Peterson Approves Newark Bid For State Aid With Police Site

City Requests $58,800 In State Funds To Renovate Former Church Property On Main Street For Police Station; Reconstruction Scheduled After Jan. 10

Newark's request for $58,800 in state funds for renovation of the former Evangelical Presbyterian Church property on East Main Street as a new police station, was approved Monday by Gov. Russell W. Peterson.

City Manager Edward R. Stiff said the money will be used for basic renovations to three structures on the site — the church building, a home, and a classroom-gymnasium building.

Work is slated to begin after Jan. 1, the date the city will take over the complex, Stiff said.

Five-Part Package
The $55,800, is part of a five-part $319,200 police aid package that the city of Newark asked the Delaware Agency to Reduce Crime to consider.

One other part also was approved Monday — $900 for a manpower study by the agency — to indicate how many men the department needs and when they should be on duty.

Other Items
Other items in the package, Stiff said, are $85,060 for further renovation of the church complex; $78,000 for communications equipment including closed-circuit TV; $82,000 for an additional building at the new complex, to be used as a jail and storage area, and $17,500 for a $500, one-shot bonus for the city's 33 policemen.

The last item was submitted, Stiff said, after Wilmington made its request for similar bonuses. He said he doesn't expect to have it approved in light of the governor's refusal of Wilmington's request.

Stiff's opinion was shared by Samuel Russell, director of the crime agency.

"Newark won't get it," Russell said Monday, adding that the other applications are still being reviewed.

Shades Of Miss Muffet! Spider Invasion Of Homes In Fall, No Cause For Fright

Spiders have been scaring people ever since one sat down next to Miss Muffet. Usually there's very little reason to be frightened.

Many Delawarans are concerned each fall by large numbers of small spiders invading their houses, according to Frank E. Boys, extension entomologist at the University of Delaware.

"But practically all spiders in this state are harmless or even beneficial to man, since they eat insects, small animals and other spiders."

The poisonous brown recluse spider is not yet a problem in Delaware, Boys adds.

"In fact, to the best of our knowledge, this spider has never been found in our particular area."

Black widows are in Delaware, but they're in houses all year around, so they're not a particular problem in the fall.

The majority of spiders reported to entomologists at the university are wolf or ground spiders, orb-weavers, jumping spiders and daddy-long-legs.

Actually these spiders seldom bite because aggressive except when trapped or injured.

Only bites of the larger spiders can break the tough skin of man, according to Boys. Bites of small spiders cause no greater injury than scratches in most cases.

If you want to rid your house of spiders, you should know whether they are indoor or outdoor spiders.

Thomas "Pleased With Results" As Public Gives Aetna $22,268

Newark Volunteer Firemen Seek $34,900 With Public Donations For Budget; Last Week's Receipts Drop From $4,483 To $1,889; Second Mailing Slated Oct. 12

With a total $22,268 received in public contributions to this year's fund drive conducted by the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Co. in effort to attain a goal of $34,900 for the annual budget to maintain fire protection standards in the Newark district, Campaign Chairman Olan R. Thomas said Monday that he was "very pleased with results to date."

Last week's receipts of $1,889 were down from the previous week's $4,483, and Thomas said that a second mailing of Aetna campaign brochures and return envelopes for contributions to the fund drive, would be undertaken during the week of Oct. 12.

Budget of $80,000
Newark's volunteer fire department headed by President Charles W. Wollaston has a budget of $80,000 for annual expenses, but funds provided by state, county, city and insurance allocations and in membership dues are $34,900 short of necessary financing. This amount must be raised from public donations, Wollaston stressed.

Another, you haven't mailed your annual contribution for support of Newark's volunteer fire department," Thomas added, "please do so as soon as you can," the campaign chairman concluded in a public appeal.

Without Pay
Aetna firemen serve without pay, but funds are needed for operating and equipment costs.

Newark's fire-fighting equipment includes a 20-year-old aerial truck, five tank-pumper engines; two brush fire trucks, a rescue wagon, and two ambulances.

In the first mailing, folders outlining the 1970 Aetna budget and fund drive, with photographs of Aetna equipment and two fire stations in the Newark fire district with a population of some 60,000 persons in a 25-mi. area, and 300 appeals were mailed to local business and industry.

Mill Creek Hundred

Mrs. Mears, 84, had not been in Delaware since 1947 and this was Mrs. Cotes' first trip.

