English Department to Sponsor Creative Writing Contest

Prizes Given to Winners

In order to discover any latent talent for writing among the students at the University of Delaware, the English Department is sponsoring a creative writing contest. The contest is open to all undergraduates, who may submit poetry, drama, short story or essay. There will be three prizes awarded for the best entries, irrespective of type; the winners of the contest are to be announced at a special assembly to be held in the spring. Suitable contributions from among the entries may be printed in the CALUDRON which will be published in the spring. Judges for the contest have not yet been announced.

The rules governing the mechanics of entering a manuscript are as follows: (1) All manuscripts must be typed double-spaced on one side of standard typewriter paper; (2) All manuscripts must be in triplicate copy; (3) Manuscripts should be sent to Mrs. S. B. Rogers of the English Department, in University Hall; (4) Manuscripts must be turned in by April 5, 1946, in order to be considered in the contest; (5) The manuscripts must be placed in a folder on which the author's name is written. No names may appear on the manuscripts; (6) Although anyone may turn in as many entries as he should like, only one prize may be awarded to a single contestant.

Many other universities have similar contests, which have proved most interesting. Perhaps at Delaware there is some student who may be a budding genius . . . it could be you. How about getting the pen and ink to work? Surprise your roommate with your talent . . . surprise yourself, too.

Alumni Reunion In Gold Ball Room

Heads of Dep'ts. to Speak

The University of Delaware Alumni Association will hold its annual mid-winter banquet on February 23, in the Gold Ball Room, Hotel DuPont. Acting President Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, the principal speaker will present as his topic, "The University of Delaware and Its Development."

The heads of departments and students who will give brief talks are Dr. Francis H. Squire, Dean of Arts and Sciences and the University; Dr. E. Fenton Daugherty, Dean of Men; Professor Howard K. Preston, Acting Dean of Engineering; Professor George L. Schuster, Dean of the School of Agriculture; Dr. W. Earl Armstrong, Dean of Education; Coach William D. Murray, Director of Health, Physical Education and Athletics; Dr. Allan P. Colburn, Professor of Chemical Engineering; John Ott, president of the Student Government Association and Edmond Vaklyes, Editor-in-Chief of the REVIEW.

Joseph Cherpak of Wilmington, president of the alumni association, will preside at the banquet and Deputy Judge Caleb Boggs of the Family Court will be the toastmaster. Among others on the program are Warren C. Newton, class of '16, vice-president of the

Music Club To Give College Hour

To Include Group Singing

The Music Club is presenting an all-musical college hour in Mitchell Hall on Thursday, February 21. The program consists of violin solos by Barbara Webster, a piano selection played by Rosamund Foster and several choral numbers by a selected group of singers.

This mixed chorus includes voices from both Mr. Loudis' senior chorus and the freshman choral group under the direction of Miss Bernadine Short. Since two new male students have joined the ranks this term, there is now a total of eight men in the chorus, all of them with fine voices. Beginning with the beautiful Crusaders Hymn sung by the entire chorus, with Samuel Lockerman the tenor lead, the group will then swing into a bouncing Negro spiritual, "Keep in the Middle of the Road." William Merion, who has already made several vocal appearances on campus and veteran Bill West will sing the bass solos in this latter number. For their last selection the choir will sing "Listen to the Lambs," which is an outstanding piece in the repertory of every choral group. It is a highly effective piece of music requiring a capable director to guide the vocal expression, and a smooth blending of voices in order to capture all of its plaintive beauty.

A highlight of the assembly will be the Brahms' Rhapsody in G Minor played by the talented young pianist, Rosamund Foster. This will be a fine opportunity for all music lovers to hear one of our own Delaware students play this work by one of the greatest composers of all times.

Of course, no musical program on the campus would be complete without a selection or two played by Barbara Webster on her violin. Miss Webster's previous appearance at Mitchell Hall last term has already made her a well-known figure at the university, and her violin solos were so well received that no one will want to miss hearing her play again on Thursday. Her program includes the Allegro Malto from the Sonata in D Major by the immortal Franz Schubert and, by popular request, Claude Debussy's hauntingly lovely "Clair de Lune."

The college hour will be concluded by Mr. Loudis, who will lead the entire audience in some friendly community singing. Let's have everyone in Mitchell Hall at 11:00 o'clock on Thursday, February 21 to spend a most enjoyable hour "making music."

Board of Trustees, and John N. McDowell, alumni director and director of the new public relations office at the University of Delaware. Newton and McDowell will speak about the Development Fund.

James C. Stewart recently returned Army officer, is chairman of the banquet committee.

Brown Hall Elects Officers

English Elected Chairman Of Council

Harold English is the chairman of Brown Hall House Council for the current semester as a result of the elections held in the dormitory, Thursday evening, February 14.

A senior in the School of Agriculture and a Kappa Alpha pledge, Harold first entered the University in 1940 but left in 1942 to accept a job in the poultry industry. Early in 1945, he matriculated at the University of Maryland and returned to Delaware last term to complete his senior year.

The House Council is composed of representatives elected from each floor in Brown Hall. John Craig, the new representative from the first floor, is a veteran who entered the University for the first time this term to major in Chemical Engineering.

Serving as the representatives from the second floor for this term are Charles Stockley, Jack Wilson, and Harold Wilson. Both Charles Stockley, a Sophomore, taking Business Administration, and Jack Wilson, a Freshman, in Mechanical Engineering and a Kappa Alpha pledge, are veterans of the armed forces who entered the University of Delaware last term. The other representative from the second floor, Harold (Shakespeare) Wilson, is a former student of the University who left for the Navy in 1944 and returned this term to complete his senior year as a Chemistry major.

Edward Bradley, Dick Aydelotte and Charlie Josephs have been elected representatives from the third floor. Edward Bradley, a Junior in Business Administration, is another former student who returned this term after serving in the Army since 1942. Dick Ayde-

E-52 to Present "Skin of Our Teeth"

The Skin of Our Teeth by Thornton Wilder has been selected as the next full-length production of the E-52 Players. Copies of the play are now on reserve in the Library, and tryouts will be held on Tuesday, February 19, in Mitchell Hall from 4:15 to 5:30 p. m., and from 7:00 to 8:30 p. m.

