

Reaction Favorable To Series Of Small Hearings On Charter

Are Scheduled Yet; Mayor Hopes To Ready Bill For Assembly

Reaction has been generally favorable to the plan for holding a number of small public hearings on the proposed new charter rather than a mass meeting, Mayor Wallace Johnson disclosed this week.

Several individuals have approached him with suggestions for changes and revisions to the charter draft, written out three years ago and eventually adopted at the 1949 session of the state legislature.

It is this charter proposal which will be used as the basis for a new draft, which the Town Council hopes to prepare in time for submission as a bill at the current session of the General Assembly. Council committees are currently revising the original proposal.

A special meeting of the Town Council will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the town offices, 24 Academy Street.

Last week Mayor Johnson called on all interested citizens and groups to submit suggested changes or proposed revisions for insertion in the new charter draft. He promised all a public hearing from Council and a decision on their suggestions. No hearings have been arranged as yet. The date and time of each will be announced as they are scheduled.

He said that any changes inserted in the charter will be given ample publicity and, if time permits, the entire draft will be made public, before the proposal is submitted to the legislature. The deadline for submission of changes to the General Assembly had not been set as of this Tuesday, he said.

Two years ago, the friction among local factions over the new charter centered chiefly around the provisions for bonded indebtedness of the town, how much money the Council could raise without a referendum and the existing regulations.

Mayor Johnson believes these disputed points can be ironed out and the final public lined up behind a new and satisfactory charter proposal. He also said that the new draft can be prepared in time for admission to the current Assembly.

'Outward Bound' To Be Staged Feb. 8, 9, 10 By Newark Players

Cast For Latest U. of D. Drama Group Production Is Announced

The play, "Outward Bound," by Sutton Vane will be presented in Mitchell Hall by members of the University Drama Group on the evenings of February 8, 9, and 10. This brilliant play, long a favorite with theater-goers, was revived recently in New York City with a star-studded cast including the late Laurette Taylor of "Glass Menagerie" fame, Helen Chandler, and Vincent Price.

Twenty years ago when Dr. C. Robert Kase came to the campus of the University of Delaware, his first production was this excellently written show, "Outward Bound," a favorite also of critics, is the story of a group of oddly assorted characters who are passengers on an ocean liner. By interesting coincidence, this production will be directed by Mrs. C. Robert Kase, wife of the head of the department of Dramatic Arts and Speech. Mrs. Kase has long been an active member of the University Drama Group, the organization of which her husband is now president.

The story unfolds to reveal that the passengers, whose destination is unknown, are actually dead. Dealing with death as it does the play is nevertheless written with skill and good humor, and it is never depressing. The cast for this stellar presentation is as follows: Scrubby, the bartender, Dr. C. Robert Kase; Anne, Mary Lake; Henry, Herman Middleton; Mr. Tom Pryor, an alcoholic, Carl Jones; Mrs. Cliveden-Banks, a dowager, Mrs. Charlotte Hanson; Reverend William Dukes, Dr. Michael Kubicki; Mrs. Midgett, a Cockney charwoman, Mrs. Mildred Shields; Mr. Lingley, a capitalist, E. Clare Mahanna; and Reverend Frank Thompson, Mr. Joseph Shields.

Once more the University Drama Group promises local audiences a thrilling night in the theater. Tickets may be purchased at the box office in Mitchell Hall the week before the production.

41 Fires Here In '50 Cause $26,050 Loss

Charles Moore Issues Annual Report

A total of 41 fires causing $26,050 in property damage were reported in Newark during 1950, according to Charles E. Moore, fire recorder for the Aetna Company.

Mr. Moore, who released his annual report this week, said the volunteers also answered 101 calls in the district for fires causing $67,300 in property loss and 14 alarms outside the district for fires resulting in $25,200 in damages.

During December, the firemen fought five fires in town, mostly minor blazes causing a total of $75 in damages. The Aetna men also handled five calls in the district without loss and three calls outside the district for $15,200 in destruction.

Last week two alarms were sounded both for minor blazes, causing little or no damage.

The first, which occurred at the Orchard Apartments, interrupted the firemen's annual election.

$679,136 Two-Year Budget Is Proposed For Newark Schools

State Commission Okays Request For Submission To Legislature

A $679,136 budget has been approved by the state budget commission for Newark school district for the 1951-52 biennium, Wilmer E. Shue, district superintendent, announced this week.

The budget, as finally approved and submitted to the current session of the General Assembly, is about $68,000 less than was originally requested by the district. Normal operations of the local schools will not be hampered, however, since the non-approved funds had been intended to cover salaries for new teachers.

The major portion of the proposed budget covers salaries for the two year period. The breakdown shows $11,800 for administrative salaries; $13,087 for clerical; $526,469, instructional; $40,950, janitorial; $6,820, health staff. The remaining $78,100 covers all other costs.

Facts on the proposed budget were outlined at the January meeting of the Newark School Board of Education last Friday at the high school.

