Many As 1,111 Pass On
First Presentation

Safety lane number three operating under the direction of the Motor Vehicle Department completed the ninth annual inspection of automobiles and trucks here Saturday. A total of 1,815 vehicles were passed by the crew of six men, which functioned under the guidance of John Fisher, party head, of Milton.

Mr. Fisher's final tabulations showed that 1,111 vehicles received the necessary windshield sticker the first time they were presented for inspection. Adjustments were ordered for 704 machines before they were passed. The lane opened in Newark on July 14 and was operated daily for ten days.

Members of the crew were R. W. Hancock, Newark; Edward R. Wilson, Glasgow; John Lawler, New Castle; J. E. Latta and James W. Webber, Blackbird Hundred; and Norman Reynolds, Odessa.

Following the tests here, the lane was moved to Delaware City Monday and was opened in New Castle today. The group will operate in Middletown from August 5 to 14 and will be in Smyrna from August 16 to 25.

Lights-Brakes Lead

Handling 208 cars on Thursday of last week, 165 on Friday and 168 on Saturday, the inspectors continued to encounter difficulty with improperly adjusted lights and poor foot brakes.

Altogether, 386 cars were turned back for light adjustments, while 341 were ordered to have brakes equalized, tightened or reined. Other adjustments were ordered as follows: fenders and plates, 31; tires, 23; mirrors, 2; windshields, 4; windshield wipers, 7; horns, 13; emergency brakes, 34; steering gears, 6; clearance lights and flares, 1 each.

Local garagemen who handled the greater number of cars presented for inspection, were unanimous in their praise for the efficiency and courtesy shown by the crew which operated here.

Mr. Fisher, in turn, thanked New.

357 Students To Complete Summer
Work On Friday

Three hundred and fifty-seven students, enrolled in the University of Delaware summer school, will complete their work on Friday when final examinations will be held.

Of this number, only 45 are non-residents of Delaware. Twenty-two students are doing graduate work in preparation for master degrees.

Starting on June 21, the summer course has extended over a period of six weeks. The faculty consists of 32 members, two of which are connected with the local public schools.

Local Teachers On Staff

Dr. C. E. Douglass, superintendent of the Newark schools, has been teaching a course in the teaching of English in elementary schools and Miss Elizabeth Starn has acted in the capacity of music instructor for the summer session.

Classes have been conducted in Science Hall, Women's College and at the Memorial Library.

Following the close of the summer session, many of the instructors are expected to take belated vacations.

Professor and Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson will motor to Missouri, where they will spend the rest of the summer. Professor Wilkinson is director of the summer school. Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Eastman will drive to Vermont where they will spend some time with Dr. Eastman's relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. Ezra B. Crooks are planning a Virginia Beach sojourn. Miss Emma C. Ehlers will return to her home in Iowa.

Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hüllin, who have been abroad since the early part of the summer, sailed last Friday for New York. They are expected in Newark about August 1.

SPOKE TO LIONS

WALTER DENT SMITH

President-manager of the Delaware Safety Council and former secretary of state, Mr. Smith reviewed the history of the inspection of motor vehicles in Delaware before the Lions Club of Newark Tuesday evening.

VEHICLE TEST
LAW REVIEWEDWalter Dent Smith Recalls
Inspection Start At Lions Meeting

In an interesting discourse on the history of the annual inspection of motor vehicles, Walter Dent Smith, former secretary of state and president-manager of the Delaware Safety Council, told local Lions at the Newark Country Club Tuesday night that it is his belief the campaigns have contributed greatly to safety in the state. Former Representative Wayne C. Brewer, president of the club, officiated.

Outlining the growth of the inspections from their beginning in 1929, when 79 per cent of the motorists in Delaware volunteered to have their cars checked, Mr. Smith, who is chairman of the national committee on compulsory inspection laws for automobiles, told of the success of the venture in Delaware.

Costs Were Divided

He said the costs of the original safety campaign were borne by the Delaware Safety Council, although it was sponsored jointly with the State Motor Vehicle Department and the State Highway Department.

He told how at first several hundred garages and service stations were enlisted to aid in the campaign. In 1930, however, 50 carefully selected garages in all parts of the state were used. At that point of his speech Mr. Smith lauded A. Franklin Fader, president of the Fader Motor Company and a member of the State Highway Commission, for the part his concern played in founding the safety measure.

By 1933, when 94 per cent of the cars in the state were being offered for inspection on a voluntary plan, Mr. Smith told of the enactment of the present law by the General Assembly, which makes it compulsory for all owners to have their motor vehicles inspected.

Father Of Local Man Dies;
Son's Hand Is Amputated

Funeral services for Walter J. Martin, 217 Concord Avenue, Wilmington, who died on Tuesday from a heart attack, will be held this afternoon from the Yeatman Funeral Home, 819 Washington Street at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Lower Brandywine Cemetery.

Mr. Martin is survived by his wife, a son, James Martin, of Newark, suffering from electricity burns in the St. Francis Hospital, and two sisters.

Following successive amputations when the removal of two of his fingers and then two more took place, it was found necessary to amputate Jimmy Martin's entire left hand, as a result of burns suffered when he picked up a live cable carrying 2300 volts at Holloway Beach, July 12. Mr. Martin is proprietor of the State Billiard Parlor.

Post Plans Opening of New, $20,000
Plant Next Week; Paper Is Enlarged

Another era in the life of THE NEWARK POST will be marked next week with the official opening of a new $20,000 plant at 14-16 Thompson Lane, formerly known as Park Street. The new site will be the paper's fifth home since its founding by the late Everett C. Johnson in January, 1910.

Prior to opening his own shop at the southeast corner of College Avenue and Main Street in 1911, Mr. Johnson edited the paper at his private office and had it printed by the CECIL WHIG PUBLISHING COMPANY in Elkton.

When Mr. Johnson's first plant was purchased by Delaware College in 1916, he built THE PRESS OF KELS, which housed the paper until it was sold to the present owners in October, 1935. Mr. Johnson died February 19, 1926. The Kells plant was sold to the Woodyard Publications of Delaware, Inc., present owner, in February, 1936.

Had Temporary Office

Following the sale of the paper in 1935, an office was opened at 73 East Main Street, while the CECIL

SALARY CUTS RESTORED TO
FACULTY HERE47 Teachers Receive Boost In Wages; Payroll To Be Increased Almost $4000

STAFF CHANGES MADE

The forty-seven members of the faculty at the Newark Public Schools will receive a 5 per cent restoration of their salary cut, as a result of the action taken at the last meeting of the state legislature.

Originally cut 10 per cent, the amount was decreased by half last year and beginning with the fall term of 1937, the original wage scale will be resumed.

To Pay $3,924.38 More

The increased salaries paid to Newark teachers will amount to $3,924.38 more, annually, than was paid prior to the passage of the restoration bill. Delaware teachers receiving a salary of less than $1,000 were not affected by the cuts, and consequently have had no increase in pay. No Newark teachers, however, are paid less than this amount.

Those receiving more than $1,500 were originally cut 15 per cent, and so receive 7½ per cent restoration by the new law. Only one person connected with the local schools is in this group.

Several changes in the faculty were announced yesterday by Superintendent Carleton E. Douglass. M. James Parsons, formerly supervising principal at the Selbyville school, will be part-time teacher and assistant in superintendence and administration. Mr. Parsons is a graduate of Washington College and received his master of science degree at the University of Pennsylvania. His graduate work was carried on at the University of Delaware and the Wharton School of Accounting and Finance.

Art Teacher Resigns

Miss Mildred Burney, former teacher of art at the Delmar school, has been engaged as art teacher for the coming year. She succeeds Miss Florence Wilder, who resigned. Miss Elizabeth Child, art instructor at the Women's College, University of Delaware, will be Miss Burney's part-time assistant. Miss Child is a graduate of the Women's College, class of 1937.

Lester S. Bucher, formerly a music teacher at the Harrington High School, will teach music, with special

Dover Man Appointed To Head Tax Departments

Charles T. Jackson, Dover, a Democratic member of the lower house of the Delaware General Assembly in 1933, was appointed head of the Corporation and Franchise Tax Departments, it was announced Wednesday by Secretary of State Charles L. Terry, Jr.

Mr. Jackson is a prominent business man of Dover. It is understood that the salary of the office is four thousand dollars a year.

COMMERCE OFFICIAL

HERMAN HANDLOFF

Secretary of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, Mr. Handloff has been active in arranging the first "Dollar Days" sales to be staged here since 1933.