The Skin of Our Teeth, a Pulitzer Prize Play, was first produced at the Plymouth Theatre in New York with Tallulah Bankhead and Frederick March in the leading roles. It is a strange and different type of play by the author of Our Town, but the New York Times dubbed it as " . . . the best play the forties have seen in many months, the best pure theatre," and New York PM said that "Like Our Town it brings something different, surprising, untrammelled to the stage." Dr. Kase feels that it will be a real education in dramatic production for the entire E-52 staff, as it is a very revolutionary form of drama.

Our Town, the Pulitzer Prize Winner for 1937-38, also by Thornton Wilder, was one of the E-52 Players most successful productions in previous years, and everyone is confident that The Skin of Our Teeth will do equally as well, if not better. Other plays by the same author that have been given by the Players include The Happy Journey from Camden to Trenton, which was produced before the war, and this year's reading performance of The Long Christmas Dinner. The play was selected by a student committee in collaboration with the director.

Rumstich, Cox Elected To Women's Offices

Lucy Rumstich, Alvan Wolfe, Frances Cox, Raymond Duncan, and Henry Maxwell were elected to Student Council positions at elections held last Monday.

Last Friday at a special assembly nominations for the five remaining posts on the Student Senate were held. The nominations were as follows: Publication Officers, Henry Maxwell and Joseph Skura; Men's Student Affairs Officers, Alvan Wolfe and John Rothrock; Women's Student Affairs Officers, Lucy Rumstich and Frances Pettyjohn; Social Committee, Frances Cox, Raymond Duncan, Jeanne Nolde, Edmond Vaklyes and Charles Stockley.

A question from the floor suggested the meeting be postponed due to the small attendance. In answer the rule regarding nominating assemblies was quoted. This rule states that business will be carried on regardless of the number present.

General voting for the nominees was held on Monday. Following the voting the boxes were taken to the office of Dean Crawford. Counting of the votes was carried out by four members of the SGA under the supervision of Miss Pearl MacDonald.

Alvan Wolfe, the new Men's Affairs head is a sophomore in the School of Arts and Science, and is taking the Pre-Dental curriculum. He is a member of the Sigma Tau Phi Fraternity and holds a position on the Inter-Fraternity Council.

Lucy Rumstich, chairman of Women's Affairs, is a senior in the school of Home Economics and holds the position of President of the Home Economics Club.

The Men's Social chairman Raymond Duncan, is a sophomore in the School of Arts and Science and is currently pursuing a Pre-Med course. "Scotty," a member of the Theta Chi Fraternity, plays on the basketball and football teams. He is also a member of the REVIEW staff.

Women's Social chairman, Frances Cox, is a senior in the School

Dorms at Elkton Available for Vets

On February 15 the Federal Public Housing Authority announced that sixty dormitory units have been made available for service veteran students at the University of Delaware and will be set up at Elkton, Maryland, seven and a half miles from Newark.

Charles E. Grubb, Business Administrator and director of housing at the University, was highly pleased to know that such units were reportedly being made available.

Details concerning the immediate utilization of these quarters and the daily transportation necessary have not been completely worked out, for a still larger increase in enrollment is expected in September. Since all the campus facilities are being used, the increase in registration will require off-campus accommodations.

Sports Return to Delaware

The inauguration by the Physical Education Department of a plan to reactivate intra-mural and inter-collegiate athletic competition should go a long way toward reviving the "old college" spirit which has lagged over the war years. The program under the direction of Professor William D. Murray provides an ample opportunity for every athletically inclined man to enjoy the sport at which he is most adept.

Whole hearted co-operation by all concerned will enable this project to fulfill its objectives.

As the various sports come into season, teams will be organized from groups on campus. Competitive sports held to develop pride in our organization. With the advent of this renewed spirit, Delaware will return to the high pinnacle of success which marked its teams in prewar years.

Old College Speaks

Thanks to the staff of the Review for the fine welcome extended to the vets in the last edition of the paper; you have really made us feel at home.

We also wish to voice our appreciation to the college for doing everything possible—and I repeat—to make us feel at home.

Tears welled up in my eyes and pleasant memories flashed before me when I entered my new quarters for the next?—weeks, and found that I had a bunk. Just like home! I have been sleeping on one for the past three years, and now this. You would think a fellow should be used to the hardships of a bunk after all that time, and I am; but never have I slept on one like this before. A board constantly giving my spinal column nasty digs all night long. The next morning I could hardly move, and was about to yell for someone to help me out of bed when a train roared by some 100 feet away and shook me to the floor.

I had been shown the evils of college life at the D. P. the night before, and I could hardly wait to climb into my robe and find the showers. Someone had forgotten to put a door on my room (that saved time, anyway), so I dashed out into the hall and began desperately trying doorways. This would have gone on all morning if I hadn't been rescued by some scouts who had started out an hour before and had already blazed the trail. It was really very simple once you got to know your way around. Just walk down the hall, turn left; walk down another hall, turn right; down four steps, turn left again; ten paces down you turn a sharp left and stumble down fourteen more stairs; left again, four more steps, shoot the sun; find north, then head north east and take the second door on the right.

Incidentally, that is the shortest route for fellows living on the third floor to the nearest bath.

I still carry a map in my pocket in case I get excited and lost in an emergency.

To be perfectly truthful, however, I have lived in many places not nearly as nice as this, and I'll probably have to live in many more. I realize the University is overcrowded and I do appreciate the fact that I have been accepted. I have been assured of better living quarters as soon as they are available but in the meantime I'm getting along very well. Even if it is just like the army! My four room mates are swell boys whom I am sure will help me keep my college life "interesting."

After breaking the boards out of my bunk, I am feeling a lot happier because it is just like those I have been used to. I have even gotten so used to the trains that I open the window every night and count the freight cars until I fall asleep. They even gave us a door the other day—really wonderful—hasn't got a door knob of course! Some nights it gets pretty drafty and blows the door shut. This requires climbing out a window to the roof and working my way around to another room to get out in the morning. But I never mind this—except on rainy days.

