Cadets to Dance In Old College Saturday Night

Old College will be the scene of the annual Military Ball this Saturday from 8 to 12 as the students of the advanced course of the Reserve Officers Training Corps dance to the smooth strains of a local orchestra.

The Ball, usually a dinner dance held in the Dupont Country Club, near Wilmington, was moved to the campus in order that no one would be prevented from attending due to a lack of transportation facilities. A special bus has been engaged to bring the couples who live in Wilmington to Newark and a plan is being considered whereby the girls who wish may spend the evening in one of the campus fraternities. In case of a sudden drop in temperature many of the boys will follow the suggestion of Lieut. Morton and employ the ancient armstrong heater in the chilly bus to forestall any chance of P-neumonia. A buffet supper will be served in the lounge later in the evening.

Chaperones for the evening will be Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hullihen and Dr. and Mrs. J. Fenton Daugherty. Guests will include Col. and Mrs. D. M. Ashbridge, Major and Mrs. Walter Moore, Major and Mrs. Alvin B. Roberson and Lieut. and Mrs. Donald Morton.

Ed Carullo is chairman of the dance and is being assisted by members of the Senior class.

Plans Formed for Intramural Play Contest February 4

Comes now the season of the year when all good fraternity men and true should don the garb of Thespis and unlimber their histrionics. For February 4 is the date of the Delaware College Intramural Play Contest, when the five fraternities (and any other Delaware College organization that cares to enter the fracas) battle for dramatic honors.

Any group that wishes to compete should appoint a director immediately. Said directors should (a) see Miss Ruthanne Tease, president of the E-52 Players about details; (b) submit a copy of his play to Mr. Robert Durkee at Mitchell Hall for approval; (c) get rehearsals started right away.

According to campus talk, this year's contest bids fair to be a battle royal. Sigma Tau Phi, winner for the past two years, is determined to triumph again and thus retain permanent possession of the Dramatic Trophy donated by the Interfraternity Council. Brown Hall (better known as the Hotel Astor) is readying a promising entry. Kappa Alpha, not represented in the last two contests, is rising to the present occasion under the influence of Mitchell Hall's own Zedoc Pool.

On the evening previous to the Delaware College Intramurals, will be held the Women's College Competitives. The four classes (or are there three now?) of W. C. D. will vie for South Campus theatrical prestige. The same critic-judge will officiate for both evenings. He will also name the best play of both contests as the winner of the entire Campus Play Festival.

At a recent meeting, the cheerleaders elected Roland "Deacon" Reed as captain for next year. Roland will assume his duties upon the graduation of the present captain, Dick Tybout.

To Play at Prom

CHUCK GORDON

New Field House Scene Of W.C.D. Junior Prom

After several delays due to the extension of the last term, Chuck Gordon will bring his orchestra to the University of Delaware for the Women's College Junior Prom. The dance will be held in the new Field House, to which we were so well initiated with the Prom given by Delaware College last November, on January 22 from nine to two.

In addition to fine dance music, Chuck features a balanced show within his band. The vocal numbers are shared by Fred Wilkenson and lovely Frances Bishop.

This dance is on the girls and all girls are urged to buy their tickets right away. Tickets for Juniors are $5.00, while for Sophomores and alumnae the price is $3.85.

K.A.'s Hold Annual Formal; District Fraternity Meeting

On Saturday night, January 8, Beta Epsilon of Kappa Alpha Order played host to its brothers from five other nearby chapters at a Formal Dance. This dance was the social highlight of the biennial Kappa Alpha Province Council, held each time at the home of a different chapter. The dance was held in Old College from 8 to 12, with music provided by Wilmington's Doc Viohl, himself a K.A.

The gala affair was prefaced by a Formal Dinner in the Commons for the members, visiting brothers, and their dates.

