State OKs road over residents' protests

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Residents in Thornwood and Four Seasons developments believe they have lost the battle but not the war.

Since this summer, they have been fighting to keep the Delaware Department of Transportation (DelDOT) from connecting Four Season Parkway with Old Baltimore Pike and Del. 896—effectively creating a traffic shortcut through their developments.

Currently, Four Seasons Parkway dead ends on both sides of the communities.

State and county officials met with representatives from the two developments on Dec. 9 and announced Four Seasons Parkway would go through, but not until 1996.

Julie Boyd of Thornwood said officials compromised on the road's opening but feels they already had their minds made up that the road would go through.

"We would like to see the road not opened at all," said Boyd. "But it's better than having the road possibly open in six months."

Tom Rahmer of Four Seasons development acknowledges the compromise, but said the community is disappointed with the decision.

In a letter to residents, DelDOT Secretary Anne Canby said the 1996 opening is timed with the completion of other Old Baltimore Pike and Del. 896 construction.

Canby defends the connection, pointing out that bicycle, pedestrian and school bus service between the two developments, Brader Elementary School and a park will be safer, more efficient and more accessible.

Canby said DelDOT would work with the communities to design features on Four Seasons Parkway to slow down traffic and discourage short-cutting.

With the Four Season Parkway decision behind them, residents are now concentrating on their fight to keep a future connector from Del. 72 to Del. 896, called Newtown Road, from being built where Four Seasons Parkway connects to Del. 896.

Newtown Road will eventually be built because Old Baltimore Pike at Cooch's Bridge will not be widened because it is where the only Revolutionary War battle was fought in the state.

"We are trying very hard to get the state to realign Newtown Road farther south near the Pencader Corporate Center where the area is less populated," said Rahmer.

He said plans have been on the county books for 18 years to have

Newark's first park to be renamed in honor of Norma B. Handloff

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Barksdale Park, Newark's first, will have a new name soon.

Newark City Council unanimously voted to rename the park the Norma B. Handloff Park in honor of Newark's former mayor.

Handloff was instrumental in the passage of state legislation for the purchase of open space and also in establishing the Parks and Recreation Department, which is celebrating its 25th anniversary this year. She served as mayor from 1968 to 1972.

According to Bill Hall director of Parks and Recreation, Handloff "handed the (former) Gov. Russell W. Peterson an application" for state funds to purchase Barksdale Park "as soon as the ink was dry" on legislation adopted to give Newark City Council voted 4 to 3 against a special use permit Monday evening that would have allowed Choice Hotels International to build a 61-room Sleep-Inn Hotel on South College Avenue across from the University of Delaware's Field House.

Council members, Irene Zych, Hal Godwin, Tony

Felicia and Thomas Wampler voted against the special use permit citing traffic, safety, aesthetic and environmental concerns.

The Sleep-Inn is the lowest end of the Choice Hotels International chain—the company also builds Comfort and Quality Inns—and opposing council members questioned why the company chose to propose this at an "entry-way" to

A SPECIAL VISIT

Edwin Shavers, 9, got a visit from the Cookie Monster this past week while recovering at Christiana Hospital after an emergency he experienced when visiting his grandparents in Wilmington. He and other children were treated to gifts and good cheer from a host of animated characters, all Delaware State troopers in disguise. The holiday visitation is an annual police event.

Newark man injured in black powder explosion

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

A Newark black powder enthusiast and Civil War reenactor is in stable condition after the gunpowder he was handling suddenly ignited and exploded.

Newark police and the Newark fire marshal's office are investigating the incident which occurred at approximately 3:30 p.m. on Dec. 13 in the man's basement at his house in the 800 block of Rock

Lane.

Glenn D. Apple, a Newark resident for 27 years, is listed in stable condition at Crozer-Chester Burn Treatment Center in Chester, Pa.

Newark Fire Marshal Ken Farrall said Apple was severely burned on his hands, arms, face and upper body.

Farrall said two, one-pound containers of black powder exploded in Apple's face when he was using it to reload shells for black powder guns.

Newark police said Apple, 63, was removing the cap off one of the containers when the explosion occurred.

Jerry Simpson of Newark police said three illegal explosive devices, believed to be used during target practice and as part of Civil War reenactments, were found in Apple's house.

They were subsequently removed by the Delaware State Police bomb squad.

Apple's wife, Janice, said her husband belongs to several Civil War Reenactment groups including the Brandywine Longrifles, which he helped found.

She said her husband is a retired chemist from DuPont and has worked with black powder since he was a boy.

Mrs. Apple said she was home at the time of the explosion and help remove her husband's burning clothes and called paramedics.

She said she believes her husband's eyes were saved because he was wearing prescription safety glasses when the powder exploded. "I honestly believe he would have been blinded if he didn't have them on during the accident."

The Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Fire Arms was also called to investigate the explosion.

Farrall said Apple had a legal amount of black powder in his possession.

Police said no charges will be filed in the incident.

Search reveals stolen KKK items

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

New Castle County police and officers from the Cecil County (Md.) Sheriff's Department recovered stolen property at two area houses believed to belong to former Klu Klux Klan leader Chester Dole.

As part of a joint investigation, on Dec. 9 detectives searched a Newark home located in the 200 block of Oakfield Road in Scottfield and a Bear residence located in the 2300 block of Red Lion Road.

Police found what they believe to be property stolen from an April 22-23 burglary of Dole's home in Cecil County.

Detectives from both departments had developed information that some of the items stolen from Dole's residence may be at the homes which were searched.

Police seized several Ku Klux Klan robes, an altar, Klan flyers, Klan related documents and correspondence believed to be the property of Dole.

No charges have been filed against the occupants of either home.

Police said the man entered the store, showed the store clerk a large butcher knife and demanded the cash register be opened.

The suspect stole an undisclosed amount of cash and fled toward the College Square Shopping Center. The clerk was uninjured.

Police described the suspect as black, between age 17-20, 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing 160 pounds with short black hair.

threw a bottle out the window, which hit a car being driven by a 20-year-old Newark man.

The Newark man followed Abrego to Christiana Mall where the pair began to fight. Abrego pulled out a small caliber handgun and pointed it at the Newark man, and was then punched.

Newark council buys land for future park

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Newark City Council voted unanimously Monday night to buy 12.67 acres of land for a future park site.

The property, located on the north side of Elkton Road directly adjacent to the Maryland State line, will cost $550,000.

Newark Developers were going to build 44 townhomes on 6.45 acres of the land; however, development will be stopped now that the city is buying it.

Roy Lopota the city's planning director said the purchase will protect 2.08 acres of land located along the Christina Creek and the land straddling the West Branch of Christina Creek that continues north to the Stine Haskell DuPont Company.

The Upper Christina Watershed will not be aggravated because the land will be left as "undisturbed" open space.

According to Bill Hall the city parks director the land will be set aside for now, and be used when the need for more ball fields, tennis courts and other similar recreational facilities occurs.

The money will come from a $2.9 million bond issue residents approved on April 10, 1990, for a parkland acquisition fund. The land, known as "Iron Glen" is the fourth purchase and will leave $1.3 million in the parkland fund.

County paves way for yet another Bear development

By JENNIFER RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

New Castle County Council voted Tuesday to rezone a 65-acre parcel of land in Bear to accommodate a new housing development.

The land, located off US 40 near the intersection with Wrangle Hill Road and on the westerly side of Pine Woods Boulevard, was zoned for manufacturing purposes that could have ranged from administrative offices, television and radio towers to research labs.

Now that the land has been rezoned for residential homes, the Robino Group, L.L.C. is planning to build 120 semi-detached homes and 40 townhomes on the site.

funds for parkland purchases.

"She deserves a lot of credit," Hall said. "She was a key individual in making the Department of Parks and Recreation happen."

The 18-acre park was purchased in 1971 from the Singles family for $175,000. Hall said it's probably about 15 1/2 acres now because Barksdale and Casho Mill roads were widened in the 1970's.

Hall said he heard rumors the park was originally named after a Delawarean named Barksdale who served in the Civil War.

The name change was introduced by council member Jane Tripp at a previous council meeting.

"I think it's appropriate since it was the first park and she played such a big part in it," Tripp said.

Handloff left Newark about 15 years ago to live in Doxberry, Mass.

A name-change ceremony with Handloff is in the planning stages.

City turns down Sleep Inn

► HOTEL, from 1A

Newark.

