NEWARK, DELAWARE, WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 8, 1911

NUMBER 42

REGULAR MEETING OF COUNCIL

Notwithstanding the downpour of rain on Monday night enough members of Town Council attended the regular monthly meeting to make a quorum and considerable business was transacted. The members present were President Hossinger and Messrs. Morrison, Wilson and Frazer.

The monthly report of the treasurer was as follows: Balance, October 2, $2,267.27; received for current, $585.86; water, $361.30; water taps, $57; Delaware & Atlantic Telegraph & Telephone Co., tax on poles, $47; registration of dogs, $25; licenses and fines from Magistrate Lovett, $31; 1911 tax, $134; delinquent taxes, $24; penalties, $22.20; total, $3,534.63. Paid out during the month, town account, $411.46; street account, $710.95; water, $81.30; light, $316.56; total, $1,520.27; leaving a total on November 6, of $2,014.36.

Mr. Wilson of the street committee reported bills amounting to $228.19 and Mr. Frazer of the light and water committee reported bills to the amount of $864.58, all of which were ordered paid and checks will be made out for the various amounts.

A bill of Allen Reed for taking 5000 prisoners to the county workhouse was cut down from $15 to $10 and passed. Council thought that $15 was too high as he took four of the prisoners at one time.

Council took final action on the safety gate ordinance last night and passed it without a dissenting vote. The ordinance makes it unlawful for the gates to be kept down, except when there is a train passing or approaching close or when one is standing at the gates. For violations the ordinance fixes the penalty on conviction, to be a fine of from $10 to $50. It also prohibits a train, cars or locomotive from standing at the crossing more than five minutes blocking traffic, and in case this part of the ordinance is not obeyed, the company and the person in charge of train or locomotive are subject to the same fine as stated above.

Ordinances fixing the water and light rates for the coming year were given their first and second readings. This President Hossinger stated was necessary so that Council can pass them at the December meeting, and they will then go into effect on January 1. Minor changes were made in the rates of both. The light rate will be $1.00 for the minimum charge which is the same as now, but for the next 100 kilowatts, after the minimum charge which is for 12 kilowatts, there will be a charge of 8 cents per kilowatt hour and all current in excess of that at the rate of 7 cents per kilowatt hour. The present charges are 7 cents for the first 100 kilowatts after the minimum and 5 cents per kilowatt for all current in excess of that.

The water ordinances fixes the minimum rate at $10 a year and the entire ordinance with one exception is the same as the one Council is working under now. The one exception is that under the new ordinance charges will start as soon as the tap is made. This will affect persons building houses.

Arrangements were made for paying $762.50 interest on water and light bonds, which interest is due early in December. On motion that amount was transferred from the general funds to the interest account.

The street committee was authorized to have notices placed in the papers warning persons not to throw ashes or rubbish in the streets. Council decided to erect poles from Depot road to the new house that Harry Bonham is building, so that he will have lights when he moves into the building next month. Mr. Bonham's house is out of the town limits, and therefore he will have to pay an additional 25 per cent. above the regular charges for lights.

President Hossinger announced that an ordinance is being prepared which will make the offense of harboring dogs punishable by a fine of $5.00. Out of a possible total of 125, but 47 dogs have been registered.

DEATH OF H. M. CAMPBELL

Sketch of His Life

In the death of Harry M. Campbell, Newark has lost one of her most progressive business men. No man in the community was more alert to changing conditions and more interested in the upbuilding of the town than he. In his business he met the needs of these changes and was ever urging on his customers, especially the farmers, toward the adoption of newer and more improved methods. The idea was more than a theory with him,—he carried it into practice. As a general store, carrying lines of goods that a rural trade demands, his was a model. System was his hobby and its effect was to be seen throughout all the departments.

By the most constant and detailed attention he had built up a business of no mean proportion, with an ever-increasing trade.

Mr. Campbell had been in poor health for nearly a year. Last summer he left his work in charge of Mr. Cuff and went to Rehoboth, hoping to regain his strength. The relief was only temporary, however, and about a month ago, on advice of his physician, he went to bed and took the rest cure. This seemed to help him greatly and his full recovery was looked for, until last Monday, when he suffered a stroke. He never regained consciousness and passed away Tuesday night at 6:30 p. m.

Harry M. Campbell, son of William D. and Julia B. Campbell, was born near Iron Hill, Maryland, on the farm now owned by a brother, George Campbell. After working in a store at Rock Springs, Cecil county, Maryland, he started his business career in Newark in 1887, as manager of the Newark Grange Corporation. The Grange was at that time in a flourishing condition and carried on a co-operative store in the Grange Building on Main street, now owned by Leonard W. Lovett. Later he entered into partnership with P. M. Sherwood. This partnership lasted one year when Mr. Campbell withdrew and entered business for himself, at the old Grange stand. This was in 1890. He remained there until 1905 when he purchased the Francis drug store property at which place he conducted his business until his death. He enlarged this property and added new departments to his business, making it into a really up-to-date farmers' supply store.

Few activities of the community's life lacked Mr. Campbell's support. He was a member of the Hiram Lodge, No. 25, A. F. and A. M.; Minnehaha Tribe, No. 23, Imp. O. R. M.; Oriental Lodge of Odd Fellows, No. 12; Knights of Golden Eagle, Ivy Castle, No. 23; Leptasophis, or S. W. M., No. 6, of Newark; and Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company. As a member of Town Council he served as chairman of the street committee, supporting all measures which indicated progress in this important branch of town development.

The funeral was held at his late residence on Friday afternoon. The services at the house were short. Rev. Dr. W. J. Rowan, after reading from the Scriptures introduced Elder J. G. Eubanks, who offered a simple prayer. After the benediction by Rev. G. T. Alderson, the services were concluded at the Head of Christiana cemetery, where the Masonic rites were read by the officiating officers.

A wife, two daughters, Misses Ethel and Marion Campbell, three brothers, Messrs. Samuel and William Campbell, of Washington, and George Campbell, of Iron Hill, one sister, Miss Laura Campbell, of Wilmington, survive.

AGRICULTURAL

The Delaware Corn Growers' Association will hold its annual meeting and exhibit at Dover, December 14 and 15. Prof. Grantham, the Secretary, reports that a great deal of interest is being manifested in the work of the association and it is expected that the exhibit this year will exceed in point of entries that of any preceding exhibit.

Owing to the inclemency of the weather, the Stanton Corn Show has been postponed to Monday, November 13. Prof. Grantham will judge the corn and make an address.

