

Public To View New Elementary School At Dedication SaturdayGov. Carvel To Head Group Of Prominent State Officials To Be Here For Exercises At 2:30 P. M. In High School

Newark's new elementary school building will be thrown open to the public following the dedication exercises here Saturday afternoon.

Supt. Wilmer E. Shole this week issued a general invitation to the public to tour the building and inspect its many novel architectural and educational features. The 26-classroom colonial structure embodies the most advanced design for schools of its type.

Prominent state officials, including Gov. Elbert N. Carvel, will be on hand for the dedication exercises at 2:30 p. m. in the high school auditorium. Gov. Carvel's talk will be followed by the dedicatory address by Dr. John H. Miller, state superintendent of schools. Joseph McVey, president of the Newark Board of Education, will preside.

The program will open with an invocation by the Rev. Theodore L. Ludlow, rector of St. Thomas' Church. A dedicatory address will then be given by Supt. Shole, who will sketch briefly the growth of the school district. The introduction of platform guests will follow. Among those invited are: Sen. John J. Williams, Sen. J. Allen Frear and Rep. J. Caleb Boggs.

Gov. Carvel will speak next, followed by Dr. Miller. Several selections will be sung by the elementary school chorus under Esther Fenton. Music will be by the school orchestra directed by Ernest Wilder.

A total of 1816 elementary students and 25 teachers will begin classes in the new building sometime in April, when overflow classes now quartered at the Methodist Church will be discontinued.

Among the advanced features of the new building are glass brick windows that reflect light ceilingward, thereby cutting down glare. Sanitary facilities and locker space are provided for every two classrooms. The entire building is equipped with sound absorbing acoustical tile. The traditional "blackboards" have given way to glare-proof pale green chalkboards. Two kindergarten rooms with fireplaces and tiled floors are illustrated with nursery rhyme themes as another feature.

The building is connected by a corridor with the main high school building. An indoor octagonal playground between the two structures is useful not only for recreational activities but as a waiting room for bus students in bad weather.

Among the platform guests will be: representatives of the Newark Board of Education, the Newark School Building Commission, the State Board of Education, the State Department of Public Instruction; superintendents of special school districts in Delaware; school principals of New Castle County; representatives of Newark civic groups and industries; Dr. H. V. Holloway, retired state superintendent of schools; E. William Martin, architect; Hugh McCullough, Delaware School Auxiliary; Dean William Pennington, education school, University of Delaware; C. M. Olson, Newark PTA president; R. L. Durkee, DSEA executive secretary; Mrs. Grace Moore, DSEA president; F. H. McBerty, mayor of Newark; W. R. Brown, president of Newark School Board Association; Marston Fox, state PTA president; and R. W. Heim, state director of vocational education.

Work On Long Delay 60-Family Apartment To Start In 10 DaysPhiladelphia Firm Awarded Contract For Elkton Road Development

Cellar evacuation for the long-planned 60-family apartment house project on Elkton Road is scheduled to get underway within 10 days.

Plans for the development, first proposed here two years ago during the height of the housing shortage, has been cleared through the Federal Housing Authority, and the construction contract has been awarded to the Stone Construction Company, Philadelphia.

A spokesman for the firm said this week that the entire project is scheduled to be completed around the first of next October. The development is now known as the University Garden Apartments, Inc.

The original plans, as drawn by architect Aaron Colish of Philadelphia and approved by the Town Council, will be closely followed.

These call for 60 family apartments of four or five rooms, including all modern facilities, plus automatic laundry equipment in the basement. The development, which will have entrances on both Elkton and Beverly Roads, will be tastefully landscaped and will include parking grounds and a play area.

Much of the work will be sub-let to responsible contractors, including local firms, according to a spokesman for Stone Construction.

THOUGHTFUL HUSBAND

A local housewife was taken sick recently, and a rush call was put in for the town ambulance. The patient was stowed in comfortably, and everything was set for the departure, when the husband rushed out with a book and tucked it in beside his wife.

"She's a great reader," he explained to the ambulance crew. "She'll need a book in there."

The wife beamed upon him fondly and clutched his hand in silent thanks. Halfway to Wilmington, she took up the book, glanced at the title and immediately broke into hysterics.

Her escorts assumed she had become delirious and were pretty worried until the wife, still unable to speak, managed to get them to look at the book. The title was: "As I Lay Dying."

