To Be Conducted This Sunday

Greater Newark Recreation Ass'n Sponsors Community Program For Hallowe'en Celebration; Parade, Games, Refreshments To Be Offered For "Safe" Celebration

Newark's 12th annual Hallowe'en Mardi Gras has been set for this Sunday under auspices of the Greater Newark Recreation Association, with local civic, service and business organizations joining to encourage a "safe and constructive" Hallowe'en for the entire community. Glenn T. Smoot is executive director for the GNRA.

Festivities began Tuesday with a jack o'lantern decorating contest for pre-schoolers through sixth grades. Pumpkins were judged this morning and must be removed by Friday noon. Prizes will be awarded for originality and quality of work immediately after the parade on Sunday.

Window Painting
Yesterday and today, junior and senior high school students of the Newark district will paint local merchants' windows throughout the area. Judging will take place Friday and prizes will be awarded after the Mardi Gras Parade.

The Mardi Gras masquerade parade will assemble at 4 p.m. in the Newark Shopping Center on Sunday, with a Monday rain date. The parade will move promptly at 6:30 p.m., west on Main Street to College Avenue, to Delaware Avenue, and east to Academy Street where it will terminate in the parking area behind the Academy Building. Pre-schoolers will be pulled out of the parade formation at Academy and Main Streets and go directly to the games site behind the city building.

Games—Refreshments
Games and refreshments will be waiting for participants. There is no fee for any of the activities, however, all persons who intend to participate in the parade must register with the Hallowe'en Mardi Gras committee.

Parades and floats may be registered at the Newark Senior Center, 300 East Main Street, through Friday from 3 to 5 p.m., and Saturday from 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m.

Late registrants may participate in the parade but will not be eligible for prizes.

The Hallowe'en Mardi Gras committee invites young and old alike to take part in this community affair.

Needlework Guild
Conducting Drive
For Membership

At a recent planning meeting at the home of Mrs. John Sinclair, the Newark branch of the Needlework Guild of America planned its annual membership drive to be conducted during October.

The local branch established 45 years ago, is one of over 400 branches of the Guild participating in a nationwide drive at this time.

All NGA members are volunteers, and all clothing given to the Guild is used locally.

The Guild endeavors to supplement work of other community welfare groups by supplying new clothing and household linens whenever need arises.

The Newark branch urges all local women to participate in this traditional work of charity.

A contribution of two or more articles of new clothing is the only membership requirement. Again this year, the greatest demand is for children's school clothing.

The membership drive and clothing collection will be concluded next Thursday when the traditional ingathering and garment display will be held at the Newark New Century Club at 10:30 a.m.

Members and friends are invited to the annual display and to the coffee hour arranged by Mrs. Richard Cooch.

Officers of the Newark branch are Mrs. John Sinclair, president; Mrs. Alex D. Cobb and Mrs. Thomas Foster, vice-presidents; Mrs. Daniel Stoll, secretary, and Mrs. Taggart Evans, treasurer.

Housing For Aged Persons
To Be Discussed Nov. 2

The idea that aged persons must have a choice of living arrangements if they are to live with dignity and make contributions to the community will be discussed here next Wednesday.

The Governor's Conference on Housing for the Elderly, an all-day program scheduled at the University of Delaware Student Center, will study ways to provide aged persons the choice of housing they need.

Although attendance is by invitation, any interested person may obtain an invitation by contacting the Delaware Commission for the Aging in Smyrna.

Betty Sylvester, featured organist at the Starboard Lounge in Dewey Beach, and the Del-O Islanders will headline entertainment.

Aetna Volunteer Firemen Launch Drive
With Bulk Mail In Annual Fund Campaign

The annual fund campaign of the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Co. to maintain two fire stations and a fleet of 11 pieces of modern fire-fighting mobile equipment, was launched this week with the bulk mailing of campaign literature to all homes in the Newark fire district.

Uniformed volunteer firemen will call at homes in the district on Sunday, Nov. 6, to receive donations to Aetna's annual fund drive in effort to attain a goal of $31,350 through public subscription to the annual budget of $68,250.

Olan R. Thomas, campaign chairman and past-president of the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Co., explained that bulk mailing of fund drive brochures is being initiated this year in place of past house-to-house calls by volunteer firemen, because of the increased number of homes in the Newark district; the threat of bad weather; increased demand for Aetna manpower; and the inevitable passing of some occupants with personal canvass of area residences.

Last year's Aetna fund drive campaign was interrupted by a train wreck near Elktion when 45 Aetna men with three fire engines responded to assist Singler firemen until 6 o'clock on the evening of the day scheduled for house-to-house calls.

Granville Smith Reports
On Canada Goodwill Trip

On a goodwill tour with a four-day trip to Montreal in which he visited 14 motor lodges over a 1,300-mile route through New York State, Granville H. Smith returned to Newark with a glowing account of northern autumn foliage; New York and Canadian hospitality; and the smooth operation of traffic and motor lodges on Routes 87 and 69 in the route through New York State.

Manager of the local Howard Johnson's Motor Lodge, Smith sought to channel southbound traffic from Montreal off the Kennedy Turnpike to Newark for a night's stopover.

Those northern lodges seem to operate much more smoothly," Smith said wistfully.