Dr. M. T. Cook has kindly consented to take Prof. Hayward's place on the program of the Delaware Suffragette Association at its annual meeting at Newport on Thursday, November 9, conflicting engagements making it impossible for Prof. Hayward to attend.

Mrs. P. A. Dutton, of Caldwell, N. J., is spending some time with Prof. and Mrs. Hayward at the college farm.

Prof. Grantham made an address at a hunt dinner at Redden, Sussex county, Saturday evening last.

J. E. Bertolette, of Saluda, N. C., was an interested visitor at the college farm on Thursday of last week. He was particularly impressed with the herd of Guernsey cattle, and obtained an option on two choice individuals.

Prof. Hayward has received an invitation to attend a dinner given by the International Committee of Young Men's Christian Associations in New York City on November 23. In connection with this dinner a conference of the County Rural Work Department is to be held to consider the country church and how it may co-operate with other social institutions, and vice versa.

Prof. Hayward has been asked to serve another year on the Advisory Committee of the Agricultural Tours that are being conducted by the Bureau of University Travel.

The college farm will ship on Friday of this week a Jersey cow and a Hackney-Arab filly to Philadelphia parties.

Prof. McCreedy attended the land show at Madison Square Garden on Saturday of last week. He reports a very good exposition and a large and interested attendance. The apple show was particularly good, and an opportunity was given to compare the eastern and western grown apples. Prof. McCreedy states that the western fruit grower puts his fruit in more attractive packages than the eastern grower, and that the color of the western product is considerably higher than that of the eastern. It is a noteworthy fact, however, that in this competition the flavor was not taken into consideration.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

The new Commercial Department of Newark High School, started last September, promises to be a great success, and is already a very popular department among the student body. Fourteen pupils are enrolled. The course of study includes eight commercial subjects: Bookkeeping, typewriting, spelling, commercial arithmetic, rapid calculation, business English, shorthand and penmanship. Civics is also required.

Miss Anderson, who is organizing this department, is to be congratulated on the success which is so largely due to the energetic personality of the teacher.

The bake held by the pupils of this department last week netted $31.31. The Board of Education has already provided most generously by way of modern desks, typewriters and other commercial furniture. In appreciation of this, no request for the desired additions was made, but the pupils themselves got to work. The money earned will be used in purchasing a Webster's unabridged dictionary, a pencil sharpener and pictures.

Every other Friday at the High School a literary program replaces the regular routine. The pupils provide the greater part of the entertainment, after which a short address is made. Next week they will be addressed by Prof. Elisha Conover. Visitors are welcome.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Eastburn, of near Newark, announce the marriage of their youngest daughter, Benlah Lloyd, to R. Raymond Lewis, of Newark, on August 3, 1911. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George L. Wolfe at his home, 1213 Market street, Wilmington. Immediately after their marriage the happy couple spent a week at Atlantic City, N. J.

DR. SCHILLING TO LECTURE

Rev. Gerhard J. Schilling, missionary from Bolivia, who impressed Newark several weeks ago as a most pleasing and interesting speaker, will lecture in the College Oratory on Thursday, November 16th at 8 p. m. His subject, Bolivia—The Roof of the World.

The lecture will be profusely illustrated, the pictures having been made from photographs taken by Dr. Schilling himself.

The subject is of particular interest, as it represents a new field, of which we have heard but little, aside from the touch of local interest which follows the fact that it was the scene of the short but successful career of the late J. H. Frazer.

Dr. Schilling's duties require almost constant travelling over a wide circle of territory, so that by actual touch with the conditions of the region, he has gained a thorough knowledge of the customs and conditions that prevail.

An admission of 25 cents will be charged.

It is believed the townspeople will seize this opportunity of showing their appreciation of the services Dr. Schilling has rendered to one of our "home folks."

New Century Club

The New-Century Club held its first meeting of the new club year last Monday, with Mrs. Houghton, the president, presiding. Notwithstanding the inclement weather there was a large attendance and much enthusiasm for the year's work was felt. The afternoon was entirely taken up with the reports of the various committees, the delegates to the meeting of the Federation at Rehoboth, and other business.

The ladies were delighted with their new quarters in the base house and appreciation was expressed by all for the courtesy of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company in allowing them the use of the room.

The new Ives & Pond piano recently purchased by the club, has been placed and will be a source of much pleasure.

REPUBLICAN GAINS

Reports from yesterday's election show that the pendulum is swinging back. Perhaps the most noteworthy victories are those of New York and Maryland. The Republicans have captured the Legislature of New York and indications are that Maryland has again swung into the Republican column. This with Republican gains in other States show the tendency toward a progressive attitude held by the sober element of the people.

The fight in Philadelphia is in doubt. The issues were purely local and the outcome points to the election of reform candidate, Blankenburg.

No State has been watched with the interest that centered on the Maryland contest. The loss of this State will be keenly felt by the Democrats. Detailed reports will be given in next issue.

Dr. Finney Called To Princeton

Dr. John M. T. Finney, of the Johns Hopkins Hospital, one of the most noted surgeons in the United States and one of the men recently removed from the school board by Mayor Preston, has been offered the presidency of Princeton University, in succession to Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey. The formal election will take place in January, and it is understood he will accept.

Doctor Finney is an alumnus of Princeton and a warm personal friend of Governor Woodrow Wilson, who himself is an alumnus of Johns Hopkins University.

Until he has received official notification that he has been selected as president of Princeton, Doctor Finney has said he will make no announcements as to whether he will accept.

The qualifications that have recommended Doctor Finney to the Princeton authorities for their next president are his executive ability, his deep knowledge of science in many branches, and his ripe experience as a man of public affairs.

NATIONAL LAND SHOW

Word has been received here that at the National Land Show in Madison Square Garden, New York City, the three prizes offered by the State Board of Agriculture have been awarded for the exhibits of choice apples grown in this State.

Francis M. Soper, first prize, $100; Frank C. Bancroft, exhibiting for the Evergreen Farm of E. H. and F. C. Bancroft, Dover, the second prize of $60; and Eugene Shalleross of New Castle county, third prize, $40. A casual inspection has been made by the national judges but no definite and final scoring has been announced.

Delaware visitors returning from the exposition are not so sanguine that Delaware will realize winnings in the $1,000 gold competitions. This is not because the Delaware apples do not make a superior showing, but from the fact that some of the national exhibitors have had twenty years' experience in decorating and setting off their stands. In this show, therefore, they have brought in every fine art and clever turn known to fruit showmen and some of the booths present a lavish decorating and lighting effect, much of which Delaware omitted, desiring to stand on the merit of the fruit alone.

