

Benefits Of Cubbing In Youth Training Cited By Officials

Pack 55 Offers Youngsters
Chance To Have Fun While Developing As Good Citizens

A small boy is seldom bored. Left to himself he usually finds ways of "having fun." The trouble is he frequently does not see eye to eye with his parents or society at large as to just what is "fun."

One good way for parents to see that their kids have fun and still develop along lines that lead to good citizenship is to enter them in the local cub pack.

In an effort to stimulate greater interest in local cubbing, officials this week released a resume of the work and aims of the program.

The only Newark pack now active is No. 55, open to boys between the ages of eight and ten. Efforts are being made to reactivate pack 56.

The cub pack provides a leisure time program of "things to do for fun and experience at home, in the backyard and neighborhood." The over-all object is to give pre-scout age boys training which leads to scouting. It develops habits and attitudes recognized as essential for good citizenship.

With the help of his parents, the cub advances through the ranks of Bobcat, Wolf, Bear, Lion and Webelos and is awarded appropriate badges. For extra achievements he receives gold and silver honor arrowpoints. The activities are elastic enough to meet the individual needs of the boys.

In the neighborhood den the cubs report progress on their projects, work together and play games. The Den Mother is on hand to help the Den Chief, a boy scout, who plans the weekly program, and the Denner, a cub leader, who guides the boys. Records are kept by the Keeper of the Buckskin. Den Dads assist with the outdoor programs.

Drama Group Play To Open Tonight On Mitchell Hall Stage

Performances Of "Two Blind Mice" Also Set For Friday
And Saturday Evenings

"Two Blind Mice," the play about two delightful old ladies who continue to run a governmental bureau in Washington four years after Congress abolished this establishment, will be staged at Mitchell Hall, Newark, as a presentation of the University Drama Group of Newark on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, February 9, 10 and 11 at 8:15.

One of the Broadway hits of the 1949-50 theatrical season, this comedy by Samuel Spewack is the second major piece of art play to be presented by the University Drama Group during the current season. Last fall the organization produced "The Little Foxes," which was received with much enthusiasm by those who saw the play.

Ruth Alford and Betty Kase will be seen as the two earnest bureaucrats who know their Office of Seeds and Standards has been abolished but bravely pretend that it hasn't. They turn their government checks, avoid answering the telephone and get along by renting rooms to a married couple. (Continued on Page 10)

Series Of Post Articles To Introduce Newark's Teachers

The Post this week begins a series of articles aimed at introducing Newark's school teachers to the community. Each week a short biography, along with a picture, of at least one member of the local school staff will be published until a sketch of every teacher has been presented. The first is carried on page 10.

The preliminary article below is by C. M. Olson, president of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association, and outlines in details the purpose of the series.

Teacher Appreciation
By C. M. Olson

With this issue of The Newark Post, we are initiating a series of biographical sketches, the purpose of which is to acquaint you with the teachers in our schools. Introductions are always in order, and it is our belief that these biographies and background notes will be of interest not only to the school children and their parents, but also to residents of this area who have no immediate ties with the school system. Further object is to stimulate among us now in school, a greater interest in teaching as a profession, whether we realize it or not, the people whose stories will appear on

Pre-School Children Still Being Sought For Fluorine Exams

School Officials Having Trouble
In Rounding Up 3 To 6
Age Groups

A renewed call to parents of pre-school children between the ages of three and six to cooperate in the proposed fluorine experiment here by scheduling their children for free dental examinations at the Newark High School was issued this week.

The testing program, under the direction of Miss Margaret Jeffreys, state hygienist, began last week. All children between the age of three and 10 who live in areas served by the Newark water system are eligible for the free inspection. A record is made of the number of each child's tooth cavities and fillings.

School children, who fall in this age group, are automatically scheduled for an exam. It is the pre-school group which officials report they are having difficulty reaching. A complete record on this group is especially vital to the experiment, since it is the younger children who are expected to be affected most by the experiment.

The examinations will continue all next week at the schools. P-T-A mothers are aiding in the program, acting as receptionists, ushers, recorders and performing clerical work.

PTA Will Discuss Recreation Plans

A general discussion of what is required for a well-rounded community recreation program will feature the February meeting of the Newark Parent-Teacher Association next Thursday at 8 p. m. in the high school auditorium. The speaker will be Norman Ford, community secretary of the Wilmington YMCA, who will also show a film, "Playtown, U. S. A."

The subject is an extremely timely one, in view of the current campaign here to organize a year-round recreation program.

Refreshments will be served following the business meeting by a committee of mothers of fourth grade pupils including Mrs. Clemence Valiant, chairman, Mrs. Arthur Moore, Mrs. Francis Thorp, Mrs. William Campbell and Mrs. James Mullen.

The PTA family party held last Friday proved an outstanding success. The committee, under C. H. Cooper, estimated the attendance at 400. Plans for another such affair are being considered.

Complaints Cause Council To Set Special Meet On Fluorine

Charges That Experiment Is Illegal And Threat To Public Health To Be Heard Monday; Sidewalk
Ordinance Tabled

Charges that the fluorine experiment, equipment for which is now going in, is illegal under Delaware law and a threat to the health of the community were leveled at the Town Council at its January meeting last Monday night.

The protests were lodged by two residents, William B. Swan and Hugh C. Gullidge, who claimed they represented the feelings of a sizeable group of citizens.

Their double-barreled attack took the lawmakers by surprise, and they decided, since they were faced with full agenda for the evening, to hold a special meeting to hear the complaints fully. The session was set for Feb. 13, at 8 p. m.

Mr. Swan contended that in failing to get approval from the State Board of Health for the engineering plans of the fluorine installation, the Council had violated Sec. 864 Revised Code of Delaware, 1935, which states that all plans and additions to water systems must be submitted to the Board for its approval before construction is started. Mr. Swan added that he had checked with officials of the state board and had been told they had not seen the Newark plans nor been informed that the fluorine installation was underway here.

