New London Avenue School Endangered In Morning Blaze

The Newark Firemen were called about 8:15 o'clock Wednesday morning to the New London Avenue school when smoke was discovered pouring from the basement of the building.

Prof. Julius A. Ryland, principal of the school stated that as he was on his way to the school one of the boys came running from the school grounds crying that smoke was coming from the building. Prof. Ryland quickly ran to the school where it was discovered that the flames were in the basement.

The local fire company was called and the blaze was quickly extinguished. Prof. Ryland was high in his praise of the efficiency of the local firemen and he stated that they seemed to work together like a well-oiled machine with no fuss nor noise and just doing a good job.

The room where the fire was has been used as a cooking school by the home economics department of the school and also a cafeteria. All the cooking utensils and a large quantity of food were destroyed.

The cause of the blaze has not been determined.

DEFENSE COUNCIL MEETING MONDAY

Refresher Courses To Be Held In Near Future

The staff of the Newark Council for Civilian Defense met in the Elliott building Monday night and after conducting routine business made plans for refresher courses to be held in the near future and courses for new members.

Robert K. Jennings in charge of First Aiders submitted a plan for a new set-up in the first aid organization which would eliminate many of the objectionable features of the present setup.

C. M. Palmer, liaison officer for the Defense Council stated that a series of incidents would be dramatized on the Newark High School stage in the near future to show the defects in the present setup. It is felt that this form of meeting will do much more good and won't be so dry as a series of talks might be.

Harry L. Bonham, chairman of the Newark Council for Civilian Defense presided at the meeting and discussed the test mobilization held on the past two Sunday afternoons. It was stated that the tests conducted without sounding the sirens could not be properly effective as the proper warning had not been given and the air raid wardens and auxiliary policemen in many cases had to stay on their posts until they were visited either by leaders in cars or by messenger.

Red Cross Work Room In New Location

The Red Cross work room is now open the first five days of the week from 10 to 4, and Tuesday and Thursday evenings from 7 to 9:30, for the making of surgical dressings. Tuesday from 10 to 4 for sewing.

The work is being carried on in the Student Council room of Old College. The Student Council has most generously given the Red Cross the use of their room for the remainder of the cold weather. Lack of fuel oil made it necessary to close the former work room.

We again urge more workers to join in this work.

Married to the former Eleanor May Howell of Christiansburg, the Tibbitts have one daughter, Eva, who attends the Newark Public Schools.

LIONS HEAR BOND TALK

Harry O. Gray Cites Program

The Newark Lions Club held its weekly dinner meeting Tuesday at Powell's Restaurant, temporary headquarters for the duration of the pleasure driving ban, and heard Harry O. Gray, deputy administrator of the Delaware War Bond Savings Staff outline the program for this State.

Delaware has managed to meet its quota each month thus far, Mr. Gray said, but faces the largest quota yet set for the period ending February 28 when more than $200,000 in Series E bonds and stamps must be sold. John R. Fader was appointed War Bond representative for the club and he will be assisted by Herman Handloff.

J. D. Counahan reported that a club committee was working on plans to have each member initiate and carry on correspondence with several Newark men now in the services of the country.

DANNY McVEY AWARDED WAR STAMPS

Tommy Silk And Roddy Holton Are Second And Third

Danny McVey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McVey, South College Avenue, was awarded 175 ten-cent war saving stamps for having sold the highest number of tickets for the play "My Sister Eileen," which was recently produced on Mitchell Hall stage as a benefit performance with the proceeds being given to the Newark Council for Civilian Defense.

Tommy Silk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell T. Silk was awarded the second prize of 100 stamps and Roddy Holton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter D. Holton, Sunset Avenue was third place winner with 50 stamps.

RECITAL SUCCESS

Staged By Music Society

On Friday evening, January 15, a full house greeted Raymond Burrows and Anthony Loudis when the Newark Music Society presented them in a duet piano recital.

Raymond Burrows, head of the Piano Department at Teachers College, Columbia University, and Anthony Loudis, Head of the Music Department at the University of Delaware, are a well balanced team with good tonality and precision.

