

Dr. Mitchell to Address League of Nations Club

Accepts Invitation to Deliver Address on Historical Background of World Problem

After repeated invitations from the League of Nations Club, which he was unable to accept because of pre-arranged engagements, Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell has accepted the invitation to deliver an address before the club on Thursday evening, April 24.

The subject of his address will be of an historical nature, relating to the world problem of a League of Nations. No definite announcement has been made as to the place where the meeting will be held, as it will probably be necessary to use the biggest hall in Newark for the occasion.

Announcements of the club's meeting on this special occasion and the subject of his address will be heralded throughout the state, especially among the students and teachers of the state.

An effort will be made to make this occasion one of the "big cards" in the college calendar, as Dr. Mitchell has not been heard much in a prepared address in Delaware. Most of his speeches have been made in various parts of the country where the home folks can not hear him.

Officers Elected For The Delaware Farmer

At the last meeting of the Delaware Farmer Board, "Bob" Pool was elected to head the board for the next year. The Farmer will not be issued until the opening of College in the fall, by which time the new editor-in-chief hopes to have the affairs of the paper in good shape.

The personnel of the new board follows:

Editor in Chief, Frank R. Pool, Jr.; assistant, Joseph H. Fairbanks; business manager, George H. Cullen, assistant, Claude H. Phillips; agronomy editor, Roland C. Handy; animal husbandry editor, George A. Ely; horticulture editor, J. Arnold Barnard; poultry editor, W. Paul Peach; advertising assistant, J. Howard Harper; circulation manager, Howard B. Alexander, assistants, R. Heath Carll and Basil Reynolds; questions and answers, T. Clement Alexander; campus notes, Joseph Wilson.

Miss Butterworth Resigns

Miss Marion C. Butterworth, who for several years has been secretary at the Delaware College Experimental Station, has resigned to become financial secretary to Miss Emily Proctor, a wealthy woman, of Proctor, Vt., who does a great deal of philanthropic work.

She will assume her new duties on May 1.

Miss Butterworth's home is not far from Proctor, which is one of the inducements that caused her to leave the station.

MANY ENTRIES IN INTERCLASS MEET

Each Class Is Well Represented In The Entries

Judging from the number of entries in the interclass meet to be held tomorrow afternoon, the interest in the event is quite general. The advantage caused by the ruling that one man may compete in only two events is shown in the entries, which indicate that crack athletes will not gain undue advantage for their class by competition in with less capable men.

The entries in the relay race, which will be run this afternoon are as follows:

1919: Craig, Hearne, Meredith, Ewing, Cantwell, Plam. 1920: Graves, Kite, Arbuckle, Thomas, Gordy. 1921: R. H. McMullen, J. W. McMullen, Hemphill, Harris, Wood, Lindsay. 1922: Smith, Bunt, Brown, Keith, Kavanaugh, Christfield.

Many Entries Expected For Field Meet May 10

The annual interscholastic field and track meet which will be held on Joe Frazer Field, Saturday, May 10, will be even larger than usual this year, according to indications. Coach Shipley, at a meeting of the Athletic Council, reported that he had sent out two letters to the various schools throughout this state and in adjoining states to arouse interest in the meet. Judging from inquiries that he had received from these schools he is of the opinion that at least thirty schools will send contestants, probably eighteen or twenty in Class 2 and the remainder in Class 1. The final letter, with entry blanks for the interscholastic meet, will be sent out by Coach Shipley about April 15, and entries must be in by May 1.

Colonel J. B. Douglas Inspects Battalion

On Thursday, the regular classes were laid aside to make way for the annual government inspection of the college battalion. Colonel J. B. Douglas, of the Air Service, was the inspecting officer, and, although a definite report has not been received from him, the impression that he gave was that the inspection was highly satisfactory in every way. Such a report, coming from the source that it did, is something which every man in the battalion might well be proud of. The S. A. T. C. unit at Delaware received very creditable mention among the colleges of this district and it is gratifying to note that the R. O. T. C. is measuring up to the same standards. The battalion fell in promptly at 9 o'clock and was marched to the athletic field where it passed a review before Major Duvall and Colonel Douglas. A personal inspection of guns and equipment followed this, after which the different companies were put thru their paces under the watchful eye of the Colonel. A hike was next on the program and the battalion was judged as to its conduct on the march and deployed as skirmishers. Major Duvall seemed especially pleased with the showing.

