BILL O'CONNEL
VOTED MANAGER OF BROWN HALL

William O'Connell, news reporter for the REVIEW, was elected House Manager of Brown Hall for the present term at a general meeting of the men residents on Thursday evening, January 4.

After this meeting the students chose the following nine representatives to the House Council: first floor, Park Huntington; second floor, Barton Lewis, Albert Price, Trudeau Barley, and Newell Duncan; third floor, Richard Guerke, John Harty, Joel Yancy, and David Van Ormer.

This week the manager and the council will take their oath of office, which will be administered by Dean J. Fenton Daugherty. At the first meeting, other council officers will be elected and a calendar of events planned.

O'Connell, a senior mechanical engineer, comes from Wilm-

THREE FACULTY MEMBERS RETURN

Three members of the faculty have returned to their teaching posts this term after serving with the Armed Forces.

Captain Robert G. Caldwell has returned to his duties as assistant professor of sociology. He has been serving in Florida and Mississippi, under the Federal Security Agency, in the execution of the Social Protection Program among soldiers in that area.

Captain C. Robert Kase has resumed his former position as director of dramatics and associate profes-

BARNES LEADS LIST WCD LIST NOT YET OUT

For the first time since the spring of 1943 Delaware College has again released a Dean's List of all men who achieved an average of B or better in the preceding term.

The system weights the average according to credit hours for the subjects. An A counts as 4 points, a B as 3, a C as 2, a D as 1, and an F as 0. The final average is found by multiplying the grade by the credit hours, finding the sum of these products, and then dividing by the number of credit hours. The Women's College has an equivalent honor list but, because of the discrepancy between credit hours taken by the various girls, it has been felt that such a list might not be a

HELP WANTED

We need help. And we need it very decidedly. We don't have definite mimeographing and stenciling staffs, and the demand and necessity for filling these positions is great. At the present time, these jobs are done by other members of the staff, making these students do a large proportion of the work each week. This is not the right kind of an organization to have.

It is true that this is probably our own fault for not organizing the staffs more accurately in the beginning. But realizing this we're now calling on the rest of the student body to give us more co-operation and assistance.

However, we are not entirely to blame. Originally, a large number of students signed up for these two jobs. But many of these students have never appeared at the office, or when asked, found that they just didn't have the time or that some plans interfered. Perhaps that is true, but there must be some who could help. Naturally publishing the paper requires a sacrifice in time and personal plans; but that is to be understood in volunteering and accepting a position. And isn't it worth the sacrifice?

ART SHOW by Richard Guerke

"Variety in Abstraction" is the title of the art exhibit being shown in the college gallery from January 2 to January 23. The exhibit is being loaned to the University by the Museum of Modern Art, and the information attached to each picture is the work of Mr. J.J. Sweeny who directed this exhibit for the Museum. Mr. Sweeny is a noted authority on abstract art, and his comments are well worth the time consumed in reading. Although there are many well-known artists represented, three pieces stand out as exceptionally brilliant: "The Knife Grinder" by Kasimir Malevitch, "Under a Black Light" by Malta Echaourse, and "Still Life" by Jaun Gris.

It is recommended that every student endeavor to see the show to increase his general knowledge on the subject of abstract art, which seems to be the present tendency in the artistic field. This reviewer was not particularly impressed or spiritually incensed by the paintings, but the final judgement rests with the individual-----of course.

sor of English. Captain Kase has served in the Army Specialists Corps as director of entertainment for the United States Forces in Puerto Rico and Trinidad.

Having been on leave since last March to help with the Navy program at Cornell University, Dr. Gordon L. Walker again takes up his post as assistant professor of mathematics. His wife, Mrs. Jacqueline Walker, returns with him as a research assistant in chemical engineering.

COLLEGE HARBORS CRIMINALS!

Did you know that in the quiet, little town of Newark, Delaware - yes, even in this very campus we are harboring dangerous criminals, criminals convicted of a heinous crime? It is sad to relate that two of our coeds were hauled into court by the police of Wilmington and that the large sum of $1.00 was exacted from each to pay for her misdoings. We blush to mention their names, but these coeds, alias Susie Venutinbubble and Sadie Schlepous were arrested in Wilmington the other day for "jay walking". They reported that everyone in City Hall was very polite about guiding them through the corridors of City Hall to the place where they paid the fine. So let this sad story be a lesson to all you would-be law-breakers---don't jay walk in Wilmington.

PLACEMENT BUREAU

The Placement Bureau of the University of Delaware is now ready to help former students, whether graduates or non-graduates, to relocate themselves after being discharged from the armed services.

