WAR SERVICE MEETING IN WOLF HALL

Prominent Speakers Urge Citizens to Measure Up To Call of the President

"Help boost the Liberty Loan, with your enthusiasm and your dollars," was the keynote of the War Service Meeting held in Wolf Hall last Tuesday evening. Dr. Mitchell presided at the meeting and Judge Ignatius C. Grubb, Henry R. Isaacs, and Josiah Marvel, of Wilmington, were the speakers.

"Although laboring under the handicap and ills of seventy-six years," Judge Grubb declared, "I assure you that I feel tonight all the zeal of the patriot of 1776." He called the attention of his hearers to the fact that with only ten more days in the campaign, the second Liberty Loan is only one-third subscribed, and urged everyone to contribute to the sacred cause of Liberty.

Mr. Isaacs, a former Rhodes scholar to Oxford, England, from Delaware, in an eloquent address, dwelt upon the thing we are fighting in this war: the absolute disposition on the part of a nation to follow its own course at all costs. "We are fighting not a people, but a scheme of life," he said; "we are fighting a philosophy, the foundation of which is the idea that the only ghost of politics is absolute power; that the only political sin is weakness; a philosophy which means nothing less than absolute world dominion."

"I do not doubt," Mr. Isaacs said, "that were we to go to Berlin and open the secret drawers of the war department, we would find along with the plans for seizing Paris, and Belgrade, and London, plans for seizing New York and Washington. Something must be done. The call comes from Europe—from France, from Italy, from England, from Russia—to you and to me. I can say from the bottom of my heart I believe comes to every one of us; your country, your country, your country is at stake. We must get on the job. We know not where we are in this day and generation. We thought we were living in the midst of civilization, and behold the most inhuman atrocities the world has ever known.

"And to fight this thing we must raise great armies and navies, build ships and aeroplanes, and clothe and feed the people. Wouldn't it be a burning shame for us to fail to furnish all these things? What would it mean if on the 27th of October the word should go abroad that America had not measured up to her contract. I earnestly believe such word would seriously impede the successful progress of the war. Certainly it would put an everlasting blight upon every effort of the government."

"Out of this war there will come this great compensation—a great step forward toward the time when nation shall stand by the side of nation, and humanity and brotherhood shall prevail. Be able to say when that time comes, 'I did my bit.' We can all do our bit. I plead with you to see to it that your duty and complete obligations are discharged."

Mr. Marvel, chairman in charge of the local Liberty Loan campaign, the last speaker, insisted that everyone see to it that every man, woman, and child who can will buy that Liberty bond before next Saturday week. Twelve million is the apportionment of New Castle County; seven million has been subscribed; there are five million to get in ten days. "We would not if we could," Mr. Marvel said, "have the amount met by one man; but rather by 10 thousand men, who are ready to hold up their hands to the President, to the commander-in-chief of our armies, and say 'I am ready to stand back of you,' so as to make that community the very pride of the State."

"I am about to ask you to prepare," Mr. Marvel said, "for a great food conservation campaign. I suppose there are few families in Newark who could not save a (Continued on Page 4)

None of the cards bearing the first three numbers drawn had been returned. At a second drawing results were as follows: 1st, No. 2274, Mrs. Walter Plumley—prize, electric reading lamp; 2nd, No. 2407, Mr. C. F. Myers, K. A. LOCAL DEMOCRATS RE-ELECT VANSANT

Opposition To Isaacs For Chairman Apparently Withdrawn

White Clay Creek Hundred Democrats at a meeting held last night re-elected Isaac Vansant of Newark a member of the County Committee from this hundred. Paul Murray of Christiana was also placed in nomination but on ballot, Mr. Vansant was elected.

Pencader Hundred Democrats last week elected T. Roseby McMullen on the County Committee from that Hundred. While there were indications some days ago of a fight between the Saulsbury and Anti-Saulsbury factions of the party for the County Chairman, it is now reported that Henry R. Isaac of Wilmington, will be re-elected to head the County Committee with little if any opposition. It was first reported that Senator Saulsbury would oppose the re-election of Mr. Isaacs because the latter had refused to pledge himself for the re-nomination of the Senator next year. Mr. Isaac is said to have refused to make any pledges this far in advance of the campaign.