PRICES FIXED
BY STATE LAWPennsylvania Plan To Check
Used-Car Market Holds
Attention Here

Pennsylvania's two-year experiment in fixing the sale price of second-hand automobiles, which started last Thursday, is being regarded with deep interest by dealers in Newark and other cities and towns bordering the Keystone State.

Governor George H. Earle appointed last week the members of a motor vehicle dealers commission to regulate the used-car industry. Two other members will be appointed later.

Motor car dealers, who charged some competitors with granting "exorbitant" allowances on trade-ins, sponsored the legislation as a "little NRA" for the industry. Many other dealers opposed the idea.

Some dealers argued that the authority given to fix the trade-in value of cars would work as a safety valve by keeping worn-out automobiles off the highways.

Other Plans Similar

Counsel for the automobile dealers said the law was the first of its kind in the nation, adding that similar legislation in Wisconsin, Minnesota and Nebraska did not go so far as the Pennsylvania plan.

Supporters hailed the law as a price-fixing plan which the industry itself would finance through licensing of dealers. The commission will make a survey each month of the average prices allowed for used cars. Dealers will report each transaction.

On the basis of those prices the commission will fix the maximum allowance for used cars in the following month.

The commission will license all dealers, salesmen and appraisers, and the license fees will be used to defray costs of administration.

License Fees Fixed

License fees are to be based on the volume of business, ranging from $25 for dealers doing $75,000 annual business to $150 for a $1,000,000 business. Salesmen must pay $2 a year and appraisers $25.

All dealers will post a $500 bond to be forfeited in lieu of fines for violation. The fines run from $50 to $200, plus loss of license.

New Members Of Education
Board Are Appointed

John K. Garrigues, Wilmington banker, was appointed last week by Gov. Richard C. McMullen for a three-year term as a member of the State Board of Education. He succeeds John B. Jessup, also of Wilmington, whose term expired this month. Both are Republicans.

Warner W. Price, Sr., Smyrna manufacturer, a Democrat, was re-appointed as a member of the board.

The board is bi-partisan, the three Republican members being Mr. Garrigues, William V. Sipple, Milford, and Newlin T. Booth, New Castle. Democratic members are Mr. Price, Clarence Clark, Camden, and Dr. James Deebe, Lewes.

PRICES ARE SLASHED!

First Event Of Its Kind In Four Years; Over Fifty
Businesses Cooperate

Tuesday and Wednesday will mark two of Newark's greatest thrift days in history, when the majority of local merchants will offer for two days, merchandise that will be sold, in most cases, far below cost. A wonderful opportunity presents itself to Newark shoppers to purchase goods at one-half the regular cost or less.

First In 4 Years

Staged under the direction of the Newark Chamber of Commerce, the 1937 sale is the first of its kind in four years, and from advance reports, it is expected to surpass any event of its kind held in the past as far as bargains and cooperative selling is concerned.

Official "Dollar Day" stores will display a distinctive emblem and price cards, both of which have been provided by the Chamber of Commerce. On each page of this paper, you will find bargains, and we mean bargains—at prices so low that they will astonish you. Check the items you need with the advertisement and plan to purchase them during the sale. Shoppers are urged to patronize those establishments displaying the "Dollar Day" insignia.

Plans for the bargain days are being made by Myer Pinnick, chairman of the mercantile division who is being assisted by President George F. Jackson and Herman Handloff, secretary of the commerce group.

Over 60 local merchants and business houses have joined in the movement to bring shoppers here and to offer more inducement to Newark people to do their buying in Newark rather than in neighboring cities and towns.

Prices Slashed

Practically every item that the merchants are offering during these two days' sale, whether it is drugs, hardware, dry goods, or haberdashery, will be sold at less than the wholesale price.

The plan to stage the sale has been discussed for several weeks and many merchants have been investigating wholesale markets in order to lay plans for drastic reductions on their present stocks to offer buyers from adjoining sections of Maryland, Pennsylvania, in addition to nearby Delaware communities.

Workman Suffers
Sunstroke; Falls
Fractures Skull

David J. Kane, about 65 years old, an employee of a caterer at Delaware Park, fell Saturday morning at Main and Chapel Streets, suffering a broken collar bone and a slight fracture of the skull. He was taken to the Homoeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, in the Newark ambulance.

Officer LeRoy Hill, who investigated the accident, stated that witnesses saw the man attempt to cross the street when he suddenly fell headlong off the curb. He is thought to have been a victim of sunstroke. A native of Atlantic City, he was a resident of Newark for the duration of the racing meet at Delaware Park.

Lad Fractures Leg

Joseph Fiassico, age 7, according to information gathered by Officer Hill, walked into the side of a car driven by Francis B. Stapleton, 31, at Main and Choate Streets, Saturday, fracturing his right leg. The boy is in the Homoeopathic Hospital, Wilmington, where he was taken in the Newark ambulance.

Chief of Police William H. Cunningham arrested two drivers Tuesday on charges of operating motor vehicles without proper credentials. Gus Pelikan, Holtsville, N. Y., and Frank Boyd, Waynesville, N. C., each paid $10 and costs after pleading guilty before Magistrate Daniel Thompson.

WASHINGTON NEWS

FROM OUR CONGRESSMAN
WILLIAM F. ALLEN

THIS COLUMN IS initiated in an effort to present to my constituents in Delaware a weekly picture of current events as viewed from the National Capitol. In these stirring times national news is of greater significance than it has been since the World War. Because of numerous inquiries through the mail relative to the effect of Washington events on our local communities, I am led to believe that the readers of this paper are particularly interested in developments here at this Capitol and I shall endeavor to chronicle happenings in the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government of special interest to Delaware. Comments and suggestions by readers will be appreciated.

CONFERENCE — The President has no intention of calling or presiding over an international economic conference in the present world situation. A vigorous restatement of foreign policy was issued by Secretary of State Hull in which he said that there can be no serious hostilities anywhere in the world which will not affect interests or rights of obligations of this country.

ACCIDENTS — Drinking is the cause of a great deal of accidents. Between 1933 and 1936, the number of persons killed or injured in the United States in automobile accidents involving drivers who had been drinking, has been doubled. Of all drivers in 1936 fatal accidents, 7.3 per cent had been drinking. 4.3 per cent of all drivers in non-fatal accidents had been drinking. The National Safety Council contends that although the available data is scanty it is sufficient to conclude that "the use of alcohol is a major, rather than a minor, factor in traffic accident causation."

WAR BOOM REFLECTED HERE — Preparation for a war boom that is forcing industrial activity of European nations to prosperity levels is affecting us. Demands from nations desiring to build up again grain supplies, causes a rise in wheat prices; surplus supplies of scrap iron, and copper, oil and other commodities are being soaked up by nations abroad. The building of bigger navies on the part of foreign nations is leading this nation into a shipping program that is feared will reach boom proportions.

Entomologist Gets New College Teaching Post

Dr. Paul LaVerne Rice, assistant entomologist with the University of Delaware Extension Service, who received the degree of doctor of philosophy at Ohio State University this year, has accepted the position of professor of biology at Alma College, Alma, Michigan. He leaves his present post at the end of August.

A graduate of the University of Idaho, Dr. Rice has been connected with the University of Delaware since April, 1936. From 1931 to 1933, he served as an instructor in entomology at the agriculture experiment station, University of Idaho.

Cooperation Does It!

They're in the minority, thank goodness, but some Newark people make a lot of noise moaning about "you can't do anything in this town." People like that are found everywhere and, while they are quite harmless, they can be annoying.

As is usually the case, events that transpire go far beyond disproving a pessimistic attitude. Local developments in recent months—and in previous years, too—shatter the can't-do-anything-in-this-town theory.

Since last October, for instance, Newark people have cooperated to accomplish many worthwhile things. We mention recent cases because they are fresh in memory.

An ambulance fund was started and carried to a successful conclusion. So successful was the drive that a new vehicle was purchased and some $1,300 OVER THE AMOUNT NEEDED will be turned over to the Council of Newark for use in a special ambulance account.

The Newark Visiting Nurses Association made one request for funds and found them immediately forthcoming. The Flower Hospital's two appeals received merited response. A not-too-loud plea was entered for a swimming pool fund for less fortunate children and, without any fanfare or blowing of trumpets, the total on hand is only a few dollars short of the goal.

This town has demonstrated time after time that it can do things. What's more it has accomplishments at which to point with pride.

