Phi Kappa Tau Returns to Campus Pledges to be Initiated at Muhlenberg

Jack Reynolds is Elected To Head 30 New Pledges

After an absence of several years Phi Kappa Tau is returning to the U. of D. campus. The Delaware chapter, Alpha Gamma, was founded in 1924 and maintained a position of respect for many years. With the end of World War II and the return of many veterans and with the help of the alumni it was possible to reactivate the chapter. P. K. T. has hopes of obtaining a house by next fall.

Phi Kappa Tau now boast a pledge class of about 30, who are the nucleus of the Alpha Gamma chapter. The president of the pledge class is Jack Reynolds; vice-president, Ralph Barwick; treasurer, Kover Hudson; and secretary, Bill Cook. Late in April the entire pledge class will make a week-end trip to Muhlenberg College to be initiated at the Phi Kappa Tau chapter house located at Muhlenberg. At the same time the final reactivation of the Delaware chapter will take place.

Phi Kappa Tau is a senior member of the National Interfraternity Conference and has been very active in colleges throughout the United States. P. K. T. at present has 52 chapters. Other chapters of Phi Kappa Tau in this area are located at Franklin and Marshall, Pennsylvania State College, University of Pennsylvania, Lafayette, and Muhlenberg College.

Scholarship Committee Sponsors Tour, April 19

Twenty-eight applicants for the four scholarships offered annually by the Alumnae Association of the University of Delaware will spend Saturday, April 19 on the Newark campus, where they will be interviewed by the members of the Scholarship Committee, have a guided tour of the campus, and be guests of the University at a luncheon in Kent Hall.

Dr. W. O. Sypherd To Retire June 30

Ex-Pres. Effectuated Union Of Del. College and WCD

It has been announced that on June 30 Delaware's authority on English Literature, Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, will retire. He will have reached the age of 70 years.

Among Dr. Sypherd's great contributions to the University was his work as acting President during the strenuous war years. He took the office at a difficult time following the sudden death of Dr. Walter Hulihen.

Dr. Sypherd was responsible for the reorganization of the administrative structure of the University when the two colleges were connected into one co-educational institution in 1944.

Having made a life-long study of Biblical literature, Dr. Sypherd is one of the foremost authorities on this subject. His main interest is the life of the obscure Biblical character, Jephtha's daughter.

Precise in his manner of speech, Dr. Sypherd, as befits a professor of English, is naturally meticulous about the speech of others. He has few books that are not almost rewritten with his pencilled notations and corrections.

His four favorite authors are Shakespeare, Chaucer, Browning, and Milton. His favorite poem is Browning's "Ring and the Book."

At present he is endeavoring earnestly to fill his position as General Chairman of the 1947 Development Fund Drive for the construction of a Student Union Building.

12 New Theta Chi's Initiated Monday

Celebration at DP Hotel Follows Official Program

The Alpha XI Chapter of the Theta Chi Fraternity held their initiation exercises on Monday night in the Quality Hill Chapter house.

Twelve new members were accepted by the Thetas, and including Stan Bliski, Bob Inskeep, Horace Prall, Bob Hunter, Bill Beiser, Walt Ellis, Oscar Roberts, Carl Stalloni, Dick Kiddoo, Charles O'Brien, Fred Minner and Bill Owen.

The ceremonies climaxed a twelve week pledge training period and Saturday night's informal initiation. Jack Povey, Marshal of Theta Chi, was in charge of the pledge period.

Following the initiation exercises, the entire fraternity converged upon the Deer Park Hotel where unpreceded celebrations were held. Mrs. McKelvy, unofficial "mother" of Alpha XI, was an integral part of the fete given the new members. An impromptu floor show was staged by Carl Stalloni and Bob Campbell (featuring Sybil Levenson and Carl Lasker), which did much to raise the spirits of the gathering.

Delaware Play Festival to Be Presented In Mitchell Hall Friday and Saturday

Augustan Society Meets at Hilarium

Trends of Contemporary Drama Is Topic Discussed

A meeting of the Augustan Society was held on Thursday evening, March 27, in the Hilarium of Warner Hall. The general topic of discussion was a timely one; Trends of Contemporary Drama. Layton Mabrey and Jack Walls were the student speakers and Mr. Fitzpatrick of the Dramatics Department acted as moderator.

Mr. Mabrey, a student authority on all phases of the theater expressed the opinion that contemporary drama is not on the downgrade, but is maintaining a standard of quality on the Broadway stage as well as in summer stock and the legitimate theater of other cities. Although Mr. Walls did not disagree entirely, he was of the opinion that the appearance of revivals throughout the country and especially on Broadway is an indication that contemporary drama is not up to its best standards.