Dr. P. K. Musselman, head of the town fluorine committee, was present at the session and said he also been in contact with the state health board, which plans to send a representative here Feb. 16 to inspect the fluorine installation. He indicated he saw no reason why state board approval for the fluorine machinery plans would not be granted, since the health board stated in writing last summer that, while it would not give outright approval to the experiment, it had no objection to launching it here if the community desired. Dr. Musselman implied Mr. Swan's objections were based on a technicality and have no serious meaning.

Mr. Gullidge, the second objector to the plan, said he would present at Monday's special meeting documented data illustrating the dangers of fluorinated water even when treated at the rate of one part per million, the amount proposed for Newark. He said his object was to give the lawmakers "the negative aspects" of the subject, claiming they had thus far heard only one side of the story.

In further business Monday, the Council unexpectedly tabled a proposed ordinance setting up a plan for laying sidewalks wherever necessary in (Please Turn to Page 9)

Mrs. Frank Fader's Condition Critical

Mrs. Frank Fader, 287 West Main Street, was stricken suddenly Tuesday night and rushed to the Wilmington General Hospital in the Newark ambulance. Hospital authorities yesterday morning reported her condition as "critical."

The report that the ambulance was involved in an accident on the way to the hospital was denied by Charles E. Moore, fire recorder for the Aetna. He said there was "near miss" at Main and Chapel Street, when a motorist advancing from South Chapel failed to heed the siren warning promptly, but no collision occurred.

Top Amateurs Entered In Lion's Skating Festival

A benefit skating festival, featuring top amateur skaters from throughout this area, will be sponsored by the Newark Lions Club at the Merryland Roller Rink, on Route 40, west of Glasgow, on Monday from 8 to 11 p. m.

The proceeds will go to the Lions Welfare Fund.

Elaborate specialty numbers, colorful costumes, fancy figure skating and dance numbers will feature the show. Roller experts from as far away as Washington and Baltimore are entered.

Still's buses will leave the Newark High School at 7:30 p. m. for the rink.

NHS Girl To Compete For State DAR Award

Marian Mayne, Newark High School senior, has been chosen by her classmates and teachers to compete for the Daughters of American Revolution Patriotic Award, presented annually to a high school senior, excelling in patriotism, dependability, service, and leadership.

Miss Mayne will be competing with entries from high schools throughout the state. The winner, to be chosen at the state DAR congress in Wilmington, Feb. 10, will receive the title of the State Good Citizen and receive a $100 award.

In Faculty Play Lead

Mrs. Grace Gibb

Mrs. Gibb will play the lead in "Remember Mama" to be staged by the faculty of the Newark schools March 23-24.

Mrs. Gibb takes the part of Katrin, who tells the story of the play. The comedy opens with Katrin reading her first published story and reminiscing over memorable events in the life of her family. These are dramatized in 13 flashbacks.

Mrs. Gibb, who has had six years training in dramatics and elocution, currently does a great deal of stage work in connection with her popular Modern Dance Group at the high school.

State VFW Officers Guests Of Post Here

State officers of the Veterans of Foreign Wars were entertained last Thursday in the new meeting room of the local post, No. 475, on Barksdale Road. The guests were: John Babiarz, senior vice-commander; Herb Willis, adjutant; and Raymond Loose, past department commander.

Mr. Babiarz gave a talk on membership and its importance to veterans. His remarks dovetailed nicely with those of Mr. Willis, who brought out some important facts regarding hospitalization and other veteran benefits.

Mr. Loose complimented the Post on its efforts in backing projects aimed at community betterment, stressing in particular the harmony that has existed the past three years between the VFW and the American Legion posts in Newark. Mr. Loose expressed the hope this spirit will continue to grow.

Commander Curtis Morrison, of the local post, received congratulations on the progress made toward completion of the new post meeting room.

Deadline For Report On Farm Practices, Feb. 15

Jay Price, chairman of the New Castle County Agriculture Conservation Association, wishes to remind the farmers in this community that February 15th, is the deadline set by the County Committee, for reporting the practices carried out on the farms during the 1949 program year.

Charges Fluorine Installation Flouts State Code Of Delaware

The basis of the somewhat startling charges made by William B. Swan at Monday night's Town Council meeting that the town is violating Delaware law in installing fluorine equipment here is an exchange of letters between Mr. Swan and the State Board of Health.

Mr. Swan made the four letters available to the Post this week, and three are carried below in full.

Mr. Swan charges specifically that the town is violating Sec. 864 Revised Code of Delaware 1935, which states that plans for changing community water systems must first receive the approval of the State Board of Health. Mr. Swan has a letter, which appears to substantiate his stand, from Donald Harneson, director, division of sanitary engineering. The letter says Mr. Swan is correct in assuming the town must get state approval for the installation and adds that no such plans have been forwarded to Dover.

Dr. P. K. Musselman, head of the town fluorine committee, this week minimized Mr. Swan's claims. Dr. Musselman pointed out that as long ago as last summer the state board said in writing that, while it would not give outright approval to the experiment, it would voice no objection to its being

33 Arrests Here In January; Police Nab Sixteen Speedsters

46 Parking Tickets Issued, 15
Investigations Carried Out By Force

Action on the local crime front simmered down in January, with police making a total of 33 arrests, ten less than in the preceding month, according to Chief William Cunningham's report.

Speedsters again proved a headache to the local force. Sixteen motorists were nabbed for violating the 25-mile town limit.

An indication that the Main Street parking problem is still as acute as ever is the fact that 46 tickets were issued over the 31-day period.

Other arrests were broken down as follows: drunk, 3; assault and battery, 2; trespassing, 1; failing to present registration card, 2; passing "stop" sign, 4; failing to report accident, 1; reckless driving, 1; disorderly conduct, 2; assault and battery with motor vehicle, 1.

