Delaware Natators Grab Season Finale

Sink Strong William And Mary
Swim Team By Score Of 34-25
And Hang Up Two New Pool
Records

The University of Delaware swimming team closed a successful season last Monday night when they defeated the strong William and Mary mermen by the score of 34 to 25. The meet was spiritedly contested and the result in doubt until the final event was completed. A crowd that filled the new gymnasium to overflowing was on hand to see the Blue and Gold team in action for the last time this season. The individual star of the meet was Bernard Nobis for the locals and Phillips, who scintillated for the visitors in the dashes. Nobis accounted for wins in the 440 and 200 yard breast stroke, setting up a new pool record in the latter event. Phillips splashed to victory in the 50-yard dash and pushed Alec Taylor all the way in the 100.

Delaware opened the meet with a bang, winning the relay in easy fashion, which was chiefly due to the splendid swimming of Nobis and Reese. Van Putten, swimming first for the southerners, gained a two-yard advantage over Reybold, but Nobis and Butch gained several yards on their adversaries, allowing Taylor to coast home an easy winner. In winning, the relay team clipped one-tenth of a second off their time of the Temple meet, thus establishing a new pool record.

The fancy diving for Delaware was weak. Justis, for W. and M., proved his superiority in this event and was awarded first place.

Phillips showed his heels to the rest of the field in the 50-yard dash. Due to some oversight of the judges Reese was forced to be content with fourth after he had clearly finished second to the Indian star. Bill Brown experienced no difficulty in defeating Justis in the 150-yard backstroke. Nobis was easy winner in the 440, but in the 200-yard breast stroke Wood stuck to him like a leech until the last lap when the former spurred to win by several feet.

Nobismen Gather 11 Points in Eastern Collegiate Meet

At the Eastern Collegiate Championships, held last Saturday, Delaware placed fourth, with a total of 11 points. Rutgers won the meet easily with a total of 49 points. Lafayette and Lehigh were tied for second and third places with 13 points each. Delaware did not take a first, but Bill Brown pressed Levis, the Rutgers veteran, in the 150-yard backstroke and caught him. Just a few weeks ago, Brown broke the record held by Levis for this event.

Delaware took a third in the relay and lost second place to Lafayette by the proverbial nose. Nobis placed twice taking fourth in both the 150-yard backstroke and the 50-yard freestyle. Taylor was third in the 440.

The summaries:

200-Yard Relay—Won by Rutgers (Djerf, Creem, Johnson, Jelenko); Lafayette (Bew, Ambler, Hartje, Holt), second; Delaware (Reybold, Taylor, Reese, Nobis), third; Lehigh (Hertzer, Pennington, Greene, Riker), fourth. Time, 1:42 3/10.

Fancy Dive—Won by Curry, Rutgers, 83.2; James, Rutgers, second, 80.0; Hobbs, Lehigh, third, 77.3; Readinger, Lafayette, fourth, 76.8.

50-Yard Free Style—Tie for first place between Holt, Lafayette, and Jelenko, Rutgers; Johnson, Rutgers, third; Nobis, Delaware, fourth. Time, 1:55 1/5.

440-Yard Free Style—Won by Creem, Rutgers; Djerf, Rutgers, second; Taylor, Delaware, third; Webb, Lehigh, fourth. Time, 5:37 1/5.

200-Yard Breast Stroke—Won by Leader, Lehigh; Garland, Rutgers, second; Cox, Lehigh, third; Pelizzoni, Lehigh, fourth. Time, 2:52.

100-Yard Free Style—Won by Creem, Rutgers; Johnson, Rutgers, second; Holt, Lafayette, third; Jelenko, fourth. Time, 0:57.

"The Show-off" Will Be the Play

Thespians Finally Decide on Above
Comedy for the April Appearance;
Rehearsals Immediately

The Footlights Club has definitely selected "The Show-off" by George Kelley as their next production. This decision was made the first part of the week and Business Manager Long immediately ordered the books which should arrive in time to start rehearsals by the beginning of next week at the latest. The cast has not yet been definitely picked, but present indications are that Virgil Van Street will take the title role. The other members of the cast will be decided upon by the time the books arrive. Mr. Matthews and Mr. Blair will serve as faculty advisors of this production.