The Saint-Saens Variations on a Theme of Beethoven was a well chosen number with which to open their program and this was quite the outstanding number of the evening. The remainder of the program was modern music, some very humorous and well done, some less attractive. Deserving special mention are the Waltz by Arensky, Scaramouche by Milhaud, the first movement which was humorous and the last movement which was brilliant were especially interesting. The Dance in the Patio by Reppe, Rush Hour in Hong Kong and Parade by Chasins. As encores, the artists played Chant Populaire by Gliere in which good contrapuntal passages appear, Polka by Berkely and Puppazetti by Casella.

As a whole the program leaned perhaps too much to the modern in music and one or two more or less familiar numbers interspersed in the program would have been welcome.

It is plain to be seen that Newark music lovers are cooperating 100 percent with the O.P.A. ban on pleasure driving. Mitchell Hall was well filled, yet not a car was parked outside.

In response to a request from the United States Treasury, Newark will hold its "Neighborhood Night" under the sponsorship of the Parent-Teacher Association on Thursday night, February fourth, at the Newark High School.

Several features for the evening have been planned which will emphasize the Schools at War program. Reports of the war activities of the students will be made by the students. Some of the activities will be dramatized and presented by the school's dramatic societies.

URGE FARM MACHINERY REPAIR NOW

Winter Time To Prepare Work Season

The Delaware Agricultural Extension Service advises Delaware farmers to look now for trouble which may develop in farm machinery during the working season as a result of worn, dirty, poorly lubricated, or cracked parts.

Winter is always a good time to make such repairs, but this winter it is more important than ever. Repair parts are going to be hard to get, and repair service is limited. During a working season this might mean loss of valuable time. These delays on repair work during the summer season will also be lengthened this year because there will be more old machinery in service, and therefore more breakdowns.

Farm machinery repair classes are now being conducted in practically every community of the state, and the Delaware USDA War Board urges farmers to take advantage of them. These classes, headed by experienced farm machinery instructors and sponsored by the local high school departments of vocational agriculture, are free to every farmer who is interested in taking the course.

For further details on these machinery repair classes, farmers are urged to consult their local high school vocational agricultural teacher.

The Rev. Frank I. Cartwright, D.D., of New York City, well known as an authority, lecturer, and writer of far Eastern subjects, and an associate secretary of the Board of Missions and Church Extension of the Methodist Church, was guest speaker at the Marshallton Methodist Church Sunday morning.

During his eleven years residence in China he came in close touch with life and movements and he also traveled widely in Northern China and the Yangtze Valley. More recently he visited the Orient, spending considerable time in the North, Central, Eastern, and Western China, he also spent many months in Japan, Korea, and the Philippine Islands, Malaya, Sumatra, and Borneo.

Dr. Cartwright was born in Wheeling, W. Va., and received his higher education in Ohio Wesleyan University, Garrett Biblical Institute, and Union Theological Seminary.

During his years in China, Dr. Cartwright helped in general evangelism, district work and Central Institutional Church, Foochow. He also edited the China Christian Advocate.

GOOD SEED IMPORTANT IN MAXIMUM CROP GOAL

State Farmers Warned Against Fake Soybean
Being Offered

"Maximum production of food and feed by Delaware farmers calls for close attention to the quality of seeds that are planted," says Claude E. Phillips, forage crop specialist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

1943 food production goals can't be reached with poor quality seed and farmers must not depend upon questionable varieties.

Delaware farmers are urged to be on their guard against purchasing a soybean being offered at bargain prices, for which extravagant claims are being made. Phillips' advice is, "Don't bite." He says that this bean is neither new nor wonderful, but an old inferior variety that has been discarded.

This soybean is so near a duplicate of the variety called Midwest that crop specialists cannot tell them apart. The Midwest was tested by the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station and discarded 15 years ago, because it gave low yield and other undesirable characteristics.

Growers in the Corn Belt also experienced trouble with this variety several years ago when it was introduced there as a super soybean.

Reports indicate that the same bean is back, and Phillips urges farmers not to take chances. Buy recognized varieties that have proved their adaptability to Delaware conditions. Such varieties as Manchu, Scioto, Mandell, Mingo, and Illini have proven their superiority. They have high oil bearing characteristics and insure promising yields.