There was no hesitancy on the part of the members of the group to express their opinions on these matters and an interesting discussion took place. The discussion wandered to such problems as Broadway's apparent strangle hold on drama, the future of summer stock and the legitimate stage in other cities, and the comparison of Broadway playwrights to authors of the classics. The consensus of opinion, however, was that contemporary drama is not in a state of decline, but rather that it is in a

Robert Frost's "A Masque of Reason" was given its world premiere recently by the New Players Group of Wilmington, which plans to specialize in poetic drama and is repeating the Frost production this week-end.

Students Wake Up!

At last it seems as if the University of Delaware is coming to life, and the change is a very welcome one. Last year the students merely went to classes: They listened to their instructors, took down notes on what they said, and then gave back the same ideas on examination papers. There was no real opportunity for students to voice their own thoughts. If they disagreed with a member of the faculty, it was considered foolhardy to risk flunking a course by making an issue out of the disagreement during class, and other times there was no place where students and teachers could get together for the purpose of thrashing out their problems informally. Because of this situation, many of the advantages of a university, including the exchange of ideas between those who know and those who are learning but who still have worthwhile thoughts of their own, were lost in an atmosphere of "do your daily work, agree with your instructor, and hope to heaven that you'll pass your courses."

Several editorials appeared in the REVIEW last year discussing this deplorable state of affairs. Articles were written with the one purpose of promoting greater understanding between faculty and students, but there seemed to be no forthcoming results. Now, at last, action has been taken by the faculty to meet informally with the students so that both may speak out their ideas and perhaps learn something worthwhile from each other on topics which might never have been brought up in a classroom.

Such an informal gathering was the "Smoke Talk" held in the Lounge of Old College a few weeks ago. Two student speakers presented their points of view on a problem of international significance. The floor was then thrown open for an informal discussion. As both faculty members and students participated equally, the meeting was not only a pleasant way of spending an evening, but was very stimulating intellectually.

The English Department has also once again started their readings in English Literature, given each week by some member of the faculty in the Browsing Room of the Library. These are the things that make university life worthwhile; these are things that will be remembered when the dry facts learned in textbooks have long been forgotten.

Degrees of Distinction

The Committee on Student Honors wishes to draw to the attention of the Student body the Degree with Distinction phase of the University program. This work is designed to enable the most capable students to carry out a program of research and writing in some phase of their major field. The faculty feels that the student will benefit materially by being introduced to work of this nature during the Senior undergraduate year.

To be eligible to become a candidate for a degree with distinction in a special field, a student must at the end of his Junior year have a scholastic index of 3.00 or better, with a index of 3.50 or better in his chosen field.

The application of a student to be considered a candidate for a degree with distinction in a special field, must be submitted by the Department concerned to the Committee by May 15 of the candidate's Junior year, together with the department's recommendation and the program of special work formulated by the department for that candidate. The student will be accepted as a candidate upon approval of the Committee and the Faculty of the application and the program after the student's grades for the work of the second semester of the Junior year have become available.

If approved, the student concerned is exempt for at least one three-hour course during the entire Senior Year, in order that he may pursue the special work called for in his program. This special work will be individual and informal, and will be done under the direction of a designated member of the department concerned.

In order to qualify for the degree with distinction in a special field, the candidate must complete his work to the satisfaction of the department concerned and the Committee, and must pass with distinction a comprehensive examination to be given him by the department in May of his Senior year.

A student whose work satisfies the conditions stated above should discuss the problem with his or her advisor and the head of the department in which the student is doing major work.

What Turns That Young Mans Fancy?

A twilight stroll down to the Women's College in the Spring, will serve to educate a person on the natural phenomena of a young man's fancy turning. On a perfectly still night the trees can be seen slowly waving back and forth with no apparent reason for doing so. In this paper I will attempt to enlighten the reader by my observations on these and other phenomena.

During the long winter months the young man is compelled to lead a very inhibited life. The weather is cold, the trees are bare and the old feeling isn't there. Days are very short and night falls rapidly casting a spell of gloom over the countryside. Due to the lack of fresh air and warm sunshine the human system becomes sluggish and the helpless young man must spend his time awaiting spring and salvation. There is hardly time to think of love. Whatever love there may be is very artificial and is induced through mechanical means such as soft lights, the Devil's Brew, and Brute Strength. There can hardly be any satisfaction with this type of romance.