Signal Corps Active

Much interest is being shown by the men in the Signal Corps since its reestablishment by Major Duvall. The purpose of the organization is to form an efficient service for the transmission of messages from the college to the field headquarters, and to each individual company.

For the past few weeks "Radio Barnard" has had the men specializing in buzzer and wigwag work, in preparation for active participation in the handling of the military departments' communications in the field.

With the two portable field sets owned by Professor Koerber it will be possible to relay messages through by "radio" that it would otherwise take much time and inconvenience to deliver. In addition to this expert service, a squad of carefully trained wigwag men will serve to keep the "liason" between the companies.

P. T. ARBUCKLE WINS IN WEEKLY CONTESTS

Champion Gained 117 Points

When the last of the series of weekly athletic contests came to a close last Wednesday, it showed that Paul T. Arbuckle, '20, had won the championship with a total of 117 points. As a close second was Craig, with 105 7-10 points, while Loose placed third with 90 7-10 points. Throughout the contests, Arbuckle has secured first place in events only four times, showing that success is due to good sustained effort and not to special ability in one direction.

The first event on Wednesday was the broad jump, which was won by Loose at 18 ft. 6 in. "Arby" was second, jumping 17 ft. 6 in., and Craig secured third place at one inch less. In the next event, the high jump, "Arby" led at 5 ft. 2 in.; Loose tied for fourth place and Craig for sixth. In the 220 yd. low hurdles Arbuckle again won first place, with Craig as a close second, while Loose finished eighth.

The series of events has aroused a great deal of interest among the whole student body and it is planned not only to continue them next year but to widen their scope by the addition of several more events. Coach LeCato deserves the thanks of every student for devising this system of interesting more students in athletics and thus in helping to develop more new material for future varsity teams.

Don't forget the Blue Hen. Do your bit to make it truly representative of your college.

Professor Spiker Returns

Claude C. Spiker, Assistant Professor of Modern Language in Delaware College returned last week from France where he has been engaged in Y. M. C. A. work. Professor Spiker left Delaware in May 1918 and landed at Le Havre, France. He was immediately sent to the front with the 77th Division in Lorraine. He was a Hut Secretary on this sector for two months, in charge of a hut about four miles back from the front line trenches. With a regiment of Light Artillery he went to the Vesle River, when the American troops were pushing the Germans back to the Meuse. In this drive Professor Spiker was frequently under shell fire. He remained with the troops until the Germans were driven beyond the Aisne River at which time the Division was withdrawn to another front.

Then he was transferred to the French army for educational work where he was placed in charge of the English instruction in the French artillery school, meeting the most capable and best trained soldiers in France. A nephew of General Joffre was in Professor Spiker's class. He was with the French army in this capacity for about five months. He was then stationed at Lyons for similar work. Owing to an attack of the influenza it became necessary for Professor Spiker to be furloughed home. He is now on his way to join Mrs. Spiker whose home is near the University of West Virginia.

Summer Encampments for the R. O. T. C.

Location Will Be Central, Men May Receive Pay

Plans are now being made for the summer encampments for R. O. T. C. students. It is expected that the camp this year will be of central location, that is, Camp Meade or Camp Dix; and that there will be two camps, one starting about June 12th, and the other about August 7th. An effort is now being made by the Committee on Education and Special Training to secure for the men who attend these camps the regular soldier's pay of $30 a month. This amount, together with the transportation to and from camp and subsistence at camp make it a most worth-while proposition, even without considering the physical benefits that result from attending the camp.