"The Show-off" is undoubtedly one of the most amusing of recent comedies. The character of Aubrey Piper, who talks and acts like a million dollars although he is only a $30 a week clerk, is a thoroughly amusing study of conceit. Yet for all his backslapping and loud talking Aubrey turns out to be a pretty good fellow in the end. The play is wonderfully well balanced and has its moments of pathos as well as its hilarious highlights. Since the setting is simple it can be produced in Wolf Hall in a satisfactory manner. All things point toward the show being an artistic success and, if it is a financial success, the Footlights will produce a jazzy musical show in the latter part of May.

Delaware Students Invited to Enter Oratorical Contest

During the past week a letter has been received from Mr. Randolph Leigh, inviting Delaware College to enroll in the 1928 National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest. The contest is under the auspices of the Better America Federation of California of which Mr. Leigh is director. The "Constitution" is the subject to be discussed.

The trials for the contest in Delaware will be held late in April. The winner of the State final will participate in the Regional finals in May. The winner in each of the seven Regional final meetings will automatically have a place in the National finals to be held in Los Angeles on June 21. Each national finalist will receive a cash prize as follows: First place, $1,500; second, $1,000; third, $750; fourth, $550; fifth, $450; sixth, $400; and seventh, $350; total for the seven finalists, $5,000.

These large cash prizes should be an inducement to Delaware students and any one wishing to enter this Fourth National Intercollegiate Oratorical Contest should see Mr. Lewi within the next few days.

Three Members of Student Body of "Floating University" Who Perform Greatest Service in Furthering International Understanding to be Rewarded

Mr. John W. Campbell, of New York, has offered a fund of $6,000 to be divided among the three students of the "Floating University" who accomplish the greatest services in furthering international friendships on the trip. $3,000 will be given to the most outstanding student; $2,000 to the second, and $1,000 to the third. The selection will be made by a committee of three, consisting of the President of the Faculty, the Director of Education, and the head of the Staff in Journalism.

The committee will judge the accomplishment of entrants on the basis of the following points:

Promotion of general friendliness and co-operation among all foreign students;

Interpretation of the United States—the government and the people;

Pronounced understanding of foreign students—their country—government and special problems;

Specific projects put through to promote mutual understanding.

Mr. Campbell's idea in making this offer is to impress students with the feeling of responsibility in furthering international relations with foreign students and associations with whom they come in contact, and at the same time interpret to them what our country stands for.

Princeton University will this year award three scholarships to students graduating in June. Two of them are offered by Mrs. Edgar Palmer, amounting to $2500 each. The object is to afford their recipients an opportunity to broaden themselves by travel, by study, by life among foreign peoples, and to mingle as much as possible with the people of other nationalities.

The third fellowship is offered to Princeton Seniors only, by a friend of the "Floating University" and will amount to $2500, covering the entire expenses of the eight months' trip around the world, leaving New York, October 6, 1928.

A.G. Wilkinson Helps Organize Student Loan Association

Assumes Prominent Part In Launching New Project To Be Known
As Robin Memorial Foundation;
Object To Aid Delaware Students
To Obtain An Education

$50,000 GOAL AT PRESENT

Mr. Arthur G. Wilkinson has been appointed chairman of the advisory committee of the Albert Robin Memorial Foundation, Inc. The charter of this foundation in memory of Dr. Albert Robin, establishing a student loan fund to be administered without regard to race, creed, sex or color and to assist deserving students seeking higher education, has been granted at Dover. Mr. Wilkinson is also co-operating with the executive committee of the foundation.

The incorporators are David Snellenburg, Millard F. Davis and Samuel Cannon. A committee of twenty-four prominent men and women interested in education throughout the State will serve on the Board of Directors of which an executive committee of five will be in charge of the administration of the fund.

The committee of six named at the first meeting some time ago when the project was first discussed has made a thorough study of the operation of similar funds such as the Carnegie Foundation Student Loan Fund and the Harmon Fund, and every method applicable to the needs of this State will be employed to make the Albert Robin Foundation a useful instrument in furthering education in this State and in assisting deserving students, residents of the State, to pursue their academic or professional studies in higher institutions of learning of their own choosing.

The charter was obtained by the foundation through its attorney, Edward S. Cannon, of Wilmington.