The weeks crawl on and spring is approaching; the days are growing longer. The sun grows warm and the first Robin of Spring warbles his refreshing song. Crickets chirp in the meadow while Mother Nature, exerting all her strength, pushes through the hard soil the earliest flower. The young man sees all this and is aware of the change that is taking place. Meanwhile a change is taking place in this young man although his mind is not conscious of it. He walks around with a new light in his eyes, his step is quicker and more jaunty, the color returns to his face. He thinks to himself what a beautiful day it is for a walk and how nice it would be to walk with some pretty, demure little lady. He leaps to the telephone and calls her up. She agrees and he meets her in an hour. It is early afternoon, soft breezes are nudging lazy clouds across the sky while the fauna leap and play to the melody of the golden rays of the sun tapping the velvet like petals of the flora. He takes her small white hand into his ever so gently and looks into her eyes. She says, "I think we had better move on." They walk further and eventide rolls upon them. The flaming sun melts into the earth as every cloud blushes.

"Shall we sit down?" asks he. "Fine!" she answers, and they settle down upon a blanket of baby grass. Idle chatter follows, meaningless words flow between them. Easy glances are floating from eye to eye. The boy tries fighting the voice within him. He thinks to himself, "would it be wrong? Would she be angry? So what?" With that thought racing around in his mind he takes her in his arms, holds her tightly and kisses her. You see in spring no artificial stimulus is needed. His fancy has turned.

As for the waving trees it is quite as you least expected. The trees are flirting. Yes I said flirting; they have also been effected by the spring.

If this has given you people any ideas, dismiss them, for this article was not written with that purpose in mind. (Faculty Please Note). This is purely to inform.

Lt. Gen. Reybold on Nat'l. Security

Thursday, April 10, the S.G.A. and the Military Department of the University sponsored a University Hour program in connection with Army Week. Lt. Gen. Reybold, former Chief of Army Engineers, graduate of the University of Delaware, Dr. of Engineering, Member of the Board of Trustees, and head of the proposed Delaware Bridge Project, was the principle speaker.

His subject was national security and true effective methods needed for its achievement. Lt. General Reybold stated that national security included security against all disturbing elements, pointing out that one of the best methods in achieving that security was the creation of an adequate National Defense program in the form of an effective Army and Navy.

In his appraisal of the other world powers, Lt. General Reybold ranked Russia as the only power beyond the United States capable of seriously threatening the world peace. Since the U.N. is still impotent, he suggests that the best method of dealing with Russia is by effective diplomacy backed by sufficient military strength. He elaborated on the possibilities of another war, pointing out that modern war is total war and that civilians would be endangered as well as troops on the battle-front. He believes that we should estimate the capabilities of our possible opponents rather than their probable course of action, remembering that the best defense is the ability to start a strong offense.

In order to achieve adequate National Security, Lt. General Reybold suggests that we back the policies of the War, Navy, and State departments, support proposals for Universal Military Training, and participate in the R.O.T.C. program given at the University.

ARMY WEEK

NO! NO! GENERAL--THE OTHER END

Mail Box

Dear Editor:

Several weeks ago an article appearing in the REVIEW written by one of your columnists made reference to the $20 Physical Welfare Fee that the students have been forced to pay these last two semesters and the service offered by the infirmary in return. I should like to add to what was stated in the article.

The idea of having an infirmary on campus is an excellent one, but the service that it is able to furnish does not seem to be adequate for the fee that must be paid. Suppose that there are 1600 students paying the fee per semester. At $20 a student the take would be $32,000 per semester or $64,000 per year. Now $64,000 is a lot of money. Suppose also that the infirmary employs one doctor at $6,000 a year, two nurses at $3,500 each a year, and two other workers at $3,000 each a year. Suppose further that the other expenses of the infirmary are $5,000 a year. So far we have managed to dispose of $24,000 a year. Now the question is: What happens to the other $40,000 present in our supposition?

It does not seem reasonable that a student would ordinarily spend $40 in eight months for medical treatment alone. When there is a vacation during the school year, the facilities of the infirmary are not available. There have been a number of cases of students having injuries or needing medical service that the infirmary was unable to handle due to lack of facilities. In these cases the students were forced to go to their own doctors and pay out of their own pockets for the expenses involved after having already paid a sizeable sum for medical care.

Having to pay $40 to the university for minor medical treatment for eight months and then having to pay more for medical care for the other four months of the year is working undue hardship particularly on students who are working their way through school. Veterans who are trying to live on the subsistence allowance find it difficult to meet the medical expenses necessitated by the infirmary's inadequate service. Of course the veteran does not pay his fee personally; the Veterans' Administration does it for him. But don't kid yourself, brother, what your schooling costs is going to have to be paid back to Uncle Sammy in cold, hard cash by none other than you and your children. Whatever money is being spent needlessly is going to make you suffer every March 15.