New Trucks Top Noise Limit
Official Reports On City PlanEngineering Chief For National Trucking Association
Reports On Noise Problem; Proposed Newark Ordinance
Withdrawn; Wakefield Submits Reapportionment Plan

A proposed ordinance to control motor vehicle muffler noise was withdrawn prior to the scheduled final reading last Monday night at a meeting of Newark City Council after Lewis C. Kibbee, director of the engineering department for America Trucking Associations, Inc., in Washington, said that new trucks do not meet the self-imposed Automobile Manufacturers' Association standard of engine exhaust noise; that the proposed .85 decibel sound limit at night "would effectively rule out every heavy truck" from Newark, and that the proposed daytime limit of 95 decibels "the way we measure it, is an intolerable noise."

"You might have one of your own garbage trucks that could not comply with the ordinance," Kibbee advised, citing such a problem encountered in Milwaukee.

Kibbee distributed copies of a New York ordinance for guidance in drafting local muffler noise control legislation. With passage of a similar ordinance for Newark, he said, "90 per cent of your complaints will disappear."

He pointed out that the AMA standard of 125 notes in sound for new trucks in highway use can be met by manufacturers, and added that his organization was "not making a plea for the truck making a lot of racket. We are just as sick of that as you are."

Former Truck Driver
As a former truck driver, Kibbee said that there was "absolutely no excuse for the kind (of truck) you can hear three blocks away," and that muffler noise can be controlled in a truck although "it won't sound like a Cadillac—it will still sound like a truck."

Councilman Henry R. Folsom, Jr., said that "we are too small of jurisdiction to try to straighten out the truck manufacturers," but Councilman David H. Doehrlt, who introduced the proposed noise control law, responded with "big or small jurisdiction, if we are right, I am for it. We have to start somewhere."

Richard Barnard, an official of the Delaware Motor Transport Association, Inc., said that he and Kibbee represented truckers "from here to California," and added "they are concerned about their public image." Truck engines may be purchased abroad, he said, if adequate noise control features are not incorporated in American manufacture.

Kibbee advised standard procedure for measuring noise from motor vehicles, pointing out that a recorder placed between a truck and a brick wall might "run the risk of 'fear of the scale,' and concerning varying noise standards for day and night, said that a truck should run quietly 24 hours a day—that no one was going to change mufflers, and that a truck quiet at night, should be quiet in the daytime, too."

Citing motor vehicle noise control laws in Tennessee, he said that "Memphis has no ordinance, just a cop's ear. He gets out and reads them the riot act."

John G. S. Billingsley in the audience reported measuring truck noise on West Park Place near his residence, with automobiles recording decibels in the 70s, and trucks registering from 95 to 97. To Billingsley's proposal for driver control, Kibbee replied that "expect a truck driver to know how to meet your ordinance is unrealistic."

The proposed muffler noise control ordinance was withdrawn at Doehrlt's request, and a new draft is to be prepared after research. Councilman Folsom observed that the parks and recreation advisory committee had expressed concern with the flood path or plain, and pointed out that "we are still living by the 50-year flood plain. If the committee has some other thought, we should reconsider," he added.

Doehrlt declared that the State Highway Department had reported current flood plain data as "not good enough for release to the public," and the councilman said that accordingly, they were "inadequate" as city standards.

Doehrlt's proposal for City Manager Edward J. Stiff to study feasibility of establishing a municipal parks and recreation department, was approved 7-0.

Guidance Office At NHS Has Busy Look Of Booking Agency With Daily Schedule

A look at the calendar of the guidance office at Newark High School would give the impression of a busy booking agency. In addition to the daily schedule of conferences and the administering of test batteries, the two counselors—Mrs. Jeannette T. Wernitz and Russell Williams—arrange for representatives of colleges to talk with interested students.

To keep students informed of these visits, weekly notices are posted on the school bulletin board, and daily notices are placed in the morning bulletin read in all classrooms.

Visitors from Syracuse, Springfield, Washington and Jefferson, Brandywine Junior College, Washington College, Brandeis, and the School of Nursing (Washington) already have talked with groups of students.

On Oct. 13, representatives from the national ROTC scholarship program discussed possibilities for senior academic boys.

On Nov. 3, the National Educational Development Test will be given sophomores.

Test and registration closing dates for the American College Test Program are as follows: Test date, Dec. 10; registration, Nov. 19; test date, Feb. 18; registration, Jan. 28; test date, May 13; registration, April 22; test date, Aug. 5; registration, July 15.

Ralph Edmanson's Campaign Features Taxes, Education

Combined concern for the tax burden on property owners, and for maintenance of high standards in Delaware schools is a principal feature in State Representative Ralph D. Edmanson's campaign for reelection from the 16th District.

"The uncertain fate of school referenda in recent years has sometimes been interpreted as a taxpayers' revolt against the schools," says Edmanson, "but I think that interpretation is unfair to the Delaware taxpayer. Citizens of the state, and of the Newark school district in particular, have proved over the years that they want the best in education for their children."

Education's long-term popular support in Delaware is the best evidence, Edmanson continues, that occasional failure of a referendum does not mean lack of confidence in the schools.

The last General Assembly did ease the property tax burden on older citizens with limited incomes by exempting the first $5,000 of their assessment. Edmanson votes for that bill, and hopes some relief can be extended to all taxpayers.

A lifelong resident of the Newark area, Edmanson has just concluded his first term in the House after nearly 30 years in active politics. He is a former clerk of the Delaware State Bar Association, and a member of the Newark Democratic committee and still serves as committeeman.

Prior to his election to the House, he served a term as Senate attaché. "Anyone who has been to Dover knows that in the daily give-and-take, there is no substitute for experience," he says. "I am grateful that I can offer that experience to voters of the 16th District."