The plan of the Bureau provides for an Advisory Committee with representatives in various cities. These representatives are expected to offer advice upon opportunities for work, both general and specific, in that area.

The process of placing the veterans begins with the answering of a short questionnaire

WITH OUR ALUMNI

Word was received recently from some of the ASTP who were here at the University. Bill Maher has been awarded the combat infantry badge. R. W. Smith has won the bronze star while Louis Fendleton has been made a staff sergeant. All three are located in Germany. Quotes Maher, "After seeing quite a little combat duty, I've come back for an all too brief rest. It sure is good to take a shower after a six week wait as well as to don clean clothing and to get regular sleep every night."

Ensign Jack Daugherty was on the campus the other day. He's headed for the South Pacific. Don M. Long, '44, has been promoted to a major. Ensign Burt Willard, '45, is on an LSM in the Pacific. He writes, "It really is a thrill to get the 'News' way out here and see where my other school buddies are."

Pfc. Charles Assimos, '47, is in England. Lieutenant Rudolph Heller, Jr., '45, is a first pilot on a C-47 transport in the troop carrier command and is now serving over-seas.

asking for essential data. The service is without expense to the applicant. The staff of the Bureau are asking for the cooperation of all alumni to insure the success of the undertaking.

ALUMNI TO TRY TO RAISE MONEY FOR SCHOLARSHIPS

To raise at least $1500 for a scholarship fund is one of the purposes of the Sixth Annual Fund Campaign to be launched on Saturday night by a general committee of the Alumni Association, according to Mr. John A. Munroe, class of '36, and editor of the UNIVERSITY NEWS.

The chairman of the campaign is Mr. Roger W. Fulling, class of '32. Mr. Harry W. Loose, class of '20, president of the association, is the father of one of the present freshmen, Betty Loose.

The meeting will be held in one of the parlors of the Hotel duPont. About forty people are expected to attend. The annual alumni reunion will be held in mid-winter.

"ALL IN THE FAMILY"

Of two hundred sixty-four students at Women's College, one hundred four have two hundred twenty-five relatives who have attended the University of Delaware, according to a study made by Miss Edith A. McDougale, secretary of the Alumnae Association.

Nancy Cooch has been preceded at the University by eleven relatives; Her grandmother, great-uncle, mother, father, brother, sister-in-law, two uncles, and three cousins. Sally Heinel, of New Castle, has eight; and Ruth Vernon of Wilmington, seven. Ella Mae McCleary and Sophie McVey, both of Newark, and Jeanie Lockwood, of Philadelphia, follow with six each.

HEB DOWN THE LINE by Red

This is the week The Blue Hens go to battle with the Gallaudet University courtmen on the Field House floor this Saturday. This column wants to wish the boys all the luck in the world. Coach Bill Murray has not released a starting line-up; but Sewell Duncan, Alby Price, Dick Swing, Bill Monaghan, Lou Keil, Tommy Riggle, and Bill Cain should see lots of action.

Also due acclaim for their untiring work in managerial roles are Larry Schorr, Park Huntington, Alvan "Hoppy" Wolfe and, last but not least, Bob "Cactus Jack" Watson. Speaking of "Cactus Jack", he also doubled as a floor-mopper in wet weather and extra pivot man in scrimmages.

Private Gerry Bowlus returned to the campus last weekend on his way to Rutgers University where he will study with the ASR unit there. Gerry, you will recall, was the star of last year's basketball team and will be anxious to see Delaware defeat Gallaudet this Saturday.

ington. He entered the University in September, 1942, after graduating from Arcimore Academy, Glaxmont, where he was an honor student and a participant in several extracurricular activities.

IN THE SPOTLIGHT Alby Price

This able athlete, noted for his spectacular set shots on the basketball floor, is new to many of us, but with his pleasant manner and winning smile (thank Ipana), he has won many permanent friends on the campus. Entering from P. S. duPont High School, in Wilmington, "Alby" played varsity football, baseball, and basketball for that school. He was chosen outstanding athlete in his class, and since his graduation has been employed as a draftsman with the Hercules Powder Company.

A student in the Arts and Science school, "Alby" has been known in Wilmington circles for several years on the diamond as well as on the court.

Two songs rate high on his list, being the "Bluebird" and "Rum and Coca Cola". The former we can understand, but the latter....

So we wish to welcome Alby Price to our fold, and wish him the best of luck in everything, and especially when he has a basketball in his hands.

DEAR ATTENDS GRADUATION

On Wednesday, January 10, Dean Marjory S. Golder is going to attend the commencement exercises of the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania. At one o'clock a luncheon will be held at the Barclay Hotel.