Also disclosed was the fact that the district took in $27,896.44 in school tax receipts the past year up to and including November. The November returns were $775.55.

A reduction in the district's fire insurance rate has also been secured. The cut is on an annual premium for one-third of the district's $1,350,000 coverage. The saving amounts to $381.01 per year.

The board members also granted the Newark Rotary Club permission to stage its annual minstrel show in the high school auditorium.

DuPont Company To Erect New Office Building Near Here

Building To Supplement Wilm. Offices Planned On Route 72

Tentative plans for the construction of a new office building north of Newark to supplement the existing company-owned Dupont Nemours Buildings in Wilmington and to provide additional office space for increased personnel at the company's headquarters here, were announced recently by the DuPont Company. A site has been acquired, and preliminary exploration and site preparation work will start shortly.

The location is just west of Milford Crossroads, which is formed by the junction of the Newark Road (Route 72) and the Milford Crossroads-Thompson Station Road. It is about 12 miles west of Wilmington and 2 miles north of Newark. The tract on which the building would be erected covers several hundred acres.

The need for more office space is the result of DuPont's post-war growth which has paralleled that of the entire chemical industry. In the last five years more than 20,000 new jobs have been created for DuPont workers in plants, laboratories, and offices throughout the country, many of them stemming from new products developed through research. The company has invested upwards of $500 million since 1945 in the construction of new plant and laboratory facilities and the improvement or replacement of existing facilities.

These increases in the field have brought the population of the DuPont and Nemours Buildings to about 7,000, while many other groups of employees are working at various locations all over the city. If present plans materialize, the new building will be a landmark.

In association with others, he prepared last year the plan for the Patapsco River Valley Park, Md., under the auspices of the Maryland State Planning Commission.

Projects in which Mr. Pangburn is currently engaged include a study of the Monocacy River watershed and the recreational potentials of Western Maryland, and a study of the recreation needs of employees of the GE Laboratories near Schenectady.

Mr. Pangburn is the author of the volume, "Adventures in Recreation," "Recreation, A Major Community Problem," and many pamphlets, magazine articles, and newspaper stories on the subject.

Basketball Intramurals Underway At NHS

Activities in the intramural department are evident these days. They got underway last Thursday with Walter Matt, physical education director for boys, in charge.

This year plans are to have three leagues. The leagues will play on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays in a round-robin fashion. In this way each team will play two extra games. The purpose of the entire intramural program at Newark is to offer to all boys an opportunity to participate on a team regardless of the fact they may not make the varsity teams. Such a plan also helps to develop material of varsity caliber although this is not the prime purpose of an intramural plan at NHS.

Pleasant Hill

Sunday marked the 61st birthday anniversary of John Buckingham of Pleasant Hill, who has been an invalid for 40 years and confined to a wheelchair. Due to ill health this past year he has had to journey to the hospital three times in the Newark ambulance, which gave him a glimpse into the surrounding country which he had not been permitted to visit for many years. Hospital routine was also a new experience for him. However, he was glad to return to his cheerful room at home and enjoy the view from the window. His birthday was remembered by his relatives by cards and gifts. His home is a pleasant place to go for a visit, despite his inability to walk. His cheerful smile and jovial personality awaits a visitor. He and his wife, Willard live together in the Pleasant Hill home. Mr. Buckingham was injured by a gunshot through a window resulting from a gunshot in 1910. He maintains a keen interest in church, civic and national affairs.

Three-in-One Homemakers' Club. The new year activities last Sunday at the home of Mrs. Anna Jones with an all day session and a fish luncheon. New officers were appointed by the club. John Lynch, the new president. Katharine Jones spoke on "Making In This Important Year" and showed by chart the average family living expenditures and the gradual upward trend in the living. Mrs. Barbara D'Angelo gave a question and answer skit on "Look Visit." For February, the members will be shown the art of plastic pocketbooks by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Mary Walker. Mrs. Martin Gauger and Mrs. Mary Jones are new members of the club. Evelyn Horney and Mr. Alvin Horney of Grasonville, Md., were week-end guests of the Rev. Edwin Horney.

Methodist Church. Church No. 3 was organized last week. Mrs. Gilbert Unger chosen president; Miss Catharine Dempsey, vice-president; Mrs. John Davis, secretary; Mrs. Betty Ayars, treasurer. S. Grandpa is in poor health and darts people around especially at bedtime. Grandpa will be played by whom Lomax and it is his chief concern to escape Widow Williams played by Miss Catharine Dempsey. Grandpa's granddaughter, Betty, enacted by Miss Louise Stafford, and a double role to represent grandpa, also played by twin sister, all make a mess of the situation and will keep the audience guessing and laughing until the comedy is untangled. Don't forget that important meeting coming up January 25, one week from now, concerning the common problems about schools which face New London, Penn. Franklin, and London-Britain Townships. The meeting place is to be Kemblesville Hall, and the speakers are to be County Superintendent Saylor and Mr. Morgan, principal of the Avondale School. Mr. Morgan has at his fingertips that indispensable information about the exact "how" to cope with the financial problems of these school matters. Come on out at 8 p.m. and let's learn by listening and questioning and presenting our own ideas on these matters which concern us all.