Mike Barnard, a representative from Choice Hotels International, said market studies indicated 78 percent of hotel business generated by the University demanded rooms at $59 or less. A room at the Sleep-Inn would have cost about $45 per night.

"We are by no means building a cheap hotel," Barnard said.

Zych questioned if the community's needs would be best served by a hotel that was similar to the Howard Johnson's and Comfort Inn "down the street." She said a more upscale facility would offer variety.

She was also concerned people staying at the hotel might be in danger if they tried to cross South College Avenue to get to University facilities across the street.

Council members also listened to representatives from the Silverbrook and Arbour Park civic associations. Both organizations were against construction of the hotel.

"Residents are concerned Silverbrook is becoming a cul-de-sac," said Henry Katy, president of the Silverbrook Civic Association. "We want to know what is next...we're concerned about the safety and well being in getting in and out of Silverbrook."

A good hotel is worth the wait

To build or not to build — that is the question. And when it comes to building hotels, some Newark council members don't want just any old dive popping up across from the University of Delaware Field House.

That was made clear during Monday's council meeting, when plans for a Choice International "Sleep Inn" were rejected by a mayor and council 4-3 vote. Mayor Ron Gardner supported the plan, along with council members Tripp and Thomas. Council members Felicia, Godwin, Zych and Wampler gave it a thumbs down.

Had it been approved, the establishment would have had 61 rooms, with an average daily rate of $45.

The "official" reasons for rejection centered around safety and traffic issues, but talk on the street points to a different reason: the joint wasn't fancy enough.

Actually there's nothing wrong with looking for something better. With the Bob Carpenter Center just across the street, an upscale hotel would be a fitting addition to our city's southern entrance.

Panic.
That's the first thing that runs through my mind when my wallet is lost.

That panic turns to relief when, normally just a few moments later, the lost billfold is found.

This time, however, there was no relief. The wallet — with credit cards, blank checks, drivers license, health care cards, baby pictures and whatever else one can fit into one of these compact necessities, was nowhere to be found in the house or the car.

Where was this wallet last seen?
In a shopping cart in a parking lot of one of the area's most frequented department stores was the last place anyone remembered seeing it.

More panic.
It was 11 p.m. and the wallet was lost six hours earlier. The store was long since closed.

Hysterics, self crucifixion.
What should we do?
Cancel everything now? Wait until the morning and call the stores to see if (snicker, snicker) anyone turned in the wallet?

My faith in the public is reasonable so I decide to wait until morning. We might as well get a good night sleep (yeah right).

It is the Christmas season and traffic at all stores is up. It's also a time when people need money more than ever.

As I tried to nod off to sleep I attempted to estimate the real odds of ever seeing the wallet again. With so many people out and about, someone must have found it pretty quickly. Yet, there was no phone call from anyone.

Maybe someone will call in the morning. Maybe someone turned it in to the store's Lost and Found Department.

Maybe someone is half way to Florida on the backs of our credit cards.

More panic.

The shopping cart was actually between two stores. So, when I got out of bed the next morning, I thought I should try to call both stores, even though the shopping cart belonged to just one.

The first woman I talked to expressed her sympathy.

"Oh that's a terrible thing to have happen this time of the year," she said. "But there's not a good chance anyone would really turn it in."

Sure enough, after a look through her items, there was no wallet.

She wished me luck as I hung up.

Frustration.
One more chance.

I placed the next call and was transferred twice. Finally a woman from the Lost and Found Department answered.

"Oh no," was her initial response.

That was followed by an "I'm sorry".

Panic turned to resignation.

Oh well, it was time to call the credit card companies.

I canceled all the plastic and put stop payments on all the checks —

Six Companies Halt for the Night

Six companies of the Motor Transport Corps passed through Newark during the past few days enroute from Camp Holabird, near Baltimore to Camp Mills, N.Y. Companies F and C spent Friday night in Newark; Companies E and B, Saturday night and Companies A and D, Monday night.

Each contingent contained 58 Liberty trucks, three or four touring cars, and an average of 100 soldiers most of whom came from the middle west and brought a consignment of open Packard trucks to Baltimore. These soldiers bring with them their own kitchen and commissary stores but use the dining room at Old College Hall.

This was done so quickly that it was impossible to stop the train until the head had been severed and the body dismembered.

Coroner Spring was notified and the body was turned over to R.T. Jones who removed it to his undertaking parlors to await identification. The body was held until Monday and no claimants appearing interment was made in Presbyterian cemetery at Christiana.

Mayor Heads Monday Session After Recovery from Illness

Mayor Norma B. Handloff, presiding at the Council table last Monday night after an absence of some seven weeks due to illness, convalescence, and last week's trip to the New Orleans Congress of Cities, expressed her appreciation to Deputy Mayor Arthur P. Mayer and other members of Newark City Council for their transaction of municipal business during the period of her disability, and publicly thanked all of her well-wishers.

With but one person remaining from an audience that had numbered as high as four, Monday's meeting was adjourned at the 10:30 p.m. deadline after passage of three ordinances; the preliminary reading of two more; a fifty percent adjustment on Albert Marta's appeal for tax relief with assessment of his Park Place Apartments, and a discussion of raising the city manager's salary.

Stars Are Born At Glasgow High

In Newark, stars aren't found on stools in the local soda shop, but marching round on the front lawn. "For thirty years, I've told the kids that when they're rehearsing they should feel like they're performing," says Jerry Rehberg, band director at Glasgow High School. "This time it paid off."

A late September marching band rehearsal on the field in front of Glasgow High serendipitously coincided with a commute by film director Peter Weir, who is filming his new film, "The Dead Poets Society" starring Robin Williams, in Delaware.

The survey, released Thursday by the New Castle County Board of Realtors and the County Department of Community Development and Housing, shows a total rental vacancy rate of 3.1 percent in the county.

EDUCATIONAL PERSPECTIVES

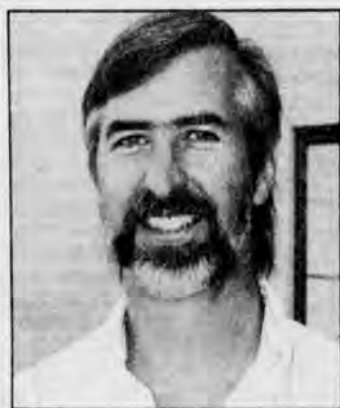

What every teacher needs!

By JACK BARTLEY, PH.D.
NEWARK POST COLUMNIST

At this time of the year, when many people's thoughts turn to giving (and receiving), I thought it might be helpful to suggest a few gifts for your favorite teachers to help them cope with the everyday problems encountered in their profession. These gifts go beyond the typical "apple for the teacher" type of gift. Come to think of it, how did that apple tradition ever get started? Some student in the past probably heard the expression, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away," and decided to extrapolate that concept to the realm of education. But, I digress. Please keep in mind that some of these gifts may be beyond your personal budget, so feel free to pool your assets with other generous people. Here, then, is the list.

1. A border collie. You know, the small black and white dogs that herd sheep. I happen to own one, and I am sure she could be trained to hustle students into their classrooms on time, to round up recalcitrant class cutters, or to sniff out sneaky smokers. They do not cost much, and, in proper male-to-female ratios (as few as one male to one female), could be a self-perpetuating gift! I have tried to get this as an item in the school budget, but the administrators said I was barking up the wrong tree. Really, I wouldn't lie to you.

2. A fax/modem. "The fax, ma'am, just the fax." In this day and (technological) age, teachers need to be on the cutting edge in our communications link with parents. Imagine what a team the teacher and parents could be if there was a daily update waiting for them at home. Homework assignments and test schedules could be wired to homes simultaneously, putting an end to, "We never have any homework!" Report cards would no longer mysteriously blow out the window of the bus or fail to be delivered to students (both common problems, I have been told).

On second thought, I happen to own a fax/modem and have had difficulty in getting it to cooperate in a task any 8-year-old can do, such as signing on to "Prodigal Americans Inthenet Yourserve" network. Maybe it's shy. Actually, I would settle for something as simple as a telephone in my classroom. It would make it much easier to maintain communications with parents than the present situation of twenty-five teachers to a phone permits.

