Moe Jaffe Orch. Here To Spark Engineer's Ball, Fri.

Engr's Provide Real Bargain for $2.40

On Friday night from 10:00 to 1:00 in the Field House, Moe Jaffe's orchestra will play for the annual Engineer's Ball. The dance is non-corsage and semi-formal with an admission price of $2.40 per couple, tax included. Louise Everett will do the vocal honors, and very ably, too, from all reports. Many U. of D. students will probably make a night of it and see the new musical "Party Line" before the dance.

A special invitation has been extended to all Freshman engineers, and it has been stressed that everyone is welcome, that membership in one of the engineering societies is not a prerequisite for the dance. Tickets may be obtained from any of the members of these groups, and will be on sale at the door.

Ben Melvin is dance chairman. Jim McGee handles exhibits, Ed Klaczekiewicz, the art work, Joe Pennock, decorations, Tom Wood, programs, and Bill Pie, publicity.

Biggs To Present Recital on Mar. 24

E. Power Biggs, nationally known organist who is credited with much of the revival of interest in the organ as a concert instrument, will present a recital at Mitchell Hall, Newark, on Friday, March 24, under sponsorship of the University of Delaware's Department of Music.

Anthony J. Loudis, professor of music, said that tickets for the recital, at 8:15 p. m., will be available to the general public through the University bookstore.

Mr. Biggs, who plays only music which has been written expressly for the organ, has stimulated a fresh output of music for his instrument in the field of contemporary composition reminiscent of the age of Bach and Handel. He is heard each Sunday morning on a national radio network, and on this program, or with leading orchestras, he has premiered such compositions as Sowerby's "Concerto for Organ and Full Orchestra," "Classic Concerto for Organ and String Orchestra," and "Symphony for Organ;" Piston's "Prelude and Allegro for Organ;" "String Orchestra with Harp;" Harris's "Chorale" and "Toccata for Organ and Basses;" and Porter's "Fantasy on a Pastoral Theme for Organ and String Orchestra."

Mr. Biggs, organist of the Boston

Pres. Carlson Goes To Montgomery

President William S. Carlson of Delaware is at Maxwell Field, Montgomery, Ala., for duty in connection with his membership on the Board of Visitors of the Air University.

Dr. Carlson was appointed last fall by Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, chief of staff of the U.S. Air Force, as a member of the Board of Visitors, which comprises 12 educators who meet annually at Maxwell Field to advise and report on policies affecting the character, quality and management of the USAF educational system for its officers. The Air University provides post-graduate education for future senior commanders and staff officers of the Air Force.

Dr. Carlson was a colonel in the former Army Air Corps from 1942 to 1945. He will return to Newark in the middle of March.

Local Rotary Club To Present Minstrel

A well known member of the coaching staff of the University of Delaware is caught in a compromising position by 300 co-eds in the "Rotary Blackbirds of 1950." Who he is and why he is embarrassed will be answered by the annual minstrel show of the Newark Rotary Club.

Performances will be given at the Newark High School auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings, March 28th and 29th, and the proceeds will be used to provide a scholarship for a graduate of the Newark High School and a visual education laboratory for the Newark Special School District.

"Rotary Blackbirds of 1950" is a new production and will bear no resemblance to the 1949 show.

Several familiar faces will, however, again be present. Joseph A. Shields will once more be featured as the Interlocutor. Mr. Shields has had considerable experience in theatricals in Newark. A veteran member of the University Drama Group, he appeared last fall as Benjamin Hubbard in "The Little Foxes." Before that he played in "They Knew What They Wanted" and "The Barretts of Wimpole Street" among others.

Announcement has been made that G. Taggart Evans, E. C. ("Curly") Mahanna, Gibby Young and Alden ("Whitey") Burnham have been assigned the end men spots. Mahanna and Young may be remembered as two of the end men in the minstrel show last year who furnished much entertainment.

Miss Diane Kipp Voted Cherry Blossom Queen by Student Poll; To Appear As Del. Representative to National Festival

MISS DIANE KIPP

The happiest young lady on the Delaware campus is without a doubt our Delaware Cherry Blossom Princess, Diane Kipp. Diane says that since she received that phone call at 6:00 Friday night informing her of her victory she had been living in a dream world. The same night she was introduced as the winner at the Field House by Wray Hushebeck. The S. G. A. had a beautiful orchid sent down from New York for her. After the wrestling match, recordings were made for WDEL and WILM. Fate seems to have played a part in the election, because Diane's horoscope for March 3rd, the day of her election, said prophetically, "This is your day."

After the excitement dies down, she says she wants to get a huge scrapbook and fill it with mementos of the most exciting time of her life. The newspaper articles about our pretty candidate plus all the telegrams, cards, and letters of congratulations she has received are overwhelming. On Tuesday she will be honored by a luncheon in Wilmington.

Her mother is as excited as Diane—if that's possible. Their home at 219 Geddes street, Wilmington, is in a wonderful state of confusion with phone calls and visits from admiring friends. Her brother had a double interest in the campus election with his sister, Diane, and his fiancée, Jane Hoch, both up for nomination.

She is tremendously busy right now with plans for her trip to Washington plus practice for "Party Line's" dancing chorus. Twenty-one year old Diane was graduated from Wilmington High School where she was Vice-President of the Student Council and head of the red and white's cheerleaders.

On March 30th she will return to Washington, her birthplace, for the first time since she moved away as a child. What a grand and glorious homecoming it will be for her! Diane's only regret is that the eight other girls can't go too. All expenses for the trip plus a complete wardrobe will be furnished by the Journal-Every Evening and the Delaware State Society, co-sponsors. She hopes to select a pink gown for the pageant.

A ball at the Shorham Hotel will start off the two days' festivities with the crowning of the queen. Diane will be escorted by some lucky army officer. The following day there will be the famous pageant at the Tidal Basin. People from all over the country will be there to see the national fete which in previous years has consisted of water pageants, ballet and singing. In Washington she will attend with many other celebrities teas, luncheons, receptions climaxed by a formal dinner on her last night in Washington.

Round and round the wheel will spin. Let's hope it stops for Diane.