Farmers who desire additional information on soybean varieties for Delaware are advised to contact their county agricultural agent.

NEW BUS SCHEDULE INADEQUATE AT STANTON

M. E. Quarterly
Conference
Will Be Held
On Sunday

Stanton, Jan. 21st — Residents of the Stanton area are being inconvenienced by a recently rearranged bus schedule. Under the new schedule, there is no bus between the hours of 9:45 a. m. and 1:45 a. m. Beginning at 4:30, there is a bus every hour up to and including 6:30. After 6:30 there is not another bus until 10:30, followed by another at 12:30.

The Mid-Week Prayer Service of the Stanton Methodist Church will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Peach.

Rev. Baynard announces that the last Quarterly Conference of the Stanton Methodist Church will be held on Sunday evening, February 21st, with the Rev. Oliver Collins, District Superintendent in charge.

Miss Lora Little, Principal of the Stanton School, announces that War Stamps and Bond Sales at the school this week amounted to $127.60. Also, that Grade 4 and 5, Miss Catherine Cheney, teacher, and Grades 5 and 6, Mrs. Helen W. Wright teacher, were 100 percent in the purchase of stamps. Sales are conducted at the school each week in charge of Mrs. Helen Wright.

CLOTHING SITUATION COMMANDS ATTENTION

Families Should Buy Carefully
Specialist Says

Farm families should check over their clothing supplies, according to Miss Louise R. Whitcomb, home management specialist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service.

Clothes will cost more this year, and the longer you wait to buy what you need the more they are likely to cost, and the lower the quality is likely to be. There are still ready-made clothes and materials for making your own, but experts believe that before the end of the year there may be shortages. There is already less choice of style and color.

Miss Whitcomb suggests that farm families take stock of what they have and buy what they need as soon as possible — not unnecessary supplies, but what they need.

When you buy, check shrinkage, color fastness, cleaning instructions, and the makeup of the material — all materials must be labeled. There are a lot of substitutes for standard materials, which are becoming scarce; wool, which is used by the armed forces in large quantities, is combined with many substitute materials, and even cotton supplies are dwindling. Handling the substitutes according to directions will help them give you better service.

You may find that home sewing is more practical than buying ready-made clothes this year. If so, check up on your sewing machine and have necessary repairs made at once, as repair service is also limited.

Textile research is years ahead because of the necessities of the war program. Fabrics are now being made rain-proof, fire-proof, and crease-resistant for military uses. They are being tested for warmth, tensile strength, and durability. In future years civilians will have the benefit of this work.

But that's when the war is over. Right now farm families are advised to get the clothing they need while they can get it.

A MEDICAL EMERGENCY

Pneumonia is a medical emergency and the life of the patient may depend upon the immediate application of appropriate treatment. Delay is dangerous and may be fatal, warns the State Board of Health. One hundred forty nine persons died from pneumonia in Delaware last year, 43 of them in New Castle County.

At this season of the year many persons have colds with accompanying respiratory infection. When colds are not cared for properly the infections often become acute. The onset of pneumonia is usually abrupt with symptoms of pain in the side, cough, chill or chilliness. Expectoration is usually rusty colored and tenacious. The temperature rises rapidly and may read 102 to 104 degrees within a few hours.

The discovery of the merits of certain drugs of the sulphonamide group and of specific anti-serums has made possible the general and effective control of pneumonia, as never before. But this is only possible where the doctor is called early. A decision regarding the nature of the disease must be made at the earliest possible moment in order that the remedial measures may be commenced in time.

The two general types of pneumonia are lobar (so-called from the presence of an inflammatory condition which affects the lobes of the lungs) and bronchopneumonia. The lobar pneumonia cases comprise more than half of the fatal cases and usually rank 7th among the commonest causes of death in the United States in recent years. In Delaware it ranks 6th.

Pneumonia is a communicable disease, that is it may be acquired by direct or indirect contact with a person having it. Because of this patients should be isolated.