The members of the chapter decided that the decorations would be simple, and in keeping with wartime economy. The KA flag was hung outside the Commons and spotlighted. The decorations inside featured a combination of red and gold, the colors of the Order. A large colored KA shield, designed by Carl Wright and painted by Warner Merrill, was hung over the bandstand, against an impressive background of red velvet. The committee in charge of decorations included: Curtains—Carl Wright, J. L. Webb, and Warner Merrill; Ceiling and Wall Decorations—Russell Newcombe, Z. A. Pool, Howard Wilson, Frank O'Day, Jesus Fernandez, Richard Engberg, Robert Doordan, and Byron McCandless.

Other committees were: Lighting—Leonard Dougherty, Drexel Pierce, Jack Carrow, and Vance Mitchell; Furniture—S. R. Richeson, Albin Shaw, and Peter Zannoni. Outside decorations—Stewart Hild, Howard Wilson, and Fred Stecher.

Verse By Students to be Published in Anthology

An anthology of poetry by American college students will be published early in the Spring, the Editors of Harbinger House, New York publishing firm, announce. Work on the compilation of the volume has already begun, and manuscripts are now sought.

Verse by all students, whether graduate or undergraduate, will be eligible for consideration. Any student may submit an unlimited number of poems, but no single poem should be more than 60 lines in length. Manuscripts should be typewritten or legibly handwritten, on one side of the paper only.

Manuscripts should be submitted prior to January 30, 1943. They should be addressed to Editors, College Poetry Anthology, Harbinger House, 381 Fourth Avenue, New York, N. Y., and must be accompanied by return postage. Students may submit verse at once, or write for a folder giving full information.

Some Vacancies in Faculty Not Filled As Many Leave

Students are not the only ones who are creating more problems each day for the college administrators to solve. The faculty is causing the administrators more and more headaches all the time. If it isn't the draft, then it's some defense industry that calls the faculty members away.

So far instructors have been found to take over the duties of most of the faculty members who have left during the past month. However, to date no one has been found to fill the vacancies created when Dr. G. L. Millikan and Dr. L. W. Beck left the University. Dr. Millikan, who left shortly before the end of last term to go into the Navy, was an instructor in political science. Dr. Beck, an associate professor of philosophy, is now doing defense work for the Hercules Company. He is still teaching one advanced course in the evenings.

Because of illness, Professor G. A. Koerber was forced to take a six months leave of absence. Mr. Harry Beik, a graduate of the University of Delaware last year, has returned to teach some of the electricity courses. Mr. M. G. Young, of the same department, has been promoted to assistant professor of Electrical Engineering and made acting head of the department.

The two Fellows in Chemistry, Harold Bogardus and Arthur Stokes have left the University of Delaware to accept positions in the Naval Research Laboratory in Washington.

Up in the Physical Education Department we find that Coach H. W. Lawrence has accepted a position with a defense plant in New Castle. Mr. Joseph Shields, who was connected with this department for several years before taking a job with the Red Cross, has returned to take over the swimming team.

From Wolf Hall we find that Kenneth W. Baker, associate director of the Extension Service, has accepted a special wartime assignment with the Food Supply Division of the Office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs. This job will take him to either Brazil or Paraguay. Dr. J. M. Watkins, assistant professor of Agronomy, has accepted a similar position.

To take care of the shortage of Biology instructors, Dr. Paul L. Rice will teach a few courses.

Hens Lose Basketball Opener to Rutgers As the New Field House is Dedicated

The University of Delaware's new Field House was dedicated last Wednesday night, with the highlight of the evening being a basketball clash between a strong Rutgers quintet and the 1943 edition of the Blue Hen basketball team. The Field House was made possible through the generosity of Mr. R. R. M. Carpenter who has done much to better the athletic conditions here at the University.

Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty presided over the exercises which were opened with an invocation by Reverend O. A. Bartley from the class of '34. After the invocation, Dr. Daugherty presented the keys to the new Field House to Mr. E. William Martin, the architect who designed the building, who in turn turned them over to Mr. R. R. M. Carpenter, Jr. Mr. R. R. M. Carpenter, Sr. was to receive the keys, but illness prevented him from participating in the ceremony. Mr. R. R. M. Carpenter, Jr., in turn, turned the keys over to Dr. Walter Hullihen, President of the University. Dr. Hullihen then introduced such notables as Governor Walter Bacon, who is an ardent Blue Hen athletic fan. Other members of the University's Board of Trustees were also present. These were Judge Hugh M. Morris, president of the Board, and Mr. John P. Cann, also of the Board.