They also were entertained by Mrs. David R. Eastburn of Red Mill Road, whose home was the birthplace of Mrs. Mears' great, great grandmother Sarah England who married Capt. Robert Kirkwood for whom Kirkwood Highway is named.

They visited the Brick Meeting House at Calvert, Md., where the first Englands are buried, and met Dr. Walter England of Washington, who is writing the family history.

Head of Christiana Presbyterian Church was of interest to them as one of its earliest pastors, the Rev. George Gillespie was buried there in 1760. His wife was Sarah Kirkwood, sister of Capt. Kirkwood.

Mrs. Mears is a native of Kansas but her grandparents migrated from this area by horseback to Ohio.

Hill 'n' Dale 4-H Club meets for its October session today at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Debbie Schuler in Old Mill Manor.

Mrs. Louise H. Dempsey is confined to her home with a cracked hipbone from a recent fall.

A family night supper was held at White Creek Presbyterian Church Tuesday night.

Mel Slawick, director of the United Presbyterian Social Service department of Wilmington, told of the "Meals on Wheels" program and showed pictures of its operation.

The youth group of White Clay will meet next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Hart.

New officers are Debbie Lamenzo, president; Mary Susan Hart, secretary; and Kenny Lamenzo, treasurer.

George MacGorman from Decca Corp. spoke last Tuesday at the first fall meeting of the Hockessin Community Club at the Lam-born Library. His subject was "Health."

Mrs. John Strahorn, Mrs. Louis Tanzella, and Mrs. Philip Janvier were hostesses for the tea following the talk.

The club will sponsor a home-made baked goods and soup sale on Oct. 11, in front of Parklyn Drug Store. Mrs. Tanzella and Mrs. Elmer Taylor are the committee.

ROTC Marks An Anniversary

In addition to the serious aspects of ROTC training, there are also social activities such as the crowning of the queen of the ROTC ball.

WASHINGTON — The American tradition of military instruction on the college campus marks its 150th anniversary this school year.

The concept of educating Army officers on the civilian college campus, which started in 1819 at what is now Norwich University in Vermont, is today carried on through the Army ROTC program which is taken by approximately 150,000 men at 283 colleges throughout the United States. This year more than 16,000 men received Army commissions through the ROTC program.

Not only does ROTC provide the Army with more officers than any other officer development source, but it is also the least expensive way of training a man to be an officer.

The Army is dependent upon the ROTC-trained officer. Approximately 50 per cent of all officers in the Army today received their commissions through the ROTC program and more than 150 of the Army's generals are ROTC alumni. Among them are Gen. William B. Rosson, deputy commanding general in Vietnam and Lt. Gen. Frederick Weyand, U.S. military adviser to the Paris peace talks.

A roster of ROTC alumni in civilian life is equally impressive. It would include presidents of large corporations, government leaders and professional and amateur athletes. Among them are Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, former Secretary of State Dean Rusk, U.S. Senators Edward W. Brooke, Jack R. Miller, John Stennis and Ernest F. Hollings, and tennis star Arthur Ashe.

MAKE AMERICA A BETTER PLACE.

LEAVE THE COUNTRY.

Of all the ways America can grow, one way is by learning from others. There are things you can learn in the Peace Corps you can't learn anywhere else. You could start an irrigation program. And that grass and front lawns look a little different. When there isn't enough wheat to go around in Nepal.

You could be the outsider who helps bring a Jamaican fishing village to life, for the first time in three hundred years. And you could wonder if your country has outsiders enough. In Watts. In Detroit. In Appalachia. On its Indian reservations. Last year, for the first time, Peace Corps alumni outnumbered Volunteers who are now out at work overseas.

By 1980, 200,000 Peace Corps alumni will be living their lives in every part of America. There are those who think you can't change the world in the Peace Corps. On the other hand, maybe it's not just what you do in the Peace Corps that counts. But what you do when you get back. The Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. 20525. 10

Family Fun At Halloween Time

HALLOWEEN is the most auspicious occasion for a family party—one where several families can enjoy themselves and each other. Invite over several of your closest friends, plus offspring, immediately after the youngsters have completed their trick-or-treat circuit.

To begin with, sheeted adults can read to wide-eyed young ones from the book literature of Edgar Allan Poe and Mark Twain . . . by lantern light. The surprise appearance of an adult-size ghoul or vampire will delight youngsters.