Where is all the money from the fee going? Considering the small amount of supplies in evidence at the infirmary, what is the rest of the money being spent for? Does part of the fee go to maintain the physical education facilities? If it does, then why do disabled veterans who are excused from physical education and do not use the facilities at all have to pay the full fee? Is more and better equipment going to be purchased for the infirmary? If so, when is that equipment going to materialize? How about making a reduction in the fee to take some of the load off the student working his way through school and the out-of-state veteran who loses schooling time for every penny that his yearly bill exceeds $500? Why doesn't the university assume the cost of treatment that a student is forced to obtain elsewhere because the infirmary lacks the facilities to treat him? Does it really cost the university $40 per year per student to operate the infirmary? How about publishing a statement of how the fee is being spent? It's the taxpayer who pays in the end, and that means you.

Sincerely yours,
WILLIAM J. OSBORNE.

Dear Editor,

I want to thank the REVIEW for its part in causing the exam schedules to be posted early this term. This is proof that the Student Controlled and Student Operated Press can get things done. More power to any paper that can get as effective results as the REVIEW has in the past and I hope in the future. Contrary to the old adage I think the student today knows what is best for him.

Sincerely yours,
MALCOLM COLTON.

Delaware Linkmen Defeat R. - Macon

Coach Joe Brunansky's golf team, fresh from the Southern trip in conjunction with the baseballers of Coach Shack Martin, is readying itself for the next match against the Engineers of Lehigh, up on the Pennsylvania campus, on Saturday, April 19.

The Southern junket saw the clubbers hanging up a record of one win against two losses. The victory was a close one, scored over the Randolph-Macon College linksmen, while both losses came at the hands of Virginia Poly's Gobblers.

Tryouts will be held each week to determine who will compose the team for the next meet. Anyone interested in any way is urged to get in touch with Coach Brunansky at once in the Athletic Office.

Students Offered Rates at Nwk. Club

Mr. William D. Murray, head of the department of student health and physical education of the University of Delaware, has announced that he is in receipt of a communication from the president of the Newark Country Club to the effect that students at the University will be offered reduced rates for membership at the club.

Any student is entitled to membership at the club from now until June 15, 1947, on payment of only $10. The only restriction is that student members will not be allowed to play on the golf course on Saturday afternoons, Sunday mornings, or holidays.

The Newark Club is the possessor of one of the finest courses in the state of Delaware, and the offer is a splendid opportunity for resident students with an interest in golf to vent their enthusiasm.

Application for these student memberships should be made to the club as soon as possible.

Blue Hen Netters Lose Tune-Up Tilt

The University of Delaware tennis team, coached by Mr. Ralph W. Jones, will be seeking to even the score at one match a piece when they tangle rackets with the Bainbridge N. T. S. netmen at their second pre-season practice tilt with the sailors. The Tars won the first match 9-3 last Saturday at Perryville, Md.

Johnny Housepian was the only one of eight singles performers who could cop his event. However, others including '46 returnees Bob Kirkland, Dick Ryan, and Chip Cubbage extended their opponents before bowing.

The courtmen will open their regular campaign on April 26, when they meet Franklin and Marshall College of Lancaster, Pa.

Coach Jones has been drilling his promising charges for the past several weeks, and the Tennismen should be primed for their maiden start against the Diplomats.

Dragons Nose Out Blue Hen Nine 2-1 In Twelve Innings

Thorpe Limits Drexel Men To Half-Dozen One-Basers

Although Al Thorpe, talented Newark-bred twirler, handcuffed the Drexel Tech baseball team and holding them to six one-base blows over a twelve-inning span, the Dragons bunched their bingles to trip "Shack" Martin's diamondmen in their second Frazer Field appearance last Saturday, 2-1. The loss was the Hens' first in conference play and the fifth of the season while the Martinmen have emerged triumphant from two frays.

Thorpe, strong-armed right-hander, again proved himself to be the top tosser among Martin's mound staff. While giving up only six hits in twelve innings, he walked only three men and set no less than eight of the Drexelites down swinging.

After Drexel had accounted for their first run in the third inning, Delaware's half of the eighth saw fleet-footed Gerald "Doc" Doherty, draw a pass from Bill Welsh, and advanced to second on the Drexel backstop's interference with the stick-work of Bill Cole, and to third on Jimmy Gilson's double-play ball, then pilfered the last leg of the journey under the noses of the Dragon battery.

However, the effort went for naught when three base hits by Saylor, Brown, and Buffleys gave the Techsters their victory margin in the twelfth frame.

Saturday the Hens will travel to Chestertown, Md., when they will seek to gain another victory at the expense of their traditional Eastern Shore rivals, Washington College.

Tom Silk, Blue and Gold third baseman, took honors at the plate with a single and a double in four attempts. Jack Miller, powerful right fielder, collected the only other base blow with a long drive to right field which was good for two bases. Brown and Saylor collected two hits apiece for the victors while Cole and Doherty each hit safely twice for the home nine.