Dr. Hullihen then introduced Mr. George E. Little, Director of Athletics at Rutgers University who said a few words. Mr. Carpenter, Jr. then presented the game ball to the officials and the game got under way.

The powerful Rutgers quintet which has only lost to Princeton University this season got off to a fast start, paced by high-scoring Jim Gale. However, the Hen team soon began to click and came up to within three points of the Pennsylvania combine at halftime 18-15. The Blue and Gold attack was paced by Dick Reed and Verdel Short. In the second half the Delaware courtmen started hitting the cords consistently with Benny Crescenzi leading the offensive. After a nip and tuck third period, the Hens led by a point going into the final frame. The last quarter was just as closely contested with the Blue and Gold forging ahead on numerous occasions, only to have the sharp-shooting of Sophomore

Their program, which promises to be an interesting one, is as follows: Variations on a Theme by Beethoven, Saint-Saens; Waltz, Arensky; Gracia, Infante; Searamouche, Mulhaud; The Blue Danube Waltz, Strauss-Chopin; Malaguena, Lecuona; Waltz from "Facade," Walton; Ritual Fire Dance, de Falla-Loudie; Bilthe Bella, Grainger; The Arkansas Traveler, Pattison; The Dancer in the Patio, Repper; Rush Hour in Hong Kong, Chasins; and Parade, Chasins.

Registration for 2nd Term 54 Less As 24 Frosh Enter

After two weeks of the glorious freedom of Christmas vacation the time came last week for us to submit ourselves once more to the horrible self-torture of school. Our blissful carefree days were over, and by registering for the second term last Monday 471 of us announced our intentions of abandoning our dream-world and getting back to work.

There is little point in describing the hurly-burly of Registration Day. We all saw the people running hither and yon with their hands full of cards, meal tickets, schedules, blank checks and other junk. We all heard the confused "Where do I go now?" "When do we eat?" (the optimistic) "Why can't I take Qualitative Analysis?" and so forth.

But perhaps someone is interested in statistics. Of the 471 who registered at Delaware College, there are 251 engineers, 166 in the School of Arts and Sciences, 21 in Education, and 31 Aggies—and (in case Harter (Continued on page 4)

Our Field House

After twenty years of trying, the goal has finally been reached and the University of Delaware has its much needed Field House. Dedicated last Wednesday evening, the new building is now an official part of our campus equipment.

We want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. R. R. M. Carpenter for his gift which made the construction of the new Field House possible. Mr. Carpenter is an active member of the Board of Trustees and this is only one of the many things he has done to help make this University the institution it is today.

Naturally, it will be the students of the University who appreciate the new building more than anyone else. And you can rest assured, Mr. Carpenter, that we do appreciate it. We will show our appreciation by our use of the building. Already it has become one of the most popular places on the campus, and the innumerable uses for the Field House are being increased every week.

Also, we think that some credit for the new Field House should go to President Hulihan. Ever since he has been at the University of Delaware he has been trying to provide for an improvement over the old gymnasium which was constructed by the state in 1905. His continuous efforts have finally gained results, and the new Field House is now a reality.

No Gas

The change in the location of the Military Ball from the duPont Country Club to the Commons is quite a blow to all the Advanced Military students. This dance is always one of the nicest of the year and the boys have been looking forward to it for many months.

When a country is at war everything must change. We have made many changes during the past year, and more will have to be made in the future. The present gas ration laws prevent any cars from being used to attend college social events. This ruling will cause many to go to a lot of extra trouble. However, just stop and think about the thing a minute. Think how lucky you are to be in college, or even in a country where you can even hold a dance.