3. The Acme ElectroSeat Wiring Service. This one has not been invented yet, but in my discussions with teachers there seems to be a universal desire for a product that would allow them to "stimulate" problem students with a Skinner-esque form of behavioral reinforcement. Each chair would have an electrode embedded in the seat. This would be connected to a console at the teacher's desk with buttons for each seat in the room. When a student does some creative and endearing act, such as making bodily function sounds with his mouth and arm (I used "his" in this sentence because everyone knows girls do not do this. It is a genetically acquired talent.), the teacher would simply press the button for the offending individual's seat and a clear and concise electronic message would get to the bottom of the situation.

Of course, as with all great inventions, there could be problems. The teacher's accuracy would be instrumental in this product's effectiveness. "Oops! Sorry, Mary Beth! I meant to press the button for seat 2, row 3; not seat 3, row 2!" Principals might find effective ways to utilize this technology at faculty meetings. "Correcting homework, again, Mr. Farfel?" Finally, the general public might be too shocked (yes, shocked) at this proposal. I guess if it did exist, I would have to refuse (yes, re-refuse) this gift.

Obviously, this gift list is (slightly) far-fetched. It does serve to emphasize some of the problems educators face in creating an atmosphere conducive for learning. It would be nice to have orderly hallways and punctual students in our schools. This would minimize stressful situations and maximize time on task for students and faculty. Communications between teachers and parents need to be more frequent and constructive to ensure student success in our classrooms. Last, but certainly not least, teachers need to have the authority to maintain discipline in the classroom. At present, most teachers do not even have the ability to assign detentions to students who misbehave and interfere with other students who want to learn.

Education is one of the most important gifts our children can receive. It is up to us, educators, parents, and members of the community to make sure they have the opportunity to receive it.

Personal profit part of lax pollution position?

Editor:

Our Governor Carper has to be a class hypocrite. He comes out posing so strong against pollution and then breaks his neck to do just the opposite.

Governor Peterson was a man of vision and did something constructive when he got the Coastal Zone Act passed.

Delaware is one of the highest states in cancer illness.

Why isn't our state Legislature speaking out?

Is it a personal profit for some of them?

Hats off to Cooperative Extension staff for helping community

Editor:

As an avid reader of your very reputable newspaper, the "Newark Post", I have read, in your issue for the week beginning November 26, 1993, a very interesting article under the caption of Lifestyle entitled "Celebrating Connections at Thanksgiving", by Ms. Maria Pippidis from the staff of the Cooperative Extension Office at the University of Delaware.

The writer in her article has quite rightly reminded us all of how certainly timely it is for the United Nations to have designated 1994 as the "International Year of the Family". She further stressed that "Delaware Cooperative Extension is committed to IYF-DE". It is this idea of commitment about which I would like to elaborate.

Today, in the State of Delaware, there are so many organizations and agencies that do emphasize their commitment to the development of families and individuals, but when the time does come for action in this respect, one definitely has to query the extent to which they are truthfully and practically committed. True commitment, to my mind, should be more than a slogan; it should, in fact, be a responsibility that requires thorough accountability.

As a resident of the Newark community, I count it a privilege and an honor to say that I can authenticate and endorse the remarks that have been made by Ms. Maria Pippidis. It has been my constant observation that the Delaware Cooperative Extension unit at the University of Delaware, under its perceptive and dynamic Director, Dr. Richard E. Fowler, does engage itself not only in meaningful discourses, but also in meaningful actions. There is a popular adage which says, "One's actions do speak louder than one's words".

It is not without significance, that this year, the residents of diverse communities in the State of Delaware have greatly benefited from a number of programs that have been sponsored and conducted by personnel from the Delaware Cooperative Extension Office at the University of Delaware. There are, however, two programs, in particular, that have been extremely beneficial to many residents and that have made quite a great impact on our communities. Firstly, Wilmington Cluster Against Substance Abuse (WCASA) Youth Councils, headed by Dr. Patricia Tanner Nelson, Delaware Extension Family and Child Development specialist - a woman of profound integrity, quite efficient, very conscientious and enthusiastic. Secondly, Skills that Enhance Life Fully (SELF), a relatively new program that is also making a great impact in many communities; and this program is headed by another woman, of no lesser a reputation, Ms. Maria Pippidis, Home Economist, Delaware Cooperative Extension, University of Delaware, New Castle County Extension Office.

It is my sincere belief that the Delaware Cooperative Extension unit would like to do more for families and individuals in the new year. If these programs can be fully funded for 1994, they will make even a greater impact on our diverse communities, and the theme of IYF-DE, "Doing More in 1994", can be a reality.

I compliment the Director of Delaware Cooperative Extension, Dr. Richard E. Fowler, for his implementation of cultural diversity in the workforce at the University of Delaware. Hats off to you, Doctor! Keep up the good work!

What began as bad news ended up as a display of good will

► VALANIA, from 10A

that we could figure out - that were in the wallet.

Pleasantly there was no record of the cards being used overnight. Slight optimism.

But it would still be a pain having to go through the process of getting a new license and waiting for replacement cards. We just bought a new house and cash isn't all that easy to come by. Christmas presents were definitely going to be charged.

Oh well, people will understand. Maybe we'll even save a little money.

I went through the work day all but forgetting about the wallet. There was nothing more I could do. I actually came out relatively unscathed.

I went home after work and wasn't there five minutes before the phone rang.

The caller identified herself as Caroline. She had found the lost wallet.

Sure enough, it was in the shopping cart. She, herself, didn't notice it until after shopping with the cart and returning to the parking lot.

Exhilaration!

I hurried to the woman's house in downtown Wilmington. I had received directions but didn't know my way around that well. After parking my car and sloshing through the rain a couple of blocks, I finally came to the address I was given. It was the next to last row house on the block with the front light on, just as the woman described.

A friendly lady answered the door and handed me the wallet. Inadequacy.

I couldn't do anything but thank her. I didn't have any money to give and - since all the cards were canceled - no way of getting any.

I felt I should do more but couldn't.

"Happy Holidays," I said as the smiling woman went back to her family.

There is no better time of the year to find out that a random person is honest and willing to help out another person, that she didn't even know.

Everyone said I was lucky. I'd like to think that I'd be unlucky if it turned out differently.

Merry Christmas.

After working hard for 15 years, you deserve a home of your own.

With a low-interest Open Door Mortgage from Bank of Delaware, owning can cost less than renting.

Newarker trumpeter heralds the sounds of the season

By TONJA CASTANEDA
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

Most people use their basements to store Christmas decorations and old furniture, but one Newarker produces record albums there.

Through a business deal, Joe Strusowski of Newark set up a recording studio in his basement for BMK Records, a Wilmington based company.

The plan was to have a cost effective way for a polka band he plays in to make a record.

But Strusowski said it was when he was setting up the studio and experimenting with sounds that an acquaintance at BMK Records heard some of his music and told him he should make his own record. Strusowski spent six weeks of nights and weekends in the studio, dubbed "The Pink Room" because of its color, to make his first album, titled "Bread of Angels."

He said he is amazed with how well it has sold.

"The album was never planned but has been a real success," said Strusowski. He said he does not have exact sales numbers but said more than 1,000 copies have been sold.

"I thought it would sell about 100 copies because that's about how many relatives I have," he laughed.

"Bread of Angels" is a collection of religious Christmas and Easter music—mostly instrumental, with sounds of trumpets, bells and strings. Strusowski does some singing.

He said the album was a challenge because he did all the music and vocals, aided by a synthesized keyboard capable of 12 different sounds.

"I had to make it sound like I was playing in a big hall," he said. "When listening to the tape, you would think the Philadelphia Orchestra is playing."

The album was released in November of 1992 and has just been re-released this month, with some changes.

Christmas songs such as, "Greensleeves" and "God Rest Ye Merry Gentlemen" have been added.

"I thought the album would stop selling after the holiday season, but it sold year round," he said.

Not to be outdone, Strusowski has released his second album, "The Seventh Trumpet"—a collection of religious instrumental music.

Strusowski has been a trumpeter since the age of 12 and studied with Wilmington Music School for about 10 years. He was in the United States Army Band and played in Seoul, Korea in the United Nations Command Band with military groups from throughout the world.

He currently is in charge of state-wide security for Mellon Bank.

Strusowski said he feels good about his music. He said he gets fan mail from all over the country.

"Music was my love and now it's a hobby," he said. "It was a dream come true for me to make a record because it's like leaving a legacy of my life."

Strusowski will be performing during the "First Night" New Year's Eve celebration in downtown Wilmington.

To order the "Bread of Angels" or "The Seventh Trumpet" write to: BMK Records, 914 Linden Street, Wilmington, DE 19805. The recordings, available in cassette tape only, are $8 each.

