Chrysler's Tank No. 30,001 Rolls Out of Newark Plant

Special Demonstration Ceremonies Mark Production
Of 30,001st Tank By Chrysler Since 1941 Operation
Began; 2500 Employees, 500 Guests Attend Local Show

Painted all in white, the 30,001st tank produced by the Chrysler Corporation since operations began in 1941, rolled out of the Chrysler Delaware Tank Plant Tuesday afternoon in the wake of Tank No. 1, before 3,000 spectators in Newark.

Undersecretary of the Army Earl D. Johnson told the crowd at the ceremony, "I thank you from the bottom of my heart for the work you have done here."

Johnson related a story told him by Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold, America's top-ranking prisoner of war, to emphasize the importance of the work done at the plant. "I was in the hands of the Japanese during my first year of captivity," he said. "I must take a determined effort on the part of all employees to work such as this to ensure that we are ready to take over."

Johnson represented Secretary of the Army Robert T. Stevens in the program, while also introduced by Brig. Gen. W. A. H. Arnold, assistant chief of Army Ordnance, and Brig. Gen. J. B. Medaris, chief of the industrial division of the Army Ordnance Department. Secretary of State John N. McDowell, Delaware Governor J. Caleb Ferguson, and U. S. Representative J. Edgar Hoover, Jr. were also present.

Johnson, plant manager, said the plant has brought to the attention of many of the added jobs to the plant as well as watching the progress of the work.

Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder volunteer firemen complete fire-fighting chores on top of the roof and big truck's extension ladder at the Brown residence on Elkton Road, Saturday afternoon. Other, ground members of the fire company re-roll an impressive length of heavy hose used in battling the blazing house.

Smoke Overcomes 2 Aetna Firemen At Saturday Blaze

Volunteer Fire-Fighters
Receive Oxygen, Medical Care; Say "No" to Hospital

George W. Smith and Andrew Walp, volunteer firemen of the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company, were overcome by smoke and required medical attention on Saturday.

Fireman Smith was on the first floor of the burning frame building on Elkton Road while the heat and smoke forced him into the open. Volunteer Walp collapsed after descending from the smoking roof.

Chief John C. Cunningham ordered the Aetna ambulance to the scene of the fire to administer oxygen to the two firefighters who later required additional medical treatment at the office of Dr. Howard Armstrong, the volunteer company doctor. Both men refused to be hospitalized.

Fire of mysterious origin broke out at Mac's Family Laundry in Elkton Sunday evening. Aetna dispatched two pieces of fire-fighting equipment to assist the Elkton and North East Fire Companies in controlling the fire. The one-story brick structure had been vacant for the past nine months.

Mayor's Proclamation

Whereas, we live in the age when the importance of education for our children has risen to great heights—heights which show that the education of our youth is essential to the perpetuation of our way of life.

Whereas, "Children in Today's World" no longer dwell in a land isolated from the rest of the world but in a land that must prepare "today's children" for tomorrow's leadership in our own city as well as in broader fields.

Whereas, the week of November 8-14 has been designated throughout our nation as American Education Week, when parents, teachers, and friends of our school children will turn their eyes directly upon our American system of education.

Whereas, all citizens of Newark, who are interested in the important business of educating Newark's youth wish to participate in the observance of American Education Week by sharing exhibits, displays, and numerous other activities related to our school as to learn how the schools of our city may best serve our youth and their community.

Whereas, the Board of Education of the Newark Special School District, its administrative officers, and staff so diligently work, plan, and instruct in order to achieve a better citizenry of our youth.

Now, therefore, I, Wallace M. Johnson, Mayor of the City of Newark, Delaware, do hereby proclaim the week of November 8-14 inclusive as Newark American Education Week and do call the attention of all men and women of Newark to the many valuable contributions rendered to our community by our public schools.

In witness whereof, I, Wallace M. Johnson, Mayor of the City of Newark, have hereunto set my hand this 16th day of October, 1953, at Newark, Delaware.