Celebrate Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walton of Iron Hill celebrated the tenth anniversary of their wedding last Saturday. A very pleasant time was spent by all the guests, an especially enjoyable time being passed in the dining room.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Charles Walton, Mrs. Shuttleworth, Misses Eleanor, Elizabeth and Margaret Brodly, sisters of the hostess, Mrs. Alexander, Mrs. William Brodley, Mr. Robert Brodly, Misses Martha and Sara Brodly of Philadelphia, and Mr. Charles Walton, Sr.

Mrs. Jennie Campbell and daughters desire to express their heartfelt appreciation for the kindness and sympathy shown them by their many friends during their recent sad bereavement.

G. Fader, while working in the hay mow yesterday, fell with a lighted lantern in his hand. He had thrown hay over the funnel covering the opening, and later stepped too near, causing the fall. Fortunately no bones were broken, although he is suffering with bruises and the shock from the fall.

Excitement Near Welsh Tract

If a story told by William Meredith, of Barkedale, Md., before Magistrate Lovett of Newark, yesterday, is true, Meredith is a victim of circumstances, for not only was he held up and an attempt made to rob him, but after he had frightened his alleged assailants off by firing five shots at them from a pistol, he was himself held in $200 bail for the Court of General Sessions, for carrying concealed a deadly weapon and spent last night at the New Castle county workhouse.

Richard Coleman and Jesse Clark, the alleged highwaymen, denied before the magistrate that they attempted to hold up Meredith, but they were each fined $10, with costs, for disorderly conduct. Under a new act of the Legislature, carrying concealed deadly weapons in Delaware is an offence, punishable by imprisonment.

Whether the hold-up was real or fanciful, it at any rate furnished more excitement than has been seen in this locality for a long time. The trouble occurred near the Old Welsh Tract school house, between Glasgow and Cochr's Bridge, shortly before midnight Saturday night. A large number of automobiles and teams were held up for some time, as they feared to pass, because of the pistol shots and the shouts of those who took part in the affray. Meredith is alleged to have fired five shots, but none of them took effect.

A telephone call was sent to Newark from the home of Dr. Watson, State bacteriologist. Officer Allen Reed, after deputizing a number of other men, got a team and drove to the scene of the supposed hold-up to quell what was thought to be a riot. When the officer arrived, the frightened occupants of the many vehicles were allowed to pass. Meredith, Coleman and Clark, were all played under arrest and after spending the remainder of the night in the town lock-up, were given a hearing before Magistrate Lovett, yesterday.

Meredith testified that he was on his way home on a bicycle, from near St. Georges, where he had been working, when he overtook Coleman and Clark. According to his statement, he got off the wheel and gave the two men a drink of whiskey from a bottle he had. It was after this, he said, that the attempt was made to hold him up and rob him. He declared that he fired the five shots at the men to keep from being robbed, men to keep from being robbed. Both Coleman and Clark denied that they tried to hold Meredith up, but the magistrate fined each of them $10. A charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon was then made against Meredith and he was held in $200 bail for court. He was released when he furnished bail today.

About half an hour after the above trouble an attempt was made to hold up Delaware Lovett, a son of Magistrate Lovett, at nearly the same spot. He, with a friend and two young women, was returning in his automobile from Wilmington. At a lonely place along the road several men ran out in the middle of the highway with clubs in their hands and called for him to "halt." Mr. Lovett, by speeding his machine, managed to get by. He returned to Newark, and after getting a small posse went back to look for the highwaymen, but nothing was seen of them.

Magistrate Lovett stated today that this particular road is becoming dangerous to drive over at night and that there had been a number of complaints. Steps will be taken at once to stop the trouble.

Interesting School Report

It is surprising how little the ordinary citizen knows about the financing of our public institutions. Last week a resume of the report of State Auditor Townsend was given. This does not however give the details that should interest every taxpayer in the State.

We are therefore giving in this issue the report in full. It should be studied by all interested in education and its expense. It is of interest to the farmer as well as the townsman. Especially should this be studied just at this time, as our State Board of Education has the whole system of school taxation under consideration and will make a report at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

The State Auditor has compiled a statement showing these expenditures, including not only those of the public schools, but of the colleges, normal schools and other institutions as well as libraries, historical societies and charities.

The following figures are taken from the records of the second year ended July 1, 1911:

Total.....	$126,650
United States Government appropriation to agricultural colleges:
Delaware College and Experimental Farm.....	40,000
State College for Colored Students in Agriculture.....	10,000
Total.....	$50,000

Making a grand total of $845,177.99.

The above statement does not include any mention of the book account, as that is included in the total appropriated by the General Assembly in the $132,000. The amount paid out for books by the individual districts, is not mentioned in this statement, because it is included in the general total of expenditures of the taxes raised in the several districts. The amount paid out for school books and supplies by the State Treasurer and the districts outside of Wilmington is, in round figures, $20,000. The city of Wilmington expends about $12,000 for books from its general fund.

Where Is Delaware?

Just a few lines which may be of interest to Delawareans, especially to Progressives, for a Delaware Democrat or Republican, is much like the negro sermon, "about the same."

I have, in a business capacity, attended the Pittsburg Big Land Show, which is the greatest on earth, in the way of boasting. Most all the states were there with an exhibit. California, a good display of fruits of all kinds; beautiful views of the Sacramento Valley showing different cuts of orchards of all kinds, and the manner in which they irrigate their lands; Florida having a beautiful booklet showing the orange groves, winter resorts, lands for sale, etc.; Texas giving out tons of literature, showing the different industries of the State; Wyoming giving out all the catchy things in order to get you interested in that State. I am told this exhibit alone cost $10,000, showing grain of all kinds, fruits, vegetables, land values, etc. Nebraska, home of William Jennings Bryan, showing everything that earth produces, everything for sale but Bryan himself. I have given out tracts for free, giving away 100 farms to the farmer, showing the lucky number. I have several guesses as to what I will sell cheap for there is no farm no home more interesting, when you know it, than a home in old Delaware, even if it is not represented at this Big Show. We need no irrigation canals, but in some cases we need canals to take away our surplus water in our low lands.