Col. Zimmer Named To Service Board

Lt. Col. Layton A. Zimmer, Professor of Military Science and Tactics, has been appointed to serve on the Armed Forces Day Committee for the Delaware Military District. Armed Forces Day, in which all services, the Army, Navy and Air Force will participate, is to be celebrated May 20, 1950.

Spring Formal to Feature Donahue, Basin Street Boys

On Saturday night, March 18, from 8:00 to 12:00 in Carpenter Field House, the S. G. A. will present the annual Spring Informal. Sam Donahue's orchestra will be the number one attraction, with the Basin Street Boys in the number two spot. Tickets at $3.60 per couple will be on sale Mar. 13, S.G.A. office 9-4 p.m.

Sam Donahue was born in Detroit thirty years ago. Since then he has become one of the most popular band leaders in the nation and has earned a fair share of fame and fortune while pioneering his style of music. But native Detroiters who knew him as a child, still cannot understand why Sam did not turn to athletics instead of music for a career.

While attending Redford High, Sam excelled in football, baseball, and basketball and played on all three varsity teams. Music was just a hobby to the youngster, who then found more fun in going over a single wing formation. But he did start a band while still a sophomore. Sam figured that because of his athletic prowess, the student body would flock to hear his band. He was right!

In his senior year, Sam found that the band business could be far more interesting and profitable than he ever dreamed. He was so busy playing proms and private dances that he had little time for sports. But by this time, music had gotten into his blood, and he cared little for anything else.

Upon graduation, Sam enrolled at college but found that he could not have a band and still go through with his studies. While he was deciding on what course to take, the owner of the Coral Gables Ballroom in East Lansing, Michigan, offered him and his band a summer booking. Sam took the job and they were an immediate sensation.

After many months at the Coral Gables Ballroom, the boys in the band realized that while they were doing wonderfully in Michigan, they meant nothing on a national scale. So, they voted that Sam should go with a name band and gain the experience vital to any aspiring maestro. Sam and his saxophone took off and landed a job with Gene Krupa. He stayed with Krupa until 1940 and then went with Harry James and later with Benny Goodman that same year. By that time he was the outstanding tenor saxophone man in the nation and had been featured coast to coast with the three top bands.

Feeling that he had gained the necessary experience, Sam formed his own band again and opened at the Roseland Ballroom in Brooklyn in 1941. This engagement was followed by one night stands in New England until an opening came at the Glen Island Casino in New York. Donahue did excellently at the Casino until Uncle Sam called Sam for the Navy, and he was forced to disband.

In the service, Sam had his own orchestra and was put in charge of all Navy music for the AFRS. He also played for many command performances and appeared with the biggest names in show business. Sam played a one hour battle of music against the great Glenn Miller AAF orchestra in London and attracted the largest audience in that city's history. Donahue emerged as the United Kingdom's number one foreign band favorite.

When the war ended and Sam was discharged, he formed a civilian band and has been going strong

Tau Beta Pi Will Pledge 15 on 11th

On Saturday, March 11, a large white canvas ribbon will again take shape in front of Evans Hall in the form of a bent, the official emblem of Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity. The Bent is being erected by the pledge class of fifteen engineering upperclassmen selected last week by the Delaware Alpha Chapter of the fraternity.

The pledges from the senior class are: Harold H. Burke, mechanical engineering; Bernard B. Chasens, electrical engineering; Allan C. Cowan, Jr., chemical engineering; Harry E. Downs, electrical engineering; Robert R. Paules, chemical engineering; George Rouvalis, electrical engineering; and James M. Vest, Jr., chemical engineering. All of these men were chosen from the upper fifth of their class.

The pledges from the junior class are: Edward J. Fahey, mechanical engineering; Mark J. McDonough, mechanical engineering; Robert J. McFarlin, civil engineering; Richard W. Nielsen, electrical engineering; Keith G. Parthemore, electrical engineering; Joseph F. Pawlikowski, chemical engineering; Walter F. Williams, civil engineering; and Robert E. Young, mechanical engineering. The juniors were chosen from the upper eighth of their class.

Election to Tau Beta Pi represents the highest honor open to engineering students and is based upon distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering, including integrity, extra-curricular activities, and breadth of interest both inside and outside the field of engineering.

Letter To The Editor

From the time of the first blare of the loudspeaker atop the Chemistry Building my indignation at the campaign for a football stadium has been gradually accumulating. The complete non-rationality and "blurbiness" of the recent circular on "Why an Athletic Stadium for Delaware?" has finally pricked me to the point of expressing my views publicly.

What ought to be the primary aim of a university? I think many would agree that its primary aim ought to be the intellectual development of the student. What are some of its other aims from the point of view of many students? To promote social life. To supply mates. To provide four years of entertainment for young people before they settle down to a responsible adult life. I oppose the football stadium because I think it will lead to an even greater emphasis on just these latter "aims", while the primary aim is in danger of becoming completely eclipsed.

The University of Delaware is becoming known as a football college. For some this is a matter of growing pride; but is it not simply a function of the attractiveness of football scholarships which the University offers? It would seem more akin to the character of a university to be proud of its chemistry department or its philosophy department rather than its football team or its convenient football stadium. If the ardor of our alumni were applied toward collecting funds to bolster some of our weaker academic departments by attracting outstanding scholars, would not the purpose of the University be better served?

I realize that I am opposing a widespread trend current on American campuses. However, contrary to inferences which some readers may draw, I am not suggesting the discontinuance of sports at the University. I want only to ask, Where is the emphasis to lie? On football, social life and good times? Or on hard work and intellectual development—the primary reason for a university's existence?

Guest Speaker At Next FTA Meeting

James O. Corner, of the Delaware Council on Education, will be the guest speaker at an open meeting of the University of Delaware's chapter, Future Teachers of America, at 7 p.m. on Thursday, March 9.

Students from Wilmington High School will be guests at the meeting, at which George Glynn, head of the chapter, will preside. Mrs. Charlotte Hanson, instructor in education, is sponsor of the organization.

Dance Band Ready For Campus Hops

The eleven members of the University dance band, organized during the last two months, have announced that they will be available for campus dances and parties for the rest of this year.