WALLACE M. JOHNSON, Mayor

In witness whereof, I, Wallace M. Johnson, Mayor of the City of Newark, have hereunto set my hand this 16th day of October, 1953, at Newark, Delaware.

Rankin Gets Council Approval to Employ Local City Manager

Mayor To Take Initial Steps For Employment of City Administrator As Motion Passes By Vote Of 55 To 1; South Side Sewer Contract Awarded To $12,613.30 Bid

"Administration of the affairs of the City of Newark has become big business," Councilman Carl S. Rankin emphasized in a plea for employing a City Manager, at Tuesday night's City Council meeting. "and big business cannot be conducted in a haphazard manner."

Rankin's motion to have the Mayor make the initial contacts for employing a City Manager was approved, with Councilman Wm. Coverdale casting the dissenting vote.

A national association of city managers will be consulted as to salary requirements and candidates for the Newark position.

A City Manager should far more than pay his salary at the very beginning," Rankin said, citing the delay in obtaining additional sources of city water, the pension plan lag, inadequate city service to new areas, and the temporary sewer ordinance, as costly examples of city operation under the present administrative plan.

Commending the City Engineer J. Francis Neide, Rankin said: "We have an engineer who is asked to do both his own work and that of a City Manager. No man can do both."

In objecting to the motion, Councilman Coverdale pointed out that the ordinance permitting employment of a City Manager included no salary stipulation.

"Someone tonight mentioned a salary of $8,000," Coverdale said. "I've heard varying amounts up to $15,000 as the salary proposed for a City Manager, and I feel that some salary range should be incorporated in the ordinance before a man is approached for the job."

City Solicitor John Sinclair gave the opinion that it was in order to proceed with preliminary negotiations but that the ordinance should be amended to include salary limitations.

Sealed bids submitted for construction of a 10,000 ft. south side sewer serving the Orchard and Townsend Roads, and Manns Avenue, south of West Park Place to the Elkton Road, were opened and the low bid of $42,613.30 submitted by James Julian, Inc., Elsmere, was accepted subject to engineering audit and approval.

City Engineer Francis Neide proposed that a standard fee of $100 be established for all sewer lateral line tie-ins with the city system, as an equitable means of cost allocation. The Solicitor was advised to prepare a covering ordinance.

Jack Handoff, representing the Pomeroy Realty Corp., announced that Pomeroy property occupied by the City of Newark electrical substation would be needed, without restriction, to the City.

Handoff presented plans for consideration by the Planning Commission in an effort to obtain a satisfactory site entrance to the Main Street shopping center now under construction. Present plans include two driveways onto Main St.

Newark public school teachers distributed accident insurance circulars yesterday to all pupils.

Initiated by the local PTA, accident insurance may be obtained to cover each child at a cost of $1 per school year with benefits up to $50 in dental and $1500 in medical expenses incurred from any educational program sponsored by the PTA.

Interscholastic athletics are not covered in this insurance program, officials point out, but intramural sports are.

Coverage is provided public school pupils while traveling to and from school, and during the period of regular school hours.

Teachers and school clerical workers are also eligible to participate in this insurance.

Farming Fortunes For '54 Forecast "Fairly" Favorable

Local Economists Return From Washington Meeting With Optimistic Outlook

"Fairly optimistic" . . . that's the viewpoint of University of Delaware farm economists regarding the farm outlook in 1954. These economists have just returned from the annual agricultural outlook conference in Washington, D.C.

Attending the conference were Robert O. Bateman, William E. McDaniel, W. T. McAllister and extension home management specialist, Louise R. Whitcomb.

While admitting there will be some soft spots in farm prices again, the economists believe farming will be fairly good in 1954. Much of their confidence is based on the belief that other segments of our economy will continue at nearly the present levels. This means reasonably full employment, high wage rates and heavy consumer spending for food.