YOU ASKED

A feature devoted to discovering the answers to curious questions about people and places in Greater Newark.

BY NANCY TURNER
Town Sound

This week's question: Sometimes when I am downtown, I hear music or chimes playing. From where is it coming?

The lovely sounds that you hear are probably coming from Newark United Methodist Church. On a clear day, if the breeze is just right, the electronic carillon music can drift as far as three miles. Stephen Jenney, who among other volunteer commitments is Newark United Methodist Church's carillon director, says that the church's four steeple speakers are aimed to broadcast in every direction. "We play 9 a.m., noon, 3 p.m., and 6 p.m., daily," said Jenney. "It's an automatic system. We can put different tapes on it depending on the season. Now it is time to change to Christmas music." Each recording cycle plays two hymns which last about five minutes.

The University of Delaware has carillons in Memorial Hall which can be heard downtown. According to Walter Bruhl, U.D. media specialist and carillon director, the original system, which used paper roll music, was donated by the class of 1907 in May of 1959. In the 1970s, the paper roll master player was converted to a tape system. What you hear today is an upgraded Maas-Rowe system that was installed in October 1985. At 7:50 a.m., the university carillon plays the school's alma mater. At 12:15 p.m. and 5 p.m., it plays two popular and classical selections, none of which have a duration shorter than one minute or longer than three minutes. It also plays tubular bells at five minutes before the hour from 6:55 a.m. until 9:55 p.m.

The university system reaches far beyond Main Street. It transmits signals to speakers at Pencader, off of New London Road; Euwing, on main campus; and Worrlow, near the university stadium.

Whether you have a question about people or places in Greater Newark or are just plain curious about something, staff writer Nancy Turner might just be able to find an answer for you. Send your question to Nancy, in care of the Newark Post, 153 East Chestnut Hill Road, Newark DE 19713. Be sure to include a daytime telephone number where you can be reached.

Keep safety in mind as holidays approach

The winter holidays are an opportunity to give or receive a number of brightly colored ornamental houseplants. They have been grown under near-scientific conditions with high humidity and light levels, customized fertilizer and pesticide applications, and carefully regulated temperatures. Imagine the shock these plants experience when we bring them into our relatively cool, dry, dim homes. Here are tips on how to maintain the beauty of two common holiday houseplants.

NEWARK OUTLOOK

FROM THE STAFF OF THE COOPERATIVE EXTENSION OFFICE AT UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE

Poinsettia plants are the most familiar holiday houseplant. For years we were content with the colors red and white. Now breeders have made available a range of red, pink, peach, yellow, and marbled combinations of colors. Poinsettias are native to Mexico, where they grow to be six-foot shrubs. Our modern hybrids are more compact, though they can grow quite large if allowed to spend the summer outdoors.

Modern varieties of poinsettias will retain their colorful beauty for many weeks when given proper care. In order to produce the colored bracts which surround the tiny yellow flowers, growers subject the plants to carefully regulated dark periods during the fall, since the hard part has been done for you, you will only need to place the plant in direct or lightly filtered bright light. Avoid situations where the plant will be subject to cold drafts. Thoroughly water the plant only when the top of the soil feels dry.

My favorite blooming houseplants are the jungle cactuses. They are sold blooming for Thanksgiving, Christmas, and Easter. I have a plant, at least 35 years old, that blooms white in mid to late November about every two or three years. New hybrids are likely to bloom reliably at least once a year, and they come in colors ranging from hottest pink to richest apricot.

Keep jungle cactus in direct sun in the winter and water when the top of the soil feels dry. After the bloom period ends, let the plant get drier between waterings, then resume normal watering when active growth begins again in spring. Don't allow direct sun on the plant in spring and summer. Fertilize the plant monthly during warm weather with half-strength flowering houseplant formula.

To encourage rebloom, give jungle cactus complete darkness for 12 hours each night, starting about three months before desired bloom time. Once flowers buds start to form, move the plant back to its sunny window again. I've found that strict dark treatment isn't necessary for plants that summer outdoors. Perhaps the shock of coming back in the house or the naturally shorter daylight as fall approaches makes them set buds.

Whereas the low price, easy availability and challenging culture of poinsettias make them a disposable plant of sorts, jungle cactus will give many years of carefree enjoyment.

Community pitches in to trim the trees

By JENNIFER L. RODGERS
NEWARK POST STAFF WRITER

The Christmas trees on Main Street in Newark will be back again this year thanks to the Christmas spirit of local clubs, organizations and businesses.

Budget cuts prohibited the city from buying the trees this year, but the show went on and the trees were placed along Main Street and at the Newark Shopping Center last Friday.

Carl Luft city manager said the city has had cut to cut back on everything this year.

"Because of our major shortfall, we cut out all of our expenditures," Luft said. "We even cut out business cards."

"We feel bad about it, but next year unless we run into another crisis we'll be able to put all those things back in," Luft said.

John Wisniewski president of the Newark Business Association, said people were "coming out of the woodwork" to volunteer to sponsor a tree or help decorate it.

Wilmington Trust sponsored 26 of the 30 trees.

Merchants along Main Street have transformed their storefronts into cheerful holiday images and Santa is "in the house" at the Newark Shopping Center ready to listen to children's wish lists.

The city has adorned the street light poles along Main Street and Elkton Road with the holiday banners they purchased a few years ago. They have a Christmas tree donated by DelMarva Power in the Municipal Building's lobby and wreaths galore.

The Newark Business Association is providing 500 yards of garland that the Newark Key Club has offered to make bows for and next year's decorations are expected to be even better.

The trees that were planted as part of the city's sidewalk reconstruction project this summer will be decorated with white lights. They are too young to decorate this year.

Pasta possibilities make for authentic Italian favorites

Pasta is not considered a side dish or even an extra course in Italy. It is considered a regular necessity.

While in earlier times it was eaten because it was not as expensive as meat, it is eaten in our time because it is loved and enjoyed — sometimes twice a day, seven days a week.

I expect that you will have fun with these dishes. Do not overcook pasta as it should be both firm and tender at the same time, never soggy. Don't let the pasta swim in sauce but rather allow it to be flavored by the sauce. Then it is Italian.

FRESH PASTA DOUGH (makes enough for 6-8 servings for a pasta course)

Fresh homemade pasta is a great gift to your family, and certain dishes simply cannot be pulled off with dried pasta. This recipe is very easy and it will hold up well as you cook it.

- 1 1/2 cups unbleached white flour (use bread flour, not all-purpose)
- 1 cup semolina flour
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- 3 large eggs
- 1 tablespoon olive oil
- 1 tablespoon water, or more as needed

Place the flours and salt in a large bowl.

Mix well and form a well in the center.

Add the remaining ingredients and pinch all together with your fingers to form a dough.

Knead for a few minutes until the dough is smooth and elastic. Place the dough on the counter and cover with the bowl. Let rest 1/2 hour. Knead again briefly and form into any shape desired.

Remember to allow your pasta to dry on a counter in a cool place for about an hour before cooking.

Most pasta freezes as well. Dry a bit first and then freeze on covered trays or in boxes.

SPAGHETTI VODKA (serves 4-6 as a pasta course or 4 as a main dish)

This sounds like something invented in this country, but my cooking friends in Italy also know of this dish, so I am stumped as to where it originated.

Please understand that you cannot use really fine vodka for this dish as the expensive stuff lacks the flavor that you need. Go for an inexpensive brand.

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1/2 cup dry white wine
- 1 cup whipping cream

- 1/4 cup grated Romano cheese
- 1/4 cup thinly sliced and chopped prosciutto
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 3/4 pound spaghetti
- 1/2 cup vodka

GARNISHES

- Chopped parsley
- Additional freshly ground pepper

Heat a medium-sized frying pan, add the oil and garlic and saute for 30 seconds.

Add the wine and simmer for 2 minutes.

Add the cream and simmer for 2 minutes more.

Add the cheese and prosciutto and heat until smooth.

Salt and pepper to taste.

Cook the pasta until al dente in lightly salted water. Drain well.

Bring the sauce to a simmer again and add the vodka. Simmer for 30 seconds to burn off some of the alcohol.

Toss with the pasta and serve with chopped parsley and additional black pepper.

PASTA CARBONARA WITH SAFFRON (serves 4-6 as a pasta course)

I have tasted, tested and written more Pasta Carbonara recipes than I can remember. It is a classic, basic dish, and this version was offered to us in L'Aquila, in the Abruzzi region.