The group, under the direction of Bob Harris, first organized for the current production of Party Line.

Members of the Delmodians are: Bob Maull, Jim Baker, Jim McNeal, and Calvin Storus, saxophones; Lancy Boyce and Joe Zappo, trumpets; George Latham and George Gronde, trombones; Bill McWilliams, drums; Ed Fielding, bass; and David Hoyer, piano.

Dr. Jackson Will Talk at Math Club

Dr. Robert F. Jackson of the Department of Mathematics will be the speaker at the next meeting of the Mathematics Club on the topic: "Future Uses for Calculating Machines."

The meeting is scheduled for Monday, March 13, at 7 p.m. in Warner Hall Lounge. As people arrive there will be a short social period. A brief business meeting will follow. After Dr. Jackson's talk, there will be an opportunity for questions from the floor before the meeting adjourns at 8 o'clock.

All interested members of the University community are cordially invited to attend the meeting. Any student of the University who wishes to join the club may do so by handing his or her name to Corresponding Secretary Donald B. Clark or to one of the other officers.

Art Gallery Shows 25 New Paintings

A new exhibition of 25 watercolors by Miss Jane Gardner opened March 5 in the art gallery of the University of Delaware's Memorial Library, where it will remain until March 25. The exhibition is open to the public.

The paintings include five which have received honorable mention at the Connecticut Watercolor Society and the 34th Annual Delaware Show. Miss Gardner is associate professor of art at the University of Delaware.

Somewhere In the Woods

By DON MILLER

Prologue:

The medal of the week goes to a freshman gal on the campus. All of us have heard about people who late date, that is, go in from one date and then go out on another. That in itself is bad enough. Can you imagine a girl shrewd enough to handle three men on the same day? Three dates on last Saturday did this young lass contract for. If you can get away with it, Elaine, why should we raise a fuss?

Act I

Scene I—Setting the Knoll, where the girls outdid everyone on the campus in having one of the best houseparties of the year.

Cast in order of appearance:

Bobbie Lou Baker, who emceed the whole affair, Barbara Smith and Dick Hammond, Dolores "Squeeze-Box" Adams and Dick Burton. "Slim" Jim Maxwell dated one of the finer cooks on the campus, Jean Mitchell—boy, to look like Jean and be able to cook too.

The girls ganged up and gave Chuck "The Handicapper" Cantera a Toni. Everyone commented that on him it looked very well.

Six of the Knoll girls formed a line to match the famous Warnerettes. This "Sexy-tette" really bowled over the bald row. This party was a come-as-you-are affair. Nancy Ruos was there with Ray Salamone, she attired in three bath towels.

Intermission:

Larry Gillespie wishes to inform the freshman girls that he is very much available for dating purposes. Larry adds that this info might be of interest to the sophomore and junior gals, too.

Scene II—House parties around the camp.

First of many interesting people encountered were: Joe Lafferty and Boots Holzapfel. Scotty and Mrs. Clark along with Chuck Cantera and Jane Reigart brightened up the picture at the first house we visited.

Moving along and picking our way carefully over the newly waxed floor, we were picked up after our first fall by Bill Vanneman, who was also visiting. By the way, Bill is convinced that we are 22/7 better than he is.

Dancing to mucho dreamy music were: Moe Hartnett and Bev Bacon, Mike Phillips and her Chris—a very sparkling twosome, Jim Walls and Esther Walls, Fuss Gordy dated newly-returned-from-California Leon Stayton. Fuss doubled as waitress while Dave Allen entertained. Harry Masten was with a box of toothpicks—seems that is the best he could do. Harvey Day and the terrific gal that wears his pin

Mary Coleman, introduced us to the unidentified faces: Jeff Weekly dated Dottie O'Donnell, Marty Forsyth looked right at home with Art Diver, we saw Bill Dickerson but never did meet his gal, Marilyn Short. Jack Kinnikan and Jane Sheridan along with Sonny Hardesty and Nancy Lawson really seemed to enjoy the group singing.

Intermission:

Lucky Larry Dalton seems to have an inside track with Bobby Martin what with Friday night movies and all. Saw Johnny Buechele camped on Hanover steps on Sunday afternoon, yes a girl was with him. Turfin' on Friday eve were Ann Mitchell with Fred Hartmann, Don Reynolds and Elaine Ough. We saw Don and Elaine at the College Inn on Saturday and then we thought we saw Elaine with someone else Saturday night. Of course we must have been mistaken, for how many dates can a girl have on one day?

Scene III—Setting, the illustrious "B" room, music in the background is the gentle strains of the song "Diane."

Cast: Wayne Pollari with Joanne DiSabatino, Don Huston and, of course, our own Miss Delaware, Diane Kipp.

The leader of the band notices Diane in the audience and immediately brings her up to the fore. Miss Delaware is introduced to all present and is given the acclaim due her. Diane's comment to all this was, "I'm so thrilled; it was just like the movies." Congratulations, Diane, we are very pleased to bend a knee to such a sovereign as you.

Epilogue:

The Cherry Blossom Festival brought to the Blue Hen campus a College Hour worth remembering. President Carlson, if you wish good attendance at future college hours, just have the same nine beauties adorn the stage and the SRO sign will hang every Thursday.

All of the nine contestants were marvelous; the only pity is that we could not send them all and show the nation the lovely beings we call coeds. As each girl ascended the stage, we had the enviable position of holding out a helping hand.

What a date list these nine would make — Lynn, Rosalie, Kendall, Jane, Mary Agnes, Trudy, Diane, Marge, Claire.

Now that the contest is over, and no bathing suits were used, Marge Brennan asks that some of our male students refrain from calling her "Bubbles."

Noticed Kendall with her new haircut, very nice but we are still partial to long hair on girls.

We had more, but Joanne said no so emphatically that we were frightened.

Welcome back "Lefty," we missed you so much.

Whose PIKA sweater with Cornell markings adorns Carol Christian?

Here is a thought for the students. How about an S.G.A. informal Sadie Hawkins Day in the near future? We mean a real Sadie Hawkins Day—girls do all the asking and paying. Let's have a big reaction to this idea. Tell Wray Hushbeck what you want; he will do his best to satisfy your wants.