Let's have no more complaining about the automobile situation. The Military students have completed arrangements so that the dance can be held without conflicting with government rulings. There is no reason why all future social events cannot be held in the same manner.

CAMPUS CAMERA

OUR DAY

By Stew & Hank

Well, here we are, back at the mill and from the sound of the screams coming from the Commons customers and the 1-Aers, I guess things are normal.

HATS OFF! We tip our hats to our Blue Hen courtmen in their debut. Our vets, Dickie, Benny and Broadway played heads-up and seemed on the point of administering the Jersey Bounce to the Rutgers crew when luck stepped in. If Knocker can add a little polish to the boys they should have an ok season.

Engagements and marriages rock the campus in a rivulet that will turn to a stream before April inductions. Two (for publication) marriages are those of Marie Rottmund and Ray Scarborough. Engagements are ringed by Marion Stites, Lena Fleming and our own Dick Elsaesser. Next!

The reason why tears oil the slide rule of Art Millman is the sad story of the Pennsylvania Polka which is a thing of the past as the lovely Miss Hyland and he are now just "friends."

QUICKIE EDITORIAL: As all the big A & NLeague teams scramble for local training spots, Del is presented with a golden opportunity to put itself on the National map. The Dodgers, getting the bounce at Yale, are searching for a large Field House and playing field. Why not bring them to Newark? Our Univ would become famous overnight and the gains attained would be immeasurable. The A's in Wilms. the Phils at Swarthmore and the Giants at Lakewood. This section would be the focal point of the nation. WHY NOT?

If you want the latest gaga, may we refer you to Jean Wiley, Harry Hearne and Ginny Elliott who got a raft of them from a local toper "friend" at the West End the other night.

We welcome back to the faculty staff a fellow Long Islander, Harry Beik who is now teaching in Engineering. At his request, I am deleting the choicest item of the week.

Commons Changed Due to Increased Ration Limitations

At long last rationing restrictions have caught up with the College Commons. It was quite evident from the very first moment the doors of the Commons opened that all was not the same.

Instead of the usual flow of four or five glasses of milk per person, the fellows have had to content themselves with only two glasses per meal. Instead of smothering the bread with the accustomed thick layer of butter the fellows have had to be satisfied with only two pats for the whole meal.

Then the waiters have been depleted in number and are working on the cooperative system.

Many idle rumors and much thoughtless complaining has arisen because of these necessary changes in the system. There have been rumors that soon we won't have any meat. There has been a howl over the fact that only two glasses of milk are allowed per meal when milk isn't even rationed. There has been a lot of objection because the waiting list has been cut down.

When interviewed in regards to these rumors and complaints, Miss Marjorie Rinehart, dietician of the Commons, gave a very reasonable and a very sound explanation. She said that although milk was not being rationed yet, that transportation facilities were so tied up that it is impossible to get milk in quantity. She also said that it was necessary to cut down on the waiters because of the decrease in the number of students eating at the Commons. As to the meat rumor, she said that although meat may be rationed in the future she hardly thought that it would be cut out altogether.

In all due fairness to the Commons staff, it must be said that they are doing a splendid job under very trying circumstances. We, of this college are not the only ones who are being inconvenienced, so it is up to us to take these necessary changes in a sportsman-like manner.

Restrictions on use of taxicabs in New York City will save 107 million taxi miles annually, 15,000 new tires, the same number of recaps and 10 million gallons of gasoline.

KAMPUS KWYPS

By E. Golin

Another year, another term—and then—only time will tell. One thing we do know. We are here at Delaware regardless of how long. We are now on borrowed time so let's make the best of it. The editorials that have appeared in recent past issues of the REVIEW have stressed the necessity of efficiency, endurance, and attitude in approaching the war effort via our studies. Now, with time so limited, I would like to make one more suggestion. Let's add "Friendliness" to the list of musts. If Delaware College has an enrollment of 500 men when I leave, I want to consider 499 as friends.

And now, back to the lighter side.

