills are a must. American General Finance offers a competitive benefits package, including medical, dental and a company-matched savings plan. For immediate consideration, please call (610) 932-8100, (610) 384-3636, or send resume to one of the following American General Finance locations: P.O. Box 175, Oxford, PA 19363 OR P.O. Box 263, Thorndale, PA 19372. Equal Opportunity Employer.

PUBLIC NOTICE

1996 TRANSPORTATION ENHANCEMENT PROGRAM

The Delaware Department of Transportation announces the call for application for the 1996 Transportation Enhancement Program.

The due date for Applications is November 1, 1996.

Factors which will weigh heavily in projects ranking and selection include projects that are soundly developed, have demonstrated community support and a strong tie-in with other plans and programs such as greenways, historic preservation and the states Long Range Transportation Plan for 2020. Realistic evaluation in terms of accurate cost estimates, clear real estate issues and constructability, will demonstrate project feasibility and enhance the projects potential for selection.

Background:

Proposed transportation enhancement activities must have a direct relationship to transportation, but not necessarily to a current or planned transportation project. Projects or activities that add community or environmental value to any transportation project and which fall into one of the following ten categories are considered enhancements and may be eligible for funding:

- pedestrian or bicycle facilities;
- acquisition of scenic easements and scenic or historic sites;
- landscaping and other scenic beautification;
- historic preservation;
- rehabilitation and operation of historic transportation buildings, structures or facilities - including historic railroad facilities and canals;
- preservation of abandoned railway corridors - including conversion for use as bicycle or pedestrian trails;
- control and removal of outdoor advertising;
- archaeological planning and research; and
- mitigation of water pollution due to highway runoff
- The TE Program provides Federal funding (up to 80%) for eligible projects. Project sponsors must identify match fund sources.
- Applications will be limited to three per sponsor per funding year.
- Funding (Federal Share) will be limited to a maximum of $500,000.00 - per project per funding year.
- Funding (Federal Share) will be limited to a maximum of $750,000.00 - per sponsor per funding year.

Sponsors who have submitted applications previously, and whose projects were not selected, may resubmit. New and second submissions should be on current application forms.

For additional information or for copies of the programs brochure, sponsor guidelines, and application forms, please call the Delaware Department of Transportation's Location and Environmental Studies Office at 739-4644.