An organization meeting of the directors of the foundation will be held on April 2 in Parlor J of the Hotel du Pont-Biltmore at 8.15 o'clock. All arrangements have been made to proceed with the raising of the fund as well as its administration. This proposed memorial to Dr. Robin is the second to be established since his death, the first one being The Robin Memorial Dormitory for the nurses of the Physicians and Surgeons Hospital now being constructed at Broom and Sycamore street, Wilmington, the gift of Irene du Pont.

MRS. C. P. GILMAN SPEAKS WEDNESDAY AT CHAPEL

cerning the Position of the Modern Woman

The speaker for the next College Hour will be Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman. Her topic will be "Ethical Effects of the Position of Women." Mrs. Gilman was born in Hartford, Conn., in 1869, the daughter of Frederick Beecher Perkins. She married C. M. Stetson in 1900. She educated herself mainly by reading books. Mrs. Gilman has been a speaker and writer on economic and social subjects since 1890. She lectured in Europe in 1896-99, 1904, 1905 and 1913. Mrs. Gilman is the author of the following books, "Is This Our World," "Women and Economics," and many others. In 1910 to 1917, she was the author and editor of the magazine "Forerunner." Mrs. Gilman has been selected as the first of the twelve most progressive women of the United States. The list of twelve was compiled by Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

NOTICE!

Chairman Creamer announces that positively no tickets will be sold at the door on the night of the Spring Frolic. Admission will be by ticket only and no one will be admitted without a costume. Positively no exceptions will be made. By inaugurating a selective and limited sale of tickets the Student Council is endeavoring to restrict the dance to Delaware students and alumni and to a number which can dance comfortably without crowding on the Armory floor. Only a few tickets remain to be sold.

Annual Frosh-Soph Track Meet To Be Held Wednesday

Coaches Endeavoring To Get
As Many Entries As Possible; All Candidates Requested To File Names With Class Presidents

Providing weather conditions are favorable, the annual Freshman-Sophomore Track meet will be held on March 28. Due to the poor conditions of the past two weeks no calls for entries have been made, however, Coach Rothrock and Coach Dougherty ask that all entries file their names with their class presidents, the latter turning them in to the gym office as soon as possible. With timely action on the part of all parties concerned, headway will easily be made and the time of the meet not necessarily delayed.

The purpose of the annual class meet is to bring out all promising material from both classes. All events of an official meet will be slotted, so that no individual event will be overlooked. In this way a preparation will have been made on the part of the two lower classes for the first dual meet to be held in the early part of April.

No varsity track or baseball men are eligible to compete. It is fully a non-varsity meet. Freshmen and Sophomores out! Do not forget those two other defeats Freshmen! Turn your name in to your class president.

Delaware Swordsmen Lose To Lafayette

Closely Contested Bouts End
With Score 9 To 8

The fencers from Lafayette won from the Delaware University fencing team by one bout and one point in a match held here Saturday afternoon. The final score was 9-8.

Each team gained two points in the epee bouts. Davis of Delaware, defeated Peters and lost to Salembier. Williams, the Delaware captain, defeated Salembier in a fast bout and lost to Peters.

The Blue and Gold fencers broke through in the foil bouts and allowed only three of them to go to their opponents after much fast and exciting sword play. Ed Williams, Delaware, again distinguished himself and proved to be an excellent fencer by defeating Sawtelle, Lafayette's star, 5-4, Rohn, 5-1, and Brainard, the left-hander, 5-2. Rodney, of Delaware, lost to Brainard, 5-3, Sawtelle, 5-3, and defeated Rohn 5-4. Davis, Delaware, defeated Rohn 5-2, Brainard 5-4 and lost to Sawtelle, 5-2.

Delaware secured 2 points with the epees, 0 with the sabres, and 6 with the foils, totalling 8, Lafayette, epee 2, sabre 4, foil 3, total 9.

The U. of D. team closes its season next Saturday, when it meets Rutgers at Newark.

Hindu Student Gives New View of India

Takes Issue with Mayo's "Mother
India"—Not True Picture,
He Claims

Doctor Benner's economics class and many visitors were entertained Wednesday at 9 o'clock by an interesting and earnest attempt on the part of Dr. Manakin, an Indian and graduate of Columbia University, to give what he considers a true picture of India in contrast to the distorted view given by Catherine Mayo in her "Mother India." Throughout his talk, his zeal for establishment of an understanding of Oriental civilization by Occidentals was evident.