Seeing so much done by other states to boost their farming industry, I took it upon myself to have a sign painted: "Delaware Land for Sale," the home of the peach, the kind which is world famous. I had no sooner tacked up the sign when I had some inquiries and I gave them to understand Delaware could show as fine apples as any state in the Union, ripen earlier, which could be marketed earlier, better color, consequently demand a better price. My answer to many was we could live better, longer and happier and at last when the last call was sounded there would be a greater percentage represented in the "Home Above" than any other State in the Union.

One fellow asked me where Delaware was? I answered his question by asking him if he was not a native of Italy and belonged to that class called "Dagoes." I must acknowledge I was somewhat insulted—wanting to know where Delaware was—Delaware being one of the 13 original States, until recently represented by men, leaders of men, mouthpieces of the United States Senate, producing men holding positions such as Secretary of State of our government, representing us at the Court of St. James, producing fifty per cent. of all the canned tomatoes canned

Conservation

Published by request of Women's Federated Clubs

The mean annual rainfall of the United States is about thirty inches; figuring on this basis the total annual rainfall in the United States is equivalent to ten Mississippi Rivers.

The question arises, what becomes of all this water? Dr. McGee, who is authority on "Water as a Resource," classifies the rainfall into three parts—that which evaporates he calls the "fly-off," one-half of the rainfall comes under this head; one-sixth is consumed by the plants or goes into the earth and joins the underground water, this he calls the "run-off;" the remaining one-third flows to the sea through the rivers and streams, this he calls the "run-off."

This first named class—the "fly-off"—comprised of one-half the precipitation—is of absolute need to man's comfort, having the greatest influence upon the humidity of the atmosphere. Then, too, if it were not for the evaporation which contributes to precipitation, rainfall would be greatly lessened, as the quantity supplied by the ocean would not be adequate. Thus the "fly-off" is essential in increasing precipitation and decreasing humidity, adding to man's comfort and happiness.

The second class, as Mr. McGee calls the "run-off" goes into the ground and is consumed by natural vegetation, dissolving the earth's salts and conveying them to the roots of the living plants; it is the source of plant circulation. Carried up through the trunks of the trees or stems of the plants, through the branches to the leaves, and by the leaves it is transpired. The amount of water which is available to the plants is their limiting factor. Given proper conditions of temperature, if the water is sufficient, the vegetation is luxuriant. Often in the tropics where there is abundant rain, the forests are almost impenetrable.

On the average the plant tissue of animals is three-fourth water, of perennials three-eighths.

A man of 150 pounds consumes each year over a ton of water, 264 gallons. One pound of beef requires through the feed, 15 to 20 tons of water. Thus we see the great necessity of water and its vast proportion need in vegetable and animal growth.

The third class to which Dr. McGee assigns the rainfall is the "run-off," one-third of this entire amount escaping through the Mississippi River and its tributaries.

It is estimated that one-seventh of one per cent. of the "run-off" is used for municipal purposes.

The purpose of conservation is the development of national efficiency, public health and vitality are the two absolute essentials to ward off this development. The greatest factor which makes or mars man's health and happiness is water. Improvements are to be sought for in sanitary and hygienic regulation of all sources of domestic water supply. The National Medical Association states in its report to the second Conservation Congress that "health and life is the greatest national asset, and that no nation is truly great, whatever its material possessions, that cannot boast of strong and healthy citizens."

Through disease bred by unsanitary conditions and impure drinking water, many of the youths of our land are dwarfed in stature and intellect. Professor Hulsey of New York, in addressing a class of post-graduate medical students, said: "Where liquor has added one name to the death list, foul water has added more than a score—it is one of our greatest death agents. The Literary Digest of June 17 stated that during the Spanish-American war 2,500 soldiers died from typhoid fever; that the public loudly condemned the physicians as careless and incompetent."

The latest statistics furnished by our highest governmental experts show that each year from the pollution of sources of our domestic water supply there is needlessly caused more than 185,000 typhoid illnesses in the United States, seven times more people than were wounded at the battle of Gettysburg, and 15,000 deaths, three times more than were killed in this same battle. These figures seem not to disconcert the masses, we pay no heed to this needless slaughter.

"I have never seen anything so ghastly in its inner tragic meaning, nor is any blasphemy or impiety more appalling to me, than the insolent defiling of springs by the human herds that drink of them, casting their street and house foulness, heaps of dust and slime, and broken shreds of old metal and rags of putrid clothes upon the bank or in these God-given streams of our country."

Quoting further from Ruskin, "Do not think your children can be trained to the truth of their own human beauty while the pleasant places which God made at once for their school room and play ground lie desolate and defiled. You can not baptize them rightly in those inch-deep fountains unless you baptize them also in the sweet waters which the great Lawgiver strikes forth forever from the rocks of your native land, waters which a pagan would have worshipped in their purity and you only worship with pollution."

Recipes in Season

Fruit Cake

Written for THE POST

1 lb. butter, 1 lb. brown sugar, 4 lbs. raisins, 4 lbs. currants, 1 lb. citron (chopped fine), 1 lb. figs (chopped fine), 1 lb. shelled almonds, 1 cup molasses, 1 oz. mace, 1 tablespoonful cloves, 1 tablespoonful cinnamon, 10 eggs beaten well, heaping wineglass of sherry, heaping wineglass of brandy, 1 lb. browned flour; bake 4 hours.

Mix the fruit together and flour it, mix the spices with the sugar. Cream the butter and sugar; add the beaten yolks, then the whipped whites and the brandy, then the flour, and lastly the fruit. Put the mixture in two large tins lined with double paper. This cake will keep any length of time, therefore the quantity may not be too great to make.

1 lb. sugar, 1 lb. flour, 6 oz. butter, 1 lb. currants, 1 lb. raisins, 6 oz. citron, 1 nutmeg, 1 1/2 teaspoonful cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoonful cloves, 1/2 teaspoonful mace, juice of one orange, juice of one lemon, a little wine or brandy, 5 eggs, 1/2 cup of nut meats.

Cream sugar and butter, add yolks of the eggs, other ingredients and 1 teaspoonful of baking powder. Sprinkle part of the flour over the fruit before putting in the cake.

10 eggs, 1 lb. of flour, 1 lb. of butter, 1 lb. brown sugar, 2 tablespoonful cooking molasses, 1 glass of currant jelly, 1 teaspoonful of soda, 1 wineglass of brandy, 1/2 teaspoonful salt, 2 lbs. raisins (seeded), 2 lbs. seedless raisins, 1 pt. cherries (sun preserved, drained), 1 lb. pecans, 1 lb. English walnuts, 1 lb. dates, 1 lb. figs, 1 lb. preserved pineapple or a pint of preserved pineapple (drained); 2 tablespoonful cinnamon, 1 level tablespoonful cloves, 1 nutmeg and a half.