If respiratory illnesses (infections of the nose or throat) develop do not try to treat them yourself, warns the State Board of Health. Call your family physician and give yourself a fighting chance to defeat pneumonia with the drug and serum weapons that science has put in the hands of the medical profession. Remember, too, that staying home IN BED at the beginning of a cold may cure it quickly and prevent the onset of the more serious influenza or pneumonia.

In mid-winter many people have reduced bodily resistance. Sensible folk will try to avoid all unnecessary exposure to wet and cold, to get sufficient rest and out-door exercise, and to eat wisely, including plenty of fruits and vegetables. Proper indoor ventilation, air fresh as well as warm, is another factor that aids in health, but drafts should be avoided.

THEY MIGHT BE ALIVE TODAY

Admiral Moreell, chief of the Navy's Bureau of Yards and Docks, in an address to the American Federation of Labor convention at Toronto, put the American workmen—and labor leaders—squarely on the spot.

Among other things, he told the workers that "you cannot have your cake and eat it too. You exist by virtue of the fact that this is a democratic country and, therefore, you have to preserve and protect democratic institutions. When the country is in peril, as it is today, all rules must be relaxed or waived completely. It is just as sensible for you fellows to take the position that a brick mason cannot, in time of emergency, help out with the placing of a steel beam, as it is for a marine to take the position that, because he is trained as a machine gunner, he cannot use a rifle or unload a landing boat. What a hell of a war this would be if such rules were applied to the boys on the firing line."

"... no one can live without labor, but they certainly can live without labor unions. They are living without them in Germany and in Italy, and in Japan... and they will damn well live without them here if all of you don't get in there and pitch."

Here are the sentiments of millions of Americans. They are written on the wall in the blood of American soldiers, sailors and airmen who have died because strikes and slow-downs in vital industries reduced our production of the machines of war—men who would have been living today had they but received a new plane, a tank, a gun.

THE WRITING ON THE WALL

The writing on the wall is everywhere now, for anyone to see—regimentation. Regimentation of jobs, of income, of living conditions, of time, thought, and action.

This is one of the demands of total war in seeking the greatest efficiency and production from available man and woman-power. How to so gear output that our standards of living at home will remain "American" and our armed forces will be supplied on time with all the unprecedented needs of global warfare, is the problem.

In theory, it is protection through equalization, "temporary" control of individual activity for the country's good in time of emergency.

While our people willingly accept "temporary" restrictions as a necessity of war, the thing to remember is that word "temporary." We must not drift into a mental attitude that will pave the way for permanent regimentation. That isn't the kind of people we are.

What we have, what we are fighting for, is our roots, growing deep into the soil of free enterprise and free thinking, and the privilege of minding our own business. That privilege is what we must go back to, after the war, if freedom as we have known it is to survive in America.

George Faucher of Sanford, Me., thought his appendix was infected, but an X-ray picture showed that a half-dollar Faucher had swallowed 10 years before was still in his stomach.

WALL PAPER FACTORY BURNS

Newark and Wilmington firemen work valiantly to save adjoining property.

The second disastrous fire to visit Newark since the cold weather set in occurred last Friday morning when the Jacob Thomas Wall Paper Factory, one of Newark's largest industrial plants, was totally destroyed. The loss, largely covered by insurance, is estimated at $250,000. The plant at the time employed 110 persons, mostly men, although a number of women worked there.

The entire plant was wrecked by the flames, nothing remaining but the walls and tangled, burned machinery. It occupied a brick building 350 by 200 feet, which ranged from one to three stories in height. It was located at North College and Cleveland Avenues, on the north side of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, nearly opposite Delaware College, and practically in the heart of Newark.

The fire which started about 6:20 o'clock, originated in the ash pit outside the boiler room, where some boards which accidentally got there caught fire. The blaze quickly communicated to woodwork on the building and spread rapidly throughout the plant, because of the inflammable material in the different departments. Harry Johnson, the night watchman, discovered the fire soon after it started and made an effort to extinguish it before it could spread to the building, but was unable to do so, whereupon he sounded an alarm on the whistle.

This brought the local fire company, but as the blaze was menacing from the outset, aid was sought from Wilmington and the Water Witch Fire Company responded with its pumping engine. It made the run to Newark in 15 minutes, the distance being 12 miles.

