CHRISTIANA HOSPITAL

Medical Center facility celebrates first birthday

by Neil Thomas

Just one year ago, things were pretty hectic around the huge new Christiana Hospital. Truck after truck — even an assistant administrator's station wagon — ran around the clock to move materials from three different facilities into the new building just east of Newark.

And once the back-breaking work was completed Jan. 28, 1985, staff from those hospitals began the difficult process of learning to work as one unit. And to try to find their way around three miles of color-coded, carpeted corridors which wind through four six-story towers.

Nurses tried to adapt to a new system of nursing substations, and food service workers tried to cope with a new cook-chill system of preparation which often left patients with cold meals.

Administrators, too, were in a whirlpool of activity, working long hours to keep the new building operating while at the same time staving off a variety of unfounded rumors, including the one about the Medical Center having forgotten to equip the facility with a morgue.

Today, just one year later, a "blip" in the life of a major hospital, things are running much more smoothly. Most of the rumors have dissipated, the food is being served warm and the hospital staff is well into a working routine.

Things may not be perfect, but the everyday workings of Christiana Hospital are in much better shape than they were this time in 1985, according to Lynn Jones, the assistant administrator whose car was pressed into service.

"There was a very high level of expectation that from day one we would be operating without glitches," said Jones. "Some of the systems weren't clicking just perfectly at the beginning... but through the year we have gotten to the point where we are meeting those expectations."

The focus of the 780-bed hospital's first year, Jones said, has been to get the day-to-day operations running up to and beyond standards set in the former Medical Center facilities.

"I think we've gotten to that point," he said, attributing success to Christiana Hospital's 2,500 employees.

"This is a group of employees which has done a whole lot above and beyond the call of duty," he said. "The move had taken its toll, and everyone was coping with change. But this group of employees overcame that."

"They have come together and gotten the system running like a well-oiled machine."

Now that a working routine has been established, Jones said hospital staff is beginning to look ahead.

"We'd like to get at some new things," he said. "The coming year we will continue to improve what we are doing, but we will also begin looking into new things we can be doing to meet the needs of our patients and the community."

"Now," Jones added, almost with a sigh of relief, "we can look beyond the day-to-day." He well remembers that was not the case just 12 months ago.

The Medical Center had to move furniture, patients and equipment, much of it fragile, to the Newark site. "The moving company never had an experience like that — and never will have another experience like that," Jones said, laughing.

Neither will Medical Center personnel. "There were a lot of bleary-eyed people, moving patients and moving equipment to get the job done," he said. "We started moving patients about 7 a.m. and it was not until about 6 p.m. that we had completed moving them. There were ambulances lined up one after another all day long."

That first night, 100 patients were housed in the hospital.

Then came the long, slow process of learning the idiosyncrasies of the building and getting to know one another.

"We had people with three different allegiances," Jones said. "It took a while to figure out who we were, to get to know one another, and to decide how we would function down here."

There were, he said, many compromises and changes to be made. And, he added, "change is not something with which people are comfortable."

But change they did. "I think back to the beginning, then to where we are now," Jones said. "People really have come together."

Last year, it seemed it would take an eternity to work the kinks out of the system. Today things have begun to mesh.

"I've been involved in a number of conversations," Jones said, "and everyone finds it hard to believe it has been a year since we opened."

Police muffle noise

A new city noise ordinance appears to be having the desired affect of muffling Newark residents who enjoy high-decibel music at low-tolerance hours — like 2 a.m.

The ordinance, passed Oct. 28, makes it easier for Newark police to enforce noise standards.

Now police can take action during the first visit after 11 p.m. and through the early morning hours. Previously, city ordinances required police to give warning on a first visit and then return before taking action.

City police began cracking down on noise polluters in late January, making 10 arrests the weekend of Jan. 25-26.

"And," said Newark Police Chief William Brierley, "it's not even open window season."

When warm weather and open windows do arrive, Newark police will be well prepared to deal with the problem, Brierley warned.

In fact, Brierley will soon appoint a special projects officer whose tasks will include development of close working relationships with area apartment managers to better enforce the noise ordinance.

Police are going to print copies of the ordinance to be given to apartment residents so they will be aware of their responsibilities, Brierley said.

In the event of a violation, police will report their actions to the apartment managers and — in the case of students — to parents. Many apartment managers are requiring parents to co-sign leases.

Brierley said apartment managers are being very cooperative with the city in dealing with the noise problem, cooperation which is much appreciated by the police.

Police are going to make "a constant effort to show the community that we're looking for compliance" with the noise ordinance, Brierley said. "It's not just there to decorate the law books."

"The community is fed up. There are going to be consequences to noise. The community, the people who live here, have a reasonable expectation for peace and tranquility," he added.

Newark dentist holds open house for area children

by Neil Thomas

Four years ago, when Newark dentist Dr. Jerome C. Kayatta held the first open house in his Park Place office, a young girl stood at the door, crying and refusing to enter.

She had, he recalled, heard horror stories from her friends about the pain and misery a dentist could inflict.

Gently and gradually, the little girl was coaxed in. Office staff showed her the brightly colored examining room, took her for a ride in the mechanical chair, let her squirt the rinsers and run the "magic toothbrush" and gave her a balloon. She left a happy youngster.

"And we haven't seen her since," Kayatta said, grinning broadly. "Of course, that's not the point. The point is she had a good experience."

It is just that kind of experience that Kayatta has provided more than 500 Newark area children through his four-year-old open house program. The program is held each February to mark National Children's Dental Health Month.

Kayatta said the idea came to him about five years ago. "The intent was to reach out to kids in the community because as a child I had never gotten the benefits of preventive dentistry," he said, explaining the importance of proper brushing and flossing.

"The idea is to see me, or any other dentist, as little as they can. And the way to do that is in a preventive way," Kayatta said.

Of course, it is important to see the dentist for regular checkups and Kayatta also wants to make sure the area's children have a positive first impression of the dentist.

"I don't want kids walking into the dentist's office in pain their very first trip," he said. "If one of the first things a dentist introduces into their mouth is associated with pain, that will stay with them the rest of their lives."

So, throughout the month of February, he invites youngsters to tour his office so "they will feel more comfortable when they come in for dental care."

Friday, youngsters from the Newark Montessori School on South Chapel Street enjoyed a tour of Kayatta's office led by Linda Knight.

Eight children sat in a semi-circle around Knight, taking turns riding the chair and pointing excitedly to a set of model teeth.

After the rides, Knight asked what kinds of tools dentists use to clean teeth.

"You use weapons!" one boy chirped. "No," said Knight, laughing, "we like to call them instruments." She showed them — and let them try out — the vacuum cleaner, the "washer" and the "drier."

Knight let them set the "magic toothbrush" whirring, then explained to them the importance of not eating too many sweets, of flossing and of brushing.

"They feel right at home, looking around and touching things," Kayatta said, watching the children.

"I really feel an obligation to educate people, especially children, about preventive dental care," he added. "It's easier and cheaper to keep your teeth than to repair them."

As the group began to leave, one youngster was heard to say, "The dentist is fun."

That was music to the ears of Kayatta and Knight.

For information on the open house, call Linda Knight at 737-6761.

Newark citizens seek safe Main Street

Downtown Newark has long attracted youths interested in cruising and hanging out, activities which in turn have bred a growing number of problems — underage drinking, drug use, altercations and verbal harassment of passersby.

As the problem has grown, so have the complaints of Newark residents to City Council and police. But one group of city residents have begun organizing in the belief that it is time to stop griping and time to start helping solve the problem.

"We just got tired of complaining for so many years," said Ann Brown, one of the founders of Citizens for a Safe Main Street.

"We thought it was time city officials knew the people were aware it is not just the problem of police or City Council," Brown added, "it is the problem of all the people of the City of Newark."

Brown and other members of the fledgling group met recently to discuss the situation with Newark Police Chief William Brierley.

Another meeting, one which will be open to all interested city residents, will be held at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27 in the Newark Police gym behind headquarters on Main Street. At that meeting, Brierley will help the organization develop an effective strategy for citizens to take a role in solving the problem.

Brown said a variety of ideas came out of the first meeting with Brierley. One is to institute a program in which city residents increase their presence on Main Street, especially during weekend nights when the numbers of youths are at their greatest.

She said citizen presence could be in the form of the Community Watch programs popular in suburban neighborhoods, or could be somewhat less formal.

Such a presence could ease downtown Newark's problems by acting as a buffer between two forces — the police and youths — which are sometimes cast in the roles of antagonists.

"There are enough residents and it is a small enough geographic area that something like this could work," Brown said.

The Citizens for a Safe Main Street may also become involved in other ways, Brown said. Among them, the group may lobby to get a 24-hour Magistrate's or Alderman's Court in Newark to ease the burden on officers seeking warrants.

Also, the group may push for renewal of a Newark Police juvenile offenders program. Under the program, which ended when federal funding dried up, first-time juvenile offenders and their parents met with a city officer to draw up a contract aimed at correcting stray behavior. If the contract was violated, the youths were sent into the Family Court system.

"There are a variety of approaches we can take on a voluntary basis," Brown said.

Newark Mayor William Redd announces that he will seek a fifth term.

Redd running

Newark's mayor will seek a fifth term

by Bruce Johnson

Newark Mayor William M. Redd Jr. announced plans to seek a fifth term during a press conference Friday.

Redd has lived in Newark since 1954. He has spent the last 16 years in municipal government, serving as a town councilman from 1970-73 and as mayor since 1973.

Redd retired from the DuPont Company two years ago, and said that he is "particularly pleased that I have the time to devote" to mayoral duties.

Reading from a prepared statement, Redd outlined his administration's accomplishments. He cited the city's low electric rates and the fact that city taxes have risen only 51 percent while consumer prices have increased 135 percent.

Redd also highlighted the city's new noise ordinance, the excellent snow plowing service, and the accomplishments of the Newark Clean and Green Committee.

Newark is "a positive and well-run community," Redd said.

Although Redd admitted that relationships with the Newark police force were strained during contract negotiations last year, he said he has witnessed "improved relationships" in recent months. He also stated that his administration has added five full-time officers and one part-time officer.

Concerning future goals, Redd said that the city's number one priority will be the Main Street cruising problems.

"This is the number one issue facing our community today," said Redd. "We are pleased to have a young, flourishing community but we will not accept disregard for our community and the lack of common decency."

Redd, who is 64 years of age, holds a master of business administration degree from the University of Maryland. He spent 32 years with the DuPont company before retiring in 1983.

Redd served three years with the United States Navy, and participated in the assault on Okinawa.

The municipal elections will be held in April 8 and the candidates' filing deadline is March 10.

Oberle

Modular classrooms

State Rep. William A. Oberle Jr. of Newark has introduced legislation enabling school districts to impose a special real estate tax.

Monies raised would be used to purchase mobile classrooms that would be added to the district's existing classroom facilities to ease overcrowding.