It was pointed out that industry will be making many adjustments which may result in some temporary unemployment, but such things as unemployment compensation, social security and a scheduled reduction in income taxes next year should cushion the shock of these adjustments.

Farmers will continue to be in a cost-price squeeze although no greater than this year, it was believed. This tight position between costs and returns will most likely continue for the next several years. However, there should be plenty of opportunity for attractive incomes among farmers with productive farms and good management ability.

The Delaware economists, and those from other states, were urged to help farmers develop plans and management practices which will provide greater efficiency and lower production costs. This was termed the best way of reducing the effects of the cost-price squeeze.

Vacuum Sweeper Aids Leaf Problem On College Campus

Linden trees that border the walks on the University of Delaware campus present a fall problem. The leaves cover the ground and if left there, they harm the grass during the winter months.

Thomas McAlpine worries about these fallen leaves in his job as maintenance director at the University of Delaware.

Eight maintenance workers are continually working on this foliage problem. It is their job to rake up the leaves and dispose of them.

Their job is made easier by a new machine—an extra large vacuum cleaner. This piece of equipment has rotating blades which suck the leaves off the ground and grind them to powder.

The powdery leaves are blown into a bag and put in a pile to decay. After deterioration takes place they will be spread back on the lawn to help fertilize the soil.

The vacuum will be used at other times of the year. In the winter it will serve as an accessory to the snow plow, sweeping up the remaining snow that sticks to the pavements.

In the spring Mr. McAlpine puts the giant vacuum to work by sweeping twigs, dirt and pebbles off the walks.

U. S. Coast Guard Announces Exams For Candidates

Entrance examinations for the U. S. Coast Guard Academy will be conducted in late February, 1954, the Commander of the Third District announced today. All applications must be postmarked before January 15.

Eligibility is based on a competitive examination; there are no Congressional appointments or geographical quotas, and an applicant must be between the ages of 17 and 22, a high school senior or graduate with 15 units to his credit by June 30, 1954.

The Coast Guard Academy at New London, Conn., prepares their career officers during a 4-year course of academic studies and military training which earns them a bachelor of science degree in engineering and a commission as an ensign in the Coast Guard.

Qualified military personnel may also take the examinations. Inquiries should be addressed to the Commandant (PTP), U. S. Coast Guard, Washington 25, D.C.

CORN SUPPLEMENT

Corn kept under good storage conditions is an excellent source of protein and energy in animal feed. It is supplemented with vitamin A. Good sources of this vitamin are green forage, alfalfa leaf meal or any leafy hay such as alfalfa hay. Grass and corn silage are also satisfactory.

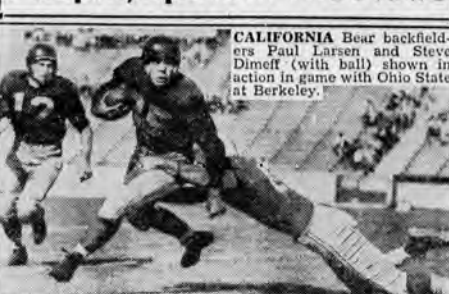

AFTER DARK

If you have to move farm machinery along a highway after dark, provide both your tractor and the towed implement with good lights. Don't leave anything to the imagination of an approaching driver.

KEEP HIM

A father-son partnership agreement may encourage the youth to remain on the farm.

Newark's "Farthest West" View

Completely Modern Home—Air Conditioned—Metal Beams and Frames—4 Bedrooms—3½ Baths—Game (Pool) Room with Bar—Book Room—Conservatory Porch—Work Room—3/4 Acre, Beautifully Planted

Look to the western ridge and beyond, to the Maryland line, 2½ miles away. Revel in these gorgeous, unobstructed views. Soak up the fresh, clean air that moves in from the lovely, open country. Air that keeps this "farthest out of Newark" home ten to fifteen degrees cooler than the average temperature of "downtown." And, when the going gets really rugged, turn on the air conditioning (there's a 5-ton and a 5-ton unit—both GE). There are controls on all three floors. Last summer, when the mercury climbed to 101 degrees in the shade, this home was 73 degrees cool. And the air was DRY and luxuriously comfortable. During "in-between" temperatures the electrically dehumidified "coolth" of the basement, passed through the house with the heater's blower system, gives relief without use of the GE units.