Both companies worked valiantly to confine the fire to the factory which was doomed from the start. During the morning there were a dozen fires in the H. W. McNeal lumber yard. A house adjoining the factory was also at one time in flames. Live coals and burning timber fell in yards throughout Newark, and a wild wind that came up after sundown made the night a terrifying one in this vicinity. All during the day the air was filled with the filmy substance of burned paper, and large pieces of charred decorated border pieces were found as far distance as the "Kells" grounds. Firemen continued the fight until three o'clock Friday. Coffee and sandwiches were served by Mrs. Evans, Mrs. Tyson, Mrs. W. H. Steele, Miss Martha Wilson and Mrs. McKelvey.

Originally An Organ Factory

The burned building, one of the landmarks of this neighborhood, was originally erected in 1889 for an organ factory for the Knapp Organ Company. In 1897, Thomas Davis started a wall paper factory there and in 1898 Jacob Thomas became a partner. A few years later, Mr. Davis retired. Mr. Thomas conducted the business alone until three years ago, when New York capital acquired a controlling interest.

Attractive Apartment Completed

Finishing touches have been added to the residential section of the Rhodes building on Main Street, where Dr. George W. Rhodes will make his future home. The modern apartment which occupies the entire second floor of the building, has been developed into one of the most beautiful residences in Newark. The apartment includes six rooms, with bath and store room. The entire suite is finished in hard wood, quartered oak and mahogany.

Newark High Loses To Dover

The Dover High School basketball team Thursday night defeated Newark High by the score of 33 to 12. The playing of Lynch who made 19 points for his team was a feature of the game. In the Newark line-up were: Armstrong, Robinson, Rowan, Williams, and Ramsey. Armstrong did all the scoring for the Newark team.

Red Cross Workers Needed

Word has been received from France of the imperative need at the front and in the billets of warm knitted articles for the protection and comfort of the soldiers. Brilliantly as the local knitting department shines for filling its allotment and over, there is always need for more knitted goods for our men to take with them as they go to the camps and then as they "Go Over".

Equally insistent is the call for more surgical dressings. Major Grayson Murphy is constantly cabling from France for a continual and enlarged supply of dressings. The Wilmington Chapter alone is required to supply 50,000 dressings a month. Everyone in Newark who can find time for knitting is urged to call at headquarters for yarn for the work.

Open Night At W.C.D.

Saturday night was "Open Night" at the Women's College. Miss Isabelle Wales of Wilmington was expected to sing at the Women's College on Saturday night, but she was prevented by a bad cold. A clever impromptu entertainment was improvised. Miss Kathryn Stevens and Miss Hilda Stevens played, and Dr. Syphers read a number of charming French-Canadian poems by William Henry Drummond. An hour of dancing followed.

FARMERS PART IN WAR EFFORT EXPLAINED

102 Attend Cooperative Meeting Tuesday

Nothing really matters except the winning of the war, doing it as quickly as possible, and without spilling a drop more American blood than we must, said J. E. Givens, director of Petroleum Service, Baltimore, at the regional conference of the Southern States Cooperative on Tuesday night, held in the dining hall of the Newark Methodist Church.

The war cannot and will not be won unless the American farmer comes through with production achievements heretofore without parallel in all history. The production of food and fibres is a war industry. It is just as much a war industry as is the manufacture of ships, planes, guns, and powder, he said.

One of the tragic aspects of the food situation, which now threatens the very life of the nation, is that it need not have happened. It is due to wrong policy and planning.

The shortage of food and fiber is chargeable primarily to two causes, both induced by government or administration policies: first a shortage of farm labor and second, inadequate prices for farm products.

A pro-labor administration has codified and catered to organized labor until industrial wages have been raised to a fabulous level, and working hours absurdly shortened in the light of present manpower needs.

Mr. Givens pointed out that the farmer was working more than double the hours that now prevailed in industry and said that if the farmers paid industrial wages and worked the hours that had been brought about in industry by labor unions with the connivance of the government, food prices would soar right through the roof. The farmer, he pointed out, did not get paid overtime for all over 40 hours a week. Neither does he get double time for his Sunday and holiday work. And the cows have to be milked and the chickens have to be fed on Sundays.