It's a wonderful little city in the hills, with good food and kind people. They do love their saffron!

- 1/4 pound pancetta (Italian-style bacon, which can be found in Italian markets), thinly sliced
- 6 tablespoons butter
- 2 cloves garlic, crushed
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon wine vinegar
- 1/4 teaspoon saffron
- 3/4 pound tubetti pasta
- 1 egg, beaten
- 1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
- Salt and pepper to taste
- Chopped parsley for garnish.

Chop the sliced pancetta coarsely and saute in butter with garlic until transparent.

Simmer the milk gently in a small saucepan along with the sauteed pancetta and butter, for 4 minutes.

Add the vinegar. This will turn the milk to cheese.

Simmer, stirring, for about 15 minutes or until the sauce cooks smooth. Stir in the saffron.

Boil the tubetti in a large pot of lightly salted water until al dente. Drain well and return to the pot.

Immediately throw in the hot-milk mixture, beaten egg and Parmesan cheese. Toss together quickly and adjust the salt and pepper to taste.

Garnish with chopped parsley.

SPAGHETTINI WITH BLACK TRUFFLE PASTE (serves 4 as a pasta course)

Get ready! This is wonderful but expensive Italian treat. Do it once in a while, maybe at your 75th wedding anniversary.

- 1/2 pound dry spaghetti
- 2 quarts fresh or canned chicken stock
- 1 1-ounce can black truffle paste
- 2 tablespoons butter
- Salt to taste

Cook the spaghetti in the chicken stock until al dente.

Drain, reserving the chicken stock for another use, and toss the pasta with the butter and the black truffle paste.

Nothing else need be done to this dish as the truffle paste needs nothing to support it. The pasta will do it.

Expensive and yummy. This is the sort of thing that you save for a family holiday, and what a holiday it will be!

Trains are part of the fun at Brandywine

THE ARTS

By PHIL TOMAN

This is the season for me to announce my favorite Christmas museum event, "A Brandywine Christmas," held every year at the Brandywine River Museum in nearby Chadds Ford, Pa. It is on now through January 9.

This exhibit has truly become a family holiday tradition in Post Country, as well as in the surrounding states. In 1993, the BRM is featuring a Victorian dollhouse, charming Christmas "critters," children's book illustrations, a glittering exhibit of gold and silver jewelry and, most importantly, the largest model train exhibit in the area. When one speaks of family fun at museums during Christmas, one speaks about the Brandywine River Museum!

The second floor of the beautifully refurbished old mill will come alive with the sights and sounds of the museum's model train display. There is more than 2,000 feet of track on which seven trains may operate at one time. Actually, I haven't measured the track but the museum's Stefanie Taylor did, and that's good enough for me.

This year we can see European high speed trains, American vintage passenger trains, freight and coal trains. Included on the super detailed layout are a dairy farm, village, oil refinery food processing plant, a working waterfall, a working rail yard and much more. It must be seen to be believed. I don't know anyone who has quite that much under his/her Christmas tree.

Every year since the model train exhibit began, I have noticed that the crowds move just a little slower through the second floor gallery than anyplace else in the museum. I'm sure that there is a message there someplace.

The BRM is also showing the remarkable jewelry of goldsmith Donald Pywell interpreting aspects of the works of Andrew Wyeth. "Golden Impressions of Andrew Wyeth" will feature pieces from the collection of Betsy Wyeth in gold, silver, precious and semi-precious stones and other materials. Each piece is displayed in an elaborately decorated shadow box based on the Wyeth painting it interprets. On display for the first time are the ring and earrings made of gold and rubies interpreting the floral motif from Wyeth's 1945 painting, "Oil Lamp."

In another gallery, original illustrations of classic fairy tales by the Brothers Grimm will be shown. This exhibition of illustrations from the Philip Allison-Shelly Collection will include German, American and English illustrations for such favorites as "Puss in Boots," "Cinderella" and "The Musicians of Bremen." Works by artists Howard Pyle, Maud and Miska Peterman and David Hockney will be featured as well as some first edition books illustrated by Arthur Rackham.

A rare and historic Victorian dollhouse, standing about five feet tall, will be shown decorated for Christmas. The dollhouse presents a panorama of holiday domestic life in Victorian America. There are cluttered rooms full of knickknacks made to scale and antique bisque dolls from the turn of the century.

Of course the famous Brandywine "critters" will be back. This is an enchanting collection of critters, angels and stars made from all natural materials by museum volunteers. They will be featured on trees in the huge lobby and in cases throughout the rest of the museum.

New this year is a Musical Christmas tree which will join the popular Storybook, Americana and Wildlife trees which have become favorites over the years. Critter choirs, instruments and musicians will be seen along with such favorites as Goldilocks and the Tree Bears, Betsy Ross, Cinderella, John Wayne, Babar, Benjamin Franklin and Humpty Dumpty.

Everyone of the members of your family should find something to interest them and to be enjoyed at "A Brandywine Christmas." The Tomans have been enjoying the shows for many a Christmas.

This "O Gauge" layout is but one of many operating model railroad layouts now on exhibit at the Brandywine River Museum as part of their annual celebration of "A Brandywine Christmas."

The Brandywine River Museum is located on U. S. Route 1 in Chadds Ford, about a 35 to 40 minute drive from Newark. You may go up Lancaster Pike to Rt. 1, turn right and continue until you cross the Brandywine, then turn right into the museum. If you go up Kennett or Concord pikes, turn left at Rt. 1, continue to, but do not cross, the Brandywine River. Turn left into the museum. There are plenty of signs once you get on Rt. 1. The museum is open everyday but Christmas from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Admission is $5 for adults, $2.50 for senior citizens, students with ID and children. Children under 6 with adults are admitted free.

St. Mark's blasts Concord 73-29

St. Mark's John Gordon scored 16 points in the Spartans 73-29 victory over Concord Tuesday night.

Defense, hot shooting help highly touted Spartans to three wins in first four games

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

MILLTOWN — Despite an early-season loss, the St. Mark's boys basketball team has displayed that it is among the top teams in the state this season.

The Spartans have jumped to a 3-1 start, the latest victory coming Tuesday night with a 73-29 thrashing of Concord. Tuesday's win followed a loss at the hands of a strong Mount Pleasant squad Saturday.

A stifling defense, that led to turnovers and fast-break baskets, was the turning point in the Concord win. The Spartans, with the score tied 6-6 midway through the first quarter, ran off the last nine points of the period.

Outscoring the Raiders 17-7 in the second quarter — largely on fast break baskets — the Spartans took a 32-13 lead to the lockerroom.

Playing a tough man-to-man defense, the Spartans limited Concord to just 6-of-29 shooting in the first two quarters.

"We're a pretty good offensive team but sometimes we're going to have a bad quarter or a bad game," said St. Mark's Coach Lee Sibley. "That's when, hopefully, we'll have a good defense to fall back on. We were able to create some easy baskets for ourselves and got things going."

"That's a big positive from the game."

The second half was even more impressive.

The hot-shooting Spartans hit 12-of-15 shots on their way to a 27-9 advantage during the third quarter to seal the victory.

Guards Alex Karlson and John Gordon led the attack with 18 and 15 points respectively.

"I was happy that we came out and took care of business," Sibley said. "A lot of times when you play a team that you think you're suppose to beat you try and do too much."

Early on it looked like we were trying to score eight points each trip down. Then, our defense got going and we got into rhythm and put them away."

St. Mark's did fall to Mount Pleasant Saturday in the championship game of the Mount Pleasant Holiday Tournament.

"We weren't prepared for their athleticism," said Sibley. "They were just quicker than what we were used to seeing."

"However after a bad first quarter we played them even the rest of the way. We got used to seeing the quick pace and adjusted."

That game is certainly a good tune-up for the competition the Spartans will see down the road.

"Oh it's a great game to have this early," said the coach. "It's good to play the tough teams."

The Spartans will host Brandywine Friday night, Malvern Monday night and Christiana Wednesday night before heading to the Slam Dunk at the Beach Tournament on Dec. 28.

Hodgson wrestlers impress

Silver Eagles put nine in finals, crown four champions

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

CHRISTIANA — Hodgson Vo-Tech started its 1993-94 wrestling season with a milestone team victory.

The Silver Eagles placed nine wrestlers in the final round and crowned four individual champions in winning the Christiana Tournament Saturday at Christiana High.