I've heard the rumor that a soldier is never happy unless he's griping, and we all want to forget we ever were soldiers, so tell you what I'll do. If some kind soul will only promise to lend me an umbrella, or better still, a door knob, well, I'll never let the voice of Old College be a complaining one again.

WEATHER ANGLE — A WEEKLY FORECAST

The period of February 20-25 will be fair and cold with sub-freezing conditions. February 26th will be overcast and increasing cloudiness toward evening. A light snow about 2 inches will occur on the 27th or 28th day of February.

February as a whole will be a cold month as temperatures will be below average. Precipitation will also be below normal, and will total about 2.25-2.50 inches.

KAMPUS KARTOONS

REPRESSION IS THE BASIC LOVE-FUNCTION PRACTISED BY WOMEN. HOW TRUE — HOW TRUE!

To whom it may concern:

Because of the unfamiliarity of many students with the purpose of the Newman Club, I should like to clarify its official position in the life of the campus.

The constitution of the club defines its aims under a three-fold heading: religious, intellectual, and social. All activities involving the members as a unit are planned and carried out with these aims in mind. At no time are other motives given official or unofficial sanction.

It is a human foible to confuse individuals with organizations to which they belong. The Newman Club, of course, cannot assume a moral or social responsibility for any of its members. An individual's conduct is governed by his own free will, and his membership in the Newman Club does not necessarily influence his actions, or his political and other social affiliations.

The Newman Club is concerned only with religious, intellectual, and social aspects of life. I ask, therefore, that everyone make a clear distinction between actions and policies of the club and those of its members.

Edmond J. Vaklyes,

President of the Newman Club

Dear Vets:

After stacking all your nickles on "Pass That Peace Pipe" at the De Luxe, the song we're going to sing is bound to be a let-down. However, this one is on the house modified by the little red school.

School days, school days,
Dear old break-the-rule days,
(No C. O., you know)
Reading and writing and 'rithmetic . . .

We know you can read because you're this far down in the paragraph. If you can and like to write, that'll add up to good news from the CAULDRON, the undergraduate literary magazine.

Man, what a struggle that was! That's what we get for not having the genius who invented L. S. M. F. T. on our staff to do the publicizing. Those few lines of "School Days" were just to start the CAULDRON boiling, and now that the logs have caught fire, you may go back to Dinah Shore. But before you put another nickle in the juke-box, put your literary contributions (essays, poetry, short stories) in the mail box. Address them to the CAULDRON, Box 394, Robinson Hall.

And this goes for all of you non-vets who have been reading other people's mail!!

Yours truly,
Ruth Vernon

Intramural Sports Again Being Set Up At Univ. of Del.

Schedule Announced For Basketball League

Once again an Intramural sports program is being offered at the University of Delaware. This was announced last week by Coach Max Kurman, faculty director of Intramurals.

Two meetings were held last week to form a basketball league and it was decided that ten teams would be represented. Those groups planning to place teams in the newly formed league are the Commuters, Annex, Knoll, Training House and Brown Hall, along with Theta Chi, Sigma Phi Epsilon, Sigma Tau Phi, Kappa Alpha and Sigma Nu fraternities.

It was agreed to start on an informal basis in the formation of the basketball league and the winner would be decided on the percentage of games each team wins. The fraternity championship will go to the fraternity team which stands highest in the league and the conclusion of the schedule.

The committee also agreed that to be eligible to play in this league you must be a member of the team representing the house or club where you live, except those who are on the present Varsity basketball squad. Those who formerly got a letter in basketball at this University, and who do not play on any outside league team, are ineligible with one exception, that is, each team is allowed to have one player on its team who formerly got a letter at Delaware and who is not playing now; however, any man not physically eligible for physical education is ineligible to participate league competition.

Sometime in the near future plans for a permanent intramural athletic association will be set up with the purpose of providing recreation for all male students attending the University of Delaware.

Following is the schedule to be used for the basketball league:

Intramural Basketball Schedule
Monday, Feb. 18—Theta Chi vs. Annex; Sigma Tau Phi vs. Sigma Nu.

Tennis to Return To Delaware Jones to Coach

At a meeting Tuesday afternoon, February 12, Professor Jones discussed with the men who were interested the possibility of having a formal tennis team here at Delaware this year.

The following fellows, who either attended the meeting or were told of it afterwards, have signified their desire to have a regular tennis team: Don Hoffecker, Alvin Wolfe, Richard Edwards, Alan Leib, Harvey Unangst, Richard Ryan, Herbert Schaffer, Joe Haw, Robert Kirkland, John Stopyra, Dave Faraone, Paul Morton, Robert Eissner, W. T. Krussman, J. Monaghan.

Professor Jones has coached tennis here for a number of years and it is his experience that a much larger turn-out is necessary to insure a balanced team, since there is not enough time to develop new players.

It is desired, therefore, that anyone who is interested in tennis, or who has played either high school or league tennis, get in touch with Professor Jones as soon as possible. He can usually be found in his office, Room 103 Evans Hall.

Recreation Plan Announced

Field House, Gymn And Swimming Pool Opened To Students, Faculty

It was announced by W. D. Murray, Director of Athletics, at the University of Delaware that there would be recreational use made of the Swimming Pool, Gymnasium and Field House starting immediately.

The swimming pool and gymnasium will be open from 4:00 p. m. until 5:30 p. m. in the afternoon, from 7:30 until 9:00 p. m. at night and on Saturdays and Sundays from 1:00 p. m. until 9:00 p. m.

The Field House will be available from 7:00 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. in the evening and from 1:00 p. m. until 9:00 p. m. on Saturdays and Sundays.

This schedule will be in effect every day except Thursday. Thursday has been set aside for faculty use and all facilities of the Physical Education Department will be available to them at those times.

This program makes it possible to play many sports that otherwise would not be allowed during the physical educational time. It will be possible to play one wall Handball, Badminton, Basketball, Indoor Tennis, Volleyball, use the Apparatus and Tumble. The department will furnish all equipment except tennis racquets, balls and badminton birds.

Blue Hens Win Two

Delaware Plays Best Court Game of the Year

After losing 6 out of their last 8 games, the Delaware Blue Hens came up with two victories last week to show that they have at last regained the form which they seemed to have lost many weeks ago after winning their first two starts.