National spirit and a highly developed social unity are unknown accomplishments in India, he said, and further admitted that living conditions were, on the whole, rather crude in regards to material comforts and sanitary arrangements. However, Dr. (Continued on Page 4.)

"Only Six More Shopping Days Until" the Spring Frolic!!

"G. A. R." Act Promises to be Thriller
—Which Has Nothing to do With Civil War, Pensions, Etc.—

"G. A. R." Means Glasser and Roemer!

Well! well! boys and girls, only one more week and we'll have with us that blithesome, bewitching, and bizarre bipedal divertimento, the Spring Frolic.

The Review recommends this as an elixir of life for old folks, young folks and the kiddies and as a cure-all for sciatitis, high-blood pressure, or what have you. Throw away your Peruna bottles and be rejuvenated at the Fountain of Youth in the Armory on March 30.

Gentle readers we'll let you in on a dark secret. Have you ever rubbed elbows with an honest-to-goodness emperor? Here's your chance. Fritz Creamer, the chairman for the dance, received this radiogram from the Emir of Baluchistan today:

"Omak tomak, Ik-Mik. Bow wow, woof, woof. Hot dog, Spring Colic. Rah! Rah! Rah!"

Baluchistan."

Translated this means that the Emir and his 48 wives will attend the big show.

Santa Claus and his partner Greta Garbo, Rosencranz and Guildenstern, Battling Siki, the Two Black Crows, and other dignitaries will grace the ball room with their presence.

And don't forget! Glutton Glasser and Coarse Roemer will woo the muse, Terpeichore, with their interpretation of the Highland Fling and the Car-mangole. The two boys received their gowns from Paul Poirot yesterday. They will wear gowns of the Louis Quatorze and Chippendale periods of cerise velour trimmed with beige crepe-de-chine, gathered in a bodice effect with a train of gingham (Continued on Page 2.)

THE ALBERT ROBIN MEMORIAL FOUNDATION

No doubt but that those who personally knew of Dr. Robin and his achievements have been highly gratified by the effort recently launched to perpetuate his memory in a memorial which can, perhaps better than any stone or bronze, express in a peculiarly virulent manner the ideals upon which his life was founded. Such a far-reaching attempt to aid the youth of Delaware to obtain higher education, backed by the substantial resources that are the aim of the founders of the loan fund in question, is a fitting and lasting tribute to any man.

In looking over the preliminary draft of the project, it is apparent that the thing is thoroughly democratic in principle—"without regard to race, color or sex" is a laudable preliminary. Evidently the plan is instigated with a view to being of some real service to the ordinary average student whose needs are so often overlooked by the various loan funds and scholarships we have thus far encountered, that are often of benefit only to the book worm or the exceptional person—the former a bad risk and the latter able to look out for himself!

It was no surprise to find A. G. Wilkinson in the forefront of those incorporating the foundation. Helping students to get an education is his hobby. Just how much Mr. Wilkinson had to do with instigating the plan the official despatches do not say—but we'll bet our last dime that he was pretty thoroughly tangled up in it! And we are sure that his experience in handling student loans will be of untold value to the Robin Foundation—they've picked a winner in "Buz"!

"COLLEGIATE"

The day has long since past when the term collegiate was used to designate a course of studies or a style of architecture. Today the word is applied to almost anything which has about it the odor of youth, raucousness, impudence, or swagger. We have collegiate songs, collegiate reviews, collegiate clothes, collegiate automobiles and collegiate slang. There is in all of these one of the above mentioned elements, and it is very often present to an extreme degree. The point that we wish to make is that even the colleges have not escaped the grasp of exploitation.

The movies, the song-writers, the clothing manufacturers, the columnists and the like have made a very successful effort to convince the general public that the colleges of the country are amusement institutions for the youth, and have done their best to make this amusement the property of everyone who is able to read, see, listen, or buy Kollege Kut Klothes. The purveyors of the latter have been outdone only by the advocates of the other three K crowd in their antics and naive statements and productions. Indeed, some material connection might be seen between the two in the recent vogue for tepe-like trousers, for the K. K. K. has as its uniform that, which if dyed some outrageous pastel shade, might very conceivably serve as one leg of a pair of Kollege Kut trousers.