The four weight class winners were the most for a Hodgson team and of the 13-school field as the Silver Eagles won their first-ever team competition. Milford had three first-place finishers, A.I. du Pont and Christiana two, while McKean and Glasgow each had one champion.

Hodgson totaled 171 points, followed by Milford with 145 1/2. The Vikings finished third (121), A.I. du Pont fourth (120 1/2) and Glasgow was fifth with 97 points.

"We really wrestled strong; we knew we were capable of sending that many (wrestlers to the finals)," said Silver Eagle Coach Jerry Lamey. "The breaks went our way. This is the best we've wrestled as a team since I've been here."

"Even guys that lost their matches wrestled hard."

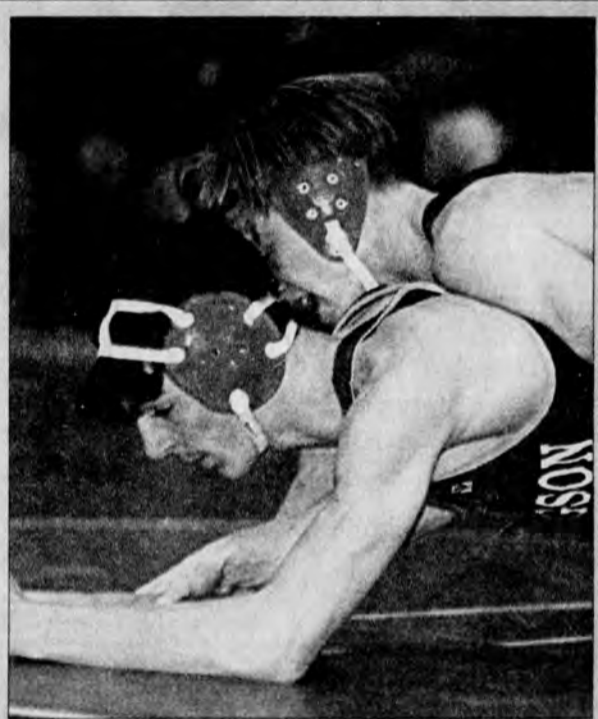

We're very pleased with the effort the team made; we're very happy. Everyone wrestled well. But it's early and the dog days of practice are coming. We'll see how we do later (in the season).

"We lost nine guys from last year," Lamey said. "So we were really wondering how we'd gel as a team. We had a totally different look. I think this was a good gauge. Milford's usually one of the 10 best teams in the state, so we were motivated."

Chris Foster, a transfer from Delcastle and third in the states last year, was voted the tournament's most outstanding wrestler at 112 pounds. He defeated for the first time defending state champion (at 103) Lateace Neal of Christiana, who went undefeated last year at 36-0.

"It was great to see those two guys square off and go at it," Lamey said. "It was fun. I think if people could see matches like this they'd come out more to watch. Chris wrestled his match with the style he wanted. He stayed away from Lateace's strengths and fortunately came out on the winning edge."

At 103 pounds Dave Thomas of Hodgson defeated V.J. Leonard of Glasgow 5-1 and recorded a pair of pins in the opening matches, Nigel Demby (130) outscored Brian Revels (Christiana) 14-8 and at 145 Jeff Boyd Christiana's Jason Zayakoski and Hodgson's Greg Antonelli battle in a 125 pound match.

High School wrestling off to exciting start

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The high school wrestling season is certainly off to a fine start.

St. Mark's got off to a great start with a dominating performance in the North East (Md.) Tournament. The Spartans placed all 13 wrestlers in the top three and won the tournament by an incredible 100 point margin over Sussex Central.

With the Spartans having a large amount of dual meets against out-of-state teams, the impressive margin of victory over the Golden Knights may come in handy when invitations to the state dual-meet tournament are handed out in March.

"It was a very good start for us," said St. Mark's Coach Steve Bastianelli. "It was a good, solid team performance up and down the lineup.

"I think we can be a good team." St. Mark's has experienced wrestlers back in most weight classes and all have improved. The Spartans also have some outstanding young wrestlers that stepped in and did a great job in North East; Newark Post Athlete of the Week Kyle Talley is one of them.

Division II power Hodgson also got off to a great start. The Silver Eagles won the Christiana Mini-Tournament in impressive fashion.

Chris Foster provided the state's biggest upset in the early season by defeating defending state champion Lateace Neal of Christiana. All Neal did was go 36-0 last season. Look for those two to lock up again.

Blue Hens fall to 3-2

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The University of Delaware men's basketball team completed its first five games of the season with mixed results.

The Blue Hens do have a winning record — 3-2 — but only one of the wins (Delaware State) came against Division I competition.

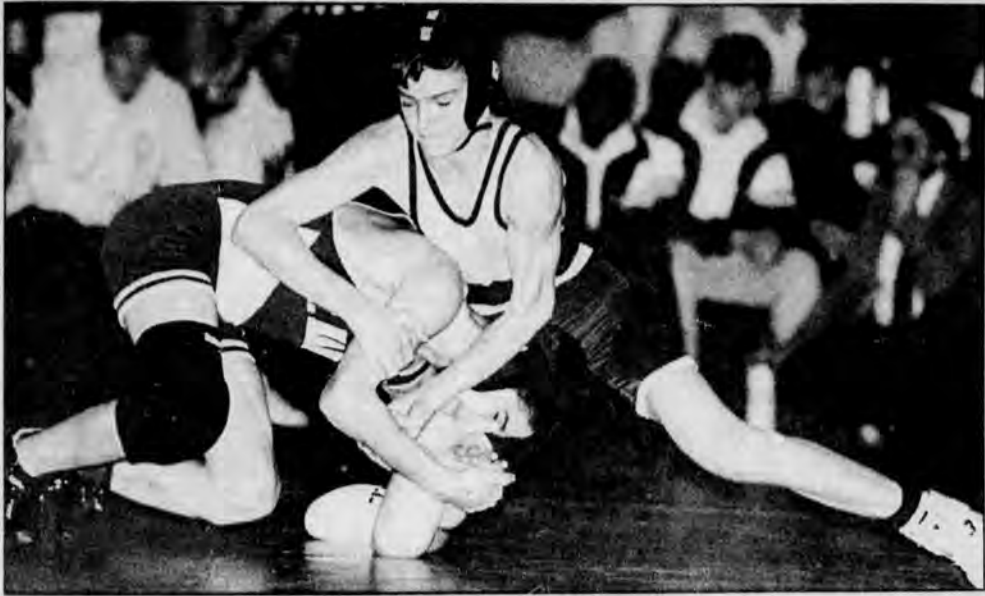

The first five games came to a close last Saturday with a 71-63 loss to Towson State (4-4) before 2,723 at the Carpenter Center.

Leading 31-26 at halftime, the Tigers rode an incredible 81% second-half shooting performance to the win. The five-point intermission lead was doubled in the first 1:27 of the second half.

KYLE TALLEY - ST. MARK'S

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

It couldn't have been a better beginning for St. Mark's freshman wrestler Kyle Talley. Talley, the Spartans' 103 pounder, won the North East (Md.) Tournament to start his season - and his high school career - on a very positive note. The former Holy Angels wrestler won his four bouts by pin, major decision, technical fall and pin. The tech fall came in the semifinals over the tournament's top seed. He also won by fall in the championship. "[Kyle] certainly had a real good tournament," said St. Mark's Coach Steve Bastianelli. "It's not a big surprise though. He's been wrestling for some time; he's a real student of the sport. "I probably would've been more surprised if he didn't do well."

Talley has wrestled for six years winning the C.Y.O. championship, the Eastern Regional championship and a finishing third in the Eastern Nationals last year alone. "I was anxious to see how good I could be [in varsity competition]," said Talley, who also wrestles for the Western YMCA club team. "I was pretty happy with the tournament." The freshman made it clear that he will be a force in the lineup.