The husband, Francis Owens, Kells Apartments, is still unregenerate. "It's a good book," he maintains, "I liked it."

Fluorine Plan Gets Formal Approval Of State Health UnitLast Hurdle Cleared; Equipment Installation Nears Completion

Newark's proposed fluorine experiment received the go-ahead signal from the State Board of Health this week.

The complete plans, including the engineering drawings of the equipment for feeding sodium fluoride into the town water supply, plus the outline of methods to be used in daily checks and long-term charting of the experiment, have been given formal state approval. The announcement came from the office of Donald K. Harmonson, state director of division of sanitary engineering.

The action followed promptly on the submission of the plans by the town's fluorine committee, headed by Dr. P. K. Musselman.

The next step before launching the experiment will be completing the installation of equipment at the town water pumping station on South Academy Street. This work, begun some time ago, is being carried out under the direction of Town Engineer Arthur Hauber.

The latter said this week that recommendations of the state health board call for certain slight revisions in the original plans and these will require changes in the work already done at the pumping station.

Just when the town will begin drinking fluoridated water could not be stated definitely, but it is estimated that the installation work will be completed in a few weeks.

Once the feeding equipment is ready for operation, Newark will embark on an experiment the effectiveness of which it may take years to determine. The teeth of young children both here and in Dover (the comparison test town) have been checked in preparation for the test. These statistics will be used as a basis in tracing any decline in the rate of tooth decay here.

With the approach of the month of April, one's thoughts turn to that of the glorious Easter season, one of the most beautiful times of the year. With the coming of spring, there comes the rebirth to the natural world, budding of trees, flowers bursting into bloom, and birds singing. Thus Easter with its true meaning of the Resurrection, should bring rebirth to the human world. This year may it truly be a wonderful season for all mankind.

The American way of life and how it is practiced in Mill Creek Hundred is being experienced by two young men from Denmark. Gunnar Larsen-Ledt, of Grenaa and Knud Rikard Jensen, of Sondergaard, came to this section under the sponsorship of the National Grange and the International Federation of Agricultural Producers. They belong to a group of twenty-four Danes in this country for a year's training in practical methods of agriculture. Both are living on large dairy farms, the Henry C. Mitchells and Horace Dennison, and will remain here from three to six months before going west to study that type of farming. Gunnar and Knud are joining Harmony Grange. Gunnar also attended the White Oak 4-H Club meeting last week. He told the members he will tell of the club work in Denmark as soon as he learns to speak English fluently. These Danes were not acquainted before coming here last week. They were placed in these specific homes by Paul W. Mitchell, master of Delaware State Grange. A third young man, Erik Christensen, of Aarhus, is just over the Pennsylvania line with Charles Wollaston, of New Garden, Pa. All of them live within a radius of four or five miles so that they can easily visit one another.

A surprise birthday party was given Mary Lou Clark last Saturday afternoon by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Clark on Lancaster Pike. Mary Lou was ten years old on March 15. Games were played and prizes won by Lois Maclary, Sallie Evans, Lois Stike, and Joyce Reed. Her other guests were: Betty Hanna, Jean Shakespeare, Edith Clark, Nancy Sellers, Barbara Gregg, Harold Maclary, Betty Woodward, Larry and Richard Ulmer.

Mrs. Lawrence Ulmer, president of the Wilmadensis Home Demonstration Club, announces the members have been invited to be the guests of the Gardens Century Club in Wilmington, on April 18, at 8 p. m.

The White Oak 4-H Club held its monthly meeting last Thursday with Emilie Pennington. The leader, Miss Hannah Mitchell, announced contests were beginning in all phases of club work. Recreation was conducted by Josie Mitchell, who was suffering from a dislocated shoulder received while at the club's roller skating party on March 17.

George K. Ball is confined to his home on Creek Road having suffered a cerebral spasm recently.

Waverly Club will meet next Wednesday with Mrs. D. M. Buckingham.

MERMAID

Harmony Grange's annual minstrel show is ready for production tomorrow and Saturday evenings in the I. O. O. F. Hall at Hockessin. Mrs. W. H. Naudain has directed this show and Mrs. Eudora P. Elliott is accompanist. Fred Annand is interlocuter with Cal Ball, Dave Rambo, Dick Porter, and Harold Wivel, end men. Solos will be sung by Miss Connie Sabine, Donald Hicks, Bill Bartels, Bill Elliott, Paul Bartels, and the end men. Specialty numbers will be rendered by Fred Annand and Mrs. Paul Peach, Mrs. John Townsend, Mrs. Paul Bartels, and Edgar Walker, the Rev. and Mrs. George Teaz Jamieson, the Porter sisters, and Misses Eleanor and Margaret Woodward. Others in the chorus are: Mrs. Leroy Parker, Mrs. Harold Wivel, Miss Hannah Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Aiken, Mrs. Richard Porter, Mrs. William Bartels.