Gerald "Doc" Doherty, speedy Hen left-fielder, is leading the Blue and Gold hitters after their first seven tilts with an impressive .416 average. Doherty has also accounted for no less than eleven stolen bases.

Anne Stonemetz Is Praised as Golfer

Former Review Editor To Take Part in Tournament

Miss Anne Stonemetz, a 1946 graduate of the University of Delaware, has been hailed by the professional of the Service Country Club of Washington, D. C., as the most promising young woman golfer in District circles. He has stated that Anne should be an odds on favorite to cop the District of Columbia women's championship when the tournament is held next month. Last year she took the crown at her own club.

Anne was well known on the campus last year when she served as Editor-in-Chief of the REVIEW as well as being active in women's sports at the University.

During her tenure at Delaware, she took to the links on the local Newark Country Club, but could not find time for any serious thought of competitive golf. However, when she was only 13 years old she won the Jacksonville (Fla.) City Championship.

Her teacher at the Service Club stated that it was a real pleasure to work with someone with as much natural talent as she possessed, and that the outstanding woman golfers in the nation will have Miss Stonemetz to reckon with before many more years have gone by.

Crocs at MIT and Purdue have shown their powers as aquabelles, and so have the girls at Wellesley and Vassar. Delaware is not going to be left out. Recent newsreels of the other shows have given a short preview of what we can expect tonight, Thursday the 17th and tomorrow night, the 18th at the U. of D.'s aquatic show.

This water extravaganza entitled "Minnie in Manhattan" is an interpretation of a so-called mermaid on an escapade in New York. Rockefeller Center, The Waldorf, subways, Greenwich Village all serve as background for this spectacle which is under the able tutelage of Miss Barbara Hopkins, whose ample experience has enabled her to whip up a good aquade.

The cast is composed of some thirty superior swimmers from this campus plus additional costumes, lighting effects, music and bathing suits. We hope this is an opener to an annual event at the U. of Del. The time and place is 7:30 p.m. at the Women's Gym Pool.

"MLiz" Pettit, blond product of Newark is in the spot light this week. "MLiz" attended St. Leonards Academy in Philadelphia and graduated from Ursuline Academy in Wilmington, where she played four years of basketball, badminton, Volley ball, softball and captained her class teams in basketball and Volley ball.

In addition to her high school athletic career, "MLiz" participated in every sport at various camps in the Poconos for five years. Following this, the tall, lithe, athlete entered the U. of D. and played on the freshman class teams in each sport this year displaying her prowess in her favorite sport, basketball, by coming out individual high scorer for this season. Another of the blond twin's favorite pastimes is swimming and related aquatic sports. She'll show her aquatic ability in the swimming show to-night at the Women's College swimming pool at 7:30.

"MLiz's" main interest these days is medicine, particularly surgery, which she intends to take up as a career.

Nationwide Recognition Due to Field Events Star

In spite of a record-smashing javelin toss by Mariano "Nine" Stalloni, the Blue Hen track and field team missed victory by two points in Saturday's triangular meet with Washington College and Catholic University. The host Catholic University teams showed enough superiority in the running events to overcome Delaware's superiority in the field events, and eke out a 70-69 victory. Washington College with 23 points, came third. In the final event, the mile relay, the Blue Hens, needed a second place to tie and a first place to win, but could do no better than third place, to wind up the afternoon one point behind.

Stalloni, erstwhile Chester High School star, combined his 180 pounds and flashing speed in a magnificent javelin throw of 202' 5", scattering existing records around like hailstones. The Catholic University Stadium record of 201' 10" set in 1928 by Justice of William and Mary, fell into discard, as did the Mason-Dixon Conference record of 187'. The tremendous toss also bettered by 11' 1" the University of Delaware record, set by T. J. Carey 12 years ago against West Chester State Teachers.

A large crowd on hand to witness the triangular meet between the three Maxson-Dixon Conference teams cheered wildly as the long spear rose in the air, hung for a moment, and then dropped, quivering into the turf more than two hundred feet away.

Comparative figures may be checked to show the magnitude of the Blue Hen star's achievement. In a dual meet the same day between Navy and the University of Maryland, the winning distance was 171 feet 9 inches, and out at Berkeley, California, in another dual meet between the University of California and the University of Michigan, the javelin winner's best throw was 195 feet 11 inches. If "Nine" continues at his present clip, he should attain nation-wide recognition before the season is tucked away in the mothballs. He will get his next chance at record-shattering on Saturday when the Hens journey to Haverford for their first dual meet of the year. Other than first-place winners in Saturdays meet included Marion Davidson, in the 100-yard dash, Bill Piper in the broad jump, (Continued on Page 5)

Mary Jane Smith Elected Pres. Of Mathematics Club

Map Coloring Discussed At Last Club Meeting

The Mathematics Club held its second meeting of the term in the Warner Hall Hilarium Thursday evening, April 10. Refreshments were served and the newly-elected officers of the club were introduced. They included Mary Jane Smith, president; Robert Simon, vice-president, Nancy Peter, recording secretary-treasurer, and James M. Goldey, corresponding secretary.