The following letter relating to the camp has been received by Major Duvall from the District Inspector:

1. In order that the necessary preparation may be made for the summer encampments, it is requested that the following information be furnished this office:

- (a) Number of students in the Basic Course who will attend.
- (b) Number of students in the Advanced Course who will attend.
- (c) Number of students not enrolled in the R. O. T. C. who will attend if authority for such attendance is provided.

2. A card will be filled out for each student who will attend and will then be forwarded to this office.

3. The location of the camp will probably be central, and preferably at an army cantonment site, such as Camp Meade, Md.

4. This matter should be presented to the R. O. T. C. and student body as soon as possible. Students should be allowed two weeks in which to communicate with their parents relative to their attendance at camp. Reports should be in to this office by May 1st.

5. It should be clearly understood by the students that the question of holding camps this year depends upon appropriations. At

4. This matter should be pre-available.

6. Great care will be exercised to insure correct entries on the information cards.

By order of Colonel Rowell:
Derby Crandall, Jr.,
Capt. Inf. U. S. A.
Executive Officer.

The form of the application card is printed on page 4 for the convenience of the men who will attend the camp.

The Victory Loan will be a good investment, probably a little bit better than its predecessors, so get ready to subscribe. You will help the government and get a good safe investment as well.

The Summer Camp

IT has been urgently requested by the military department that as many men as possible sign up for camp this year so that Delaware College may be represented by a whole company at this camp. This request has not met with the hearty response that might have been expected. Only two men in the basic course and fifteen men in the advanced course are at present expecting to attend the camp, yet the advantages of the camp are manifold.

From a financial point of view, attendance at the camp is quite desirable. On the debit side of his ledger, the student has nothing to write. On the credit side he has transportation to and from the camp, subsistence, equipment, and probably a soldier's pay, for a good deal of agitation is being made by the Committee to secure this pay. These assets mean a clear gain of somewhat over a hundred dollars to the man who attends the camp.

From the physical and moral point of view, attendance at the camp is still more desirable. That camp life improves the physical condition is known to everyone. Our experiences in the war have been too recent for anyone to doubt that. Then there is the point about the kind of work a student does in the summer. Most of those who work hold very petty jobs as clerks or the like. Surely they would rather do a real man's work than this, and in camp they can do the work of a red-blooded American and still earn more money than at most summer jobs.

From the point of view of college pep, too, attendance at the camp is desirable. The military has always been one of the most sacred traditions of Delaware College; the college holds a high rating among state military colleges, and has pointed with just pride to the record of Delaware men in the service. The presence of a whole company at camp would give new life to these traditions and would also serve to advertise the college and to promote true college spirit in our student body. Let's show that the military traditions of Delaware are still alive and that they mean something to every student.

Let's go to camp!

A Prophet Not Without Honor

THE League of Nations Club has pledged its support to an interesting experiment in inviting President S. C. Mitchell to address the Club on the Thursday evening of the week after the Easter vacation. By very few of the students has Dr. Mitchell ever been heard in a prepared address. It is likely that not a great many of them know that he is a scientific scholar in the field of history, who earned the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in that subject at the University of Chicago, or that he is an orator well-known throughout the South and East. The men who have taken H 5 under him have found him in a new role, and have invariably been convinced that he is a man not of words only, but of compelling ideas. As a public speaker Dr. Mitchell is constantly in demand throughout the South and very largely in the East and in New England. On important occasions he has appeared on the program with men like Viscount Bryce and ex-President Taft. He was the speaker at Johns Hopkins University in 1913 on Commemoration Day, the high day of that great school, for which a speaker is always chosen who will not appear unworthily in the role first assumed by Huxley at the founding of the university. And yet by his own student body he has never been heard except in announcements or complimentary phrases! We should be grateful to the League of Nations Club for this opportunity and turn out en masse to take advantage of it.

