324 ENROLL IN SUMMER SCHOOL AT UNIVERSITY

Second Largest Registration In History Of Summer Session; Arden Players To Give "Pinafore," Tuesday; Longwood Outing, July 12

ENROLLMENT

The University of Delaware Summer School opened, Monday, with the second largest registration in its history, only one year, 1926, exceeding in enrollment, 316 registered Monday, and eight more registered Tuesday and Wednesday for a total of 324. New courses have been added to the curricula this year and the enrollment in all of them has been large. The session is six weeks.

Two of the annual social features have been arranged for—the outdoor play by the Arden Players, and the visit to Longwood. The Arden Players will give the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, "Pinafore," next Tuesday evening, at 7:30, standard time, on the campus in front of Wolf Hall. There will be no admission charge and the general public is invited.

The annual visit to Longwood, at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre S. du Pont, will be on July 12. After an inspection of the famous conservatory and gardens, the Summer School students and faculty will be entertained at dinner, and later there will be a recital on the new Longwood organ. Last year the party was privileged to see a display of the illuminated fountains.

Arrangements are being made to open the swimming pool in the Taylor Gymnasium to the Summer School students and faculty of both sexes.

Plans are being perfected for the organization of Summer School student activities under the direction of Miss Margaret Burnett, State Director of Adult Education. There probably will be several pageants and plays, which will be educational as well as entertaining.

VOTE SATURDAY ON BOND ISSUE

Special Town Election To Authorize $65,000 In Bonds At 4½ Per Cent; $45,000 Will Retire 5½ Per Cent Bonds, $20,000 For Street Work

On Saturday there will be a special election of the citizens of the Town of Newark to decide whether or not the Council of Newark will be authorized to issue bonds to the amount of $65,000. The issue was authorized by the last meeting of the General Assembly with the provision that a referendum vote be held. Every citizen entitled to vote at a town election is entitled to one vote for every dollar or fractional part of a dollar of taxes which he has paid on real estate the preceding year, and each corporation is entitled to vote on the same basis. The election will be held from two to five o'clock, p. m., advanced time, at the office of the Council of Newark, on Academy street.

The main purpose of the bond issue is for economy, as $45,000 of the money borrowed through the medium of the bonds will be used to retire 5½ per cent bonds now outstanding. The rate on the new bonds is expected to be 4½ per cent. The remaining $20,000 is to be expended on needed street improvement.

It is planned by the Council of Newark to use the $20,000 together with other available money to curb and gutter all streets now unimproved. This will establish grades and make more lasting and satisfactory any temporary dressings placed on the dirt streets. The program will be completed later by paving the streets with Amesite or some other similar material.

LICENSES DUE

June 30 is the last date on which applications will be received for mercantile and manufacturers' licenses. After that date a penalty of 5 per cent of the amount of the license will be added for each month of delinquency in filing an application. Applications may be filed at Magistrate Thompson's office or with Charles C. Hubert, notary public.

FRATERNITY BUYS EVERETT JOHNSON HOME

On June 15 the Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity, of the University of Delaware, completed negotiations for the purchase of the home of the late Everett C. Johnson, on Park Place, for use as a chapter house. The fraternity will take possession Saturday, and begin putting the house in order for the use of the chapter at the opening of college.

The house was built by Mr. Johnson in 1923 and is of old English type, being constructed of rough stone and stucco. It is situated on a beautiful plot of ground opposite the Red Men's Grove, which is used by the University as a setting for many outdoor pageants and plays. The grounds are effectively decorated with shrubbery and trees, and at the rear of the house are sunken gardens lined with trees. The house itself is ideally adapted for the use of a fraternity.

The Phi Kappa Tau Fraternity feels fortunate in being the medium of perpetuating the memory of a great and honored alumnus by connecting this property with the University.

FRUIT TOUR TO SPEND DAY HERE

Delaware Association Will Spend June 26 At Experimental Farm Orchard

Orchardists of New Castle County are invited to visit the Experimental Farm at the University of Delaware at Newark on Wednesday, June 26, in cooperation with the annual Auto Tour of the Chester-Delaware (Pennsylvania) County Fruit Growers' Association, which will spend the day at the farm on that date. County Agent Ed Willis, Jr., is arranging the program for the day at the farm, and he believes that it will be of interest to all fruit growers in the county.

