THE POINT SYSTEM

The Student Council has decided to adopt the point system for extra-curricular activities. As a result of this action, some very natural questions are bound to arise in the minds of many students. Why the point system? What is the point system? How will the point system be administered?

Oddly enough, most colleges don't have the point system—because they haven't found the need for it. But here at the University of Delaware the point system, we believe, could literally work wonders. It is generally agreed that extra-curricular activities are the backbone of an alert and interested student body. Such activities on this campus, however, have reached a very low ebb, and the effect is obvious. Comparatively a mere handful of students have been forced to assume the responsibility for conducting most extra-curricular functions. If some calamity should remove these students from the college, most campus activities would go with them. Interest in extra-curricular activities is too highly concentrated in a few hands.

Over half of the students in the college are commuters. The greater percentage of these go to classes and immediately rush home without learning what college life is, without securing the slightest idea of the practical experience extra-curricular activities can offer them. Activity in campus affairs is an excellent means for developing the individual's initiative, and for giving him an opportunity to express his personality. They help the student to find himself,—self-realization, in other words. Most important of all, extra-curricular activities prevent the individual from falling into the state of lethargy so common to many college students. Herein lies the secret of insuring an interested, congenial, spirited student body.

How can we achieve greater activity in campus affairs? By making participation in extra-curricular activities attractive. Here at Delaware we have no convenient instrument for making them attractive. Other colleges use elections to honor societies as a stimulus for the display of unusual effort in campus affairs. We have had such honorary societies and still have remnants of them, but

Student Council Plans To Adopt Point System For Campus Activities

Farewell Hop In Old College On June 10 With Music By Kentuckians; Committee Chosen To Enforce Rat Rules Next Year

At a meeting of the Student Council on Monday evening it was decided to adopt a point system for extra-curricular activities next year.

The plan was proposed by Alvin Handloff, who advocated a regimentation of all extra-curricular activities on the campus, from athletics to dramatics, and the revival of honor societies for each class.

The system entails the Council's evaluating each extra-curricular activity with a given number of points proportionate to the time and effort required, and keeping a record of the activities of each student in the college. To be eligible for election to the various honorary societies the student must attain a designated number of points in extra-curricular activities. The societies will choose their members from this eligible group in this class.

The purpose of the plan is to stimulate greater interest in extra-curricular activities, and to create active and worthwhile honorary societies which can do much to arouse a good, congenial spirit within the student body.

President Hartmann appointed Handloff chairman of the committee to draw up the plan, to be assisted by Hartmann himself and John Black.

It was also decided to hold the Farewell Hop in Old College on Monday night, June 10. The Kentuckians will furnish the music. Ralph Walson is chairman of the committee in charge of the dance. Tom Pennock, John Geist, and Henry Marshall are also on the committee.

The Council voted to place the

Dean Robinson Hostess Of Women's Convention

Banquet In Kent Hall This Evening To Be Followed By E 52 Performance In Mitchell Hall

Dean Winifred J. Robinson, of the Women's College is co-hostess with Mrs. Louis A. Stearns of the 38th annual convention of the Delaware State Federation of Women's Clubs, which is being held here in Newark today and tomorrow. Those attending the convention are guests of the Newark New Century Club.

The convention, after a luncheon this morning in the parlors of the Newark M. E. Church, convened in Mitchell Hall, where Justin Miller, of the U. S. Department of Justice spoke on "Crime Prevention and Control."

This evening at 6:30 o'clock there will be a banquet in Kent Hall. Mrs. A. D. Warner, a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Delaware and honorary president of the Federation, will be toastmistress. After the banquet the E 52 Players will present the complete program of their spring production which was performed here on May 2. The one-act curtain raiser "Where But In America" and "The Green Cockatoo" will be given again.

R. O. T. C. Commissions To Be Awarded May 23

Maguigan, Tawes, Roe, Redmile, Minner, Vosseller To Get Sabres; Tea Dance To Follow

On next Thursday, May 23, at 3.15 P. M. the Delaware R. O. T. C. will parade before General William E. Cole, of the Second Coast Artillery District, after which he will present commissions, sabres and other awards to graduating seniors and prize winning undergraduates. The Delaware R. O. T. C. is a part of the Second Coast Artillery District.

Among the awards this year are the Lt. Clarke Churchman Memorial Prize of $25 to the student who has attained the highest proficiency in the military department and the General J. Ernest Smith cash awards to the highest ranking Freshman, Sophomore, Junior and Senior military students. The 621st Reserve Officer Corps, following their usual custom, will present sabres to Cadet-Major Harvey Maguigan and Cadet Adjutant John P. Tawes. This Reserve Corps is mainly composed of Delaware R. O. T. C. graduates.