By the time other men are boarding street cars and busses for their jobs in the city, the farmer has done as much work as many men do all day. But his job has hardly begun.

Harry H. Nuttle of Denton, a director of the cooperative, presided at the meeting which was attended by more than one hundred persons. Paul E. Mullinix, district manager in a report on current operations said that the cooperatives business had increased 45 per cent during the year. He pointed out that shortages were a part of wartime conditions. The shortage of labor, transportation and many supplies are serious.

Prizes were awarded in a guessing contest to John Astle, Rising Sun; Alfred Davidson, and Lee Davidson, New Castle; F. Thaddeus Warrington, Newark; Norman Ford, New Castle; J. A. Sten, North East; Glen McGrody, Rising Sun, Frank Moody, Newark, Marvin Klair, Marshallton, and Everett England, Rising Sun.

Group singing was led by Mrs. John Astle.

Special guests invited to the meeting included: Mrs. John Astle, Mrs. Kate Henley Dougherty, Miss Helen I. Smith, T. A. Baker, Dr. R. O. Bausman, Richard E. Burke, J. Leslie Ford, Dr. Henry C. Harris, Barton T. Hopkins, S. L. Hopperstead, Marvin Klair, Jack Lafferty, Dale Landers, Darrell F. Long, J. Z. Miller, William Naudain, Clarence E. Ocheltree, Claude Phillips, J. H. CLEAN-UP DAYS

Today is the last of the January Clean-Up Days. Residents are requested to collect their rubbish and place it in containers in front of their property in order that town trucks may collect it on their rounds. Only one collection will be made monthly for the duration in the effort to conserve tires and gasoline.

SURE SHOT

The Newark High School basketball team has broken the scoring ice and won two basketball games. Nice going.

Last week in this column I suggested that Wally Dunsmore should not be satisfied with less than 12 points. Well Wally sank the ball to roll up 15 points. And, did he let me know about it? Well he sure did and I was sure glad. But Wally did not stop at that. When the Jackets journeyed to Claymont he again came across for twelve points and on Tuesday he was high scorer with nine shots from action and one foul shot for 19 points.

Harry Morrow also must have read the Sure Shots because he came across with 13 points in the game on Tuesday. Nice going Harry.

All-in-all those Newark boys played nice ball Tuesday night and don't let this get out, but did you boys know that Emory Adkins was in the audience. Who knows but some day you fellows will be playing on the floor of the new field house wearing the blue and gold colors instead of the black and gold.

Coach Adkins has not been doing a bad job, he just scheduled a few games with teams that were red hot. Those Delaware boys will come across and when they do there will be no stopping them.

Coach Gillespie has some real good material for next year among the members of the Jay Vees. They looked real good Tuesday, but I don't want to mention their names they might get swelled heads. But on second thought it might be well to just mention a few of them: George sank 4 field goals, now that is fine; Phillips accounted for 3 field and 1 foul goals for 7 points, that is also fine. Jim Davis was real good at center, he scored 6 points. Young Pie at the forward post came across for 3 points, now you can do better than that, get in the Wally class bud. Gregg did not score but he was not bad and Brandon Davis only made 1 point. Now Brandon let's make it 10 for the next game. Ferry, Walp and Talucci also failed to score, now that don't mean that they were not in there fighting and Detjen accounted for 2 points.

Well Jay Vees don't forget that you are the next years varsity team, and coach Gillespie will have as big a headache next year as he has had this year but you all know the coach—he comes clean.

Getting down to the very serious problems of the day. What are we going to do about our bread not being sliced. The next thing we know there will be a shortage of bread knives and then we will revert back to the days of the savage and tear a hunk off the end of the bread and ram it in our mouths because it is hard to get butter also. I really agree with that senator from out west who said that we should keep the butter for home use and for the use of our soldiers and send the oleomargarine to our allies. They won't pay for it anyway. They never did, so why send them the best.

Now don't get the idea that I am not patriotic. I have a boy who is either over there or on his way and I am proud of it and am just waiting for the time when they will take old men with no teeth.

The coal situation, as we go to press, is real bad. Are the miners being patriotic? Well your guess is as good as mine about that matter. For my part something should be done about those labor unions. They are getting too big for their britches.