The guest speaker was Dr. Truman A. Botts of the Mathematics Department who presented a particularly interesting lecture on the "Five Color Problem." This problem, which treats of the minimum number of colors necessary in a regular map so that no two adjacent countries have the same color, has interested map makers and baffled mathematicians for a great many years. Using Euler's Polyhedron Formula, Dr. Botts presented the mathematical proof that no map on a plane or sphere with a finite number of countries needs more than five colors. This is all very well and good, but even a cartographer's three year old child can tell you that no known map of this type needs more than four colors. The gimmick is that even the biggest brains in the math world have been unable to prove conclusively that four colors is the minimum necessary. Any Delaware wizards in the throes of Trig or Analytic Geometry who might hit upon good proof should contact Dr. Botts at once. Fame (if not fortune) most certainly awaits you!! Seriously though, the students and members of the faculty present found the whole subject to be singularly interesting. The mathematical proof which Dr. Botts so ably presented was not only brilliant in conception, but thought-provoking as well.

The next Mathematics Club meeting will be held in a few weeks, the exact date and details to be announced later. All interested students and members of the faculty are cordially invited to attend.

Staff Members Of Music Department To Present Recital

Program To Be Held On April 22 at Mitchell Hall

Staff members of the Department of Music at the University of Delaware will combine in a faculty recital to be given on Tuesday evening, April 22, in Mitchell Hall at 8:15 p.m. Participating will be Miss Grace Berry, Miss Lucille Miller, and Mr. Anthony J. Loudis.

Miss Berry, instructor in piano and organ, will play a program consisting of the first movement of the Beethoven C Minor Piano Concerto and compositions of Chopin, Scriabin, Debussy and Chabrier. Miss Berry, a student of Madame Casadesus since 1945, was the recipient of two fellowship awards while at Syracuse University. She has appeared in numerous recitals in Syracuse and elsewhere.

Miss Miller, instructor in voice, will include in her program selections from Schubert, Brahms, Strauss, Debussy, and a group of compositions by contemporary Philadelphians. Miss Miller was awarded the Nietche Prize at the University of Pennsylvania in 1942, and has been a student of Sidney Dietrich of New York since 1943. She is well known in the Philadelphia area, where she has appeared as soloist with orchestras, church choirs and choral societies.

Mr. Loudis will provide the accompaniments for the Beethoven Concerto and also for the vocal selections by Miss Miller.

The general public is invited to join with members of the faculty and student body in attending this faculty recital.

The instrumentalists were: John Schmidhauser, French horn; James McNeal, clarinet; Barbara Webster, violin.

Vocal renditions were given by Pauline Ellingsworth, soprano; and Andy Dick, bass. Accompanying these performers were Mr. Loudis and Charles Rogers.

Among the guests present were Dean and Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty, Mr. Loudis, Mr. and Mrs. John King, Miss Grace Berry, Miss Bernita Short, Miss Winifred Nixon, Dr. John Nester and Mr. Harry Beik.

It had been hoped that Maurice Evans would be present as guest of honor, but due to a previous engagement he was unable to attend.

Del. Band Gives 3 Concerts on Tour

Concert, Radio Broadcast Planned for Next Month

Three concerts by the 45-member University of Delaware concert band were given in Kent and Sussex counties on Wednesday, April 16.

In its first "tour," the band was heard at Caesar Rodney High School, Camden-Wyoming, at 11 a.m.; at Seaford at 2:30 p.m., and at Georgetown in a formal concert that evening. In the latter concert there was an admission charge to help pay for musical equipment for the Georgetown High School Band.

This was the band's first appearance since it played at the Muhlenberg-Delaware football game last November, and in the interval have gone many hours of practice in thrice-weekly drills.

A concert at Mitchell Hall, Newark, is scheduled for May, as is a radio appearance.

The University brass quintet gave a recital in conjunction with the April 16 concerts. This quintet consists of trumpet players Bob Muhrer, Jenkintown, Pa., and Peggy Munoz, Wyoming; trombonists Gordon St. Mary, of Wyoming, and Bob Walls, Wilmington; and tuba, Al Greenstein, Wilmington. The quintet played selections of 16th and 17th Century music.