It is also but a short time ago that a certain popular song (?) had widespread vogue. Runners in Wall Street (one of our most "collegiate" types) did everything but form a glee club dedicated to the perpetuation of the thing, while the various alumni clubs almost passed resolutions to wear crapes for the passing of college days until the abomination had subsided.

The American College will not come into its own, nor will its growth and progress be normal and sane, until its atmosphere has been divorced from the rosy fog of our ever-present professional sophisticates and jesters.

WHAT'S A MERE MALE TO 1928 CO-ED?

Chicago, March 3.—The co-ed of today is more interested in her work than she is in the men she attends classes with or the good times which the university provides.

That, at least, is the opinion of Dean Sophonisba Preston Breckenridge, who has been with the University of Chicago since it was founded in 1892.

She declared that she agreed with Dean Agnes E. Wells, of Indiana University, that the modern co-ed is not changing for the worse, but for the better.

"The men of a university are of little or of no importance to the co-ed of today," she declared. "When co-eds go places they are more interested in the place than in those they are with."

HOOVER WINS AT U. OF P.

By a plurality of 103 votes, Herbert C. Hoover defeated Alfred E. Smith in a Presidential poll at the University of Pennsylvania conducted by the Daily Pennsylvanian and the Punch Bowl, student publications, the Public Ledger announced Thursday.

The total number of votes cast in the poll by students, their parents and professors was 7736. Of these, 3139 favored Hoover and 3036 Smith. The remaining 1561 votes were divided among nearly forty others. The leaders' vote follows: Hoovers—Students, 1441; mothers, 961; fathers, 922; faculty, 115. Smith—Students, 1079; mothers, 994; fathers, 896; faculty, 67.

Herbert Hoover recently won a straw vote at the University of Oregon, according to the New Student Service. With a vote of 429, the present Secretary of Commerce, outclassed his nearest rival, Al Smith, who received 139 votes. Charles E. Hughes was Republican runner-up, and William G. McAdoo, the Democratic. The faculty vote followed the same order.

In a Presidential straw vote taken in Haverford in December, Coolidge led with sixty-four votes, and Hoover gained a close second with sixty-one. Smith obtained third place with thirty-five votes. Other candidates received only scattered votes.

ONE VICTORY FOR

PUBLIC OPINION

Score one for public opinion in and out of Congress for reducing the Admirals' folly of an $800,000,000 new navy bill to less than $300,000,000 and for compelling the insertion of a clause permitting the President to stop building in the event of an international agreement. The bill has been so much improved that the force of criticism against it is weakened. Still it is hard to see just why even $274,000,000 for sixteen new ships is imperatively necessary in this time when the children of the unemployed go hungry in every city and the children of the miners starve in their miserable shacks. And there is always danger that the big navy crowd may amend the bill upward in Congress. The fight is by no means over and Coolidge's assurances that the navy is only for purposes of peace is worth neither more nor less than similar assurances by all governments.

Boston University offers the unique opportunity, to the serious minded co-ed, to take a course in "Brides to be." In-as-much as the school is co-educational, some one has offered the suggestion that a course be given in "Husbands to be." This first course is all well and good but what confuses us is that they offer this course after it has been discovered that co-eds are the least inclined towards marriage. The course seems rather late in coming. They know more about it nowadays than is credited to them.

When the faculty of the University of Oklahoma forbid the use of motor cars to students they didn't foresee the "after effects." The town of Norman in which the University is located finds its streets overrun with all manner of conveyances from roller skates to the dependable horses. Students finding walking intolerable are riding bicycles, driving "one-horse shays," or galloping over the campus on horse back.

DOES YALE NEED A GOOD BREWERY INSTEAD OF TWENTY MILLION DOLLARS?

"What Yale really needs more than anything else, if it is going to persist in this ideal of culture, is a good brewery," states Donald Ogden Stewart, brilliant Yale graduate, in the April issue of College Humor. "Beer," to quote an Oxford authority, "does more than Milton can to justify God's ways to man."

"What I want to know among other things is what they really expect a Yale man can be, after four years in the Yale factory, and why? After twenty millions have been expended on Yale, perhaps I can get two seats behind the goal posts for both the Princeton and Harvard games, and, as I get older, these seats ameliorate. If I live to be eighty, I may reach the forty-yard line.