The only other possible candidate for County Chairman who has been spoken of to late is former Levy Courtman William A. Scott of Townsend. Mr. Vansant, who was elected a member of the County Committee from White Clay Creek is said to be favorable to the re-election of Mr. Isaac.

In White Clay Creek Hundred the following hundred committee-men were elected: First District, James Brown, John T. McKeown, Howard Lynam, William E. Hayes, and Robert Crow; Second, James Ring, P. J. Ewing, Leslie Hill, Frank Widdoes, and Charles Porter; Third, James R. Marshall, Paul Murray, Allen Morrison, W. T. Boyce, Charles Barrett and William Cannon.

The following hundred committee was chosen in Pencader: Stephen O'Rourke, Oliver Rambo, Thomas J. Green, Newton McGarrity, John Sartin, and William Bigger.

STUDENTS HAVE GREAT BONFIRE

Take Day Off And Celebrate Haverford Victory

Delaware College students on Monday night jubilantly celebrated with a bonfire and parade the first victory the Blue and Gold football team has won over Haverford in 16 years. On Saturday Coach Baumgartner's team defeated Haverford 7 to 0 after a hard fought game. This was the first win for Delaware over Haverford since 1901 when the team which was captained by John W. Huxley, now a Wilmington lawyer, defeated the Scarlet and Black at the Front and Union streets grounds, Wilmington, by the score of 6 to 0. In between there were several tie games.

The entire student body was excused from all classes on Monday to prepare the bonfire and they put in a busy day of it. The bonfire was held on the new college campus between Wolf Hall and the Women's College and the blaze could be seen for many miles. Several hundred alums, and relatives and friends of the students came to Newark to watch the celebration. The torch was applied at about 8 o'clock.

As soon as President Mitchell announced yesterday morning that they would be excused from all classes practically the entire student body having waited on him to make the request, the plans for the celebration were started. It was a great day for the "Sophs" as it gave them the opportunity to boss the "Freshies." The Freshmen were divided into teams with a Sophomore as team captain, and members of the upper classes directing the entire work. Wagons were borrowed and in these the students hauled the boxes, barrels and any kind of material that could be secured. Three large trees were chopped down three miles away and carted to the scene of the bonfire. At 7.30 o'clock the band came out and started a short parade. By this time there were a large number of visitors in automobiles on the campus and along Depot Road.

As soon as the torch was applied the Freshmen started a snake dance around the blaze after which the cheer leaders got all the students together and gave the college yell. Near the end of the celebration the students found Coach Baumgartner in the crowd and he was made to mount a large box and make an address. Baumgartner commended the work of the team against Haverford and said if the players fight that hard in every game they will be sure to win. Captain Ernie Wilson and other members of the team also made short speeches. Dean E. Lawrence Smith, president of the Athletic Council, was the last speaker.

Red Cross Hours Changed

MORE WOMEN URGED TO WORK

A meeting of the Newark branch of the Red Cross was held last Thursday afternoon in the Elliott building. By vote, according to previous announcement, it was decided to make no change in headquarters. The rooms, however, will be open hereafter from two to five each day instead of in the forenoon, as previously. Chairmen of various circles throughout town will be in charge on the following days: Monday, Mrs. C. B. Evans; Tuesday, Mrs. Moore; Wednesday, not yet assigned; Thursday, Mrs. J. H. Hossinger; Friday, Mrs. Daniel Thompson; Saturday, Miss Beck.

Although the secretary reported a membership of 473, only forty are at present engaged in sewing or knitted work, and an earnest appeal is made to the two hundred or more women who have not done their "bit" to call at headquarters for work.

The treasurer reported expenditures for drugs and supplies for the comfort of the men stationed at the Newark Army this summer, and for comfort bags, amounting to over $1.50, and a balance on hand of $969.60. Twenty-nine dollars was realized from the sale of old papers collected a few weeks ago. Letters of appreciation were forwarded to the Firemen for their generous contributions and also to Mr. Lee Rose for handling the old papers.