Nearly 100 people are expected to be present from the Pennsylvania counties. H. B. Worthington is president of the organization which is sponsoring the trip. The orchardists plan to assemble at the Crowell Orchard, near Avondale, at 8:30, and after inspection of this farm will arrive at the Experimental Farm about 10:30, standard time. All will bring lunch which will be eaten soon after arrival.

Following this the orchards will be visited under the direction of Professors L. R. Detjen, G. F. Gray and F. S. Lagase, of the Horticultural Department. It is also planned to assemble for a meeting on the farm lawn, at which time the men in charge of the orchard work will talk on fertilization, pollination, etc.

NATIONAL PICNIC

Nearly 1,800 employees of the National Vulcanized Fibre Company enjoyed the annual river ride and outing given Saturday. The employees and their families from the plants at Newark, Yorklyn and Kennett Square, and the main office in Wilmington, left on the Wilson liner "State of Delaware," at 8:30 o'clock in the morning, and sailed down as far as the bay. The steamer docked at Riverview Beach, at 2 o'clock, where the employees departed themselves until 5 o'clock, when they sailed for home, arriving in Wilmington at 6 o'clock. George Kelley's Orchestra furnished music during the trip.

BUY NEW HOMES

Ralph Dinsmore has sold his home on South College avenue to William Northrop, treasurer of the Bond Manufacturing Company, who will take possession, tomorrow. Mr. Dinsmore and family left Monday for Fort Ellsberg, N. J., where they will spend the summer. In the fall they will locate in the vicinity of Philadelphia, where Mr. Dinsmore is now located with the Charles Warner Company.

ARREST DRIVER OF STOLEN CAR

William Couve Gets 30 Days On No License Charge. Investigation Shows Car Stolen; Cunningham Stopped Car On Suspicion

On Sunday, William Couve, of Philadelphia, was stopped on suspicion by Officer Cunningham and could not produce either operator's license or registration card for the Chevrolet touring car which he was driving. He was sent to the New Castle County Workhouse for thirty days by Magistrate Thompson in default of fine on the charge of driving without an operator's license. Yesterday, it developed that the car he was driving was stolen from Oliver H. Dauphinae, also living in Philadelphia, and after serving his sentence at Greenbank, Couve will probably be released to the Pennsylvania authorities to be tried on the charge of stealing the car.

Officer Cunningham stopped Couve when he noticed him driving through town, past several open garages with a flat tire. He was accompanied by a man, who gave his name as Joseph Belton. Couve claimed to have both operator's license and registration. He was fined $25 and costs, and as he had no money was lodged in the local jail, while Belton ostensibly went to Philadelphia to get the forgotten cards. The car was held. Belton has not been heard of since, and Monday Couve was transferred to the Workhouse. Yesterday, Mr. Dauphinae appeared to claim his car, but it is still being held by the police for further investigation.

During the past week nine other traffic offenders have been arraigned before Magistrate Thompson on charges of reckless driving. Two of these arrests were made by Officer Cunningham; seven were made by State highway officers.

UNION SERVICE SUNDAY

A beautiful custom has grown up among the churches of Newark in having a union service, participated in by the Presbyterian, the Protestant Episcopal and the Methodist Episcopal churches, during the six Sunday evenings in which the Summer School at the University is in session. This custom will be continued this year, beginning Sunday evening, June 23, at 8:00 o'clock, daylight saving time, and continue through the remainder of June and all of July.

The Rev. H. Everett Hall, of the Presbyterian Church, will be the speaker at the opening service this Sunday night. Dr. R. B. Mathews, of the Episcopal Church will be the speaker the following Sunday evening, June 30. These six Union services will be held in the Methodist Church. The Ministers responsible for this arrangement indulge the hope that not only may the congregations of these respective churches avail themselves of the privilege of these services, but that there may also be a fine response to these means of grace on the part of all of the people of the town. All visitors at the University are most cordially invited to enjoy these and all other services of the churches of the town during their stay in our midst.