Opera Co. Soloists Choir Featured In Samson & Delilah

Friday night, March 17, will mark the coming of opera to the Delaware campus. The Music Department will present guest soloists from the American Opera Company and the University's fifty-voice A Capella Choir in a concert version of the famous opera Samson and Delilah, by Saint-Saens.

Dr. W. O. Sypherd will act as narrator for the opera. He will include introductory remarks in which he will compare the biblical story of Samson and Delilah with the story as it is presented in the opera.

There will be three soloists. Lucille Miller, contralto, will take the part of Delilah; Ettore Manieri, tenor, will play Samson; and Eugene King will play the role of the High Priest.

Miss Miller recently received her Master's Degree in music from the University of Pennsylvania. While an undergraduate at Pennsylvania, she was awarded the Neitzsche Prize for excellence in music. Miss Miller has done extensive choral and solo work in such works as Handel's Messiah. She has appeared in oratorio work throughout Pennsylvania, the suburbs and metropolitan area of Philadelphia, and on the radio.

Mr. Manieri, whose fine tenor voice has been hailed by leading eastern critics, has made a name for himself in opera, concert, oratorio and on the air waves. He has sung the leading tenor roles in the Puccini operas as well as in the operas "Faust", "La Traviata", and "Cavalleria Rusticana", with the Philadelphia La Scala Opera Company. Effective in oratorios, he has been highly praised for his appearances in the Messiah and the Seven Last Words.

ETTORE MANIERI

Eugene King, who will play the part of the High Priest, is a Bass with the American Opera Company.

The A Capella Choir of the University has been at work on the choral score for the opera since Christmas vacation. This will be the third performance of the choir since school opens in September for the winter terms. Last term the choir presented a concert version of the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Gondoliers." Following the performance of "The Gondoliers," the choir, the University Chorus, and the Brass Sextet presented the annual Christmas program. After finishing Samson and Delilah, the choir will begin rehearsals for its annual tour of the downstate Delaware high schools. This tour will be taken April 24-26.

Party Line

By SUE CONWAY

It's big boxoffice at Mitchell Hall this week with the current production of Party Line. Bruce Laird's musical comedy has proven itself the E52 show of the year, with its record run and its scrapbook full of favorable reviews in the local papers.

An evening with Party Line is strictly enjoyable. The play crammed with a colorful variety of characters, familiar and unfamiliar, is brightened by Laird's gay tunes and clever Hart-ish lyrics. The action is built around a political dupe, engineered by three suspender-tugging bosses, at the expense of a sincere but unknown newsstand attendant, whom they are running for president.

Laird's Capitol Party picked a winner, theatrically speaking, with their choice of Parke Perine for the role of the reluctant candidate, Harry Smith. He carried the convincing blank stare of political naivete during campaign speeches, but mustered a sufficient eye gleam in the presence of his flighty sweetheart, Jinny, played by B. J. Kinder. Harry and Jinny are typed from their first appearance, and carry through their parts, adding at the right moments clever subtleties in voice and expression.

One of the University's most accomplished vocalists, Alan Stewart, thrilled the audience with his exceptional ability in creating a mood. As Sam the negro bus-boy he sang two solos, both moving, genuinely blue, and apparently written especially for him. His characterization is augmented by the object of his musical laments, Emmy, one of the most effective characters in the play is done with real feeling by Jane Good.

Mae Singer is consistent in her portrayal of Petrushka Mikloviz Shuminsky Jones, and Turner Edge as Pete Lawson, has the typical political boss swagger and the worried look of a man in big time politics.

The final scene, however, is a let down. One can hardly tell the end is nigh until the entire cast appears for a rousing finale. Several of the songs remain with the listener. The lyrics, however, far outshine the melodies. "I'm A Regular Gal", "Beautiful But Dumb", "Honey", and "Gone with the Last Full Moon" are especially memorable.

Party Line is worth seeing, for allowances must be made for the first night jitters obvious when your reviewer saw the play. The students have really done an exceptional job. This reviewer casts a straight ticket vote for Party Line and wishes alumnus Bruce Laird success in his further musical comedy endeavors.

NAACP Chapter To be Formed Here

Students and faculty members have been invited to join with Newark residents at a public meeting to organize a Newark chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. The meeting will be held at 4 p.m., this Sunday afternoon, March 12, at the New Century Club, Haines and Delaware Ave. in Newark.

Principal speaker for the public meeting will be Miss Leah I. Brock, assistant field secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. Miss Brock will discuss the national work of the NAACP. Also addressing the meeting will be Mr. Gene Derrickson, member of the executive board of the Wilmington NAACP whose subject will be, "Civil Rights and Delaware;" and Mr. Julius A. Ryland, principal of the Millside school who will speak on, "Civil Rights and Newark."

Miss Brock received a B.S. degree in education from Lincoln University in Missouri and did graduate work at the University of Pennsylvania in business education. For a period of three years she was a national representative of a number of negro magazines.

Mr. Derrickson is the field representative for the U.E. in the Wilmington area and has been in the labor movement for 14 years in the area. Mr. Ryland, has received an M.A. degree in social studies from 1937 to 1944, and has done work toward a Ph.D. degree at Pennsylvania.

IFOR JONES

Chamber Concert Program Planned

Ifor Jones, conductor of the New Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia, which will present a concert at Mitchell Hall, University of Delaware, at 8:15 p.m., on Wednesday, March 15, today announced the orchestra program.

The concert will provide for music-lovers of this area an opportunity to hear an ensemble which has made a special place for itself in the national musical life, and to witness the successful culmination of an experiment that has attracted the attention of leading musical writers and foremost symphonic conductors.

The New Chamber Orchestra is under the sponsorship of Philadelphia's New School of Music, the only major music school of the country specializing in the development of orchestra players, and the school's unique orchestral training program, of which the concerts of the New Chamber Orchestra are an important phase, has been termed an effective solution to a crisis threatening many major symphony orchestras—the shortage of properly trained string players.

In the New Chamber Orchestra, faculty members and advanced professional students play side by side. To qualify for the orchestra, players must have a professional soloist's proficiency and must have completed all orchestral playing at the school. They must also have performed for several previous seasons in the New School of Music's training orchestra.