While local merchants have not enrolled in the charity lists, they are—or a big majority of them are—cooperating in a pair of "Dollar Days" next week that will mean much to Newark. Not only from an economic standpoint will local people benefit by this outstanding sale, but their cooperation will determine, to a great extent, the future course to be followed by the Chamber of Commerce.

"Dollar Days" have been promoted with success in similar communities to this one and there is no reason why Newark cannot do the same thing.

Merchants have made a sincere effort to offer bargains that are genuine. They await the verdict of the people. We urge their support.

Cooperation does it!

"Over There"

After surveying the plight of labor "over there," as recently summarized by Col. Frank Knox of The Chicago Daily News, one is bewildered by some of the actions of organized labor in this country. A typical skilled worker in Germany, a linotype operator, earns $540 annually. From this is deducted such items as taxes and insurance, contributions to the "labor front," contributions to relief funds, etc., etc. The $540 ultimately shrinks to a net annual income of $440.60.

On the assumption that the worker in question has a wife and three children, living expenses were divided as follows: Rent, $57.71; light and heat, $20.70; food, $244.06; clothing, $56.83; miscellaneous, including transportation, washing, furniture, education and amusement, $61.26. This makes a total $440.56, leaving $4.04 for a rainy day!

Of course, simply because the workers of another nation happen to be less fortunate than the workers in the United States, is no valid reason per se for criticizing American labor. But the straitened circumstances of labor in the illustration just cited, should indicate the advantages enjoyed by labor in our own country.

Freedom, as we know it, demands as its price of continued existence, constant vigilance to see that the rights of the individual are not destroyed by regimentation and bureaucratic dictation from any source, as they have been in many foreign countries.

The Farmers' Own Creation

Agriculture is gradually becoming a closely knit industry, organized on a sound, efficient basis. This fact was revealed at a two-day conference of leaders of farmers' cooperatives held in Springfield, Massachusetts, recently.

The marketing cooperative movement is the outgrowth of problems that have confronted agriculture for decades. Organized "co-ops" have given the farmer a feeling of security by assuring him fairer and more stable prices, and a better market for his produce.

A survey now being undertaken of all the farmer cooperatives promises to furnish startling statistics in this respect. At the present time, with the survey little more than a third completed, 19,000 producer cooperative organizations have been listed.

Marketing cooperatives are the farmers' own creation. The "yardstick" for measuring their efficiency and utilitarian value consists of four principal sections: 1, Economic need; 2, member support; 3, adequate capital; 4, efficient operation. There are no illusions behind the "co-ops." They came into existence to fill a basic need of the farmer. They continue to thrive and grow because they continue to fill that need. Sound business practices —not politics—have accompanied the growth of the "co-ops," and American farmers are to be congratulated on the job they are doing in solving their own troubles.

Live and Collect

A few decades ago, "life insurance" was in reality "death insurance." The greatest part by far of life insurance payments went to the beneficiaries of the deceased.

Today life insurance justifies its name completely—for well over half of all payments go to the living persons who originally purchased the policies.

In other words, where life insurance used to be purchased almost entirely for protection of dependents, it is now largely used to create estates and to assure a secure old age as well. The American public has discovered that it provides the best possible means of investment for the average man and woman.

State Theatre Briefs Friday and Saturday

Marxmania at its gayest will be seen in "A Day At The Races" which plays this picture house these two days. This film is the newest laugh extravaganza of the trio of uninhibited laughmakers, the Three Marx Brothers. While the picture is titled "A Day At The Races," it might just as aptly have been called "A Day in a Sanitarium" for the plot switches between the locales at breakneck pace, and it would be difficult to say which is funnier, the antics of the Marxes in the sanitarium or their uproarious conduct at the race track. It would be futile to attempt to go into the story of a Marx Brothers epic; sufficient to say that the Marxes go to Maureen O'Sullivan's rescue when creditors attempt to take the sanitarium away from her, and they also aid in perfecting a tangled romance between Miss O'Sullivan and that talented young tenor, Allen Jones. The picture is undoubtedly the laugh hit of the year.

Monday and Tuesday

Dick Powell, Warner Bros.' handsome singing star, will again thrill you in his latest musical comedy, "The Singing Marine." This is a yarn about a "leatherneck" from the San Diego barracks, possessed of plenty of good looks and a splendid voice, who is sent to New York by his company-mates to have a try at the amateur hour contest conducted by the famous "Major Rowes." Enough said, see the picture for yourself, its grand entertainment. Doris Weston, new singing beauty of the screen, has the leading female role in the film. Other notables in the cast include Hugh Herbert, Allen Jenkins, Larry Adler, the harmonica champion, Lee Dixon and Veda Ann Borg.

Wednesday and Thursday

Trouble comes double when little Miss Dynamite comes to town and laughs come thick and fast when her latest escapades as an amateur detective make front-page news in "Angel's Holiday," 20th Century-Fox comedy starring Miss Jane Withers, T.N.T., which will be on the screen these two days. The original screen play by Frank Fenton and Lynn Root presents Jane with a splendid opportunity for her own peculiar knack of disrupting the status quo. In an attempt to become the female Charlie Chan, the skirted Sherlock Holmes, Jane interferes with a pub-

Other winners were: George Lynam, Melvin Dempsey and Elwood Moody, all of Newark, who took first, third and fourth places in the cow, two years old and over division. In the junior yearling heifer class, John Moody and Elwood Moody, both local boys, took second and third prizes, respectively. The latter was also awarded first prize in the junior heifer calf division with Gladys Walmsley and Ferris Dempsey copping second and third awards. George Lynam, also of Newark, captured the class 54 breed championship and also carried off the class 61 sweepstakes. J. Walker walked off with the class 65 barred rock competition.

New Castle County winners in the garden products contest were: Bedford Dunn, Talleyville and Harold Prettyman, Christians.

The fair will be continued throughout this week with horse and automobile racing the feature attractions carded. Today, set aside as "Governor's Day," Gov. Richard C. McMullen and state officials will be guests of the fair.

attention given to the school orchestra. Mr. Bucher is a graduate of the State Teachers' College, and also did graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania. Miss Catherine Rittenhouse, another member of the 1937 class of the Women's College, will also teach music. Mr. Bucher and Miss Rittenhouse succeed Miss Elizabeth Staton and Massey Tonge who have resigned. Miss Staton becomes a state music supervisor in public schools throughout the state, while Mr. Tonge will teach at Jenkintown, Pa.

Miss Nellie Hill has resigned her position as librarian to accept a post on the faculty of the Caesar Rodney school. The vacancy left by Miss Hill has not yet been filled.

Julius A. Ryland, of Philadelphia, has been engaged as teaching principal at the New London Avenue school. He is a graduate of the Cheyney, Pa., State Normal School, and obtained a bachelor of science degree in education at West Chester Normal School. Mr. Ryland has done graduate work and has been engaged in adult education in New York City.

BOB SMITH OF "BEES"

Bob Smith, righthanded veteran of 37 years who pitches for the "Boston Bees" is a constant thorn in the side of the "Phillies." He always makes the local batters groan. Smith's chief stock in trade is preventing the opposing batter from getting the ball that he likes to hit—giving him "bad" balls to hit.

A few days ago Smith was batting fungus (flies to outfield) during fielding practice and missed several balls that he tossed up for himself to hit.

"Pinkey" Whitney who had been watching the difficulties Smith had been having stepped off the bench and shouted to the "Bee's" pitcher: "You old buzzard, you can't even give yourself a good ball to hit."

A Nation Following God's Leadership.

The destinies of the nations are in the hands of God. Mighty are the warriors, learned are the advisors, clever are the diplomats, and when they have exercised all their human ingenuity and have only brought themselves and their nations to "Wits' End Corner," God must lay hold and bring order out of chaos. Happy is that people where rulers recognize God and seek his guidance.

Israel through the human instrumentality of Moses was ruled by God. He had prepared for them a leader and had prepared the people to follow that leader. Now he brings them forth out of their bondage.

1. "God Led Them" (Exod. 13:17-22).

It is significant that he did not lead them by the easy way to Canaan, by the short route through Philistia but rather led them south into the wilderness.

How often it seems to us that we could improve on God's ways. Suffering, sorrow, affliction, we would deem and would go the quick easy road, where all is bright and happy. But God's way is the best way, even though it leads through the wilderness.

His purpose for Israel was that they might not be disheartened by the warlike Philistines (v. 17). Thus it was really his loving-kindness that sent them the long way. See Prov. 14:12 and Prov. 10:29.