"It is apparent that our school buildings are reaching a point where capacity is a problem," he said. "This legislation represents a creative attempt to deal with the overcrowding situation. It gives school districts the latitude to minimize the student displacement that might otherwise take place."

Oberle's legislation would enable school districts, with the approval of the State Board of Education, to levy a tax of one cent per $100 of assessed value on property owners within the district. The monies raised would be used to purchase, install and equip modular classrooms.

Petrilli

School funding

State Rep. Joseph Petrilli of Pike Creek has introduced a bill that would provide additional state funding to school districts experiencing additional pupil growth after the September unit count.

The current procedure for state funding of school districts is determined by a count made after Sept. 30. The costs associated with growth in the student body after that time must be paid out of local funds.

Presently enrollments are increasing throughout the state and many districts are finding the associated costs prohibitive.

Petrilli's legislation would enable these school districts to make a supplemental unit count after Dec. 30 and would provide the districts with additional state funding to meet the needs of any additional students.

Petrilli said, "I believe it has always been the intent of the General Assembly to provide the funding necessary to meet the proper student enrollment count. It just so happens that we are now in a growth period and the current unit funding procedures need to be changed to reflect the current situation."

Petrilli's bill would enable school districts to receive increased support in the form of teachers or aides. The legislation has been referred to the Education Committee.

Underpass

Ogletown Road

Following an inquiry by State Rep. William A. Oberle Jr. of Newark, the State Division of Highways has moved to prohibit the use of the Ogletown Road underpass near Avon by vehicles more than 10 feet in height.

Oberle asked the state to investigate the height restriction as a possible solution to a rash of accidents at the site.

John N. Sparks, state traffic studies manager, wrote to Oberle that several accidents were caused when tall trucks crossed the centerline to squeeze through the underpass. While the trucks were not directly involved in the accidents, they caused oncoming traffic to stop suddenly and caused numerous rear-end collisions.

The state will install signs marking the restriction.

Rasero

Tapped by GOP

Lawrence J. Rasero of Hockessin has been named the new Republican regional chairman for the Christiana and Mill Creek region.

Rasero is a pharmaceutical scientist for the DuPont Co., and has been active in GOP politics since 1970.

He will replace Rick LaPenta, who was chairman of the region for the past three years.

MADD's Lightner honored

by Bruce Johnson

History records that tragic incidents often circle back to have a positive impact upon our lives. Mothers Against Drunk Drivers founder Candy Lightner is living proof.

Five years ago, bitterly outraged by the death of her 13-year-old daughter who was killed by a drunk driver, Lightner formed the grassroots MADD organization that would soon alter the attitudes and the laws of the nation.

"I'm very proud of the fact that my daughter's name and I have become synonymous with saving lives," said the personable Lightner Sunday during a press conference held at the University of Delaware's Clayton Hall.

"I would trade it all in to have her back but she's dead, and I think there's no better way to honor her life than to have her name be the reason you are here today," Lightner said.

Lightner was in Newark to accept the Common Wealth Award for distinguished service for her dedication and contributions to drunk driving reform and highway safety. The Common Wealth Award, administered by the Bank of Delaware in conjunction with the University of Delaware, was established under the will of Ralph Hayes, a philanthropist.

"I would like to thank the University of Delaware and the Bank of Delaware for honoring me in such a manner," said Lightner, who received the award for public service. "I would also like to thank the State of Delaware for taking a leadership role regarding drinking laws and amendments. But I also want to caution the people of Delaware not to become too complacent. As I understand it, your Lightner scolded the state for not approving a law making it illegal to operate a vehicle with an open liquor container. She also criticized the state for not having a "third party liability" law which would make restaurants and bars responsible for accidents of patrons who had been drinking in their establishments.

"The hardest single thing is convincing people that we're dealing with a crime and you the media are part of the problem," she said.

Lightner explained that while alcohol-related assaults, robberies and murders are considered crimes, alcohol-related highway incidents are referred to as accidents.

"Until we can convince people that we're dealing with a crime and not an accident, the problems will continue," she said.

Lightner spoke of the importance of changing America's attitudes concerning drinking and driving. "The first thing I wanted to do was eliminate death and dying on the highway," said the Texas resident. "But I've realized the enormity of that task and I've thought more of reducing the number of deaths. But more importantly, I see our accomplishments not in how many lives we've saved but how the attitude has changed."

"Corporations are getting involved with taxi service and television is showing more public service announcements. It's just not people anymore but businesses as well, and I believe MADD has had an impact and been a catalyst for all these changes."

Liability

Major issue

The House Revenue and Finance Committee held a briefing last week to discuss one of the major issues facing lawmakers this session — liability insurance.

Committee Chairman Rep. Joseph Petrilli of Newark and Banking and Insurance Subcommittee Chairman Rep. David Ennis held the briefing to highlight the burgeoning problems that business, professionals and governments are experiencing and to discuss plans for addressing the liability insurance issue.

"The horror stories are plentiful," said Petrilli. "This crisis has reached epidemic proportions across the country and we in Delaware are not immune. Business, industry, government and the consumer will all be tremendously affected unless some reasonable solutions are attained."

Ennis told those assembled, "This problem reemphasizes the need for the insurance industry, trial lawyers and insurance regulators to work together towards alleviating the immediate shortage. In the longer term, Delaware in particular, must address the larger picture of financial services regulation.

"The current problems illustrate the close interrelationship between the insurance industry and the financial environment in which it participates."

Petrilli explained the plans the Revenue and Finance Committee has for addressing the liability insurance issue in Delaware. "The Committee has been following this problem for a year and I am pleased that, this session, we will be addressing a variety of legislation dealing expressly with liability insurance, some of which has been included in your packets," he said.

Later in March, the Committee plans to sponsor an intensive conference and workshop for industry experts, professionals and representatives of local and state governments. It is hoped that their input will result in additional reforms to the liability insurance problem, in Delaware.

In closing the briefing, Petrilli said, "It seems that everyone is a part of this liability insurance problem — government, industry and the consumer. In my judgment they should all be part of the solution."

Christina announces formation of committee to study issue

The Christina School District is moving ahead with work on a teachers' career enhancement plan, having announced Tuesday the formation of a committee to oversee the project.

Christina was asked in early January by Delaware Gov. Michael N. Castle to develop a career enhancement plan to serve as a state-wide model. The Christina school board and teachers' association agreed.

The committee was announced Tuesday by Christina Superintendent Dr. Michael W. Walls and Christina Education Association President Jo A. Callison.

The chairperson of the Career Enhancement Committee will be Richard Kapolka of Christiana High School.

Members of the committee from the administration are: Mary Hudson, Glasgow High School; Edward Smith, Casimir Pulaski School; Jane Barfield, George V. Kirk Middle School; and Franklin Rishel, director of Personnel Services for the Christina School District.

Faculty members of the committee will include, as project facilitator to assist Kapolka in planning, organization and general procedures of the program, Michael Epler of Christiana High School.

Also on the faculty portion of the committee will be Charles W. Haywood of the William P. Bancroft School; Harriet E. Billops of the Christiana-Salem Elementary School; Janet M. Cottone of the Autistic Program; and Jeffrey Pyle of the Wilmer E. Shue Middle

Ex-officio member of the committee will be Cynthia E. Oates, Vice President of the Christina Board of Education. The Governor's office will be represented by Helen Foss. The State Department of Public Instruction representative on the Career Enhancement Committee will be Sidney B. Collison.

President Callison said at the time of the announcement, "We are very pleased that Gov. Castle has selected the Christina School District based on his feelings that the teachers have very good working relations with the Board and the administration in Christina and we believe this is a good opportunity to look at new concepts for a teacher incentive plan. We are excited that the Christina teachers will have a vital role in the development of this plan."

Walls was equally pleased, and commented, "The Career Enhancement Plan is obviously very high on Gov. Castle's agenda and to be selected as the school district to develop the plan is a great compliment to our administrative staff, to our teaching staff, and to the Christina School District as a whole. I believe that this committee made up as it is of representatives from all areas can do the job and to do it effectively."

Castle's formation of the committee was announced in his State of the State message and has since been re-enforced by the Governor as he spoke around the state.

According to Kapolka, chairperson of the Career Enhancement can do the job and to do it effectively."

New 'teachers'

Administrators take turn

Some Christina School District students are finding their classrooms headed by new 'teachers' this week.

The new teachers are really school district administrators sent to the front lines of education through a new Christina program called Central Office Takes a Turn.

Developed by Superintendent Dr. Michael W. Walls, the program has two main purposes: to reward teachers by providing them a professional day and to enrich courses offered to students by providing a fresh voice.

School district spokesman Phil Toman, who is also participating in Central Office Takes a Turn, said administrator-teachers will be in the classroom for the full school day. As such, they will have homeroom, lunchroom and bus duties, as well as teaching responsibilities.

Toman said the teachers for whom the administrators substitute are given time to work on projects related to their fields.

Glasgow

CAC meeting

The Glasgow High School Citizen Advisory Council will hold its regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Feb. 12 in Room H-106 of the school.

Dave Nichols, a Distributive Education teacher, and student members of the DECA organization will speak.

Any resident of the Glasgow High attendance area is welcome to attend the meeting.

Holy Angels

St. Patrick's dance

The Holy Angels Home and School Association will hold a New York-style St. Patrick's Day celebration Saturday, March 1 in Holy Angels Hall, Possum Park Road, Newark.

Festivities will begin at 8:30 p.m. and last until 12:30 a.m.

Tickets cost $10 per person. For information, call Maureen Star at 454-1723 or Mary Newcott at 737-8713.

Center

Parents information

The Parent Information Center of Newark, a non-profit organization which provides information, training and assistance to the parents of handicapped school children, has been hailed by State Sen. James Neal.

Neal, an ex-officio member of the Parent Information Center board, said the Center is the result of the work of Director Pat Herbert.

Herbert spent many months working to win support in Delaware and in the U.S. Department of Education for the local Center, he said.

The Center's initial funding came from a grant from the federal government with subsequent funding from the State of Delaware and the local school districts served by the Center. Currently, the Center serves schools in the state. In time it may serve school districts in adjacent states.

With the increased awareness of the responsibilities of parents and the needs of handicapped children, the federal government initiated a program to establish such education and training centers across the country.

In addition to being a daily source of information for parents, the Newark Center has trained 27 parent trainers in the last year for 12 Delaware school districts. These trainers are now training parents in the skills and knowledge that complement the educational services their children receive.

For more information about the work of the Parent Information Center contact State Sen. Neal at 731-4267 or 366-3965, or call Pat Herbert at the Center, 366-0152.

Aetna names local contest winners

Rebecca Streets' poster places first in state

Twenty four Newark area students were honored recently by the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Co. for their winning entries in a yearly fire prevention contest.

Students in kindergarten through grade 8 participated in the local event, which is part of a state-wide contest sponsored by the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Association.