"FOUR THINGS" THEME OF TALK TO GRADUATES

Dr. Huntingdon Uses Van Dyke's Verse In Mapping Life's Program To Newark High School Graduates; Student Addresses Interesting

PRIZE AWARDS

In his address to the 36 graduates of the thirty-sixth graduating class of the Newark High School, Dr. W. Park Huntingdon, Lutheran pastor of Wilmington, gave "A True Life's Program" for the students to follow. He used as the theme of his address Dr. Henry Van Dyke's "Four Things."

Thirty-six students, in gray caps and gowns received diplomas from H. Harrison Gray, president of the Board of Education. Dr. Walter E. Gunby opened the exercises with an invocation and closed them with a benediction. Ira S. Brinser, superintendent of schools presided.

Dr. Huntingdon took Van Dyke's famous verse:

"Four things a man must learn to do
If he would make his record true:
To think without confusion clearly;
To love his fellow-man sincerely;
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven securely."

and enlarged on it to map a program for a successful life.

The first address was the salutatory by Warren Bunting, president of the class of 1929. The title of his address was "Not Evening, but Dawn." He likened life's course to the course of the sun, and said that the graduating class was but at the dawn.

Margaret Wilkinson, who gave the class oration, took the Old Newark Academy as her topic, and gave an interesting and illuminating history of the school. She said that it was not only one of the oldest schools in the United States, but the beginning of the present Newark School system. She spoke of its founding in 1767 as a theological academy, and traced its history from them on, paying particular tribute to Dr. Albert Raub, who took the administration of the school in 1889, and carried it through its most ambitious period. She told of the time when it was combined with Delaware College, and of the three signers of the Declaration of Independence who were educated in the Old Academy.

Dorothea Chalmers took "Our Country" as the subject of her valedictory and gave a very finished oration, telling of the outstanding features of the United States.

BOLT STRIKES BARN

The barn of William Stafford, on the road between Christiana and Stanton, was completely burned last night as a result of being struck by a heavy bolt of lightning during the electrical storm. Nine fire companies, including Aetna, responded to the fire, but nothing could be done to save the building. There was no water supply, but the firemen used their chemicals to keep the surrounding buildings from catching. The loss of the barn with its contents is estimated at $10,000.

The New Jersey driver attempted to cut in ahead of two other cars and crashed into the Delaware machine.

Parks, who was driving, told State road officers that he was on his way to Baltimore to be married and was to meet his prospective bride at a certain hour. When he found his trip would be delayed he was greatly worried because it was impossible to communicate with her, there being no telephone near where they were to meet.

The Referendum

On Saturday the Town of Newark will hold a special election to decide whether or not the Council of Newark will be empowered to borrow $65,000 by the issuance of bonds, which will probably yield 4½ per cent interest. This election is a formality exacted by the State Legislature, which authorized the bond issue at its last meeting. Following the precedent of the law in such legislation, a referendum vote was provided for in the bill.

It is hardly possible that there will be any opposition to the proposition because it is an economy and investment measure. $45,000 of the money borrowed will be used to retire 5½ per cent bonds now outstanding, thus saving the Town $450 in interest charges, annually. The remaining $20,000 will be used for much needed improvement of unimproved streets in the town, which will be a paying investment.

The citizens of the Town should vote Saturday on this proposal, to show their interest in the business of the Town, and as a mark of appreciation of the Council of Newark, which administers the business of the Town.

Have Your Car Inspected

The Save-A-Life Campaign which opened Saturday, under the auspices of the Delaware Safety Council and sponsored by Governor Buck, has already found an excellent response on the part of the car owners of Delaware. Inspection stations report many requests for inspection.

For one month free inspection of the motor safety equipment is offered all car owners in Delaware, and garages and service stations in every community are acting as inspection stations. Cars which pass the inspection are given a certificate of safety, which is pasted on the windshield. Cars which are found faulty on inspection should be adjusted and then presented for a second inspection.

While there is nothing compulsory about the free inspection, any car which appears on the highway after July 15 without a certificate of safety, is most likely to be stopped and inspected by the police, and if it does not pass inspection, its owner will be prosecuted under the laws which cover the proper condition of brakes, lights and other safety appliances on motor vehicles.