Under the title of "Our Pets" we might note that faithful little Gypsy, a "Heinz" variety, (and he seemed to combine all the lovable traits of each of the varieties he represented) has gone to his eternal reward in dogdom, after twelve years with the Filipi family. "Rojo," well-loved pet at the Hum home, has also succumbed, in spite of earnest efforts on the part of veterinarian and family, and susie, Sandra and Lynn are exceedingly sad about it. Remember how dearly we loved our dogs, cats, rabbits, and the endless list of animals a child collects?

Sunday afternoon the Taylors and Nesses gathered before the Ellis fireplace and had a most enjoyable visit.

The Ellises seem to be industry personified, and the home they have chosen among us is beginning to gleam with the result of their taste and planning.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Woodward, Mr. and Mrs. John Kalb, and Mr. and Mrs. George Kalb enjoyed a pleasant Canasta session at the William Nichol home last Saturday.

"Stevie" White entertained her luncheon club, consisting of Anne Hixon, Anne Paxson, and Dorothy Akerman, on the tenth of this month. Of course they had a good time—and the usual plan is to help the hostess on any remodeling or decorating job. A variation of the old-fashioned quilting party we guess—and lots of fun. When an engaged man buys a house—that is significant news. Ask Bill Mackey of New London about it.

The William Wallaces who moved onto a farm near Crumpton, Maryland, from this township, on the week before Christmas, are nicely settled and extremely happy, so says Mrs. Elbert Poole, who accompanied Mrs. Julian Wallace and Mrs. Wallace's mother on a trip to Maryland January 14. Mrs. Wallace, Senior, home, visit the William Wallaces, that Emery goes to school in Crumpton, while Charles goes to school in Sudlersville.

The list of those who went to state fair is most impressive, it appears that everyone agrees it was the "biggest and best" we understand that Leon and Laidie Wilkinsin went, and so did bankment and Harold Fields, from this

Here is America's foremost source of new automotive ideas and developments. Behind this name . . . at the heart of the Chrysler business . . . is the creative imagination that gives superior worth to Chrysler products.

"Soon Chrysler Corporation will present . . .

a new kind of engine that out-performs any other automobile engine"

WE did not set out to improve the automobile engine as you have known it . . . our aim was to wipe the slate clean and to make practical a far more efficient kind of power.

"Our hope was to solve the great technical and mechanical problems that had long prevented engineers from doing this. We challenged ourselves once more to demonstrate Chrysler's ability to take and solve the hardest kind of mechanical and engineering jobs.

"And so we came to grips with fundamentals that had never been licked. We began right at the heart of the engine, the combustion chamber. What we wanted was the absolute engineering ideal—the Hemispheric Combustion Power Head that had long been beyond practical reach in the automobile. For only by attaining this goal could we unlock that extra power in gasoline we were after and at the same time greatly increase performance efficiency.

"The objective was achieved, but only after a wholly new engine had been designed and built around the Hemispheric Combustion Chamber. Experimental engines were built, tested, torn apart, discarded. Thousands of production drawings were made before our great engineering team was satisfied. New valves, new camshafts, new rocker arms, new crankshafts, new mechanisms of all kinds were developed. Every skill from those of the metallurgist and chemist to those of the engineer and the production man was called upon for tens of thousands of hours.

"Millions of dollars, of course, have been spent, both in the engine itself, and in engineering the new methods by which it will be produced.

"Now after the most rigorous and thorough testing and proving that could be devised, we are about to introduce our new full-compression Chrysler FirePower Engine in our new Chrysler New Yorker and Imperial cars.

"It will set a new standard of performance! It is powerful . . . most efficient . . . best constructed engine automobile today.

"It will take its place as the great new leader of first family of engines that perform so magnificently in Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto and Chrysler cars . . . trucks, and in marine and industrial jobs all over the world."

"It is another great development that will live as a Corporation engineering first in basic advance in automotive transportation upon which Americans rely vitally. Other published messages will tell you more about this new power plant . . . especially its Hemispheric Combustion Power Head that makes every drop of gasoline do more of its power than ever before!"

NEWARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From Issue of January 13, 1926

Center Street Improvement
A new real estate development, this tract in the heart of Newark, has been purchased by the Newark Trust and Deposit Company for the owner, Samuel J. Wright.
The tract embraces several acres between Main Street and the B. and O. railroad, running eastward almost to Center Street. For years it has lain idle, hemmed in by the railroad embankment and the solid block of buildings on Main Street.
The new thoroughfare, which will be called Center Street, will run from the Dr. Kollock residence eastward to the Methodist Cemetery and will be permanently paved by the City Council.
The sale of the property within the Center Street tract opened this week at the bank under charge of James D. Wright, Jr. Twenty-seven parcels of land are included.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Furness and family of Capitol Trail were visiting New York City last week.