Local winners moved on to county and state competition, with Rebecca Streets, a second grader at Brookside Elementary School, capturing first place in the poster contest on both the county and state levels. The New Castle County Firemen's Association Fire Prevention Committee judged county winners.

In addition to Streets, four other Aetna winners won prizes on the county level. They were Allison Meierding, a kindergarten student at Cobbs Elementary School, third place, poster; Robert Lynch, a fourth grade student at Holy Angels School, second place, poster; Jason Thomas, a fifth grade student at Holy Angels School, second place, essay; and Heather Paulus, an eighth grade student at Shue Middle School, third place, essay.

Bill Matthews, an Aetna spokesman, said the volunteer fire company is "pleased so many schools and students are interested in fire prevention" and hope students "will remain involved with this enthusiasm throughout their lives."

Following is a list of Aetna winners, all of whom received a check and certificate:

• Kindergarten — Allison Meierding, Cobbs Elementary School, first place, poster; Ryan Roberts, Cobbs, second place; Kevin Crosslands, Cobbs, third place.

• First grade — Jonathan McCann, Temple Christian School, first place, poster; Michael Kissinger, Holy Angels School, second place; Megan Racis, Holy Angels, third place.

• Second grade — Rebecca Streets, Brookside Elementary School, first place, poster; Jennifer Stevens, Holy Angels School, second place; Brent Ferry, Holy Angels, third place.

These students are Newark's fire prevention contest winners.

• Third grade — Jessica Strickland, Temple Christian School, first place, poster; Keri Peter, Holy Angels School, second place; Betsey Beattie, Holy Angels, third place.

• Fourth grade — Robert Lynch, Holy Angels School, first place, poster; Anna Rachel Hutts, Temple Christian School, second place; Teresa Donovan, Holy Angels, third place.

• Fifth grade — Jason Thomas, Holy Angels School, first place, essay; Jessica Soukey, Holy Angels, second place; David Haley, Holy Angels, third place.

• Sixth grade — David Suh, Temple Christian School, first place, essay; Ryan Lowe, Bancroft School, second place; Angela Clarke, Bancroft, third place.

• Eighth grade — Heather Paulus, Shue Middle School, first place, essay; Catherine Evenson, Shue, second place; Robert Callahan, Shue, third place.

Brecht tale

University Theatre production continues Feb. 13-15

Four noted professionals are handling the direction, scenery, lighting and music design for the University of Delaware Theatre's production of "The Good Woman of Setzuan," which will complete its run Feb. 13-15.

"The Good Woman of Setzuan," an ironic parable by German playwright Bertolt Brecht, is being performed in Hartshorn Theatre at Park Place and Academy Street on the university campus.

Directing is David Ostwald, an internationally known stage director of operas who has staged more than 40 productions in the United States and abroad.

Calvin Morgan is the scenic and lighting director. He has designed productions for Julliard's American Theater Center, and has designed three operas for Ostwald.

Music design is being handled by Robert Moran, a composer whose original works have been performed in music festivals worldwide. In charge of lighting design is David L. Brandes, a free lance production manager.

"The Good Woman of Setzuan," which includes 25 student and community actors, is the story of a search for a truly good person by three gods.

Tickets are $5 for the general public and $3 for students and senior citizens. The box office is open noon-5 p.m. weekdays. Tickets may be reserved by calling 451-2204.

Curtain time for shows Feb. 13-15 is 8 p.m.

Season tickets for the University Theatre's remaining four-show schedule are still available. The schedule includes "The World We Live In (The Insect Comedy)" by Josef and Karl Capek in mid-March; "Levitator," a new play by Timothy Mason in April; and "Dance '86," in May.

Open house

U.D. engineering

The Engineering College Council and the Professional Engineering Societies of the University of Delaware will hold an open house for high school students and their parents Thursday, Feb. 20.

The three-hour program will begin at 6:30 p.m. with an introduction to the College of Engineering by Dean R. Byron Pipes in 130 Sharp Laboratory. The introduction will be followed by a guided tour of the college facilities and various student projects and demonstrations.

After the tour, Pipes will join students, alumni and faculty for refreshments and an informal discussion period. Information about careers and educational opportunities in engineering will be available.

The College of Engineering's open house is held annually in conjunction with National Engineers' Week.

For information, contact the College of Engineering at 451-2401.

Saturdays

Music programs

A music theory course on computer, programs for children ages 5 to 8, and private instruction are all options being offered this spring through Saturday AM Music, the University of Delaware preparatory program in music education.

The 12-session program will provide developing students of music, from age 5 through adult, with an opportunity to gain quality low-cost private instruction in a wide variety of musical instruments and voice, as well as music theory.

Classes will be held on Saturdays, Feb. 15-May 17 except March 29-April 5, in the Amy E. du Pont Music Building on the Newark campus.

A special course, "Early Experiences with Music," is designed for children from 5-8 years of age and will be offered in two sections. Participants will develop an awareness and understanding of music through a variety of experiences, such as listening, performing with instruments, and voice and movement. The second section is a continuation of skills learned in the first.

Two music theory courses are offered. The beginning course uses a computer to explore the fundamentals of music, and students of all ages may enhance their performance technique and increase musical knowledge by acquiring new ear-training skills.

The second section is a continuation of skills learned in the first. Both classes are endorsed by the Delaware Music Teachers Association.

One-to-one instruction will be available in the following areas: flute-piccorno, oboe, bassoon, clarinet, saxophone, trumpet, French horn, trombone, baritone horn, tuba, percussion, piano, cello and voice.

Advanced music majors at the university serve as the teaching faculty of the program, with supervision from the members of the music department faculty.

Students may enroll in both private study and theory classes or in either independently. Enrollments are limited in certain areas. For students already studying with area teachers, Saturday AM Music is suggested as an excellent opportunity to pursue a secondary performance area.

Cost of the program's private instruction option is $85, and the theory classes and early experience courses each cost $42. Two or more members of the same family will receive a family discount on the cost for each student enrolled.

Interested persons should apply by Feb. 12.

For a brochure or to register, contact the university's Department of Music, telephone 451-2577.

OVERWEIGHT VOLUNTEERS NEEDED

The chiropractic office shown below is cooperating in a statistical study designed to determine the correlation between overweight, back pain, and unequal leg lengths. Volunteers will complete a health history form and have leg lengths measured.

A charge of only $6.95 is made for the weight control book. There is no obligation for anyone to take treatment, however, we offer a free consultation and preliminary spinal screening test for anyone who wishes to avail themselves of the opportunity. Should x-rays or chiropractic treatment be indicated, such services are not free, but most insurance plans provide chiropractic coverage.

Piano performance

Internationally acclaimed pianist Juliana Markova will perform at 8:15 p.m., Friday, Feb. 14, in Mitchell Hall on the University of Delaware campus in Newark as part of the 1985-86 Friends of the Performing Arts Series.

Tickets, at $12 for the general public, $8 for university faculty and staff and senior citizens and $5 for full-time students, will go on sale one week before the performance at the Mitchell Hall box office, telephone 451-2204.

Her program will feature "Variations in F Minor" by Haydn, "Etudes symphoniques fur Klavier, Opus 13" by Schumann, "Eight Preludes" by Scriabin and "Sonata No. 7 in B-flat Major, Opus 83" by Prokofiev.

A native of Bulgaria, Markova won prizes in both the Georges Enesco Competition in Bucharest and the Marquise Long Competition in Paris.

She has performed in recital and with orchestras through the United States and Europe, and critics have been unanimous in their praise of her artistry. "Few pianists of any age can equal the spellbinding intensity she achieved," wrote a critic in the Chicago Tribune, and a reviewer in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch said her "combination of muscular technique and uncluttered interpretation was just right...a good lesson in how beautiful sensitive but unsentimental phrasing can be."

A critic in The New York Times wrote "Markova played with a full, rich tone, agile fingering and a winning blend of drama and sentiment."

Newarkers enjoy evening of soup and sharing

Four hundred Newark residents gathered Sunday evening at Holy Angels Catholic Church on Possum Park Road for a special program of fellowship.

The occasion was the seventh annual ecumenical Soup and Sharing service, in which members of 15 different Newark area churches met to enjoy homemade bread and soup.

"The event symbolizes the cooperation, tolerance and goodwill among the various Christian communities," said the Rev. Edward Levin of the Church of the Nazarene, who was the homilist for the gathering.

After the meal, those attending adjourned from the Holy Angels fellowship hall to the church for services conducted by 10 local clergymen. Music was provided by combined church choirs.

A goodwill offering was taken, and proceeds will be used to benefit the Newark Housing Ministry. That organization recently opened Emmaus House on Continental Avenue as an emergency shelter for the homeless.

The eighth annual Soup and Sharing will be held next year at First Presbyterian Church of Newark.

The Newark First Christian Women's Club will hold a Cupid's Corner Luncheon at noon Monday, Feb. 10 in Clayton Hall on the University of Delaware's north campus.

The event will feature presentations by Barbara Carakostas and Jacque Stevens, and music by Charlotte French.

Reservations must be made by 10 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 6. Call 239-0847 or 737-9365. Cost is $6.75.

Guitarist

Miracle Tabernacle

Country blues guitarist Mike Truitt will present a program at 1 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 9 at the Miracle Tabernacle, located in the Newark New Century Club at the corner of Delaware Avenue and Haines Street.

Truitt, who has performed with a number of nationally-known rock and blues bands, will share his music and life experiences.

Diocese

Healing Mass

The Catholic Diocese of Wilmington will hold the February Healing Mass at St. Mary of the Assumption Church in Hockessin at 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 7.

Part of the Diocesan Healing Ministry, the celebrant will be the Rev. James M. Jackson, director of the program.

Music for the Mass will be supplied by St. Mary of the Assumption Choir under the direction of Michael Helman. Preacher will be Jackson, who is associate pastor at Holy Rosary Church in Claymont.

A reserved seating area is available for the aged and infirm. For information, call 239-5982.

Chaplain

Nursing homes

The Rev. Edward J. Storck has been appointed chaplain with special ministry to nursing homes in New Castle County, it was announced Wednesday by the Catholic Diocese of Wilmington.

Storck surveyed 34 nursing homes in the county late last year, and found that 451 of the residents are Catholics.

The purpose of the full-time diocesan chaplain will be to assist local parishes in providing more complete service to the needs of the residents.

The position was approved by the Most Rev. Robert E. Mulvey, Bishop of Wilmington, who also appointed Storck.

Born in Baltimore, Storck has spent 25 years as a priest in the Diocese of Wilmington.

Aerobics

Ogletown Baptist

Winter session aerobic classes are under way at Ogletown Baptist Church, 316 Red Mill Rd.

Classes meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays in the church, and are offered free of charge. Child care is available at $1 for the first child and 50 cents for each additional child.