The Union Services

For the next six weeks the Presbyterian, the Methodist and the Episcopal Churches of Newark will combine resources to offer to the community and to the Summer School students and faculty, Union Services, each Sunday. The services will be held in the Methodist Church.

This fine custom was started here some years ago, and has served to unite and advance the common interests of the several congregations. The three churches have joined in these services with the truest type of Christian spirit and have added richly to the spiritual welfare of the community.

HOW FAR CAN BIRDS FLY?

The longest regular migration is that of the Arctic tern, which passes annually from Arctic to Antarctic waters, a distance of 11,000 miles. That of the Wilson's petrel, however, is nearly as long, says Nature Magazine, as it breeds on Antarctic islands during our winter, and spends its summer in the North Atlantic, ranging north to Labrador.

Regular migration is seasonal as a rule, and in New England, as in the rest of North America, its general tendency is northward in spring and southward in autumn. Nevertheless those who with a telescope have watched the night migrants crossing the disk of the full moon have noted that the lines of flight are not parallel, but cross one another, some veering far toward the east and some toward the west.

Some birds, like the golden plover, go to New England in autumn from far northern and northwestern Canada but return in spring by way of the Mississippi valley region. Some, like the canvasback duck, come almost directly east from the Great Plains.

The trapping and banding of birds, a comparatively new method in ornithology, has become popular in New England. The numbered bands, furnished by the Biological Survey, are marked in such a way that records of birds that are recaptured are returned.

An evening grosbeak and a purple finch banded in autumn in Michigan were taken later in Massachusetts. A robin banded in New England was taken in the winter in Kentucky.

Some black-crowned night herons, banded as fledglings on Cape Cod, were taken in the following autumn in Maine, and several in Quebec, and one in New Brunswick, nearly 500 miles north of the place where it was banded. Later others were taken, one in Michigan, two in southern Louisiana, and others south to the West Indies.

The Pacific golden plover which normally migrates down the coast of Asia and to the Hawaiian Islands, the cape pigeon or pintado petrel of the southern oceans, and a number of European species, have appeared in New England.

A tern banded in Maine was found dead in Africa; gulls banded in Europe have been taken on this side of the water, and an upland plover, a New England species, has been recorded in New Zealand. Such occurrences probably are the result of strong favoring gales, such as brought a great flight of lapwings from Europe to this country in 1927, when they were scattered along the coastal region from Baffin Land to Maine and attracted the attention of many.

WATER THE EVERGREENS

The newly planted evergreens must be given plenty of water, says Nature Magazine. A great deal of winter killing is due to the ground's freezing after a dry spell in the fall, so that the tree has to go through the winter without any reserve of moisture.

GREAT FOR THE GOLFER

Golfers, listen to this one. The old language of the Polynesians contained no word for "weather," because the natives could hardly distinguish the temperature change from one season to the other.

Perhaps the greatest charm of Hawaii is its climate. In the city of Honolulu, last year, the thermometer crept up to 86°, and once down to 60°—a range that seems too good to be true. The rough general Hawaiian average is about 75°, with variations of eight degrees either way, says Nature Magazine of Washington. Mountain and sea breezes constantly fan the valleys and the plains.

As one climbs into the hills, which on the windward sides of Kauai, Maui and Oahu jut straight up from the sea, each thousand feet drops the temperature about four or five degrees. On the top of Mauna Kea, 13,823 feet high—the loftiest peak of all—zero is sometimes reached, and snow remains for months in the year. The arrangement is almost thermostatic—one can pick just the temperature one wishes!

The steady blowing "trades" are the real climate builders, however, and are largely responsible for the endless variation of plant life. Like an overloaded plane dropping gasoline ballast, they spill their tons of moisture on the windward peaks, but have only a few drops for the parched valleys to the southwest.

Awini, on Hawaii, groans beneath the weight of 167.68 inches of rain each year, while Mahukona, nine miles distant, boasts of but 16.6 inches. The slopes of Mt. Waialeale—and well is it named, in the native tongue, "rippling water"—are the wettest of any on earth, for 476 inches fall there yearly, breaking the record of old Cherrapunji, in the Khasi hills of British India, which soaks up a mere 426 inches. Yet within 14 miles of Waialeale, a weather station records but 22.21 in 365 days. Hawaii has about 600 species of plants found nowhere else.