Four Hurt As Car Skids Into Pole On State Rt. 72

Three University of Delaware students were among four persons hurt early last Friday when their car smashed into a pole after skidding off Delaware Rt. 72 near Newark.

State police said the car was driven by John A. Dunaway, 19, of East Paterson, N.J., who was admitted to Wilmington General Division with severe facial lacerations. His condition was reported as fair.

Also admitted with multiple lacerations and abrasions was Richard Dale, 19, Dover, a passenger. His condition also was reported as fair.

Treated and released from the same hospital were two other passengers — Arthur Johnson, 19, of Unani Trailer Park, near Newark, and Lawrence Murray, Jr., 20, of 420 Beverly Road, Newark. Johnson had a back injury and Murray sustained a laceration over the right eye.

In Friday's accident at 1:30 a.m., police said Dunaway was driving north on Paper Mill Road. His car went out of control on a curve, and skidded sideways into a pole, shearing it off, continuing for another 54-ft. before coming to a stop.

Stephanie Santow As Senate Seeker Cites Automation

Retraining for new skills and education for new leisure are the two most important issues raised by automation, a Democratic candidate told Local 690 of the Printers' and Pressmen's Union last Sunday at a meeting in Brookside.

Mrs. Stephanie Santow, Democratic candidate from the 8th Senatorial District, pledged her attention to both issues when she goes to Dover.

"Automation," Mrs. Santow said, is simply a new name for mechanization—using machines to perform labor formerly done by people.

The new generation of machine works so much more quickly than older machinery that the working man's working hours will soon grow shorter, she pointed out, and his leisure hours will increase.

New uses for leisure time will be needed, Mrs. Santow said.

Letters To The Editor

Now that I have been formally installed as pastor of the University Presbyterian Church in Buffalo my family and I want to issue an invitation to all our friends in Newark to visit us when you come to Niagara Falls for your first or second or third honeymoon! (Don't all come at once, however!)

We have been happy to receive the local paper from Newark and thus keep in touch with happenings there, and we take this way of reporting to you.

Our church is directly across Main Street from the University of Buffalo, the address being Main Street at Niagara Falls Boulevard. Our home is at 143 Mt. Vernon Road, Snyder, N.Y. 14226, approximately two miles northeast of the church.

May we specifically invite all of you who are coming up to Buffalo for the Delaware-Buffalo football game on Nov. 5, to come over to the church after the game.

Margaret, John and I will be here and have the coffee pot on—win or lose!

City Council

Former Newark Policeman Robert E. Young was appointed city bailiff upon recommendation of Alderman Daniel Perry, and action on a request by the Evangelical Presbyterian Church for a city easement to permit access to church property with the driveway at the former municipal waterworks, now the Senior Center, Inc., was deferred pending settlement of the lease between the city and Senior Center.

Safety Factor

Stiff said that he had reviewed former City Manager J. Francis Neide's recommendation that the church be denied this access road because of the safety factor involved with power poles in the area, and that Public Works Director Benjamin J. Campana had supported Neide's contention.

Doelert urged that the city manager "look into means of protecting the poles," citing the church offer of parking facilities for senior citizens. And Stiff is possible power pole protective provisions for report at the next council meeting.

Councilman Arthur P. Mayer pointed out that there is a power pole at a liquor store in the Park 'n' Shop Center off Elkton Road—that the pole had been hit time and again by automobiles with no interruption to electric power supply, and expressed "hope that people drive more carefully on the way to church than to the liquor store."

Requests from the Greater Newark Recreation Association for a city budgeted $18,800 for the 1967 GNRA program, and for a municipal contribution of $400 for the current community Halloween celebration were removed from the agenda at Folsom's recommendation for council agenda brevity, and referred to the city manager for favorable action with prior council approval.

Mayor Norma Handloff's appointment of F. Perry Foster to succeed H. Griffith Jones as a member of the pension committee, was approved, and the mayor announced an Oct. 31 deadline for nominations of a parking authority.

Contracts were awarded at the city manager's recommendation for purchase of rock salt in bulk "instead of bags which have created a few back injuries," from International Salt Co. for calcium chloride to be used as a hot mix with sand and salt for temperatures below 20 degrees, from Salt Service, Inc., and for purchase of three-door Dodge Coronet police patrol cars from Hittenshouse Motor Co. for the low bid of $5,400.

Bids for replacement of a three-quarter ton pick-up truck are to be readvertised, and the lone bid received is to be returned unopened.

City Manager Stiff reported that the National Recreation and Parks Association had agreed to make a study for a proposed municipal golf course, with a two-day field trip, preliminary and final report for $1,500, and council authorized this study.

The contract for covering the western drainage ditch is to be reviewed at Folsom's request after Stiff reported the contractor had requested a 6-in. stone base access roadway from West Park Place to Dallas Avenue at a cost of $2,400. Folsom pointed out that additional expenditures may be unfair to other bidders on the contract, and that the contractor had "ideal working conditions this summer." The work has been delayed with refusal of property owners to permit access for work on the ditch.

Councilman Thomas urged the need for corrective measures with the New London Road storm sewer; Wakefield cited failure of street lighting on Lovett Avenue, with a view to replacing the old equipment; and it was reported that the

Hudson Discusses Hospital Planning For Newark Area

Medical School To Add To Problems: Official Warns At Public Meeting

A medical school coming to this area would only add to problems of Newark hospital planners, Dr. Floyd I. Hudson, executive secretary of the State Board of Health, said last Thursday night.