Miss Beck, chairman of the Soldiers Comfort and Recreation Committee, has collected to date 450 jars of fruit and pickle. Many housewives have not yet been called upon and the collections will be continued until the entire town is canvassed. The fruit will be turned in to Wilmington headquarters. Already fifteen hundred jars have been forwarded from here to Camp Dix. The remainder will be held, subject to calls of either military or civilian relief.

Miss Gertrude M. Blodgett, recently appointed State Leader of Home Demonstration Agents, to succeed Miss Jefferson, resigned, will enter upon her duties on the 22nd of this month.

The bride and groom were unattended, only the parents of the former witnessing the ceremony. The bride wore a dark blue traveling suit, trimmed with fur.

Following a wedding supper at the home of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Haney left on the 6.23 for Baltimore, where they remained for a few days, later visiting friends at Hagerstown, Maryland, and in Chester County, Pennsylvania. They will be at home on Cleveland Avenue, after November the first.

NEGRO STABBED TO DEATH

Result of Fight At Barksdale

Elijah Burley, Negro, aged 22 years, died at Newark on Friday as the result of a stab wound in the breast inflicted during a fight a short time before at Barksdale, Md., which is just over the Delaware State line. Burley was employed by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, and lived in the construction camp at Elsmere. He and other men were sent to Barksdale Friday morning to do some work along the railroad and shortly before noon a fight was started. Burley was stabbed during the rumble by a man who is said to have escaped. The injured man was brought to Newark but he died before a physician could be summoned. The body was taken in charge by Undertaker Jones, and shipped to the home of his family in Virginia.

FARMER RESENTS ATTACK OF EVERY EVENING

Officers To Show Records of Twenty-two Years

Editor Newark Post.

Dear Sir: In your issue of October tenth you had a short editorial on the Every Evening's war on the farmers who attend King Street market; in their Saturday issue they have a full column editorial, mostly of abuse of you and the farmers, but they now include the city people who buy the produce. Truly the fight waxed interesting. As the Mayor has made charges against the Grange, and the Every Evening claims to have proof of a criminal conspiracy to boost prices and threatens an appeal to the Federal authorities, why don't they quit talking and act? The courts are still doing business at both the County and Federal buildings. If the Every Evening knows the grangers who traverse the markets to fix prices, let it name the men; if it knows farmers who cart stuff home to keep up prices, let it name them also. If it can't do that let it publicly apologize for the charges.

The editor of the Every Evening says the farmers who attend King Street market are not gentlemen (the editor of the Post is included in this). This may or may not be true. People's ideas of what constitutes a gentleman differ, or again the explanation may be that the editor of Every Evening has not associated enough with gentlemen to know one when he meets him.

I recently asked a city woman, the wife of a prominent business man, if she read the Every Evening articles on the street markets. Her reply was, "Yes, and they make me tired; they don't know what they are talking about." A favorite method of the market reporter is to select some article that is practically out of the market, as this week for instance, corn, and lima beans, and then go into spasms over the high price asked by the chance farmer who has a dozen or two of corn, and maybe a quart of lima beans to sell. He also comments on the high price of fresh eggs, advising to buy cheaper ones. To him, evidently, an egg is an egg, but some other people have a decided preference for fresh ones and are willing to pay more for that kind.

A short time ago the Every Evening had a front page cartoon depicting a King Street farmer unloading some produce to a fat pig that the editor or some of his kind had growled about as being too high in price. There was a good lesson in that cartoon for the city buyer, but it was no doubt overlooked by the editor of the Every Evening. The pig was smiling and fat and was evidently pleased to get the produce that the city people had refused. Now with pork around twenty-five dollars a hundred pounds, Mr. Pig will pay well for a good bit of produce and not growl about it either. If the city people have to compete with a pig for what they eat they had better not be too choosy.

Why does not the editor of Every Evening comment on the fact that when a street market farmer sells a bushel of anything he has to give two five-eighths baskets or a bushel and a quarter. Does any merchant in turn give a yard and a quarter when selling a yard?