One other thought: the attendance at this lecture will be taken not only as a measure of our sincerity in seeking to make the most of the intellectual forces of the faculty, but as a demonstration of loyalty. Only the thoughtless are misled with regard to Dr. Mitchell. American youth may prefer understatement to superlatives; but not a true man in the college doubts Dr. Mitchell's underlying sincerity, his devotion to the college, his devotion to the interest of the students, his devotion to the cause of truth, his genuine kindness of heart, his ideal confidence in human nature, or what those of us who have strongly felt its influence would prefer to call his constructiveness. Very few ever escape from Dr. Mitchell's cone of fire without a new life-ideal. We should show by a full house on the evening of the 24th of April how much we appreciate Dr. Mitchell at his best.

No Review Next Week

On account of the Easter holidays there will be no issue of the Review for next Tuesday, April 22. The next issue will appear on the following Tuesday.

Chapel Exercises

Editor,
Delaware College Review:

A week or two ago, you published in the "Review" a most interesting article on the conditions which attend our chapel periods. In this article, the writer attempted to give some suggestions as to how these conditions could be remedied, but I question very seriously, whether his solution of the problem, for indeed it is a problem, is feasible.

There is no doubt that the chapel exercises are uninteresting; but it is hard to place the real source of this trouble. "We rush in (most of the time late); we hurry thru our religious devotions, and then hurry to classes." I suppose it is a failing in the lives of some people to be forever late, but we cannot say that the students are altogether to blame for being late at chapel. For those who reside in Newark, the hour is not unreasonable, but for those who come from Wilmington, the hour is out of the question, because the train schedules cannot be adapted to suit chapel periods. Many commuters would enjoy attending chapel, but to walk in and be seated just as Dr. Mitchell says, "If there are no other announcements, we stand adjourned," is not very enjoyable. It's too like a business meeting.

To lengthen the chapel period, would not, in my estimation, make it less wearisome; in fact it would keep everyone from attending. If we go to chapel to hear some one deliver an address, why call it chapel at all? And then, if it were called a bi-weekly meeting of the student body, in order to hear some eminent lecturer on the subject of, let us say, the much abused League of Nations, how many of the students would attend? In the same way if some eminent divine were announced to speak, few would care to go. Personally, I consider it a test of a good speaker if he can condense his thoughts, so that he can say his say in ten or fifteen minutes. If the chapel period were any longer, it would be a flat failure!

But why have chapel at all? We are forced to attend because tradition and the Faculty think it good for us to do so. If the latter body consider chapel good for the Students, why do they not consider it good for themselves? They evidently don't for nary a faculty representative appears, save the leader. I should think it might help the student body to realize the value of chapel, if an occasional professor occupied a chair near the platform. It has been said "The good we never miss we rarely prize." Probably the Faculty has never realized the good(?) that chapel does the student.

To refer again to your article, Mr. Editor, it says, "The music and singing of our chapel exercises is very poor indeed. Any Junior or Senior in college knows every hymn in the hymn book from start to finish without a glance at the book." I most heartily concur with the former part of the statement, but the truth of the latter I am inclined to doubt. If it had been said that any Junior or Senior was more or less familiar with the tunes of the hymns, the truth would have been more closely approached. Or had it been stated that everybody knew the words of "Faith of our Fathers," I should believe it. The main fault lies not with the hymns themselves, but in the manner of singing these hymns. No body of people, no, not even college students in the various degrees and stages of learning, can sing properly without adequate leadership. And leadership does not consist of standing on the platform and waving the arms to and fro vociferously in an effort to beat time. That appeals to me as being merely funny. A leader, of music I mean, should have the proper feeling for the beauties which lie in it, and should command enough respect so that his audience will appreciate his ability. He will "get more out of them." If chapel is to remain a form of religious exercise, the substitution of college songs for hymns would not make the singing any more enthusiastic than it now is. It would merely give some the opportunity to shout their lungs out, parodying some of the more common tunes. In my opinion, some hymn tunes are too beautiful to be dispensed with, and as we hear them rarely enough they are not out of place when sung in chapel. Let us remember "a thing of beauty is a joy forever." The singing could be improved by having a capable leader, either some accomplished person, or an orchestra composed of members of the student body. The latter is, in my estimation, the most desired kind of a leader, or a combination of the two would be still more desirable.