Sabres from the Military Department will go to Cadet-Captain Delbert Minner and Cadet Lieutenant Eldon Vosseller for having been adjudged the best battery and platoon respectively in last

Drama Authority To Show Model Of Globe Theater

Ernest Conklin To Show Accurate Scale Model Of Famous Shakespearean Play-House

Ernest Conklin, an outstanding authority on the Elizabethan Theater, will exhibit an exact scale model of the famous Shakespearean Globe Theater in Mitchell Hall next Tuesday. Besides lecturing on the model at College Hour, attendance at which will be optional, Mr. Conklin will be in Mitchell Hall in the morning and in the afternoon to answer questions of interested students.

Mr. Conklin is the exclusive patent-holder of the model in this country, and all such models are either sold or exhibited by him. His lectures and exhibitions have attracted considerable attention whenever they are offered.

The Globe Theater is well known to students of the drama and of Shakespeare as the center of the drama during the years 1599 to 1613. The program has been obtained especially for Dr. Day's Drama course, for Dr. Allen's Shakespeare course, and for Professor Kase's Play Production classes.

The model is made to the scale of three-eighths of an inch to one yard.

Forced To Cancel Showing French Film

Because of difficulties concerning the copyright on the film "Les Misérables," it cannot be shown here on May 28 as originally planned. The Modern Language Department received word this morning that the movie must be returned to France immediately.

It is regrettable that this difficulty has arisen because Prof. Byam had obtained free use of the State Theatre and had also secured free programs which are already printed.

Dr. George H. Ryden, head of the Department of History and Political Science spoke before the Philadelphia Branch of the Delaware Alumnae at the Hotel Lorraine in Philadelphia on Monday evening.

History Dept. Proposes Abolishment Of Midyears

Suggests End Of "Cafeteria Education"; Wants Six Hour Finals And Exploratories

At a meeting of the Department of History and Political Science held this Tuesday, it was decided to submit to the faculty a plan to consolidate the three survey courses without midyears. The courses concerned are Freshman European History, Sophomore American History, and Junior American Government.

This, as well as certain other changes contemplated by the Department, is in line with recent educational tendencies in this country to get away from what might be called the "cafeteria method" of securing an education as well as with President Hulihan's recent suggestions. The other ideas evolved at Tuesday's meeting, though equally interesting, are not yet ready for publication.

Davidson Elected Editor Of Revived 'Humanist,' Scannell, Bus. Manager

Complete Editorial Board Chosen; $175 Appropriated For First Issue By Student Council; Contributions Welcomed

On Friday afternoon, May 10, 17 students interested in reviewing the literary magazine, the Humanist, met in Dr. Sypherd's office and elected J. Edward Davidson editor-in-chief of the magazine for 1935-36.

The group then proceeded to elect Joseph Scannell, business manager, and Herbert Warburton, art editor. The following students were chosen as representatives on the Editorial Board: Seniors, Carl Bleiberg and John Monroe; Juniors, Joseph Perkins and Robert Barab; Sophomores, Herbert Warburton and Harvey Moore. Robert Curtin, a former member of the Humanist staff has consented to act as alumnus-adviser and Dr. Cyrus T. Day is the faculty adviser.

Davidson has been connected with "THE REVIEW" for the past two years, having served as assistant sports editor, associate editor, and campus editor. He has also been active in other campus affairs, having been in the two E 52 Plays, "Autumn Crocus" and "Green Cockatoo," the Sigma Nu 1935 Inter-fraternity play "In the Morgue," he has also served on

Paul Cleaver Of Brill Co. Tells Engineering Undergraduates What Employers Expect

Mr. Paul Cleaver, a civil engineer graduate of the University of Delaware, Class of '18, was the speaker at the meeting of the Delaware chapter of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, Tuesday evening, in Room 308 of Evans Hall.

Mr. Cleaver, was employed at the Harlan Plant in Wilmington during the war period as assistant superintendent of hulls for about two years, after which time he went under the employ of the J. G. Brill Co., in Philadelphia. Starting in the shops he gradually rose in rank to his present position as superintendent.

At various times Mr. Cleaver

they no longer perform their original useful function, because they have become corrupted by fraternity patronage. Therefore, men of the wrong type have been taken into these groups—men who never really earned membership. The honor societies on this campus have deteriorated to the point where they mean absolutely nothing. Honor groups composed of the real leaders on the campus—honor groups, in which membership gives the student a great amount of deserved prestige, can perform a valuable function in arousing and preserving an active spirit. They can provide the necessary stimulus to make students aspire to greater activity in campus affairs.

But how can it be guaranteed that men of the proper calibre will compose these societies? The point system. The Student Council expects to regiment all extra-curricular activities on the campus into a systematic organization. Membership, office-holding, or letter earning in the various activities will be evaluated by a number of points equal to the amount of work demanded by participation. The Council will keep a file of the activities of each student. Each year, at a specified period, the student organizations will send in a list of the men who have participated in their groups, to be recorded in the file. Then, a required number of points will be a prerequisite for eligibility to election in honor societies. Membership in these groups will then have a significance which will demand the respect of the entire student body.

Furthermore, if the college authorities will cooperate with the Student Council, they will impress upon the incoming freshmen that participation in at least one extra-curricular activity is required. The stimulating effect of such an activity on a student's initiative will also prove a valuable aid toward better academic work.