"It takes a population of two million to support a medical school, and anyone who is planning one had better be ready with a capital outlay of $50 million," added Dr. Ernest C. Shortliffe, vice-president of the Wilmington Medical Center.

Hudson and Shortliffe were members of a panel that met with Newark area residents in the County Engineering Building. Also on the panel were Clifford T. Foster, assistant managing director of Blue Cross-Blue Shield of Delaware, Inc.; Dr. Harold C. Brown, sociologist for the division of urban affairs at the University of Delaware; and James W. Anderson, co-chairman of the sponsoring Suburban Newark Hospital Committee.

Shortliffe said that the planners' greatest obstacle will be staffing rather than building the hospital, because of the medical manpower shortage.

He predicted the shortage will continue into the 1970's "even if the present program of educational development is successful."

The hospital committee set up by the Christiana Hundred Jaycees, resumed discussions suspended during the summer on plans to provide the Newark area with a hospital within easy access of residents in the fast-growing community.

Earlier this month Dr. Stanley Goleburn, Newark dentist, announced that Medico-Dent, Inc., which he heads, has been granted a $1.5-million building permit.

Goleburn said he plans to build a 100-bed hospital at 325 East Main Street, adjacent to the Newark Medical Building which his corporation also owns.

Medical and hospital authorities have said it would cost closer to $3.5 million to build and equip a hospital in that category.

The organizational meeting of the GNAY group was scheduled to be held tonight at the Brookside Shopping Center.

Both meetings are open to the public, with a social hour to follow, Bill Dellinger advises.

Local Housewives Launch Campaign For Food Savings

Mrs. John McGirr Heads Petitioners For Lower Prices At Food Markets

Mrs. John McGirr of Polly Drummond Hill, is heading a local campaign to lower food prices and get rid of games and gimmicks that housewives say cause higher prices.

Her group of Newark housewives want signatures for a petition to present to supermarket managers to show that the great majority of area people want fewer gimmicks and lower prices.

If supermarket personnel know the feeling is general and not isolated, perhaps they will take the petition seriously, she said.

She said hundreds of calls to each member of her 15-woman committee have indicated support. A group in the Elkton area and another in the Prices Corner area have pledged to help them, she said.

Mrs. McGirr and three members of her committee issued a statement explaining that although they don't claim to be experts on the food industry, they are outraged at high prices.

They said they know many of the increased prices can be justified.

"But we suspect that there are those in the industry who have added profits to otherwise justifiable increases," they said.

The consumer pays for the advertising and gimmicks that markets use, they said.

"We are trying to spend our dollars wisely and if supermarkets and the rest of the food industry will do likewise, all will profit," they concluded.

"Streetcar" Cast Of Near Semi-Pro Talent Scheduled

E-52 University Theatre
Tennessee Williams Play
Offered At Mitchell Hall

When the lights go up on the set of the E-52 University Theatre production of "A Streetcar Named Desire" this weekend, the audience will be exposed to more than just an average college production.

Heading a talented cast are four students, who by education and experience, border on the semi-professional.

As the leading male character of Stanley Kowalski, Bill Brenner, a drama graduate student, brings the greatest amount of experience to the show. At Lafayette College, he performed in a dozen college productions, winning two awards for his work.

When a profession of chemical engineering took him to Lancaster, Pa., he became active in community theatre, acting in several roles and directing three major shows. He has worked in summer stock, and assisted the drama director at Rider College, N. J.

While in the Army, Brenner organized a theatre group on post and produced two major shows in one year.

Bonnie Mesinger, graduate assistant in the department of speech and drama, will play the leading female role of Blanche DuBois. Miss Mesinger came to the University of Delaware from Danbury, Conn.

At Bates College she starred as Laura in "The Glass Menagerie"; as Desdemona in "Othello"; and Rosalind in "As You Like It." She also played the role of Crazy Jane in the "Festival of Marion" with the Tagliabue Puppet Theatre, and served as property supervisor for a season of musical comedy productions at the Candlewood Theatre.

The role of Stella Kowalski will be played by senior drama student Mrs. Jeanne Rostaing Gibson, who, in the spring of 1966, received three awards for her work with E-52: best supporting actress, best actress, and the Tony Mitchell Acting Award.

She was seen last season on the Mitchell Hall stage as Kate Hardcastle in "She Stoops to Conquer," the empress in "The Emperor's New Clothes," the pupil in "The Lesson" and as Estelle in "No Exit." Mrs. Gibson also wrote a one-act play which was performed by a lab theatre.

During the past summer Mrs. Gibson worked in summer stock with the Sullivan (Ill.) Little Theatre-On-The-Square, where she met her husband of only a few months.

Jerry Schwartz, Wilmington drama major, will play the role of Mitch. A graduate of P. S. du Pont High School, Schwartz studied at the Boston Conservatory of Music where he played Oleg in "Finian's Rainbow," and at the American Academy of Dramatic Arts, New York, where he portrayed Charles in "Blithe Spirit."

At the University of Delaware he was seen as Tony Lumpkin in "She Stoops to Conquer," and as Edmund in "Long Day's Journey Into Night."

Schwartz spent the past summer as an apprentice with the Little Theatre-On-The-Square.

"A Streetcar Named Desire" is being directed by professor of drama Dr. Brooks McNamara, who is the set designer.

Curtain time for the Tennessee Williams' production is 8:15 tonight and Friday. There are two performances on Saturday at 6 and at 9:15 p.m.