HINTS ON CARE OF LAWN

How about your grass? There is only one way to determine the quantity of water needed on a lawn and that is by watching it carefully.

As long as the grass is vigorous and has a lively green color, artificial watering may be withheld with safety, but with the first indication of a dull color and sickly appearance water should be applied conservatively. That is, the lawn should be sprinkled liberally but not enough to make the ground soggy, says Nature Magazine of Washington. Such applications of water should be repeated as often as found necessary to keep the grass in a healthy condition.

Grass requires more water on a light or sandy soil than it does on a heavy or clay soil. Write for Bulletin 40 on grass. The grass should not be allowed to grow to a height of more than one and one-half to two inches.

He who is false to his fellow-man is also false to his Maker.—Stahl.

WATCH COLOR IN PEONY

Peonies, with their wealth of color and large blooms, readily answer the requirements of the ideal cut flower, says Nature Magazine, in Bulletin 18 you can have by writing to Washington. Color comes first in the choice of the peony, but it might be well to take into account the fact that color at times varies considerably with the age and strength of the plants. Then, too, the light-colored and delicately tinted blooms, unless protected from the sun, fade.

SPEED OF METEORITES

The fact that more meteorites are seen in the afternoon and evening than in the morning hours shows that their velocities must be, in general, greater than that of the earth, otherwise they would not overtake the earth in such great numbers. There is reason to believe, says Nature Magazine, that meteorites are different in their origin from shooting stars, that they are not true members of our solar system but are drawn into it from interstellar space by the attraction of the sun.

WILLIS TAKES STATE TITLE

Wins All-Round Clay Pigeon Championship At Yorklyn State Shoot

With a mark of 322x350, L. D. Willis captured the all-around title of Delaware again, following his successful campaigning in the State shoot at Yorklyn, Friday and Saturday. Willis won the double's crown Saturday, after a shoot-off with S. O. S. Graham and Clarence L. Walker, who tied at 48. Willis shattered 189 in his program of 200 in the singles, Friday, won by George Sylvester with a fine 196x200. "L. D." added 87 to his total firing from the 23-yard line in the handicap event.

Willis did not compete in the 1928 State affair at Bellevue, but the previous year, 1927, he banged out a three-way victory, running the singles, handicaps and all-around titles. He was given stern opposition in the doubles, Saturday morning, from Graham and Walker, but the former, a non-State entry, was not eligible for the title. In the shoot-off Willis broke 23 of his 12 pairs, Walker got 20 and Graham 21.

"Scutch" Lauritsen, 1927 all-around champ was runner up to Willis with a record of 319x350 only three targets behind the winner.

J. Gilpin Highfield, shooting from the 21-yard marker, and W. G. Wood, aiming from 19 yards, locked horns for State Handicap honors, with scores of 94x100. In the shoot-off Highfield found two targets ahead of his competitor to cop the crown. High gun honors in the handicap were won by S. M. "Steve" Crothers with 96x100, from 23 yards. This score naturally won the long yardage prize. A. L. "Scutch" Lauritsen was second with 91x100. The 21-yard trophies were carried off by the new handicap champion Gilpin Highfield, H. C. Krout being runner up. Bill Wood took care of the 19-yard prize with his splendid score of 94x100, being followed by L. McMullin, who finished with an even 90x100. In the 17-yard class C. K. Krick and G. Newkirk finished in the order named.

Norman A. Wright won the night shoot Friday while George Sylvester defended his singles title, won at Bellevue in 1927, by shattering 196 out of his 200 Friday at Yorklyn.

Officers and directors of the Delaware Sportsmen's Association elected to serve during the ensuing year are as follows: President, Isaac Turner; vice-president, C. L. Walker; secretary and treasurer, J. C. Guenver; directors, J. T. Skelly, W. A. Simon, Wilmington, Del.; T. C. Marshall, Yorklyn, Del.; Frank A. Lawson, Port Penn, Del.; Dr. E. Richmond Steele, Dover; J. W. Wilcoits, Bowers; G. A. Hill, Bridgeville; Herman Argo, Milford. The selection of a location for next year's championship will not be determined until the annual meeting in January.