Spartans dominate everyone in North East wrestling tourney

By BRADLEY A. HUEBNER
SPECIAL TO THE NEWARK POST

St. Mark's won five individual titles to reclaim prominence in the North East (Md.) Wrestling Tournament after falling to senior-laden Caesar Rodney last season. The canyon-deep Spartans had won the tournament from 1989-91. Last Saturday, St. Mark's placed eight wrestlers in the finals, all 13 in the top three. "I don't know that we've ever had all in the top three (of the North East Tournament)," said St. Mark's Coach Steve Bastianelli. "But I knew we'd do well. This is a great tournament, you get a lot of different looks from different wrestling styles." The perennial power scored 282 points, almost 100 more than second-place Sussex Central (182.5). The Golden Knights, a team that will be battling along with the Spartans for a spot in the Delaware Dual-Meet State Tournament in March, placed five wrestlers in the finals, earning three titles. Kyle Talley started things for St. Mark's with a title at 103. The freshman defeated top seed Jeff Brochu of Havre de Grace by technical fall (15-0) to reach the final. There he pinned Perryville's Seth Garvin in 3:40. Many of the Spartans' victories were in dominating fashion. R.J. George, Mark Bosick and Stan Spoor won titles from 135-150. George and Spoor swept through their brackets with pins and tech falls. Rick Houck capped the competition with a 6-2 win at heavyweight for St. Mark's. "We have a lot of returning guys and a lot of young guys with talent," said George. "And we're utilizing different kinds of tilts, wrest-ing on our feet a lot more. Coach goes to camps all summer and comes back with new moves every year." Said Bastianelli, "They're just little things, but at this level, the little things can be what makes the difference." Spartan wrestlers that placed second were Jon Jacob at 112 pounds; Brad Simerdinger at 130 and Jamie Ludica at 171. Joe Amon (112), Randy Nowell (125), Corey Frederick (152), Phil Manolakas at 160 and Frank Broomall at 189 all placed third. Newark finished fourth in the tourney with 109 points. Jerry Harrison was the Yellowjackets only champ winning a 9-3 decision over Rising Sun's Bruce Knisely in the 189 pound final. Both Newark and St. Mark's will wrestle in this weekend's Yellowjacket Invitational at Newark High.

decided Jyson Bartley of Delcastle 5-0. "Nigel dropped down a weight class and it's starting to pay off," Lamey said. "Boyd had a solid tournament in a tough weight class; he's one of those kids who never quits." Jason Zayakowski (125) of Christiana defeated 12-3 Lynn Powers from Milford 12-3 and despite giving away at least 45 pounds, Viking heavyweight Tim Walz pinned Wilmington's Dwayne Thomas in 1:32.

"Lots of stuff happened in that minute-and-a-half," said Christiana Coach Dan Chopko, referring to Walz' fall. "He wasn't too confident coming in, but this win gave him a boost. Now he realizes he has the potential. And Zayakowski put in a real solid effort. He led the teams in takedowns and really dominated his class." "Next week (the Newark Tournament) is definitely a tougher tournament," Chopko said. "We'll have to practice a lot harder. We need a little more top and bottom work." Glasgow's lone champion Craig Vettori recorded an 18-12 decision over Delcastle's James Collins at 119. At 135 Kerry Cohen from Milford pinned Jason Mills (Christiana) in 3:28 after running up a 7-0 lead, and the Bucs' Trabein Banks (140) pinned Jeff Jones of Hodgson in the first period. Tom Rhoades of McKean beat Carl Hutson (Lake Forest) 12-3, and at 160 Max Darzymolski (Milford) defeated Aaron Wilson (A.I.) 13-0. At 171 George Torres (A.I.) edged 7-4 Jose Polk of Lake Forest 7-4 and at 189 Omar Colon won by forfeit.

with many of the state's best convening at Newark High for the Yellowjacket Invitational. This is always one of the best tournaments of the preseason with St. Mark's, Glasgow, Hodgson, Christiana and Hodgson will all be participating. That makes a Neal-Foster matchup a real possibility. That's worth going to see in itself.

Gerhart shines at Susquehanna

Former Newark High All-Stater Mike Gerhart earned honors this past football season at Susquehanna University. Gerhart, also a first-team All-Conference centerfielder for the Crusaders' baseball team, earned second-team All-Commonwealth All-Star honors for his play this past fall. The five-foot, nine-inch, 174 pounder led the team and the conference in punt returns; tied for the team lead in pass breakups with eight and collected two interceptions. The former Yellowjacket was fifth on the team in tackles with 41 (33 solo) and caused a team-high three fumbles. "Mike was a real spark plug for us," said Susquehanna Coach Steve Briggs. "He was a very heady weapon for us whenever he touched the football." Gerhart is a communications and theatre arts major at the university located in Selingsgrove, Pa.

St. Mark's Iudica named state's top soccer player

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The Newark area was well represented on the Delaware High School Soccer Coaches Association All-State teams.

St. Mark's, Newark, Glasgow and Christiana all had players honored on the first, second and third teams.

The Spartans' Jamie Iudica was the highest honored individual of all. Iudica, a senior for the state finalist, garnered Player of the Year honors for his outstanding play as St. Mark's goalkeeper.

Iudica had an incredible season giving up just one goal to an in-state team and just seven overall (two penalty kicks). He recorded nine shutouts and was a big reason the Spartans went through the regular season undefeated.

The award also earns Iudica recognition as an All-American.

Newark's Dwayne Pritchett and Brendan Carew; St. Mark's Geoff Wikel and Eric Hohman; Glasgow's Eric Buckingham and Christiana's Leonard Mazur were also named to the first team.

Pritchett, a senior midfielder, was a dominating player in the mid-field in the air and on the ground. He was a second-team All-State selection last season.

Carew played stopper and mid-field for Hugh Mitchell's team. He was a stabilizing force for the younger players around him.

Wikel, a senior forward, scored 11 goals and assisted on six others despite being subjected to double and triple teaming throughout the season. Several of his goals came on well-placed, long distance shots.

Another Spartan in Hohman was also on the first team. The senior halfback was considered St. Mark's most improved player. The co-captain led the Spartans with 11 assists while also scoring eight goals.

Buckingham, a junior midfielder, was the Dragons' most consistent player. He scored 15 goals and added 11 assists.

Mazur, a senior midfielder, had added responsibility of not only playing offense but of being a key defensive force for the Vikings. He was a three-year starter and served as the Vikings' co-captain.

Local players that earned second-team recognition included Glasgow's Long Le; Newark's Drew Fioravanti and Christiana's Ian Oldham, Shawn Lavalley and Leon Hayward.

Third team players from the area included Glasgow's Matt Lantagne; St. Mark's Stephan Pill and Vince Grady and Newark's Dave Benin and Tim Conley.

Glasgow's Burnett named top defensive griddler

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

Several local players were named to the Delaware Sportswriters and Broadcasters Association's All-State Football teams.

Glasgow High's Rodney Burnett was the biggest winner locally, not only taking home first-team line-backer honors but also winning the Defensive Player of the Year. Burnett, a senior, recorded 104 solo tackles this past fall including 18 for negative yardage and six sacks. The 6-foot, 2-inch 170 pounder, Glasgow's student-body President, was consistently around the ball in every game.

Also named to the first team were Glasgow's Corey Curtis and Antoine Haman; Christiana's P.J. Bufano and Marvin Adams and Newark's Jody Russell.

Curtis, a senior defensive back, was the only repeat winner of first-team honors. He had two interceptions, forced three fumbles and recovered three despite having opposing teams throwing away from him. He is also a first-team All-State performer in basketball.

Haman, a 6-4, 175 pound senior split end, was one of the state's top offensive threats. He caught 52 passes for 894 yards and 10 touchdowns during the season. The University of Nebraska has already offered the Dragon a scholarship.

Bufano, a 6-2, 195 pound senior defensive end, was the sack leader the state semifinalist Vikings. He constantly was around the ball and coming up with big plays.

Adams, a junior defensive back, had 10 interceptions during the season. The 6-0, 165 pounder was also a strong hitting defensive player. He started the year as a quarter-back, played wide receiver and was a big threat returning kicks.

Russell, a 6-6, 189 pound end, caught 40 passes for over 700 yards for the 6-4 Yellowjackets. The senior, with one of the best pairs of hands in the state, also recorded six touchdowns.

Glasgow's Tyjuan Lewis (junior quarterback) and Shannon Riley (senior defensive back); Newark's Jeff Ziemer (senior punter) and Christiana's Dan Rubini (senior defensive line) earned second team recognition.

Christiana's Marvel Watts (senior fullback) and Rob Long (senior offensive guard); St. Mark's Tim Hamberger (junior split end); Newark's Ben Krapf (senior offensive guard), Steve Parent (junior defensive lineman) and Steve Gwinn (senior place kicker) and Glasgow's Ivan Thomas (senior defensive lineman) all were Honorable Mention All-State selections.

Salesianum quarterback Dan McGee was named Offensive Player of the Year while the Sals' Mike Iglesias — a first team center and second-team defensive end — was named Lineman of the Year.