Newark Jaycees to raise funds to fight SIDS

The Newark Jaycees are accepting photographs through Feb. 22 for the 4th Annual Baby Photo Contest. All proceeds will go towards fighting Sudden Infant Death Syndrome (SIDS), the number one cause of infant death after the first three weeks of life. To be eligible, the following requirements must be met:

- Photo must be 3 1/2 by 5 inches or smaller. All larger sizes will be disqualified.
- Photo must be postmarked by Feb. 22.
- Baby in photo must not be older than three years as of Feb. 22.

- Both the entry fee of $1 (cash only) and entry information must accompany photo.
- Photo will not be returned.
- Members of immediate families of Newark Jaycees are not eligible.

To enter, send photo plus $1 entry fee to Newark Jaycee SIDS Photo Contest, 9 Anita Drive, Newark, DE 19713. The baby's name, birthdate, address and phone number must also be submitted along with the signature of the person submitting the photo.

Twenty finalists will be chosen from all photos received. These finalists will be displayed in area grocery stores on a rotating basis beginning March 1 through April 5. The Baby Shop in Meadowood Shopping Center will kick off the first display.

The community is asked to vote for the cutest baby of their choice with cash donations. The top three winners will be decided by the highest donation totals and will receive prizes donated by area merchants. Winners will be notified by phone on April 9.

"We are thrilled to be running this project for the fourth year thanks to the support of area merchants, who have again generously donated the prizes, and the local stores who will be displaying the photo board," said Mike Yoder, president of the Newark Jaycees. "Last year we were able to raise over $600 for the fight against SIDS through the registration fees and the votes by the Newark community."

Sponsors of the prizes include The Baby Shop, Minsters Jewelers, Washington Square, Wilmington Trust, Bank of Delaware, Artisans Savings Bank, Avon, Olan Mills, Dannemanns, Closics, Bit O' Scotland Bakery, Summer Fun and Ladd and Lassie Shop.

Classes

Newark Parks & Rec

A variety of courses are being offered this month by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation. They include:

- Horse-showing clinic — Instructor Bev Driver will teach students how to prepare horses for showing, proper showroom attire and manners for horse and rider during a single session from 11:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15. The cost is $13 for city residents and $15 for non-residents, and includes lunch.
- Watercolor painting — Award-winning Delaware artist Phyllis Torres will teach teenagers and adults to paint with watercolors. The class will be held 7:30-9:30 p.m. Tuesdays, Feb. 11-March 4 in the Newark Senior Center on Main Street. The cost is $13 for city residents and $15 for non-residents.
- Furniture refinishing — Students in this two-session workshop taught by Jim Schneck will learn about the tools, materials and methods of refinishing. Sessions will be held 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays, Feb. 11 and 18, in the Newark Senior Center. The cost is $6 for city residents and $8 for non-residents.

- Woodcarving sampler — In this one-session workshop, students will learn about tools and methods and also begin hands-on carving. Knives and wood will be provided. The session will be held 7-9:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13 in the Newark Senior Center. The cost is $10 for city residents and $12 for non-residents.
- Puffy quilt — Students will learn to make a quilt in just two sessions. The class will meet 7-9:30 p.m. Monday, Feb. 10 and Wednesday, Feb. 12 in the Newark Senior Center. The fee is $8.50 for city residents and $10.50 for non-residents.

For information or to register for any of these classes, contact the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation in the Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elkton Rd., telephone 366-7060.

THEY MAY LOOK THE SAME ON THE OUTSIDE,

BUT INSIDE IT'S A DIFFERENT STORY!

The one on the left is our standard Whirlpool 50,000 BTUH upflow pilot gas furnace. Its efficiency rating is 65.9%. That means that 34.1% of the energy it takes to run the furnace is wasted. Totally wasted!

The 50,000 BTUH furnace on the right is the new Whirlpool Tightlist II high efficiency furnace. Its efficiency rating is 96.1%. That means only 4% of the energy is wasted.

The difference is obvious. And remember, you're going to be charged for all the energy you use, whether it's wasted or not. To really get what you're paying for, why not install a high efficiency Whirlpool Tightlist II furnace in your home today. That way you're sure to get your money's worth.

YWCA

Newark meeting

Dr. Gwendolyn Calvert Baker

The YWCA of New Castle County will hold its annual dinner and business meeting on Tuesday, April 29, at the Sheraton Inn in Newark.

This year's guest speaker will be Dr. Gwendolyn Calvert Baker, executive director of the YWCA of the United States of America. Baker will speak on the special insight and dedication reflected in the YWCA's recent local and national long-range planning efforts.

Also included on the agenda will be a farewell salute to retiring Wilmington Center director Barbara Washam and the presentation of Volunteer Recognition Awards to organizations and individuals who have provided the YWCA with outstanding service and support during the past year.

The meeting is open to the public. For more information or to make reservations, call 658-7161. Members will be mailed invitations and response cards in early April.

Directions

March of Dimes

Directions '86, a day-long seminar for career women, will be held Saturday, Feb. 15 at Wilmington's Hotel DuPont to benefit the March of Dimes.

The seminar will include information on professional dress, make-up and health. There will also be a panel discussion and a variety of exhibits of interest to career women.

The cost is $30 per person. To register, call the March of Dimes office at 737-1310.

Careers

Ashland conference

Ashland Nature Center in Hockessin will host a conference on environmental careers Wednesday, Feb. 12.

The conference, co-sponsored by the Delaware Nature Education Society and Wesley College, is open to high school seniors.

It will include information on salaries and education requirements in such fields as toxicology, water pollution, hydrogeology, environmental law and environmental sciences.

Representatives of government and private industry will be on hand.

Participants must register by Monday, Feb. 3. The fee is $10. For information, call the Delaware Nature Education Society at 239-2334.

Film

'The Jungle Book'

Walt Disney's "The Jungle Book" will be screened at 7 p.m. Friday, March 14 at Downes Elementary School, Casho Mill Road, by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation.

The cost is $2 at the door, or $1.50 if pre-registered. For information, call the Department at 366-7060.

"The Jungle Book" is being shown instead of "The Sword and the Stone," which was originally scheduled.

Book sale

Newark AAUW

The Newark branch of the American Association of University Women is requesting donations to the 20th Annual Used Book Sale to be held March 6-8 at Newark United Methodist Church on Main Street.

In addition to books, the sale will accept records, games, puzzles, posters, and magazines of special interest. Donations may be left at the Newark Free Library. Pick-up may be arranged by phoning 737-3886 or 737-1136 no later than Feb. 28.

The annual sale benefits the Educational Foundation of AAUW.

Wildlife

Urban conservation

The New Castle Conservation District is offering Newark area residents an opportunity to purchase seedlings which can be used to attract wildlife to the home landscape.

The seedlings are being sold in packets of seven, at $4.95 per packet. The packets include white pine, mount ash, dogwood, tatarian honeysuckle, European cranberrybush viburnum and linden viburnum.

Most seedlings are 12-18 inches in height.

Plant packets will be available in April at the New Castle Conservation District office in Peoples Plaza on Del. 896 in Glasgow.

Residents who are interested in receiving packets can get an order form from the office by calling 834-3533 or writing: New Castle Conservation District, 6 Peoples Plaza, Newark, Del. 19702.

The seedling sale is part of the District's campaign to promote ways the urban landowner can become involved in conservation efforts. The plants often attract birds, butterflies and other beneficial forms of wildlife.

Ice skating

After school

After school ice skating will be offered Jan. 25-March 28 by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation at the University of Delaware Ice Arena.

The ice skating is recreational, although a supervisor will assist beginners.

Sessions will be held from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Fridays. The fee is $10 for city residents and $12 for non-residents.

Participants should register at the Department office in the Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elton Rd. For more information, call 366-7060.

AAUW

Mill Creek meeting

The Mill Creek Hundred Branch of the American Association of University Women will meet 9:30-11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Feb. 11 at Limestone Presbyterian Church, 3201 Limestone Road.

Debbie Amsden, home economist with the University of Delaware Extension Service, will speak on "You and Your Aging Parents."

Babysitting is available by reservation only, call 239-0760. The meeting is free and open to the public.

AFS

Host families needed

Newark area families are invited to have an international experience without leaving their homes.

The American Field Service student exchange program is seeking host families in the area for the 1986-87 school year.

Families may host exchange students from one of 65 different countries.

Although host families need not be rich to participate, consideration should be given to the cost of bed and board for a high school student. The IRS does permit AFS host families to deduct $50 a month during the time the student lives with them.

Host families vary in size, age and income, and include two parents with children, single parent families, young parents, single people and older couples. AFS students also come from diverse backgrounds.

The organization provides the international transportation costs to bring foreign students to the United States, covers the students' medical costs and provides them monthly allowances.

Newark area families interested in participating as AFS hosts should contact Beverly Stoudt at 368-9354, Leann Still at 453-0362 or Leanna Williston at 737-1416.

Ice skating

Parents, tots

Winter sessions of parent-tot ice skating sponsored by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation will begin Feb. 12-13 at the University of Delaware Ice Arena.

Sessions will be held noon-1 p.m. The fee is $20 for city residents and $22 for non-residents. Participants must register at the Department office in the Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elton Rd.

For information, call 366-7060.

Senior Center boasts program for hearing impaired

The Newark Senior Center, which is anticipating a grant to benefit the hearing impaired, has initiated a sign language program.

The program is headed by Susan Drummond, who said monies from the grant will not only aid the hearing impaired but will also create community awareness of the problems, frustrations and hazards of the hearing impaired.

"It's an attitudinal problem we're dealing with," said Drummond. "Since hearing loss is unseen, people are unsympathetic. People will help a blind person cross the street but they get frustrated if they have to repeat the same question five times. They usually just consider the person senile or old."

"We want to change the attitude of the people to be more understanding, as well as getting the hearing impaired to seek help."

One way that the Senior Center hopes to change attitudes and help the hearing impaired is through the sign language program. Interest was first sparked in the program when senior citizens were given a five-session demonstration on sign language and other communication techniques.

"Some of the people got involved and wanted to continue the program, and somehow I got elected," said Drummond with a chuckle. "We're all learning together, about 10-12 of us, with ages ranging from 60 to 88." The seniors, she said, are keeping their minds stimulated and are exercising their arthritic hands through the program.

Volunteering his time to help the senior citizens learn "signing" is David Peterson, a graduate of Sterck School.

According to Drummond, one of the major problems facing the hearing impaired is the extraordinary cost of medical care.

"The big concern is the high cost of hearing rehabilitation," said Drummond. "This is a major reason why people are having difficulties; they can't afford the costs. Medicare pays the initial examinations but doesn't cover the cost of the hearing aid."

The Senior Center has already planned numerous activities dating to December 1987 to educate and aid the community. They plan to sponsor monthly hearing tests, classes in lip reading and listening skills, and to distribute packets, record survey results and take presentations to schools and organizations.

"After a person reaches 50, they experience some type of hearing loss due to the aging process," said Drummond. "The longer people are living, the more of a problem. The second leading cause is noise. We may have a whole generation in which the jury is out, considering the use of portable stereos."