For the children, who will already have eaten an overdose of confection, serve a stomach-settling carbonated soft drink or ginger ale punch. Each glass can be brimming with assorted rubber "things," such as spiders, worms, and other insects.

Rubber insects are just fetching when hung from tree limbs by black thread. Additionally, you can assemble a 3-minute ghost—and without sacrificing a good sheet. Round out a plastic bag by stuffing it with newspapers and tying the top; fold a sheet diagonally, off-center so that corners do not meet; drape bias fold around the bag and secure with large pins or masking tape.

For hollow eyes, tape on black ovals of cloth or construction paper. Hang the ghost by the plastic bag stem and black string from a high limb or the eaves of your house.

Learn To Identify Weeds For Herbicide Control

It's too late to do much about weeds in your fields this year, but what about next year?

Farmers no longer completely depend on cultivation alone for weed control, according to Dr. William Mitchell, extension agronomist at the University of Delaware.

"Chemicals or a combination of chemicals in cultivation are used," Mitchell says.

Knowing which weeds are in the field enables you to change to another more effective herbicide.

1-2-3 Steak

Here's a delightful easy to prepare main dish to take care of hungry appetites. 1-2-3 easy steps and you have this steak ready for cooking. Only a short time is needed for preparation. While the steak cooks, you'll have sufficient time to complete the rest of the meal. The Uncola adds a new flavor to the delicately seasoned sauce which complements the meat without masking the true meat flavor. The secret to serving is to cut the steak very thinly on the diagonal.

Sharpened by the nip of fall, the appetites of family or guests will welcome

- 1-2-3 Steak on Noodles
Coleslaw    Buttered Green Beans
Fresh Apple Crumb Pie
- 1 1½-lb. flank steak    ½ cup 7UP
2 tablespoons shortening    1 can (10½ oz.) condensed tomato soup
Salt and pepper, to taste    Cooked noodles
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper

Brown steak slowly in shortening. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Add onion and green pepper the last 5 minutes of browning. Combine 7UP and soup. Pour over steak. Cover, cook slowly 1½ hours or until fork tender. Slice meat thinly. Place on platter, surround with noodles. Pour sauce over meat or serve separately. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Quick Dish With Alaska King Crab

Here's a snappy meal-in-one dish to add to your file of quick recipes. Pieces of canned or frozen Alaska King crab are placed over cooked broccoli and topped with a creamy sauce made from canned soup. For special flavor and richness, sour cream and grated Parmesan cheese are added.

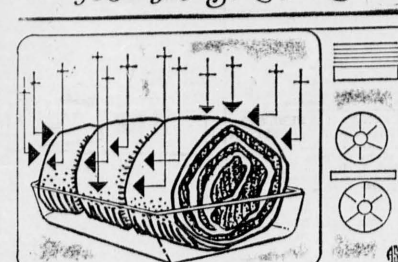

Prime-quality Alaska King crab meat comes fully cooked and full of juicy goodness. The tender white flesh of the King crab is distinguished by bright red striations, adding colorful flavor to salads and main dishes.

Feature this delightful crab entree at a fall supper, complete with a tangy fruit salad and hot biscuits.

- King Crab Divan
- 2 (7½ oz.) cans Alaska King crab or 1 pound frozen Alaska King crab, thawed
2 (10 oz.) packages frozen broccoli, cooked
- 1 (10½ oz.) can condensed cream of chicken soup
½ cup dairy sour cream
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

Drain crab and slice into chunks. Arrange cooked broccoli in bottom of shallow casserole or individual ramekins. Top with crab, reserving some pieces for garnish. Combine soup with sour cream and cheese. Spoon crab, garnish with reserved pieces of crab. Bake at 350 degrees for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

HELP FROM GOOD HOUSEKEEPING

What's Microwave Cookery?

How would you like to cook a 4-pound roast beef in 24 minutes? Or, perhaps, a couple of cake layers in 6½ minutes? Or a frozen TV dinner in 5 minutes? Now you're cooking—but with electronics! When you use an electronic range, you cook not with heat but with high-frequency microwaves that penetrate the food—and, by agitating the molecules, generate heat within the food—instantly.

After many years of progressing from a dream to the here-and-now, several electronic ranges for the home have been introduced. Two of these also offer regular top-of-range cooking units and two ovens; one conventional, the other electronic. (In one make the electronic oven can also be used as a conventional oven.) Smaller countertop electronic ovens are also available.