The question of conduct in chapel is traceable to the fact that the exercises are considered more or less lightly. The student body ought to take them more seriously, but such will not be done until chapel has been made a pleasure, not a task.

NEWARK - DELAWARE

This letter, dear Editor, has been written not with a view to opposing the ideas as set forth in your recent article, but in order to set people to think of the seriousness of this question. While it may not be constructive in character, it is certainly not destructive, for it does not attempt to undermine a vogue at Delaware College. Our chapel exercises should not be less frequent, but they should be a trifle longer so that the Chairman will not always need to "keep his watch out" on a speaker, and if the speaker is a little longer than usual remark, "Now let us double-quick to our classes." I hope, Mr. Editor, that "every man should feel it is his duty to make chapel 'worth while for Delaware College.'" Lepahc.

To the Editor

Delaware College Review

Dear Sir: We desire this communication to be published in the next issue of the "Review." We are heartily in accord with the views expressed by the Editor in the last issue of the Review. We also desire the success of the baseball team. Therefore, to promote the well-known "community spirit," we wish to announce that henceforth we will promenade between the hours of 4 and 5, in order to avoid the competition that has heretofore been existent between us and the baseball team.

In view of our sacrifice, we would be willing to accept a similar one from some of your members who persist in wending their way to the P. R. R. Station via our campus on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday (gym days), while on other days they travel Depot Road. In offering this suggestion, we are merely solicitous of the orbs of these young men.

Yours in cordial cooperation,
4 Indignant Affiliators.

The Editorial Staff of the Review was most pleased to receive the above communication from our fair friends. We heartily thank them for their unselfish spirit of co-operation. We also thank them for their hint of the scenes on Depot Road or nearby. We were not aware of the pleasures awaiting the eyes of mere man, but on the next fair day we shall journey en masse and with our cameras toward the P. R. R. via the W. C. D. campus.

Delaware Loses Two Games

Delaware College nine lost the first two games of the season. The first game was lost to Georgetown University on Saturday by a score of 10 to 0; the second game to Maryland State, at College Park on Monday by the score of 5 to 1.

Alfred S. Hirzel Promoted

Alfred S. Hirzel, who went to France as a captain with the 59th Pioneer Infantry has just received two signal honors. He has been promoted to the rank of major, and he, out of a number of men who applied, has been given a post graduate course in engineering in the University of Paris.

In both military and civil life, Major Hirzel has worked his way into the esteem and regard of his superiors by his own efforts alone.

He entered the army twelve years ago, in the State guard, as a private, and now at the age of only 32 has worked himself up to the majorship. In civil life, when left without a father, as a young man, Major Hirzel worked his way through college, studying at Delaware and then taking courses at University of Pennsylvania. Susequent to his college training, Major Hirzel was, for a number of years, assistant city engineer in Wilmington.

Major Hirzel went to France in August, 1918, as engineer, but was transferred to the French Engineer Corps; he has now been transferred back to the Delaware regiment. The major's knowledge of French, which he can read and write, has been of great assistance to him in his work. He cleared the road for the second advance in the Argonne drive. The Major is at present stationed at Lyons.

Live Clothes for Live Young Men

LET us give you an earful. There is a certain type of Snappy Young Men who'd rather be dead than look like "dead ones." They want suits and overcoats with lots of snap in 'em. Style stunts and patterns that look more like Broadway on New Year's Eve at 12, than at 5 o'clock church tea in Sussex. You might laugh all over your face at them—but they want 'em. D'ye get us?

For that young man you must sell clothes that wouldn't be fit exactly for an undertaker. You got to give them value also, 'cause most of 'em haft'a dress on less than a thousand a week.