I agree that labor should be organized to secure the best working conditions possible, but the labor organization of today is not like they were when I belonged to one back in 1914.

The above does not express the sentiments of this paper and is purely the expression of J. H. Rumer and the way I feel about it.

By the way, has one of those Captains, Majors or Colonels been to your house to receive your donation for the Delaware War Chest drive? I stopped in home the other day at the wrong time. One of the Captains was there and my wife had just taken the money out of her pocketbook to give to her when I blew in. Well, Mom put her money away and I was hooked, but it was all for a good cause.

It was reported that we had another silent test air raid last Sunday. No one called me and I found out about it the next day. It was reported that several others did not receive any notification.

We are glad to see that Denver Roberts is getting ready to reopen his ice cream store. Here's wishing you luck Denver. They can't keep a good man down.

It was reported that the Red Men held a dance in their lodge rooms this Tuesday night. Now no one could have known it because there were no cars parked on the streets nearby.

Even the sportsmen who attend the Eastern Beagle Club field trials are sportsmen enough to comply with the O.P.A. ruling. Last Sunday when they held a pack hunt they went out to the club house in farm wagons.

Bob Connell and Ed Lawson were the owners of the first place hounds. Bob's hound, Oakwood Postage Due, showed it had what it takes to win over a field of 33 hounds in the 13 inch class. It only goes to show that breeding will tell in the long run.

Ed Lawson's Connell's Mitzie, winner of the 15 inch class, topping a field of 17 hounds also comes of good stock and Ed sure has a fine string of hounds.

The Newark Police Force will lose a good man about the first of the

WALLY DUNSMORE SCORING LEADER AS YELLOWJACKETS GAIN SECOND VICTORY

Stopped By P. S., Brown, And A. I., Local Cagers Down Claymont And William Penn High; Meet Delaware Freshmen Next Tuesday

Wally Dunsmore led the scoring attack on the William Penn team Tuesday night when the Yellowjackets racked up their second victory of the season by defeating New Castle 52 to 38 on the local court. Wally sank 9 shots from action and one foul goal for 19 points.

WESTERN MARYLAND DOWNS HENS 39 TO 24

Fourth Defeat Of Season For Hens; Go South On Friday

Grabbing an early lead and staving off one strong Blue Hen rally in the second half, the Green Terrors of Western Maryland handed the University of Delaware a 39 to 24 basketball defeat at Westminster, Md., on Jan. 16.

Although the Hens were able to score only six goals from the field, accurate shooting from the foul line kept the charges of Coach Emory Adkins within striking range until the middle of the second half when Lodge, stellar guard for the Marylanders, dropped three straight set shots to put the game on ice for the Terrors.

The Hens were clearly outclassed from the field, six goals to the victor's 15, but had a better-than-average night on conversions, making 12 out of 18 attempts.

Two of the three senior starters, Capt. George Barlow and Benny Crescenzi kept the Blue and Gold quiet too far behind during the first half, the score at the end being 18-13. Starting the second half, Adkins rallied, and although they could garner only one field goal in the last 20 minutes—that a layup by Barlow—eight foul conversions whittled the count to 24-23, before a final Terror surge carried the Hens away.

Lodge, Robinson, and Mogowski paced the Terrors' scoring with 11, 11, and 10 points, respectively. Crescenzi was the only Blue Hen to hit double figures with 10 points.

The Delaware quintet will be idle until next Friday and Saturday, when they go southward to take on Loyola and Randolph-Macon.

month we are told. Smiling Samuel Tibbett has handed in his resignation and will become a member of the Wilmington Bureau of Police. Now that is too bad, but without a doubt Sam is doing the right thing. In Wilmington the department is bigger and naturally there is more room for advancement.

I am sure that we will all miss Sam and we can only hope that those flatfeet in Wilmington will recognize your ability and make you a Captain or General or something. If I don't use the right titles you will have to excuse me as the only thing I am acquainted with in Wilmington is those nickel-snatching machines they have lined up along the streets.

Another member of the Newark Police Force has received his initiation as an airplane spotter. Last Saturday morning Officer James Smith had his first taste of this patriotic duty which is taking the spare time of so many of our citizens.