Harmony Juvenile Grange will meet Saturday afternoon when two new members will be initiated.

The students of Harmony rural school presented a variety program last Friday. Those participating were: Norma Lee Ransom, Maryann Springer, Francis Farmer, Sallie Evans, Francis Annand. School will close tomorrow for Easter vacation and will reopen April 10. An Easter egg hunt will be held tomorrow afternoon arranged by Mrs. Elsie W. Stradley, Joyce Cannon and Addie Case have returned to school after being ill for the past three weeks. Mrs. Heck and Mrs. Barnes were visitors during the week.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Another fine musical program has been prepared by the choir of the Ebenezer Methodist Church for presentation on Palm Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m., directed by Mrs. W. F. Jackson. The group will give the Easter cantata "The Resurrection Morn," by Keating. The scriptural readings will be given by the pastor, the Rev. Edwin Horney. The choir is comprised of twenty voices with solo parts sung by Mrs. Ralph Whiteman, soprano; Mrs. Charles Nelson, alto; Mrs. Jackson, soprano; Rev. Horney, baritone; and Paul Nelson, baritone. At the 11 o'clock service, Rev. Horney will speak on "Palm Sunday Discord."

The official board will meet tonight at 6:30 at the social hall for a covered dish supper. At 8 p. m., the cemetery association will meet with the board to plan for constructing a macadam driveway through the cemetery.

The Mice Circle has named Mrs. Alex Jarrell, Mrs. Leonard Nelson, Mrs. Clifford Ayars, Mrs. Louise Dempsey, and Mrs. C. W. Hollingsworth as the committee for the annual pie social on May 16. The circle met last week. In April, a package social will be held at the home of Mrs. Alice Davis. For the program, Mrs. Florence Humphreys used the theme, "Prayer." Mrs. Jarrell had the journal.

Among local families who have been sick with virus X, are the Robert Greenplates, the Paul Nelsons, and the Edward Worralls.

CORNER KETCH

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Patterson are on a three week's vacation trip to Florida.

The third and fourth degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates from Union and Harmony Granges next Wednesday evening at the Union Grange meeting.

William Frederick, of Roselle, has purchased the 100 acre farm belonging to Lee Pryor, near Corner Ketch. Mr. Pryor has recently remodelled the large three story stone house. The Fredericks expect to move to their new home in May.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Dempsey and Mrs. Louise Dempsey will go to Dover tonight to attend the annual spring contest of Wesley College Chorale, of which Mrs. Dempsey's daughter, Dorothy, is a member.

Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church Twenty-one attended the banquet Saturday evening climaxing the youth visitation week-end program. The banquet was served by the Young Women's Bible Class.

Palm Sunday services at 11 a. m.

will be featured by a sermon on "King of the Soul," by the pastor, the Rev. G. T. Jamieson.

On April 3, the senior society of the Westminster Fellowship will hold services at the Sunday Breakfast Mission. A Holy Communion service with reception of new members will be held April 6 at 8 p. m.

The Women's Missionary Society will again pack a box for the mission school in the Tennessee Mountains. Members are to bring their donations to the April meeting. Mrs. Kemper Pierson and Mrs. Robert M. Walker are the new committee named to visit the ill members.

Walter Chrysler's original tool chest — on display in the Chrysler Automobile Salon, New York

The tools that money couldn't buy

Walter Chrysler made them himself. That is his original tool chest too. He was 17, working in a railroad roundhouse. His mechanic's fingers itched for a kit of tools of his own. So young Walter took steel and made his own.

As he shaped and turned and tempered them, he shaped a dream as well. It was a special American kind of dream — free-ranging imagination anchored to solid things like common sense, and working a little harder, and making things a little better. And asking no odds of anyone.

It led Walter Chrysler to success in railroading when he was still young. It led him to study the automobiles other men were beginning to make. Why couldn't a man build better cars than any known — nimbler, safer, more comfortable, handsomer?