Since Good Housekeeping's famous Institute has been investigating electronic ranges for the past ten years, we asked Mrs. Jane Keely, Director of the Appliance and Home Care Center, about microwave cookery and if it will replace conventional cookery. Mrs. Keely believes that the electronic range is here to stay. She goes on to say, however, that microwave cookery is not intended to supplant every conventional kind but rather to do a variety of specific jobs in a fraction of the time. In addition to speedy roasting and baking, there are many last-minute, short-order jobs the new ovens can do: cooking a soft-cooked egg in 20 seconds; 4 strips bacon in 3 minutes; a cup of instant coffee in 30 seconds. Other uses for this oven are: reheating leftovers and quick-thawing frozen foods. Even some foods that are ordinarily cooked top-of-range are done faster in the microwave oven. Frozen vegetables, for instance, cook in minutes in a casserole. As the market expands, consumers will find it more difficult to evaluate and choose among the brands offered. They may vary in features and in function—and perhaps even in suitability in terms of safety, capacity, etc., according to Mrs. Keely. Imports will need to be carefully screened. The Good Housekeeping Institute will continue to investigate the new electronic ovens and ranges and will report on them from time to time in their editorial service pages.

A CITIZEN'S RESPONSIBILITY

WHY A NATIONAL CENSUS

How many people are there in the United States? Where do they live—and work? What do they buy? Where do they buy?

How do we meet the population changes? How can we plan ahead for housing, schools, shopping areas, open lands and transportation?

The answers to all these questions and many more are in the offering every 10 years when the national census is taken. It is used as a guide in government, business, industry, education to anticipate the increasing demands of a successful American economy.

It is the responsibility of every citizen to cooperate in making this 1970 census. The census is not an act of harassment or government prying, but is the performance of a necessary government function.

So, when you are asked for census data, give the time and effort necessary — to help yourself — your neighbor — and your nation.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A comic opera was staged on Sept. 23. Not a single reporter was on the scene to cover the city council meeting. With your help I would like to voice my concern over what took place. It's an effort to keep the public informed. Certain members followed a disruptive and revolutionary path when it came to planning and zoning for orderly growth in the city. The right of members to vote their convictions must be respected. However, legitimate criticism in this case is in order. I am not too certain that their convictions were not swayed by certain other maneuvers. Considerable legal gymnastics played a heavy role in bringing Paper Mill Terrace before city council. Their logic, if it continues, could lead to a complete breakdown of the principles of good zoning and planning. It gives control of zoning and planning to bureaus, persuasive attorneys divorced from the will of the people, and the junking of the city's $40,000, master plan. I witnessed a tearing down of a sound political order and a concentration of power in this respect. The rubber-stamping by a majority of the decree of a three-man board.

In voting approval of a controversial plan, it was an espousal of the "master plan" and public be damned. It was a surrender of elected power by permitting one of the city's boards to amend the comprehensive development plan — all with the urging of legal semantics.

$40,000 of advice compiled by the recognized experts (Urban Affairs Dept. U. of D.) was tossed out the window. This "master plan" called for single family homes and not apartments and congestion.

Four elected officials shot the plan full of holes — took it apart, finding many defects to their thinking, only to turn around and vote for its approval! This is the comic part of this tragedy. I find this nothing but a window-type dressing effort towards good planning and zoning.

Our charter says we will have a "comprehensive development plan" to guide us. We have it — $40,000 was paid for it. We are supposed to have an additional "watch dog" to keep an eye on zoning... the planning commission. Newark's council has an attorney. We have a zoning ordinance, have had for 20 years. We have all these wonderful things to assure proper zoning and protection of property. It looks good until you see something like this.

Pity the property owner. Even while knowing the developer's plan did not coincide with the comprehensive plan they voted approval, 3-2. Hats off to the dissenters! No reason was given for doing so. Council members who voted approval have yet to give a reason for going against the "master plan," unless it could have been the legal exhortations to do so. Here is one for the people. At one stage of long litigation on this property, the city lawyer testified in Supreme Court that a section of our zoning ordinance was illegal! It's only been in the ordinance for 20 years, since the year 1949 when we started zoning.

I voted against Paper Mill Terrace for the reason that it did not conform to the city's approved and adopted comprehensive development plan. Where in the city will something like this take place again? What are the people of Newark doing about zoning? Was it Nero who fiddled while Rome burned?