James Mahanna Has Role In Allegheny College Play

Halloween Safety Precautions Cited By Army Reserve

The trick-or-treat set, mothers are reminded, are not yet aware of the hazards of modern living, and are much too busy filling their treat bags, running door-to-door, and having fun to adequately care for themselves on Halloween night, George Lilley cautions.

In an all-out Army safety program, the following suggestions were made this week through the Kirkwood Army Reserve Center:

1—You can readily flame-proof paper costumes that might be ignited by fireplaces, matches and pumpkin candles. Mix 7-oz. of powdered borax; 3-oz. of boric acid, and two quarts of hot water. Stir until clear and dip costumes in the solution. Allow to dry before ironing.

2—Dark colors cannot be seen on dark or rainy nights. Keep to lighter ones, or mark with reflective tape.

3—Face masks often restrict vision, besides being hot and scratchy. Try make-up with grease paints and burnt cork. A thin layer of cold cream applied before make-up will aid in removal.

4—Advise children to stay in their neighborhood; walk facing traffic; cross only at crosswalks; stay away from parked cars, and avoid stray pets. Dogs, especially, can get extremely nervous on Halloween night, Lilley concludes.

Transportation Conference Scheduled At University
Creation of a federal department of transportation has given added significance to the third annual Delaware Valley Transportation Conference scheduled Nov. 15 at the University of Delaware.

Some 150 transportation industry leaders and executives from the area will hear about the new department from several government speakers.

President Johnson signed the department into law last Oct. 15, when he said its eventual 90,000 employees would have the mammoth job "to untangle, to coordinate, and to build a national transportation system."

Janet Woghren Studies Home Economics To Aid People On Her Return To Nigeria

American women have faced many changes in the past few years, but Nigerian women also are taking part in tremendous changes, even more drastic and swift than in America, according to Janet Woghren, a recent visitor from Western Nigeria, to the cooperative extension service at the University of Delaware.

"American children have so much more freedom within the family than Nigerian children—but we're beginning to change," Miss Woghren commented. "Most of the farm people are unskilled but they have great hope for the future. And they need help."

When Miss Woghren returns to Nigeria after completing her training in child development in the college of home economics at the University of Delaware, she will try to give that help through the Nigerian equivalent of the extension service. She will work with families in rural Nigeria.

During her visit this summer with Delaware home economics extension specialists and county agents, she was particularly interested in their work with low-income families. "I watched them teach cooking, budget planning and wardrobe planning. But the most exciting thing was the way the women in the classes wanted to learn. And, the extension people were all so enthusiastic. I hope I can share the same kind of enthusiasm with women in my own country."

According to Dr. Samuel M. Gwinn, director of cooperative extension service at the university, increasing numbers of Nigerians are becoming interested in the field of home economics and the government of Nigeria has recognized the value of training young women in this field.

Delaware Alumni Contribute Record $70,922.92 Fund

More than 5,000 former students and friends contributed to the University of Delaware in 1966 through the Alumni Association annual fund campaign.

President Robert F. Siemen announced record-breaking achievements in total dollars, number of donors and in several special categories.

Campaign receipts totaled $70,922.92 compared with last year's $64,004.20.

Gifts were made by 5,019 donors, more than 250 above the previous record total of 4,752 in 1964.

In addition to seeking unrestricted funds, the association's directors recommended two projects for alumni support in 1966.

These are the annual scholarship fund, which provides eight major awards and a number of smaller grants for students each year, and support of the Student Center's educational and cultural activities.

The alumni scholarship program will consist of $6,000 in 1966-67, while $1,793.03 has been designated for the Student Center programs.

The locale of the story about the Chincoteague pony Misty is now the newest of national parks. The 33-mile Assateague Island National Seashore was authorized by Congress in September, 1965.

The ponies are believed to have come onto the island as a result of a 16th century Spanish shipwreck. The Chincoteague Volunteer Fire Department, owner of the wild pony herd, and the U.S. Department of Interior have agreed to permit all ponies to roam free on the new national park, W. F. Aist of Newark reports.

Already the second largest of the council's 14 districts, Capitol Trail, which embraces Newark, Stanton, Marshallton and Hockessin, hopes to add more than 40 members by Dec. 16.

The roundup committee for the district is composed of Fal V. Jones, John Ford, Patrick Boylan and William T. McLain, chairman, but emphasis is being placed on personal contact by boys of the 56-area units.

Successful unit recruiters will receive a three-color recruiter strip and those who recruit a new member will receive a "Follow the Rugged Road" neckerchief slide.

McLain said that Cub units accept boys eight to 10 years old. Scouts must be 11 to 18 and Explorers 15 to 18.

Boys or parents interested in additional information are invited to call McLain at 709 Elkton Road, Newark.

New Phone Books Being Delivered With New Format

Diamond State Telephone Company's 1966 telephone directories are being delivered to New Castle County customers. The directory, which has three-column listings instead of four, includes an index for its yellow pages.

It also lists the new seven-figure telephone numbers in effect for subscribers served by eight central offices in New Castle County.

The offices and their new central office designations are: Cedar (23), East (32), Frontier (37), Olympia (68), Porter (76), SYcamore (79), Terminal (83) and Wyman (99).

The only change will be to substitute numbers associated with the corresponding two letters. In all cases, the last five figures in the telephone number, and thus the whole number, will remain unchanged. This means any lists of frequently called numbers can still be used and calls placed by letters or numbers will be completed to the same number.