So, 25 years ago, Walter Chrysler introduced the first Chrysler car. What he did changed the whole pattern of American motoring. He changed it with high-compression engines, 4-wheel hydraulic brakes, all-steel bodies, new ways of distributing weight for better riding . . . and all the many originations the entire automobile industry eventually followed.

As Mr. Chrysler's birthday, April 2nd, approaches and as Chrysler Corporation this year observes its own 25th anniversary, it seems a fitting thing to recall this significant event in recent contemporary history — to pay this tribute to Walter Chrysler and his creative genius.

And the tools of his earlier mechanic's days? I remember when he found them in his mother's house. It was long after I had come to know him, long after he had asked me to work with him. He brought the tools back from Kansas. A few of them needed fixing and he asked me to fix them. It was a compliment I have never forgotten.

The qualities Mr. Chrysler put into his own tools he also wrought into the great organization that bears his name. He built not merely material things; he inspired men with a zeal to carry on the splendid ideals he had set for them.

Chrysler Corporation is still young enough to feel and be guided by the inspiration of its founder. He wished this company always to be a producer of fine automobiles of great value.

And those of us who were privileged to work with him believe that the new Plymouth, Dodge, DeSoto and Chrysler automobiles live up to his tradition.

It is a tradition uniquely American — to live and work with the idea of finding better ways to make what people want.

Newark, Delaware, Thursday, March 30, 1950

Letter To Editor

With the approach of the Annual Town Election, I think it important that the voters know some of the facts concerning town money.

Your present Council has given you economical town government, and have spent your money wisely. The have spent large sums for street improvements, new streets, curbs and gutters, new sewers, improved lighting (Geo. Read Village and Academy St.), replaced many power lines and increased the water storage capacity.

They also provided the usual routine monies needed for emergencies as they arose, all with your present tax rate of 30 cents per hundred.

They will end the year without having borrowed one penny, and will have a surplus on hand. All of this in spite of rising costs of material, freight, etc.

Does this indicate a squandering of money?

In addition they have been fortunate in having a man like Councilman Wheelless serve as secretary and treasurer at $1.50 per hour, on a part-time basis. He has not averaged 20 hours week. Where would one find a man of Mr. Wheelless' ability to serve for such a small fee?

In past years this item alone has cost the town $325.00 per month, for these services.

I ask you again is that wasting money?

Your Council is also looking for ways and means of providing a definite pension system for all town employees without burdening the taxpayer.

It is your duty to elect candidates who will work with the Council and who have the best interest of all Newark citizens and taxpayers at heart. Men who will work for the benefit of all of us, and continue to be on the alert while spending your tax dollars.

Interested Taxpayer.

Plan Clean-Up Week

New Castle County's 4-H Clubs, Home Demonstration Clubs, and Farmer's Groups will stage a Spring Clean-Up Week from April 16 to 22. According to Assistant County Agricultural Agent John L. Crothers, Jr., this clean-up of farms and homes will save money and create a safer place to live and work.

"Clean-up, Fix-up and Remove Safety Hazards, is the slogan for the campaign," says Crothers. "Some time spent now may mean hours saved during the coming busy farm season."

Besides clean-up of old machinery, lumber, and other items which clutter up a place, rat control and removal of safety hazards are being features during the week.

"The Store For Better Values"

A sign that television is fast finding its proper level in family life, a place somewhere adjacent to radio on the fringes of consciousness, was afforded us recently when we dropped in unexpectedly on some friends. We got no answer to our knock and stepped in the front door to find the TV set going full blast in an empty living room. Not a soul around.

The contrast between the frantic activity on the screen and the silent, unheeding room was heartwarming to us and proof that at least one family has adjusted itself comfortably to this latest miracle of science.

We found the family out in the kitchen having a ding-dong argument about where to go on vacation this summer. We later learned that the movement to the kitchen had not been an organized one. The members had drifted one by one from the living room, gotten absorbed in the kitchen conversation, and forgotten completely about the TV set.

The only thing this family has to do now to regain its pre-TV stability is reconquer its living room by moving back and ignoring the set to its face. When this is done, TV will be reduced to its proper status as just another gadget, and everyone will breathe easier.

The evil workings of kindness gone rampant and the dangers of being caught on the receiving end of the Golden Rule were demonstrated forcibly to us last week.