Police also carried out 15 investigations including four accidents; a report of a child bitten by dog; a hit and run accident which was cleared; larceny of a motor scooter, later recovered; one report of a vagrant begging food. Two cases were sent to the Juvenile Court and two were dismissed.

Overnight lodging was provided two persons. The force handled 173 phone calls, and the police car travelled 4275 miles.

Proceeds Of Rotary Minstrel To Go For Benefit Of Schools

Club Plans $300 Scholarship For NHS Grad, Visual Aid
Grants

The Rotary Club of Newark has decided to donate the proceeds of this year's minstrel show to the educational purposes of the Newark Special School District.

A $300 scholarship will be provided for a graduate of the Newark High School. The conditions will be stipulated later. The balance of the proceeds will be used, insofar as funds are available, to provide a visual aid laboratory for the school system. It is hoped that sufficient cooperation and support by the community will enable the Rotary Club to donate the entire cost of the project, which is estimated to be about $1,000.

At the meeting of the Rotary Club on Monday evening, Feb. 6, Alden H. Burnham was welcomed as a new member of the organization. A nominating committee was appointed for the forthcoming election of club officers. Wilson Price was named chairman and the other members are Ken Steers and William S. Hamilton.

Robert Diefenbacher, personnel director at the National Vulcanized Fibre Company, the speaker of the evening, discussed subject was "Industrial Relations—Unfinished Business." He stated that the Taft-Hartley Act has been subject to a great deal of misinterpretation. He pointed out that the world of industrial relations is essentially a problem of human relations.

The speaker mentioned the fact that all problems of every-day life are subject to interpretations of facts. As it (Continued on Page 10)

How "Highlight" News Is Gathered

The articles for the "Highlights," written by Journalism students, are assigned each Wednesday so they may be ready by the following Tuesday for publication.

Each week the Journalism Class lines up its news and it is distributed to individuals for further information. The students are issued passes by the secretary of the class so the reporters may gather more information about their articles. The articles are written over the week-end and proofread and typed on Monday. Tuesday the finished articles are sent to the Newark Post for publication after they are checked in the office for corrections and additions.

The members of the class choose a student from the school whom they wish to interview to acquaint fellow students with him. A student is written up under the heading "Introducing a Student."

Tuesday, the only free day, is used to study from the text book "Headlines and By-Lines."

George Axinn of U. of D. Speaks To Journalists on Feb. 1

By special invitation Mr. George Axinn of the Agriculture Extension Service of the U. of D. gave a talk to the Journalism Class of N. H. S. on Feb. 1, 1950.

Mr. Axinn is editor of the Delaware Farm and Home Hour presented daily over WDEL, and of the Delaware Farm and Home Magazine. He originally attended Cornell to study agriculture but became interested in Journalism; while there he was awarded a certificate for outstanding work in Journalism. Following his graduation from Cornell he attended the University of Maryland. Mr. Axinn's college career was interrupted by the war during which he spent some time on Guam. While on Guam he wrote articles about Navy personnel for hometown newspapers.

Mr. Axinn gave would-be journalists a hint to help them write better feature stories. He said that illustrated articles sell much better and have more interest than those which are not illustrated. He also said that people like to read about people and therefore pictures add a lot to articles.

David Poffenberger acted as interviewer for the class and also introduced Mr. Axinn.

Dance Assembly

At a dance assembly held on Feb. 1, in the Newark School auditorium, the Modern Dance and South American Dancers, with an interlude of a sonata form, presented several selections.

The first part of the performance was a series of dances by the Modern Dancers expressing the different moods and time signatures of music. With the help of runs, hops, skips and a round entitled "Three Blind Mice," this was demonstrated. Next on the program was an explanation of sonata form and the playing on record of the First Movement of Beethoven's "Fifth Symphony," by Mr. Ernest Wilder.

The second part of the Modern Dance performance was "A Day at the Zoo," danced to the music of "The Dance of the Hours."

The program concluded with a shadow dance to the music of "Fascinating Rhythm." This dance was danced by three of the South American Dancers, including Jaid Santos, Cissie Murray, and Judy Kase.

Speech Experts Talk to Dramatic Aspirants

Correct pronunciation of the English language was given by Mrs. Mary Mullens from Ursuline Academy, an expert of the English language, to the Newark High Dramatic students on Feb. 3.

The entire class period was used by Mrs. Mullens in giving the proper soundings of many frequently used, but mispronounced, English words. "It isn't jaff," stated Mrs. Mullens, "it is laugh, pronounced lawf." Mrs. Mullens continued, "And don't feel badly if someone laughs, when you pronounce it so, for you can be assured that you know more than they."

Mrs. Mullens has devoted her entire life to the study of speech and drama. At the present, she is speech teacher at Ursuline Academy, having held this position for the last nine years. Also, she is president of the Delaware Dramatic Association.

Students Ask Questions

There have been numerous questions discussed among the students at Newark High School and we have decided to make a list of the most important questions and try to get some answers from various students. We have asked both boys and girls so as not to get a one-sided story. A list of these questions and answers are as follows:

Q—What do you think of the boys' basketball team this year?

A—They have a good team. I think Bobby Boutin is a good prospect—one of the best teams—pretty good—super!

Q—What do you think of the PTA movies being shown on Saturday mornings at the theater?

A—An usher says, they make me get up on Saturday mornings; all good movies; enough come to fill the downstairs but they are mostly small kids—don't go to 'em—never go but I think it's a good idea—haven't seen 'em but I think it gives kids something to do on Saturday mornings.

Q—Do you have any idea about different styles or what students should wear to school?