This is the fifth in the series of majestic oil paintings commissioned by Bank of Delaware to celebrate the bicentennial of the ratification of the United States Constitution. It depicts the departure of the U.S. Mission to Russia to help settle the War of 1812, and the scene is of Delaware Street in New Castle. It was painted by Delaware-born artist Robert Goodier.

This is the fifth and final column in my series about the five masterful paintings the Bank of Delaware commissioned in preparation for the celebration of the bicentennial of the ratification of the U.S. Constitution. This one features New Castle in the year 1813.

Each of the five paintings, which measure 3-by-4 feet in size, was researched before Delaware-born artist Robert Goodier set brush to canvas. This painting depicts preparation for departure of an American mission to the Russian city of St. Petersburg.

In John Austin Stevens' "Albert Gallatin, American Statesman," we read, "On May 9, 1813, the ship Neptune sailed from New Castle on the Delaware, having on board Albert Gallatin and James A. Bayard, ministers of the United States, with their four secretaries." Their mission was to work with the Russians to help arrange a peace which would bring an end to the War of 1812. This is the scene Robert Goodier chose to end the series.

The three key figures in the picture are (left to right) James Gallatin, Albert Gallatin and James Asheton Bayard. James Gallatin served as secretary to his father, Albert. Albert Gallatin was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1795, appointed Secretary of the Treasury in 1801, served as U.S. Minister to France from 1815 to 1823 and Great Britain in 1826. The third man is James Asheton Bayard, who was elected to the U.S. House of Representatives in 1797. He served until 1803, then served in the U.S. Senate from 1805 to 1813, two years before his death.

The view in this painting looks east on New Castle's Delaware street, showing the stables and terminal building of the New Castle and Frenchtown State Coach Company. The house in the picture stands today and is known as Bedford House. It was a hotel which served stage and packet boat travelers. Beyond the hotel is the home of James Riddle.

The five paintings and the research which preceded them consumed a total of two years, most of it done by two brothers. The paintings are the work of Robert Goodier, and the research is the product of John Goodier. The State of Delaware, and all of its residents, are in the debt of these two men for their labors. We are all the richer for them.

A tip of The Toman Topper is due to Bank of Delaware Chairman Jeremiah P. Shea for his foresight in commissioning these permanent and beautiful documents of the time surrounding the ratification of our Constitution.

See them on display in the lobby of the headquarters of Bank of Delaware, 300 Delaware Avenue in Wilmington. Don't miss them!

Trip

'Treasures of Britain'

The Delaware Art Museum will offer a trip to the National Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. to see the special exhibition, "The Treasure Houses of Britain: 500 years of Private Patronage and Art Collecting," on Tuesday, Feb. 11.

The bus will leave the museum, located on Kentmere Parkway in Wilmington, at 8 a.m.

The exhibition, the largest and most ambitious ever undertaken by the National Gallery, includes furnished period rooms displaying over 700 works of art ranging from the 15th to the 20th centuries.

Represented are paintings by Rubens, Van Dyck, Velazquez, Canaletto, Hogarth, Gainsborough, Turner, and Sargent; furniture by Boulle, Kent and Chippendale; Sevres, Chelsea, Derby and Chinese porcelain; sculpture, jewelry, armor and silver.

Optional transportation to Georgetown will be available at 2 p.m.

The bus will leave Georgetown at 4 p.m. and the National Gallery at 4:30 p.m. to arrive back in Wilmington at 7 p.m.

The cost, including round-trip transportation, study notes, and refreshments, is $37 ($32 for museum members).

For reservations or more information, contact Carolyn Lester at the museum, 571-9590.

Photographers from around the world show work in Newark

Photographers from Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Washington, D.C., are included with photographers from around the world in the "53rd Wilmington International Exhibition of Photography" on display from Feb. 9 through Feb. 28 in Clayton Hall on the University of Delaware north campus in Newark.

Organized by the Delaware Camera Club (DCC), the exhibition is believed to be the oldest continuous photographic exhibition sanctioned by the Photographic Society of America (PSA). Cosponsored by the university Division of Continuing Education, the exhibition is in its eighth year at Clayton Hall.

For this year's juried exhibit, 800 photographers from 36 countries including the USSR submitted 4,111 prints and slides, including entries in two new photo journalism categories. Of these, nine judges accepted 329 prints and 703 slides, and awarded medals to 37 prints and 24 slides.

The public is invited to view accepted prints at a free public reception with refreshments at Clayton Hall from 1 to 5 p.m. on Sundays, Feb. 9 and 16. On both dates a program of accepted color slides will be presented at 1:30 and 3:30 p.m., and at 2:45 p.m., a program of accepted photo journalism slides will be presented.

This year top color print awards went to photographers from Hong Kong, Indonesia and Macau, as well as Delaware, Florida, New Jersey, New York and Texas. William J. Talarowski of Wilmington won the PSA gold medal for his color print "Mountain Vista." Gerald Griffin of Penfield, N.J., won a DCC medal for "Bryce Morning" and Walter Rehm of Vineland, N.J., won another DCC medal for "Ghost Ships."

Awards for monochrome prints went to photographers from Argentina, Hong Kong, Norway and West Germany, as well as Louisiana, Maryland, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Texas and Virginia. Howard E. Foote of Cranbury, N.J., won a DCC medal for his monochrome print "Sunlit Staircase," and Judy Switt of Gaithersburg, Md., also won a DCC top medal for her print "Hi Lily, Hi Low."

Photo journalism top print awards went to photographers from Argentina, Canada, Holland, Sweden and West Germany, as well as California, Maryland and Michigan. Gordie Corbin of Rockville, Md., won a Delaware Valley Council of Camera Clubs gold medal for a print "Salzburg Street Artist."

Top awards for color slides went to photographers from Belgium and Portugal, as well as California, Illinois, Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Oregon, Utah and Washington.

Top awards for photo journalism slides went to photographers from Australia, Austria, Belgium, France and West Germany, as well as California, Maryland, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Washington. Corbin won a DCC medal for "Hard Day's Work"; Ms. Switt won a DCC medal for "Michael" and Edmund W. Schlotter of Havertown, Pa., won a Delaware Valley Council of Camera Clubs gold medal for his "Big Ideas."

The free public exhibit will be on display Mondays - Thursdays 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m., and Fridays 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. For variable weekend hours, contact the front desk at Clayton Hall, 451-1259.

Brosius-Eliason

Farrell L. Goble named president of 104-year-old company

Farrell L. Goble has been named president and chief operating officer of the 104-year-old Brosius-Eliason Lumber and Hardware Co.

Goble was appointed to the post by James T. Eliason III, chairman of the board, president and chief executive officer.

Eliason, in relinquishing the presidency to Goble, said he recommended the move to ensure an orderly management succession. Eliason will remain as chairman and chief executive officer.

At the same time, Eliason announced that Charles G. Shoemaker, Richard W. Armstrong, William J. Lane and Daniel P. Johnson have been promoted to new positions in the New Castle-based company.

Charles G. Shoemaker, executive vice-president, will assume significant, additional responsibilities as vice-chairman and chief financial officer.

Richard W. Armstrong, 37, purchasing agent, moves up to vice-president and operations manager. He will be responsible for purchasing, manufacturing, warehousing, and shipping functions of the chain of home centers in New Castle County.

Armstrong has been with Brosius-Eliason since 1974. He has a business administration degree from the University of Delaware. He is married and with his wife and two children, resides in Bear.

William J. Lane, 41, joined Brosius-Eliason as a salesman in 1963 and was promoted to store manager in 1968. This year, he will assume the duties of sales and merchandise manager of all stores. Lane is a member of the Trustees of New Castle Common, is past president of the New Castle Rotary and belongs to the New Castle Methodist Church. He is married and lives in New Castle.

Daniel P. Johnson, 28, hired as a computer operator and programmer in 1979, becomes administrative manager with responsibilities in bookkeeping, accounting, personnel, processing payables and receivables. He is a graduate of the University of Delaware with a bachelor's degree in English and history. He is also a fourth year law student at the Delaware Law School.

He is a member of Friends of Rockwood and belongs to the New Castle Presbyterian Church.

Farrell L. Goble, 49, formerly a sales and merchandise manager for the J.C. Penney Company, joined Brosius-Eliason in 1969 as retail general manager. In 1974, he became vice-president and a member of the executive committee with the additional duties of marketing director.

A Brosius-Eliason spokesman noted that under Goble's supervision, the company became a successful "cash and carry" home center operation resulting in the rapid expansion from one store to a chain of four "cash and carry" stores within the last 12 years. He lives with his wife and daughter in Pike Creek.

Brosius-Eliason Company is New Castle County's largest, independent, locally-owned lumber, hardware, building materials, home improvement products and do-it-yourself center with stores in New Castle, Wilmington, Middletown and Claymont. It employs 110 people.

Bank training

A bank training program designed for women re-entering the work force or making a career change will be held Feb. 10-March 14 at Delaware Technical and Community College's Industrial Training Center on Skyline Drive in Pike Creek.

Classes will be held 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays.

Students will learn the basics of banking operations as well as the use of 10-key adding machines, proof machines and computers as they relate to the banking industry.

Resume writing, job seeking skills and free placement services are also available.

For information, call 368-6636.

Salute

Minority businessmen

A salute to minority businesses is being planned by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation in recognition of February as Black History Month.

The event, during which businessmen will be invited to discuss their services, will be held 7-10 p.m. Friday, Feb. 21 in the George Wilson Community Center on New London Road. Admission is $2.

The event will feature ethnic food, baked goods, gospel music and special awards.

For information, call the Department at 366-7060.

Course

Captain's license

A 40-hour preparation course for local boatowners and operators who want to carry passengers for hire will be held by Houston Marine Training Services in Newark from March 24 to April 3.

The course, which will prepare individuals for the U.S. Coast Guard motorboat operator, inland operator or ocean operator license exams, will include material on rules of the road, navigation, seamanship and safety regulations.

Classes will be held for nine nights at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge at 1119 S. College Ave. Cost of the course is $545 and that includes the eight-volume examination preparation kit.

For more information on the course, contact Jeannette Keller at 800-535-8803. Students registering by March 10 will receive a $25 discount on their tuition.

POSTSCRIPT

by Neil Thomas

One of the things I like best about Newark is the fact that this is a "can-do" type of community. It seems that residents are always more than willing to lend their time and expertise to a cause, be it social, recreational or educational.

And it has happened again. Probably the top problem in Newark today is the situation on Main Street. Sure the problem has blown out of proportion, but the fact remains that the street — long a hangout and cruising strip for area youth — has attracted an unsavory element from outside Newark.

The problem has been troubling police and puzzling City Council. Well, now those two groups will have some help in the effort to improve Main Street.

A group of Newark residents headed by Bob and Ann Brown has formed under the name Citizens for a Safe Main Street.

Members have already met once with Newark Police Chief William Brierley, and will be holding a public meeting with the chief at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 27 in the police gym off Main Street. They will discuss strategies for citizen involvement, strategies which may include a Community Watch-style patrol.