Rub the sugar and butter together, add yolks of eggs and beat until real creamy. Next beat in glass of jelly. Add brandy and spices, the juice from pineapple and cherries (if preserved ones were used), sift soda and salt with flour, and add; add fruit which has been cut fine and well floured. Stir fruit in well and fold in well beaten whites. Bake in slow oven.

1 cup butter, 2 cups granulated sugar, whites of 8 eggs, 3 cups of flour, 1/2 glass brandy, glass filled with water, 1 teaspoonful salt, 2 level teaspoonful baking powder, 1 pt. preserved pineapple, 1 pt. preserved cherries, 1 lb. of mixed nuts.

If home preserved cherries and pineapple are used, fill the heavily glass with juice from these instead of with water as mentioned above. Add 1 teaspoonful vanilla and 1 of lemon extract. Mix as in first recipe.

1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter, 2 cups flour, 1 cup stewed apples, 1 cup raisins, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoonful cloves, 1/2 teaspoonful cinnamon. Cream the butter and sugar, add eggs and beat very light. Put soda in apples, stir this in and add other ingredients.

A Cozy Corner--Molly's Work Bag

"The two girls who are in my thoughts this evening," Molly said, "seem to me to be particularly fortunate ones. They travel, travel everywhere, until it would seem, for them, it would be hard to find anything new under the sun. I expect the most novel thing they could find would be to us the most commonplace—I suspect an ordinary little home. They surely have the globe-trotting habit, my dear, and in all their travels, among other things, poor Adeline has picked up indigestion and a red nose. How she does despise the latter, and maneuvers to keep from advertising the former possession to the world!"

"I saw a little bag yesterday that seemed to me just to suit my sensitive friend. The base was a tiny oval mirror, such as you buy at the five and ten cent store. This had been bound with pink ribbon and on to it was stitched the main part of the bag, made from a straight piece of ribbon, chambray lined. The chambray extended above the ribbon making a heading. The small bag (which was really a very small affair) held talcum powder, comprising all the necessities for a 'red nose fighting campaign.'"

"This that I am making now will be the companion for the bag I have described. Do you ever know what to do with you fancy pins, shirt studs, etc., when going away?"

"I have taken a half yard of Dresden ribbon (about four inches wide). Across one end I have sewed a piece of the ribbon about three inches long, briar stitching around the three sides nearest the center of the whole, and turning the ends back, forming a small head and casing, through which pink ribbon is to be run. From the base of this little bag to the other end of the strip I have briar-stitched a piece of white flannel, into which I have placed two rows of safety pins, each a different size, a row of small pearl headed collar pins, a row of black and a row of ordinary white pins. The end will be finished in a point on which is tacked a rosette of pink baby ribbon with two four-inch ends. This is rolled beginning with the bag at the left hand end and tied by the ends left at the rosette. In appearance it is a dainty little sachet, while in reality it is a useful little travelling accessory."

Granger's Mistake

While the Grange is regarded by this newspaper as next only to the church and the public school in the progress of Delaware and the peninsula, yet occasionally the Grange either fails to realize its own importance or makes a grievous mistake.

Thursday's session of the Pomona Grange in Cheswold, we are very reliably informed, attempted to crowd its important parliamentary business into a few minutes of the close, while the train's rumble could almost be heard and with the delegates hurrying to catch it. The Pomona only began election of officers and then capped the climax by adopting a resolution favoring the Recall.

We are informed on good authority that there were only three votes heard for the affirmative and none in the negative. There was no demand for a division and so that goes on record as the sense of every fourth degree member of the Patrons of Husbandry in Kent county.

We trust that the subordinate granges will seek to overthrow this action, or will at least allow the subject to be reconsidered so that we may have the enlightenment of public debate, before the white farmers of this State commit themselves on any such subject.

We have faith in the masses of voters in Delaware or any State. We believe in the people and the rule of the people. However, there are some things the average person cannot understand on the spur of the moment. To attempt to recall a general in a military campaign when he has just started his maneuvering, would result in loss and disgrace. To recall Judge Penne-will because he has sentenced liquor law defendants heavily would be an outrage. To recall even a railroad president when he is carrying out his campaign of progress before it is rounded out and completed is assinine.

For that matter, the people would have several times recalled Charles Sumner after he got into the Senate, and would never have allowed him to reconstruct a Nation. Life is real and people in Delaware are too busy to fool with functions of courts and Legislatures, something they know nothing about. Nor will they ever read the 900-page book issued to the voters in Oregon before every election, which they must read in order to intelligently vote on the laws contained therein. Even a circus has to have its heads of departments and they cannot be interfered with.—State News.

H. M. Campbell

Every man worthy of the name has some striking characteristic that marks him as individual. The traits that made up the life of Harry Campbell can be expressed only in the superlative degree. The dominating marks of the man were his originality, his independence and his enthusiasm. He was the true type of what is known as a hustler. Quick as a flash he reached a decision. To think was to act, and not with a wild judgment. He was merely a rapid thinker. His thoughts went immediately to the vital point at issue and a decision was the result. Original, he thought for himself; independent, it mattered not who opposed his views; enthusiastic, he set to work to put the idea into effect.

He considered every man as one of men. He had no exalted opinion of rank and position. The poorest laborer received the same attention as the professional. "First come, first served," was more than a saying with him.

Especially was he interested in the farmer. He studied his needs. Weather conditions and crop reports had his attention, aside from the fact of his own gain. Ever a strong advocate of the State Farm, he was constantly urging farmers to study the work being done there. He had a hope and enthusiasm, plus. No farmer ever went in his store but that he came out feeling better, with a brighter prospect. He had the fascinating ability to dispel the "blues" all too common to the men behind the plow.

Several have tried to account for this but only those who know him well could explain. It was an intense sympathy he had for those who were sincerely trying to make good. In his quiet, business manner this was not clear. During business hours nothing could distract him from the work in hand, except some sickness or trouble of some friend or acquaintance. This trait accompanied him in his private life. He was a man of most tender sympathy. Outside his work, his one hobby was home and family. On them he lavished every attention in his power. The pride of his heart, he gave his life to a devoted service to them and his work. An interesting character he was. Who will replace him in this community? It will take a strong man.