Tie in last week's football contest

Andrea Epstein of Newark and Joann Brigani of New Castle are this week's winner of the Newark Post Football Contest.

Caravel girls fall in hoop opener

By MARTY VALANIA
NEWARK POST SPORTS EDITOR

The Caravel Academy girls' basketball team opened its season with a 40-34 loss to Christiana High last Thursday.

The Vikings broke open a tight game in the third quarter and stretched the lead to as big as 11 points midway through the fourth quarter.

Caravel's late run wasn't enough as the Vikings held on for their second straight victory of the young season.

"I'm not disappointed," said Caravel Coach Bill McCartan. "We're only going to get better."

Hawks hockey teams in weekend action

Hawks squirts fall

The Hawks squirts lost to Easton 14-1 at the Talbot County Community Center in Easton Saturday.

The Hawks lone goal was scored by J.P. Dawson. Jon Serwinski made 29 saves.

The Hawks' bantam team picked up two more wins in Capital Beltway Hockey League action last weekend.

The Hawks beat the Baltimore Stars 14-0 in a game played Saturday in Baltimore. Gerran Smith, Eric Chance, Owen Carroll and Keith Collins each had two goals.

Patrick McKay had a light day in goal facing only six shots.

The Hawks also defeated the Bowie Bruins 8-2 Sunday at the Bowie Ice Arena.

SPARE THOUGHTS

A bowling column contributed by Blue Hen Lanes

One of the most well-known and well-liked bowlers on Friday nights at Blue Hen Lanes is Brenda Shorter.

Bowling in the Guys and Gals League last week, Brenda achieved one of her long-time goals — a 700 series. Combining scores of 230, 215 and 264, the 180 average bowler had a career high 709 series.

"I wasn't really nervous, but I did realize when I got up in the last frame that I needed a double to make 700," said Shorter, whose series high previously had been a 674. "After I got two strikes, my next ball was a washout, but I made it."

Brenda is a serious bowler having been in the Guys and Gals League since 1976 and having participated in National Tournaments in Niagara and Connecticut. She keeps her skills sharp, also bowling in the Sunday Night Mixed League at Blue Hen and the Saturday Mixers at Brunswick Doverama Lanes, and continues to serve as a league officer for the Guys and Gals.

This mother and grandmother of two, who is a Programs Analyst for Unisys Corp. is as well known for her fun-loving personality as for her bowling ability. Every week Shorter arrives in brightly colored wigs and zany clothing.

"It all started on Halloween several years ago," she said. "I came in costume that night and bowled so well, I just decided to dress like this every week."

Long time teammates, Debbie Sharp, John Blankenhorn and Dan Daniels were all particularly pleased with Shorter's Friday efforts as she led their High Rollers team to four wins.

Congratulations to this fine bowler on her award winning performance.

Newark boys, St. Mark's girls win big swim meets

By JOHN HOLOWKA
NEWARK POST SPORTS WRITER

GLASGOW — There's never a doubt somebody's going to make a big splash when Newark High and St. Mark's get together. This year was no exception.

The Yellowjacket boys defeated St. Mark's 100-88, while the Spartans girls beat Newark 99-87 Tuesday night in a nonconference dual-meet at Glasgow High.

"We're very proud of the guys," said Newark Coach Rob Maegerle, after the Yellowjackets evened their season at 1-1. "Basically it was the great depth of our team. From top to bottom the kids just swam incredibly. Everybody scored in every individual swimming event they swam. I think that was the biggest key."

"Our top guys are really good but I think it was those second and thirds for us that got it every time. All the kids dug down hard and deep and really swam tough."

Newark's Chris Snyder won the 200-yard freestyle (1:51.75) and the 100 freestyle (50.63) and the 'Jackets finished 1-3-4 in the 100 freestyle, which put Newark into the lead 57-53. Newark also won the 200 and 400 freestyle relays and Dave Benin won the 50 freestyle (23.55).

"I think they were really key races, especially the 200 free relay," Maegerle said. "We knew whoever won that had the upper hand; that was a big key race. We've got a great young team and we're really excited about it. I just see them improving leaps and bounds every week."

For St. Mark's, Andrew Anderson won the 1-meter diving (144.377), Brian McGillen the 200 IM (2:11.41) and 100 backstroke (58.06), Glenn Butterfoss the 100 butterfly (59.83), Mike Watkins the 500 freestyle (5:22.49), Brian Keane the 100 breaststroke (1:08.22) and the Spartans won the 200 medley relay (1:48.18).

St. Mark's won nine events and handed the Yellowjacket girls only their second dual-meet loss in three years.

"The last three years it's been very, very close," said St. Mark's Coach Mike Ramone, who watched his team go 3-0. "As the dual-meet season goes they seem to have a lot of depth and some studs as well as we do, so it's fun. You put them together and it's a very exciting dual-meet."

"The biggest thing for us is we got out to a quick start," Ramone said. "We did very well in a couple of early events we didn't expect to. Normally we don't do as well in the beginning and then come on in the end. But this time we jumped out to early start and it hurt (Newark)."

The Spartans won the first four events, starting with the 200 medley relay (2:00.13). Leslie King won the 200 freestyle (2:03.24), Carolyn Fitchack the 200 IM (2:16.50) and Megan Ifframa the 50 freestyle (25.22) to give St. Mark's a 36-26 lead going into the diving competition.

"I don't know if there really is a turning point," said Newark Coach Dave Arles. "St. Mark's came out and swam a little tough in the beginning; they were just swimming really fast."

"I think (the loss) will give the girls something to think about and remember. The team has been working hard and some are still a little bit tired. We'll keep working hard and we'll be there in the states."

Newark's Courtney Everett won the 100 butterfly (1:09.44), Jessica Roybal the 100 freestyle (59.94), and the Yellowjackets took the 400 freestyle relay with a time of 3:52.53.

St. Mark's won the 200 freestyle relay (1:46.10), Lauren Morelli the 100 backstroke (1:01.62) and Alison Baldwin the 100 breaststroke (1:13.31) and Fitchack the 500 freestyle (5:29.41). Cory Burawski outscored all divers with 161.025 points.

goals with Jess Turner's two leading the way.

Chris Stringer, Brian Einolf, Anthony Palese, Ryan Davis, Frank Maier and Collins had one each. Goalie Ross Pugh had 18 saves.

Midget Minors win big

The Hawks outpaced Unionville

(Pa.) High 7-1 Saturday.

Shawn Oberly had four points with two goals and two assists. Joe Hassell scored twice while Matt Einolf, Matt DeMedio and Jeff Nau completed the scoring.

Mark Giobbe had three points on three assists while Kyle Kranz had two assists.

Goalies Doug Hemmer and Scott Williams split goaltending duties and each saved 15 shots.

HENS, from 1B

game trying to cut into that cushion.

"Towson is a very talented team," said Blue Hen junior guard Brian Pearl, who finished the game with 12 points. "I don't think we played all that bad in the second half. Maybe, if we play for five more minutes we win the ballgame."

"We just didn't match up well with (Towson St.) in transition. They beat us up and down the floor and got some easy baskets."

Towson State stretched the lead to as many as 14 points (61-47 with 7:56 left in the game) but the Hens cut the lead back to just 69-63 with 1:09 to play. Towson, however, was able to run the clock out.

The Hens did find consolation in that they played a good team (Towson knocked off St. John's on the road to open the season) close despite not playing their best.

"We know we can play better than this," Pearl said. "We played against a good team and only lost by seven. We just didn't play smart the whole game. We'll have to make better decisions."

Besides defeating intrastate rival Delaware State, the Hens have beaten Division III foes Washington College and Widener. They have also lost to Monmouth as well as the Tigers.

"Towson was probably our first real test," said sophomore guard Rob Garner. "They're an NCAA Tournament type team."

"I still think we're a good club too. We just have to continue to work hard."

"We have to start making better decisions, rebounding better and playing better basketball."

Delaware took some time off for final exams before playing in next week's (Dec. 21-22) University of New Orleans Tournament at New Orleans' Lakefront Arena. The Hens will open up with Troy State in the opening game while the host Privateers, which lost by just two points (82-80) to Purdue in overtime earlier this month, will take on Loyola (La.) in the other game.

"We've got a long way to go," said Delaware Coach Steve Steinwedel when asked to assess his team's first five games. "I definitely feel we'll get better. We will improve."