REXTREW, STURGES GET HEAD POSITIONS

Miss Amy Rextrew has been appointed Dean of Home Economics and Miss Gertrude Sturges, University Registrar, according to an announcement by Dr. W. C. Syphard, Acting President of the University. These offices will become effective as soon as feasible under the reorganization plan.

FOUR FRESHMEN ENTER THIS TERM TO MAKE 242 GIRLS

The total enrollment of Women's College this term is 242. The following table shows the distribution. These figures include a freshman, Gloria DePrisco, Mandeville, Delaware, admitted to the School of Engineering in December; two freshmen, Grace Larson, Wilmington, Delaware, and Florence Reynolds, Roselle, Wilmington, Delaware, admitted to the School of Arts and Science on January 2; a freshman, Sara Swing, Easton, Maryland, admitted to the School of Home Economics on January 2; and a special student, Mrs. Jeanne Tepe, Wilmington, Delaware, a student- (next column, please)

LEGISLATURE INSPECTS U. of D.

On January 5, the University had its bi-annual inspection by a committee from the state legislature and the Lt. Governor. Some of the places where the committee visited were the Field House, Brown Hall, University Hall, Women's College Gymnasium, and Old College, where they inspected the kitchen and quarters of the soldiers.

Three new building projects which were suggested to the committee as part of the post war improvement of the campus were a new girls' dormitory, green houses for the plant pathology department and a health center for the whole University. The proposed site for the infirmary is between the Maintenance Center and New Castle Hall.

REES SEES BETTER WORLD

Dr. Carl J. Rees, professor of mathematics, who is now doing special work of a confidential nature with the Army Air Force in China, predicts a much better quality of American citizen when the war is over. He writes in a recent letter, "But the more I see of others, the more fortunate I think we are as individuals and as a nation. We better understand and appreciate our privileges as citizens of the United States in this or any other foreign background. The war should produce a multitude of good citizens."

Dr. George Millikan, of the political science department, is serving as an aide and flag secretary to Admiral Wilks. He is probably stationed in France. Dr. William Fletcher, of the ancient languages department, is now on the Royal Canadian Naval staff in Washington.

FIRST SOCIAL OF
NEW SERIES HELD IN BROWN HALL

Movies Shown And Refreshments Served

The first of a series of social gatherings planned for this term was held Sunday evening, January 7, in the lounge of Brown Hall. Movies were shown and refreshments served for faculty members, their wives, and students.

Among the faculty attending were Dean and Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty, Dr. and Mrs. Cyrus L. Day, Professor and Mrs. Thomas D. Mylrea, R. John H. Powell, Dr. Richard P. McCormick, and Mrs. H. H. Finch, Jr. Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, Director of men's dormitories, aided by Mrs. Day and Mrs. Mylrea, served sandwiches, cocoa, and cookies.

During the evening, Dean Daugherty took moving pictures of the group, which are to be shown in the near future. After the informal serving of refreshments, he set up a screen at the end of the room and showed technicolor movies of the campus taken before the erection of some of the newer buildings. Included were pictures made during the construction of University Hall, and the Memorial Library and shots of the campus minus Brown Hall. Among other reels were the Delaware-Dickinson football game witnessed by the largest crowd ever assembled on Frazier Field, the cornerstone-laying for Brown Hall, and several high school football games.

The meeting in Brown Hall next Sunday will feature a special Home Talent Program with students providing all entertainment.

FARMERS' WEEK OPENS
THIS WEEK ON CAMPUS.

Farmers' Week, the annual program planned by the School of Agriculture for farmers of the vicinity, opened yesterday in Wolf Hall. This year all the information on a special subject is being presented during one day for the benefit of some who are unable to attend the entire course.

Increasing Delaware's milk production immediately to meet wartime needs and developing the efficiency of the local dairy industry to compete in post-war markets are two of the main topics to be discussed.

The mimeographing is not difficult, but it does require three or four people: one to run the machine, one to slip-sheet, and one or two to sort the pages from the slip-sheets. Valuable time could be saved if the staff were large, then the same people on the staff would not have to work each week. A system of rotation could be arranged. The mimeographing is done on Monday, usually in the afternoon; and if you don't know anything about such work, you could very easily learn. The stenciling is more difficult; but if you can type, this is not a hard job, either. We have to have the stencils before we can mimeograph so this is usually done over the week-end.

This is an urgent appeal for more student assistance. The REVIEW is again a part of the University, and we would like it to remain as such. Don't forget that it is your paper and that its publication depends on all the students.