Harry Maxwell, Polly Drummond and family underwent a minor operation this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bradley are planning to move into their attractive home on old Capitol Trail, this week. As the major part of the construction was done by Mr. Bradley, himself, it is, in reality a dream come true.

Henry Stewart and Paul Sayers Stewart's Garage have enlisted for years in the air corps. Daniel Duhamell, Jr. spent the weekend with his parents on Capitol Trail.

Clay Creek Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Howard Bradley announces the Women's Missionary Society re-elected the following officers 1951: President, Mrs. Howard Bradley; vice-president, Mrs. James H. Bishop; secretary, Mrs. Andrew Linch; treasurer, Mrs. Nathaniel Richards. The following secretaries have been appointed: Literature, Mrs. Nathaniel Richards; missionary education, Mrs. Sam Evans; social education and music, Mrs. Paul Peach; overseas sewing, Mrs. Delle Othson; membership, Mrs. Beadie Ball; devotions, Mrs. Amos Chell.

A beautiful hand-made quilt is being offered for sale by the society. Mrs. Bishop will be glad to show it to anyone interested in purchasing it.

Our Youth Fellowship sent a Christmas box to our national missions station in Abbeville, South Carolina. Many of the congregation donated items for this box. A letter has just arrived with grateful thanks for the contributions.

Herbert Brown has repainted the church sign at the corner of Polly Drummond Road and Capitol Trail. With a new type of waterproof paint, it will not be harmed by rain or snow. Ralph Lyndell and Willard Johnston were re-installed as elders in the morning service last Sunday. Clifford Lyman, re-elected to the board of trustees, was also installed. Trustee Leroy Hancock was unable to be present for the installation.

Rev. Bishop announces that the congregation voted at the annual meeting to pay off all indebtedness on the church improvement program. Plans are under way to complete the improvements in the kitchen. The trustees are planning to rearrange the main Sunday School room, placing the platform at one end, before painting is begun. The plan includes hanging of curtains for classroom spaces.

Next Sunday, Jan. 21, at the 11 a.m. service of worship, the pastor will bring a message on "How Old Are You?" or "The Religion of Maturity."

Bad weather made it impossible for the Youth Fellowship to meet last Sunday. Weather permitting, the group will meet this Sunday at 7:30 p.m. Devotions will be led by Miss Bertha Bishop. Miss Jane Hammill will sing a solo, "An Evening Prayer." The annual election of officers will take place and plans will be made for the observance of Youth Sunday on Jan. 28th.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor
The Newark Post
Dear Sir:

In reading your valued paper through the past year I have often noted schools and their problems mentioned. It might be pointed out that schooling and education are not always the same. It is well known amongst knowledgeable persons that there is little education in America. What Americans call education is largely training, and what they call science is mostly technology. Because Americans are brilliant technologists they win wars, and because they are little educated they lose the peace. The object of training is to perfect in the doing of a process. People are trained in iron-working, in chemistry, in the French language. The object of education is development of character, whereby the individual is better fitted to make use of his inherent powers. Persons come out of a training school as nearly alike as they can be trained; they do the same process in the same way and receive the same degree or certification. Persons educated show the quality of their education by their after life. Americans have laughed at the English for their sometimes antiquated facilities, but Englishmen have come out of these schools, from the little island of Britain, and ruled the world. Whereas American men have come from their palatial schools, from rich and colossal America, to tag at the tail of diplomacy.

For training a certain provision in the way of buildings and equipment is desirable. But even here they are not necessary. Louis Pasteur worked in a garret and heated his solutions on an old cook-stove. Yet Pasteur did more to conquer disease than multitudes of doctors working in million-dollar laboratories. It is the man that counts, not his surroundings. Speaking of cook-stoves, the processing of rubber was discovered in a kitchen, and the secret of the steam-engine was revealed by a tea-kettle. Again let it be said: it is the person which is essential.

Fine buildings and expensive equipment are a positive detriment to education. For how can the inventive powers of the person be developed if there is nothing left for him to invent? I am often reminded of an experience at a university in a neighborhood state where I was teaching some years since. A college for women was established and temporarily housed in the buildings of an estate at the edge of the city. Chemistry classes were held in a loft over the former stable. The chemistry professor told me that while the girls worked in that loft they were eager and zealous; they did original research and had literally to be driven from the building at the closing hour. In course of time the state put up a building costing a vast sum; chemistry classes were moved to it; and then to the professor's dismay and sorrow all enthusiasm vanished. Interest dropped, original work stopped, and the girls hurried from the building the moment class was over. The building was oppressive in its lavishness.

The point to be remembered, whether at Newark or London, Britain or elsewhere: children are not factory raw material to be fed into a hopper and come out a uniform product, stamped and certified. The large majority of children in schools in adult life will dig ditches or punch time clocks. Such digging and punching are necessary and honorable, but do not require in preparation the expense of myriad school buses and an infinitude of costly buildings. Schools are now the popular craze, just in a past age it was the fashion to go around in armor on horseback, or to go on a Crusade, or to buy tulips in the tulip mania. But if common sense is not common enough to curb the insatiable dementia for more and more expensive schooling, the mere force of circumstance may call a halt to the orgy of spending. I read that taxes now take 30% of the national income and that no nation has been able to stand such taxation for long. Now with incredible billions going for war purposes, it is very high time to call a halt to this senseless delirium of school spending, a spending that does not result in education whereas technology would proceed at the hands of gifted people even were there no schools.