We feel that this point system, if properly received by the students and college authorities, will be the key for the realization of a truly progressive student body at the University of Delaware.

WELCOME, WOMEN'S CONVENTION

We take this opportunity to welcome the State Federation of Women's Clubs to the University of Delaware. The convention which is being held in Newark today and tomorrow is located mainly in University buildings. Many business sessions are being conducted in Mitchell Hall. A dramatic performance is being presented for them in the same building tonight. Kent Hall at the Women's College is the scene of their banquet this evening.

We take great pride in being able to offer the Federation the use of these fine buildings, and are glad of the opportunity to offer them the University's hospitality. With Dean Winifred J. Robinson as co-hostess, we feel certain that they will be offered the most cordial reception possible.

MORE PROGRAM—LESS ADVERTISING

Radio programs interrupted every few minutes by monotonous commercial announcements have long been an imposition on the American public. Lengthy and frequent advertising has so contaminated the air waves of this country that the Columbia Broadcasting System has decided to establish restrictions on the amount of advertising permissible.

Effective on July 30, a maximum of 10 per cent of the total broadcasting period may be devoted to the sponsor's commercial announcements, including contests and offers, on programs after 6 P. M. During the day, sponsored programs will be allowed a maximum of 15 per cent of the total broadcast period for commercial announcements. Quarter hour programs will be given an additional allowance not to exceed 40 seconds, because routine identification announcements require as much time for short programs as for long ones.

Another new policy of the System is a higher standard for children's programs. To this end Columbia is engaging the services of an eminent child psychologist, who with an advisory board of qualified members will design programs which will further the best interests of child listeners.

A further step toward improved broadcasts is the System's refusal to permit the advertising of laxatives, depilatories, deodorants, and other discussions which by their very nature are not generally acceptable for conversation in social groups.

These new policies are distinct advances in radio broadcasting, which will be appreciated by a great mass of bored and disgusted listeners. It seems that government intervention would soon have become inevitable had not the Columbia System taken the initiative in its new plan. Inasmuch as the other national systems will now be forced to follow suit, we can look forward to more pleasant hours, thumbing our radio dials.

I am of opinion that a stupid servant is worse than a wicked one, or at any rate more harassing; one can be on one's guard against a knave, but not against a fool.—Jacques

The showmanship idea of yesterday was to give the public what it wanted. This is a fallacy. You don't know what they want and they don't know what they want.—S. L. Rothafel.

Reader's Budget

By Theodore Berman

Time Out of Mind, by Rachel Lyman Field, published by Mac-Millan. Price $2.50.

This is an old-fashioned romantic novel; a rare book in our modern era. Time Out of Mind is a story of Nathaniel Fortune, a frail-built lover of music. Unluckily he was fourth Nathaniel Fortune, a family who had been ship-owners for the past three generations. Nat's father, Major Fortune, was determined that he carry on the Fortune tradition. After a tragic chain of events, Nat is allowed to go back to music. The tragique finale finds Nat back in the arms of one who loves him, Kate, a daughter of a housekeeper at Fortune's Folly. The setting in Maine in the late 19th Century gives this wonderful story a refreshing atmosphere.

Young Man In A Hurry, And Other Stories, by F. O. Beachcroft, published by Harper. Price, $2.50.

This is surprisingly good collection of short stories. Critics compare Beachcroft's style with O. Henry's. Most of the stories deal with the laboring class of people. His characters are never exceptional but are rather average men; yet the simplicity and sincerity of the characters give each one an individuality of his own. "Young Man in a Hurry," is one of the duller stories, but it is an excellent title. "Iodide In Hut C. 4" and a "Wet Saturday Night" are among the best stories. Beachcroft is sarcastic, but he keeps his story from becoming monotonous by writing clever passages.

Periodical Highlights

By William Wilson, '37

Our Worst Monopoly, Carroll Fillman, New Outlook, May, 1935.

A comparison of the Postoffice Department with the American Telephone & Telegraph Company, clarifies some of the aspects of the public utility question. In this article the author points out the striking similarities of the two organizations. One important difference, however, is that one makes a profit while the other does not.

The Presidency and the Press, J. Frederick Essary, Scribner's Magazine, May, 1935.

A Washington newspaperman of nearly 25 years' experience presents his view of the attitude of journalists toward the New Deal. He discusses the relation of the Press to the Government, and how it works out in actual practice. In view of the current suspicion that much Washington news savours of propaganda, this article is a timely interest.

Railroading Moves Ahead, Ralph Budd, Atlantic Monthly, May, 1935.

The construction of streamlined, light-weight trains has made it possible for the railroads to compete on a better basis with other types of transportation. The article deals especially with the achievements of the Burlington "Zephyr", besides a general discussion of the present status of the railroads.

Model Stages Displayed In DuPont Hotel Corridor

The three winning models of the recent model stage contest were exhibited in the corridor of the DuPont Hotel in Wilmington, for two weeks. The winners were Miss Cheavens' model of Christopher Bean, Gordon Chessler's model of Berkeley Square, and Miss Vinyard's model of The Green Cockade.

