Bonus System To Spur Fats Campaign Begins

A bonus system of offering ration points for used household fats is expected to double collections of the vitally-needed product, War Production Board salvage officials said this week.

The new campaign, whereby housewives will get one brown ration point for every half-pound of fats delivered to dealers, got under way this past Monday. The point offering amounts to a bonus because the Office of Price Administration already authorizes payment by dealers of four cents a pound for the fats, required for production of explosives, synthetic rubber and other war items.

"Many housewives have been holding up deliveries of fats since the announcement two weeks ago about the new program," Herbert M. Faust, WPB salvage division director, said. Officials estimated that each housewife should be able to turn in a minimum of one pound of fats a month.

Aside from their significance as Christmas greetings to those in the service, they are a valuable souvenir of the Town of Newark, and it is believed that most of the townfolks will wish to buy them. They are being put on sale December 16th in the entrance of the State Theatre; Rhodes Drug Store; Neighbors Pharmacy; and can be procured through Mr. McClintock at National Vulcanized Fibre Company, Newark; and W. H. Walker, Jr., at Continental-Diamond Fibre Company, Newark.

Proceeds from the sale of the pamphlet will go to the general fund of the Mayor's Committee.

XMAS RUSH ON EARLY

Contrary to previous years most persons are not waiting until the last minute to do their Christmas shopping according to reports from merchants up and down the Main stem this year.

A survey discloses that practically every local merchant is enjoying an increased volume of business this season despite the scarcity of much merchandise.

"Customers aren't as discriminating as they used to be," they say. "If you haven't what they want they'll take the next best you have to offer". And, most everyone already has done all their Christmas Shopping."

Cattle Price
Stabilization
Date Changed

One of the first jobs assigned newly elected AAA committeemen was to contact all feed dealers in the State and find out the quantity of feed handled during 1942 and the first six months of 1943, and by months for the remainder of the year so that the amount which can be allocated for Delaware for the coming months can be determined. C. E. Ocheltree, chairman of the State AAA committee, says that it is important that dealers comply with these requests in order to be sure they secure ample quantities of feed for 1944.

Apple growers and shippers who package apples in boxes with net weight of not more than 26 pounds and with not more than five boxes sold at one time to one buyer, and who ship by express or parcel post, are not under price control with respect to such sales according to the Office of Price Administration. They are under price control, however, where resold by wholesalers and retailers.

Initial reports on milk payments made through November 20, indicate that the program is operating smoothly in Delaware and throughout the nation. Reports in the State AAA office show that through November 20 Delaware producers had received approximately $22,000, about 1000 payments having been made. Deadline for filing for October payments was November 20, but extensions are permissible if the producer shows that he made every reasonable effort to file on time. The deadline for filing for November and December will be January 31, 1944, and the same provisions will prevail. Payments for both months will be made at one time.

Letters To Santa Claus Omitted This Christmas

The management of the Newark Post regrets that lack of space and curtailed newsprint facilities makes it impossible to publish children's Letters to Santa Claus in its columns this year.

Heretofore these letters have been published for several weeks prior to Christmas. This year, however, they will not be printed in the paper. But, all children who sent in letters are advised that their letters were immediately forwarded direct to Santa Claus' headquarters at the North Pole and will undoubtedly be fulfilled by old Saint Nicholas himself, in person, on his annual visit at Christmas.

WFA BAN ON HOG SLAUGHTER LIFTED

Other Slaughter Restricted

The War Food Administration has suspended all restrictions on hog slaughter for a three-month period, effective immediately. Clifford W. Shedd, state supervisor, explained that because of large numbers of hogs in the hands of farmers, it is necessary to lift restrictions so that the surplus may flow to market areas.

The producer may, under this suspension order, kill for his own use, or sale, or transfer to others, all hogs he is able to handle. No license or permit is required. The 400-lb. limitation for farm family consumption is included in this suspension order.

Mr. Shedd pointed out that this order applies only to hogs and cautioned that all other livestock slaughter continues to be restricted. He said this order in no way affected the transfer of ration stamps between wholesaler or consumer and producer. It still remains necessary for the slaughterer to demand and accept ration stamps from all of his customers for all rationed foods that he produces and turn these stamps back to his local OPA Ration Board.

Bill Kelleher Heads County Grid Group

How About That!

By Ruth Safran

What date will you say we celebrated Christmas in 1943? After it's all over, I think we will remember as parts of Christmas the deadlines set by the Post Office for getting packages for servicemen overseas. When you bought those presents and wrapped and rewrapped them and packed as much Christmas spirit as you could in 36-inches-over-all, you had pushed up Christmas in your mind.

In many homes Christmas will be when that boy or girl gets a furlough—whether it's December 15 or 25.

In our plants it gets pushed up too. It is Christmas when the gang chooses names, buys gifts, holds a Christmas party with all the trimmings—all because we like to cram as much of that spirit into our lives as possible. We won't be working Christmas Day, but what's to keep us from borrowing in advance on that date?