Yours very truly,
Arthur P. Kelley.

Best Combat Soldiers

To the Editor of the Newark Post:
I was amazed at the statement of Senator Martin that "the 18-year-old makes a grand combat soldier." In the eyes of the law in this state anyone under 21 is considered an infant. The legislature will not permit anyone under 21 to vote. Why? Because they are not supposed to have mature judgment.

The draft law should be changed, yes, but to provide for induction of youths 21 and up, instead of 18 or 19 and up.

Registration Dates Are Set For U. of D. Extension Courses

Students May Enroll Feb. 1
At Wilmington High For Spring Term

Registration dates for second-term courses offered through the University of Delaware's Academic Extension Division have been announced by Paul M. Hodgson, extension director.

On the evening of Wednesday, Jan. 31, registration will be held at Dover High School for all classes to be taught in Kent and Sussex counties.

The next night, Thursday, Feb. 1, registration will be held at Wilmington High School for courses to be conducted there during the spring term. On the morning of Saturday, Feb. 3, there will be an additional registration at the university campus in Newark.

Meanwhile, applications are being received by mail at Mr. Hodgson's office in Robinson Hall on the campus for some of the more than 100 courses which are being offered for the coming term by each of the University's five undergraduate schools.

These courses range from "Farm Records and Accounts" and "Family Life" to "Photochemistry" and "Great English Writers." Approximately 30 fields of concentration are included in the 100 courses. Mr. Hodgson said that bulletins, detailing the offerings and requirements, are available at his office; and at the Wilmington Library; and Room 108, Wilmington High School, Monday through Thursday evenings.

Second-term classes will begin on Monday, Feb. 5, and ordinarily are taught once weekly for 15 weeks in two or three-hour sessions.

All courses carry credit which may be applied toward a bachelor's degree, and many carry credit toward an advanced degree. Persons may register for courses without seeking credit. Mr. Hodgson also pointed out that the new certificate program started by the Extension Division provides an opportunity for study in the fields of general business, chemistry, accounting, and general arts.

Classes for the second term will come to a close during the week of May 21.

Dupont Offices

terialize, they will ease this badly overcrowded situation and in addition provide the means of taking care of any future expansion that may be necessary.

The suburban site for the new building offers a number of advantages. It affords ample space for parking and the opportunity to design a modern type of office building that can be spread out horizontally rather than pyramided vertically. This permits large open areas and the maximum use of natural light, with all individual offices on the outside. Landscaping will make the surroundings additionally attractive. Furthermore, placing the new building in the country rather than in downtown Wilmington, where other company offices are located, will avoid further concentration of office personnel in an already crowded area, traffic burden on the city's streets and will avoid the placing of an added parking facilities.

If existing plans materialize, the company's engineering department will supervise the design and construction, and the office buildings department will manage and operate the new unit, as it does the existing Dupont and Nemours Buildings and the Hotel

Dupont in Wilmington.

Del. Coach Company Asks Fare Increase

Firm's President Outlines Reasons For Hike

The Delaware Coach Company has applied to the Public Service Commission for authority to establish an increase in fares.

In connection with the application, P. T. Reilly, president of the company, this week issued the following statement.

"During the past thirty years, the company has had only one change in its rates. Its income is now so close to the vanishing point that it is obliged to ask for a very modest change in its rate structure in order to enable it to continue good service, purchase new equipment, extend its operations, and at the same time, meet increased operating costs.

The only changes contemplated in the new rate schedule are the discontinuance of tokens and substituting therefor a 10c fare, also substituting a Newark $5.00—20 ride 30 day ticket for the present $8.00—40 ride ticket. Transfers will, as usual, be free.

"Everybody knows that material and labor costs have greatly increased during the past ten years and these increases apply to transit at least to the same extent that they apply to all individuals and industries. In our particular case, wage rates have advanced more than 100 per cent since 1940, and material costs have increased in some instances, well over 100 per cent. Buses that could be purchased in 1940 for $8,000, now cost approximately $15,000, and coaches that cost $12,000 in 1940, now cost $18,000.

"The transit company is no different from an individual. When it goes shopping it must pay the prevailing prices for repair parts, gasoline, tires, and all the many hundreds of other items necessary to conduct and maintain safe service. Like everybody else it must have the money to pay for what it buys, also money to meet its payroll."

Thomas W. Mulrooney, director of child development and guidance in the Wilmington Public Schools, will speak at the January meeting of the Newark Parent Teachers Association tonight at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Cooking Wild Duck

Advice on Preparing Game, Wild Fowl

Game and wild fowl provide good eating, if they are properly prepared, according to Miss M. Gertrude Holloway, nutrition specialist for the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service. The first step in preparation lies with the hunter. Birds should be drawn as soon as possible after they are shot and kept at a cool or cold temperature until they are cooked.