The trip to Kent and Sussex counties was sponsored by the University's School of Education. Several members of the band are graduates of Caesar Rodney School.

Sypherd Speaks For Student Union

Alumni Hold Program To Campaign for Funds

Describing the University of Delaware's Development Fund as "more than charity, it is an investment," Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, former president of the university and general chairman of the fund campaign, told alumni on April 4 it was their "responsibility" to respond generously "the first time your university has asked you to support so vast a project."

Dr. Sypherd spoke on WDEL in a program planned by members of the Alumni and Alumnae associations of the University. Included in the program was a dramatic sketch illustrating the need of a social center on the campus. The Development Fund's goal is such a building, to be known as the Student Union. The fund now exceeds $23,000.

"Give more generously than ever before to your university's Development Fund, in order that this great need may be fulfilled in the near future," said Dr. Sypherd. "I know that you receive many requests for aid from local, national, and world organizations; your college is not the least of these. Charity begins at home, now and always, even though you no longer are a student. Indeed, a contribution to the Development Fund is more than charity; it is an investment—an investment in the future citizens of the state and of the world, and in yourselves."

"Your only question should be: 'How much can I give?' If you haven't sent in your contribution, by all means respond at once. This is the first time your university has asked you to support so vast a project. Respond to that appeal generously, wholeheartedly."

"Scholarships are the first expenditure of each year's fund. Everything above that, unless specifically earmarked, will go toward our goal. Let us achieve that goal in the shortest possible time. It is your responsibility; accept it as such and act accordingly."

He described the proposed building as "eventually the very heart of your university's campus."

Participating in the dramatization were: Dr. A. H. Able and Mrs. Sara B. Rogers, alumnae, of the English Department; Howard Jarvis, Charles Parks, and Margaret Gueuvre, students; and Charles F. Jackson, an alumnus. The script was by two alumnae, Thelma Sheller and Frances M. Patnovic, assisted by Mr. Jackson. Richard Avdelotte was production director, and the student announcer was Jack Walls.

Greek Epigraphy Aired at Lecture

Classical Research Work Discussed by Dr. Meritt

The second in a series of research lectures was given at the University on April 10. At this lecture, Professor Benjamin D. Meritt spoke on the "Open Door in Humanistic Study." Meritt was well qualified for his subject, having led a distinguished career in the fields of Greek epigraphy and history. He began his talk with a discussion of the work several of his friends had been doing in the humanities, and their research into the fields of history and literature. He described the work a British research outfit had been doing on some of Lord Byron's translations of Greek poetry. The expedition had uncovered some of the original Greek copies and the comparison of the modern translations and Byron's made an interesting topic. He continued his speech describing the work he had been doing in the translation of a Greek poem. Due to the fact that the poem was inscribed in stone and pieces of it were located all over the world, a system of recording the inscription so that it could be more conveniently studied was necessary. This method consists of making an impression of the inscription by shrinking a piece of wet paper over it. The result is a watermarked impression which can be transported for comparison with others and more convenient study. Meritt ended his speech describing the fields yet to be covered in humanistic research and left his audience with a conception of how interesting this research could be.

The next research lecture will be given on May 14 when Dr. Robert R. Williams will speak on "Natural Science and Social Problems."

This Collegiate World

(By Associated Collegiate Press)

"If I get a call from:

Mort—I have a guest for the weekend.

Bob—I've gone to Naptown.

Squeezie—Gone home. Don't even expect to be back.

Richard—I'm in the library. Come on over."

According to the Daily Texan, the prof was asking the name of students in his class.

"And your name, son?"

"Jule, sir."

"You shouldn't abbreviate. Your name is Julius." The prof went on to the next student. "And your name is . . ."

"Billious, sir," replied the scared freshman.

An ADPI freshman, Pat Barnum became fussed during a pop quiz in English comp recently at the University of Oregon. Scrounging around in her brain frantically for a last minute fact or two, she was interrupted by the professor's, "Write your name on the back of your paper, please, and turn it in."

She gazed ceilingward, scratched hurriedly, and turned it in. Only too late, and horror-stricken, did she realize that she had written—"English Comp. Love, Pat."

During World War I he fought on the side of the Allies, while during the past war he taught Army men at the University of Wyoming. Since the war he has held his post at the University of Michigan.

Because it was felt that there is wide-spread interest in the topic, this lecture was open to the general public as well as to students and staff members at the University.

Behind Bushes . . .

BILL BUSH

Notice to instructors . . . poor attendance in afternoon classrooms doesn't necessarily indicate poor lectures—only that—ah! spring is really here. With the advent of warmer weather the all time popular sport of necking has gathered many more active participants. It is claimed that standing space—within 100 feet of any of the women's dormitories cannot be found half-hour before "curfew time"—finding a place to sit on the benches is out of the question.