One Victory From Three Tilts For Diamond Contingent

Opponents Shell Delaware Pitchers In Three Slugging Contests

Hampden-Sidney Defeated, 7-5,
But St. Mary's And Dickinson
Crush Dohertymen

Delaware won one of its three games last week when the nine won from Hampden-Sidney, 7-5, but dropped to Mt. St. Mary's, 12-5, and to Dickinson, 11-4.

Each contest was featured by heavy slugging by the opponents and inability to come through at the plate by the Hens. Under a barrage of 33 hits that were scattered over the trio of battles, only one local hurler was able to go the route. Payne took Hampden-Sidney over the hurdles but other twirlers were less fortunate. Payne worked in all three encounters. Irish O'Connell garnered four of the Delawareans' 19 bingles, while Thompson and Hickman each had home runs.

So far this season, Delaware has been victorious in five of their six battles on Frazer Field, but have been on the short end of the score three times in games away from home.

The game scheduled for May 13 with George Washington was cancelled because of rain, but the Hens will swing into action again Saturday at Chestertown against Washington College, to whom Delaware lost, 10-8, in an earlier game, and on Tuesday, with P. M. C., providing the opposition on Frazer Field.

Mt. St. Mary's came out victorious over the Hens Wednesday when a seven run rally broke a 5-5 deadlock in the eighth inning. In their half of the frame, Delaware had come from behind to score four times to knot the count. Ed Thompson had one of the two four ply blows recorded, while Captain O'Connell had a pair of hits. Lomax, who started the game, was unable to go the distance, and yielded to Payne.

Scoring seven runs on five hits, and taking advantage of enemy curvers' wildness, Delaware hung up a 7-5 victory over Hampden-Sidney Thursday. Payne gave up a dozen blows, but managed to keep them widely separated, while Hickman led the Hens' offense with two hits including a home run. He accounted for three runs, driving in two, and crossing the plate after he singled in the eighth. Dick Roberts drove in three tallies with his timely single in the seventh, and scored ahead of Hickman in the second frame.

Track Squad Faces Two Dual Meets

St. Joseph's Contested Today;
West Chester Comes Undefeated On Saturday

This afternoon the Blue and Gold track squad travels to Philadelphia to compete in a dual meet with St. Joseph's College, and on Saturday, West Chester will send to Newark a team that expects to take home the victory.

The meet with St. Joseph's will probably prove easy for Delaware. Judging by previous meets of both schools, the Hens will sweep every event but the pole vault and high jump to gain their third dual meet victory of the season.

On Saturday the Stahley-coached men meet the real test of the year when the undefeated teachers' team furnishes the competition on the Newark track. West Chester has downed Albright and Villanova in dual meets, won a quadrangular contest with P. M. C., La Salle, and Osteopathy, and captured the crown in the Pennsylvania Teachers' College championships meet last Saturday.

Delaware has vanquished two rivals, Washington College and Johns Hopkins, in dual affairs, and placed seventh last week in the Middle Atlantic in which West Chester did not compete, besides winning at the Penn Relays.

West Chester is said to hold a slight edge in the running events. Knabb, in the distances, and McLoughlin, in the dashes, are outstanding performers. The opponents also have superior vaulters and jumpers, as well as an excellent hurdler in Geib and a javelin star who will test Bull Carey's prowess to the limit. The contest will be close throughout with Delaware entering the fray as the underdog.

WITH THE BLUE AND GOLD

JOE PERKINS

ON THE COURTS—Captain Joe Walsh, in the midst of a close doubles match last week with Haverford, injured an ankle so seriously that he had to default. It is doubtful that he will be able to serve his team except as a spectator during the balance of the season. His loss will be felt keenly, in fact, it already has asserted itself—the racquetters have lost three straight since Joe hobbled reluctantly from the court. Roy Donoho has yet to feel the sting of defeat, but he has three more years to go. The tennis men travel Thursday to West Chester to settle in the courts the question—if West Chester defeated Haverford, and Haverford defeated Delaware, can Delaware defeat West Chester?

BASEBALL ACTIVITY—This afternoon the Blue Hen diamond lads will endeavor to make up for the 10-8 defeat given them by Washington College several weeks ago. Coach Doherty will travel with his men to Chestertown for the battle. Brilliant pitching by Pete Sivess, whom the big leagues are watching intently, and less spectacular throwing by Greenwood, Lomax, and Payne featured the Saturday game with the Red Devils of Dickinson. The Hens have only three chances to add victories to their tally card, which now states that Captain O'Connell's minions have six victories and four losses so far this spring.

ARMY TRIMS GOLFERS—Charley Pié has a flare for winning when all his team mates lose. His singles victory at West Point was Delaware's sole point. But don't get the idea that it proves him the best fellow on the squad—it all depends on with whom players are paired in that racket. Jamison, with an 80, was low tally man.