It all began when our automobile, which hates us as implacably as we do it, got stuck in a muddy ditch on a country road near Newark. We were just as pleased at the time because it was a spring-like day and ideal for walking. We pushed on afoot to a nearby farmhouse and phoned a garage for towing service. Our plan was to walk leisurely back to town and let the garage man bring the car in.

Imagine our dismay, then, when we stepped out of the farmhouse, looked down the road and saw our car standing clear of the ditch and poised for action. Some good samaritan, it was apparent, had pulled it out of the mud and gone his kindly, anonymous way.

After the first shock of the thing, we found ourselves touched and pleased by this unexpected kindness. We were filled with warm feelings toward our unknown friend, mentally investing him with a fuzzy, neon-like halo, and by the time we had gotten in our car and started down the road, we were musing expansively about the basic goodness of humanity.

Hardly had we gone two hundred feet, though, than we were flagged down by a fellow standing by a big truck. He ran up to explain that he and a friend in another truck had just pulled our car out of the ditch and that the other fellow had driven off with the keys to the door of his truck and would we trail the other fellow to Newark?

Our heart, naturally, went out to the man; certainly we would drive him to Newark, a hundredfold or more times. We reached town too late to catch the fellow with the keys, but our companion explained that our quarry was headed for Kemblesville, and we could easily catch him there. We were glad, of course, to push on to Kemblesville, or Timbucktoo for that matter.

We missed our man in Kemblesville also. He had stopped there, we learned, but had decided to go on. Our misfortunate companion and I decided it was best to return to Newark and get help at a garage.

It was on our return trip that our friend got to talking about how he and his friend had come to pull us out of the ditch. It seems they had mistaken our car for that of still another friend of theirs who lived in the vicinity.

At this disclosure our kindly feelings toward humanity began to subside to their normal level, but we were determined by then to see the thing through come what may.

We stopped at a garage in Newark and picked up a hooked rod, which our friend said could be used to reach over the window and pull up the door handle of his truck.

Back at the truck, we found the rod was not quite long enough to do the trick. The two of us then agreed on a final plan. Our friend would stay by his truck, and we would go back to the garage and have the proper equipment sent out. We left him a lonely figure by his truck in the gathering twilight.

We delivered his message at the garage and were about to permit ourselves a sigh of relief when it occurred to us that we had never cancelled the call we had made earlier for towing service. We drove around to that garage and were received rather stiffly by the proprietor, who informed us that he had spent a good hour or more scouring the countryside for us. The only way we could save his feelings was to pay the bill then and there.

All we can say is: watch that Golden Rule when she starts to backlash.

Newark Cagers Battle Chicks In Susky Loop Play-Off Finals

Second Game Of Series Set For Tonight In Elkton Armory; Local Team Meets Disaster In Opening Round Of State Tourney

The Newark AA cagers meet the Wilmington Chicks tonight at the Elkton Armory in the second game of the finals for the play-off title in the Susquehanna League.

The Chicks moved into the last round by swamping the Cecil Post, No. 15, by a 60-50 count last Thursday. The Newark five entered the down-stretch by eliminating the Roccas, the league's top team in the regular standings.

On another front, the Newark club ran into trouble in the early stages of the Delaware State Senior Basketball Tournament going down, 45-48, before the YMHA.

The local quintet gave its poorest showing of the season, according to Manager Leroy Hill.

Nation's Top Drivers At Reading Sunday

Their bank accounts depleted after five months of inactivity, the country's top race drivers are expected to "give no quarter and ask none" in the 1950 AAA Eastern inaugural big car auto races at the Reading Fairgrounds this Sunday.

Many of the nation's big shot drivers will be on hand. Among those entered are Bill Holland, Miami, Fla., winner of last year's 500-mile race at Indianapolis; Lee Wallard, Schenectady, N. Y., an early pacesetter in the Indianapolis race; George Lynch, Detroit, Mich., another Indianapolis participant, and Tommy Hinnershitz, 1949 AAA Eastern dirt track champion from nearby Alsace township, who will make his debut in the familiar No. 1 maroon and white Offenhauser the late Ted Horn owned and drove.

The events, first AAA sanctioned races anywhere in the United States this year except California, will consist of time trials, four 10-lap heat races, a match race, and a 30-lap final. Time trials will begin at 1 p. m., and the first racing event is scheduled at 2:30 p. m.

Pedestrian Deaths Due To Carelessness

"Take time to walk safely!" This was the advice given the citizens of Delaware, today, by John D. Reeder, president of the Delaware Safety Council, in an appeal for greater pedestrian safety.