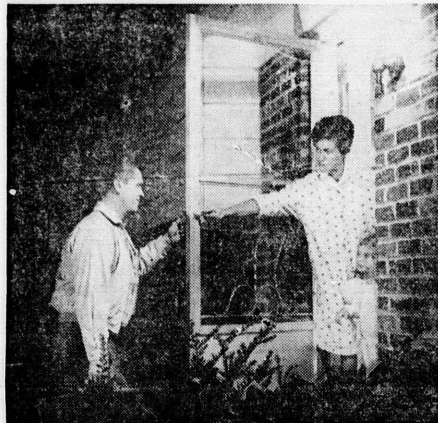

A Zip Code map of Wilmington is included in the yellow page section. In addition to the map, Delaware communities are listed with their Zip Codes.

Lou Stengari Passes For Three TD's, Runs For One As Newark Stops Dynahs

Quarterback Lou Stengari, co-captain for Coach Bob Hoffman's Newark High School champions, threw three touchdown passes; carried the ball himself for a touchdown from one-yard out; kicked two extra points, and ran for a third as the Yellowjackets defeated the Dynahs 33-13 at P.S. du Pont High School last Saturday.

Newark and William Penn met this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. on the Yellowjackets' field — and neither team has been beaten. The traditional rivalry — and William Penn handed Newark its one setback of last year's championship season — share a 4-0 first place tie in the conference race.

End Larry Tucker took Stengari's pass for a 27-yard touchdown to open the scoring last Saturday at P.S. du Pont, and Capt. Lou's placement was in there for the 7-0 lead as the quarter ended.

The Yellowjackets romped for three touchdowns in the second period for a 26-0 halftime lead.

Halfback Pedro Swann ran 17-yards for a touchdown; Stengari drove one-yard into the end zone for another; and the Newark quarterback hit Larry Tucker with a 17-yard scoring shot.

In the third quarter, Co-Capt. Dick Kelley at halfback took a Stengari pass for a 53-yard touchdown, and Quarterback Lou ran extra point to conclude the Newark scoring.

Against the Yellowjacket reserves, P.S. du Pont rang up 13 points in the final period — Holland running five-yards to score; and Stockton taking Cohen's pass for an 18-yard TD. Manalakov kicked the one extra point for the Dynahs.

Stengari and Bob Tucker were the Newark quarterbacks against P.S. du Pont; Kelley, Swann, Don Winteringer, Bradley Lane, Tom

A crappie or calico bass—one of Alex D. Cobb's Florida speckled perch—weighing as much as one pound, is a beautiful and rare catch, but Mrs. W. Y. Ellison of Noxon-town Mill has a photo of a 4 1/2-lb. crappie caught last spring by a young angler in Noxon-town Pond—a crappie that measured a bit more than 19-inches—one that topped anything we have seen in the calico bass department. It's been a long, long, while since we witnessed such a fish in any bass department, for that matter.

It was late last Friday evening when we arrived with Carroll W. Mumford at Mrs. Ellison's pond east of Middletown, and the St. Andrew's School chimers were pealing out the near end of day as we began fishing amid the long shadows of the western shoreline. Unmolested squirrels chattered from the red and gold autumn foliage of the trees beside the lake as a pair of fishermen, spin fly, and bait-cast tackle probed every inch of the log, lily pad, grass and brush spot—with visions of giant crappie, and of good large-mouthed black bass and chain pickerel, too—but we fished to the far southern end with but one strike—and that from an eager bluegill sucking at a popping bug tossed from a fly rod under the bronzed brush trailing from a steep bank over the water.

"I can't understand it!" Mr. Mumford murmured, repeating a remark made at the same place some two weeks previously. "But I'm enjoying the most beautiful lake I ever saw, and I don't care whether we catch fish or not, he added with some slight deviation from the truth with the latter part of his statement as he continued to cast hard and fast, frowning.

As we began rowing back to the Ellison landing in the twilight, the clamor call of wild geese rose to a crescendo, and over the woods to the west, flock after flock of stark Canada geese appeared in silhouette, setting their wings and planing down to settle for the night on the pond.

We paused with oars in mid-air to avoid frightening the birds, and grants from their night's rendezvous on the lake, and as we floated motionless on the water, a flight of a dozen geese almost sailed into our boat as they dropped down out of the sunset.

When the last nearby geese had settled undisturbed on the lake, we trotted back to the landing in the moonlight, loaded our gear in the car to the musical accompaniment of wild geese flying in off the Delaware River, and watched a classic Y of honkers undulating just beneath a rising half moon.

Carroll Mumford was right at that. We really didn't mind being shut out in the fish department. Gray and spotted sea trout, and bluefish were reported in the Delaware surf last weekend, and offshore trollers encountered acres of willing, wild, big blues—in the 10-12-lb. range.

Gibby Young, with his Young Lady sportfisherman high and dry for twin diesel installation, suffered—not entirely in silence—with radio reports of the bluefish nonanza just off the Indian River Inlet on the Atlantic Ocean.

One boat reported taking 60 big blues—yard-long sea tigers—and when this craft encountered engine difficulty, another boat patrolling the area for standby assistance, boated 32 bluefish while awaiting arrival of the Coast Guard.

With Carroll Mumford, we returned to Noxon-town last Sunday around noon with live minnows to supplement Gadabout Gaddis' array of artificial lures, and with plenty of daylight ahead of us, fully expected to give the millpond's marlinlife a good going over.

"They'll make my supper on Tuesday night when you go to the Linc's Club meeting," Mrs. Mumford said with some satisfaction—and with evident rel' f. too, in beholding her husband safe and sound but late in arriving home after dark.