Another and equally important purpose of God was that the undisciplined multitude might in the trials and responsibilities of their journey through the wilderness be prepared to enter the promised land.

The miraculous pillar of cloud and fire was God's constant assurance of his presence with them.

Hardly had Israel withdrawn, and the wall over the death of the first-born in Egypt ceased when Pharaoh regretted that he had permitted his slaves to escape, and set out in pursuit. He represents the world, the flesh, and the Devil in their relentless efforts to hold back those who would follow the Lord. Making a decision for Christ, and experiencing his redemptive power does not mean that the enemy has given up. Temptations, doubts, trials, will come. When you come up out of Egypt do not be surprised if Pharaoh pursues you.

The situation could not have been more difficult. Hemmed in by the power of Egypt's army, with the Red sea before them—a group of men not trained in warfare—with women and children to care for, and God forgotten in their disbelief and discouragement.

Moses, who was their great leader in the hour of triumph, tastes the bitterness of their hatred and unbelief in the hour of trial. A leader of men for God must know that God has called him and have faith in his almighty power, for in the time of crises he will find those whom he leads ready to condemn him. What is the solution?

III. "Stand Still" (vv. 13,14). Sublime in his confidence in God, Moses bids the people to cease their petty complaining, to abandon their plans for saving themselves, "Stand still, and see the salvation of the Lord" (v. 13).

Perhaps these lines will be read by some Christian who is fretting and fussing, bearing all the burdens of the universe on his shoulders. Be still, my friend, God is able to care for you, and for all the burdens which you are needlessly trying to bear. Trusting God will result in spiritual progress.

IV. "Go Forward" (v. 15). Humanly it was impossible, but with God all things are possible" (Mark 10:27). When every circumstance says "Stop," when the counsel of men is against attempting anything, when human leadership seems to be lacking—just at that time God may say, "go forward."

Every true Christian who reads these words will respond to the Lord's command, "Go forward," hundreds of locked church doors will be opened, new Sunday schools will gather children to hear God's Word, men and women will be won to Christ. Let us "go forward." The God who brought Israel dry through the Red sea is just the same today!

Enjoyments and Troubles I make the most of my enjoyments. As for my troubles, I pack them in as little compass as I can and myself and never let them annoy me.—Southey.

Faith Gives a man of faith, and the heavenly powers behind him, and you have untold possibilities.

Right Kind of Growth All growth that is not toward God, is growing to decay.

CARRIES NOTEBOOK ON PLAYERS BENCH

The "Phillies" have a young south-paw pitcher from Princeton by the name of Crawford. He joined the team a few weeks ago and surprised coach Honus Lobert by appearing on the bench with a huge notebook in his hand.

"What's the idea, writing a novel?" asked Lobert.

"No," replied the unabashed son of Nassau, "I'm going to write down all the hitters' weaknesses."

RESIGNS FROM BOARD

J. IRVIN DAYETT

Cooch's Bridge resident, who tendered his resignation as a member of the Ferris Industrial School's board of trustees to Gov. Richard C. McMullen this week.

Mr. Dayett, owner of Dayett's Flour Mill and a member of the New Castle County Levy Court, stated the pressure of business makes it impossible for him to give the school the amount of time required to further its best interest. He was appointed by ex-Gov. C. Douglass Buck four years ago.

State Debts Show Marked Decrease At End Of Year

According to the announcement made by Deputy State Auditor Jesse S. Cooper this week, Delaware ended the fiscal year June 30 with a cash balance of $4,744,001.10. Mr. Cooper also stated that the state's bonded debt at the end of the fiscal year totalled $3,152,000, a reduction of $205,000 from the total bonded debt of $3,357,000 at the close of the previous year.

He pointed out that the bonded debt had been reduced $9,199,785 from its peak of $12,351,785 at the close of the 1929 fiscal year with most of the reduction made during the depression years.

He said the state policy is toward a gradual but systematic reduction each year and the bonded debt is now well in hand.

HERSHEL MARTIN STILL

A SENSATION

A few days ago Branch Rickey of the St. Louis "Cardinals" made the remark that when he sold Hershel Martin to the "Phillies" he gave the Wilsonmen a $50,000 ball player.

"I wish I had him back. He is one of the finest young ball players that has come up to the Major Leagues in several years," said the "Cardinal" boss.

"As chairman of the National Committee on Compulsory Motor Vehicle Inspection, I shall be glad to know of any practical improvement which can be made, and I am sure the present secretary of state, Hon. Charles

He referred to recent laws enacted in Connecticut which were copied from the Delaware idea, and told of similar plans being made in New Jersey, following investigations by that state at Mr. Terry's Dover offices.

LYNAM CHOSEN PRESIDENT OF SCHOOL BOARD

Re-elected By Krebs School Trustees; Others Also Placed In Office

By Miss Emma S. MacLary

Newport, July 28.—At the organization meeting of the Krebs School Board of Trustees held this week, H. Lynam was re-elected president of the board, with D. J. Richey, principal of the school, serving as secretary. Other members of the board are Mrs. S. N. Tammany, D. C. Hall and A. W. Birch.

Nearing Completion

The addition now being erected at the Newport M. E. Church will provide additional space for the Sunday school. The new building is 35 feet wide by 70 feet long, and is attached to the rear of the present church building. The bricklayers will complete their work during this week and carpenters are now engaged in setting the woodwork. The addition now being erected will provide adequate class rooms for the Sunday school, as well as a social hall for church affairs. The present Sunday school quarters on the first floor of the building are also being remodeled. The addition is expected to cost approximately $12,000. The finance branch of the building committee of the Newport M. E. Church held a very successful lawn party last evening; proceeds for the new church addition. Mrs. Marion Green was chairman of the affair.

Enjoy Outing

On Saturday, the teachers of the Sunday school branches of St. James E. Churches, Newport and Stanton and St. Barnabas, Marshallton, enjoyed a picnic at Hollywood Beach. On Tuesday the St. James Church of Newport held a picnic at Hollywood Beach. A program of sports and a picnic lunch featured the outing. The Minquas Fire Company members and the Ladies Auxiliary of the Minquas Fire Company are planning a joint picnic to be held at Delaware Beach on Sunday, August 8. George McKine is chairman of arrangements for the outing. Basket lunch and a program of sports will be arranged. Farmers of this section have completed thrashing of their wheat, and report a yield of slightly better than the bushels to the acre. The quality of the grain is reported to be very good.

The Rev. J. C. McCoy, pastor of the Newport M. E. Church had as his subject Sunday morning "The Expected Guest." No evening service was held.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey E. Gregg were as their guests Mr. and Mrs. James Polk of Hockessin.

Mr. and Mrs. William Daniels and daughters, Loretta and Geraldine, of Reading, Pa., who have been guests this week of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Lynam, returned to their home on Saturday.

Industry Looks To East For Technical Workers

Eastern colleges and universities are being called upon for increasing numbers of technical graduates by Middle Western industrial concerns, as indicated in a personnel report by W. W. Schade, research director of the R. F. Goodrich Company, one of the country's largest hirers of college graduates.

Of the 16 new members of the Goodrich technical staffs, five are graduates of Eastern institutions, Mr. Schade said. The new laboratory workers from Eastern schools are: W. G. Kinsinger and Michael Golben, Cornell; M. A. Olson and W. A. Fure, Harvard; and E. C. Walsh, Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

SYMPATHY

Little David listened with deep interest to the story of the prodigal son. At the end of it he burst into tears. "Why, what's the matter?" his father asked. "I'm so sorry for that poor little fellow," sobbed David. "He didn't do right."

Hungarian Farce Offered This Week At Robin Hood

How to turn an embarrassing situation in real life into an amusing and delightful play is the problem first presented, then solved by Ferenc Molnar in "The Play's the Thing." This famous Hungarian farce opened Tuesday night at the Robin Hood Theatre, Arden, and will run for the remainder of the week.

Ilona, opera prima donna divine, is engaged to a young composer. They are both visiting at a romantic old castle in Italy, when her first lover, now an outcast actor, rises out of her past. Through foolish sentiment for old times' sake, Ilona allows herself to get into a situation which is, to say the least, compromising.

FUN WITH SAFETY

W. E. LONGFELLOW

Following is the first in a series of 15 articles, covering all phases of water safety, prepared by Commodore Longfellow, assistant director, first aid and life saving, American Red Cross. The Commodore, most experienced life saving instructor of the Red Cross, received the first certificate issued by that organization in 1914. More than three quarters of a million life saving certificates have been issued since.