And judging from some of my mail, a lot of our boys are making plans for their 1944 Christmas now. Christmas will be when they get home from Sicily and Africa and Alaska. And even if there is no red and green paper on the market when they do reach their hometown, no one doubts that they'll receive the darndest, warmest, most Christmassy reception they ever dreamed of.

Frail and Fortish
Maybe one of the books under Christmas trees this year will be "Here is Your War"—Ernie Pyle's conception of the soldier's life.

Anyway, I think you'll be interested in a soldier's conception of Ernie Pyle. Ralph Martin has mentioned Ernie Pyle frequently in his letters and now he writes:

"Thousands of soldiers over here know Ernie Pyle as that soft-spoken, skinny little runt of a guy who often popped into their front-line bivouac area to pitch his pup tent, dig his fox-hole and then wander around in his oversized coveralls to listen to all the stories they had saved up for him."

"Frail and fortish, Ernie decided that to really know the feeling of fighting men, he must not only eat C rations and sleep on the cold ground with them, but he must go through the same war hell as they did. So throughout the Tunisian campaign Ernie attached himself to different Army units for weeks at a time.

"He went from one outfit to another writing stories about soldiers in almost every branch of the service from litter bearers to MPs, from pilots to wire-strainers, from minesweepers to mechanics. His columns were filled with warm words of praise for all of them. But always, to the folks back home, Ernie stressed that all this so-called romance about a soldier's life in the field was just a lot of hog-wash.

"It was a common thing with Ernie to have some soldier come up and ask

"Would you please put my name in your column somewhere so that my folks will know I'm all right?" And Ernie usually would."

"It worked the other way around too. He was always getting letters addressed to Ernie Pyle. Somewhere in North Africa asking him to 'please look up my husband and tell him to get the war on and hurry back to me.'"

"The other correspondents always kidded him about that just as they kidded him about 'Pony Pyle's Perpetual Pains.' Still, whenever Ernie did get a bad cold, or dysentery or flu, he always had a steady stream of solicitous visitors bringing him everything from fruitcake to oyster stew."

"At the hotel in Feriana (there was only one) 'Mama' always had a special jar of peach jam for 'her Ernie,' nothing for any of the other correspondents. And after the Tunisian campaign went into the history books, the 1st Armored Division boys presented Ernie with a German-style jeep, a Volkswagen, 'for sweating it out with us at Faid Pas,' they said.

Actually, Ernie was a GI-wise gypsy who knew what he needed and always carried it with him. When anybody wanted some nail clippers, or a can opener or a shovel or some toilet paper, Ernie could always supply it. Incidentally, Ernie is probably the only correspondent who ever wrote a full column on the different frontline uses of toilet paper.

"But whether he was writing about toilet paper or politics, Ernie's column was constantly folksy and informal, almost always free of fancy writing.

"If your folks really want to know your story in Tunisia, you can write and tell them that this is the book to buy."

Carol "Silent Night" Is Now 125 Years Old

"Silent Night," the best known of all Christmas hymns, was composed 125 years ago in Hallein, an old village in the Austrian Alps. A young priest wrote the verses on December 24, 1818. On Christmas Day the village music teacher composed the music.

Fourteen years later on Christmas Eve the song started on its way to world-wide fame when four Trollean youngsters, who had been taught the tune by a friend of the composers, presented it before the King and Queen of Saxony.

Today "Silent Night" is one of the most popular Christmas carols. Families throughout the world will gather around their pianos on Christmas Eve to sing it with a prayer in their hearts for the peace it foretells.

J. M. (Sureshot) Rumer

Despite rationing the Newark firemen held their annual turkey banquet in the fire house last Friday night and we are told that there were two members of the company who could not get enough on their plates so they used meat platters (Big ones). There are some tall stories going around about how much some of those firemen ate but it is better to leave out the names as everyone there knows who ate how much.

The seniors at the Newark high school must have had a fine time on their annual trip. We are told that Joseph McVey was sick the day that the rest of the class left for the Big City but Rastus got out the old rabbit foot and his luck held good. Ma and Pa McVey shipped Joe off special delivery on Wednesday and Joe met the folks at the Empire State building and enjoyed the rest of the trip.

Now, if anyone deserved to go on that trip it was Joe. He really worked hard to make the class play the great success that it turned out to be and we are glad that he was able to go with them.

We have not heard much about the annual Turkey dinner that is given each year for the members of the football team. What is the matter? The team this year put up a good record and this team deserves a banquet the same as in the past years. Some one is slipping. If they can't have the banquet at the school someone should get the ball rolling and have the affair at the Country Club or some place else.

It should be no trouble to get rat points as any parent of a football player or anyone interested in the team will surely get out some of their loose rat points.

Talk about a consistent bowler. Kinsey Whiteman last week rolled three games all with a score of 163. Kinsey, who rolls with the Texaco team, rolled 183 the first game, 183 the second game and he liked the looks of the score so well he rolled a third game with the same score—183.

Two weeks ago I rolled a score of 169 and by gosh, the paper was so crowded with other news that I was advising that the bowling scores were left out. It will never happen again. I mean my score of 169.