Frank Linzenhold Passes For 3 TDs In 41-0 Hen Win

A record crowd of 13,132 persons at Delaware Stadium in last Saturday afternoon's sunshine saw Coach Harold Raymond's 4-1 Blue Hens—undefeated in Middle Atlantic Conference play—wallup Lehigh 41-0 in Delaware's homecoming game.

Quarterback Frank Linzenhold threw three touchdown passes—hitting End Mike Purzycki for 41-yard score, and Halfback Brian Wright for a 15-yard tally to put the Hens safely out in front with a 14-0 first period as Jeff Lippincott kicked a pair of conversions.

In the second quarter, Wright romped for a 45-yard touchdown early in the second period; Fullback John Spangler banged over from the one; and Halfback Ed Mason scored a TD with an eight-yard pass play from Linzenhold.

Soccer star Lippincott's two successful placements provided Delaware with a 34-0 edge at the half, and Raymond's bench took over from there.

After a scoreless third quarter, Quarterback Frank Linzenhold passed to End Frank Smith in a five-yard touchdown, and Lippincott kicked the point in the fourth frame for the final 41-0 rout of the winless Engineers.

Unbeaten Juniors Of Stanton Defeat VFW With Safety

The undefeated Stanton juniors won their fourth game last Sunday by beating the VFW 8-7 in Capital Trail Junior Football.

Greg Dambach ran 40-yards for a Stanton touchdown, and Bill Coolidge recovered a pass from center that went over the kicker's head into the VFW end zone to prevent a Stanton TD in exchange for a two-point safety.

Scott Coolidge scored the Vets' touchdown on a quarterback sneak, and Bill Coolidge ran the extra point.

The Green Raider juniors won their first game of the season by stopping winless Central 9-0. Gary Stefanisko scored a TD on a quarterback sneak, and Clinton Lappe tackled a Central ball-carrier in the end zone for the safety.

In senior play, the VFW stopped Stanton 28-6 as Jim Ford ran five yards for a Vet touchdown; Phil Williamson scored a TD from 10-yards out; Jim Jackson plunged three yards for another; and Clyde Webster fell on a kick blocked by VFW tackle.

Gene Wegman ran for three extra points, and Jim Ford, one. Stanton's Jeff Hudson broke loose for 10-yards and the losers' lone TD. Central defeated the Green Raiders 28-19. Scoring touchdowns for Central were David Holmes with a 40-yard pass play from Ray Pias; Dan Groce intercepting a pass and running 35-yards to the end zone; Groce on a 55-yard pass play from Bias; and Bias on a quarterback sneak.

Bias passed to Kermit Smith, and carried the ball on a quarterback sneak for a pair of extra points, and Elwood Roy plunged for another.

Scoring touchdowns for the Raiders were Ricky Madorsassy, taking Ricky Runkle's pass in a 20-yard play; Randy Spinks on a 35-yard pass play from Brian Doucette; and Runkle running seven yards to the end zone. Runkle also ran for an extra point.

This Sunday at 1:30 p.m. the Green Raiders face the VFW at the Central field, and the Crusaders and Central play at Dickinson.

"There's a two-pound bass that plays around those lily pads between the two cedar trees and the power pole near the landing," Mrs. Ellison hospitably informed her guests. "He's been caught a dozen times by one man who always puts the bass back in the water for another day," Mrs. Ellison added.

We promised to put this friendly bass back, too, but were not afforded that opportunity. Some quarter-hour of casting and live-bait fishing with bobbers failed to arouse any evident interest on the part of this special bass, and we moved on up the lake in quest of wild fish with no sentimental attachments.

A blue-gold sunfish souped down a black gnat cast from the fly rod, and we restored this spunky, chunky scrapper to the lake after a spirited struggle, and concentrated on the live minnow fishing and bait casting with spoons and surface plugs in quest of bigger game.

The shadows were lengthening and time was running out on us again as we fished hard in the upper reaches of the pond—and then a nice bass surged into a red and white spoon tossed close to a grassy headland. The bass jumped once, shaking open-mouthed, and after an admiring look at our first bass in too long a while, we dropped the near one-pounder over the side to swim again and grow for another day.

Carroll Mumford boated a nice silver-blue speckled crappie that engulfed a minnow trailing beneath a cork float in the open water, and added a second in trolling slowly down the center of the lake beneath the wild geese honking in off the river at twilight.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day A Forgotten Hero

A forgotten hero of Thoroughbred racing in New York is the late Harry A. Buck who, as Secretary of the United Thoroughbred Racing Association, became a "jailbird" in the cause of the sport.

Back in 1910, New York's Governor Hughes, for various reasons, not all of which were puritanical, was instrumental in passage of legislation which killed racing at the major tracks in 1911 and 1912. The United Thoroughbred Racing Association, then operating at the Belmont Terminal across Hempstead Avenue from Belmont Park, elected to continue racing, and Mr. Buck spent one long night in the county lock-up at Mineola. His only concern was that his aged mother not learn that his son was in the pokey. This test case and subsequent court action resulted in new legislation and the resumption of racing.

The UHRA thus has the distinction of uninterrupted operation since it was founded in 1905. It's 62nd meeting, which will be held this week under the aegis of the New York Racing Association at Aqueduct, will be featured by the 43rd running of the Temple Gwathmey Steeplechase, richest chase race in America.

While it can't have a track it can call its own, the United Thoroughbred Racing Association is a member in good standing of Thoroughbred Racing Associations (TRA).