Says Uncle Charlie

UNBALANCED feeds during growing days result in many small eggs in the early lay. Successful poultrymen avoid this and secure early lays of big eggs by feeding B-B All-Mash Growing Ration.

This All-Mash Ration takes the last bit of guesswork out of feeding growing birds. It contains just the right amount of cod liver oil, dried butter-milk, alfalfa leaf meal, necessary protein concentrates and minerals to develop larger, more rugged, faster growing pullets. No other feed is needed for growing birds. As they mature, follow with B-B Laying Mash and B-B Scratch Feed.

What Poultrymen Say

SELL MANY USED CARS AT HAMMOND MOTORS

Business at the Hammond Motors Company, Thirty-seventh and Market streets, Wilmington, continues unusually brisk for this time of the year. The company is finding a ready market for the Oldsmobile and its companion car, the Viking, and is distributing them as rapidly as they arrive. According to the sales-manager, the late spring is felt to be responsible for the slowing up of sales earlier and the increase now.

In addition to the business in the new cars, the company is disposing of about 25 used cars weekly. They are shown to advantage on the new concrete open-air market, adjoining the showrooms. Not only is the display a daylight one, but is brilliantly illuminated for night showing.

HEAR FINE REPORTS AT STOCKHOLDERS' MEETING

The first annual meeting of the stockholders of the Best Lock Manufacturing Corporation, at 908 Orange street, Wilmington, in the auditorium of the New Century Club, Saturday afternoon, June 15, at 2 o'clock. The report of the secretary was read by C. C. MacNutt, while W. Ray King, auditor and assistant treasurer, read the financial report.

The principal remarks were made by Frank E. Best, president of the company, and inventor of the Best Universal Locking system from the inception of the idea, through the building of the automatic machine, which makes the lock core, a basically patented feature, around which the Best Universal Locking system is built. Mr. Best also gave an interesting talk on the progress of the company.

Prior to the close of the meeting, motion pictures of the Seattle plant in operation, showing the intricate machines to advantage. During its show, explanations were made by W. M. O'Patton.

Despite the warm weather, there was a large attendance, which was very gratifying to the officials, who were given a vote of confidence and approval of the year's activities.

MAKE IMPROVEMENTS AT CANN BROS. PLANT

Cann Brothers and Kindig, printers, of Twelfth and Washington streets, Wilmington, closed a contract last week with a local concern for the printing, addressing and mailing of 50,000 letters. They will be sent to cities and towns along the entire Atlantic seaboard. Another fine award was for the printing of the fiftieth anniversary souvenir booklet of the Perpetual Building and Loan Association. It will consist of twelve pages, with special treatment as to color and art work. Besides being profusely illustrated, it will contain a history of the organization, officers and directors as well as comparative financial standings.

Cann Brothers and Kindig report unusually good business in the multi-graphing department, which is operated on the day and night shift, just as the remainder of the printing establishment. Operating in conjunction with the mailing department, it forms a very busy department in the plant.

In line with its policy of always keeping abreast of the times, the firm has installed a special machine to perform mitre work and also an electric automatic time recording device for the accurate registering of time spent on all jobs. It is operated by a master clock.

LETTERS ONCE BRANDED UPON MALEFACTORS

The children of the early days in New England did not learn the letters of the alphabet in such simple fashion as "A stands for Apple, and B stands for Ball." But letters sometimes were used to mark the transgressor.

Lack of chastity was indicated in the scarlet A which Hester Prynne wore. The drunkard could be and was disgraced, and must "wear about his neck and so as to hang above his outer garment a D made of red cloth and set upon white, and to continue it a year and not to leave it off when he comes among company."

The letter B did not escape being a mark of ignominy. "Any person who commits burglary by breaking up any dwelling house, or shall rob any person so offending shall for the first offence be branded on the forehead with the letter B; a second time a second B, and for the third time be put to death. If the offence is committed on the Lord's Day, for the first offence he shall have one ear cut off; the second ear for the second offence, and be put to death for the third offence."