Bob Jones's attention is now directed toward Inge Jahn. Jenny Wooten is going around with a forlorn look with "Lucky Lou" in the hospital floored by appendicitis. Maybe she ALSO heard that the nurses in Pittsburgh are supposed to be quite pretty. Janie—from Boletus—is still seen occasionally in the company of "The Hat"—I wonder if she read that in the cards?

Seems as though there's a fellow in Eleanor Record's class who deserves a date with her—deeply infatuated—but he's just too shy—if someone would only give him a little push ! !

The commodore claims that he has "women" troubles—he can never get a date—but he is reportedly seen with quite a few different femmes and in many places, too. It is said that although he likes variety, he does favor one certain type.

Harold Peto can be found in his spare time indulging in research in the almanacs at the newsstand—the cause—his latest hobby—husbandry . . . There's one operator from Millsboro who holds his car in high esteem as a lure to the women of South campus . . . What does Dave Reinhardt's title D.H.K.C. stand for ? ? Did you know that Nan Fouracre is now a proud Aunt ? ? It was a boy.

The girls who had the fight in New Castle dorm several weeks ago over a boy friend shouldn't be better—after all there's more than enough to go around. Bill (S.) Berl just can't make up his mind who shall be his favorite—at present he tends to favor blondes—and Connecticut ! !

Gordon Lang and Margie Cochran are constantly seen together as are Alice Bradley and Tom Griffin. Walt Liley's preference is definitely for red-heads—while Len Dougherty favors brunettes again.

Threats have been heard to the effect that Wally McFaul's indiscreet displaying of photographs will get him into hot water yet . . . We found out why many of the chem boys were crazy about a certain blonde from South Campus. One of them claimed that they make the peroxide for her hair.

Carl Lasker has slipped the ring on Winnie Mae, his dream girl from Florida . . . wedding bells ring for Jack Budd and his true love on June 14. Margie Marston, Mary Ann Shepherd, Stretch Osinski, and Judy Thomas couldn't wait for the weekend to get down to Washington—and didn't—just to check to see if the cherry blossoms were in bloom yet.

While Melinger and Deal were out on a big party Saturday night, Squirrel discovered an angle for getting a deluxe hotel room free ! ! Elmer M., we notice, has been occasionally taking out his old "OAO" since Russ Newcombe has left school.

"Happy Lou" is still hunting for a girl to fill that big space left in his lonely heart . . . We discovered that Ben Zolper is called "Hermoin I"—of which there are three.

With all these conspicuous sun burns among the W. Coeds it is obvious that either a lot of sunbathing is being done or a lot of sunlamps being over-used.

Who were the two lovers in back of Turvey Sunday afternoon? Pete D. can find out more about his secret love—"The Blue Bird of Happiness" down at Sussex ! !

Ann Wise is now sporting the Theta Chi pin of George Stewart, while on third finger left hand Norma Bradley is wearing the ring from her F. and M. fiancee. She acquired it during the spring furlough.

George Irving will be discharged from the Army in the next few weeks—and is now wolfing around the campus in preparation for his return to school this summer. And speaking of Wolfing, Gee, the girls at Newcastle, would like to know who was making all that racket at 4:30 Saturday morning. Can Dottie answer this ? ? ? We bet she can ! ! !

The "Smoke Talk" group, the informal discussion group which cuts across student-faculty lines here on campus, will hold its second meeting next Thursday, April 24, in the lounge of Old College. The subject under discussion in the coming meeting will be "Can Religion or Education Save the Family?"

The meeting will be opened by two short talks, one by Mr. Armstrong and the second by Mr. Fitzpatrick, which will define the subject and begin the discussion. ## Colton Speaks To Photography Club

Physics Dept. to Purchase equipment for darkroom

Last Thursday night the Photographic Club of the University of Delaware had its regular meeting. The darkroom committee reported that the list of photographic equipment desired by the club in its darkroom in the Physics Building had been submitted to the Physics Department which is purchasing the equipment for the club.

A lecture on photographic equipment was given by Malcolm Colton. In this lecture various types of cameras and exposure meters were discussed as to their merits and weaknesses. Several types of cameras furnished by H. C. Kraemer and William Jones, were on display so that the members could see exactly what was being discussed.

The next regular meeting of the club will be held tonight at 7 p. m. in Room 6, Recitation Hall (Physics Bldg.). The topic for discussion will be Flash Photography, Its Technique and Equipment. The lecture will be illustrated by a sound movie on the subject.

All students of the University as well as the faculty are invited to the lecture. It is hoped that many more people will join the club after finding out how it operates.