Confusion reigned on the U. of D. campus as the new term made its appearance. Classes without professors and professors without classes were not uncommon. Class conflicts were as numerous as profane words. And, surprisingly, everyone was happy. Everyone except a certain Dr. Powell. To you unfortunate individuals who have never met this boisterous gent, Dr. Powell is the young prof who when not cheerfully greeting someone, sings (in a voice that old Beelzebub would be proud to own) "On the Road to Mandalay." Dr. Powell, an alumnus of Iowa State, suggested that the name of the professor and his class be posted and whoever wished that class upon himself, could come whenever he had the time. This would save the professor the trouble of straightening out the million and one conflicts. Can anyone suggest what to do with worn out professors?

Art Stewart and I received a letter from Dr. Millikan (now being trained by the Navy for governorship of conquered territory) thanking the students of Delaware College for making his stay here so pleasant. Stewart graded it and returned the epistle.

Its funny how snatches of conversation can be pieced together to form humorous stories. While eating in one of Newark's popular house of beverages, we accidentally (?) overheard the remark that one of our professors may soon be leaving for the Army. A few seconds later, someone replied, "That's the biggest joke of the year." Wonder if there was any correlation between the two statements?

Coach Shack Martin is doing wonders with the wrestling team. I witnessed one of the practice sessions the other day and its really miraculous what an individual can do with some twenty young fellows, a few muscles, and a little patience. This grunt and groan business is more than its cracked up to be. Take Wolfman Laurelli, for example. A champion wrestler at the tender age of twenty-two, the Bonecrusher attributes his success to a thorough knowledge of anatomy and the joints concerned. Every wrestling hold puts a certain part of the opponents body out of control. And so at all times, the wrestler's influence is felt. It isn't necessary to read Dale Carnegie's book if you come out for wrestling.

There are two problems confronting the students at Delaware that I hope are solved before much time has elapsed—eating and transportation. Where the quality of food has remained about the same, quantity has gone down and prices rose. On Saturday, with the ban on thumbing rides, bus transportation is practically out of question. On the first Saturday of the ban on pleasure driving, many students watched packed buses pass by and all hopes of spending Saturday afternoon with the Folks vanish. What's the chance of a commuter's special train at 11:00 or 12:00 to carry off the surplus?

Here is wishing the Military students a successful evening for their Military Dance on January 16.

Hen Scratches

DOUGHERTY AND PIPER

The final whistle of last Wednesday's dedication contest against the Big Red from Rutgers University left Delaware rooters with a tinge of disappointment in not winning, but at the same time, very well satisfied with the showing of their ball-club. And that they should be. When the Hens met Rutgers, they tackled an outfit in the Ivy League class, a team which was in better form, with three games to their credit, and one with two "Mr. Bigs," both taller than our tallest courtman.

The Hen quintet, sparked by a pair of smallest men on the squad—Benny Crescenzi and Dick Reed—outfought the smooth-working combination from New Brunswick, more than once outjumped them under the hoop in retrieving the ball, and played great ball up to the last minute, when a lapse in the Delaware drive allowed the visitors to rack up two quick baskets and take the ball game.

Bill Nash and Don Van Brunt, a pair of freshman cagers on the varsity squad, proved their worth in the opener, and it looks as though Nash will be pushing the first five hard for a starting berth.

"Knocker" lost a couple of good men when Steve Romanik and Bob McCurry picked up some red marks during exam week. There's a possibility of their returning to varsity competition, and that would definitely favor Delaware's chances.

It was an impressive new building Wednesday night but it was the same old Rowdy Club that irked the visiting mentor with vulgar goat blatting. If we are going to go big time we'll have to cut out the gashouse tactics, sit quietly and say, "Oh pshaw," and "Bully for you," take baths and wear shoes. It is most lamentable that we find ourselves the victims of middle class morality.

Norm "Buddy" Lord's freshmen cagers inaugurate their season this Tuesday against the Newark Yellow-jackets.