A—Don't like short haircuts on girls; ought to have dungaree days at school; girls ought to be allowed to wear 'em and boys, dresses—styles depend on person and on what they like to wear; some like to get dressed up and some don't—depends on the person and what looks best; they say boys and men are going to start wearing skirts and blouses. I think it's simple! I have no objection to boys wearing dungarees to school—like long hair on tall girls; like the square scarves girls wear around their necks with sweaters; I think boys should dress neater.

Q—What do you think of the senior trip to Washington?

A—Don't mind; I've never been to Washington; I think they'll have fun—I'd rather go to New York; should be more of a pleasure trip instead of educational—rather go to New York; lot of things of interest in Washington; can still have fun if whole class goes no matter where you go—I think seniors ought to be allowed to do what they want.

The Third Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

Is it a crime to give people more good food for their money?

For 90 years A&P has devoted all its energies to this end.

For many months now the anti-trust lawyers from Washington have been giving stories to the newspapers, making speeches and talking over the radio about this company.

They have been making serious and damaging allegations about the methods that enable A&P to give its customers better food values.

We have already told you about other times the anti-trust lawyers made charges against us that were proved utterly false in court.

In the left-hand column on this page you can read what the federal judges had to say about those two cases.

Now we are going to tell you about the third time a federal judge decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

What Has Gone Before

Today's ad is the third in a series telling about times the anti-trust lawyers made serious and damaging charges against A&P that the courts decided were not true.

In the first ad in this series we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, and other good American citizens, conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington. These charges were false.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen tried a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But that was not the only time the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

In our second ad we told you about the time in Wilson, North Carolina, they charged A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, with conspiring to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Here again, as in the Washington bread case, the charges were false.

This was the time Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty".

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So here were two cases in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P, in which the judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

Today, we want to tell you about the third time—this time in Dallas, Texas—the court decided against the anti-trust lawyers.

The Dallas Anti-Trust Suit

In 1942 the anti-trust lawyers went out to Dallas, Texas, 1,400 miles from the homes of most of the defendants, and instigated criminal charges against A&P.

About this case one thing was sure.

Their previous experience did not deter the anti-trust lawyers from making more inflammatory and damaging allegations, just as they had done before.

They made practically the same allegations they are making today.

Federal Judge W. H. Atwell ruled that the case should not even be tried. He said that the indictment contained inflammatory statements that he would not permit to be presented to a jury.

Judge Atwell said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If I thought I was presiding over a court and that I might have to sentence some person because he was a great big fellow, or because he was a Lilliputian, I would feel like resigning. God knows we don't want it ever to occur in America that the size is going to determine whether a man is guilty or innocent."

Judge Atwell also said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If the indictment is not good then it is better to find out before an expensive trial than it is after an expensive trial. I do not think it is good, and thinking that, it is my duty to sustain the demurrers and motion to quash."

In short, Federal Judge Atwell threw the anti-trust lawyers and their case right out of his court.

So that makes three times that the anti-trust lawyers made damaging allegations against A&P. In two of these cases federal judges said they were all wrong. In the third case a federal judge said that the indictment was inflammatory and he would not even permit the case to be tried.

The anti-trust lawyers were not satisfied with the Dallas decision.

Neither were they satisfied with the two other decisions in which federal courts administered stinging rebukes to them.

They were still determined to destroy A&P.

In our next ad we will tell you how they continued their campaign in this case in the Circuit Court of Appeals and subsequent proceedings.

We will show you how, once again, they disagreed with the courts.

Everything that has happened since this suit was filed proves that the American people don't want A&P destroyed.

A deluge of letters from people in all walks of life and thousands of editorials in newspapers and magazines convince us that the public has faith in A&P.

The housewives of this nation, whose patronage has made this company big, are buying from us in increasing numbers and increasing volume.

Our suppliers, whom the anti-trust lawyers allege we have exploited, are rushing to our support.

Labor leaders, mindful of the fact that A&P employees enjoy the best wages, hours and working conditions, are taking a stand against the suit.

Even many of our good competitors, who the anti-trust lawyers allege are hurt by our competition, have taken ads to tell the public that they don't like this attack on A&P.

All this indicates that the American people realize that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency, against low prices and against real competition.

Apparently most Americans do not want to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on any businessman who does a better and more efficient job and grows big in the process.

No one can make them believe it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

Work Of State Home Clubs Is Reviewed; Enrollment On Rise

Seven new home demonstration clubs were added to the Delaware roster in 1949, reports Miss Gertrude Holloway, state home demonstration leader.

Reports now show a total of 75 homemaker clubs in the state, with 2,325 members. Of these, seven are Negro clubs under the leadership of Mrs. Camille Jacobs.

Recently organized home demonstration clubs are: Christiana, Pleasant Valley, Delaware City, George Gray School, Richardson Park, Friendly Homemakers (Dover); and Negro clubs at Harrington and Rehoboth.

Two innovations highlighted the 1949 program: The appointment of Mrs. Esther Alderman as urban home economics specialist; and a campaign to reach young homemakers with information on child care and family relations.

Mrs. Alderman has been working with homemaker groups in the Wilmington area, including four organized home demonstration clubs. She has presented programs in nutrition, food preparation, clothing construction, family relations and child development, also giving emphasis to consumer education on use of Delaware farm products.

A total of 120 meetings were attended by some 1,322 young homemakers, while 151 families were assisted with child feeding problems and 281 with child development and guidance problems. Information related to family relationships was received by 1,755 families, and 1,623 families have been assisted in improving home recreation.

Miss Holloway stresses that the services of the home demonstration agents are available to any families in the county whether or not they belong to an extension group. While the home demonstration program is carried out through organized groups, anyone may attend project schools or other activities.

County home demonstration agents and their headquarters are: New Castle County—Miss M. Katharine Jones, University of Delaware, Newark; Kent County—Mrs. Violet N. Goodwill, Post Office Building, Dover; and Sussex County—Miss Maybelle Ligon, Post Office Building, Georgetown.