It is useless to go into a discussion as to the cause of high prices. Anyone who is at all familiar with farm conditions or who reads such papers as the Philadelphia Record, the Saturday Evening Post, the Rural New Yorker, or the Pennsylvania Farmer, and a host of others, needs no further information on the subject.

As an evidence of the unfairness of the Every Evening in selecting food products instead of luxuries for attack, gasoline has advanced from nine cents a gallon in 1912 to 27 cents now, yet the automobiles have multiplied many times. Does the Every Evening mention that? Oh, dear, no. The farmer does not sell gasoline.

Now let the Every Evening give names and proof or stand convicted of being a common scold. I have had a team on King Street market every week for 22 years and have a ledger account of the amount sold and the prices for each day. I would be ashamed to get a lower average price than my neighbor, but seldom can I get the price quoted in the Every Evening. As proof of this my books are open for the inspection of any fair-minded interested persons.

Pardon me for taking up so much of your valuable time, but you should have the approval of all fair-minded people, for your attitude.

Yours respectfully,
John Nivin.

ITALIAN CITIZEN ANSWERS QUERY

What I Have Done To Help
Win The War

The following letter written by Vincenzo Pocino, a track foreman on the Trenton Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, written to his instructor in the Italian-English Course, shows the zeal and loyal spirit of many of America's adopted citizens:

You want to know what I have done to help America win the war.

At first I did not know that I could answer you very much, but since I have read your letter I have been thinking considerably.

You remember when President Wilson made an appeal to the people to help to reduce the high cost of living and thus create more crops to feed the Allies, I apply at that time to the Supervisor for an acre of land. On that acre of land I made one of the best gardens that you ever saw. I got enough potatoes to supply my family; I raised tomatoes, lettuce, beans and all kinds of greens. I must admit that this garden was a great help to me and my family.

Then, later came along the "Liberty Loan" and I subscribed. Besides subscribing myself, I encouraged nearly every man in my gang who could pay for it.

I have a good gang of men, and we do first-class work to keep the track so that the trains of the Company can carry the soldiers, their ammunition and food without delay or derailment.

I want to tell you also that with exception of two or three, all the men in my gang are naturalized. I have helped them by explaining the pamphlet on Naturalization which you sent me in connection with the Italian-English Course.

Not very long ago, here at Trenton, we had a fine parade for the Red Cross, and I was very glad that I was able to contribute to it. But I want to tell you that I felt bad when they told me that I was not able to go to France with the Regiment of Railroad Engineers because they had the number of men they wanted. I would have been more than happy if I could have had that chance. Nevertheless, if they should call for more men, I am ready to go and do my little share to help America win the war.

Finally, I want to tell you, I will help in any way possible as the occasion presents itself.

I have nothing else more to say. Receive my best regards, and I remain always your loyal student.

(Signed) Vincenzo Pocino,
Track Foreman, Trenton Div.

Instructor in Italian-English.

WAR GARDENS AT SCHENECTADY

Ten Thousand Dollars Worth of Produce Grown By Employees of G. E.
Company

Garden produce, estimated to be worth $10,000, was grown on a 60-acre tract of factory land at Schenectady, N. Y. The land is held by the General Electric Company for future expansion, and is being farmed by more than one thousand of its employees. Last year at this time the same area of fertile river bottom soil was yielding only weeds and wire grass. The transformation was brought about by the operation of a carefully thought out plan of "war gardening" which the Company has worked out with great benefit to its employees, and also with a corresponding improvement in the appearance of the factory surroundings.

The land was first plowed and harrowed with a gas tractor which the Company purchased, and was then cut up into 1,000 plots 25 by 75 feet. The plots were staked out with allowance for streets and avenues in between, so that when the work was completed the entire tract resembled a vast real estate development. As soon as the preparations were completed the 22,000 employees of the local plant of the Company were invited to step in and garden with packets of seed supplied by the Company along with the free use of the plots.

1500 Workmen Apply For Plots

The scheme met with hearty response. Hundreds of workmen applied for garden plots, and when they were all counted it was found that 1,500 workmen had applied for the 1,000 plots available. The gardens were assigned in the order in which the applications were received and numbered badge was presented to each successful applicant. These badges served as a means of showing the particular plot assigned and also as a permit of admittance to the grounds which were under the supervision of an attendant at all times.