Wednesday evening, in a nip and tuck battle in which the lead changed hands many times, Delaware handed Washington College a 47-40 setback. This victory, which avenged a previous 50-38 defeat in the rather small Washington College gym was marked by the great defensive play of the whole Delaware squad. Newell Duncan led the attack dropping 6 action shots and seven foul goals for a total of 19 points, while Joe Mackey played sparkling defensive ball for the Hens.

Twenty-Five Turn Out for Track Team Ken Steers to Coach; Tentative Schedule Listed

Last Tuesday a meeting was held for track candidates at the Field House with about 25 candidates on hand. Coach Ken Steers, track coach at Delaware this year seemed pleased with the turnout. Coach Steers has had many years experience in coaching track, having coached at Dover High School for one year, and then at Middletown High School where he coached basketball and track for 11 years turning out many successful teams.

Several of the candidates for this year's track squad have had some experience; they are Bill Buckworth, Carl Lasker, Bob Cofer, Bill Bergman, Tom Martin, Bill Piper and John Simons. Other fellows who will try for a position on the track squad are John Kinter, Joe Miller, Dick Austin, William Colonna, Harold Bauer, Bill Cain, Don Keister, R. Lagergren, Jack Levis, Tom Livizos, Jack Povey, Bill Powell, Jim Rile, Harry Sadoff, and Ed Scotton.

Foul Shooting Marks Path to Victory

Saturday evening the University of Delaware basketball team kept to their winning ways by defeating a strong Johns Hopkins quintet, 35-32, in a hard fought game at the Field House.

Delaware got off to an early lead, but this soon dwindled and as the game continued, play became rougher and fouls more frequent.

The game was action packed and full of thrills, but the final play of the game proved to be one of the best. With Delaware leading by two points and Hopkins in possession with but seconds to go, Joe Mackey, who again played stellar ball on the defense, stole the ball but was fouled before he could shoot. The game ended here, but Joe made good the charity shot to give the Hens a three point margin of victory.

It was accuracy at the penalty stripe which brought victory for the Blue Hens for they were outscored 13 to 10 from the floor.

Newell Duncan and Dick Grossman led the Delaware scorers with 11 and 10 points respectively, but Carl Holub of Hopkins took scoring honors with 13 points on six field goals and one foul.

Delaware will journey to P. M. C. Saturday for their next Middle Atlantic Conference game, after the game with Haverford at Haverford, Pa., tonight.

J. V. Team Being Formed

It has been rumored that "Jabbo" Jarvis, Luke Selbey, Teddy Zinc, Jack Levis and Billy Cole, all star netmen in former years are forming a J. V. basketball team of their own. They intend to play any high school team they can arrange a game with these contests to be preliminaries for the last two basketball games this year. If this plan goes through, it will probably be the most powerful J. V. team ever seen at Delaware, and will be well worth watching.

We wish the boys lots of luck in their venture, but from the looks of the proposed roster it will be the high school teams that will be needing the luck.

Theta Chi, Sig Nu Win First Games

Overtime Features Opening Nights Play

Monday night the intramurals started off in a big way with two games that were both thrillers. The game which caused the most excitement was the extra period clash between the Theta Chi Fraternity and the Annex. At the end of the regulation playing time the score was tied at 22-22. During this extra five minute period the boys from Theta Chi turned on the pressure and the score ended 28-22 in favor of the fraternity.

Bob Glisson was the "big gun" for Theta Chi scoring 12 points on four field goals and four fouls. Kingsberg and Monaco were the high men for the Annex, both scoring 6 points.

In the other game played the Sigma Nu Fraternity proved to be the victor when they downed Sigma Tau Phi, 21-15. The teams played on an even basis thru the first quarter but the power of Sigma Nu was too much and from there on it was their ball game.

Joe Horvitz was high man for Sigma Tau Phi with five points, while Northwood, Kinter, Elssner and Mitchell all had four to pace the Sigma Nu club.

A large turnout was on hand to watch these games and the spirit displayed was on the highest par, (although a bit rough).

Admiral Blandy

May 15, 1946, may go down in the annals of naval history as the day when all concepts of naval warfare were radically changed. On that day an atomic bomb will be dropped on hundred target ships at Bikini Atoll in the Marshall Islands group. Joint task force commander for these Army-Navy-Air Force atomic bomb tests is Vice-Admiral William Henry Purnell Blandy, Fleet Admiral Nimitz's Deputy Chief of Naval Operations for Special Weapons (Atomic Bombs and Guided Missiles).

Admiral Blandy was born in New York in 1890, grandson of Dr. William Henry Purnell, at that time President of Delaware College, now the University of Delaware. Blandy entered Delaware in 1906, but in 1909 he was nominated by Senator Henry duPont as alternate to the naval academy, and when the candidate failed his entrance examinations, Blandy received the appointment. While at the University of Delaware, he won prizes in English and Mathematics and became a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity.

In 1913 Admiral Blandy graduated from the Naval Academy at the head of his class. There are numerous outstanding men in that class, but Admiral Blandy has by far the most distinguished record. Serving as task force commander of the atomic bomb tests is nothing new to the "Buck Roger" admiral as he calls himself. In 1939 he was commander of the "Utah," an old battleship which had been converted to a target ship in the battleship-versus-bomb tests. His pre-war experiences in the navy, which includes such diverse activities as gunnery officer on the U. S. S. "New Mexico" commanding officer of destroyer division ten, and Naval Attache at the American Embassy in Rio de Janeiro, should help him tremendously in the forthcoming tests. During the war, Admiral Blandy served as chief of the Navy Department's Bureau of Ordnance, in which position he had control of the approval and manufacture of modern naval weapons. He left the Bureau in 1944 to become commander of Amphibious Task Group 1. Admiral Blandy was awarded an honorary Doctor of Science degree at convocation exercises in September, 1941, from the University of Delaware.

As to the part the atomic bomb is going to play in future naval warfare, Admiral Blandy thinks that the bomb will not cause a disappearance of the navy, unless (a) it is possible "to lick a nation completely without occupation and (b) air power advances to the tremendous load carrying capacity, where it can "lift" as much tonnage as ships. Admiral Blandy is convinced that there will be changes in the building of naval warcraft, but he doubts that there will be a disappearance of the navy as a whole. Battleships may become giant rocket ships, and may be driven by atomic power, but it will still be a naval warcraft.