County Farmers To Enroll In Program

New Castle County farmers are invited to enroll in the Delaware Greener Pastures Program, which has been developed as a result of Governor E. N. Carvel's proclamation of 1950 as Pasture Year for Delaware.

The purpose of the Greener Pastures Program is to encourage and recognize the work of Delaware farmers in improving their pastures for more economical production. "Greener Pastures for Greater Profits" is the slogan for the program.

A Delaware Pastures Committee composed of chairmen of grain and forage and dairy advisory councils in each county, will carry on the activity of urging farmers who derive a major portion of their income from dairy farming to take an active part in the program. New Castle County members of this committee are: William Reynolds, Middletown and John McVaugh, Little Baltimore.

According to William Reynolds and John McVaugh, the Greener Pastures Program will be in the form of county contests, beginning February 1 and continuing throughout the year. Pastures will be visited at least twice by committee members and judges. Every farmer whose pasture program meets certain standards will be awarded a certificate of accomplishment and membership in the Delaware Greener Pastures Club. Details of the Greener Pastures Program are available from County Agricultural Agent Edward H. Schabinger, who will also furnish rules and enrollment blanks for the contest.

First Of Two Articles Giving Data On Water Fluorination

(Below is the first of two articles presented in an effort to bring the local public abreast of the latest technical information on the question of fluorinating community water supplies.)

The information is particularly timely in view of the controversy currently underway here over the proposed fluorine experiment.

The article below and the one to follow next week are made up of excerpts from a paper by Harry A. Faber, research chemist, The Chlorine Institute, N. Y.

Excerpts from
The Status of Fluoridation in 1949.
Harry A. Faber
(Copyright December 1949 as part of the Journal American Water Works Assn., Vol. 41, No. 12, and reprinted by permission.)

In 1938 studies by Dean disclosed the existence of an inverse relation between dental caries (tooth decay) in children and the fluoride content of the communal water supply. His results showed dental caries experience to be at a minimum when the water contained 1-1.5 ppm. fluoride. This concentration of fluoride ion was found, by examination of over 7,000 school children to be associated with a 50-65 per cent reduction in caries prevalence.

Evidence of the relation between dental caries and the fluoride content of water supplies has been largely based upon studies of children. There have been few data concerning the dental health of adults who were exposed to fluoride-containing water during childhood. The results of a study by McKay provide some evidence that the inhibitory effect of fluoride, once acquired, may be permanent. His study was based on the examination of 400 adults who were natives of Colorado Springs, Colo., where the water supply has a natural fluoride content of 2.6 ppm. and has been in use for about 70 years. Although these adults were found to have mild dental fluorosis, they exhibited an unusually low rate of permanent-tooth loss.

Theory of Fluoridation
An inverse relationship appears to exist between the fluoride content of natural waters and the prevalence of dental caries. Recognition of this relationship led to the proposal that fluoride be added, as a caries control measure, to waters deficient in that constituent.

The control of caries by adding fluoride to a public water supply is based on the hypothesis that the water so treated will have the same effect as one naturally containing fluoride. This hypothesis appears justified by chemical and biological considerations, by laboratory research and by statistical evidence.

At least eight years will be required before a preliminary indication of the full effect of fluoride water on dental caries can be determined—that is, until children have fluoridated water throughout the period of tooth enamel formation (through age eight for all teeth except the third permanent molars).

The validity of the hypothesis can be tested only by carefully controlled experimental studies. Several studies of this nature are now under way, generally planned on an eight-to-ten year basis and directed by specialized technical personnel. The application of fluoride is made under the supervision of the state department of health. Dental and medical studies are made of children in the community, and another community having a similar water supply low in fluoride content is studied as a control.

In the United States, the first experimental studies of water fluoridation were inaugurated in 1945; in January in Grand Rapids, Mich., and in May in Newburgh, N. Y. Both cities employ sodium fluoride as the source of the fluoride ion.

(To Be Continued Next Week)

With the exception of one member, Senator McKellar, of Tennessee, there has been an entire change in the personnel of the United States Senate since March 4, 1917.

Deficit Financing Top Problem Before Congress, Boggs Says

The problem of deficit financing was stressed as the most important basic question facing Congress today by the Hon. J. Caleb Boggs in his address Monday to the Newark New Century Club.

Essential steps in solving this problem, according to Mr. Boggs, would include the full adoption of the Hoover Commission recommendations; a non-partisan study of sources of revenue leading toward greater efficiency and decentralization of power on every level of government; a sound monetary policy; reduction of wartime excise taxes combined with a review of the tax structure to eliminate loopholes and inequities; postponement of any unessential public works to provide employment during a period of recession; and the viewing of all new efforts from the standpoint of ultimate objective and ultimate cost.

Mr. Boggs emphasized that the present unsettled domestic and international picture will have served a good purpose if it results in greater individual awareness of the citizen's responsibilities.

Mr. Boggs was introduced by Mrs. G. Emmett Kauffmann, legislative chairman.

Mrs. Henry Weitz, presiding over the business meeting, announced for the Feb. 20th session a panel on World Federation to be conducted by students of the University of Delaware. Mrs. Milton L. Draper will be chairman of the meeting.

Mrs. W. O. White announced that Mrs. Charles Maddock will take charge of decorations for the Spring Luncheon to be held on March 29. Mrs. George Haney will accept reservations at the next meeting for the luncheon.

Mrs. Allan C. Colburn urged members to familiarize themselves with the recreation program now under discussion as a community project and to give it their active support.

The art display featured prints, silver, and glassware from the antique collection of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ernest.

U. of D. Alumni Will Hear Pennsylvania Sport Commissioner

John DaGrosa Principal Speaker For Annual Mid-Winter Banquet

John (Ox) DaGrosa, Pennsylvania state athletic commissioner and former football coach, will be the principal speaker Feb. 25 at the annual mid-winter banquet of the University of Delaware's Alumni Association.