FOURTEEN POINTS—Bull Carey is likely to break the shot record now held by Swede Drozdov unless Droz stretches the distance a couple more feet, for in the Middle Atlantic Bull heaved the sphere 44 feet on a fouled throw, while Tom Pennock ruined a 175 feet javelin distance by overstepping the line. It would have netted him third instead of second place. Franny Lambert, who has been away from practice nursing a pulled muscle, staged a mid-season comeback to take fifth place in the championships, but Lambert will face a real test in the West Chester meet Saturday on our field when he tries to avenge dash defeats handed him last year by McLoughlin, who is the Teachers' pride, not only in the sprints, but also in the 220 low timbers over which Minner and Hodgson will attempt to lead him. We note that Joe Perkins, who achieved third place in the Middle Atlantic, there suffered his second defeat in his college quartermiling history. He was vanquished last year by Bythiner, of La Salle. At the Middle Atlantic we chatted with Fred Harmer, '22, who told us that he's waiting to see his middle distance records shattered by Perkins and Fenton Carey, while members of the Penn Relay team are waiting for a salesman to measure them for the sweaters promised for their victory by Coach Stahley. Stahley's men will have little trouble in defeating St. Joe's at Philly today. It should be no more than a warmup for the tough West Chester fray Saturday, a meet that will thrill spectators by its close scoring. If Bull Carey's calculations are accurate, the fellows who put the dough at 3 to 1 odds on Delaware, offered by the West Chester rooters, will be overjoyed.

Golf Team Defeated In Army Contest

Pie Sole Winner As Cadets Crush
Hens, 7 1-2 To 1 1-2, At West Point Court

The Blue Hen team went down to defeat at the hands of a strong Army golf team last Saturday by the score of 7½ to 1½. Delaware was able to capture only one of the singles when Captain Pié defeated Duncan 1 down. In the doubles, the best the Houghtonmen could do was Moore and Pié's tie with Duffy and Duncan.

Pié was Delaware's lone winner on the Storm King Course. Maybe it was the long ride that helped in the defeat.

Summary:—

Singles

Duffy, Army, defeated Moore, 4-2. Pié defeated Duncan, Army, 1 down. Donohue, Army, defeated Jamison, 4-3. Brimer, Army, defeated Porter, 5-3. McCoach, Army, defeated Stradley, 6-5. A. Davis, Army, defeated B. Davis, 4-3. Singles score: Army, 5; Delaware, 1.

Foursomes

Moore and Pié tied Duffy and Duncan, Army. Donohue and Brimer, Army, defeated Jamison and Porter, 6-5. McCoach and A. Davis, Army, defeated Stradley and B. Davis, 7-6.

The end of the golf season is rapidly growing near; there are two more games scheduled, Dickinson, home, today, and P. and M., away, on May 23.

Tennis Men Lose Trio Of Matches

Haverford, American University, And George Washington Defeat Netmen

The past week proved one fraught with disaster for the Blue Hen tennis team. Three straight matches were dropped, to Haverford, 7-2; American University, 6-3; and George Washington, 8-1. Captain Walsh, with an injured foot, was unable to compete in the contests.

Walsh sprained an ankle in the middle of a doubles fray in the Haverford match. A default was necessitated by his injury, which may keep him from the nets the balance of the season.

The lone point scored by Delaware in the George Washington trouncing was the victory of Lawrence and Wells in their doubles assignment.

Summaries:—

Delaware vs. Haverford—2-7

Memhard, Haverford, defeated Walsh, 6-1, 6-4.
Weightman, Haverford, defeated Wheelless, 6-1, 6-3.
Donoho won from Bevan, Haverford, 6-3, 6-1.
Parry, Haverford, defeated Hume, 6-2, 5-7, 6-0.
Brancher, Haverford, defeated Rice, 6-2, 6-4.

Doubles

Walsh and Tangleure (defaulted) Wheelless and Hume lost, 4-6, 6-2, 4-6.
Rice and Wells lost, 6-2, 1-6, 4-6.

Delaware vs. American University—3-4

On The Southern Front

By Jean Sigler

Ho-hum! May Day is over for another year. All we have to say is, "Hope you liked it."

A friend of mine who is interested in sports news once asked me why W. C. D. didn't participate in intercollegiate athletics. Here is the answer which I found adequately worded in a text book by Williams and Brownell: "Since intramural interscholastic athletics serve the mass of students, and interscholastic athletics restrict participation to the few possessing superior skill, the intramural program as a general educator is superior to interscholastic competition." Time, or lack of it, is another factor which limits us to intramural sports.

Track and archery respectively claim only one practice a week. It is necessary to carry on both sports at the same time, since vacation isn't far off, and this program makes it possible. Track is ahead of archery, I believe, as far as the number of practices is concerned. The bowmen have two new targets, and from the looks of the smallest circle, some girls have not had much trouble finding the bull's eye.