Officer Smith and Bud Wassmer went out to the Chestnut Hill post with Elbert Kennard and spent a quiet time observing the stars. Our hats are off to the local police. They are doing a fine job. It has been stated that they have classes now in an effort to become better acquainted with all the latest ways of crime detection.

We still think that there should be a pension system set up for these men. Why—in Wilmington they even pension park guards, and we should never let Wilmington get ahead of Newark. Everyone knows that Wilmington is just a suburb of our fine town.

Ralph Smith of Chestnut Hill recently purchased a registered Guernsey cow from C. M. S. Stine of Newark, Del., to add to his local herd. Donna's Jewel 320965 is the name under which this animal is registered with The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Narragansett Track Asks Racing Dates

An application for racing dates in 1943 was filed this week by Judge James E. Dooley, president of the Narragansett Racing Association.

In forwarding the application to John E. Martin, racing administrator of Rhode Island, Judge Dooley said he was permitting himself the hope that "the present gasoline restrictions may be modified before the time comes for the opening of the spring meeting."

The racing dates requested were from April 10 to May 8, and Aug. 9 to Sept. 25.

BLUE HENS BOW TO W. C. T. C. 27 TO 23

Hercules Five Tops Jay Vees In Prelim By Score of 31-30

Held scoreless for the first eight minutes of the contest and to a lone field goal in the first quarter, a lay-up by Don Van Brunt, University of Delaware's basketball team suffered its third straight defeat as West Chester Teachers College took down a 27-23 victory in the field house Thursday.

Play in the opening period was rough and the passing of both clubs poor, while the Blue Hens, with plenty of shots, just couldn't sink them.

Sparked by Ben Crescenzi and Capt. George Barlow the Hens improved considerably in the second quarter and managed to pull a 13-10 at the half by outscoring the Teachers, 8-3 in that quarter.

The third quarter was slow with both teams missing many shots and, despite the improvement of play in the closing quarter, the best the Blue Hens could do was hold the visitors even as both teams counted nine points.

Nathan Kendig, with seven points and Joe Saltzman with six led the scoring for West Chester, but game honors went to Captain Barlow of the Hens with 10 points, scored on three action shots and four foul conversions.

From the penalty mark Delaware made good 11 out of 21 chances, while the Teachers tallied nine out of 18 shots.

The Delaware Jay Vees dropped a 31-30 decision to Hercules of the Wilmington Industrial League in the preliminary game.

Hickey and Sullivan shared scoring honors for the winners, each with nine points, while Steve Romanik led the Delaware team with 13 counts.

Allotments May Be Overplanted Without Fear Of Penalty

Secretary Wickard said, "Feed grain production in 1942 was the greatest in our history, and we have record feed supplies on hand. But we have an expanding livestock industry that will call for unprecedented feed supplies. Feed grains are the basic raw materials from which our vital livestock products are produced. That is why we are moving now to be certain that our reserves can be maintained."

Delaware farmers who want to plan more than regular corn allotments to help out in meeting this demand for corn should get the details of this plan from their Triple-A committee men or county agricultural agent.

ART EXHIBIT AT MEMORIAL LIBRARY

Sponsored By Women's College
Art Department

An exhibition of the painting done by children of the Bancroft Elementary School in Wilmington now is being presented to the public by the Art Department of the Women's College, University of Delaware. Opened last Thursday (January 14) in the Art Gallery of the University's Memorial Library, the exhibit will continue through January 30.

This exhibition represents the work of Bancroft School children from the first grade through the sixth which has been done under the direction of Joseph Corbi, art teacher at the school, and serves to interpret one phase of the teaching in the Wilmington Elementary School Curriculum.

As the work on exhibit shows, painting has become very popular with the Bancroft School children. In order to facilitate their work in this field, Mr. Corbi has designed a special section of the studio to be used by the children whenever they wish to paint. It is a sloping shelf along the wall of part of the room. There the children not only can paint whenever they wish, but they can also tack up their pictures just above the work shelf so that they can study them from some distance. They may also leave them there for a time for the other children to study and enjoy.