Realizing that garden enthusiasm sometimes wanes before the produce has been harvested, and that a plot started under the most promising conditions may be neglected and grow up in weeds unless the gardener is kept on his mettle, the plots were all assigned with the understanding that they might be reassigned if they were not well cultivated and cared for. Everything connected with the gardening plan was worked out as definitely in advance as any problem in manufacturing or transportation is solved by the Company's engineers in its shops. Gardening bulletins were supplied to the amateur horticulturists. Even a seed house was built to house the seeds, supplies, and implements used by the workers.

What to plant on the plots was left very largely to the men themselves. They were encouraged, however, to plant only those things which fit in well with an intensive scheme of cultivation and which promise the maximum return from the minimum of land area. The potato was undoubtedly the most popular vegetable, and in some instances the entire plot was given over to it. Cabbage enough to make many barrels of sauerkraut is now rounding out into perfect heads, and it probably occupies a place of second importance, while beans claim the third place in total acreage.

NEW BOOK BY ARTHUR GUY EMPEY

Author of "Over The Top."

"Over the Top" by Arthur Guy Empey has ever-topped its competitors in the race for popularity. Although it was published only a few weeks ago, there have been printed to date fourteen editions totaling over 100,000 copies, and the demand shows no signs of diminishing. To speak of its competitors is in a way misleading; "Over the Top" is unique. It is a brand-new thing in the overcrowded field of war books.

Of equal interest and timeliness is Sergeant Empey's new book, "First Call," which G. P. Putnam's Sons expect to issue this fall. In the wonderfully vivid way which made "Over the Top" so famous, Sergeant Empey goes on to tell the new soldier what confronts him all the way from training-camp to trench. He shows the mother and the father what their boy is doing each day; what they, what every American can do to help him. The suggestions covering things overlooked in other books will alone save thousands of our boys in France.

WHAT LINCOLN SAID

An expression from Lincoln is always pertinent to any discussion. Just now, in the contest here in Delaware a word from the Master of Common Sense may not be amiss. Best of all, what was said then is just as practical now.

"The liquor traffic is a cancer in society, eating the vitals and threatening destruction; and all attempts to regulate it will not only prove abortive, but will aggravate the evil. There must be no attempts to regulate the cancer. It must be eradicated; not a root must be left behind, for until this is done all classes must continue in danger of becoming victims of strong drink. * * * Slavery is abolished. The next great question would be the overthrow of the legalized liquor traffic. And you know, that my head and my heart, my hand and my purse, will go into that work."

CONGRATULATIONS TO DEAN SMITH

Congratulations are due Dean Smith of Delaware College for the showing made in the number of students this year. Last spring when War was declared, many friends of the College, were swept off their feet in the excitement of the moment and expressed the fear that "College will likely be closed another year." Even many of the Trustees expressed grave doubts of this year's work. Dean Smith took exactly the opposite view, maintaining that such a time, was the occasion for the College to render its greatest service. He argued well, that in such a crisis the College had wonderful opportunity to do its bit in the War. This idea presented to the students caused them to take second thought and do the practical thing—prepare themselves for service requiring trained men. At the meeting of the Board of Trustees in June, Dean Smith presented a report giving the results of a census taken from the upper classes expressing their intentions to return. He urged further, a special effort to secure new students. Following this with his predictions of this year's student body, he proceeded to make good his claim. With no additional aid for publicity or campaign, the College has entered on another year's work with gratifying results. The decrease from War has probably been less at Delaware than in any institution of its size. Dean Smith had the right idea. In the excitement of the moment, he seized the opportunity and has done the real patriotic service. He spoke the word and gave the facts at just the moment when the work of the College seemed at ebb. He gave the hope that was needed. For all of which, he is to be congratulated.

It is hoped this idea will prevail. National officials, in closest touch with the Country's needs, are strongly urging just this thing—that Colleges, especially those institutions such as ours, double their efforts in training men. Institutions such as Princeton, Harvard and Yale may feel the stress of War, but Delaware must remember—she is a State and National Institution and as such has a peculiar function at this time. A call going out in the State, giving prominence to this view will do much toward next year's class, which in turn means State and National Service.