John N. Russo, chairman of the alumni reunion committee, said that DaGrosa will speak at a dinner meeting to be held at Kent Hall, Newark, as the main event of the day's program, which also will include alumni attendance at various athletic events.

DaGrosa, who played varsity football for four years at Colgate University and received All-America mention in three line positions, was named to head the Pennsylvania athletic commission last year. Recently, he was assistant coach at Temple University, and he also has been associated with the Philadelphia Eagles, with Georgetown University, and with Holy Cross College, where he was head football coach. He has coached the North's team in the annual Blue and Gray game, and took the Holy Cross Crusaders to the Orange Bowl. Having served as president of the American Football Institute, he has lectured at sports clinics in 46 states, and has directed numerous coaching clinics.

During the war, DaGrosa was chief of industrial recreation for war plants, for the Community War Service, and assistant executive director of physical fitness, for the Federal Security Agency. He is author of popular and textbooks on football, including "Functional Football," "Bibliography of Football," "Five-Man Line," and "Football Strategy," a new volume to be published this year.

DaGrosa has been a speaker before many college, professional and business organizations.

Biography Of Saulsbury To Be Published Soon

A biography of the late Willard Saulsbury, Jr., Delaware political leader for 35 years in the late 19th Century and the first quarter of the 20th, is being prepared by Herbert H. Finch, of the University of Delaware's history department faculty.

Mr. Finch has made use of numerous Saulsbury papers which are in the university's archives, but he is in need of aid from Delawareans who have correspondence from Mr. Saulsbury, or who might possess other helpful material, including personal reminiscences.

Active in politics between 1890 and 1924, Mr. Saulsbury was a United States Senator from 1913 to 1919.

Tighten Hold On Third In Susquehanna Standings; Gene Schaan Now League's Top Individual Scorer

Piling up a 12-point lead in the first quarter, the Newark AA swamped Delaware City, 80-53, last Thursday at the Elkton Armory.

The victory was the sixth straight for the local club and gave them a firm hold on third place in the Susquehanna League standings.

Newark plays again tonight, but their opponent has not yet been announced. Delaware City, believe it or not, outscored Newark in the second quarter last Thursday, but the local club still held a 7-point advantage at the mid-way whistle.

In the second half, Newark resumed command, outscoring Delaware City, 47-27, and turning the game into a rout.

Gene Schaan paced the local tossers with 24 points, and was followed closely by Dick Evans, who had 22. For Delaware City, Franny Sullivan was high with 21.

Schaan's 24 points gave him the league individual scoring lead over Bob Cameron of Rising Sun, Schaan, who has scored 184 points in nine games, has a 7-point edge over Cameron.

Jackets Upset, 75-69, By Arch After Drubbing Claymont, 80-36

Archmere Gets Revenge For Previous Defeat; Jackets Brown Tomorrow In Wilmington; Host To Friends Five Tuesday

After ringing up their seventh triumph of the year with a 75-69 win over Claymont last Friday, the Newark High Yellowjackets met an unexpected jolt Tuesday when they bowed to Archmere Academy, 80-36, on the latter's court.

The loss, third in 11 starts for the Jackets, was a surprise since Archmere had proved a docile victim in a previous meeting here.

Tomorrow the Jackets meet Brown Vocational in Wilmington and to the home court Tuesday to entertain Friends School in a matinee starting at 3:15.

States Paid Nearly 2 Billions To Jobless Past Year

States paid out a record $1,700,000,000 in unemployment compensation benefits to jobless workers in 1949, it was announced by the Labor Department recently.

Robert C. Goodwin, director of the Labor Department's bureau of employment security, said both the amount of money paid out in unemployment compensation and the number of persons receiving it set records in 1949.

The $1,700,000,000 expended by state employment security agencies compared with the previous high of $1,100,000,000 in 1946.

An estimated 7,500,000 workers received jobless benefits in 1949. This compared with the previous record of 5,200,000 in 1940.

1950 Ford Truck Models Feature 21 Advancements

The new 1950 Ford truck models are being displayed by Ford dealers in all parts of the country. J. D. Ball, manager truck and fleet sales department, Ford Division, Ford Motor Company, announced today.

The 1950 line, Mr. Ball said, offers more than 175 models, a considerable increase over the 1949 line-up, representing the largest selection of trucks in Ford history.

Featured in the 1950 model trucks are 21 engineering, design and manufacturing advancements contributing to more efficient, economical performance and lower maintenance costs.

Special attention has been paid to engineering improvements contributing to longer life.

Bernard Blaney, Newark Archmere, went all out to stave off the Archmere defeat, pouring 30 points into the scoring kitty. The Archers were denied, however.

Newark overcame a first period lead to lead, 40-35, at the half, but supercharged Archers settled the contest in the third quarter with 23 points against 15 for Newark. They outscored the Jackets another three points in final stanza.

Newark carved out their triumph with mathematical precision, dividing the scoring into neat segments, one for each period and young Harrison found his high gear, wracked up 35 points for a new individual scoring mark for the Jackets. Bill Records was next with 16 points. The Newark Jayvees split their tests for the week, going down to Archmere, 35-29, and taking Claymont, 35-24.

Research Consultant Is Named For Farm Station

The appointment of Dr. Edward Payson Bartlett as research consultant for the Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has been disclosed by G. M. Worrlow, Experiment Station Director.

Dr. Bartlett will study the agricultural research program to the end that basic projects will be suggested in the field of fundamental research, and that projects which have practical application may be further developed and introduced in Delaware's agriculture.