On the whole it seems as if the navy could not have picked a better man than Admiral Blandy to conduct these atomic tests. He is a great commander and his experiences in the diplomatic field will help him in his dealings with the U. N. O. delegation which will be present at these tests. Delaware is proud to call Vice Admiral Blandy one of its Alumni.

High School Pupils See Production

Many high school students were given the opportunity of seeing the University Drama Group's recent production of The Playboy of the Western World at reduced prices through the efforts of the University Drama Center. Boys and girls from Friends School in Wilmington, Delaware, and from as far away as Smyrna High School took advantage of this special student rate.

It has been felt that the various activities of the Dramatic Center are not well known to students on this campus, and all Delawareans interested in the theatre should be aware of its services.

The University Dramatic Center is an extension service to assist educational and community theatres in Delaware and vicinity. Approximately 75 such theatres are served by the Center. Among the services are the annual Conference and the annual Play Festival, the Play Lending Library and the publication of the Dramatic Center News. Students are invited to share any of the services of the center, in particular the Play Lending Library, which contains nearly all the best plays produced during the last ten years.

This organization is also concerned with the development of a Children's Theatre Program in the state. It is now making plans for the State Play Festival to be held on April 26 and 27; entry blanks have been sent out to some 50 or more schools and community theatres. Itinerant judges will travel from town to town seeing the various shows, and will recommend which ones should be invited up to the University to produce their plays in Mitchell Hall.

Alumnae Notes

Josephine Roscoe is spending a year in this country after completing her second term of four years of work as teacher and later as supervisor in elementary schools of Nigeria, West Africa, under the Sudan Interior Missions Board of the Presbyterian Church. She received her elementary teacher's diploma from the University of Delaware in 1927, taught in the Wilmington schools, engaged in further study, and in 1935 received the degree of bachelor of theology from the American Theological Seminary, St. Augustine, Florida, before going to Africa. To visit the 46 schools under her jurisdiction in Nigeria, she travels the parts of a thousand-mile circuit by train, boat, automobile, truck, motorcycle, or bicycle, or goes on horseback or on foot as occasion demands. After her furlough, during which she is making her headquarters with relatives in Delaware, Miss Roscoe plans to return to Africa.

Marthe Charbonneau Melchior, '24, of Bryn Mawr, Pennsylvania, is spending a year in France working under the auspices of the American Friends' Service Committee.

Mary-Braeme Jones Seasholtz, '24, now Mrs. Parker, recently returned to this country by way of France from Winchester, England, where she was a director of a Red Cross Club for service men. She is now living in Fort Smith, Arkansas.

Through the Smoke

Ann Furth

At about nine o'clock up here I often wish there were just a few more booths so I wouldn't have to use my subway-sharpened elbows to carry out the saying, "ladies first." But I guess even if the De Luxe were larger, there'd always be some unfortunates who would have to sit at those uncomfortable center tables. Be that as it may, it sure would be swell to have provided along with faculty advisers, a fairy-godmother, at no extra cost, to grant us anything we wish. Dick Aydelotte would go up to this gracious being and ask for "more twenty-three year old girls. Pearl Futterman, speaking for the "New Castle Five" came back at him with a request for "more twenty-five year old men." To get back to Dick, however, doesn't he know that all the twenty-three year old girls are married or engaged, and that those who aren't probably aren't worth it? So for pete's sake stop griping and make the best of what you think is a bad situation. You might as well since you have no alternative.

When questioned J. D. Coulter drew himself away from his milk shake, or malted, or whatever it is men who don't have to watch their figures drink, and answered what is uppermost in everyone's mind, "a Student Union Building." Then ruefully looking at his milk concoction he added, "also a new bar in Newark." From that his next logical dream was "to reduce the legal drinking age of the girl to eighteen," followed by a request for "more girls." He doesn't want much, does he? Dick McHugh and George Grier were also thinking along social lines for they want "dances until two a. m." After all, what can happen after twelve that can't happen before except that there's more time for it to happen in.

Not every one was pleasure bent for Nancy Blake wants "a new plumbing system, and a heating system with the pipes inside the walls, over at Warner." Nancy McQuaid wants a "smoking room for all night smoking," and Sybil Levenson wants to throw all existing fire laws out the window and have "smoking in the rooms." Anne Swain desires "equality between men and women." Just what she means by that you'll have to ask her.

There's no doubt as to what Astrid Delitzsch and Layton Maybrey are interested in for their plea is for "a cut of student fees for the E-52 Players." Extra curricular activities also colored the answers Bud Owen and Charley Griffith—"A football stadium." It certainly does take a good deal of imagination to call Frazier Field a stadium, and if we're going to have an undefeated team we need a stadium to match, don't we?

Ivy Short spoke for all of us when she said, "A Student Union Building where the students could get together for social and business purposes." (No, not monkey business!) It wouldn't take a fairy-godmother to do that for us. All we need are students who are willing to work, and an Administrations and Board of Trustees who are willing to cut through the miles of existing red tape, and wave not a wand, but a check-book.

CLUB news

Press Club

The first meeting of all those interested in the CAULDRON, the only literary magazine on campus, was held on Thursday, February 14th. Plans for drawing up a new constitution were discussed, and a committee was appointed to do this work. It was also decided that membership into the club should be determined by a modified point system. It was decided that the next meeting would be held in University 220, on Thursday, February 21st at 4:15 p. m. At this time elections for the editor of the CAULDRON would be held. It is hoped that more people will attend the meeting, as a large number of persons are needed for a successful publishing of the CAULDRON. The meeting will be open to all interested and we hope to have a large attendance.

Music Club

The Music Club is sponsoring its regular weekly record hour on Wednesday evening, February 20, at 7:00 in the Music Building. Recordings of Kimsi-Korsakov's "Scherasade" and "Bridal Procession" will be played. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy the music.

On the following Wednesday night, recordings of Graham's "Symphony No. 3" and Prokofief's "Classical Suite" will be the selections.