Commodore Longfellow has won wide recognition for his ability to dramatize water sports and water safety. He came to the Red Cross many years ago after successfully waterproofing the waterfront of greater New York and Rhode Island. During the World War he taught resuscitation and life saving methods in 22 Army and Navy cantonments and later organized life saving in the Hawaiian Islands.

It is hoped that these humanly written articles by the pioneer water expert of the American Red Cross will stimulate community interest in life saving, and through their common-sense instruction perhaps save a life.

An Introduction To The Water As Told By Expert

By W. E. Longfellow

Do you realize that most people's difficulties in the water result because they have never been properly introduced to it? People who would not take liberties with a ferocious dog, or a coiled boa constrictor, will take the most unheard of liberties with the ocean and expect to get away with it. The ocean has a worse bite than any dog, and can squeeze and choke harder than the most powerful snake. My advice is never to take liberties with water when you meet it in large quantities.

I've had a wholesome respect for it since my earliest meeting. I've nearly drowned several times and have seen the implacable power of a deep, placid lake which has claimed the body of a child; have felt the pull and irresistible drag of the undertow, and have been beaten to my knees by eight and ten foot breakers. Because I had been properly introduced, and because I had a wholesome respect for the power of the sea I was able to meet those emergencies. There are times, however, on the seashore and on the lake front when swimmers would do well to refrain from challenging the breakers, for there is sometimes just too much power unleashed for humans to master.

All beginners should be properly introduced to the water, made to realize it is a good friend, a helpful cooperator, and taught that it will support you for hours at a time if you will but relax and let it do the work. You can open your eyes under it and see clearly. You can exhale your breath against its pressure provided your face is near enough to the top to catch a breath when you need it. You can travel unlimited distances in it if you play the game according to the rules; but it's a deadly enemy once you start fighting it. Slapping or beating the water is no way to get along with it. Just reach out, get an arm full of the water and embrace it and you will find you will get along nicely. Then try the other arm and you will be swimming.

Marie Tempest, famous actress says that it took her 10 years to learn how to cross the stage and sit down properly.

Grange Shows Permanency And Growth Through Regularly-Elected Officers

By Robert Yearsley
Lecturer, Delaware State Grange

One of the fine features about our Order, and one that has made for its permanency and growth, has been the fact that there are always regularly-elected officers who have definite duties and responsibilities to perform. Every Grange everywhere, regardless of size or location, has a certain routine to follow, has officers and individuals and leaders, who are responsible for definite accomplishments and tasks to perform. This very essential side of our organization's activity cannot be over-estimated. Good leadership and loyal workers are just as important today as at any time in our history.

On the other hand, however, the Grange is unique in that it offers to every individual an opportunity for work and growth and service. Every Grange program has its "suggestions for the good of the Order," where each Patron may volunteer assistance or suggestions. But more important, there is the continuing opportunity to work in the larger field in legislation, in economics, and in membership maintenance. The individual, whether a seasoned veteran, or a new recruit, always has the opportunity to contribute useful service to a worthy cause. Nowhere, however, can the

Fourth Annual Party

CLEVELAND FAIR STOP

Detroit, the center of automobile manufacturing in the United States, and site of many points of interest will be the goal of the fourth annual Delmarva Tour, which is expected to take approximately 200 persons from the Delmarva Peninsula through the Middle West in August.

Leaving Wilmington on Sunday, August 22, the first stop of the tour party will be Cleveland, where the group will attend the Great Lakes Exposition in the Ohio city, Monday. After a trip over Lake Erie, that night, the group will spend Tuesday and most of Wednesday in the Motor City, where planned trips to various points of interest have been scheduled.

Among the places to be visited in Detroit is Belle Isle, said to be one of the world's most beautiful island parks. From there the party will proceed through the amusement center of the Michigan metropolis to one of the larger automobile manufacturing plants, where an escorted trip has been arranged. After lunch, Tuesday, at the automobile plant, the group will go to Henry Ford's Greenfield Village at Dearborn, where many relics of early American history have been preserved for posterity. After viewing the historic shrine, the Delmarvians will go to their hotel, in which rooms have been reserved for the entire group, with a free evening ahead of them.

Visit Noted Shrine

Wednesday, August 24, the Shrine of the Little Flower, church of the well-known "Radio Priest," Father Charles E. Coughlin, where is located the largest crucifix in the world, will be visited. Another point of interest to be visited will be the Detroit Zoological Park, one of the most modern zoos in the United States where the animals are kept in natural surroundings without the use of bars or pens and where a miniature railway leads through the park.

After a free afternoon, when shopping or visiting will be the order of the day, the Delmarva party will entrain for Washington to arrive Thursday morning shortly after eight o'clock.

Complete information regarding the tour, which is being sponsored jointly by the agricultural extension departments of Delaware, Maryland, and Virginia, may be obtained from local county agricultural agents or by writing to any of the following: A. Centre Grange Entertained Centre Grange, No. 11, spent last Wednesday evening at Noxontown Lake, near Middletown, as the guests of J. Raymond Frederick, Jr. The evening was spent in bathing, games and a hot dog roast. Guests were former State Master Robert P. Robinson and Mrs. Robinson and Miss Sara Snodgrass of Delaware Grange. Horace Woodward, master of Centre Grange, left Tuesday for California and Alaska on the tour conducted by the Pennsylvania Farmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Robinson were hosts to members of Delaware Grange Monday evening at a picnic. The affair was to have been held on the lawn but owing to the storm it was held in the Woman's Club building, Newport. About 40 guests were present. Games and a picnic supper featured. An invitation was extended members of the grange to attend a card, bingo and watermelon party August 31 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Barton Hopkins, River Road. Mrs. Chandler Gebhart, lecturer of Delaware Grange, will attend the Grange Lecturers' Conference at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., August 10 to 13.

HEAT GOVERNS CHICKENS AND LAYING STOCK

Leuschner, Head Poultryman
At U. of D., Urges Proper
Summer Precautions

VENTILATE ALL NESTS

Hot weather bothers poultry just as much as it does humans and, unless proper precautions are taken, is likely to cause losses both in egg production and laying stock.

In making this statement, F. H. Leuschner, extension poultryman at the University of Delaware, pointed out that the poultryman's first duty to his flock is to provide comfort for them. "Unless comfort is provided," he said, "losses of good laying stock may be caused by sudden heat waves through heat prostration."

Adequate ventilation should be provided in laying houses and depending on their type of construction may include provision for opening the front and small vents under the eaves in the rear as well as windows in the side walls, so that advantage may be taken of any movement of air. Rear windows between the floor and dropping boards will also help to keep air moving on the floor level. Well ventilated nests will help reduce fatalities, Leuschner said.

Plenty of Shade Needed

"Confinement is the order of the day for layers which produce high quality pale yolke eggs," he stated. "However, in hot weather, some poultrymen prefer to sacrifice yolk color to the health and comfort of the fowls by permitting them to range out of doors, after yards are bare of green food however, and this factor is no obstacle. When the layers are allowed out of confinement, plenty of shade must be provided if any advantage is to be gained."

Hot weather also necessitates more frequent gathering of eggs if quality is to be maintained, he pointed out. "It is important to use added care in handling the eggs after they have been gathered," Leuschner said. "Eggs should be gathered in well-ventilated containers placed in a cool, humid cellar or storage room where the animal heat of the egg can be removed quickly and, during hot weather, the eggs should be marketed at least twice a week."

FISHWORMS FORM NUCLEUS

OF BARBER'S BIG BUSINESS
A North Hampton, Mass., barber Herman Donyard, started to sell worms to fishermen as a sideline. His business grew to a point where it interfered with his barbering.

Now he has set up a slot machine of his own make and all the fishermen has to do to get a can of worms is to drop a coin and turn a crank. Ten small boys are kept busy digging worms to fill cans.

ROAMIN' WITH RUTLEDGE

Got Something

It's far too early to do any crowing over baseball accomplishments for the season, what with the troublesome month of August (for the Dutch, at least) still to be sweated through, but things have been taking place in this man's town that are worthy of mention. Local note of the incidences is important, since little has or will be said elsewhere.

We refer particularly to the fact that the Newark Yellowjackets rank as the premiere independent baseball team of the state at the present time, while mentioning the victory scored by the Continental Diamond Fibre aggregation over Warner Brothers of Wilmington a week ago come tonight, to plier a phrase from the Vagginny hills.