Dr. Bartlett was research chemist and senior research associate at the experiment station of E. I. duPont de Nemours and Co., from 1929 until his retirement in 1949. In addition to 20 years of industrial work, he has spent five years with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and 15 years in teaching science. He is a member of the American Chemical Society and Phi Beta Kappa, and a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Flourine Charges

Dr. Health stated that it would voice no objection to the fluoride solution being added to the water supply as long as it was properly regulated by the personnel operating the water plant. Several towns throughout the country have been adding this chemical to their water supplies for periods of four or five years and the small amount added should never provide any toxic effects.

This is for your information and it is probable that the State Board of Health will not give outright approval to the addition of fluoride to water supplies until such time as controlled experiments now being carried on in other states prove or disprove the benefit of the procedure in preventing dental caries.

F. I. Hudson, Med. D.
Executive Secretary

Jan. 26, 1950

State Board of Health
Dover, Del.

Gentlemen:

I am in receipt of your letter of Jan. 26 relative to the fluorination of the Newark water supply, wherein you state "It is probable that the State Board of Health will not give outright approval to the addition of fluoride to water supplies, etc."

The provisions of Sec. 864 Revised Code of Delaware 1935 are as follows: All plans for the construction of water supply systems and sewer systems or additions thereto or alterations in the existing systems shall be submitted to the State Board of Health for its approval before construction shall be started upon the same.

The statute is mandatory that before construction shall be started on an original water system, addition or alteration to existing system, the State Board of Health shall give its approval, and the fact that the State Board of Health would voice no objection to the fluoride solution being added to the water supply does not under the statute authorize any change in Newark's present water system.

In view of the mandatory provision of the law, please advise what action, if any, the State Board of Health contemplates taking to compel the Council of Newark to comply with the laws of the state.

Respectfully
William B. Swan.

Mr. William B. Swan
20 Tyre Avenue
Newark, Del.

Dear Mr. Swan:

Your letter of Jan. 26 addressed to the State Board of Health has been given to me for a reply.

You are correct in assuming that plans for the construction of water systems or additions or changes to existing systems must be submitted to the State Board of Health for their approval. We had not as yet received such plans from Newark. I did not realize that this installation was beyond the planning stage and had assumed that we would receive such plans before any installation proceeded. Certainly the installation cannot be placed in operation before we have received the plans for our review and recommendations.

We shall inform the officials of the community of the necessity of supplying us with the plans in the immediate future.

Donald K. Harneson, Director
Division of Sanitary Engineering

Council Meeting

The community. The ordinance draft, scheduled for its first and second reading, was shelved on a motion of Councilman Frank Durnall. The draft was aimed at solving a longsome problem by establishing an equitable plan for sidewalk installation. No reason was given for the action, but the indication was that the ordinance would arouse resentment among property owners if they were compelled to pay for sidewalks installed by the town.

Newark will also have to get along for another year with its old assessment valuation, admittedly, bristling with inequities. The lawmakers had planned to take over the new figures for Newark being compiled by New Castle County in its current assessment survey. Mr. Durnall, head of the town assessment committee, reported these figures will be ready in final form in time for the town's June assessment.

Tentative figures, compiled by county experts, would be available, he said, but would not have final approval of the Levy Court. The Council asked Mr.

Durnall for a recommendation from his committee at the next meeting, but he indicated he favored retaining the old town assessment for another year. Mr. Durnall felt that, despite the fact the Council has the authority to check and approve the county figures for Newark and hold its own appeal day, it should wait until the figures are given a final okay by the county. The lawmakers originally decided to use the county figures in an effort to save the town the expense of carrying out a new real estate survey of its own.

The resignation of Robert Neeson, assistant town supervisor, was accepted. No successor was appointed.

Plans for the extension of Haines Street were again held up until the title of the property involved, held by the Biochemical Foundation, could be checked to secure the name of the owner.

Arrangements were made for a meeting between the town's electric committee and officials of the Danita Hosiery Company to hear a complaint from the latter, charging that the town has been incorrectly billing the firm for electric current for a period of two years or more. The date will be at the discretion of the Danita officials. Both sides are expected to bring technical experts to the session, since, if the company should prove its point, the town stands to lose a considerable sum.

Steps toward enforcing the new ordinance permitting Council to cut off electric current when customers fail to meet their bill were approved at the session. A large number of electric light users are scheduled to feel the weight of the new law shortly, it was said.

The town committee was ordered to meet with Solicitor John P. Sinclair to draft a proposed ordinance covering the ticklish sidewalk problems in Read Village. Street width there at present doesn't meet the specifications called for under town regulations and residents want to know where to lay sidewalks to conform to the street line, when, and if, they are extended.

Solicitor Sinclair was not ready with an opinion on whether or not police officers are required by the Town Charter to be residents of Newark, and the question was postponed until the next session.

A draft of an ordinance covering regulations for hiring temporary town employees also was not ready for Council's consideration.

Town Engineer Arthur Hauber reported that the requested survey of needed rights of way for the southside sewer project has been completed. The land required for the lines has been determined, and Solicitor Sinclair was ordered to proceed with negotiations to secure title to the properties involved. These legal steps are essential before actual construction can begin.

No mention was made of the proposal for a town-wide recreation program proposed by the Newark Branch, American Association of University Women.

Construction of a curb and gutter before the Aetna fire house will be awarded to the highest bidder, the lawmakers decided.

Program For Scout Dinner Is Outlined

Court Of Awards, Induction Of Tenderfoots Planned

The complete program for the annual scout banquet to be held Feb. 16 at 6:30 p. m. in the First Presbyterian Church was announced this week.

Following the opening ceremonies and the pledge of allegiance conducted by Sea Scout Ship 250, dinner will be served by Groups 4 and 6 of the Women's Auxiliary of the church. Group singing will be led by Ernest Wilder.

After the meal, tenderfoot scouts will be inducted in ceremonies directed by Troop 56. A court of awards will then be staged by Troop 55. Guests will be introduced by P. D. Lovett, president of the Delaware Council.