Spring Formal

ever since. He likes to play for college audiences because he feels that he can play "college dance music" the best. The SGA Social Chairman received a letter from Sam's most recent date, Gettysburg's Inter-Fraternity Ball, where Gettysburg's Social Chairman states, "Donahue is tops and we really mean it. He has a personality that will take over anyone. This personality is topped only by his wonderful dance music."

The Basin Street Boys, five in all, are led by Ormonde Wilson. Wilson has been regarded as one of the nation's top guitarists of the past decade. The boys originate from Hollywood but give New Orleans the credit for their name for sentimental reasons. Their brightest hit has been, "I Sold My Heart To The Junkman." However, they are not only excellent vocalists but also very fine instrumentalists. The people present at this dance will be audience to an all star show that many a theater would like to have.

Don't forget, Saturday, March 18th from 8 to 12 in the Field House. The big spring informal will give you Sam Donahue and the Basin Street Boys.

The Greek Column

Alpha Epsilon Pi

At a meeting held last week, the following men were elected officers of the pledge club: Joseph Glick, President; Alan Jacobs, Vice President; Larry Cooperman, Secretary; and Richard Okonow, Treasurer. Eighteen men were pledged this term.

A 16-inch floor model television set was recently purchased by the fraternity and was installed this week. With this added inducement to goof off, it is really going to be a struggle to keep up the fraternity scholastic average this term.

Congratulations to David T. Bunin, President of Alpha Epsilon Pi, who was recently elected to Pi Mu Epsilon, the honorary math fraternity.

Monday night the fraternity was host to the Hillel group at a party held at the fraternity house. A swell time was had by all.

Alpha Tau Omega

This weekend is a big weekend for the ATO's. We are celebrating Founder's Day with big goings on at 5 West Main Street. On Saturday, all day and night until twelve midnight our new house will be open to all. Then, on Sunday, our Mothers Auxiliary will entertain the fathers and mothers of the actives and pledges with a luncheon and a tea. These festivities will be followed by the high national officers here on Monday to speak and look over the house. Don't forget! If you get a chance this weekend, come on over to the house.

The ATO basketball team, under the new coaching of Earl Walker, looked much better but still lost to our Johns Hopkins chapter, 37 to 24. Coach Walker is yelling the familiar Brooklyn war cry, "Wait Til Next Year."

Dr. C. L. S. Raby, ATO High Ritual Counselor, took time off from viewing the wrestling matches Saturday night to come over to the house. It was an honor to have Dr. Raby here and we certainly hope he enjoyed himself.

We have a new pledgemaster. "Father" John Symonds, past Worthy Master, has taken over the reins and is really enjoying himself. We are sure that the "Father" will do as good a job as he did when he was our chief.

Delta Tau Delta

Well, the big event of the week was the pinning of Mary Coleman by Harv Day. Incidentally, Harv had to furnish the refreshments for the house (some fun).

On Thursday, March 2, 25 Delaware Deltas journeyed to Washington to attend the yearly banquet given by the Washington Alumni. Besides the large delegation from Delaware, there was also a numerous representation from George Washington and the University of Maryland. The banquet was held at the National Press Club in downtown Washington. The chapter president, Jeff Weekley, was called on to speak and much to everyone's surprise, including his own, he came off with a very good spiel.

Then on Saturday evening the House was again jumping, due to a super-duper House Party thrown in honor of one of our illustrious alumni, Brother Leon Stayton.

Meanwhile, on the preceding Monday evening, the following men were initiated into Delta Upsilon of Delta Tau Delta: Tom O'Donnell, Howard Harper, Robert (Pie-Nose) McFarlin, Bill McCauley and Richard Van Beek.

At the annual elections, held Thursday, March 3, Brother Jim McNeil was elected 1 for the year 1950-51, succeeding present prexy Chuck Masten. Also elected were "Stumpy" Harris, who will succeed Al Cowan as II, and Bill Hughes, relieving Jim Kearns of his pen-wielding duties as III. The new officers will be installed in April.

19 Amstel Avenue is a beehive of activity this week as preparations for this Saturday's Gold Rush houseparty get under way. "Gold," roulette wheels, brass spittoons, can-can girls, and plug tobacco are being smuggled into the house from time to time through the week. Social Chairman, S. J. Wright, promises a never-to-be-forgotten evening in the roaring tradition of the old Gold Coast.

Pi Kappa Alpha

Way up near the sky on Pikes Peak last Saturday night, were found all of our proud new pledges with their dates, plus the brothers and all of the Dream Girls. Thanks again to Mrs. Pat Overdeer, Miss Lynn Kelly, and Don Clements for being such swell chaperones.

Amid the whole "shebang" Pike the Pup managed to have himself a wonderful evening trying to drown his sorrows by consuming numerous quantities of warm, flat, ginger ale.

Delta Eta of Pi Kappa Alpha takes pride in congratulating KA on their top basketball team; Sigma Nu for their further promotion of a grand idea; a little visitation between fraternity men during intermission parties; and past Worthy Master of A.T.O., John Symonds, for a job well done!

Sigma Nu

Congratulations are in order for two Blue Hen varsity teams that partook in Middle Atlantic Championships this week. First, to the Delaware mermen for their capturing third place in the conference meet. Special praise is due for Captain Bauday Grier. Again Bauday ran off with the Diving Championship and also set a new meet record.

A second varsity squad, the Blue Hen matmen, deserve acclamation for the outstanding part they took in the wrestling championships. Congratulations to Captain Ted Youngling, Hank Paris, Tom Runk and Charlie Carr for their hard earned places in the meet.

Additional applause should go to Ed Fahey, another Sigma Nu who joined the ranks of Tau Beta Pi. Ed was pledged to the honorary fraternity last week. In passing, we might mention that George Kumler was recently selected as corresponding secretary of the same fraternity.

Club Communion Breakfast Mar. 26

The Newman Club announced that March 26 has been selected for the Spring Communion Breakfast. Father Carlin informed the members that an interesting speaker will be on hand for this all-important function.