THE FARMER'S PROBLEM

Unless some action is taken and quickly too, the Agricultural situation in this State is going to be critical. Every city newspaper, every organization is crying about the high cost of farm products. In most cases, they are honest in the belief that the farmers are requiring wealth similar to the Manufacturing War brides. Only a slight investigation would change their attitude. Last spring, at the request of the Government, the farmer planted a larger acreage than was ever known. In Delaware the response to the call was un-animous. Never before was so much land under cultivation as this season. With what result? Everyday, a farm hand, yes, even tenants with invested capital, are being drafted, sent to the front. At the same time we are urged to speed up production, plant more. "The War will be won on the farm" they tell us, while another sends them to the trenches. If the farmer and the product of his labor on land is necessary, then something must be done to give him the assistance necessary.

In our conversation with farmers, up and down the State, we regret to hear these expressions of discouragement, yet investigation proves the merits of their claims. This year Delaware had perhaps the greatest acreage in her history. Unless there is a change next year will witness a reduction that will go back to the record of a decade ago.

Men, newspapers, organizations, it is imperative that you lend a willing ear to these conditions and assist in their correction.

If the War is to be won on the farm, then we must see to it that men are kept there—and labor drafted, if need be, for farm work.

MARKET INVESTIGATIONS

The Committee appointed by the Mayor of Wilmington to investigate market conditions and high prices have held their first meeting. It is extremely interesting to note that they approached the discussion by saying that the "farmer was as good as the city man." This is the first contradiction to the Every Evening's accusation that the King Street farmers were not "gentlemen" and the reference to them as pirates of the Captain Kidd type. It is interesting, too, and very gratifying to hear the Committee say that they were not "up against the farmer and that the City needed him." The invitation to the representatives of the farmers to counsel with them speaks well and shows a spirit of co-operation. We agree heartily with this attitude and look with interest to the discussion of such mutual interest.

MAKE IT YOUR CAMPAIGN

Citizens who are jealous of the reputation of the community received a shock on Tuesday when they beheld the size of the crowd assembled in Wolf Hall. The occasion was a War Service Meeting. Aside from the students of the colleges, only a handful were present. "What is the matter with Newark," was on everyone's lip. The charitable said, "The meeting was not advertised," or "Those who have no money to invest in Liberty Bonds saw no need in coming to the meeting."

But the meeting was announced in all the churches; cards were displayed for days in the store windows; hand bills were circulated on the afternoon of the meeting. Thoughtless, indeed, are those who say that investors alone were included in the call to the meeting. Would that the indifferent ones who stayed away had heard the stirring appeals of the speakers; of Judge Grubb, "I come to arouse my fellow Americans to uphold the sacred cause of liberty"; of Mr. Isaacs, "I can say to you from the bottom of my heart, I believe your homes, your country, your democracy, are at stake"; of Mr. Marvel, "Show that not only a few rich people of New Castle County are patriotic but that ten thousand people are holding up their hands and crying, aye, aye, I'm with you."

"I venture to say that half of Newark, along with a large part of the Nation, is asleep," one speaker said. And truly he summed up the situation. Is Newark patriotic? If so, it is time to show it. How much shall one of the wealthiest towns in the State subscribe to the Liberty Loan? How many citizens will be represented as doing their bit?

PUBLICATION FROM CAMP DIX

Distinguishing Marks In The U. S. Army

Through the courtesy of John Pemberton, of Newark, now in the 307th Machine Gun Company, this office has received this week a copy of "The Camp Dix News," a weekly publication setting forth happenings of interest at the big cantonment at Wrightstown, N. J. The paper is attractively printed on heavy coated stock, and presents many interesting illustrations. Aside from news articles and announcements of special interest to those connected with the camp, are many bits of inspiration for the soldiers in the making who are preparing to stand between their homes and Germany.