"We just got tired of complaining for so many years," said Ann Brown. "We thought it was time city officials knew the people were aware this is not just the problem of the police or City Council — it's the problem of all the people of the City of Newark."

Brown is right, and Citizens for a Safe Main Street is a sensible approach to solving Main Street's problems. The police and city government can only be effective if backed by the community. The formation of the group is an important first step.

Newark has been very fortunate over the years to have had excellent leadership in the schools, from the old Newark Special School District to the present Christina School District.

Dr. George V. Kirk, who retired last summer, provided local schools with a steady hand through the difficult times of boom growth and desegregation.

And Dr. Michael W. Walls appears to be carrying on in the tradition of excellence.

In just eight months, Walls has shown a well-rounded management style.

He is sensitive enough to provide for the needs of Christina's inner city residents by meeting with them Saturday mornings in Wilmington, and serious enough to join with the Christina Education Association in agreeing to pilot a state teacher career enhancement plan at the request of Gov. Michael Castle.

But Walls has a keen understanding of the fact that a vital organization needs more than caring and concern — it needs a hefty portion of creativity leavened with a little fun.

And so it was that Walls kicked off the 1985-86 school year with the Christina Stampede, an event in which every Christina employee was invited to run, walk or bicycle a course around Newark. They came away sweaty but happy.

So it is that Walls has put top administrators back in the classroom — education's front lines — through a Central Office Takes a Turn program.

And so it is that this Friday, school district staff members will be participating in the Winter Games, a session of games both physical and mental to relieve the mid-year tensions through that most underestimated of all human endeavors — fun.

Sallies

Spartans

by Todd Hickey

Someone once wrote that "the best laid plans of mice and men are bound to go awry."

Unfortunately for the St. Mark's High School basketball team, that adage was all too true Friday night as unforeseen problems adversely affected the Spartans' game plan and contributed to a 48-47 loss to arch-rival Salesianum in a tight Catholic Conference match-up.

The St. Mark's game plan centered around an attack on the much larger Salesianum team's bread and butter—the inside game. "We thought that the only way to beat them was to match their size," said Spartan head coach John Fiorelli, whose squad is primarily known for its running game.

Fiorelli knew extreme emphasis would have to be placed on aggressive play off the boards for the plan to work. It was also decided that a seldom-used press would be employed to prevent the Salesianum offense from setting up inside.

An added bonus came during a game earlier in the week against Claymont, when the Spartans found they could hone their offensive attack because the Indians ran 2-1-2 defense similar to Salesianum's.

All in all, it was a sound plan and in the first half it worked like a charm. Guards Scott Northey (four points on the night) and Chuck Fischer (five points) played inspired defense on the press and the post men for St. Mark's, particularly center Scott Dyer (13 points), were proving to be a thorn in Salesianum's inside game.

At the end of the first quarter, St. Mark's held a 12-8 lead. By the intermission, the Spartans were up 22-14, with their last eight points unanswered.

The wrench flew into the St. Mark's machinery about midway through the third quarter when Spartan inside workhorse Dyer accumulated three quick fouls and was removed from the game. Without Dyer's presence, the Spartans only managed to score four points in the quarter (none after Dyer left). Defensively, St. Mark's gave up 12 unanswered points, and Salesianum held a 32-26 lead when time expired in the period.

"The key to the game was Dyer's foul trouble," said Fiorelli. "For that brief span he was out, the other kids just couldn't handle it. They didn't have the strength or the experience. Sallies struck when they had to, and they were able to turn an eight-point deficit into a six-point advantage."

The Spartans pulled together, though, and forward John Burton's four unanswered points at Kurt Howell is nearing his 100th high school victory.

Kurt Howell

Newark High wrestling star takes studied approach to his sport

by Bruce Johnson

Five-year-old Kurt Howell crouched on top of a garbage can in the corner of a cramped YMCA wrestling room, intently watching his older brother Dick learn the wrestler's trade. Soon he would be invited to participate. But few realized that one day Howell would cast aside his garbage can to sit upon the throne of Delaware wrestling.

Today, Howell has a record of 98-0 for his career at Newark High School.

"Sure I remember him. How could I forget him?" said YMCA instructor Jeff Jack, who first introduced Howell to wrestling competition. "He and his whole family used to come and watch his older brother wrestle. Kurt was real tiny, he must have been just out of diapers, and there was another tiny guy so I had them match up."

Mack admitted that he had no idea of Howell's potential, but added that it could not have happened to a nicer guy.

"He's just a great kid," said Mack. "I remember after watching him wrestle I went up to congratulate him and he thanked me. He said that I was the one who got him started. I just laughed and told him that he was the guy who did all the work and training, I didn't do anything. But that's the type of kid he is. I can't say enough about him, he's just super."

Mack's thoughts are echoed by almost everyone who has come in contact with Howell, in particular his high school coach, Jerry Milstead.

"His wrestling skills are obvious," said Milstead. "This is the kid that coaches wait a lifetime for and he's been mine. If I never have another state champion it's okay because I've had Kurt Howell, and I'll have nostalgia for years."

Howell's wrestling skills are obvious. It would be senseless to go into great detail about an athlete who has won 98 matches against no defeats in high school competition, who is a three-time state champion, who has won countless tournaments, and who, even when jumping two weight classes to wrestle, still wins easily.

Rather, it is Howell's personality and maturity with which one is immediately impressed when conversing with the 5-foot 2-inch 121-pounder.

"Whatever he does he does with high intensity," said Milstead. "I've read some of the recommendations that teachers have written. They all say the same thing, he will work as hard as he can to get the job done."

That's what I would say, but I would add that he goes a little bit beyond that. He's an achiever. He's got a pleasant personality, and he's modest and just a little bit shy. He's just a nice kid."

The fact that Howell is modest is particularly amazing when you consider his success. As reporters, university scouts, and fans rave about his exploits, Howell maintains a level head and quietly goes about his business.

This attitude is best evident as Howell approaches his 100th high school victory, a feat never before achieved in the annals of Delaware high school wrestling.

"I'm excited about it and I don't know if it's ever been done before," said Howell. "But it's like any other match and I'm not going to wrestle any different."

In fact, Howell is not too concerned about his undefeated record. He has often moved up two weight classes, to 132, to benefit the team, but never once has he worried.

Ironically, for an athlete who has never lost in high school, Howell believes losing has its merits. "The first year I wrestled

Glasgow falls

Dragon girls lose heartbreaker to Brandywine

by Bruce Johnson

As a fan, it is often hard to watch a group of teenagers lose a game they want desperately to win, to see etched in their faces the turmoil of frustration and despair. Parents and coaches offer words of wisdom but words fail to penetrate the underlying sadness.

So it was on Friday afternoon at Glasgow High School, as the Dragons girls basketball team walked off the court with sullen faces and a few tears after losing 40-38 to Brandywine.

It was not a game on which hinged a potential state championship. No, Glasgow is fighting to maintain a .500 record. Rather it was that the girls had grown accustomed to winning.

"The kids have a winning attitude and I know they don't like to lose," said Dragon head coach Larry Walker. "It's a hard adjustment for them coming off last year, and I know they're not having as much fun."

Last year, with state player of the year Stephanie Brittingham, the Dragons were a force to be reckoned with, compiling a 15-7 record and advancing to the second round of the state tournament before losing to eventual runner-up Ursuline. But the Dragons graduated four starters last year, including Brittingham, and replacing them is no easy task.

"You don't look at it as replacing Brittingham," said Walker. "She's a once in a lifetime athlete for a coach, and she could win a game single handed. Without her, we have to rely on more basic things and concentrate on doing them right."

Leading the way this season have been seniors Jennifer Fox, Kelly Kane and Michelle Brock. The rest of the team, although determined, lacks playing experience and it is a weakness that the opposition has been quick to exploit.

Still, the Dragons have remained competitive, losing games by small margins.

"It's reality more than frustration," said Walker. "You have to lower expectations and become more realistic about games we can win. I thought we could win this game."

They almost did. After falling behind 23-13 at halftime, the Dragons came out in the second half fired up and with a pressing man-to-man defense. The defense began to cause numerous turnovers, but continued bad luck shooting kept Brandywine out of reach.

Still determined, the Dragons were eventually able to cut the lead to just four points with 2:01 left to play on the fine shooting of Brock, who totaled 10 of her 13 points in the second half, and Fox, who totaled 12 of her 15 points in the second half.

With less than a minute to play, Glasgow's Kizzy Cobb swiped an inbound pass. After a missed shot, Brock grabbed the rebound and scored to cut the lead to 38-36.

'Penn
tops
Vikes

by Bruce Johnson

One of the many ingredients that a team will need to succeed in Blue Hen Conference Flight A basketball competition this season is a strong bench. Due to injuries and player dismissals, the bench has become a weakness for Christiansiana High School.

That weakness was spotlighted by William Penn on Friday as the Colonials outlasted the Vikings 72-64 on the strength of a fourth quarter surge.

"William Penn is a good team and we just don't have that much depth," said Viking head coach Ron Hollis. "The William Penn bench beat us tonight. They had eight strong players and we just didn't have the size coming off the bench to match up."

Hollis' bench problems are accentuated by the recent loss of sixth man Tom Cornican, who is out with a knee injury, and Nathan Lusby and Vincent Medley, who were dismissed from the team by Hollis.

This moves two players who are under 5-feet 8-inches to the important sixth and seventh positions. With this lack of height coming off the bench, the Vikings were out-rebounded 32-22 in the game.

Hollis conceded that the Colonial front court was more aggressive than the Vikings. "They have good rebounders and an excellent inside game," he said. "They sent four kids crashing the boards and just overpowered us inside."

Going into the fourth quarter, both teams had battled hard with the Vikings hanging on to a slim 47-45 lead. Point guard Dwight Roy fouled out at the five minute mark and forward David Chittum and center Aaron Mack were soon to follow. With inexperienced and shorter Christiansiana players on the floor, the Colonials were able to jump out to a 14-point lead.

"We brought up three sophomores to fill the roles left vacant but the kids lack game experience and height," said Hollis. "The kid (Eugene Cephas) who replaced Dwight Roy had only played about ten minutes, but he did a good job tonight."

The Vikings scored first on Andrie Mill's driving five footer and never relinquished the lead until the 6:23 mark of the fourth quarter. The lead had increased to five points several times, only to fade as the game wore on as the Vikings' legs grew more tired. Slowly but surely the Vikings' exhaustion grew more noticeable with sloppy plays, poor shooting, lack of hustle and silly fouls.

At the 1:51 mark of the fourth quarter, the Colonials opened up a 14-point lead and fans opened up the doors to the exits.

"William Penn is a good team and they wanted this game tonight," said Hollis. "They've got four starters back and they're the defending Flight A champions. They knew what they had to do tonight and they did it. They wanted to gain back some respectability tonight and they did."

Chittum paced the Vikings with 21 points while teammate Mills recorded 19.