The group will then hear a talk by Robert D. Smith, assistant scout executive of the Delmarva Council. The closing ceremonies will be the Scout Oath by Troop 55 and Scout Laws by Troop 56.

The local observance of Boy Scout Week, marking the 40th anniversary of scouting in the U. S., began last Sunday when all local scout and cub units attended church services as follows: cub pack 55, Methodist Church; Troop 55, First Presbyterian Church; Troop 56, St. Thomas' Church; Sea Scout Ship 250, St. John's Church.

A handicraft display is being staged by pack 55 in the windows of the vacant store at 44 East Main Street. Troop 56 has an exhibit in the window of the Newark Department Store. Troop 55 plans an outdoor demonstration.

Several sea scouts attended the Council-wide dance held Friday at the Wilmington New Century Club, where Glenn Skinner, Jr., of Ship 250, was promoted to the rank of ordinary seaman.

Play Opens Tonite

a pants-presser and a rhumba teacher and by operating a parking lot on the grounds.

The cockeyed complications in "Two Blind Mice" center in the wacky efforts of a reporter, to be portrayed by E. C. "Curly" Mahanna, to help the ladies to keep their nice office and pleasant jobs. Assuming command of the office, the reporter drags the Army, Navy and State Department into a giant hoax—a too-secure project, Herbal Warfare, which is to be deadlier than nuclear fission.

Michael A. Kubicek, Milton Valentine, Lt. Col. Layton A. Zimmer and Worth Tracy will be seen as Army, Navy and State Department representatives who are tricked by the reporter's mysterious double talk. Betsy Elliott will play the giddy rhumba teacher and Paul Griffith the pants-presser.

Lois Young will portray the reporter's ex-wife whom he recaptures, and other roles will be acted by Robert Kase, Avery Goddin, Ursula Betts, Lincoln Armstrong, Major John E. Arthur, Jr., Henry Weitz, Carl Jones, Taggart Evans and Robert C. Squier.

Reserved seats for the play are on sale at Mitchell Hall daily between 3 and 5 o'clock and in the evening between 7 and 9. They may also be obtained at the Newark Department Store in Newark and the Greenwood Book Shop in Wilmington.

The University Drama Group's production of "Two Blind Mice" is being directed by Virginia Mahanna and Louise Goddin is the production manager. The setting, which represents what was once the drawing room mansion in a Georgetown home, has been designed by Fred Claffee.

After the Saturday night performance of the play the University Drama Group will hold a party at the Newark Country Club. Notices have gone out to all the members of the University Drama Group inviting them and their guests to attend.

Dr. Rees To Direct U. D. Summer Study

Dr. Carl J. Rees

Dr. Carl J. Rees, director of graduate study at the University of Delaware, has been appointed to direct the university's Summer Session. He succeeds Dr. Allan P. Colburn, who will take office in April as acting president.

Dr. Rees, in his new post, will be in charge of a program which enrolls nearly 2,000 students, public school teachers and others for summer study.

At the same time, it also was announced that the 1950 Summer Session again will utilize the two-term plan which has been in effect for the past four years. The schedule of the two terms of six weeks' duration each was inaugurated to enable many former service men to complete their college work sooner than they otherwise could. Course work is organized so that a full semester of work in any course offered may be completed in six weeks.

Chicken Recipes Are Offered In Leaflet

"Let's Eat Delaware Chicken" is the title of a full-color leaflet just released by the Delaware State Poultry Commission as a means of increasing consumption of Delaware chickens, thereby helping Delaware growers receive higher prices for broilers.

A half-million copies of the leaflet are to be given out during February, announces J. Frank Gordy, secretary of the Commission. It will be distributed through stores, radio, news releases and commercial firms.

The publication emphasizes the versatility of Delaware chicken, pointing out it can be used for frying, broiling or roasting. Featured are the three top prize winning recipes from the National Chicken Cooking Contest held last summer as part of the 1950 Delmarva Chicken Festival.

Illustrative of the types of labor relations that are subject to interpretation, he cited wage classifications, layoffs, seniority and vacations. In controversies which are settled by an arbitrator, the latter must set the dividing line between labor and industry. "We must try to be fair-minded and skip bias in dealing with labor relations," said Mr. Diefenbacher.

Worth Tracy, director of industrial relations at the Continental-Diamond Fibre Company and the Havg Corporation, was program chairman of the evening. He also arranged the program for next Monday evening, which will be a presentation of the problems of labor relations from the standpoint of labor. William E. Teacher Series theatre and, of course at P-Ts. It could easily happen to have mutual interests in your native state, or school, a common bond exists, don't you speak up.

As mentioned earlier, it is to stimulate a greater interest in teaching as a profession. At present there is a severe shortage of trained personnel, and it is from population statistics, that a greater number of teachers are needed in a few years. What are individuals doing about it? It is a responsibility. One thing we can do is to let children that we look upon the profession not only as an able career, but also a desirable one. That can most effectively be through day-by-day appreciation of teachers' efforts and by our work with teachers off the schoolyard.

There are many teachers who serve our schools for relatively short periods of time. We believe the particularly deserving of appreciation and recognition by the general public. To those teachers we say, "Thank you for your many years of service. We hope you will stay with us for years to come." There are, on the other hand, many teachers who are comers. To them we say, "Welcome Newark. We hope you are enjoying your teaching assignments and we hope you will stay with us."

We wish to thank the teachers who have supervised the Newark School district for their cooperation in making the biographical notes and graphs. We wish also to acknowledge with thanks the efforts of P. L. S. who has given freely of his time to serve as coordinator for this series. We are grateful to The P. L. S. for its cooperation in this undertaking.

This was an increase of about 100,000 over Nov. 30. Its investment included $1,920,000,000 in loans to farmers on surplus, $1,725,000,000 tied up in commodities taken over from farmers.