Graduate Fellowships Offered

This ten months' training program is similar to that offered in previous years. It provides a basic training for young women intending to work in personnel departments, as well as for those who seek positions in other branches of administration. Past graduates are occupying administrative positions in business and industry, government offices, educational establishments and social service institutions. The program includes about seven months of class instruction given by members of the Faculty of the Graduate School of Business Administration, Harvard University, and others. Carefully selected full time apprentice work in business, government and other organizations occupies about three months.

Fellowships

Radcliffe College offers a limited number of fellowships of $500 and $300 each for the year 1946-47.

The Training Program will start on July 29, 1946, and end on about June 6, 1947. Enrollment is open to a limited number of college graduates. Tuition: $450. For catalogue and further information apply to: T. North Whitehead, Director Management Training Program, Radcliffe College, Cambridge 38, Massachusetts.

Subject: Miscellaneous Stuff

Judge (to thug): "So they caught you with this bundle of silverware. Whom did you plunder?"

Thug: "Two fraternity houses your honor."

Judge (to sergeant): "Call up the downtown hotels and distribute this stuff."

The little old woman bent down over the Cherub in the cradle. "Ooooo, you look so sweet, I could eat you."

Baby: "Oh no you couldn't, you haven't any teeth."

Delaware to Admit Limited Number Of Vets at Mid-Term

Applications for admission to the University of Delaware received later than February 18 may be considered only if they are from former students who have completed two full years of academic work and who would thus qualify for entrance into advanced classes. The possibility of admitting a limited number of Delaware veterans at mid-semester is being considered.

Special consideration is being given to the problem of providing instruction for veterans during the forthcoming summer period. The various provisions of this policy apply to those seeking admission as undergraduates, for applications from graduate students will be considered at a time.

Women Want Varsity Sports

Many Delaware students have felt the definite lack of varsity sports for women on this campus in previous years. This fall the first intercollegiate contest at the Women's College took place in the form of a hockey game between Wesley Junior College and the Delaware freshman team. The game, which the Physical Education Department termed as an experiment, proved a success in every way with both teams showing sportsmanship and rousing school spirit. Why can't we have more of these games?

The Women's Athletic Association includes in its membership a great many women who have played varsity sports in high school and miss this form of recreation in their college life. These women feel that intercollegiate games in hockey, basketball, tennis, and other sports will be of great help in fostering school spirit, building up good sportsmanship, and engendering interest in the women's athletic program.

A Word to the Wise

Memorandum to the entire student body:

Leaving the basketball games before they have ended has become more and more noticeable lately. This habit is not only impolite to the rest of the spectators but it's very discourteous to the team.

After all, they're playing for the school, for you, and a game can be won or lost in the last few seconds. If we're losing maybe the addition of another basket or two would help the score look better if we're winning let's give the other fellows a chance. You might miss a particularly good play by trying to "beat the gang to Rhodes or the Deluxe." You really won't get there any sooner by jamming at the exit. So show your respect for the team and your courtesy to the onlookers by staying in your seat until the last "honk" of the time-clock.

Layton Maybrey, the sole Council member from the fourth floor is another ex-serviceman. A Junior in the School of Arts and Science, Layton attended the University before his entrance into the paratroops in 1943, and returned here last term. The Drifter

Layton Maybrey

Drifted into Mitchell Hall last Saturday evening. The curtains went up on the First Act of THE PLAYBOY OF THE WESTERN WORLD presented by the University Drama Group.

The play got off to a sluggish start with the reading of a rather dull list of Irish raiment. It was not until the appearance of Joseph Shields as Michael J. Flaherty that the play gained a proper pace for comedy. A general laxness on the picking up of cues tended to slow the play somewhat. The entrance of Pegeen Mike on the merry-making girls and their reaction was very well done. As the curtain fell on the First Act the Playboy delivered the well-written "Clinching" speech, with the proper sympathy.

The Second Act went along rather well, straining a chuckle here and there with an occasional outburst of general laughter. The entrance and continued characterization of Old Mahon, played by G. Taggart Evans helped to hold the play at its proper pace.

The Third Act carried out its purpose—sometimes with a few other times without conviction. An evident miscue caused the "racing" incident to lose much of its punch. The ending was a happy one. Comedies end happily.

Outstanding in the play one would probably list the fine and sympathetic treatment of Old Mahon by G. Taggart Evans, the rather convincing portrayal of a drunken Michael Flaherty by Joseph Shields—responsible for several laughs in the play, E. Clat Mahanna in the title role suffered ups and downs throughout the performance. Raymond Justin looked the part of Shawn Keogh and accounted for several chuckles throughout the performance.

Ethel Crowe as Pegeen Mike rendered her Irish dialect, almost void of any inflections, tending to drag her fellow actors into a like monotony of characterization.

In the supporting roles one would probably see Leah Ottey enthusiastic and capable in her part of the Widow Quin while Mildred Shields was outstanding among the four play-seeking Irish girls.

The set, designed by L. Parker Thomas earned itself a "curtain-call."

The general student attitude towards the play seems to be that it was a rather poor choice as a play and that they were more or less "fed up" on dialect plays for a while. Maybe they're ready for a Shakespeare job or even better, a Thornton Wilder fantasy such as THE SKIN OF OUR TEETH. Watch out, it's coming.

Sig Eps to Hold House Party

Former Members Expected to Attend Affair

Sig Eps have been busy all this week getting the house ready for the House Party to be held this Saturday, February 23. Many former members, including Jack Warren, President of Sig Ep in 1943, Albie Tigani, Ray Burnett, Jim Sterner, and Jack Judge, are back.

Although "Hell Week" has not yet officially announced, the pledges are rushing to get their paddles sanded and shellacked. Each pledge is required to make two paddles; one, for his Big Brother; the other, for himself.

Bill Otton, Tom Griffin, Murray Milbourn, Jim Otton, Bob Snowberger, Jack Simons, Jack Levis, Angie Cataldi, and Paul (Pablo) Newton have been spending most of their time in the Field House lately, getting in shape for their first game against Kappa Alpha in the Intramural Basketball League on Tuesday night.