We are told that the town or who ever spends the money to keep the ambulance in shape, in an effort to conserve money, failed to have alcohol put in the machine and yesterday while making an emergency run the ambulance froze up twice.

Some towns have their "Pistol Packing Mamas" but Newark now has its "Postal Packing Mama". The other week when the bell rang, I went to the door to get the mail and there was Frank Springer standing on the curbstone while Alma Chambers Tolomeo was handing out the letters.

Sureshot asked Springer why he did not carry the bag and Frank said: "Let her learn it the hard way—That's how I got my start."

Miss Jane Hopkins is still riding her horse to the Possum Park Observation Post. She rode to the post again yesterday to serve her country watching for planes.

At the Chestnut Hill post, Sureshot was in charge of the day and as Wednesday is the day that the NEWS has to be written at the old Newark Post he had to call on the Cadet Airplane Spotter Corps at the Newark High School. Say folks, those boys and girls at the school are just O. K. When there is a job to be done you can always depend on the boys and girls of our school, whether it is collection of paper, scrap metal, the distribution of circulars, or airplane spotting, those folks are on the job.

Much thanks should go to the school management for organizing that group. Pfc. Woodrow Beck wrote to the Newark Post this week and Lo and Behold he told the boss that he would not miss Sureshot's column for a farm. Woodrow, I really appreciate (them kind words)—It is comforting to know that my literary genius is even read. Woodrow, when those Japs come over all you will have to do is to wave the Newark Post at them and they will let you alone after that.

Basketball practice has started this week at the high school and those star(?) athletes at the school would not like it if they were not mentioned in this sheet. Well, we will just skip their names this week. We seem to have enough baloney to fill the column.

SERVICE IS SUSPENDED

Warning Center Closed Tuesday

The men and women who have so faithfully served their community at the Newark Warning Center for the past two years were greatly surprised this week when word was received that the Center was to close Tuesday at noon.

Arthur E. Tomhave who has been in charge of the Warning Center stated that until further notice Newark Police would take care of any alarms that came through and would relay the calls to designated key persons who would immediately get on the job and put through the needed calls.

The service was organized two years ago this coming February and has been on a 24 hour basis without interruption ever since. It is stated that the local Warning Center has never had a break in the service and the center has never been unmanned at any time.

CONNELL'S DIXIE, OWNED BY ROBERT CONNELL, BECOMES FIELD CHAMPION ON SUNDAY

Three Year Old Beagle Wins Over Class of 66 Hounds Last Sunday At Garden State Beagle Club Trials To Annex Championship Title

Connell's Dixie, three year old beagle owned by Robert Connell took top honors at the American Kennel Club licensed trials sponsored by the Garden State Beagle Club at Mt. Laurel, N. J. last Sunday.

In winning first place over a field of sixty-six bitches in the 13-inch class, Dixie amassed enough points to make her a field champion.

Connell's Dixie started on her championship career two years ago when she won first place at the Eastern Beagle Club fall trials winning over a field of seventy hounds she was given 35 points.

This past fall Dixie again won the same class competing against a field of 78 bitches which was the largest class to ever run at the Eastern Beagle Club and gave her an additional 35 points.

Sunday's trials increased her points to 105. She has competed against 24 hounds in the three trials and has come off with first place in all three starts.

Dixie was handled on Sunday by Harvey Herb of Robinsonia, Pa., one of the best handlers of beagles in the East.

Black River Rag Time, owned by John W. Cochran of Capitol Trail placed fourth at the same trials last Sunday.

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

B. & O. WORKS ON CROSSING

Through Traffic Being Detoured

Credit must be extended to the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad for at least trying to alleviate one of the roughest crossings within town limits as a large crew of workmen have been busy all week repairing the Main Street crossings, near the Deer Park Hotel.

Numerous repair jobs during the past several months have failed to hold up with the consequence that this crossing has always been rough. Now, however, they seem to be attempting a thorough job and have had traffic on this main artery of travel routed around Cleveland Avenue for days as they went all the way to the road-bed to install all new supports in the hope of making this crossing as near street-level as possible.

Working with a huge crane, the repair crew is working rapidly to complete the project this week so Main Street travel may be opened to the public before Christmas week.

All Pilots Don't Wear Wings

Nor do all ground crews. Take the 338 men and women of the Delaware Coach Company—the operators, the supervisors and dispatchers, the workers in the shops and offices—the ones who all together keep the buses in the Wilmington area rolling.

Their uniforms are not combat ones. Their insignia means service. And there's not much glamour about their jobs maybe, but they're making an important contribution here on the home front. They're helping war workers get to their plants and offices on time—they're helping to maintain the civilian life of the community.

Normally, their job is an important one, but now with extra passenger traffic and little additional equipment their responsibilities are greatly increased. It is with your understanding and cooperation that they are carrying on—doing their part so that this war can be over sooner.

You are helping by:

1. Making one trip serve several purposes, when shopping or doing errands.
2. Shopping between the hours of 10 A. M. and 3 P. M.
3. Having exact fare ready.
4. Moving to rear of the bus.
5. Instructing your children to stay off buses during the morning and evening rush periods.