Built only five years ago, this house is of solid brick, painted white. Its architecture is beautifully simple. No gewgaws. Not a cubic inch of waste space. It is wonderfully light—47 windows, all equipped with draw curtains. Not a pull shade or venetian blind in the house.

There is a 13½-ft. x 27 ft. living room, with fireplace. And a Tremont window, 14 ft. x 5 ft., frames the lovely western view. Two other "ventilation" windows. The dining room, like all other "living quarters" of the house, faces west—to the view. Has a five-window flat bay. Book room, west and north, has eight bays of adjustable shelving to accommodate 1500 volumes. It has five windows. Guest room with clothes closet and stall-shower bath, beautifully tiled. Kitchen is completely modern. Electric stove, refrigerator, dishwasher, washing machine with extra "rinser," sink. Disposal. Large cabinets—all metal. Store closet. Maid's toilet. Huge closet in the outer hall. Conservatory porch has east, south, west exposures. Eleven full-length screen panels, which give way to double (twin) glass in winter. Porch frequently climbs to 85 degrees when it is freezing outdoors. The sun basks and the flowers (we even have orchids) love it. They throw a riot of bloom all winter. The garage is an over-sized two-car job, with overhead door, electrically controlled (emergency stop).

The master bedroom 15½ ft. x 22 ft., has six windows—three facing south, three west. Its (private) bath has a tub as well as a glass-doored stall shower. (All showers have Speakman mixing valves). Three linen closets in master bedroom. Two closets in hall, one cedar-lined. Two other bedrooms, the larger having five windows. All bedrooms on the second floor have two, extra large, closets. Extra bath has three windows, shower over tub. Large store space in this bath.

The hardware throughout is of the latest type. Circuit breakers. All switches are mercury (silent) type. Two oil-burning heating plants. Forced hot air. Two thermostats one for each "end" of the house. Well-insulated. Fuel consumption about $200 a year. The house recently was redecorated. Just for "change of scenery." It is in apple-pie order.

In the basement there is a game (pool) room, 15½ ft. x 40 ft. Bar. Space for pool table, ping pong table, TV (two arials, since we have an extra TV in the boys' bedroom), radio, etc. etc. And some space left over for dancing. There is a work room, 14-ft. x 30-ft. It has a deep-freeze (all appliances mentioned included in the purchase). And it has proper space for storage of window screens and for storm windows. Also, ample space for "beekum-around." The heater room contains the air-conditioning units as well as the heaters. There's space left over for trunks and what not. The house has a properly-designed termite shield.

Fully screened and storm washed throughout. House screens are steel, conservatory porch screens aluminum.

The grounds are a joy. Owners (who designed and built the house) are garden hobbyists. Climbing roses, floribundas and wisteria interlace on the (metal) fences. Formal flower beds, full of perennials, bulbs etc. More than ample space for vegetable and for cutting garden. Marvelous stand of raspberries. Second cutting fruits well into November. Frontage on Eriar Lane of 218-ft. depth 150-ft. Better than 2½ acres. More ground can be had in the rear. Property can be increased to three acres, total, if desired. Annual taxes on present holding, $234.04.

The selling price is $65,000. This is based on actual costs. Not just an "asking" price. Brokers protected. James G. Lewis, 102 Briar Lane, Newark 6609. Drive west on Newark's Main Street. Cross the B&O tracks. Briar Lane is the second street on the left, after you pass the Country Club. 102 is the second one on your right, after Dallow Road.