Alice Gorny and Ellen McQuaid were elected vice-president and recording secretary respectively. Plans were made for a St. Patrick's Day Party on Tuesday, March 14, at Old College. Nancy Corcoran will thrill all attending with her brilliant voice. A large list of entertainers will be headed by Dev and Ray McCarthy.

Taggart Evans, a newcomer to Rotary Minstrel shows, is well known to theatre audiences in Newark. He is a seasoned member of the University Drama Group and has had major roles in all of their plays except four over the past fourteen years.

Tickets for the show are moving well and capacity audiences are expected at each performance. Reserved seats are available at the Newark Department Store.

BAUDUY GRIER

Champion. This is the name which can be applied to diver Bauduy Grier. In four years of varsity competition, Bauduy was beaten only five times in thirty-four starts.

In his first meet at the U. of D., he trailed Ed Null of West Chester and team-mate Hal Burt to take the only third place of his collegiate dual meet career. Bob Slater of the Bainbridge Naval Academy handed him his second defeat, but Bauduy did take second place in the event. Temple University's Russ Stockton holds three wins over Grier. Stockton is the only diver to defeat him more than once; but Grier never finished out of the scoring.

Grier, who captained the 1950 swimmers, has won the MASCAC diving championship the last three years. Coach Rawstrom thinks Grier put on his best performance in four years at the Middle Atlantic this year, but the score was kept down by conservative scoring on the part of the judges.

Grier lettered all four years at the U. of D. and leaves behind him a school record of 109.6 points for anyone to try to top.

CAPTAIN JIM McFADDEN

Captain Jim "Reds" McFadden called it quits last Monday after a heart-breaking 65-62 defeat at the hands of the Drexel Dragons.

"Reds," who was the only senior on the starting five, was instrumental in guiding the less experienced sophs to a good season. He kept the opposition running with his deadly shooting from all angles, his fancy ball handling, and his tight defensive play. Despite his comparatively small 5' 8" height, he was capable to grab rebounds away from some of the taller opposition.

The redheaded Salesianum High School graduate will take with him in June no less than five varsity letters. Four of these he earned in basketball and one in baseball.

W. Chester Whips BlueHenGymnasts

West Chester State Teachers College gymnastic team handed the University of Delaware squad its sixth straight loss of the season at West Chester last Saturday. The hapless Hens closed the season winless despite their improvement over last year.

Francis Monti led the Rams to their 60½ to 29½ win over the Blue and Gold by capturing first place in the Horizontal Bar, Parallel Bars, and Rings events. Captain George Schaen and Joe Miller kept the Hens in the running with their consistent third place scoring.

Gettysburg Bullets Cop MAS Crown; Hen Matmen Fifth

Last weekend Carpenter Field House was transformed into a gigantic stage on which sixty-four wrestlers played their greatest roles of the season. The cream of the crop from eight universities were on hand for the musclemen festivities. Six of Coach Whitey Burnham's Hens met with success in the preliminaries on Friday evening, but the semi-final Saturday afternoon sliced Hen chances in half. Coming through the finals for Delaware were: Ted Youngling, who copped second place in Unlimited Class; Hank Paris, third in the 175 pound class, and Tom Runk fourth in the 136 pound class.

Coach Clyde Cole's Gettysburg Bullets annexed their second Middle Atlantic wrestling championship in two years as they scored 33 points. Swarthmore with 23 provided the only serious competition to the Gettysburg musclemen, while Haverford finished third with 19. Bucknell notched 16 to snag fourth place, and the Hens shared fifth place with Ursinus, each team scoring 14. Sixth place went to Muhlenberg with 10, and Lafayette scored 9.

Gettysburg Captain Russ Reigel, 155 pound champ for the last three years, retained his title as he out-pointed Lafayette's Rupert Bing 4-1. Sporting this impressive record, Reigel was unanimously awarded the Outstanding Wrestler Trophy at the close of the tourney. Three

Another week has rolled by and with it some of the team standings have risen while others have dropped. Here are the results of the Open Tournament up to and including Monday night:

Topsy	2	0	1
Sussex	1	0	1
Warner	2	1	0
Turvey	2	1	0
Boletus	1	3	0
Newman Club	0	2	0

The undefeated Knoll team seems to have the ability to stir up exciting games. Having won their first one with Hanover C 21-20, the Knoll gals did it again last week when they pulled up from a 161-10 lag behind Turvey at half time to win out 20-19. The nerve racking climax came just before the whistle when Mary Keetz sank a field goal to give the Knoll their one point edge. Doris Simon, Louise Briefman, Kathleen Adams, Marion Kasawski, Carolyn Williams, Shirley Forman, and Florence Berg played for the Turvey team who came so close to winning until the final quarter.

Another exciting one was the 24-24 tie between Sussex and Topsy. This game was a good one from start to finish. Sussex lead 4-3 first quarter. At the half Topsy was out in front 11-10. Topsy's score crept to a 25-15 lead at the end of the third, but Sussex retallied to even up the final score.

Hen Tankers Finish Third In MAC Swimming Finals

The University of Delaware swimming team piled up a total of 40 points to finish third in the Middle Atlantic Conference championships held last Saturday at Franklin & Marshall College, Lancaster, Pa. Lehigh's mermen won the conference crown with 53 points and the host school was runnerup with 46.

Nine records were set in the swimming championships. Bauduy Grier and Hugh Miller were the lone Delaware natators to win events. "The butterfly" swept to his third straight diving title and set a new mark of 97.3 in taking the crown. Miller won the 200 yard breast stroke with room to spare in 2:39.7.

The Chicks won two of the frosh events with Charley Presnell of Penns Grove, N. J., leading the way. Presnell won the diving and anchored a medley relay team that included Art Mayer and Henry Aughey to a triumph in 3:15.1.

On Saturday Coach Harry Rawstrom will take six of the Hen mermen to the Eastern Collegiate Swimming Association championships at Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J. The medley relay team defeated but once this season will have an opportunity to avenge this setback when they meet Lehigh again. Murray Campbell, Hugh Miller and Jack Bishop comprise the relay team. Bauduy Grier, Hen captain, will make the trip along with Jim Baird, who was called the big "freestyle" hero of the Middle Atlantic by Coach Rawstrom. Hugh Dougherty, a distance swimmer, rounds out the sextet.