The tank team, a little ragged around the edges, is getting waterlogged into shape by Joe Shields, a member of the Bardo school of thought that speaks for itself as to whether or not they'll be in shape for the opener against La Salle on the 20th. Practices on Saturday and Sunday are part of his bristling menu.

Freshman Harley Funk—teamed with Bush who may be drafted—makes the backstroke combine wicked as they come and leaves the freestylers rather well balanced and the divers and breaststrokes somewhat on the flimsy side.

Mouse Laurelli's matmen will hit an acid test Wednesday against Haverford, a team that isn't used to losing, but at least Willy himself can be counted on to win.

The Delaware wrestling team, obscure and green last year, has blossomed forth this season belching fire, promising to carve a healthy niche in the sport wall. We have a hunch that the Gallaudet match will be packed.

Field House to be Open

William D. Murray, director of athletics, announces that the Field House will be open every evening during the week until 9:30 p. m. The building will also be open Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

During these hours, students may use the Field House for both basketball and badminton.

Shields Returns to Coach Swimming; Lawrence Leaves

It looks like the old saying "3 strikes is out" can be put away with the family coffee pot, oil burner, and jalope. . . None of them seem to work.

This time it applies to Delaware College's swimming team. Or rather the coaches. Three times within the last year a Hen swimming coach has figuratively drowned, but just leave it to the Blue and Gold to come up with another. This time it's Joe Shields.

As you know, Coach Bardo was the first to leave, deciding last March to do his swimming for the U. S. Navy. Bill Lawrence, who doubled in brass as soccer coach, next took over. And lo! Just a few short weeks ago, Bill decided to join the production line, and is now turning out the goods in a defense plant.

Number 3 was versatile Norm Lord, who's done about everything in Delaware College sports except carry a water bucket for the swimming team. Norm's reign was temporary, though—just till a new coach could be found.

And now we've got him.

Many of you may remember that Joe Shields was once before a member of the phys. ed. department. And you all should know that right now, he's got the title of "Executive Director of the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross." Joe lives in Newark, and he's starting off with a bang, for on his first day here he was scheduling pool practice sessions to be held at night.

Joe has a job on his hands, too, for he's taking over a supposedly weak squad; one which has had too little practice, (due to X-mas holiday, exams, etc.) The mermen'll have to do some nifty stroking in the next week if they want to be in trim for the LaSalle meet, scheduled for the home pool this January 20.

At any rate, the REVIEW and the student body takes this opportunity to wish swimming mentor Joe Shields the best of luck in his new position. . . Keep 'em swimming, Joe.

New Field House Is Dedicated

Jim Gale put the Rutgers bunch in the lead. With about two minutes remaining in the game the Blue Hens had a three point margin, but again Gale flashed through with a pivot shot to cut the margin to one point. Less than a minute remained and while the Hens were trying to freeze the ball, Norman Ginsberg intercepted a Delaware pass and dribbled the length of the floor for a lay-up shot that defeated the Blue and Gold quintet 39-38.

Delaware Matmen Defeat Kutztown In Practice Meet

Last Saturday Coach William E. (Shack) Martin took his University of Delaware grapplers to Kutztown, Pa. where they met the Kutztown State Teacher's College wrestling team in a practice meet preliminary to the Hens first official encounter which will take place tomorrow against Haverford, in the Main Linnet gym.

Delaware came out on top in the score. This meet was of very great interest to Shack Martin and his meet with Kutztown by a 31-25 boys even though it was a practice meet. It marked the introduction of the University of Delaware into intercollegiate wrestling, for as far back as this reporter's records date there has never been a Delaware wrestling team before the coming of Mr. Martin to the Blue Hen school.

With the exception of Captain Laurelli, and Horace Ginn the meet marked the first time that any of the Delaware boys had ever wrestled in an official wrestling bout with time keeper and referee.

Probably the best bout of the match was that between Tawes of Delaware and Carabello of Kutztown, won by Tawes on a decision. Tawes showed aggressiveness in coming from behind at the end of the bout to become master of the situation, and win out on points. Horowitz of Delaware gave a good account of himself by getting a quick takedown and a near fall which weakened his opponent for a complete fall while Delaware's master of the mats, Captain Bill Laurelli, had little trouble in defeating Fahrman of Kutztown after the bout had progressed but one minute and twenty seconds.