WE hear tell that there's a Maharajah or something in Asia who is paid as much gold as he weighs. No doubt he has money to burn. But for us more ordinary people money is pretty hard to come by. PLYWOOD serves you in many ways

Inside or outside your home, no building material can match plywood in all-round utility. It's 1952 "lumber fashion." Panels suitable for both interior and exterior work are available. All our plywood is good, clean stock in standard sizes and thicknesses. Here are some of the more popular applications for these easy-to-use plywood panels:

Ceilings. Nothing better for that extra room in attic or basement.

Partitions. When you divide a room, plywood is your material.

Paneling. Ever popular and practical for this purpose.

Cabinets. Durable and easy to use in making cabinets.

Sidewalls. Exterior type plywood, practical and economical for this use.

Floor foundations. Are good as base for asphalt tile and similar material.

Now is the time to check your property—and that includes any business property you might own—for necessary repairs or renovation. Chances are that plywood will be at the top of your list of materials.

Single, all masonry construction on 60' x 120' lot

Obviously, our homes are not old fashioned in the sense of being outmoded. On the contrary, they're as modern as tomorrow with every present day convenience.

We say they're "old fashioned" because they have 4 bedrooms, 2 baths and a full size basement with an outside cellar entrance that rings with old fashioned integrity. The individual, large sized lots give you old fashioned freedom. The homes are sturdily constructed, including old fashioned thick, hardwood oak floors, structural steel I beams (found only in better homes), poured concrete foundation walls, 8" thick, assuring you a moisture-proof, water-proof cellar.

I also have two specific hints to think you'll find helpful in picturing pets. 1. The animal will look at its best when the camera is held at its own level or better. Still, where possible, at a level below shooting up. 2. Get in close to the subject. Here, a close-up, good camera comes in handy because only a better lens produces a sharp image under five feet. You can get around this, problems however, by fitting a portrait attachment over your regular lens.

A parting word. If your pet is particularly uncooperative, don't aggravate yourself. Put your equipment away and try again another day.

Nelson Near Banner Season With 5-1 Log, Three To Go

"Little Admiral" Headed For Top Season In Third Term As Delaware Head Football Coach; Ex-Michigan Star Was 150-lb. Backfield Mate Of Tommy Harmon

Delaware's popular head coach, Dave Nelson, is having one of the best seasons in his brilliant coaching career. With three games remaining on the Blue Hens' nine-game card, the ex-Michigan halfback has brought home five winners in six starts and has developed a crowd pleasing, razzle-dazzle attack that has kept the Delaware eleven among the scoring leaders of the East.

Nelson can well be proud of the team he has built in his three seasons at the University of Delaware, for upon his arrival, the Blue Hens had just emerged from their worst campaign since 1929.

Many Delawareans are aware of the background of Delaware's youthful director of athletics without knowing the particulars of his own sports career.

Nelson was born in Detroit and entered the University of Michigan in 1928, where he was a gridiron teammate of the great Tommy Harmon. Nelson played halfback during the days when it was rare to find a 150 pounder in college backfield.

He was also chosen by the University of Michigan School of Education as a William J. Payne scholar from 1946-47 in recognition of "unusual academic proficiency and the maintenance of high professional ideals."

Frequently referred to by sports followers as "The Admiral" or "Little David," Nelson also starred as an outfielder and shortstop on service and college baseball teams and was tabbed by Mickey Cochrane, coach of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station, as a prospective major leaguer.

Nelson still holds the Big Ten record in a tie with Hoot Evers, now of the Detroit Tigers, for the most runs scored in a season. He was also asked to join the Philadelphia Eagles professional football ranks, but declined to enter the play-for-pay game.

Following his graduation, Nelson served for 41 months in the Navy and picked up three battle stars for his participation in major campaigns of the Pacific Theatre.

He returned to Michigan as freshman baseball coach and completed work on his master's degree. Later he served as director of athletics and head football coach at Hillsdale College, backfield coach at Harvard, and head coach at the University of Maine. In only one season did he ever lose more games than he won and at every school his record has been a winning one.