The Jackets, lest you aren't in on the secret, hold an edge in the three-game series with the classy (that's the word) Diamond Ice and Coal Company crew, turned out in the First City of the First State, while boasting (they should) of two victories in three starts against Milford's much, much better than average combine.

R-W-R

We Complained

While leaves of brown came tumbling down and claims were being that the Milford crew outranked all other teams in the state last September, this department took prolonged exceptions to the situation.

The Jackets had failed to cop the Bi-State League bunting, but that was no disgrace, if one remembers that Perryville's triumphant aggregation had a bit of zip on the ball. So much, in fact, that the Pandours of 1936 were about as strong as any team in the history of baseball in this sector. And, if you can remember some more, the Jackets were anything but pushovers for the Bi-State winners.

Then, too, Perryville's not in Delaware, a fact that altered any handicap for Newark's claiming the Diamond State crown.

R-W-R

A Lot of Talk

Fall and football ruined any chance for a Newark-Milford series last year and negotiations, if any, proved to be so much talk. It took the collapse of the Bi-State circuit, which tossed the local team into the independent field, and the formation of the Eastern Shore League, minus Milford, to make the series possible this summer.

Now that things have started, we are more than glad to see the Jackets hold their own. More games are carded with Milford, the next being slated there on August 8. Many things can happen and the Jackets can still take it on the chin, of course. They're on top at present, however, and we think it worthy of mention.

Concerning the Continental win over Warner Brothers, Ellis Cullen's crew accomplished something that no other team had been able to do this year. Fourteen straight victories had been recorded by the Wilmingtonians as they were halted here, and that's worthy of note, too. Town Point stopped Warner Brothers in an Inter-State League game Sunday, but the initial damage had already been done. Cullen and the Continentals have reason for feeling a bit cocky.

Ups and Downs

Franklin Riley, the lad with the genial but bashful smile who delivers things and things for Rhodes Drug Store (there's the plug, Emmy), has difficulty pronouncing titles of some pictures at the State Theatre (and one for you, Herm), when patrons call the former establishment for information.

"Espionage" had Franklin stopped like a red light. Following two long looks at the theatre's sign, while he did a bit of confidential muttering with himself, young Riley finally informed an inquirer that SPINACH was the attraction of the evening.

Miss Ann Chalmers Runs Through Round Robin Without a Defeat

TAKE LEAD IN SERIES WITH ONE-SIDED VICTORY SUNDAY

Whiteman Sees Shutout String Shattered But Wins Despite Six Passes; Jackets Slam 21 Hits; Sheats, Roberts And Johnson Lead Sluggers

By "The Roamer"

Heavy stickwork to the extent of 21 base knocks gave the Newark Yellowjackets a 9-to-3 verdict over Milford at Continental Field Sunday. The triumph placed the local tossers in the series lead, two games to one.

Whiteman Is Wild

Lots closer than the final count indicates, the game was in doubt until the Jackets bunched six safeties for a quartet of runs in the eighth to open a decisive lead.

Newark fell on Johnny Selby for a pair of markers in the first, registered single runs in the third, fifth and seventh, and won going away with the eighth-inning outburst.

Counting a run in the second, Milford knotted the score with another run in the third. The final visiting score was recorded in the seventh.

Paul Whiteman was on the mound for the Jackets and had his string of scoreless innings smashed at 31, when Slater drew a pass in the second paying the way for Milford's initial score. Milford, incidentally, was the last team to register against Whiteman, tallying a lone run in the eighth session of the 13-inning game there Decoration Day.

Despite nine hits, the visitors were aided to all their runs by passes and errors. Whiteman, while retiring six on strikes, issued a like number of walks.

Sheats Pounds Ball

Leading the assault on Selby, big Earl Sheats spanked the leather for five clean singles in as many trips to the plate. He drove two runs home and counted a pair for himself to generally prove a thorn in Selby's side.

Dick Roberts, who has been making occasional appearances with Milford while getting but two hits in 30 times at bat, slammed four singles in five trips, drove in two runs and scored once.

Ferris Wharton and Ernie George were three-hit batsmen, while Jack Daly, who gave a dazzling display at shortstop, and Mike Peterson delivered a pair of timely belts apiece. Every man in the Newark cast hit safely one or more times except Rube Argo who replaced Bones Egnor at first for the afternoon.

Taking great liberties on the paths, the Jackets ran wild in pilfering eight bases. Roberts alone stole second on three occasions.

Eddie Graham, the University of Delaware star who cavorts in center for Milford, contributed a pair of hits to the losing cause, but Johnson was the big fly in Whiteman's ointment. The slugging visitor tagged four hard-hit blows, including a double.

Score In First

After Wharton had fanned in the initial frame, Peterson doubled to right, took third as George rolled to Grier and scored on Sheats' bounding single to center. Barrow's double placed runners on second and third. Roberts drilled a single to center admitting Sheats.

Milford came back with a run in the second when Slater stroled and was erased on Selby's roller to Barrow. In attempting to pick Selby off first Whiteman uncorked a wild heave allowing the runner to go to second. Snowberger's double down the right-field foul line opened the scoring gate.

The score was tied temporarily in Milford's third. Hall walked and took second as Grier rolled to Whiteman. Johnson singled Hall across. Coming back with a run in the home half, the Jackets went into a lead that was never relinquished. Singles by George and Sheats with Graham's error and Barrow's fly to Hall accounted for the run.

Margin Is Widened

Another Jacket run was registered in the fifth. George singled and Sheats beat out a well placed bunt that passed Selby for a hit. Barrow forced Sheats, moving George to third from where he scored when Roberts sent his second single to center.

SLUGGING FARMER

EARL SHEATS

Continuing to show the form that won the University of Delaware batting crown last spring, Sheats is pacing the Newark Yellowjackets at the plate. He had a perfect five-for-five against Milford Sunday at Continental Field while the Jackets were facing the 1936 Delmarva Peninsula champions, 9-3.

Providence Sunk By Oxford Rally In Final Inning

Hughie Moore's battling Providence Papermakers staged a great uphill fight to overcome an early Oxford lead at Cooper Field Sunday only to drop a 13-12 decision when the home horde counted a pair of runs in the ninth stanza.

Trailing by a count of 11-1 going into the seventh, the Papermakers went to work with a vengeance counting five runs in that frame, adding four more in the eighth and soaring into the lead with two more tallies in the ninth.

Scoreless from the fourth session until their last time at bat, Sam Cooper's minions staged a counter rally that nipped the visitors at the finish.

Ernie Spratt Stars

Ernie Spratt, tagging the ball as of yore, led the Papermakers at the plate with four hits, including two doubles and a triple, in six appearances at the plate. Oran Spratt had three singles in four official trips to the rubber, Charlie Sprout contributed a pair of singles, while Steve Hubis, who showed well in his initial appearance as a catcher, banged out an important triple.

SIX GOLFERS MOVE UP FOR TROPHY SHOT

Advance To Quarter Finals In Quest Of President's Cup; Stewart Wins

DEFEATED 16 PLAYS

By Tee Spoon
Six local iron swingers advanced to the quarter-finals in quest of the President's Cup at the Newark Country Club this week.

"The golf was played on a perfect course," said Al Ginther, club professional, who reported that the fairways and greens are in excellent shape.

Two Matches Not Played

Two matches in the second round of the annual tourney remain to be played with J. Harvey Dickey slated to oppose R. H. Morris and F. I. Crow pitted against George (Longball) Anderson, club champion, who gained the title last month from Bob Stewart.

H. F. Richards passed through the second round via an easy 4 and 3 conquest over H. D. Counahan. Richards will face the winner of the Dickey-Morris match in the quarter-finals. Dr. W. O. Sypherd eased out a 2 and 1 victory over J. F. Anderson to seize the chance of meeting M. J. Fidanec who managed to eke out a one up win over Paul F. Pie, Jr.

In the lower bracket, C. H. Hopkins trounced W. C. Northrop 4 and 3 while Bob Stewart was edging out a one up conquest over H. B. Fisher.

Collins Wins

A. B. Collins downed H. B. McCaulley 4 and 3, and will face the winner of the Crow-Anderson tilt in the quarter-finals.

Two matches were played in the defeated sixteen with W. Williams grabbing a 5 and 4 verdict from D. H. Stearns and Don Tammany taking the match from C. O. Houghton by the same count.

Other matches are as follows: B. F. Richards vs. W. C. Brewer; Dr. G. W. Rhodes vs. H. B. Williamson; and E. C. Groesser vs. D. N. Darrell, Jr.