The Vikings ended the week with a 6-3 record in conference and 11-4 overall.

In other high school action, Newark defeated Delcastle 86-69 to complete a two-game sweep of the Cougars. Newark's Abdul Bey scored 26 points, with 18 of them being recorded in the first quarter to lead all scorers. Donnie Wright also had a good night shooting as he tallied 25 points.

On Friday night, Newark defeated Concord 70-60 to increase its record to 8-1 in conference play and 11-4 overall. Bey once again led all scorers with 19 and Wright contributed 12 points and nine rebounds. But the Jackets were paced by junior forward Craig Callahan, who totaled 16 points and 10 rebounds.

St. Mark's and Glasgow had disappointing weeks, with neither team recording a win. Glasgow was upended by William Penn 74-61 on Tuesday and by Brandywine 79-62 on Friday. Bryant Wright played well for the Dragons, scoring 27 points against the Colonials and 22 against the Bulldogs. Mike Mills also played well, contributing 12 points and 11 rebounds against William Penn and scoring 15 points against Brandywine.

The Dragons' record dropped to 1-8 in conference play and 3-10 overall.

St. Mark's lost two games this week by a combined total of three points. The Spartans were upset by Claymont 60-58 in overtime and lost to arch-rival Salesianum 48-47. Both games were decided by free throws at the end of the game. Scott Dyer performed well in both games, scoring 18 points against Claymont and totaling 13 against Salesianum. John Burton also played well, scoring 16 points against Salesianum, while Scott Northey totaled 15 points against Claymont.

The Spartans' record dropped to 9-4 overall.

HOOPS/ from 1b

the opening of the fourth quarter (Burton had a game-high 16 points on the evening) put the Spartans within two, 32-30. About a minute later, four more Burton points tied the game at 34. Both teams then began to exchange baskets.

The game probably would have come down to who sank the last basket, had it not been for a controversy that arose with approximately one minute left in the game. St. Mark's held the lead, 43-42, and Dyer, who had returned to the game and now had four fouls, was in position under the basket when he seemingly was charged. The referee, however, did not call a charge but rather a foul on Dyer, and Dyer was forced to leave the game.

Some commotion ensued and Dyer, then on the bench, was charged with a flagrant technical foul. The technical sent Salesianum's Dennis Booth to the line with 35 seconds remaining. Booth sank all four shots, and the Spartans lost the lead and, effectively, the game.

With the loss, the Spartans dropped to 9-4 overall.

Glasgow wrestlers -- including Chris Szymanski -- were frustrated in a difficult loss to William Penn.

'Jackets outswim 'Penn

The Newark High School girls swimming team defeated William Penn 89-78 in area swimming this week.

The 'Jackets captured the 200-yard medley relay (2:04.3) with the team of Dinalynn Bartoletti, Carrie Tumlin, Susan Otlowski and Christa Vaughn.

Dual winners were Wendy Henderson, who captured the 200-yard freestyle (2:02.6) and the 500-yard freestyle (5:26.21); Annie Marshall, who was victorious in 50-yard freestyle (26.6) and the 100-yard freestyle (58.24); and Otlowski, who captured the 100-yard butterfly (1:04.3) as well as the 200-yard medley relay.

Other winners were Barbie Johnson, who won the 200-yard individual medley (2:16.4) and Val Davis, who captured the diving competition with 99.90 points.

The Glasgow girls team also gained a victory, defeating Dickinson 99-73. Glasgow captured the 200-yard medley relay (2:27.7) with the team of Sherry Roth, Kathy Bessey, Erika Carmine, and Elissa Menashes, as well as winning the 400-yard freestyle relay (4:07) with the team of Eileen Durham, Drissy Ohliger, Laura Lawlor and Pheobe Folke.

Dragon triple winners were Durham and Ohliger. Durham combined the freestyle relay victory with the 200-yard individual medley (2:27.7) and the 500-yard freestyle (5:51.9), while Ohliger won the relay, the 100-yard freestyle (58.9) and the 100-yard breaststroke (1:17.3).

Relay winner Folke also took the 50-yard freestyle (26.6), and Lawlor won the 100-yard butterfly (1:07.8).

In other action, St. Mark's defeated Catholic school rival Padua 93-78 on Jan. 30.

In area boys competition, Christiana proved victorious over Wilmington by a score of 87-49.

The Vikings captured the 200-yard medley relay with a team of Scott Tims, Andrew Marchioni, Tom Dean and Kenny Snyder. Tims also captured the 100-yard backstroke (1:06.8), while Marchioni the 200-yard freestyle and Dean captured the diving competition.

Other winners were Andy Lennon in the 500-yard freestyle and Milton Schoneweg in the 100-yard butterfly.

In other action, Newark defeated William Penn 95-75 and St. Mark's picked up two victories, defeating Dickinson 82-74 and Salesianum 45-38.

Newark wrestlers win

Newark High School defeated Christiana 51-15 in wrestling action Thursday.

The 'Jackets gained pins from Steve Fierro (107-pound weight class), Kurt Howell (121) and Chuck Cowan (140) while Derek Hubbard (134) and Tom Bockius (heavyweight) picked up technical falls.

But the most exciting match belonged to Newark's Gabe Bannowsky (187), who defeated previously unbeaten Arnie Dunn.

"The 187-pound match was the match of the night," said Newark's head coach Jerry Milstead. "Gabe lost to him (Dunn) in our (Yellowjacket) tournament and we thought tonight would be a good test for Gabe. He did an outstanding job and never quit, even though that guy had him on his back a couple of times. He stuck with it and in the end he was just a bit more conditioned than their guy."

Milstead was surprised by the lopsided score against the Vikings. Christiana had wrestled well in the past and preceding the match the neighborhood rivalry was considered a toss-up.

"We expected a different team tonight," said Milstead of Christiana. "But Christiana's had their problems lately, mainly with illness and injuries. Tonight they came with a patched up line-up. They had pulled some guys up from the jayvee team."

Scott Tinney and Dave Simpson recorded pins for the vikings in defeat.

Newark was not so fortunate in their next match Saturday, losing to top-ranked Salesianum 48-14. Howell and Bockius both recorded wins and improved their records to 21-0. Also gaining a victory was Bannowsky.

Christiana, on the other hand, proved victorious earlier in the week, defeating Wilmington 41-28. Ewan Richards (98), Marc Wolfe (105), Dan Simpson (147) and Dunn (187) recorded pins for the Vikings.

St. Mark's continued its winning ways with a victory over Ridley, Pa., 36-24. Brandon Little (170) recorded a pin for the Spartans, while Shawn Thomas (115) and John Morneau (101) recorded technical falls as the Spartans increased their record to 6-1.

Glasgow took a very frustrating loss at the hands of William Penn, 59-4, in a match that was much closer than the score. Jimmy Marvel (147) averted the shutout by winning a major decision.

Registration

Newark National

Newark National Little League has announced registration dates for the 1986 season.

Children born between Aug. 1, 1970 and July 31, 1980 can sign up at the Newark National Field House on Possum Park Road the following dates:

- Saturday, Feb. 8, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
- Wednesday, Feb. 12, 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.
- Saturday, Feb. 15, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Registrants should bring their birth certificate and a parent.

Newark National has five programs: tee ball for children 6-7 years of age; mini-minor, 8; minor league, 8-12; major league, 10-12; and senior league, 13-15.

Newark National draws players from eastern Newark, including Brookhaven, Brookside Park east of Marrows Road, Chapel Hill, Cherokee Woods, Chestnut Hill Estates, Deacon's Walk, Drummond Hill, Fox Chase, Greenbridge, Kimberlin, Harmony Hills, Meeting House Hill, Newkirk Estates, Old Mill Manor, Rutherford, Sycamore Gardens, Todd Estates and Windy Hills.

Wildcat

Softball registration

The Newark Wildcat Girls Softball League, in which all youngsters get to play at least two innings of each game, has announced registration sessions for the 1986 season.

Girls ages 8-18 may register at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church at Kensington and Marrows roads, Brookside Park on the following dates:

- Saturday, Feb. 8, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.
- Thursday, Feb. 13, 7-9 p.m.
- Saturday, Feb. 22, 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Last year, the Wildcat League had 16 teams. Dairy Queen, coached by Curly Wright won the 8-13 year old championship, and State Line, coached by Tom Ferguson, won the 14-18 title.

The league has had representatives in regional tournaments for the past seven years. Last year, the 13-15 year old Trojans competed in regionals at Columbia, Md. and the 16-18 Wildcats competed in regionals at Philadelphia.

In 1984, the Wildcat team made it to the national tournament held in Idaho and finished eighth in the country.

Anyone interested in coaching a Wildcat League team should call 239-6493 or 731-8685.

Volleyball

Easter Seals

The fourth annual Canada Dry-WSTW Volleyball Marathon will be held Feb. 22-23.

Teams will be playing at A.I. du Pont, Christiana, Caesar Rodney, and Elkton, Md. high schools as well as Seaford Middle School. Teams raised $32,000 for services to handicapped children and adults throughout Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland in 1985.

Canada Dry Distributing Co. of New Castle received a corporate award from Easter Seals for their sponsorship of the event in 1984-85. Canada Dry provides the prizes of cases of Canada Dry gingerale, t-shirts and — new this year — windbreakers for teams raising more than $500.

"This event is well supported by the community," said Leo Strine, volleyball coordinator for the New Castle County Association of Life Underwriters. "The Delaware Association of Life Underwriters are the volunteers at all locations in Delaware and WNS-TV began this year as our television sponsor. Canada Dry and WSTW have been sponsors for three and four years respectively."

Teams raise a minimum of $100 to play a two-hour game against three other teams. They win cases of Canada Dry Ginger Ale, t-shirts, and windbreakers depending on the amount of donations they raise. The Glamorous Grandmothers raised more than $800 last year to win the top money raising team prize of 20 tickets to a 76ers game in Philadelphia.

Sign up parties are being held for teams to register in each community.

For information about the event, call 658-6418.

Brookside

Soccer sign ups

The Brookside Soccer League will hold spring soccer registration three dates in February.

Registration will be held noon to 4 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 9, 7-8:30 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 11 and 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22. All registration sessions will be held in the Brookside Community Building, 900 Marrows Rd.

The instructional league is open to all boys and girls born in the years 1972-1979. Everyone plays and there are no cuts.

The registration fee is $18 for residents of Brookside and Fireside, and $20 for non-residents.

For information, call 453-9374 or 366-8944. Mail in registration is available.

Registration

Newark American

Newark American Little League will hold three registration sessions during February.

Players may sign up for the 1986 season from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 15; 6 to 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 20 and 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 22.

Registration will be held at the league's VFW Field clubhouse behind the Newark Municipal Building on Elkton Road.

Players should bring a copy of their birth certificate, a parent and the $20 registration fee.

Youths born between Aug. 1, 1973 and July 31, 1978 are eligible to play.