In his opening season at Delaware in 1951, he turned the Blue Hens' 2-5-1 loser to a 5-3 winner. He beat Lehigh for the first time in Delaware's history and lost only to powerful teams from Temple, Connecticut, and Bucknell. Last year, because of an unusual number of injuries, the Blue Hens topped only four victories, but closed the season with a sensational upset of Bucknell's Blisens engineered by Nelson and his coaching assistants, Mike Ludo, Gene Stauber, and Irv Wisniewski.

Paddy Young Back In 10-Round Prep For Bobo Olson

5th Ranked Middleweight
To Meet Sammy Giuliani
In Friday Night TV Bout

Hoping for another crack at Bobo Olson and the middleweight championship, Paddy Young returns to the ring wars in a ten round bout against Sammy Giuliani to be nationally telecast and broadcast Friday night on the Cavalcade of Sports.

The bout, on NBC's TV network and ABC's radio network, will start at 10 p.m. New York time.

This will be Young's first fight since he dropped a 15 round decision to Olson last spring when the two fought it out for the right to meet Randy Turpin. Olson took the world's crown when he met Turpin recently.

Ranked fifth in the middleweight class, Young has met all the good ones and beaten most of them. His record shows 35 fights, with 44 wins, eight losses and three draws. He has scored 21 knockouts.

In Giuliani, Young is meeting a fighter who has copied decisions in four of his last five fights. A busy two fisted body puncher, Giuliani has had 37 fights, winning 28, losing eight, with one draw. He has scored eight knockouts.

Dusting 'Em Off

By
E. A. RAUGHEY

This past week saw the appointment of Art Ehlers as General Manager of the Baltimore Orioles. It turns out that he had no contract with the A's but had been working on a year to year basis. So he was given the blessing of the Mack clan and told that they would not stand in his way.

The Chicago White Sox came off with 1953 fielding honors in figures just released by the American League. They also showed, for the enlightenment of Mr. Lopez at Cleveland, that his ball club was not too hot when it came to fielding. Another odd statistical fact was that Fann and Robinson, traded for each other, came up with identical averages. Fann made more assists and Robbie drove in more runs. Take your pick.

"Big Swish" Retires
This past week saw the retirement of Bill Nicholson, one of the Philadelphia Phillies' stalwarts. Stricken last year with diabetes, he made a great comeback this year as a utility outfielder and pinch-hitter. Known around the circuit as "Swish," for the terrific cuts he took at the ball, this was his 15th year under the big top. He first came up as an outfielder with the A's about 1936. But Mr. Mack could not see any immediate greatness in him for a couple of years. Then the Chicago Cubs brought him up and this time he stayed.

A long ball hitter he soon was the toast of the Cubs and broke many a game with a hit in the right place.

About the most famous of his hits, was the bases loaded homer he hit against Brooklyn that threw the National League race into a dead lock with the Cards. With this one stroke, Bill proved that pro baseball is honest, for the Cubs had no interest in who went into the Series at that late stage.

Now he goes back to his farm on the Eastern shore to replay his career in his memories. Maybe some club in need of a coach or manager will beat a path to his door, for Bill really belongs in the ball and would be a strong addition to any coaching staff.

Out West
Out on the Pacific Coast club-owners have done an about-face. Last year, with a great big lot of noise, they announced that they wanted no option players from the big bad majors. Well, now the boys have decided that maybe they were a wee bit hasty, and for 1954 each club may carry five optioned players from the majors. But no working agreements can be entered into between any PCL and major league club.

The bug that seems to have bitten all these clubs out there is the bug that seems to have taken into the majors some bright day real soon. If it should happen to Oakland they already have a major league manager—Chuck Dressen.