"Perhaps, instead of a bigger and better Yale, the real need is for a fatter and balder institution. Who knows. To tell the truth, I shouldn't be surprised if I found that I didn't believe in a college education any more. Perhaps I won't send my boy Rudolph to Yale after all. I may just take him out and teach him how to shake hands, and use a niblick and then buy him a Brooks Brothers' suit and let him go right into the bond business without the A. B."

Donald Ogden Stewart, famous American humorist, has written a very clever article on his alma mater—but within it there is a thread of seriousness which will make any college man do some real thinking. Culture, training, a social status, a matrimonial bureau; just what is a large University? You may be better able to understand yourself and your College after reading this sizzling article on Old Eli in the April College Humor.

"Ste" Defends Honor System

Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir:

This is a different kind of article about the honor system. Its purpose is neither to razz, to criticize, nor to suggest changes. It is a defensive article. Moreover, it is not a theoretical defence, but one based on facts gained by observation. The articles, editorials, and letters which aim to bring about abolition, or, at least changes, of the honor system are based on theory or opinion, or on conditions existing some distant college. This article concerns Delaware College and conditions which the writer has personally observed.

The honor system at Delaware works! It works splendidly. Those agitate for the removal of the second clause of the pledge are causing a needless disturbance. The clause may be bad, but in the conditions existing on our campus at the present time it may be entirely disregarded. The first clause is doing its work so well that the second has been permitted to sit back and take a rest. I have seen but one violation of the pledge, and this violation was found out and punished without involving any "squealing" whatsoever. Of course there are those who cheat. However, they constitute a very small number and may be left out of our consideration. This group is dishonest in all of its dealings, and would continue its low practices under any system. In examinations and tests I have watched the students for no other reason than to test the honor system. Each time I watched, I risked being caught in the meshes of the second clause, and each time, I left the room without having seen the slightest inclination or tendency to commit a dishonorable act.

Under such conditions as those which exist at this institution, the honor system need not be touched. Bad or good, the plan works at Delaware—which is all that concerns us. If it ever shows signs of failing, then is the time to attack it, and replace it with something more satisfactory.

Conservative Colors to be the Spring Mode

Worst Fabrics Gaining in Popularity; Trousers Not So Wide as Formerly

(By Fairchild News Service)

Among the problems that rise to vex the undergraduate this time of the year is the purchase of a Spring suit, and for some students this will involve buying more than one suit, in order that their wardrobes may be complete for the social duties of Commencement time.

Many college men will order this Spring their old favorite, the four-piece suit, and an additional suit without knickerbockers, the latter for city wear and other occasions when they desire to be a bit "dressed up."

But whether he wants a four-piece or three-piece suit, or both, the college man will not be interested in bold patterns this Spring. Moreover, the "ice-cream" chevrons have run their course and will look out of place when the new, more subdued worsted fabrics have begun to appear.

For the sports suits, however, good stout tweeds will be the thing.

For the three-piece or lounge suits conservative worsteds, some with widely spaced but faint stripes, in gray-blue, blue-gray, slate, light gray and gray-brown will be in demand. These worsteds have been worn in the East in ever-increasing numbers for the past five years.

The cut of the smart university lounge suit this Spring will be rather more severe than in former years. As worn at present in the East this suit has trousers with roomy knees, twenty and one-half to twenty one and one-half inches, but the trousers measure only eighteen and one-half inches, at most, at the cuffs. Perhaps nineteen inches is permitted in special cases, but tailors generally look a little grave when this is requested.

A delicate point arises in connection with the cut of the new jacket. When the three-button jacket worn with all its buttons fastened, was in its heyday, a number of smart young collegians appeared in the two-button jacket, worn with the lower button open.

The result was that 90 per cent of the three-button jacket wearers began to roll their coats to the second button. Now we have the two-button jacket accepted as the smart thing and the three-button jacket made with the soft front so it can be worn in this manner without committing its wearer to anything too "advanced." Either way, the correct university jacket now has easy shoulders and a slight fit at the waist.

HARTER HALL PERSONALS

Bill Haden only talked for forty minutes last night on the B section phone. What's the matter, Bill, is she losing interest in you?