FIELD ETIQUETTE

CERTAIN BASIC SAFETY RULES ARE A MUST ANY TIME YOU HANDLE A GUN, BUT COURTESY IS IMPORTANT ALSO — ESPECIALLY WHEN HUNTING WITH TWO OR MORE PEOPLE. HERE ARE SOME TIPS FROM REMINGTON ARMS ON PROPER FIELD ETIQUETTE.

DON'T SHOOT AT TOO GREAT A DISTANCE... "SKY BUSTING" IS A CARDINAL SIN EVEN WHEN HUNTING ALONE. CHANCE OF A CLEAN KILL IS SLIM, AND CRIPPLING A BIRD OR ANIMAL IS CONTRARY TO BOTH CONSERVATION AND GOOD SPORTSMANSHIP.

WHEN HUNTING WITH A DOG BELONGING TO A FRIEND LET THE OWNER WORK HIM. EXTRA COMMANDS FROM YOU WILL ONLY CONFUSE THE ANIMAL AND ANNOY YOUR COMPANION.

ABOVE ALL... BE SURE YOU KNOW WHERE EVERY MEMBER OF YOUR PARTY IS AT ALL TIMES AND POINT YOUR GUN ACCORDINGLY — SO THAT NO ONE IS IN THE LINE OF SHOT.

EYECATCHER

Dianthus Bravo has gay, scarlet flowers, produced freely on 8-inch-high plants.

Even a single plant of Dianthus Bravo is an eyecatcher, especially when it's planted in a suitable setting, for instance alongside a grayish rock.

The color is blazing scarlet red and it draws the eye from afar.

When you consider that Bravo grows only eight inches tall, this is remarkable.

Bravo's single blooms are fragrant, and each petal is fringed. The little, upright-growing, compact plants look solid scarlet-red because the flowers are borne above the leaves.

This little pink has several uses — the single plant landscape described above or massed in beds or even window boxes.

It also is pretty as an edging, if only it is by itself or next to other plants blooming in compatible colors.

Green Thumb Tips

Every bit of snow deposited on your garden during the winter is worth hard cash to you. Falling snow brings down with it nitrogen from the air and deposits it on your soil. Since this is the element most used by plants for growth, you're lucky it snows.

Bottom heat, so necessary for quick starting of certain seeds, is newly available in form of an electrically heated mat, resembling a heated pad, but sturdier in construction, tougher in covering.

It is used under pots, flats or whatever container you are using for seed starting. Thermostatic controls can be connected to the mat if desired.

Bibb lettuce huffs—the gardeners who think any other variety is inferior, will be delighted to know that Buttercrunch, a recent introduction, has the same sweet flavor, the same crisp texture.

This newcomer, however, does not bolt to seed as soon as warm weather arrives. It is thus possible to keep yourself in Buttercrunch by making successive plantings through the season.

A spectacular accent plant is Amaranthus. You may call it summer poinsettia.

Newer varieties have foliage in shades of red, from deep maroon to bright cerise.

Too seldom seen are the annual mallows or Lavatera. Their pink flowers look like those of single hollyhocks. Seeds can be sown outdoors where the plants are to bloom.

A high percentage of seedlings from a packet of seeds is possible only if moisture in the planting medium is kept constant.

One good way of doing this is to pop the planted container in a plastic bag. But then you must be certain not to put it in the sun or the seedlings will cook.

A cold frame is one of the most helpful garden accessories. Ask any gardener who owns one!

Old-fashioned four o'clocks are excellent for use as a low hedge. So is kochia, more commonly called "burning bush" for its fall foliage color.

Even the spider plant, the proper name of which is Cleome, has been used for this purpose.

Dave Holmes, Ron Jackson Pace Newark With 2 TD's Each For 38-0 Opening Win

Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellow-jacket champions made it 34-straight last Saturday morning by defeating DeLaWarr 38-0 as Tri-Capt. Ron Jackson caught two touchdowns from Quarterback Ray Bias; Halfback Dave Holmes, reminiscent of graduated All-State Pedro Swann—scored on a 55-yard pass play with Bias pitching, romped 78 yards for another; and Marc Strauss and Steve Repole added one apiece.

The game was rescheduled to the Newark High School stadium after trouble with students at DeLaWarr High School earlier in the week.

Jackson scored on a 15-yard pass play from Bias before the game was three-minutes old, and with Bias passing to Holmes, Newark was off and running with a 12-0 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Holmes' 78-yard sprint around his left end featured the second period with Newark holding an 18-0 lead at the half.