Of especial interest at this time is the three-quarter page illustration showing the distinguishing marks of the U. S. Army. The branch of the army in which an enlisted man serves is revealed by the color of his hat-cord. A blue cord means infantry; yellow, cavalry; scarlet, artillery; maroon, medical corps; buff, quartermaster's corps; black piped with scarlet, ordnance; orange piped with white, signal corps; scarlet piped with white, army field clerks. An officer's leggings are of leather; an enlisted man's of canvas.

Officers' shoulder straps indicating rank, are as follows: plain, second lieutenant; one bar, first lieutenant; two bars, captain; major, gold oak leaf; lieutenant colonel, silver oak leaf; colonel, silver spread eagle; brigadier-general, one star; major general, three stars; general, two stars and eagle in the center.

Serious Facts—War Bulletin

A prominent farmer of Kent County said yesterday that there would be a shortage of wheat acreage of at least 25 percent due to the lack of farm labor.

Two thousand acres of corn in Kent County not cut yet. No labor

Prices $3.50 to $4.00 per day with board and transportation.

A farmer in talking of the contradiction of the Draft for War and the Hoover plea for production and conservation said, "I can name 1000 acres due to go in wheat will not be plowed. Lack of help."

In wheat and rye, Delaware will be 5000 acres shy next harvest, according to conservative estimate.

Three poultry plants in Delaware of 4000 layers have been sold due to labor conditions and high cost of feed.

dollar a week in their kitchen. Save that dollar a week and put it in a Liberty Bond in favor of the housewife, who is responsible for the economy. Such a policy would mean not only a saving of millions in money, but in quantities of food, for the men in the field.

"I know that Newark will give a good account of itself. You will find here, as elsewhere, citizens who say, 'I don't feel that I should stint myself, when John Brown isn't stinting himself.' But, my friends, you can't compare yourself in this instance, according to your working wage, the value of your time, or what not. Compare your effort only with the boy in uniform, whose life is on the altar of his country. Only then is the comparison a true one. You can't feel right unless you feel that you have given something for that country. It is your war. Participate in the immediate duty you are asked to do by the President, in order that the government may have something of your effort, your service, and your sacrifice."

Mr. Marvel called for volunteers for a personal solicitation committee, and the following responded: H. Hayward, T. F. Manns, D. C. Rose, W. A. Singes, C. B. Evans, L. K. Bowen, H. E. Vinsinger, N. M. Motheral, A. E. Grantham, and Dean Winifred J. Robinson. Mayor Frazer was made chairman of the committee.

Meets Death On French Front

Adjutant General Henry P. McCain on Friday of last week, informed relatives of the death from gunshot wounds of George H. Davis, a sergeant with an artillery division of the expeditionary forces under Gen. John J. Pershing in France. Sergeant Davis, who was the son of C. C. Davis, formerly of Pittsburgh, now of Easton, Maryland, died October 6.

He was a graduate of St. John's Military School, Annapolis, Maryland, and was a nephew of Major Albert G. Forse, U. S. A., who was killed in the battle of San Juan Hill in the Spanish-American war.

DELAWARE WINS HAVERFORD GAME

Loose Makes 60-yard Run In Last Quarter For Touch- down

For the first time in at least 15 years Delaware defeated Haverford football on Saturday. The score was 7 to 0 and the game was played on Haverford's own grounds. While the Blue and Gold has tied Haverford on several occasions it was the first victory in 15 years and some people claim it was the first win by Delaware over the scarlet and black in 25 years.

The entire Delaware team played a good game but Harry Loose who had been out of the game all season with a sprained ankle, was the hero. Loose was substituted for Marston in the last quarter and made Delaware's only touchdown. It was the first defeat of the season for Haverford.

The two teams fought each to a standstill for three quarters. Haverford was attempting a final drive when Loose leaped into the air intercepted one of Bushy's swift passes and made a spectacular dash of 60 yards around his own right end for the winning score. Captain Wilson kicked the goal. Loose was given great interference on his long run.