THE MAKING OF SILK

Two monks who moved from India to Constantinople in the year 563 are said to have introduced into Europe the manufacture of silk. Workmen instructed in the art carried it from Constantinople to Italy, and thence it spread gradually to the rest of Europe. It is said to have been practiced in England in the fifteenth century.

It is more from carelessness about truth than from intentional lying that there is so much falsehood in the world.—Johnson.

SMOKE TREATMENT FOR CHICKS BRINGS RESULTS

The smoke method of treatment for infectious bronchitis of baby chicks is advised by Mr. H. S. Palmer, Extension Poultryman of the University of Delaware, in his recent instruction letter to all poultrymen in New Castle County. The smoke treatment is widely recommended and has been given satisfactory results in Delaware.

"Either," continues Mr. Palmer's letter, "of the following materials may be used: (1) Creolin, (2) Beachwood Creosote, or (3) a mixture of one-half cup pine tar, one-half cup turpentine and four tablespoonfuls of sulphur. Place one teaspoonful of either of these materials on top of a hot brooder stove in the brooder house. This will fill the house with fumes that will open the bird's breathing passages by causing them to cough and sneeze.

In large houses it may be necessary to use several stoves; also a second or third teaspoonful to fill the room with fumes. In case the brooder stove has been taken out of the house, heat a brick or other article of similar nature very hot and put the material on it to get the smoke and gas necessary for the treatment. In severe cases the treatment may be repeated several nights in succession. The doors and windows should be closed tightly for an hour or two during each treatment to keep the fumes inside.

Another treatment advised by Mr. Palmer which has been used in connection with the smoke method, is somewhat similar to that advised for coccidiosis. It is the use of milk which seems to clear out the birds' intestines and gives them extra nourishment and strength to overcome the disease.

As soon as the disease is noticed, the regular feed should be taken away and the following mixture placed before the birds. 50 lbs. yellow corn meal, 40 lbs. dried milk and 10 lbs. bran. This ration is kept before the birds for 3 or 4 days, after which they are again put on their regular feed.

This letter has been sent to all New Castle County poultrymen on the poultry mailing list in the office of County Agent Ed Willim, Jr. If there are any interested people who have not received this letter and would like to continue receiving poultry items from Mr. Willim's office, he requests that they send in their name to him at once and this letter and other subsequent ones will be mailed to them.

False-dealing travels a short road, and surely detected.—William Penn.

CAT AND CANARY

George Moore has banished from the presence chamber that totemic or symbolic cat, conventional companion of geniuses. "As I stroke thy elastic and rebellious fur, it seems to me that I am masticating memories." So, or somewhat so, Baudelaire. Mr. Moore's familiar wanted to masticate Mr. Moore's canary, a symbolic bird given by a music lover to a soul all music. This and much other synthetic lore is contributed by Professor William Lyon Phelps to The Yale Review. The author of "Human Nature in the Bible" has been conversing with the author of "Flowers of Passion." He heard Moore "reading aloud beautiful English prose" to the accompaniment of a canary. The memory, he says tenderly, "will abide with me."

As Professor Phelps was not an old friend, he is probably safe from Mr. Moore's future autobiographical mischief and he approached his somewhat difficult subject with singular tact and reverence. We almost seem to hear Jeems Yellowplush:

Being a genuine literary aristocrat, he has the unaffected affability of his class, a combination of ease and elegance.

And in the accomplished President of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra one catches an echo of Baccytopper:

While he was reading, the canary began singing, furnishing an exquisite obbligato.

Mr. Moore was in an unusual good humor; and the visitor was fortunate in picking up passages from his host's novels satisfactory even to the great man who has outgrown all and rewritten most of them and thinks it easier to understand human or inhuman nature in the time of Pericles than now. It is surprising to find him praising "A Mummer's Wife" and admitting that certain parts of "Esther Waters" are good. It is ironical that the creator of "the artistic novel" is best known by what probably most readers regard as moral tales exhibiting the woes that spring from drink and gambling. They think of him as an "artistic" Timothy Shay Arthur.