J. A. Giamateo won from R. L. Burnett by default while similar advances were made by L. A. Stearns and M. O. Darrell. T. W. Shenk defaulted to Stearns while the free ticket was given to Darrell by J. A. Julian.

Should Anderson win his first round match against Crow and advance through the quarters by downing Collins; Stewart, should he defeat Hopkins, will again meet the club champion as he did for the title last month.

Stewart dropped a 4 and 2 contest to the club's top notcher but his consistent play up until the closing holes, shows promise of rapid development.

CHRIS-LEO IN FINALS

By Ace Seeds

Obviously "on her game" and playing the best tennis she has displayed this year, Miss Ann Chalmers former Newark High School athlete star and now an instructor in the physical education department at that institution, captured the first women's round robin tournament by winding up her schedule without a defeat.

Shows Good Form

In downing Mrs. Elizabeth Reese in the final conflict, Miss Chalmers showed superb form as she swept through the first set without the loss of a single game while the defeated player was able to do little better in the second when she succeeded in taking a single game in the second set.

Miss Chalmers' effective service and scorching court game proved to much to handle for Mrs. Reese, whose chop returns could not stave off the shellacking.

FLASHES

By BILL FLETCHER

THIS IS ONE of those weeks, gentle readers, when words refuse to assemble into coherent phrases and the phrases likewise balk and decline to flow into sensible sentences which in turn fail to cooperate in the formation of a readable paragraph.

About the only sentence we'll get out of this is Life Imprisonment!

When we were a child, we had been a fireman, thinking that by that occupation, we might get in shape and warm up a little for the hereafter but those ambitions were discarded when our respectful eyes fell upon a policeman confiscating fruit from a road stand. Our cherished hopes of becoming a flame fighter were discarded and we decided to become a rat on the finger of the long arm of the law.

The interlude between the copper and gangster eras was filled with a sense to fill the presidential chair, a job augmented by our Mother who believed the populace would waive the requirement of being an American citizen and permit her son to direct the country through its economic, social and political problems.

THEN WE REALIZED we could not have the fruit from the preoccupied parent as easily as we could take it away, we began making plans to sack "da thold natsunal bank on bldy-thoid street" but when the excitement of buying ammunition for our pistol (it took half a roll to sack off one bull) dampened our enthusiasm, we turned to other fields to prosper.

Our next dream carried us into the realm of Sherwood Forest, where as a blessed robber, Robin Hood, we looted everything from food to gold for the purpose of taking care of a destitute mother and a family in need.

However, this activity came to an end in short order, when one of our arrows crashed into a window and we were buffed on the head by one of our follower's quarters.

What price Robin Hood?

NEEF SITTING BULL then took command of our activities for a short time and we passed through a stage of Indian raids, massacres; shot General Custard and inhabited wigwam made of old gunnysacks and too artistically daubed upon to look somewhat like the typical red Indian home.

The Indian era, however, was simply culminated at a council of the great chiefs when the peace of the Sioux and Chayennes looking not too much like the first American with our transformed faces which had turned a party mud color.

WHEREUPON, we entered into the field of exportation and with an air of made of packing boxes, we sailed to unheard of territories. The north and South poles were nothing more than flea hops to us so great was our scope in our new endeavors.

Our jobs went from bad to worse and with such an excellent overseer, we began to have our doubts as to Lincoln's signing the Emancipation Proclamation.

We sometimes wished that we had stayed on one of the South Sea Islands and after this, we suppose you do too, but gentle readers, we thank you profusely for your kind attention—all three of you are perfect listeners.

BELIEVE IT or not—the football season is only a month in the offing.

BALLS HAVE BUMPS
SAYS PRES. NUGENT

Disgusted at some of the weird hops that several baseball took in escaping his infielders, President Gerry Nugent of the "Phillies" conducted an investigation of the balls sent him. He discovered so many irregularities not only as regards shape but texture of the covers that he put them in his strong box for future reference.

IT WAS NOT FOR LONG, however, for it was at this time that our Mother, with a proud look in her eye, said—"my, isn't our son getting big and strong," thereupon shoving a lawnmower into one hand and a scythe into the other.

BALLS HAVE BUMPS
SAYS PRES. NUGENT

Disgusted at some of the weird hops that several baseball took in escaping his infielders, President Gerry Nugent of the "Phillies" conducted an investigation of the balls sent him. He discovered so many irregularities not only as regards shape but texture of the covers that he put them in his strong box for future reference.

After we had covered the globe, even made a couple of trips to Mars and we certainly didn't forget Venus, the business of seeing what we could see died a natural death and once more we were left without an occupation.

Our ambitions lapsed.

The Tom Sawyer-Huckleberry Finn spirit pervaded us and we began trying to see just how much work we could get out of. Our time was consumed by more pleasant things such as fishing, swimming, sleeping and eating. We were, so to speak, a retired policeman, gangster, explorer and what have you.

IT WAS NOT FOR LONG, however, for it was at this time that our Mother, with a proud look in her eye, said—"my, isn't our son getting big and strong," thereupon shoving a lawnmower into one hand and a scythe into the other.

Our jobs went from bad to worse and with such an excellent overseer, we began to have our doubts as to Lincoln's signing the Emancipation Proclamation.

We sometimes wished that we had stayed on one of the South Sea Islands and after this, we suppose you do too, but gentle readers, we thank you profusely for your kind attention—all three of you are perfect listeners.

BELIEVE IT or not—the football season is only a month in the offing.

Continental Diamond Fibre routed Bill Deaver and Gene White for 13 basehits last night to register a 7-3 victory over Jackson's Hardware in a Newark Twilight League game.

Paul Whiteman and Buck Ewing pitched for Continental, with Perry doing the receiving. Paul Hawthorne worked behind the bat for Jackson's.

Junior Legion and Jackson's, rained out Monday night, will play their postponed engagement tonight at Continental Field.

National Fibre made the most of three hits to defeat Junior Legion last Friday night, 5-4. Roy Hill, Jr., toed the rubber for the Legion and Bill Beck hurled for the winners.

Take Lead In Series With One-Sided Victory

Johnson's double and a pair of errors made the score Newark 4, Milford 3 in the visitors' half of the seventh, but the Jackets promptly got the run back in the same frame.

Sheets opened with a single and took second on Barrow's sacrifice bunt. Roberts hit a single to short left, moving Sheets to third. With Daly at bat, Roberts stole second.

An attempted squeeze play caught Sheets at the plate, but Roberts scored when Argo was safe on Michel's error.

Wharton, Peterson, George, Sheets, Roberts and Daly singled in the eighth for the quartet of markers needed to clinch the verdict. Milford threatened by loading the bags in the ninth with one out. Whiteman tightened by disposing of Slater, Wharton making a neat running catch near the foul line, and Selby fanned for the final out.

Series To Continue

In the absence of Manager Cleaver Potts, the writer was assigned the duty of "master minding" from the bench, which accounts for the fact that Newark required 21 hits to score nine runs. The victory was Whiteman's seventh against one defeat this year.

The Jackets play at Clayton Sunday and journey to Milford for the fourth meeting with the Grier combine on August 8.

Makes Clean Sweep; Cops Four Matches

In the third spot is Mrs. Connie Goodwin who sports of .500 percentage. She is trailed by Mrs. Elizabeth Reese who succeeded in coping one of her tilts while Mrs. Louise Goodwin brings up the rear with four setbacks.

The Laskaris boys, Chris and Leo, advanced to the finals in the second annual Newark Post doubles tourney via a free pass issued by Dave Cronhardt and Bob Hancock.

Jack Bridgewater and Ned McCully, conquerors of the George Mixwood Miller combine, will face the Laskaris duo in the finals. This match will be played this week-end.

Little change was made in the men's singles tourney which schedules Lew Carey and Harry Williamson in the lone quarterfinal match remaining to be played.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY:

THAT AUTOMATIC SIGNAL CORPORATION is a corporation created by and existing under the laws of the State of Delaware, the resident agent in charge of its principal office in the State of Delaware being CORPORATION SERVICE COMPANY, 900 Market Street, Wilmington, Delaware.

THAT the board of directors of the said corporation, at a meeting called for that purpose, voted in favor of a reduction of capital of the said AUTOMATIC SIGNAL CORPORATION from Three Million Five Hundred Eighty-four Thousand Five Hundred Eighty-four Dollars ($3,584,584.00) to Eight Hundred Ninety Thousand One Hundred Twenty Dollars ($891,200.00), and that thereafter the holders of record of at least a majority of the total number of shares of the said AUTOMATIC SIGNAL CORPORATION, having voting power and now outstanding, voted in favor of the said reduction of capital.