Frances McGee Reigns As Queen Over W.C.D. May Day

Colorful Cinderella Pageant Presented In Afternoon; Tea And Dance Held In Evening

The Women's College May Day Festival was held Saturday, May 11, on the lower campus before a group of one thousand friends and alumnae. The Sophomores started the May Day exercises by singing carols to Frances McGee, president of the Senior Class and Queen of the May.

The festival started with procession of the court from the gymnasium to the throne of the queen, who was crowned by Adelaide Mahoney, maid of honor. The costumes were old-fashioned dresses with hooped skirts, puffed sleeves, drop shoulders and white lace collars.

After the crowning of the Queen, the whole group sang the traditional May Song and a pageant was presented in honor of the Queen and her court.

The pageant, which was the story of Cinderella dramatized, was divided into four scenes. The first depicted the meeting of Cinderella and her step-mother and step-sisters at a wedding celebration. The second portrayed the godmother scene and the last two scenes were the royal ball and finally the happy ending.

The May Day Festival closed with the May Pole Dance after which tea was served to the guests in the Hilarium. The members of the court acted as hostesses. The guests were received by the May Queen, Dean Robinson, Miss Beatrice Hartshorn and Dr. Alice Van de Voort. The festivities closed with the May Day dance which was held in Old College in the evening.

What's What At W.C.D.

Successful May Day

May Day with its pageant and dance is over. Now what? Tests, term papers, exams and more rain. And just as the campus is really becoming lovely with its bushes all in bloom, we are too busy to appreciate it. Such is life!

Activities have somewhat quieted down after the last hectic yet enjoyable weeks of May Day preparations, luncheons and dances.

Room-Drawing For '35-'36

On Monday, May 13, at 6:30 there was an unusual commotion on campus that centered around Room 10, Science Hall. The annual room-drawing was taking place, the Juniors getting first choice, then the Sophomores, and last of all, the Freshmen. Each little group was doing its best, and usually successfully, to stick together.

Y. W. C. A. Meeting

At 4:10 on Monday the Y. W. C. A. held a meeting in New Castle Common Room. The King Kohler delegates, Alice Sheldon, Elizabeth Taylor, Elizabeth Scott, Martha Tripp and Anita Allen, told about their recent trip.

Combined Class Meeting

The Junior and Sophomore classes had a meeting in the Chapel at 4:10 Tuesday, May 14.

Women's Clubs At Newark

On Wednesday and Thursday, May 15 and 16 the State Federation of Women's Clubs will meet in Newark. Tea will be served in the Hilarium at 4:10 on Thursday and dinner in Kent Hall.

Music Club Thursday

On Thursday at 4:10 also there will be a meeting of the Music Club in the Music Building. Elizabeth Hickman, president, will preside. The program will consist of musical numbers by various members, and the election of officers will take place. Some business for next year will be discussed.

Open German Club Meeting

On Friday, May 17, at 4:10 the German Club will hold an open meeting in Sussex Common Room. The program will be a musical one.

College Hour

College Hour was held in the Chapel, Science Hall at 11:35 Tuesday. Several science majors, Elizabeth Edge, Emily Marias, and Hildegard Hagen were called on for brief talks.

Glee Club Elects

The Glee Club officers for next year are: President, Margaret James; Vice-President, Kay Rittenhouse; Secretary - Treasurer, Dorothy Markert, and Business Manager, Esther Rayne.

has placed men from Delaware and other colleges with the Brill Company with disappointing results. In a recent letter he says of these placements, "While a few of these boys are developing and will shortly reach a point where they will be transferred, the large majority leave us within a year to a year-and-a-half."

It was with the purpose of telling undergraduate engineering students what to expect and what employers expect of them when they receive positions that Mr. Cleaver made his address last night. A forceful speaker, he brought out his point with the earnestness of a man intent upon pointing out the faults which have caused the majority of failures in the placements of graduate engineers with whom he has had experience.

Former Vassar Dean Speaks At Alumnae Banquet

Helen Kenyon Urges Graduate Membership On Trustees As Responsible Representation

At the annual reunion dinner of the Alumnae Association of the Women's College, of the University of Delaware, held in Kent Hall on Saturday evening, Miss Helen Kenyon, a Vassar alumnae and president of the board of trustees at Vassar gave an address on "The Relation of the Alumnae to the College."

She urged that the alumnae of Delaware College should be chosen as members of the Board of Trustees. She stated that, although there are alumnae now on the board, they were not selected by an alumnae organization. It is her opinion that alumnae representatives chosen by and responsible to the alumnae would be beneficial to the University as they would have a knowledge of and an interest in the things going on at the University.

At the banquet, Dean Robinson greeted the Alumnae urging them to show the benefits that they had derived under the coordinate system of education now in existence at the Women's College.

Other speakers were Frances McGee, president of the Senior Class; Heidi Laue, exchange student from Germany; Mrs. A. Bailey Thomas, '20; Mrs. Andrew Taylor, '25; and Mrs. A. D. Warner, member of the Board of Trustees.

A musical program was given by Mrs. Frances Sheridan Haut and Miss Mary Challenger. The banquet closed with the singing of the Alma Mater.

field championships held at Lehigh University.