"Pedestrian deaths can be traced back to a variety of things," Mr. Reeder said, "but the one basic element in nine out of ten such fatalities is either carelessness, or out-and-out disregard for traffic rules by motorist or pedestrian."

"According to the National Safety Council," Mr. Reeder said, "9,850 pedestrians were killed and about 200,000 injured throughout the country last year. In only one-third of these accidents were the pedestrians using the roadway correctly."

"Our goal," Mr. Reeder said, "is to utilize every means possible in bringing home to all walkers three important facts influencing the high fatality rate of pedestrians."

"We must first convince them that in any dispute involving a pedestrian and an automobile, it will be the automobile that wins. That is why it is so foolish to take chances. An automobile will outweigh the ordinary individual 10 to 20 times his own weight. You can't win against odds like that."

"Walkers must also realize that laws governing the actions of pedestrians were not established as nuisances. Surveys made by some cities and states have indicated that anywhere from three out of four to eight out of ten pedestrians in fatal accidents were walking in violation of some traffic rule at the time."

Outstanding Hollywood Films Promised In 1950

An aggressive program to inform the public of the outstanding motion pictures coming from Hollywood to the nation's theatres was disclosed today by Herman Handloff following his return from an important national meeting of more than 200 motion picture exhibitors in Washington, D. C., sponsored by 20th Century-Fox.

Mr. Handloff revealed that this program is directly based on the calibre of the films scheduled for 1950 which will definitely satisfy the needs of the public in their demands for ever finer film entertainment.

He reported that the main points of the program discussed at the two-day conference were:

1. Constant striving for better pictures through better subject material.
2. Getting honest information to patrons about these films in advance so they can plan their amusement budget.
3. Promotion of public service methods wherein the theatre can best serve the community in which it is situated.

In connection with the first point, Mr. Handloff observed that the year 1950 will see a tremendous upsurge in the production of unusually important motion pictures.

When you make the lead in courtesy on party-line telephones, your party-line neighbors follow your cue. That means good service for everyone concerned! Here are two courtesy-suggestions . . . easy to follow, sure to win favor.

1. When you start to make a call and find the line in use, hang up gently and give the other person a few minutes to finish his call.
2. When, while talking, you realize that someone else is waiting to make a call, hang up reasonably soon and free the line.

3 Indianapolis Drivers In Opening Day Card

The curtain lifts on the AAA Eastern big car auto race season at the Reading Fairgrounds, Sunday, April 2, and three Indianapolis Speedway drivers are among the early entrants.

Sam Nunis, director of the events here, said the field will include Tommy Hinnershitz, of nearby Oley, who placed 10th at Indianapolis in 1941; Lee Wallard, Altamont, N. Y., one of the early pacesetters in the 500-mile race last year, and George Lynch, Detroit, Mich., who figured in a spectacular crash in the 1949 Memorial Day race.

Opener With Conrad Set For April 18; About 50 Games, Including 7 Holdovers, Bidding For Posts On Varsity

Although wet weather held up the opening of practice until the part of this week, baseball has already taken over the sport spotlight at Newark High School.

A 14-game schedule, one more than last year, was announced today by Coach Frank Mercer. The opener will be with Conrad before the fans on April 18.

About fifty candidates answered the opening practice call. Among them were seven veterans from last year's team, providing Mercer with a core of talent to build his 1950 varsity.

Despite the weather, Mercer has his pitching staff off to an early start with daily workouts. In addition to Frank Porter and Ted Davis, both veteran hold-overs, those showing promise are: George, Baker, and Syddell.

Other veterans back again this year are: Ronnie Bramble, Phil Harter, Jim Knotts, Ralph Barrows and Buckingham.

The complete schedule:

Watercade of 1950, starring the swimming and movie star, Johnny Weissmuller, will play at the Arena the week of April 24. Evening performances will be held at 8:30 with a 2:30 matinee on Saturday, April 29.

Watercade is a combination swimming and stage revue that combines ten water acts with eight on the stage. The show toured England last summer and will play in South America after its current tour of the United States.

Supporting Weissmuller, called "The Swimmer of the Half-Century," are some of the finest swimmers of the day.

One of them, comic Bill Lewin, has been in Philadelphia before with other water shows. Norma Dean, pretty woman diver, Charles Diehl, heavy-weight diving champion, trick diver Whitey Hart, Stan Dudek and Johnny Edmiston are others in the swimming cast. And backing them up are the 43 gorgeous Aquanymphs.