The big minor league meeting will be held in Atlanta this month. The majors will also hold their draft session at this meeting. A big fight is brewing within the minor group about players being optioned to their clubs and a lot of the smaller leagues want no part of it. However the boys seem to have lost sight of the fact that in order to survive, the majors and minors need each other. The majors need the minors to put a polish on the boys they have under contract and the minors need the majors for player and financial help in putting a team on the field.

New Orioles
The minority stockholders of the St. Louis Browns have dropped their suit to force an accounting from Bill Veeck. He threatened to drop the whole thing into bankruptcy and that would have thrown the sale in the air. But now the way is cleared for the Baltimore interests to take over. Everyone seems to be happy over the move, but they are still the same ball club that finished on the bottom of the American League.

Marty Marion, the manager on the field, has another year to go on his contract, so he is just sitting back waiting to see if he works next year or not. The club is already paying one manager—Roger Hornsby—not to manage, but maybe they would like to have another on the payroll.

Big Six
Delaware is on top of the heap after their fine victory of last Saturday and should have an easy time of it this week against PMC. They should have a little easier sailing this month and wind up the season as champions of the league.

The Penns are playing host this Saturday to the No. 1 team of the country, Notre Dame, after which they get back in their class and take

Globetrotters Play Saturday Twin Bill At Convention Hall

Trotters To Feature 7-Ft.
Walter Dukes, Unanimous
All-American Choice In '53

Walter Dukes, 7 foot rookie sky-scraper of the Harlem Globetrotters, who will oppose the Sphas at Convention Hall on Saturday night, Nov. 14th, as part of a double-header also featuring the Philadelphia Warriors versus the Fort Wayne Pistons, finds that breaking into the professional court ranks isn't as easy as he thought it would be.

The most highly publicized court star of the past decade when he was breaking records at Seton Hall College, Dukes found it difficult to work into the intricate ball handling type of play exemplified by the famed Globetrotters. The three months tour of Europe, North Africa and the Near East this summer helped to fit Dukes into the Globetrotters pattern, but he is still learning.

Conditioning himself to pro-ball is not just Walter's only problem. His cross-country journeying with Abe Saperstein's outfit presents a housing problem.

"My height may be a great advantage on the court," explains Walter, "but it also has its drawbacks. I have to stick my feet out in the corridor on sleeping cars and rarely can I find a hotel bed big enough to accommodate me. The Trotters have helped me along by getting me a room with twin beds whenever possible. I put the beds side by side and sleep diagonally across them."

Dukes has to have all of his clothes made special for him. Likewise his shoes. He takes size 16. To many basketball fans throughout the country, Dukes was only a court legend—they never had the opportunity of seeing him, but had heard and read about him. Now, however, one of college basketball's all-time greats is showing the talent that enabled him to average better than 20 points per game during his three year varsity competition at Seton Hall.

Last season, his senior year, Dukes was named to every All-American team, averaged 26.3 points per game, and had a 48 per cent success on shots taken from the floor. In addition, the seven footer from Rochester, New York led his team to the championship of the National Invitational Tournament and was named the most valuable player.

Army and Cornell
After coming out of Philly has the boys forming their own league with the schools playing each other. And the Eagles are flying high after a slow start and if someone could link the Cleveland Browns, that game in Philly on December 13 could tie up the whole thing and force a play off.

Newark To Meet Laurel On Friday As 7th Opponent

Yellowjackets Lose 25-6
Home Stand To Claymont;
Schuyler Scores Touchdown

The Newark Yellowjackets suffered their third consecutive loss last Friday evening as the Claymont Indians invaded Newark and handed the Jackets a bad evening and the short end of a 25-6 score.

Claymont's Carl Weir raced around end for 55 yards and the first Indian touchdown to the defenders' dismay. Weir followed the Indians' major offensive thrust, the Claymont's lone extra point placement.

In the second quarter, the Indians struck the Jackets with two more smashes in the end zone and at the half the visitors romped to the clubhouse on top of a 19-0 contest. George Seagraves drove 20 yards through tackle for the second touchdown and as the half ran out, so did he—out in the clear for 75 yards and the third big score.