Taft's Peace Idea Approved

President Jacob Gould Schurman of Cornell University, spoke yesterday before the National Conference of the American Society for Judicial Settlement of International Disputes. He took as his subject "President Taft's Peace Treaties: A Forward Step in Civilization," and said in part:

"The occasion is ripe, the best thought and feeling of the civilized world is ready for a new exertion of leadership in the cause of international peace and good will."

"A great cause has been waiting for a champion. The best people in the civilized world have been longing for a leader. I rejoice to see the expectation of the nations has not been disappointed nor the great cause left orphaned. Into the moral leadership of the world has stepped quietly and modestly, but with sure tread and confident heart the President of the United States."

"Our national policy and vocation is the welfare and prosperity of the mass of the people; democracy demands that the people shall have the fruits of their earnings without paying wasteful and unnecessary tribute to the savage god of war. How can this result be achieved? Clearly by arbitration treaties."

Mrs. George Griffin and son Ralph have returned from a visit in Norfolk, Va.

Lectures On History At Delaware

The Bill passed by the last Legislature for the creation of a Chair of History and Economics in Delaware College provided, among other things, for a series of lectures each year upon subjects closely allied to the work of the new department. In accordance with this provision Prof. J. V. Vaughn is arranging five lectures for this year at least two of which are to be in the field of Delaware history. He announces the following lectures:

The first lecture of the series will be delivered by E. C. Johnson, editor of The Newark Post, and the author of the bill creating the new Department of History. His subject is "The Place of the Social Sciences in Education." This initial lecture will be given in the College Oratory on Thursday, November 23rd, at 3 o'clock.

On December 6 Judge Henry C. Conrad will give his lecture on the "Three Signers of the Declaration of Independence." Judge Conrad is an authority on Delaware history, and his writings are well known, especially his three volume History of the State of Delaware.

Later in the year a second lecture on some phase of Delaware history will be delivered by Rev. Joseph B. Turner, President of the Delaware Historical Society and an able worker in the history of the State. The exact title of the lecture will be announced later, and will be looked forward to with much interest.

In the economic field a lecture of peculiar timeliness and interest is promised by Philip Burnet, Esq., President of the Continental Life Insurance Company, Wilmington, Delaware. His subject—title to be announced later—will suggest an economic interpretation of present day conditions which will probably provoke considerable discussion.

For the closing lecture of the series Prof. Vaughn expects to invite an authority on some phase of actual government for a first-hand discussion of problems of vital interest to all students of our institutions.

These lectures—of direct and timely interest—will be given in the College Oratory and the public is cordially invited to be present to hear the speakers. The co-operation of all friends of the College is desired in making a success of this series of lectures.

Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Newark Horse Protective Association was held last Saturday in the Council chamber. 57 members being in attendance. The following officers were elected for another year:

President, J. Wilkins Cooch; Vice-President, John Pilling; Treasurer, E. L. Richards; Secretary, H. Warner McNeil. The directors of the association are Edward McNeil, Benjamin Lee, George W. Steele, Jonathan Johnson and Robert Morrison.

It was proposed to hold the meetings here a year instead of only once annually.

This evening at stopping the payment of dues, when the sum of $1000 in the treasury was discussed and it was decided to pay the dues and hereafter maintain the payment of dues.

Participants took no time in this local meeting the past year.

This company was organized on August 10th, 1901, following a series of horse robberies, which alarmed the section. The officers realized it was time to organize some way of protection for the neighborhood and the result was the new organization, with Mr. George G. Kerr as the first president.

Since then, three other officers have been particularly fortunate, the organization being considered a preventive from those who come within a radius of six miles may become a member of the association.

Following the meeting dinner was served at the Washington House.

DON'T you think a range that cuts your fuel bill in half is worth more than other ranges?

THE GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE only uses half the fuel used in other ranges, and gives better satisfaction all around. There is a reason for everything. If you will stop and consider the fact that the MAJESTIC RANGE, being made of non-breakable Malleable Iron, permits the manufacturers to cold rivet all the parts together perfectly air-tight; that it is not made of cast-iron and bolted together as other ranges; that the heat cannot escape through cracks or cold air enter range; that the flues are lined with pure asbestos board (not paper), and are constructed in such a manner as to utilize every particle of heat—you will very readily see why the Majestic Range uses so little fuel.

Every user of THE GREAT MAJESTIC RANGE will confirm this statement.

The beautiful finish produced makes you enthusiastic over it and you will wonder why you ever fussed with any other kind.

"Silver cleaning was once such a problem" (writes a customer of ours) "before I began to use and appreciate your Silver Polish. It was such a problem that I used to dread the very subject; now Star-Light Silver Polish enables me to clean and polish my silver and cut glass with quickness and ease."

"Star-Light Silver Polish" will clean and polish gold, silver, cut glass, mirrors, marble and statuary, nickel and tin.

NEW HERE AND THERE

The boys of Newark High School have shown an interest in athletics this year which makes one lament the fact that they have not the gymnasium privileges they deserve.

Football having been forbidden by the authorities the boys have cheerfully turned their attention to basketball, and the past month has been a busy one. The candidates have taken advantage of the good weather which made outdoor practice possible.

Some of the most promising of those who have reported are Homewood, guard of last year's team; Ferguson, captain and star forward last year; Green, Stelle, Buckingham, Murphy, Holton, Mackay and Crompton.

Manager Clark has arranged an excellent schedule. The first game of the season to be played this week with Elkton will be followed by contests with Delaware College, Freshmen, Wilmington Friends School and other school teams.

The Masonic Home of Delaware (Inc.) was chartered in Dover last week, to establish and conduct a home and place of residence for Masons of the State of Delaware. Among the incorporators is D. C. Rose of Newark.

The new association has purchased the Highfield property, on the Lancaster turnpike about one and one-half miles from Wilmington, as a site for the proposed Masonic home.

The Highfield property comprises 10 acres of land, with a large and well-built house thereon, the house having 16 rooms. It can be remodeled, at reasonable expense, and adapted to the needs of the Masonic order.

The purchase price agreed upon is said to be about $10,000.

At the last session of the Grand Lodge, A. F. and A. M. of Delaware, action was taken looking toward providing such a home and this is the outcome of that action. The matter has been agitated for a year or more and at the recent session a committee was named to secure a site. It is claimed that the property is a very desirable one for the purpose.

The teachers in our High Schools and the statistics they compile point to the fact that of the rank and file, representing the average boy and girl, the girl is more appreciative of educational opportunity along advanced lines.

The following clipping from the Philadelphia Press gives some interesting facts:

Few men's colleges have all the students they could handle. The women's colleges have in many cases reached the limit of their capacity.