Marianne Alcock drove home to taking Joey, Nan, and Bud, the week, and all had a nice visit with Mrs. Alcock's mother, who lives in Warren. Jack Alcock joined them on a business trip, which had taken him to Waynesboro, Virginia, and had the week-end in Warren, before the family car was headed back home over the mountains.

Mrs. Laura Thwaites, of Philadelphia, visiting her old friends, the John Kalbs, for the week.

Jack Redding caused a great deal of excitement at the Friday night bowling of the New London Grange Club in Newark. His "on the beam" was 247, for one game.

March 18, Alice Taylor was preparing to celebrate her birthday and went to check on the children before going out. Little Richie had quite a birthday present for her—a case of soap.

The children at Nichols have been hit by the weather with severe cases of grippe—Billy, Janet, Judy, and Lily.

Judy has been staying with her grandmother, Lester, and is at present improving under treatment for a case of pneumonia.

The Louis Loses were happy to see old friends from Washington the past week-end, when the Sidewalkers arrived from Arlington.

Angela Sanford underwent a tonsillectomy March 10, and has made a successful recovery. Almost harder on her sometimes, eh, Agnes?

Ella Lee had the grippe last week.

Gedhard Filippi took her place in the group last Friday.

Conversations on that fourth birthday, March 20, Bobby McVey, Libby, and David Hayden and Jimmie helped Bobby celebrate.

The next meeting of the Home and School League will be April 11 at the Atlantic School, 8 p. m., and the meeting will consist of the annual election of officers, followed by an educational film—probably a travelogue.

A special hour, including refreshments, plans are under way for a card party to be held the latter part of the month at Landenberg Hall. The date will be announced here later.

We extend congratulations to the Oakes Shiray, of Landenberg, for the very vital work upon which he embarked? Last week Bobby Allen Perkins, aged three, arrived home with Mrs. Shiray as long as necessary. Mrs. Shiray decided to be a foster mother for Children's Society in Philadelphia, the twins are her first foster child.

dren. Mrs. Shiray has one ten-year-old son of her own, and she has both the "know how" and the heart for this sort of thing. An article in the New Yorker told, a few weeks ago, about the invaluable aid given by these foster mothers in keeping children happy and well adjusted until the right home for adoption turned up. Mrs. Shiray and her kind are to be warmly applauded for taking up this kind of "career."

Charles Wallace has been home with the grippe for the past week.

The Kalb children have had that old "universal" germ.

Barby Ness was housebound the aforementioned respiratory trouble last week.

March 25 was the date for a card party held by the John A. Kalbs.

The above date saw another of those grand square dances at Poole's. Lots of fun for lots of people.

The week-end of March 12 brought the Robert Barbers as guests of the William Wallaces. On Sunday, the group was increased, the Mr. and Mrs. Kelley Everett, and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee Coleman from Sudlersville.

March 26, Mrs. Charlie Smith is planning a big birthday dinner for the fifteenth birthday of Charles Wallace, her grandson. A large number of relatives will help celebrate.

Friday evening, March 24, at 7:30 p. m., was the date chosen for the marriage of Susanna St. John, Oxford, R. D., to Forest L. Lester, of New London, R. D. Mrs. Harold Gordon, of Russellville was matron of honor, the groom's brother, Howard L. Lester, was his best man.

The bride was charmingly gowned in navy blue lace and marquisette, and navy blue accessories. Her corsage of pink rosebuds provided just the right color contrast. The matron of honor wore navy blue chiffon and carried yellow rosebuds.

A dinner in honor of Norman Worth's twenty-first birthday was given at the Dale Nichol home on March 12. Guests present to honor Mr. Worth, who is from Concordville, Pa., were Mrs. Norman Worth, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Harry Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Worth, Miss Judy Sparklin, Howard Worth, Miss Irma Hurley, and Norman Worth.

The final member of the cast is Milward Riker, who plays the part of the prince and swineherd. Understudy for the female roles is Norma Levine.

Prominent in the theme of the play will be the magic lute, musical teakettle, and wishing ring with which the swineherd tests the love and fitness of the princess.

Under the direction of Thomas B. Pegg of the U. of D. dramatics faculty, "The Princess and the Swineherd" is being presented at Newark prior to the third state-wide tour of a children's play by the E-52 Players. The tour will take the play to nine other towns of Delaware, April 19-22.