All game is better if hung for a few days at a temperature just above freezing to permit the game to season. Wild duck meat is darker and dryer than domestic duck. Cooking in moist heat in a covered roaster with strips of bacon across each bird is recommended by Miss Holloway. A whole peeled onion or apples, quartered and placed inside each duck, will help to lessen the "gamey" taste. Ducks should be roasted in a moderate oven for 1½ to 2 hours depending upon the size. To brown the skin, remove the cover of the roaster for the last 15 minutes of cooking.

Ducks may be stuffed with any bread stuffing or with the traditional wild rice stuffing seasoned with salt, pepper, and chopped onion.

Rabbit should be cooked until well done. It may be fried like chicken, made into a pie or fricassee. Cooking slowly in moist heat is advised to insure tenderness.

FILLIN' IN

From whistle stop to medium tank town, sleepy village to critical target area, the boom town that could go boom—that seems Newark's course in 1951.

The rapid-fire announcements that both Chrysler and DuPont plan huge expansion programs here have already turned quiet, easy-going Newark into a place of wheels, deals and "killings." The expected boom has set eyes a-glitter with its promise of a strange, distorted prosperity based on war and threats of war.

Chrysler promises us one of the biggest tank plants ever, and we can't imagine DuPont stopping at anything less than an Octagon Building.

And behind it all towers the flamboyant, cocky figure of our Uncle Samuel, talking airily of $160,000,000 preliminary contracts. Will someone please tell us what a million dollars is? We just don't know. Surely it can't be a million of those green things of which we never have more than 10 at one time.

But to our Uncle Samuel, bless the old sport, a million is just a thousandth part of a billion. He sure is a big-time, big-money guy, and how he impresses the neighbors abroad! One would never suspect he has to sneak around to our backdoor every once in a while to ask for a handout of a couple more bucks weekly. We may be dumb about millions, Unk, but we know what a couple of bucks are.

Already Newark has become an exclamation point on the map. We understand the Chamber of Commerce is receiving inquiries from prospective settlers all over the country.

One man in Detroit, Michigan, wrote to ask about the "inter-city transportation" facilities. He apparently would like to take a subway back and forth to work. Boy, is he off his trolley. The Chamber sent him an illustrated brochure outlining the facilities of McFarlin's one-man taxi and station hack service.

This same writer requested a "copy of the local paper, preferably Sunday if published." The Chamber, without a word of warning or explanation, sent him a copy of the Post. The poor guy now probably has a dislocated jaw, resulting from a severe case of sagging with disappointment.

A letter from another Detroit, asked about "conditions for a hay fever sufferer." A Chamber spokesman informed her that there is plenty of fever here but it ain't hay.

A New Jersey woman wrote to ask about the Wilmington-Newark bus service. This stumped the Chamber. As everyone knows, the route of the Newark-Wilmington bus has never been charted by living man. All that is known definitely about it is that a bus appears here occasionally from Wilmington and disappears soon again into the unknown. Sometimes reports trickle back of its actually reaching Wilmington safely, but no one really knows. A few rugged travelers, who boast they have survived a round trip, say the bus ranges throughout most of the eastern seaboard, with stops at such outposts as Marshallton and Price's Corner. One is as likely as not to see palm trees or igloos along the way, they say.

In its reply to the New Jersey woman, the Chamber avoided mentioning the Newark-Wilmington bus and suggested tactfully that it would be best if she brought her own ox-cart.

The person we envy least in this time of crisis for Newark is Mrs. Ruth E. Mayne, our Welcome Wagon Hostess. It's her job, you know, to welcome personally all newcomers to town in the name of the local merchants. Even greeting the normal influx of settlers here keeps Mrs. Mayne a harried hostess. The prospect of making some three to four thousand defense workers and their families feel at home must, we imagine, leave her non-plussed.

If we were to make a prediction for 1951, we'd say Newark will lose its name—at least as it is spoken. The full-round, two syllable "New-Ark," peculiar to the natives of this area, will be telescoped into "Nuerk," the New Jersey barbarism.

The condensed version will be imported by new residents, who will find the native pronunciation odd and difficult. There will be a confusion of tongues for a while, with the older residents clinging to the traditional pronunciation but eventually they will be overwhelmed.

A few die-hard individualists among them will hold out stubbornly until the bitter end, but they will come to be regarded as a quaint, eccentric group, picturesque survivals of a once small and quiet town.

Guernseys Make Mark For Newark Man

Clarence Fraim and Daniel E. Harris, of Newark, are the owners of two registered Guernseys that have recently completed Herd Improvement Registry production records according to a report from The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

Having been milked 704 times while on test, Berkeley Queen Glamorous, a junior 2-year-old, produced 7,682 pounds of milk and 412 pounds of butterfat.