Raymond's Hens Face High-Flying Owls In Crucial MAC Title Test On Saturday

Delaware's football team probably will have to get along without two of its veteran players when it invades Temple Stadium this Saturday for a Middle Atlantic Conference showdown with the high-flying Temple Owls.

Blue Hens Coach Tubby Raymond said that both Central 9-0. Gary Stefanisko scored a TD on a quarterback sneak, and Clinton Lappe tackled a Central ball-carrier in the end zone for the safety.

In senior play, the VFW stopped Stanton 28-6 as Jim Ford ran five yards for a Vet touchdown; Phil Williamson scored a TD from 10-yards out; Jim Jackson plunged three yards for another; and Clyde Webster fell on a kick blocked by VFW tackle.

Newark Halfback Dave Word Listed As Out Of Danger

Seriously injured in an automobile accident on Oct. 8, David Word is reported to be out of danger and is convalescing in Wilmington General Division.

A starting halfback for the Newark High School Yellowjackets before his injury, Dave has been suffering from a brain concussion.

Head Coach Bob Hoffman, and Backfield Coach Dick Musselman visited Word at the hospital last Friday night, and he recognized them for the first time since his injury.

"There is no skull fracture—no danger of clots, he is way past that—and is in excellent physical condition," Hoffman reported.

"But his mind wanders—he only knew us briefly," Hoffman continued, "and as a result of the concussion, a certain amount of fluid has to be reduced before he will be back to normal."

Eddie Michaels To Speak Monday At TD Club Lunch

Eddie Michaels, former football star with the Chicago Bears and Villanova Wildcats; a former New Castle County sheriff and now a Republican candidate for election as sheriff next Nov. 8, will be the guest speaker for the Newark Touchdown Club luncheon meeting next Monday at noon in the Horless Carriage.

Michaels, a native and resident of Wilmington, is one of the greatest football stars produced in Delaware, and starred for George Halas and his Chicago Bears as a lineman for more than a decade.

He later coached at Villanova, and his son Whitey, Jr., recently played NFL football with the Washington Redskins.

Delaware's athletic teams face a busy weekend. In addition to the varsity football game at Temple Saturday afternoon, the soccer, cross country and freshman football teams are scheduled to play.

Coach Paul (Bear) Billy's freshman team (14) meets the Temple frosh in Philadelphia tomorrow at 3 p.m. The Owl freshmen are 2-0 with wins over Gettysburg and Drexel. Billy's boys beat Lehigh, but lost to Bullis Prep.

The freshmen will have to get along without Quarterback Tom D. Muzio of Philadelphia, who injured his thumb in the loss to Bullis two weeks ago. He will be replaced by Ed Martnick of West Hazleton, Pa.

The Blue Hens cross country team and first-year coach Larry Pratt also face a tough assignment tomorrow in meeting St. Joseph's on the Hawks' Philadelphia course. Starting time is 3 p.m.

Coach Loren Kline's fine soccer team will travel to Collegeville, Pa., on Saturday for a 2 p.m. encounter with Ursinus.

Mrs. Howard Armstrong Heads NCC Ladies Golf

Mrs. Howard G. Armstrong was named women's golf chairman for 1967 at last Tuesday's final luncheon program for the current season at the Newark Country Club.

Mrs. Russell R. Menard, the retiring chairman, presided at the luncheon.

Joseph R. Aneda, Newark Country Club golf professional, accepted the club championship trophy for his daughter Judy, who is in Puerto Rico.

Mrs. John McDowell was defending champion and runner-up for the club title.

defeating Rollins in the Cigar Bowl to close the year.

Dave Clauss, Mike Horney, Greg Kracher Score As Vikings Defeat Bulldogs 14-12

Quarterback Dave Clauss kicked a pair of extra points to provide the margin of victory for Coach Bill Horney's Vikings last Saturday, as Christiansa defeated the Bulldogs at Brandywine by 14-12.

The victory was the third straight for Christiansa after the Vikings fought through three seasons without a win in their four years of Blue Hen Conference competition.

Brandywine took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter as Warren broke loose for a 39-yard touchdown, but Christiansa took command in the second period with Clauss passing to Halfback Mike Horney for a 10-yard score, and Clauss kicking the conversion to provide the Vikings with a 7-6 lead at the half.

Clauss fired a pass to Greg Kracher at end in the third period for a touchdown covering 22-yards, and again Clauss kicked the extra point.

Trailing 14-6 in the final quarter, Brandywine drove to the Christiansa one-yard line where Lamborn ran over for the Bulldogs' second touchdown.

Failing to kick the extra point in the first period, Brandywine missed this kick, too, and time ran out on the Bulldogs with Christiansa on top of the 14-12 count.

The Vikings face P.S. du Pont in a rescheduled game this Saturday at Newark High School Stadium at 10 a.m.

Christiansa is 2-1-1 for the season in Blue Hen Conference A-Flight play, and the Dynahs are 1-3 after a 33-13 shellacking by Newark High School last Saturday.

Newark Notes

by GIBBY YOUNG
FOR THE TITLE

Coach Bob Hoffman's defending champion Yellowjackets play their old rivals from New Castle this Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in the Newark Stadium.

Coach Billy Cole's Colonials of William Penn High School. Both the Yellowjackets and Colonials are 4-0 in the conference, and the winner of Saturday's clash should prove to be the 1966 conference champion. Newark won easily over 1-3 P.S. du Pont last Saturday by 33-13, while William Penn had a tougher time of it in taking 4-2 Conrad 26-12. We believe the Yellowjackets will win a real thriller.