"Bull" Carey, with a second in the javelin and a third in the shot-put, tallied seven points to lead the Hen scorers. Tom Pennock, also a javelin thrower, placed fourth in that event.

After making the fastest qualifying time in the preliminaries, Joe Perkins had to be satisfied with a third in the quarter-mile, while Franny Lambert, whose practice has been limited by a pulled muscle, captured fifth in the hundred yard dash.

The other Delaware runners were less successful in the midst of the strong competition that characterized the meet. Don King entered the half mile and mile events, placing ninth in the latter run out of a large field, and Di Sabatino failed to be among the placers after he had qualified in both 100 and 220 preliminaries.

Hodgson and Minner also ran good qualifying heats but were defeated in the finals of their hurdle events. Minner shifted his attention to broad jumping and placed fifth.

The meet, in which a league of 16 colleges annually participates, was held on a slow track. Rutgers proved the victorious team.

SYNTHETIC SUNLIGHT

THE people whose apartments faced the lower levels of the ventilating shafts in a 14-story New York apartment house had long ago given up the hope that direct sunlight would enter their windows. Imagine their astonishment one morning not long ago to find light—lots of it—streaming in. When they looked, they found not the sun, but 18 of the sun's able little imitators—General Electric floodlights. They had been mounted on the ninth-floor level.

The engineers were thoughtful of the tenants' feelings. For when the switch is thrown no sudden glare of light paralyzes unaccustomed householders in the act of brushing their teeth or doing setting up exercises, pastimes which were formerly cloaked in intimate gloom. A fully automatic synchronous-motor time switch actuates a dimmer, and the floodlights do not attain full brilliancy for 15 minutes.

GROANING RAILS

A FEW weeks ago, the rails between Schenectady and Benning, D. C., groaned under what is believed to be the heaviest load ever transported on a single car. The load consisted of the generator shaft, rotor, and poles for a General Electric frequency converter set being installed at the plant of the Potomac Electric Light and Power Company to deliver 25-cycle, single-phase power to the Pennsylvania Railroad. The total weight on the rails was 471,300 pounds.

Because of weight and clearance requirements, however, the route of the shipment was round about. A check of practically every foot of the way was made to determine if temporary obstructions could be removed to allow the load to pass. From Schenectady to Wilkes-Barre, Pa., the car traveled on the Delaware & Hudson. From Wilkes-Barre, the car was sent to Hagerstown, Md., on the Pennsylvania Railroad, where it was turned over to the Western Maryland Railroad. After an extensive detour, it was delivered back to the Pennsylvania on its main line just south of the Baltimore tunnels, which were the principal reasons for the complicated routing. From there it was carried directly to the power company's siding in the District of Columbia.

FISH LIFE SAVER

THE people in the New York Aquarium were very unhappy. Many of their rare fish were dying of a mysterious malady. An investigation showed that the water pumped into the tanks contained contaminating metal salts, and that these salts came from the metal pumps in the system.

They appealed to the H. A. Smith Pump & Motor Company for help. Mr. Smith began testing all the nonmetallic substances available for making pumps. He tried 14 materials and found that General Electric Textolite was the only one that would prevent this pollution of the water and at the same time make a satisfactory pump.

Engineers of the General Electric Plastics Department were called in, and a new pump was designed, using five different grades of Textolite. The pump was so constructed that no water can come into contact with metal.

The Engineer

Who is the man who designs our pumps with judgment, skill and care?

Who is the man that builds 'em and keeps them in repair?

Who has to shut them down because valve seats disappear,

The bearing wearing, gearing tearing. Mechanical Engineer.

Who buys his juice for half a cent and charges you a dime?

Who when we've signed the contract, can't deliver half the time?

Who thinks a loss of twenty-six per cent is nothing queer?

The volt inducing, load reducing Electrical Engineer.

Who is it takes a transit out to find a sewer tap?

Who then with extreme care locates the junction on the map?

Who is it goes to dig it up and finds it nowhere near?

The mud bespattered, torn and tattered Civil Engineer.

Who thinks without his products we would all be in the lurch?

Who has a heathen idol which he designates Research?

Who stinks the creeks, perfumes the air, and makes the landscapes drear?

The stink evolving, grass dissolving Chemical Engineer.

Who builds a road for fifty years that disappears in two?

Then changes his identity, so no one's left to sue?

Who covers all the traveled roads with filthy oily smear?

The bump providing, rough on riding Highway Engineer.

Who takes the pleasure out of life and makes existence Hell?

Who'll fire a real good looking one because she cannot spell?

Who substitutes a dictaphone for coral tinted ear?

Blue Hen Hatches Slowly

Dean Robinson's nay-nay prevented a proposed Senior Class Week-end round of festivities for the graduating members of both colleges . . . Unless the Blue Hen staff puts in some super-human labor within the next two weeks the biennial publication will not come out on time . . . the publications committee, long up in the air as to the 1-5 of every Student Activities Fee appropriated for the book being too much, will be sure to seize the opportunity for reducing the financial grant . . . so to work, Charley, and put it over.