Berkeley Queen Glory, also a junior 2-year-old, produced 7,554 pounds of milk and 438 pounds of butterfat in 682 milkings.

"Glamorous" and "Glory" are the daughters of the outstanding Guernsey sire, Sherwood Forest Judge, that has one son and eighteen daughters in the Performance Register of The American Guernsey Cattle Club.

The records were supervised by the University of Delaware.

Rhodes Store Tops Women's Pin League End Of First Round

Lucky Strikes Top Friday Nite Loop; Newark Heads Tuesday League

Rhodes Drug Store's lady keglers finished at the top of the Women's Major League at the end of the first round.

The Newettes and Blue Hen Laundry were tied for second in the skirted circuit, with the Continental Fibre-women third. The second round, which is now underway, will continue into April.

Captain Ralph Edmanson's Newark team topped the first round in the Tuesday Night League, with a record of 32 wins against 19 defeats. The loop will wind up operations in early June.

In the Friday Night League, Captain Edgar Sassaman's Lucky Strike keglers finished ahead of the first round opposition. Their mark was 29 victories against 13 turn downs.

Other weekly leagues at the Newark Bowling Center are still winding up their first round play, according to Manager Morris Adams.

Members of the Rhodes Drug Store combine, which topped the first half of the women's league, boast some top-notch bowling talent. In 36 games Ruth Jones totaled 4832 points for a game average of 134. The same average was earned by Ann Dunn in 39 games.

Pauline Dieffenderfer racked up a 113-point average in 39 games, and Beatrice Reed registered a 123 average in 33 games. The fifth member of the club, Sara Eveland, turned in a 112 average in 39 games.

Newark Rotary To Sponsor Junior Baseball League For Boys Under 12 Years

A junior baseball league of Delaware will be organized and sponsored by the Newark Rotary Club.

Teams of boys under 12 from Newark and nearby towns will compete in the loop. The state winners will have an opportunity to compete on a regional and national basis.

Hugh Gullede, who is in charge of the Rotary program, has already notified both the New Castle and Middletown Clubs of plans for the leagues. Both organizations have agreed to sponsor teams.

One more team is needed to complete the circuit and qualify in the National Little League.

Hen Quintet Faces Open Date Saturday; Meets Rams, Jan. 27

Splitting their games the past week, the University of Delaware cagers kept their record balanced with five wins in 10 starts, following up their 69-67 loss to Haverford last Thursday with a 50-49 triumph over Drexel on Saturday.

The hair-raising victory over Drexel gave Delaware its second win in three conference games.

Following their meeting with Pennsylvania Military College last night, the Hens are in for a breathing spell. Saturday is an open date. The Haverford game was originally scheduled then but was moved up to last Thursday.

The Hens will next see action when they invade West Chester, Saturday, Jan. 27, following up with King's College on Feb. 3 in the field house.

The Drexel game was hard fought all the way, with the visitors holding a 31-25 halftime edge. The Hens paired this down in the third period, edging ahead 41-38.

Drexel inched backed to within one point and the count stood at 50-49, the final score, with two half minutes to go. Delaware held on to its lead by freezing the ball, waiting eight Drexel fouls.

Pacing the Delaware offensive was Bill Utt with 19 points, closely supported by Jim Buechle with 13.

Last Thursday Haverford finally tripped the Hens on a pair of foul conversions in a game that saw the lead see-saw 12 times. The count was tied on exactly 13 occasions. Although outscored from the field, the Hens kept in the thick of things through countless foul conversions. The Hens collected 19 of their points at the penalty stripe.

Jim Kruzinski and Bill Utt were the key men in the Hen offensive. The former provided 22 points and Utt contributed 21.

Jacket Cagers Drop Two In Row; Take On Archmere Tomorrow

To Make Debut Before Home Fans Against Sallies Tuesday

Jolted twice in a row the past week by Brown and Conrad, the Newark High cagers face another stiff obstacle tomorrow night when they travel to Archmere, rated the state's top scholastic team in a weekly poll earlier this week.

A victory, however, would send Newark's badly deflated court stock soaring and also balance the season's mark at three and three. Next Tuesday the Jackets will make the season's first appearance before the home fans, playing host to Salesianum, recent victim of Archmere. The game will start at 7:30 p.m.

Despite a valiant last period spurt in which they outscored their hosts, 14-12, the Jackets went down before Brown Vocational, 57-45, on the latter's floor last Friday night. A big lead piled up by the Bruins in the early stages of the game proved too much for the hard fighting Jackets.

Fitzgerald, forward for Brown, took game scoring honors with 20 points, while Bunny Blaney, Newark's ace point producer, was high for the Jackets with 14.

Score by periods:
Newark 15 7 10 14-45
Brown 16 17 12 12-57

Blaney did yeoman's work on Tuesday night against Conrad. He rattled 13 action shots and 10 fouls through the hoop for 36 points and a scintillating individual performance, but failed to lead his team to a victory. The Redskins, working doggedly and steadily, took a 25-15 lead in the opening quarter and were never headed. The Jackets topped them in only one period, the third, picking up five points as they racked up 16 to Conrad's 11.