Summary

300 Yd. Medley Relay: 1. Lehigh; 2. Delaware (Campbell, Miller, Lloyd); 3. Lafayette; 4. F&M; 5. West Chester. Time 3:12.

Chalk Talk

By JACK JAMISON

While editor Fred Hartman is enjoying a much needed vacation, Chalk Talk is on a co-operative basis. This week it has fallen my lot to give out with the weekly sports chatter, so here goes:

The swimming team carried out Blue and Gold to Franklin and Marshall and brought back a third place in the M.A.S.C.A.C. They trailed only powerful Lehigh and host F. and M.; Swarthmore, Dickinson, Lafayette, West Chester, and Drexel followed in that order. Bauduy Grier broke his own conference diving record by scoring 97.3 points and gave the Hens one of their two first places. The other was turned in by Hugh Miller when he covered the 200-yard breast stroke event 2:39.7. Art Mayer, Henry Aughey, and Charles Presnell of the freshman team captured the medley relay; and Presnell added the diving title to his season's conquests in a prelim event. Coach Rawstrom considers Presnell "the outstanding freshman swimmer in the M.A.S.C.A.C. league."

Riding on the crest of a four meet winning streak, Coach Whitey Burnham's wrestlers played host to some of the best teams in the East in Carpenter Field House to decide who was the M.A.S.C.A.C. champ. Gettysburg went home with their second straight crown by topping the field of eight teams. The Hens tied powerful Ursinus for fifth place. Captain Ted Youngling was decisive in the heavyweight finals by Bill Helfferich of Ursinus, 2-1. "Everyone did a good job," said Coach Burnham in reference to the matches. It's interesting to note that Youngling wasn't pinned this season. All opponents who bested him have had to rely on a time advantage to emerge victorious. The team will lose the services of Tom Runk, Hank Paris, and Ted Youngling come June. However, some good replacements are expected to crop from the freshmen squad. Tom Schultz, who was undefeated in the heavyweight class, will try to step into the vacant position left by Youngling. George Snyder has been elected captain for the next year. The election took place prior to the championship matches.

Following the trend of the closing seasons, the University of Delaware's gymnasts have wrapped up their mats, rings, and parallel bars for another year with the hope that it will bring them greater success. The report for a brighter season looks better for the squad. Walt Deputy, Jack Jester, Charles Harper, and Don Renshaw will be up from an informal frosh squad to help standouts Joe Miller, Carroll Mumford, Harold McMichaels, and captain-elect Ray Wilhelm off-set the loss of valuable seniors. Captain George Schaen, Jim McGee, Jack Bryan, and Marlon "Leon" Hart are among the notable graduates-to-be. The team went winless in six dual meets against some of the country's finest. Temple is the N.C.A.A. Champion, while Army and Navy are strong eastern championship contenders. Harry Loose, who recently joined the squad, will be expected to handle much of the tumbling next season.

Notice: The last fencing meet of the season will pit the Johns Hopkins fencers against our own Blue Hen squad at 2:00 p.m. Saturday in Carpenter Field House. Let's go out and give the Hens some moral support.

The Soph-laden Blue Hen dribblers dropped a 65-62 thriller to Drexel last Monday night. It gave the Hens an 8-8 overall record. The loss dropped them to fourth place in the final standing.

M.A.S.C.A.C. Standings—Finals

Swarthmore	8	2	.800
P.M.C.	7	3	.700
Drexel	7	3	.700
Delaware	6	4	.600
Haverford	2	8	.200
Ursinus	0	10	.000

On the subject of basketball, Jim Reilly, stellar Swarthmore forward, closed a brilliant college career by cutting the cards for 45 points against hapless Ursinus last Saturday. The Garnet champs romped over the Bears to the tune of 100-49. Billy Utt, the only basketballer to hesitate over the question of tourney play, has joined his fellow Hens in protecting their championship title at Fournier Hall in Wilmington. Good luck, team!

The Kappa Alpha Rebels pointed for the ALL-STAR game after romping to a 97-36 win over an A.S.M.E. team tonight to sew up the intramural championship for the second straight year. Five seniors played their final contest for the KA team: George Frederick, Bob Paules, Jack Daley, Joe Cassidy, and Chuck Ma-ten.

In the first game of the playoffs, K. A. subdued a strong Hustler team 60-50. George Frederick led the Rebels with 17 points, followed by Daley and Masten with 13 and 10. Big Dick Evans rimmed 12 points from the pivot position to lead the Hustlers, followed by Sacconi and Kubisen with 10 and 9. The Hustlers led 13-9 at the end of the first quarter, but K. A. outscored them 18-4 in the second period and was never in danger the rest of the way. In the other game of the playoffs, the Hustlers swamped A.S.M.E. to the tune of 80-35. Diminutive Bobby Monaghan was high for the evening with 26 points. Johnson was high for the Engineers with 20.

The ALL-STAR team, chosen by the players and coached by Ace Hoffstein, will meet the K. A.'s on Wednesday, March 16. Representing the American League will be BOB MILLER, FRED BROWN, CURT TURNER, DICK GROSSMAN and JIM THOMAS. From the National League are JOE KWIATKOWSKI, PAUL MUELLER, JOHN STEEDLE, DON JOHNSON, and BOB MONAGHAN. The International League contributes DICK EVANS, MILT ADAMS, JACK DUVALL, JESSE KALINOWSKI and STAN BAZELA. This game will be played for the benefit of the Stadium Drive—minimum contribution 25 cents. This is your chance to see a great contest and help the Stadium Drive, so don't miss it.

ACE HOFFSTEIN

Last Monday the swansong played for two members of the '49-'50 version of the Blue Hen basketballers. One of these was diminutive Jules "Ace" Hoffstein.

Although hampered by his 5' 5" stature, "Ace" proved himself to be a deadly set shot and clever ball handler. When "Ace" graduates he will leave behind him four years of varsity ball. His deadly accuracy was never felt as keenly in his first three years as it was in the first Haverford game this season. With only a few seconds remaining, "Ace" teed the charity line and dropped in his only point of the evening to give the Hens a 50-49 victory.