AAUW Proposal To Complete Speakers Aid Handicapped List For Conclave Children Is Cited

State Bureaus Commend Club Project; Dover Hearing Set

The project of the Delaware AAUW regarding better educational facilities for handicapped children has received commendation by both the Division of Child Development and Guidance of the Department of Public Instruction and the Division of Education of the State Board of Health.

All AAUW members who are interested have been invited to attend the Board of Health's Hearing Institute at 10 a. m., tomorrow in the Legislative Hall in Dover. The morning program will feature a report on the "New Program of the Board of Health" by Dr. Raymond Knight, director of the Division of Material and Child Health and a talk on "The Significance of Hearing," by Dr. William G. Hardy, renowned director of the Hearing and Speech Center at John Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. Following luncheon, a demonstration in lip-reading will be given by Miss Dorothy Morgan and a film from the Tracy Hearing Clinic, "Listening Eyes," will be shown.

The Division of Child Development and Guidance has invited Mrs. J. P. Patrovic, a member of the State Project Committee, headed by Mrs. H. I. Enos, to serve on a committee, formed at the suggestion of Governor Carvel, to draw up plans for an educational program for the deaf and hard of hearing throughout the state. This committee, which met for the first time last Friday, made tentative plans for the establishment of an experimental center in Dover to serve the deaf and hard of hearing children in that area. If this proves successful, three more such centers would be recommended.

At the present time, 20 deaf children from Delaware are being educated in state institutions for the deaf in Pennsylvania and Maryland at a cost to this state of $30,000. That sum could care for many more if it were applied to centralized day schools within the state.

Recognition of this fact is one step forward toward the accomplishment of the AAUW project.

Dewey Anderson

The roster of experts for the second session of the public Conference on World Economic Development at the University of Delaware early next month was completed Wednesday with the announcement that Dewey Anderson, executive director of the Public Affairs Institute in Washington, will make an address.

Dr. Anderson's topic will be "A Bold New Program." The meeting at which he will speak will begin at 10 a. m. on Tuesday, April 11, in Mitchell Hall, Newark. The other principal speaker for the session will be Otto T. Mallory of Philadelphia, who will speak on "World Peace Through World Development." The theme of Tuesday morning's session will be "World Development and the International Scene."

Other speakers for the World Economic Development Conference who already have been scheduled include Donald V. McGranahan, of the United Nations, on "The United Nations Program of Technical Aid" (Monday night); and Morris L. Cooke, chairman of the President's Water Resources Policy Commission, on "An Engineer's Views on Economic Development" (Tuesday afternoon).

The conference is seeking an evaluation of Point Four of President Truman's program, which called for development of certain parts of the world.

Efficiency of production goes up with increased egg production. With 200 eggs per bird it will require 5 to 5.5 pounds of feed to produce a dozen eggs.

Rankin Lends Family Portrait To Museum

An ancestral portrait of the family of Carl S. Rankin, Newark, has been lent to the Newark (N. J.) Museum exhibition of "Portraits of Newark and Baltimore (Md.) Families" by Oliver Tarbell Eddy, 19th century American portrait painter. The portrait of Mr. Rankin's grandfather, William Rankin, Jr., was painted in 1838 in Newark, N. J.

It was a group portrait of The Four Oldest Children of William and Abigail Ogden Rankin (great-grand parents of Mr. Rankin) bequeathed to the Newark Museum in 1947 by Dr. Walter Mead Rankin of Princeton (N. J.) which interested Museum officials in Oliver Tarbell Eddy, who was almost completely unknown in the history of American art. As a result of this research it has been found that Eddy pursued a career as portrait painter in New York City, Elizabeth and Newark, N. J., Baltimore, Maryland, and Philadelphia, Pa. Many of his paintings have been discovered and authenticated, but it is believed that still others must be in the possession of families whose ancestors lived in these areas between 1820 and 1868.

The exhibition will be shown at the Newark Museum from March 28 to May 7 and at the Baltimore Museum of Art from May 28 to June 25.

Plant Strawberries Early, County Farm Aide Advises

Strawberries should be set out in the very near future. Edward H. Schabinger, New Castle County Agent, reminds us that the best time for setting out plants is March 15 to April 15. Late set plants make poor growth and small yields result. Early set plants grow rapidly and a more productive bed results.