Larry Dean enfolded a pass from Jimmy Pyle on the Newark 30-yard line in the third quarter, and galloped into the end zone to end the Claymont scoring.

Early in the final period, Newark enlivened their fans when John Edmondson broke away for 21 yards to bring the Yellowjackets into scoring position.

Jake Shaw eluded the charging Indians long enough to rifle a pass to Pete Schuyler and Schuyler cashed in the lone Newark touchdown.

The Yellowjackets take on their seventh opponent in Laurel at home on Friday night at 8:15.

Newark High has a current record of 2-1 after dropping the Elkton opener, 13-0, and dropping Brown and Dover, 13-0, and dropping decisions to Wilmington High, Wm. Penn. and Claymont.

Hens Rate With East's Best After Win Over Muhlenberg

Delaware Overpowers Muhlenberg, 18-6 In Fifth Win
Before Homecoming Crowd; Hens In Final Home Stand
This Saturday With PMC Cadets At Delaware Stadium

When Delaware's Fightin' Blue Hens made their last goal line stand Saturday afternoon before adding the clinching touchdown in Muhlenberg's 18-6 defeat, they proved conclusively that they are one of the East's most powerful small college teams.

Take a look at Delaware's 5-1 season record and see what the Blue Hens have accomplished. In the opening game, the Hens took on a powerful team from Gettysburg College—a team which has now won five consecutive games and leads the East in points scored.

The Blue Hens' sensational running back Joe Ujober leads the East in rushing and was considered the visitors' major offensive threat. Against Delaware, Ujober gained a net of ten yards, and Gettysburg scored seven points, as the Blue and Gold won its first game, 19-7.

In the second game, a powerful Lehigh team which had barely been edged by Columbia, 14-7, in the previous week, came to Delaware and was trampled, 26-13.

Lone loss of the year, and undoubtedly one of the major small college upsets was Delaware's loss to West Chester in the third game of the season. The rugged Rams, who regard Delaware as the big game of their schedule, scored twice in the fourth period to break a 13-13 tie.

One defeat could not halt the Hens. They rebounded by smashing previously unbeaten New Hampshire, 48-0, handing the Wildcats their worst defeat since 1922. Billy Pappas, the highly touted New Hampshire quarterback, was rushed so viciously by the hard-charging Blue Hens line that he completed only six of seventeen passes and lost fifteen yards rushing in the first away game of the season.

In the first away game of the season, the Hens took on Muhlenberg, 18-6.

Delaware Blue Chicks Lose
To Lehigh By Extra Points

Lehigh scored a pair of touchdowns complete with extras in the first quarter at Bethlehem, Friday, to hand the Delaware Blue Chicks their first loss of the current grid campaign.

Coach Jimmy Sullivan's warriors rallied with a touchdown in the second quarter and stabbed Lehigh with another in the final period, but both attempts at the extra point failed, and that proved to be the difference.

Seniors Rehearse 'Huckleberry Finn' High School Play

Robert McAlpine Has Lead Role As Huck Finn; Marcel Bernier Plays Tom Sawyer

Seniors of Newark High will present "Huckleberry Finn," the old thrilling and hilarious story, by Samuel Clemens, on Nov. 20 and 21, and Robert McAlpine has the lead role as Huckleberry, while Marcel Bernier portrays Tom Sawyer.

Mary Jane, Huck's girl friend, will be played by Margaret Rowe and Jackie Chickey is working hard in her role as Ruth Watson. Henry Willis will act as Fred Raymond, who is in love with Ruth. Gail Lambert plays the part of the very high-strung Aunt Polly, and Jimmy Marvel has the role of John Finn.

Joan Parker acts as Melba, the maid, while Jackie McLean and Judy Lane play the parts of Clara and Amy Woppley.

The entire play takes place in the living room of the Watson home in Missouri.