Tater-Snatcher Kohl and Snowburger, the Intellectual Giant of the Age, held a shower in honor of their visitors last Friday night. The party was all wet in the estimation of their guests.

Have you noticed the numerous letters in green ink that Ike Quillen has been receiving lately from W. C. D. Better watch out, Ike, don't let her take advantage of you.

Goofy Goffigon proved he had Scotch blood in him when he dated up the telephone operator the other night. He's got such a drag with her now that he doesn't have to "drop a nickel, please."

Frank Gladden, the pride and joy of W. C. D., is getting a few pointers in Wilmington these days for his spring campaign at the Women's College. He promises to be in rare form in time for the May Day celebration.

Grandpa Cordray was annoyed by the noise the boys made the other night. You really ought to be more lenient, old man, we've heard some mean stories about your own youth.

It is rumored that the appetite of gluttonous Glasser, the gourmandizing Gargantuan, has forced him to break Lent. We sincerely hope that the results will not be serious.

F. G. Mulderick, the boy from the mines, is following in the footsteps of Harris and Squillace. Well, here's luck to the Lansford shiek.

He—Well—er—I'm strong for you.

URGES YALE EDITORIAL

Cribbing Disapproved Much As Ever, But Too Many Don't Care

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 12—The Yale News says in an editorial that the honor system at Yale University is unsuccessful mainly because of the "apathetic attitude toward it of the entire student body." "Flagrant violations are permitted to pass unnoticed, for the system is merely tolerated as an incidental and unimportant feature of the university environment," the article says, discussing attempt on the part of the student council in making the system's operations more effective.

Naming the system "a sentimental illusion," the editorial urges that it be banished as "ineffective."

"Personal disapproval" of cribbing on examination is as strong as ever, but public opinion, discountenancing breaches of the honor system, are plainly "non-existent," the article declares.

Delaware Natators Grab Season Finale

citing race of the night. This race found Alec Taylor pitted against Phillips who had defeated him in the 50. Alec proved his metal and gameness by winning the race, which was close all the way.

Between the last two events it was announced that Charlie Hartman, a member of the Wilmington High School swim team, would give an exhibition of fancy diving. At the same time the crowd howled for Bull Boyer who had been an interested spectator at the meet. After much persuasion the Bull donned a suit and executed a few dives, although he insisted mainly on clowning. Both divers were accorded rounds of applause by the mob.

Previous to the meet it was announced that Gerald Doherty, graduate manager of athletics, had been elected vice-president of the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association, at a meeting of that body held Saturday at Rutgers College.

Hindu Student

Manakin disputed the contention that India has no civilization and deplored the habitual attitude of contempt and pity for anything existing beyond the Suez.

He touched upon the great contributions that early Hindu civilization has made to the arts of reading, writing and mathematics and the distinct cultural abilities displayed by ancient Indian sages in astronomy and philosophy. Failure to appreciate the East is largely due to ignorance of Oriental contributions to early progress and the vast divergence between the Oriental and the Western type of mind.

Tradition and ancestor worship are the two barriers that at present so effectively block progress in India, Dr. Manakin said, and one who has studied the case will instantly agree with him. To an uneducated Hindu, it is sacrilege to discard implements, methods or habits of thought that have come down in tradition. But withal, Dr. Manakin was decidedly optimistic as to the final outcome. Education is slowly breaking the death grip of "status quo"—the ancient Hindu philosophy with its Stoical, cynical pessimism is gradually being displaced by a more enlightened virile philosophy of hope and progress.

Dr. Manakin explained that child marriage in India is really simply child betrothal. The boy and girl who early betrothed are not permitted to assume the full conjugal relation until they are fully matured—which maturity comes much earlier to the Indian than to the American. The thing is not so sociologically impossible as is popularly supposed.

Much of the current misunderstanding of India, Dr. Manakin attributed to tourists and people like Catherine Mayo, who, he charged, made but a cursory survey of Indian conditions that did not warrant the conclusions expressed in "Mother India."

Here's some "inside stuff" on smoking

SOMEWHERE in the neighborhood of your center of gravity there's a spot devoted to smoke appreciation. We could describe it more fully, but this is no organ recital. The point is: Light a Camel, pull in a fragrant cloud of cool joy—and listen to your smoke-spot sing out—"Haleelooya!" As the noble redskin puts it—we have said!