Pledge George Irving writes that he leaves for Fort Monmouth and the Army on February 19.

Sigma Nu News

Those sultan shirttails, shoe-string ties and GI brogans that you've been seeing on campus this week aren't part of what the well-dressed man will wear; they are merely a phase of the "instruction" undergone by the Sigma Nu pledges. After learning the writs, the neophytes will be liberated and feted at the traditional "Hell Week" house party.

The scheduled event for the past week-end was to have been a chapter pilgrimage to Pottstown, where SU Johnny Long, a fraternity brother of baseball Coach William S. Martin at Duke, was holding forth in Sunnybrook ballroom. However, lack of transportation stymied the deal, and a pre-dance house party was held instead. Congenial faculty chaperones were Dr. and Mrs. Cecil C. Lynch and Dr. and Mrs. Dakota P. Greenwald.

The Sigma Nu "fraters in collegia" were increased by one with the return of brother Fred C. Tammany. Fred attended the University from September, 1943, when he entered the Army. Returning faculty members who wear the "White Star" are Coach Martin—recently discharged from the Navy—and Robert V. Harva, U. of D., '40, who is currently the SN faculty advisor.

This Week "Hell" Week for Theta Chi

Several Activities Being Planned for Fraternity

Theta Chi Fraternity reopened its doors in September for the first time since May, 1943. Beginning with a nucleus of only three men, the chapter has increased to the late enrollment of 13 members and 21 pledges. Twelve of the thirteen members and nine of the pledges served in the Armed Forces and are veterans of nearly every campaign fought in World War II. From Mt. Infantry P. F. C.'s to Air Force Captains, they are all represented at Theta Chi.

Don't be surprised to see men picking up dead cats, wearing shoe strings for neckties or asking a blushing young maiden for her signature on a pair of unmentionables—these men aren't escapees from an insane asylum, but pledges going in search of a quest for "Hell" Week. Yes! "Hell" Week, with all its old traditions, is back again on the campus of the University of Delaware.

Initiation, which will probably be the largest Theta Chi at Delaware has ever had, will be held on Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, March 2, 1946, followed by a House Party Saturday night.

Repairs on the house are coming along nicely and plans for the not to be forgotten "Bowery Ball," an annual affair of Theta Chi before the war, are in the making. Also, Theta Chi hopes to honor some Women's College student at a house party in the near future by electing her "Sweetheart of Theta Chi" and presenting her with a "Sweetheart" pin.

"TOO YOUNG TO KNOW"

COVERING THE CAMPUS—

With Bob Bell

With the University of Delaware football team returning to the gridiron next fall in full force, after a three year lapse, Coach Bill Murray, although always cautious in making predictions, is out to reap another undefeated season at the expense of Delaware's opponents. The seasons of '41 and '42 proved that it can be done by the Blue Hens and, with the material already on hand plus new material expected in September, there seems to be a pretty good chance for a repeat performance in '46—A winning team will draw a large crowd and pre-war Frazier Field (the home field) could not properly accommodate the larger attendance. The big games were moved over to Wilmington Ball Park where the crowds could be handled and only one or two games were played at Frazier Field—one of them being the homecoming game. Personally, I think most of the home games should be played in Wilmington (under the assumption that they'll draw a larger crowd than if they were played in Newark), but in the past it has been the custom to bring the Alumni Homecoming game to the campus for the convenience of the "Old Grads." It has been the wish of a lot of students and graduates to see a stadium erected around Frazier Field to make the place look like a college football field rather than sandlot bleachers! We seem to have a start in the right direction, though. This past "informal" season the gridmen tangled on the practice field while Frazier Field is undergoing a resodding.—Let's keep the ball rolling!

NOTES FROM HERE AND THERE . . . (Prats, niteries and otherwise.) . . . Wonder what happened to Harry Huxford's "Lost Week-end?" He'd sure like to know! . . . Jim Buchanan ties the knot over at Wilmington come this Friday and some of his college buds will be on hand to witness the affair . . . Best of luck, Buck! . . . Old timer, Walt Paul, visiting the campus Sunday to renew "old acquaintance." He was a star athlete here a few years back—graduating in 1943 . . . A certain English prof who fancies himself an authority on basketball talent got pounced on (literally speaking, of course) by one of the local lovelies and her two gallaant escorts at the Washington College fracas last week. Never argue with a lady, prof—especially if she's a good looker! . . . Layton Maybrey's weekly cartoons in the "Review" really hit the nail on the head and are a welcome addition to the sheet . . . Sally Heinel and Joe Shied on a tour of inspection around Newark Sunday . . . The Gerry Dohertys at the Ibach niterie last week-end . . . With the food around here not being too bad, we wonder just why Ken Shields slips in to Wilmington for supper.—That frosh cooks with gas, eh, A. K.? . . . Cassanova Tom Mertes and running mate, Henri Miller, may prove to be a valuable addition to the track team judging by their performance in and around the Green Room of Sigma Nu! . . . George Wolf's brother, Dick, was definitely not a "wolf" Saturday nite. Too much bench work, methinks—but Caroline was a "storm"—but definitely! Heh, heh! . . . Hayes Dickerson (1943's most handsome man on campus) pulled in at Sigma Nu Saturday nite with "The Pin"—a veddy, veddy lovely love from down state. They got corn fed gals down thar, pard! . . . Instead of going to enjoy frat brother Johnny Long's moosic at WCAU, the Sigma Nu gang settled for a midnight plug by Dick Aydelotte on his record program over WDEL.

This is "Hell Week" for a couple of Fraternities here at Delaware and, in some respects, it's a lot worse than Freshmen initiation week that you gals had way back in October. When you see a couple of guys walking around looking like two beat dogs, wearing odd socks and a shoe-string for a necktie, pity them and give them all your sympathy.—They're not lunatics, but merely Theta Chi pledges—and please don't break that raw egg they carry! . . . The Inter-Frat Formal dance comes up sometime soon, by the way.

They claim that people have more fun than anybody (except rabbits) and I'm beginning to believe it after sitting in Economic Geography class. Last week the teacher was asking a wide-awake student the products of a certain section of the states. The student replied with, "peaches, milk, butter, chickens"—and with this he started to stammer. "Yes, chickens," replied the teacher, "and what goes with chickens?"—Killer Cain pipes up with the bright remark "Feathers!"— . . . Then I hear that some girls are afraid of mice. Others have ugly legs!—That's all, brother!