Reduction of capital is to be effected by reducing the amount of capital represented by Eight Hundred Ninety Thousand One Hundred Twenty Dollars ($891,200.00) shares of stock of the par value of the dollar ($1) each now outstanding from Three Million Five Hundred Eighty-four Thousand Five Hundred Eighty-four Dollars ($3,584,584.00) to Eight Hundred Ninety Thousand One Hundred Twenty Dollars ($891,200.00), and by the reduction of the amount of capital represented by 3,000 shares of the common capital stock without par value from $1,193,240.00 to $2,691,384.00, and

WE HEREBY FURTHER CERTIFY that the said reduction of capital has been applied to capital surplus and when so applied that the proper officers of the corporation came to be written down the valuation of the assets of the corporation to the extent of $1,193,240.00 and that there be offset against the appreciation in the investment account the sum of $1,193,240.00 as to eliminate the increase in capital surplus so created.

China now uses about 10 different species of seaweeds for food, Dr. Jao said.

REWARD FOR KINDNESS

When he cared for an injured homing pigeon in Dundee, Scotland, found lying helpless on the ground, Archibald Fairly little dreamed of the surprise that was in store for him.

Recently the postman came to the door with a crate labeled "Live birds, Urgent"; and the boy got the thrill of a lifetime, for the tag also bore an inscription, "From the King."

The bird which the 19-year old lad restored belonged to the King. As a reward His Majesty sent him two birds of the same strain.

BUYING YOUR FOODS AT THEIR VASE VALUE

Jam Jars For Jasmine, or How To Display Your Cut Flowers

As summer months bring thousands of flower gardens once again into full bloom, there will be more than one housewife rushing frantically around with an armful of cut posies complaining that she hasn't a single thing to put them in. But that shortage of vases that upsets so many households during the flower season can now be easily eliminated—and without costing you a cent. The solution is in a jar of jam.

Doubtless you have often noticed and been attracted by the exquisite shapes and colors of many of the sterile glass containers in which you buy your food products. That beauty has not served its entire purpose when the food which the jar was designed to protect so perfectly is finally consumed. Many of your jam, peanut butter and cheese jars, your vinegar and prune juice bottles, will make the most attractive flower vases you ever saw.

Some manufacturers are even designing their glass packages specifically for re-use as vases.

This vinegar container is supplied with a wall bracket, and makes an excellent vase for ivy.

A glass bean pot, a vinegar bottle, a cider container, and a prune juice bottle became vases for these garden flowers.

A brand of mustard and a brand of vinegar are sold in this way. So don't just toss your empty jars and bottles out. The flower arrangements possible with them are infinite. The clever gardener will get a lot of fun out of creating a beautiful flower effect with the aid of an old jelly jar and will pride herself on putting her glass container to an extra use.

Some ideal arrangements are cornflowers in a brown glass bean pot, daisies in green glass prune juice bottles, and long spears of larkspur in a cider jug shaped like a huge apple.

imitate, yet there often seems to be no way to prevent him from being stimulated to do so. What can a mother do under such circumstances?

Jerry's mother tried several things. First, she explained to the child what she would like him to say and why. She insisted, in a quiet, matter-of-fact way, that he ask correctly before she granted his request but although he seemed glad to respond when she reminded him, he forgot soon, and the habit persisted. Finally, she tried telling him a story.

Story Was True

It was a true story that her husband had told her about a boy whom he had known in a large camp. This boy had the same bad habit that Jerry had of forgetting to say "please". He overcame it, though. The incidents that made up his experience, and his final success when he had no further trouble remembering, interested Jerry.

"I can remember, too," was his comment when his mother finished the story, and the difficulty was soon overcome.

A suitable picture can often answer much the same purpose as a story and frequently may be found right at hand in a magazine or newspaper. Such an illustration, showing a little boy hanging up his clothes, caused one child to remark, "I can hang mine up, too, just like the little boy in the picture."

Stories And Pictures
These stories and pictures gain the child's attention and, because he wishes to imitate the boy or girl that is presented in this attractive light, he is led to practice the right way until a new habit is formed. Even though his day by day experience furnishes objectionable patterns of behavior, a mother can still balance things up for him by giving him interesting examples of the right way. This often helps more than reprovals, explanations, and reminders.

MODELS FOR THE CHILD WHO IMITATES

VIOLA E. HOLLEY

Jerry was a little four-year-old boy who played frequently with a friend who had not formed the habit of saying "please". Consequently, Jerry soon began demanding, "Give me a drink," or "I want an apple". His mother was puzzled for a while as to what to do about it.

Parents are often confronted with such problems. A little child is very quick to imitate the ways of those around him. He is not very discriminating with regard to the kind of behavior he copies—at least from his mother's point of view—and often picks up undesirable habits as well as good ones.

Behavior And Speech

It may be the behavior and speech of playmates that are objectionable. Frequently, individuals, who come to the home, to render services of one kind or another furnish the wrong example. Sometimes there are members of one's own family whose behavior one does not wish a child to

THIS WEEK—150 YEARS AGO

The Story of the Constitutional Convention of 1787

BY RAYMOND PITCAIRN

JUDICIAL AND OTHER POWERS

During late July of 1787, members of the Convention that wrote the Federal Constitution stated two principles which, for a century and a half, have remained fundamental characteristics of our National government.

They were: (1) that the three branches of government—Legislative, Executive and Judicial—must remain independent of each other; and (2) that power not specifically allocated in the Constitution should remain with the people.

The statements were made during discussions on methods of establishing judicial and other powers in the new nation, and of choosing the Chief Executive.

"If it be a fundamental principle of free government that the Legislative, Executive and Judiciary power should be separately exercised," said James Madison, of Virginia, "it is equally so that they be independently exercised. There is the same and perhaps greater reason why the Executive should be independent of the Legislature than why the Judiciary should."

To which Rufus King, of Massachusetts, added that he wished the Convention to remember "the primitive axiom that the three great departments of government should be separate and independent; that the Executive and Judiciary should be so, as well as the Legislature; that the Executive should be so, equally with the Judiciary."

In support of that principle James Wilson, of Pennsylvania, explained: "The separation of the departments does not require that they should have separate objects, but that they should act separately though on the same objects."

In contrast to the long and often bitter debate which had marked consideration of the Legislative branch of government, discussion of the Judicial branch was comparatively brief.

It involved, among other things, methods of selecting judges; a point solved by the proposal of Nathaniel Gorham, of Massachusetts, that they be appointed by the Executive with the advice and consent of the Senate.

On the method of electing the Chief Executive, also discussed this week 150 years ago, there was longer debate.

Various methods were proposed, including selection by the National Legislature, by the executives of the different states and by electors appointed by the legislatures.

Proposals for the length of the Presidential term were similarly varied. They ranged from two to twenty years.

In this discussion Madison again fought to keep all possible power in the hands of the people. For the responsibility of electing a Chief Executive, he declared, "the people at large are the fittest," adding that they "would be as likely as any to produce an Executive Magistrate of distinguished character."

It was not, however, until a later date that agreement was reached on methods of election.

The power of the people came strongly to the fore in still another debate during the week—the discussion on methods whereby the Constitution, when written, should be adopted.

Certain members proposed submitting the final draft to the state legislatures. Others wanted it passed upon by the people, either directly or through representatives chosen by them for that purpose.

Among the leading champions of the latter method was George Mason, of Virginia. Vigorously he demanded that the plan be referred to the people, "with whom all power remains that has not been given up in the Constitutions derived from them."

"This doctrine," he held, "should be cherished as the basis of free government."

It was then agreed that the Constitution be referred to assemblies chosen by the people.

Next week: The National Executive.

BAD TOOTH OUT
EARL GRACE STARS

Early last winter Earl Grace, catcher of the "Phillies," had an abscessed tooth pulled. This spring he reported at the Winter Haven training camp and declared that he felt like a new man.

His showing has fulfilled his promise. Pushed into the lineup when Bill Atwood was injured Grace has made such a splendid showing that Atwood cannot get his job back.

Visiting players consider him one of the best catchers in the National League. If you watch closely you will notice that when he pegs the ball to second base he does not straighten up and throw the ball overhand but when it from a squatting position and throws sidearm. And no one takes any liberties with his arm.