INTRAMURALS

Upsets and surprises were the fare in the opening of the intramural basketball season last week.

The Sig Ep's, on the basis of their showing, should be stamped as one of the foremost contenders for the crown in their respective circuit. The Badgers won over the Nailbenders by a late spurt which enabled them to win 20-14. The K.A.'s were downed by the S. T. P.'s and Sigma Nu's.

Probably the largest score ever amassed by an intramural team was totaled by the Training House Hot Rocks, featuring Romanik, McCurry et al. S. P. E. C's were the victims of their attack, being swamped under a 76-6 score.

Highlight of the week was the perfect set-up pass to referee Chosef Coady by Jackie Phillips of the Nailbenders. Joe should wear a red white and blue bandana hereafter. Supervisor Norm Lord requests that all teams show up on time in order to have the games scheduled for a certain night played at that time and in their regular order. Games are 32 minutes in length.

WAR IS ON THE WIRES!

In our advertising, we ask the public to make no unnecessary telephone calls—especially Long Distance calls to centers of war activity—and to keep all calls as brief as possible.

Here are the reasons for this request:

1. War is crowding telephone lines with a tremendous volume of calls.
2. We cannot obtain materials to expand our facilities because copper, aluminum, nickel, steel, tin and rubber are needed for fighting equipment.

For the duration, please keep your use of telephone lines to the minimum.

College Library is Forced to Alter Plan of Operation

Because of unavoidable war conditions it has become necessary to alter and reorganize the basis upon which the college library operates. The chief reason for this change is the lack of funds available to run the building efficiently and in such a manner so as to offer the utmost service to students. However, this deficit is not attributable to a short-sighted financial policy but rather to the unexpected extension of the academic year. The inception of the new college program calls for a full twelve month schedule; yet, the budget provides funds sufficient to operate the library for a period of nine months only, the length of the old academic year.

As a consequence of the pressure exerted by the deficiency of funds it has been impossible to retain several of the staff members, who are now irreplaceable not only because of the aforesaid reason but also on account of the shortage of trained personnel. To add to the woes of Mr. William D. Lewis, the librarian, it appears imminent that the National Youth Administration will soon cease to function. This organization for many years has provided funds to libraries, as well as other institutions, for hiring students who otherwise would find it difficult to obtain the means necessary for a college education.

Certain times during the week, specifically Saturday afternoon and all day Sunday, when student use of the library is usually slight, the library will be closed. The economy of this move is obvious since a good number of labor hours are saved.

English Reading

The third English Reading of the academic year to be given, as usual, under the auspices of the Department of English of the University of Delaware, will be presented tonight at seven o'clock, in the Hilarium of Warner Hall. Dr. E. Hudson Long will read on the topic "The Poetry of Democracy." Everyone is cordially invited.

Registration

Hall's mathematician, Gus Springer, has figured out that this accounts for only 469, there are 2 special students.

By classes there are 75 seniors, 96 juniors, 117 sophomores, 157 freshmen and—oh, yes, mustn't forget them—two dozen (exactly 24) of those extremely fresh freshmen who are entering college this term. Last term 76 seniors, 103 juniors, 145 sophomores, and 199 freshmen registered. Total registration was 525, 54 more than the number registered for this time.

The Women's College fared a lot better than Delaware College as far as the loss of students is concerned. A total of 257 girls returned this term. This is only 4 less than the number that were enrolled for the preceding term. The total is divided among the classes as follows: Seniors—59, Juniors—53, Sophomores—68, and Freshmen—77.

The total number of undergraduates in the University is 728.

Lost !!!

A tie clip with a gold chain and a basketball with the initials A. T. S. on it was lost on the campus a few days before Christmas vacation. Finder please return to Walt Paul at the Training House. A reward is being offered.