Nine letters have been earned by this small senior and he is presently trying to stretch his letter total to ten by going out for lacrosse. His nine awards were: four basketball, four soccer, and one baseball letter.

Symphony Orchestra, has appeared with the Boston, Chicago and Cincinnati orchestras, the famed Bach festivals in St. Louis and Bethlehem, Pa., and in concerts throughout the country. "Sonata in C Minor," by Reubke, one of his recent recordings, will be included in his program at Newark.

A native of England, Mr. Biggs attended the Royal Academy of Music in London, and after graduating with the highest honors, he toured England to play in some of the great historic cathedrals. Upon coming to America a number of years ago, he made his home in Boston and became an American citizen. Last fall he took part in two dedicatory recitals of the new organ in Symphony Hall, Boston. The first was the opening concert of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, which included the "Tenth Organ Concerto" by Handel, under the direction of Charles Munch; and the second was a benefit concert for Dr. Albert Schweitzer, when Mr. Biggs played solo organ compositions by Bach, and concertos by Haydn, Hindemith and Poulenc.

ROTC Notes

The Rifle Team will fire the NRA course for .22 caliber rifle at the Newark Armory during the week March 27 to 31. The course includes 10 rounds for the prone position, 10 rounds kneeling and 10 rounds standing position. The total possible score is 300. To date twenty members of the Rifle Team are scheduled to fire the qualification course for the National Rifle Association Expert, Sharpshooter or Marksman Badges. M/Sgt. Rivello, the Rifle Team coach, stated practice has shown much improvement by the team riflemen and there now appears to be a good nucleus for a rifle team qualified to participate in intercollegiate rifle matches next year.

The first spring drill for the ROTC will be held on Frazer Field March 21. The entire ROTC Battalion and Band will be assembled for inspection, formation and battery drill. All ROTC cadets are requested to check their uniforms now and if the uniform does not properly fit report to Sgt. Jacques, ROTC Supply Room, Old College.

Hens Drop Final To Drexel, 65-62

On Monday night the Blue Hen basketballers closed their 1950 season by losing to Drexel 65-62 at the Palestra in Philadelphia. This defeat brought the Delaware five's season's record to 8 wins and 8 defeats, and placed them in fourth place in the final standings of the Middle Atlantic States Basketball Conference. A win in this game would have given them a tie for second place with P. M. C., and Drexel's win did just that for the Dragons.

The Hens got off to an early lead, but sputtered and almost stalled in the second quarter. At half-time, Drexel was winning 38-30. The teams matched points in the third frame, but a quick Delaware spurt early in the last quarter wittled the Dragon lead to 4 points with 8 minutes to play.

The Hens continued to score, and with 1:47 to play, the count was knotted 58-58 by Walt Swenhardt's field goal. Drexel's Al MacCart made a basket and a foul shot before Buddy Kee dropped a Delaware foul shot. With 41 seconds left, Don Breder, the game's leading scorer, stole the ball twice within five seconds and scored each time, putting his team ahead 65-59. Ray Kee scored a goal and foul for Delaware, but only seconds remained. Drexel held the ball and won out 65-62.

Captain Jim McFadden and Ace Hoffstein each completed four years of varsity basketball with the Drexel game.

Attention! Intermural boxing and wrestling rosters should be turned in to Coach Rylander by March 20. Competition starts on March 27.

The unheralded ping pong team will meet Temple University at 4:30 p.m. in Taylor gym. Hossein Dawlatshahi, Ed Clark, Don Magnus, and Terry Schall are the four speedy Hens who carried our colors to national finals. Our team ranks second only to Upsala College, who will be met on March 17, in the Field House at 6:00 p.m.

Last Tuesday marked the initial practice of the field lacrosse team. Leo "Moon" Mullin will captain the squad this year as they battle their way through a rugged thirteen game schedule. The first game will be March 23, when the Hens play host to Springfield College. All freshmen interested are invited to come out for practices.

Author! Author!

By LIBBY HOUSTON

With the close of "Party Line," after the opening performance, the new musical production of the E-52 Players, we heard cries of Author coming from the audience.

We had the pleasure of interviewing the author-composer before the show began, and as you can well imagine, he was "very nervous, and not sure of anything else." He was especially pleased that the cast, through Elbert Chance, who played one of the leads, had left a note on the piano to tell him that they were behind him all the way and would do their best.

After talking with Bruce for a few minutes we were able to calm him enough so that he told us a few particular interests and worries concerning his "baby." He was especially interested in the ballet sequence and quite anxious to see and feel their response. Also the songs of Alan Stewart were favorites of the playwright and the amount of applause they were to receive would indicate whether or not they were as well liked by others as they were by Bruce.

In leaving to take his place at the piano in the orchestra pit, Bruce told us that he knew the music all by memory as well as the cues, but was not trusting himself. "I'm too nervous tonight, till the show's over, I'm a dead duck."

As you can well imagine, he was very much alive during the performance, and we would say that he was much more of a dead duck after the last curtain call. Needless to say he was "relieved," and we might add that he seemed practically speechless. However, we know that he was well satisfied with the audience response. He added that he was quite sure that the audiences later on in the week, would be more receptive, since they would be composed more of students and not so completely of "First Night Critics." Bruce was very pleased with the reception of the ballet and of Alan's songs.

To sum his own feelings into one phrase, Bruce was very proud of the cast and satisfied with the performance, and we're very proud of Bruce.

Between The Acts

Between the acts of the opening performance, several members of the night audience were polled as to their reactions to the all-Dela-

Mr. Taggart Evans: "I particularly like the musical numbers. They're catchy. Bruce Laird deserves a lot of credit. I am enjoying it very much."

Mrs. W. D. Holton: "I think it's very good. The music is unusual and the orchestra adds a lot."

Mr. G. L. Townsend: "The play is very good but drags a little."

Mrs. E. Z. McKelvey: "I thought it was wonderful. There was nothing wrong with any of the cast. I wish they had had more room."

Anonymous: "I thought it was very creditable. The music held together very well. It showed traces of Gilbert and Sullivan near the end. It showed remarkable talent."