Strauss topped a Yellowjacket drive in the third quarter by breaking through for one-yard and a touchdown, and it was Newark by 26-0 as the fourth period began.

Jackson scored the Yellowjackets' fifth touchdown on a 37-yard pass play with Bias throwing, and Fullback Steve Repole, understudy for All-Conference Tri-Capt. Paul Watson, romped for an 83-yard touchdown to wind things up.

Newark was unable to convert a point after touchdown, but the Yellowjackets didn't need them. Bias, a six-footer who saw little action behind All-State Bob Tucker last season, moved the offense with precision and was rarely rattled by the majority of his own plays, despite inexperience.

"I was a little nervous at first," Bias said afterwards. "The first touchdown pass loosened me up."

But it did! Riding a solid 33-7 cushion early in the final quarter, Coach Tubby Raymond's "Flightin' Blue Hens" were home free — most everyone thought Every-one, that is, but Villanova's valiant Wild-cats.

With Gordon and Belasco performing wonderfully all afternoon with the option — and everything going wrong for these fine, scrambling passers for three quarters — they suddenly found everything right in the final 13-minutes, and pitched Jack Gregory's big-leaguers to a 36-33 near-miracle win for one of the most thrilling comebacks ever.

The Yellowjacket champions host Mt. Pleasant at 1:30 this Saturday.

After more than a quarter-century of surf fishing, we caught the two biggest bluefish of all those 30 years with a stand on the sand at the Old Inlet Road recreation area just north of Indian River last Sunday afternoon.

With Surftown Carroll W. Mumford, who had just put in a windy two-week vacation at Rehoboth where a mountainous surf prevented any successful white water fishing from the beach, we stopped at Mack's Bait and Tackle Shop for fresh fatback and young Jack McCarthy at his Mother Mildred's prompting, ushered a pair of voyagers into the arctic atmosphere of Mack's cold storage room where Head Man Pleasant McCarthy had a great stack of two-pound blue-fish fresh frozen in a corner.

"Mack's fishing on the beach just across the road," Mrs. Mildred McCarthy advised between a cough or two caused by her forays into the deep-freeze room for bait for a clamoring clientele.

And equipped with small, fresh, cold but not-quite frozen mullet netted by Mack in some tough going at night in Rehoboth Bay, we shook off the chill of the cold storage room and bluefish exhibit, and drove east to the beach in quest of Delaware's No. 1 surftown — Pleasant "Mack" McCarthy.

Prior to the Labor Day weekend, surftown on the Delaware beach were conspicuous, and locating Mr. McCarthy would have been simple. As it was last Sunday, there were scores of surftown strung out along the sand for a half-mile, and they all looked like Mack. We took one quick look and departed for a less congested area to the south.

At the Old Inlet Road, calico crabs cleaned our hooks as fast as we could cast, but despite this discouragement, we followed Charles R. "Bus" Humphreys' admonition that the best way to catch fish is to "keep your hook wet."

And continued to cast, rebait, and cast again.

A brisk northeast breeze was rippling the blue surface of the ocean where the tide was dropping off, but the fishing was easy compared to what Mr. Mumford had experienced during the previous two weeks, crabs notwithstanding.

And then after some two-hours of nothingness, we had a solid strike, set the hook into a beautiful big blue that jumped like a salmon, and after a fine fight, dragged a bouncing bluefish out of the white foam and onto the dry sand — a 2-1/2-lb. blue, the biggest we had ever taken on any beach.

A 2-1/2-lb. blue may not sound like much to the uninitiated, but the average run of bluefish in the surf will weigh out at less than a pound apiece — a one-pound blue is plenty good enough — and one that is two-and-a-half times that size is a prize. And we were 30 years in catching such a specimen.

In between near constant calico crabbing, we managed to beach a three-quarter pound blue, a silver and zebra-striped black drum of the same heft — a first, too, from the surf — and a conversation with a Milford sportsman who had left his idle rod untended some 100-yards south on the beach, was interrupted by the smashing strike and successful struggle with a second 2-1/2-lb. blue that sent the Milford man running back to his own rod.

We ran out of bait just as the sun was dropping behind the dunes and the tide was coming in for what was probably the best fishing of the day.

But it was getting cold with the approach of twilight, and with time running out, we weren't about to cut up one of these three blue-fish as a good substitute for fresh fatback.

We came home, instead — and it was late enough when we got home to Newark, at that.