Why must he pretend to believe that one of his amusing "rowdy" novels, "Mike Fletcher," is "no good at all"? Then he was "trying himself out." He is always doing that. He has been rewriting "Evelyn Innes" for ages, and it only gets worse. "Oh, that is a bad novel, very bad." And why should Professor Phelps think that "Spring Days," another "rowdy" book, seems to have escaped public attention? Nothing that George Moore does or says is allowed to escape public attention.

We needn't bother to repeat Mr. Moore's criticisms of certain dead novelists. The pure and perfect artist is bound by his nature to be severe with those who have fallen below his standard. But we can't help shuddering when he who inserted himself so amusingly into the Gaelic literary movement makes this solemn denial and denunciation:

Irish? I am no more Irish than you are. My people have been in Ireland only three hundred years. That does not make me an Irishman.

This is an unappeasable sorrow of Ireland, but "the only thing that worries me is when I have not written well." And why should that worry him? He can always rewrite and usually does.—N. Y. Times.

BUTTERFLY 5,000 FEET UP

For the entomologist Mount Washington has long been a favorite collecting ground, says Nature Magazine. Passing through the rich Canadian fauna at the base, where the natural conditions have been practically undisturbed, we enter near the timber line the sub-Alpine where in August are found the mountain fritillary and the wingless grasshopper, two of the more striking species of this zone. At an elevation of above five thousand feet we reach the home of the White Mountain butterfly.

BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE

The 1929 telephone construction program is the largest in history, according to an official announcement which says:

"The Bell system is building so as not only to be ready but to encourage the public to the wider use of the constantly improving telephone service. The population is growing, the desire of the people for comfort and efficiency is growing, and that means a rapid growth in the utilization of the telephone. . . . The use of long distance service which makes the whole United States one business community within easy, instantaneous reach, has become an important factor in merchandising, in the control of inventories and generally in the more efficient distribution which has so beneficially affected business during the past few years.

"In the home, as well, a radical change is coming over the use of the telephone.

"Where one telephone in the house used to be considered adequate, people are now putting in extensions so they can talk with comfort and convenience from almost any part of the house. Women are acquiring the conveniences at home that office forces have.

"This growing utilization of telephone facilities both in business and in the home naturally means more telephone plant."

Can you!

CAN you do waterless cooking? Deep fat frying? Self-simmering? Or have you an old-fashioned gas range?

There are two kinds of gas ranges. The other kind is Smoothtop.

Smoothtop is the household duplicate of the range used by famous chefs. The enclosed all-hot top and fast-breathing burner gives cooking ease that rivals the old coal range. Five pots can cook around one burner! Smoothtop saves cooking-time and work.

Drop in and see Smoothtop's smart console lines. See how its graduated heat zones simplify top-cooking. At least be sure to call, phone or write for your free recipe booklet. . . . Famous Methods of Famous Chefs."

FADERS' QUALITY BREAD

"The Bread That Raised a Community"

WINS THE FIRST PRIZE

After carefully reviewing the many hundreds of slogans submitted in the FADERS' QUALITY BREAD contest the judges have awarded the first prize of $25.00 to Mrs. William Rowan for the following slogan:

"The Bread That Raised a Community"

The second prize of $10.00 was awarded to Mrs. Elsie Pierce for the slogan:

"The Olde Favorite"

The third prize of $5.00 was awarded to Mrs. C. L. Nichols, 124 E. Delaware Ave., for the slogan:

"A Daily Knead for Every Home"

We congratulate the winners on their very excellent efforts, and to all those who participated in the contest we extend our sincere thanks for making the contest a success.

Most of the slogans were so good that the judges wished they could give prizes to them all. But the writers said such wonderful things about FADERS' QUALITY BREAD in their slogans, that we know they felt that, even if they did not win a prize, the enjoyment they had from eating FADERS' QUALITY BREAD was a real reward in itself.

Those who entered the contest know for themselves how delicious FADERS' QUALITY BREAD is. And housewives everywhere within reach are insisting on FADERS' QUALITY BREAD exclusively, because of the appetizing flavor it has and the rich wholesomeness due to its high quality ingredients—the same high quality you use in your own kitchen.

If you haven't tried a loaf of FADERS' QUALITY BREAD—get one today!