Open House

This term, open house will be held in Brown Hall every Sunday evening except during vacation and examination periods, according to Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, director of the Dormitory. Refreshments will be served and a small number of faculty members are expected to be present each time; students may come with or without dates.

"The purpose of these open houses," Mrs. Patterson explained, "is to foster acquaintances of students and faculty."

The Men May Rant And Rave, But It's Always The Women Who Have The Last Word

Spring is in the air, at last, and the campus seems to have caught a slight touch of the dreaded disease, Spring Fever. Just ask Mercy where the white orchid came from and on Valentine's Day, too! Hazel Gamble and Mariyn Greenberg also managed to catch a couple of the orchids that were being showered on a few lucky fems of the campus. Just another sign of Spring.

Weddings are in fashion this time of year, so we found Cookie Clark and Margie Marston drinking champagne at Mary Palmer's nuptials last week-end.

Shirley Astrin headed for a big week-end at Penn and Elsie Foulsham spent the week-end in New York. Audrey Berman was seen running eagerly to Philadelphia. Who is he, Audrey?

Gloria Thompson's heart going bumpety-bump over that letter from a man on campus. Really, it had us all swooning. Everyone else seemed to be swooning over the numerous Valentine Greetings and who could blame them? Just one thing though, why do they have to be anonymous? Nancy McMullen has been trying to figure that one out all week.

The blackouts at Boletus this past week caused by blown-out fuses (believe it or not) seemed to be very well timed for Skippy Verne and Janie Gordon. Conservation of electricity, you know!

Norma Bradley felt quite lonely at the basketball game Wednesday night when she found herself rooting for Delaware while sitting on Washington's side. Her one only from Franklin and Marshall didn't help matters by cheering for his old college, Washington.

Sally Heinel helped a certain Theta Chi out of an embarrassing predicament. By all means ask her about it.

exciting evening for the U. of D. Grace Larson stepped out with a vet recently returned to the campus. Some man, huh, Gracie? Mandy Abbott nearly floored everybody when she walked into the game with not one sailor but three. To top the evening off a few selected rooms in Harter had planted alarm clocks set to go off every half hour. What a relief to find them all before they did go off!

Question of the week—did Louise give the measles to the army or vice versa?

Barbara McKinstry wishes there were more blonde men on campus like By Palmer. Well Barbara, we are cynics on the subject of men.

"Some men break your heart in two.
Some men fawn and flatter,
Some men never look at you;
And that cleans up the matter."

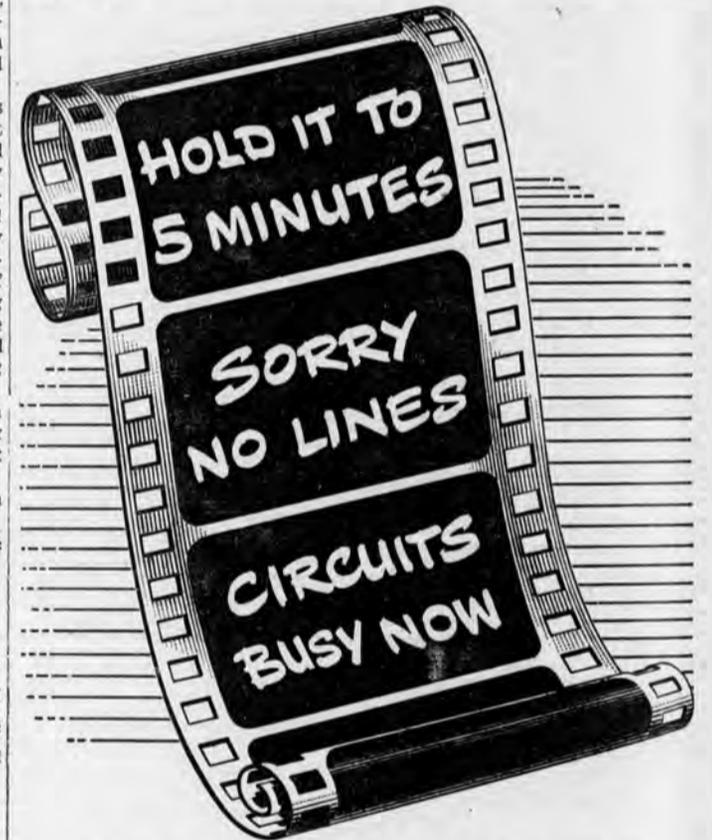

St. Valentine's Day came to Warner last Thursday in the shape of long green florist boxes. Some of the receiver were Nancy Blake (from her one and only in Ohio, Max), Bobbie Kirk who received a mixed bouquet from Wayne, and Hyatt who got some beautiful red roses from Frank.

Not even the basketball game or the dance could keep Ronny Baster and Gloria Moat from going up New York State way to West Point. That's loyalty for your old Alma Mater, but we don't blame you two a bit, kids.

(By the way, what two words in the English language make Gloria Moat cringe and brings out a very decided red color on her face when she hears them—????)

Traveling to Washington this past Saturday to see Mary Palmer married were Jane Platt and Dottie Mae. Oh what a beautiful bride, and what a wonderful reception.—Gee, we all miss Mary so much, but Mr. and Mrs. Sullivan said they would be up come this May Day.

Did we ever have excitement around Warner the other day—Susie Bennett's Kendall arrived from California. She was supposed to meet him at the train at 10 in the morning, but the signals got mixed, and he didn't get in until two that afternoon. They met in front of Warner, and everyone can imagine what kind of a greeting was given—Gee, for a minute we thought Dr. Palmer's bacteriology class wasn't going to get to lab—!!!

WAR-STORY SERIAL

If you'll be glad when Long Distance delays are ended . . . imagine our delight.

We've hated to ask you to wait, as necessary as it has been. And delays still occur on some crowded lines, particularly to the South and Far West.

But dawn is breaking. Soon we'll have the facilities to take care of the increased demand for Long Distance service. We're glad to be able to tell you this.