Bryn Mawr keeps its attendance down by rigid examinations and rigorous standards in the classroom, its classes diminishing year by year as they go on through the course—from the weeding out of examinations. As it is, its dormitories are crowded and its capacity is reached every Fall.

Barnard in New York has 900 students in class-rooms intended for 500. Vassar each year sifts an entrance class of 300 or 350 out of applicants numbering 700 or more who have qualified in their examinations. Smith College has been found to limit its Freshmen class to 500.

Nearly every women's college makes the same report. Where thirty years ago the women going to college equaled about a sixth of the men attending college, twenty years ago they equaled a fourth, and ten years ago a third. They are today one-half the number of the men, in ten years will equal the men in number and in twenty exceed the total masculine attendance at college courses.

The share women play in this education constantly grows. The installation as president of Wellesley last week of Miss Ellen Fitz Pendleton definitely establishes the policy, long continued there, of a woman head of that college. Mt. Holyoke has doubled in numbers under a woman, Miss Woodley, and Bryn Mawr owes its place, policy and position in education to a woman president, Miss Thomas.

As dean, Miss Pendleton had through a decade proved her capacity to guide the education and discipline of Wellesley. She represents the training of a woman's college at its best, its tradition, its ideals and its purpose. Now

The American dreadnaught, Delaware, of the Atlantic fleet, leads the other battleships in efficiency at battle practice held off the Chesapeake capes during September, the score being 52,551 compared to 48,249 the second best.

The White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church gave a supper last Thursday evening which was largely attended. Persons were present from Wilmington, Marshallton, Union, Hockessin, Kennett Square, Fairview, Newark, Newport and Stanton. Free transportation facilities were provided, carriages, wagons and automobiles meeting the Stanton cars. Over $250 was taken in by the ladies.

The ladies of Head of Christiana Church will serve their annual Thanksgiving supper on Thursday evening, November 30. All sorts of good things are promised on the bill of fare.

Plans will be submitted in the near future by Architect Walter H. Brown, of Philadelphia, for the proposed new annex to Union Hospital, Elkton.

B. M. Wells, Elkton's veteran Adams Express agent, has tendered his resignation after 33 years of meritorious service.

W. C. Brooks, of the Glasgow section, has gathered a large crop of Kieffer pears this season, some of which weigh 1½ pounds.

Red Men's Home

H. B. Stoddard, past Grand Sachem of the Improved Order of Red Men of Delaware, in an address in the Evening Journal of Wilmington discusses the problem, "When a Man is Old and in the Way, What Shall He Do?"

He draws an interesting conclusion from the Red Men's Home at Newark, as follows:

This is indeed a problem worthy of our consideration, and a solution seems to have been reached by some of the people in at least one of the states of our fair land. I refer to the Red Men's (Fraternal Home, Inc., located in Newark, Del. Some of the prominent Red Men in Delaware, began to agitate the founding of a home of this kind in 1909, feeling that the inspirational spirit of the Improved Order of Red Men is to emulate the principles, practice the virtues, follow the examples and perpetuate the customs and habits of the primitive Red Men of the American forests, and knowing that supreme respect and sacred veneration for their aged and infirm elders was characteristically prominent among the primitive Red Men, as a just reward for duty, and likewise knowing that with the passing of each year, the number of aged and decrepit members of the order would naturally increase, until a maximum would have been reached, they felt that the principles expressed in their motto: Freedom, Friendship and Charity, would be well and uti-ly accomplished by providing some means whereby such aged, indigent and infirm members (and their wives) could be "freed" from the embarrassments with which they were no longer able to contend, and with "Friendship" be safely retained within the ranks of the order, and with "Charity" be placed beyond the condition of pauperism, by securing for them the comforts of a home, while passing down the declivity of life.

The ideas of these men were carried out upon a systematic basis, and the Red Men's Fraternal Home of Delaware, Inc., is the result. It stands as a monument to the order for years to come. It places the Red Men of Delaware, and their wives, beyond want, when old age overtakes them. In dedicating the building as a home for the aged and indigent members of the fraternity, they felt that they were keeping in close touch with the ancient and purpose of the man who first championed the banner of Redmanship on the waters of the river of brotherhood.

That these men build well is an established fact, that they trimmed the sails of the banner properly and placed in command those who thoroughly understand the human principles, is also assured, for they have steered carefully, hugged the rocks and shoals that lay the river and now with colors flying in every port, those on board have preached the gospel of brotherhood, and wherever they have lingered and metamorphically placed their colors, men have been enlightened and become better thereby.

One thought they endeavored to impress upon the minds of those accepted and admitted into the mystic tie, was that the Improved Order of Red Men is the conservator and preserver of the good traits of the people that inhabited this continent, and who extended to our forefathers that welcome of friendship erate her walls. Those boys and they are good boys if you will give them a chance, will make good strong men.

 Isn't it worth while? Let's stop that click of the pool room balls. Let's find a place for those boys to go. Not just Bible texts and teachings but Bible practice—good, wholesome fun, pure and innocent play instead of cigarette smoke and vice talk, which ends in—oh, you know, as well as I do.
 Say, men, you with good boys—you who give entertainment, help me with my son. He's worth it.
 I can't say him, but we both can take of money invested in these churches.
 Let's open them up. Is this rumble what it is worth while? If not, some one not me, I might.

JUST AN OLD BOY

Industrial School

The report for the Delaware Industrial School for Girls for the year ending April 30th, 1911, has just been distributed and shows that institution to be a successful one.

The treasurer's report shows a balance of $1,597.83, while that of the superintendent is just as encouraging along other lines.

Throughout the institution the idea of reward rather than punishment is emphasized. A marking system has been devised by which a girl is charged with 7,500 marks upon entrance to the school. This is defrayed by her receiving ten good marks a day, and for every clear month's record she receives 100 extra marks.

 For misconduct, failure in lessons or other duties she forfeits a certain number according to the superintendent's judgment of the offense. When other forms of punishment seem necessary extra work is given, such as washing spreads, oiling and polishing floors.

Mrs. Jackson, the superintendent, in her report says:

One of the greatest needs of Delaware today is an institution for feeble minded children and legislation that will prevent the marriage of those afflicted in that way. We are sending thousands of dollars to the missionary fields each year, therefore I hope those suggestions may stir our philanthropic people with a desire to come to the aid of such a need.