Newark American Little League includes Newark and these communities: Mechanicsville, Glen Farms, Wedge Hills, McClellandville, Bristol Knoll, Covered Bridge Farms, Bridge Brook, Fairfield, Fairfield Crest, White Chapel, Catalina Gardens, Christine Manor, Pheasant Run, Cherry Hill, Nottingham Green, Oaklands, Westfield, West Park Place, Scottfield 1-4, Hopkins Estates, Binns, Spring Hill, Arbor Park, Sandy Brae, Academy Hill, Rolling Green, Silverbrook, Welsch Tract, Robcott Manor and that portion of Brookside west of Marrows Road.

Workshop

Trout Unlimited

The Delaware State Chapter of Trout Unlimited will hold its annual conservation workshop and banquet on Saturday, March 1 at Clayton Hall on the University of Delaware north campus.

The event is open to the public. Tickets are $18.50 each and can be purchased by sending a check made payable to the Delaware State Chapter of Trout Unlimited, c/o Ed Phillips, 205 Wood Green Court, Claymont, Delaware, 19703.

For more information, call 998-2580 or 731-1287.

Hikes

Trail Club

The Wilmington Trail Club has scheduled a variety of hikes, including one in the Newark area. They are:

• Saturday, Feb. 8 — Alda Prosser (215-388-2226) will lead an easy 12-mile hike on roads and trails in Susquehanna State Park. Participants will meet at 9 a.m. near the Cinema Center in the Newark Shopping Center, and should bring lunch and water.

• Sunday, Feb. 9 — Richard Field (737-1494) will lead a 6.5-mile hike along section 4 of the Mason-Dixon Trail, which follows White Clay Creek and the Christiana River. Participants will meet at 1 p.m. near the Newark Shopping Center.

• Wednesday, Feb. 12 — Jim Corner (239-7734) will lead a 6-mile hike through the Brandywine Valley Association's Myrick Conservation Center. Participants will meet at 9:30 a.m. at the Kennett Friends Meeting on Route 82 in Kennett Square, Pa.

Back care

Newark YWCA

A 90-minute seminar on lower back care is being offered at the YWCA's Newark Center from 7:30-9 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 13.

Luis Impagliazzo of the Delaware Rehabilitation and Sports Medicine Center will show slides, demonstrate exercises, and provide informational literature on the proper care of the lower back area.

Cost is $6.50 for YWCA members and $8.50 for non-members. To make reservations, call 368-9173.

The seminar will benefit anyone who runs, walks, lifts, exercises, plays sports, or even just sits.

Exercise

Prenatal workouts

Prenatal exercise classes will be offered through spring by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation.

Classes will meet 7-8 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays at Downes Elementary School on Casho Mill Road. The fee is $15 for city residents and $17 for non-residents.

Participants must register at the Department office in the Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elkton Rd. For information, call 366-7060.

Parenting

Four courses offered

The University of Delaware is presenting four short "Excellence in Parenting" programs this spring in Wilmington and Newark to assist parents in the vital role they play in nurturing their children's intellectual and emotional development.

"Helping Your Adolescent Succeed: At Home, In School and in the Community" will be the subject of a seminar set from 6-7 p.m., Thursdays, Feb. 6-March 6, at 504 Market Street Mall in Wilmington.

Parents of children 10 years of age and older will discuss normal adolescent behavior and misbehavior, pressures and fears of today's youth, discipline techniques that foster self-control and self-motivation and methods for helping adolescents develop effective study skills. Cost of the seminar is $45.

A seminar for parents of children under seven years of age is scheduled from 7:45-10 p.m., Wednesdays, Feb. 12-May 7, at 2200 Gilpin Ave., Wilmington. Entitled "Parents as Counselors and Teachers: Winning Children," the program is designed to help parents of young children and prospective parents learn skills needed for promoting their child's emotional well-being and success in school.

Topics of discussion will include techniques for positive disciplining, redirecting misbehavior and parent burnout. Family stress management techniques also will be presented. Cost of the seminar is $95.

Additional programs in the "Excellence in Parenting" series include "Gifted Education: Perspectives for Parents," scheduled March 5-26, and "The Parent — The Spark of the Young Reader," set April 8-29, both on the Newark campus. Cost of each of these programs is $45.

Advance registration is required for these programs.

For more information on these programs, contact Gloria Williams in the University's Division of Continuing Education, telephone 451-8836.

Clinic

Freedom From Smoking

A Freedom from Smoking clinic, sponsored by the Delaware Lung Association, will be held Feb. 17-March 24 at the Limestone Medical Center, 1941 Limestone Rd., near Newark.

Six sessions will be held on consecutive Mondays beginning Feb. 17. A seventh session will be held Wednesday, March 5. All will meet 7-9 p.m.

The clinic features discussions, lectures and a relaxation tape.

The registration fee is $30. For information or to register, call the Delaware Lung Association at 655-7258.

Workshop

Teen make-up

A teen make-up workshop for girls 12 and older will be held Tuesday, Feb. 18 by the Newark Department of Parks and Recreation.

The 90-minute workshop will begin at 6:30 p.m. Tuesday in the West Park Place school. The fee is $6 for city residents and $8 for non-residents.

Participants must register at the Department office in the Newark Municipal Building, 220 Elkton Rd. For information, call 366-7060.

Valentine

Stop smoking

The Delaware Lung Association will be sponsoring an anti-smoking program called "Do It For Someone You Love" during the month of February.

The purpose of the program, which is tied to Valentine's Day, is to encourage smokers to kick the habit as a way to show concern for those they love.

In order to help smokers quit, the Lung Association will be offering free quit smoking kits, which include a Valentine's Day card that says, "I did it for you because I love you."

There are also Valentine's Day cards for the non-smoker encouraging a loved one to give up smoking. They read, "I love you. If you love me, please quit," and "Thank you for not smoking."

In addition, the kit includes literature on methods to quit smoking and a list of quit smoking programs.

To receive a free kit, contact the Delaware Lung Association at 655-7258.

Skids

Avoiding accidents

When a car begins to skid on a snow-packed roadway, the driver who doesn't know what to do could cause a serious or even fatal accident.

The key to dealing with skids, though, is to avoid them by exercising caution, concentration and care on winter roads, according to the Delaware Motor Club of the American Automobile Association.

Use smooth and gentle acceleration. Increase following distances and signal turns and lane changes well in advance. To slow or stop on slippery pavement, ease off the accelerator and apply slow, steady pressure on the brakes.

If the wheels lock, release the brakes completely and begin applying light pressure again. Skids, the loss of tire traction, are often caused by over-accelerating, hitting the brakes suddenly or over-steering.

Getting out of a skid is basically the same for drivers of both front- and rear-wheel drive cars. Don't panic and don't hit the brakes. The Club says you should ease off the accelerator until you regain traction and are able to steer the car. Steer in the direction you wish to travel.

Over-acceleration or jamming on the brakes will make the skid much worse and could cause a spinout.

Experienced drivers often avoid skids by shifting into neutral when preparing to stop or turn on a slick surface. Don't try such a maneuver unless you are certain of finding neutral without accidentally shifting to reverse.

Because it is difficult to properly control all vehicles on snow and ice, the Delaware Motor Club recommends the wearing of seat belts, which should be a year-round activity, is especially important during the winter.

There has been a swell of interest in my column concerning the CSQ (Common Sense Quotient) which measures a person's real value to society. Intelligence often is of no practical value and frequently contributes to society's woes. It was, as I stated in my column, intelligent people, who, in the name of progress, gave us, among other things, gridlock and obnoxious telephone solicitations. If civilization does survive, it will be courtesy of those with a high CSQ.

A CSQ test does not ask how to find the volume of a cone. What is not important is its volume; what is important is figuring out how to jam three scoops of mint chocolate chip, watermelon fudge ripple and French vanilla on a cone and then how to get it all inside yourself before the ice cream drips down the sides, getting your fingers all sticky and making a gluey mess of the napkin and cone.

The CSQ test, unlike job preference tests, does not ask you to choose between being a flagpole erector or a starcher in a Chinese laundry. And, once you've chosen, it asks you to disregard your preference and instead opt between being an orchestra conductor or a coffee taster. What is important in a CSQ test is getting a job. An acceptable alternative is to marry money.

The CSQ test is not like college application tests which ask you to decide which of four words is the most appropriate word to complete the meaning of a sentence. The CSQ concerns itself with information, not vast vocabularies. When a person is rude, it is enough to call him that; one needn't show off by calling him a churlish boor.

Nor does the CSQ request the test taker to pick the missing relationship. Bacon is to grease as roses are to a) pollen, b) thorns, c) Gertrude Stein, or d) Japanese beetles. As far as CSQ is concerned bacon and roses don't have, and shouldn't have, a relationship.

What kind of questions does one find on a CSQ test?

1. If your best friend begs you to train with her for the Boston Marathon, what would you do? Offer a trade. You will do that if she will study Chinese with you. If she takes you up, break your leg.

2. If your son says, "Honest Mom, I was just looking at the window and it broke," what would you do? Hug him and call the repairman.

3. If your teenage daughter tells you that everyone is wearing their earrings down to here and their skirts up to there, what would you do? Tell her to talk it over with her father.

4. If your son announces that his biology teacher told him that brussel sprouts are poisonous, what would you do? Nominate the man for Teacher of the Year.

5. If you are going on a hike and it looks like rain, where would you pitch your tent? Smack in the middle of the living room.

6. If your son offers to pick up his room, what would you do? Take him to the emergency room for a psychiatric evaluation.

7. If a young man who claims to be working his way through college tries to sell you magazine subscriptions, what would you do? Agree to a seven year subscription of Psychology Today if he will personally, and at once, haul away your 18-year accumulation of National Geographic which are stored in the basement.

HOMEFRONT

by Dorothy Hall

8. If you have just burned dinner and your husband walks in the door announcing he is starved, what would you do? Put on your sexiest negligee and A Night of Passion perfume.

All these questions have something in common. If you recognized it as practical, ordinary, real-life situations, not abstract, intellectual exercises, then you have a CSQ to be proud of. If, on the other hand, you couldn't find the common thread, you'll probably do something that will force all of us high CSQ people to rescue you.

STEER
WAY

By:

John Mascher

Check pressure when the tires are cold. As tires warm up, pressure rises, so you wouldn't get an accurate reading. Invest in a good tire gauge for convenient at-home checking.

It's smart to change oil - and oil filters - more often than your owner's manual recommends. Old oil becomes diluted by water and raw fuel so that it can't do its job.

Do not be concerned about the disappearance of leaded fuels. All cars made since 1971 do not need lead as a lubricant, and even earlier models won't experience excessive wear without lead under normal driving conditions.

Even if you're NOT traveling far from home, use your seat belt. Three out of 4 accidents happen within 25 miles of home.

How's your mileage? Note odometer reading at fill-up, and the reading at the NEXT fill-up. Divide miles traveled by the number of gallons needed, and you'll find your miles per gallon.