Faculty Shakeup

Pat Patterson is now Second Lieutenant of the Marine Corps . . . He starts active duty in the Fall . . . The line-up of the English Department next year will be Dr. Sypherd, Dr. Allen, Dr. Day, Mr. Kase, Dr. Sechler and Mr. Dunlap. Mr. De Bonis will be replaced by Mr. Dunlap, a former professor at Delaware, while Mr. Sechler becomes full-time instructor to replace Mitchell . . . No successor to Miss Lewis has been named.

Banquet Notes

The Senior Class received a bill of damages for $57.00 as the aftermath of their annual banquet . . . Best Shot of Banquet: One exuberant senior takes radio tubes out of the radio and puts them under his hat to later transfer them to his short wave set . . . Unfortunately, when the group began to sing the Alma Mater a patriot indignantly snatches off —'s hat, causing seven partially used tubes to crash to the floor. . . . Second best shot: — calls up his girl in Chicago at the tavern's expense.

Small Talk

The Women's College Alumnae Association lost at least 15 potential members when their speaker at the banquet Saturday nite spoke on until 9 o'clock, when the dance was scheduled to start at 8:30 o'clock . . . many a fair swain remained disgruntled all thru the evening because of his long wait

. . . For some reason or other Milt Smith received a box of candy Sunday . . . Dr. Day denounces demagogues admirably, deleting nothing to spare his listeners' political affiliations . . . Franklin Clymer is one student who can acquire an Oxford accent without going to England . . . he credits his accomplishment to Mr. Byam. . . . staffs of Footlights plays. He is secretary and treasurer of the Athenaeum Society and treasurer of the Sigma Nu Fraternity.

The other members of the Humanist staff have had experience in working on publications, having been associated with their high school newspaper and magazine and with THE REVIEW.

The newly organized group petitioned the Student Council on Monday evening for an appropriation to finance the magazine and were successful in securing a grant of $175 to publish the first issue. If the Student Council feels that the magazine is successful and popular with the student body it will continue to subsidize the Humanist. With such Student Council financial support, the two issues per year of the Humanist will be given to every student with no additional charge.

Any student from the student body may contribute articles, short stories, plays, etc., to the magazine. Those of merit will be accepted and printed in the magazine. All contributors who have submitted material automatically become members of the Humanist, a superstructural society of the magazine devoted to the furtherance of literary and cultural ideals. It is hoped that noted writers can be obtained to address this group. The Humanist also expects to get at least one article or story per issue from authors or personalities of note to augment the student contribution. Interesting contributions from any of the faculty also will be welcomed. However, the Humanist is primarily for the students and will attempt to offer them articles which appeal to their tastes at the same time maintaining a high literary standard.

All students present at the organization meeting last Friday and all other aspiring contributors are urged to attend a staff meeting of the Humanist, Friday afternoon at 1 p. m. in THE REVIEW office on the third floor of Old College.

enforcement of rat rules for next year in the hands of the sophomore class officers, the sophomore student council members, and a sufficient number of other sophomores to make up a committee of 15 men. John Geist is in charge of the distribution of rat equipment.

A sum of $175 was appropriated for one issue of the Humanist, the recently revived literary magazine of the Men's College, which has not been published since 1932.

Glee Club Disbands Until Fall Semester

The members of the Delaware College Glee Club have decided to disband until the fall semester when they have hopes of more singers trying out for their organization. At the beginning of this year, there were plans entertained of presenting an operetta with the Women's College Glee Club. However, the lack of interest on the part of the men and other circumstances rendered this project impossible.

Towning

By John Richer

Boston—Everything which is not Italian yet remains British. They even have, as in London, old churches between business buildings. But London does not have the Charles River, nor the common pride of all true Bostonians.

New York—See any guide-book—you occasionally come across an Anglo-Saxon, who is there by error. The town could look good without the elevated.

Philadelphia—Judging by the number of department stores people must be fond of shopping; if not, they have plenty of opportunities to become so. The Museum of Art is surrounded by brick houses and factories, but improvements are coming.

Washington—If you want to get a booklet on the N. R. A. you had better start early in the morning and, after long hikes in the corridors of huge administration buildings, and taxi rides, from one end of the town to the other, you will be through about 5 p. m. But it is far from unpleasant; everything looks so brand new and smart.

Richmond—There is but one skyscraper, but a mighty one. The people talk a lot about the War (that is, the Civil War). The University, located in a quiet pine-wood, is justly proud of its pool and of its Greek theater. Richmond has developed a negro cultivated class: Can colored lawyers be modest?

Charleston—All these piazzas and iron-wrought gates should be in Spain—Charleston, they say, is nearly like New York, a town between two rivers; but there are only 70,000 inhabitants, including the white.

Savannah—Don't hurry, life is easy and words flow out of the mouth is a melodious stream. Is it only the heat or are all these girls really pretty?