Federation Day

The observance of Federation Day in Wilmington last Wednesday by the New Century Clubs of the State was a marked success. Luncheon, music and addresses combined to make the occasion a pleasant and profitable one. Delegates were present from all parts of the State and these in the afternoon were joined by many members from the local clubs, when the principal speakers addressed the gathering.

Miss Anna Maxwell Jones of New York City found the inspiration for her talk in the 31st chapter of Proverbs, the 10th verse: "A worthy woman, who can find? For her price is far above rubies." Miss Jones put on a modern searchlight and showed King Lemuel's oracle as a woman of parts, capable of being President of the General Federation.

Handling wool made her a citizen interested in the tariff; she managed home and children, sat in the gates and ruled with her husband, a token of her having a part in national affairs and accustomed to speech making. The audience missed not a word, laughed at every sentence, and everybody was convulsed when Miss Jones asked them if they knew that the American eagle is a hen.

Mrs. Edward Biddle of Carlisle, Pa., spoke upon the relation of the individual club to the State Federation.

Mrs. Biddle says she is a unionist of the deepest dye, believing in the old proverb: "I can do little; we can do much," and this, applied to clubs, means that each club should make the Federation stronger because it is a part of it.

The responsibility for service in the public life, the appreciation of every individual affecting the lives with which he comes in contact, insistence on the importance of rightly living, the every day existence, public recreation, striving for the political, moral and aesthetic reconstruction of our States, were some of the club activities upon which Mrs. Biddle dilated. She gave very generous consideration to sanitation and civic betterment, a subject very near to the speaker who is a vice-president of the American Civic Association.

The woman's movement is one of the strongest and steadiest in modern life, and much responsibility was put upon the one woman out of five, who does not work for a living, toward her wage-earning sisters. Lack of good mothers is one of the shadows of our day, and Mrs. Biddle says this is evidenced in the style of dress girls are allowed to affect, and she asked if there is anything to make mothers "less obedient to their children."

TOWN HELPS COUNTY

At a meeting of Smyrna Town Council Friday evening it was decided to build and extend more macadam streets, notably, Main street from Glenwood avenue to town limits and Commerce street to the new Smyrna Landing stone road. The matter was brought up at this time and impressed with more seriousness from the fact that the Kent County Levy Court is already, through its overseer, Robert Donney, laying a macadam road from town limits on North Main street to Duck Creek. Members of Council were of the opinion, and very strongly, too, that the town should meet and encourage this improvement by extending the good work of Main street to town limits where it will join up with the new stone road. By doing this, there will be a four-mile stretch of good roadbed within and without Smyrna. The matter was left with the Street Committee, John P. Hudson, chairman, with authority to order ten to twelve carloads of stone or whatever was needed. The street work on the eastern end of Commerce street will join up with the stone road leading to Smyrna Landing, recently built by the Kent County Levy Court at the direction of L. M. Price. Work will start first on the Commerce street end and by the time this is done, the road on North Main street will be graded and ready to stone. It is the intention to complete both stretches of road this fall. The Street Committee reported progress in the matter of building a house for the street sprinkler and street sweeper in the lot adjoining the Town Hall. Council held a short session and adjourned to give members a chance to attend the "Husking Bee" at the Century Club.—Smyrna Times.

A New Conservation

A new wrinkle in conservation is in process of development. Mr. Edison is credited with an idea which would tend to conserve our forests and make literature imperishable at the same time. There are so and so many millions of books printed every year—the exact number is unimportant, but we all know it is tremendous—and in the production of wood pulp, for the printing paper we are devouring our trees faster than they can be grown. Paper is perishable, particularly pulp paper; it yellows and crumbles quickly, and there is danger that our treasures of thought may be lost unless we shall "can" them in some less destructible material. The word "can" is used in this connection literally, not jocosely; for Mr. Edison proposes to make our books of metal.

Nickel is the metal best adapted to the purpose, according to the inventor. He can produce by an electro-chemical process sheets of nickel much stronger and more elastic than paper, which will absorb printer's ink just as well, and which, withal, are so thin that 40,000 leaves could be bound in a volume two inches thick and weighing one pound. These books would be proof against damp, fire, mildew, and bookworms and other insects. When one considers that a book one inch thick of ordinary printing paper contains about 350 leaves, and that the best binder can do with India paper is to press about 1,500 leaves into the compass of an inch, the economy of space obtainable through the use of metal sheets will be dimly comprehended. A more complete idea of the saving will be obtained when we are told that a pile of ordinary books nine feet high could be printed in a metal-leaved volume easily held in the hand. Webster's unabridged dictionary could be made into a convenient pocket volume; the lawyer could go to court with his entire law library tucked under his arm, and the Congressional Library could find room on its shelves for 50 times the quantity of literature contained in its 1,793,000 paper books and pamphlets.

While Mr. Edison is thinking of the preservation of literature English thought is tending in quite the opposite direction. Bookmen so distinguished as Lord Roscherry and Edmund Gosse are troubled because so many books are preserved and live too long. They are oppressed with the multiplication of libraries crammed with volumes that nobody ever reads, or even asks for. The British Museum possesses about 4,000,000 volumes and a year or two ago, when those in the reading rooms were carefully gone over, the authorities could not find more than 60,000 volumes which were in use. Out of every 600 books in the British Museum all but one are dead. Of all the vast number of works indited by the generations of humanity only 60,000 remain alive. Our inventors are looking for greater certainty in the preservation of the useless stuff; English scholars are sighing for an Omar (the reputed destroyer of the great library of Alexandria) to come along and relieve literature of its dead weight.—Philadelphia Record.

New Castle County Institute

The annual County Institute of the New Castle County Teachers' Association will be held at the Pythian Castle, in Wilmington, this year, Thanksgiving week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, November 27, 28 and 29.

The program for the institute is now being completed. As in former years, music will be a prominent feature, and will be led by Miss Henrietta M. Smedley, who has been the popular musical director in former years. Among the speakers Superintendent A. R. Spaid has secured are Superintendent Samuel L. Chew, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Schmucker and Prof. Green, of West Chester. The program promises to be of unusual interest, and there will no doubt be many visitors at the meetings in addition to the teachers of the associations.

The annual election of officers will be held during the institute.

Elkton's first Halloween parade was held last Tuesday night and pronounced by all a great success. Elkton Improvement Association had charge of the arrangements. Prizes were awarded to the participants in various divisions.

The name of Delaware's popular seaside resort has been changed by the postal authorities from Rehoboth to Rehoboth Beach, in order to distinguish it from Rehoboth, Md. This is the second change in name the resort has had; formerly it was known as Cape Henlopen City.