Newark 15 14 16 15-61
Conrad 25 19 11 15-70

Fifty-four and one-tenth percent of the cows now enrolled in the Dairy Herd Improvement Association in Delaware are registered according to figures just released by Delmar J. Young extension dairyman. The figures were compiled by the Bureau of Dairy Industry in Washington.

Delaware ranks near the top. It is one of ten states in which 50 percent or more of the cows in DHIA herds are registered. The other nine are Ohio, North Dakota, Kansas, Massachusetts, New York, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Indiana, and Maine.

Newark Five Tied For First A Susky League Opens 1951

Six Closely Matched Teams Promise Tight League, Newark Undefeated In Two Starts, Using Elkton Armory As Home Floor

Although off to a late start, the six-team Susquehanna Basketball League with Newark currently tied for first, has launched a full schedule of title play-offs slated to start the last week in February.

In addition to Newark, teams competing in the circuit are: Baldton of New Castle, VFW 2863 of Richardson Park, Delaware City and the Wilmington Chicks.

The Newark five, undefeated so far with victories over Delaware City and the Baldton Rocco's, is riding neck and neck with VFW 2863 at the top of the standings. The local club is again handicapped by lack of a floor for either games or practice sessions. Home games are played at the Elkton Armory.

Returning from last year's Newark AA squad are: Cliff Lee, Leigh Chal-langer, Bobby Tucco, Joe Kubisen and Angie Cataldi.

Newcomers are: Phil Harrison, currently plying the team in scoring and rebound play; Pete Klopp, all Pennsylvania forward from Perkiomen Prep; Buddy Cataldi, ace set-shot man, who played two years at Stout Institute in Wisconsin; Bobby McLeod, six-foot-three forward; Jimmy Knotts, a graduate of Newark High; Frank Porter, also a product of the high school varsity; and Nellie Davis, the best defensive man on the squad.

Jimmy McNeal, who played with Newark last year, has joined the Wilmington Chicks, the 1950 play-off winners. Gene Schaen, Newark's high scorer last year, is performing for the Elkton county seaters.

All six Susky teams are evenly matched this year and a close race is promised, according to Leroy Hill, Jr., manager of the Newark five.

Attendance has been poor at games so far due to the league's late start. Two contests are played every Tuesday and Saturday nights at the Elkton Armory, with the first game beginning at 7:30 p.m. and the second at 8:45 p.m.

This Saturday night Newark meets Elkton in the first game while VFW 2863 faces Baldton in the night cap.

Hoop Highlights

by "Sideline" Sam

After losing 46-33 to P. S. DuPont last week, the Yellowjacket cagers came back to defeat Claymont 54-49 on Tuesday. Blaney dropped in two goals in the last minute for the deciding margin. "Bunny" also copped the evening's scoring honors by collecting nine field goals and five free throws for a total of twenty-three points. The Yellowjackets led at the half 31-20, but the Bulldogs came back to tie it up 49-49; Blaney scored twice.

Knotts, another NHS forward, added twelve points. Glendening of Claymont got seventeen points. The Bulldogs were Newark's third in four games, the only loss being at the hands of P. S. DuPont.

The 46-33 loss to P.S. was a disappointment. Newark was behind all the way. At the end of the first few minutes the score was 12-1. Blaney again was high with fifteen points. The "Dynamighters" outclassed the Yellowjackets all the way. The control of the backboard was about even but the DuPonters were dead on their hand push shots. Although Newark was not expected to beat DuPont, the squad was expected to put up a good fight.

Before the season started Newark was ranked third in the state according to a coaches' poll. The poll was taken again last week and Newark had dropped down to ninth. We can not see how Wilmington H.S. can be ranked above the Yellowjackets with their record thus far. It seems that W.H.S. is still standing on records of past years.

H-Y Team Busy

Newark's Hi-Y basketball team opened its season against Elkton High School this week. The N.H.S. Hi-Y was moved under by a score of 77-31. The halftime score was 38-17. Bill Driskell, Elkton center, was high man with 34 points. George Martin, Newark collected nineteen.

City Schedule Includes Seven Games

The Yellowjackets opened their season on last Tuesday with Elkton High School. The girls will play seven games this year, one more than was scheduled last year. There are twenty-five girls on the NHS squad.

Boys' Intramurals

Intramurals were started last Thursday under the supervision of Walter Matt. The opening game was between the seniors and the juniors; the sophomores and freshmen also played during the same session.

Delaware's Educational Center

When companies like Chrysler Corporation and DuPont are willing to invest millions of dollars around Newark, there must be a reason.

I have been advocating, "Invest your money in Newark!" It is a good safe place.

With the recent turn of events it is more and more apparent that I was right.

There are many opportunities right here and if you can't see them someone else will.

You won't know Newark in a short time. I still have some nice investments, ask me about them.

Anything to sell, give me a call.

Selling is my business.