Haverford was unable to score and win the game because of lack of power to put the ball across after she had swept the attack on to Delaware territory. Finding herself lacking in this final touch the Scarlet and Black attempted to conquer by the aerial route, and Leonard attempted three drop kicks during the afternoon. One of these was blocked and the other two stilled wide. The open style of play was hardly more successful. The lineup:

TRAINING MEN FOR HIGHWAY WORK

Practical Course Offered At Delaware In Co-operation With State Highway Commission

Through the interest of the Delaware State Highway Commission and the efforts of The Chief Engineer, the Civil Engineering Course at Delaware College has provided a course especially adapted for Engineering students who wish to enter highway work.

The College offers this year for the first time an option in the Senior year of the Civil Course. This option gives the student the necessary technical training along highway lines. Upon the suggestion of Mr. Chas. M. Upham, Chief Engineer of the Delaware Highway Commission the college work will be supplemented by summer work under his direction in road-inspection and road-surveying. During the course of the winter lectures will be given at the college by experts in various lines of highway work.

Locally, as well as throughout the country, highway work is assuming great importance and the need for well trained men, is strongly felt. The opening for men trained in road work is exceptionally good both here and abroad. At present the demand cannot be met and this demand will increase greatly in the near future.

It is felt that by co-operation in this line of work that the men can be trained so as to be of immediate value in highway work, and to some extent acquainted with the practical methods of work now in use on the roads of this state.

DINDIGULS ENTER- TAINED BY RETIRING LEADER

To Work No Longer As An Organization

"The Dindiguls," a group of young people of the Presbyterian Church, were entertained by Mrs. J. Wilkins Cooch, at her home last Friday afternoon. The meeting marked the close of six years' work in missionary activities. Mrs. Cooch having been forced to resign the leadership on account of physical disability. Although the young people will no longer work as a group, the meetings, filled with the personality and interest of their leader, have formed an unforgettable chapter in their religious life.

Mrs. Cooch, in a closing talk referred to the name of the organization. The word "Dindigul" means smooth stone. "In the section of southern India in which I spent my childhood," Mrs. Cooch said, "some convulsion of nature in past ages, had thrown up for several hundred square miles, piles of smooth stones. The stones are so very smooth that it is necessary to cut steps in order to climb over the piles. The city of Dindigul has taken its name from this phenomenon." Here Mrs. Cooch's father built a church, and here he, with his family made his home. Mrs. Cooch read the story of David and Goliath, and dwelt upon the power of one good life—one smooth stone—in felling the giants of temptation and difficulties.

Speakers At W. C. D. Chapel

Three chapel mornings of the past week stand out most clearly. On Wednesday the Reverend Charles L. Candee from Westminster Presbyterian Church, in Wilmington, gave the students an inspiring talk on Progress. He said that we must remember two things, first, that progress is often slow, and second, that we all contribute something, be it ever so little, to the progress of civilization. We have the right to use the heritage of the past, but we must also contribute our bit. Dr. Candee said that we should feel humble when we think of how much has been done, but that we should be elated when we realize that we are a part of the world's advance.

On Tuesday Miss Winslow explained how the "Browsing Room" came into being. She addressed the Sophomores and the Freshmen especially, but the entire student body were glad to hear again how Mrs. Smythe and Miss Mather of Wilmington, planned and carried out their plans, so that the Women's College owns a most beautiful room, filled with hand made furniture of the Colonial period, and housing hundreds of books chosen with great care. One unique feature of the library is the rare containing books in which the authors have described some message over their signature.

On Friday Dr. Greenfield of Delaware College explained the origin and meaning of the British and French flags.

Monday morning Mr. Vallindigham, a former English professor at Delaware, and a newspaper man of repute, addressed the Senior class in composition on "Letter Writing."

Friday night a crowd of Delaware College Boys, accompanied by the band, serenaded the students at Women's College. College songs and cheers made fun for a while for both cheerers and cheered.

War Camp Community Recreation Centers

At the suggestion of President Wilcox the directors of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce have been called on to get their organization behind the campaign to raise a national fund for War Camp Community Recreation work. The purpose of this is to inspire the men, increase the efficiency and help develop the fighting spirit of the American armed forces. Features of this work include the providing of wholesome, healthy environment in the communities surrounding the camps or more training camps and posts.
