'Novels And Novelists' Univ. Hour Subject

Hon. V. Sackville-West, Authoress Of "The Edwardians," Speaker

The Honorable V. Sackville-West, who will speak at the University Hour program at the University of Delaware Friday night, February 24, has had a most interesting life. Brought up in an aristocratic family, she early determined upon a literary career. Of this early life Lady Sackville-West writes in The Edwardians.

In this novel she preserves with brilliant reality and fine satire that butterfly age before the war, when Edward was King and the princes, politicians, financiers, wits and beauties filled their smoothly running idle days with racing, bridge and week-end parties at those great country houses whose hostesses took careful pains to further their amours. They were serious about nothing in the world except their efforts to amuse a bored monarch and their obligations to present a spotless reputation to the bourgeoisie. In "The Edwardians" young Sebastian, the twelfth Duke, is heir to "Chevron" which is no other than Knole with its magnificent park and its seven acres of roof that Queen Elizabeth presented to her Lord Treasurer, the Thomas Sackville from whom Miss Sackville-West descends. A sensitive, restless, impressionable boy, he tries to escape from the life that was ordained for him inexorably at birth but is bound to it by his love for the magnificent old house. From love affair to love affair he plunges according to the code of his class and his generation. But in the end, while five hundred voices shout, "Vivat Rex Georgius," Sebastian starts a new era for himself. It is a story of gleaming wit and high distinction.

Student Council Seeks Cooperation

Action Taken On Election Of President Of Freshman Class

At the regular meeting of the Student Council, held last Monday, several currently important issues were discussed and acted upon. Clarence Rice, speaking for the Council, urgently requested all student organizations to cooperate in the fullest measure with the Social Committee in an endeavor to eliminate future conflicts. Apropos of this desire, the Council ruled that henceforth, the Freshman Banquet will positively be forbidden to take place on any night that clashes with a regular college activity.

It was also decided that in the future there shall be no election of a president of the Freshman Class. Instead, the chairman of that class who is elected at the outset of the year will serve throughout the course of the year, and shall, in February, be permitted to sit in on the Council meetings, with authority to offer suggestions, but with no vote.

The first draft of a Constitution regulating the selection and activities of cheer leaders was drawn up and approved, and will be sent to the Athletic Committee. It is hoped that that body will see fit to take action on this matter at its next meeting.

In the way of appointments, Alvin Handloff, Assistant Business Manager of the Review, was selected Editor-in-Chief of the Rat Book for next year, and Thomas Roe was picked to fill the vacancy on the College Hour Committee created by the withdrawal of Thomas Cavanaugh from school.

A gift of Ten Dollars was voted the Library—to be taken from the Council's own account and not from the Student's Activities Fund. As yet, no suitable hall has been secured for the Annual Spring Frolic, the customary Armory being unavailable this year.

Sigma Nu Formal Social Event

"Snake's Den," Night Club Effect, Feature Of Occasion

Last Friday night the Sigma Nu Fraternity gave a dance in Old College, which was remodeled into a modern night club, called "Snake's Den." The Commons was lined on all sides with small tables set with black and gold cloths and lights to match the color scheme. The lounge was arranged in a similar manner with candles taking the place of lamps.

The music for dancing was furnished by Wesley "Freckles" Barry and his orchestra and Crawford played the piano for those in the lounge. Sandwiches, coffee and tea were served continuously after ten o'clock. Congeniality permeated the atmosphere of the dance and every one seemed to enjoy it.

Charley Rogers

That Charley Rogers will coach the University of Delaware football team next year is almost certain. His selection now rests with the Board of Trustees since it has been approved by the Athletic Council and the Board Governing Athletics.

Military History Of Delaware

Work Of A Friend Of The College

The editors of The Review are indebted to a friend of Delaware College for a story which we believe will interest all students. It is a brief history of the military activities of the school, and will be printed in these columns. The first of three instalments appears below.

The story is full of interesting and unusual facts about Delaware, and is the result of a rather extensive research made by a man who is interested in Delaware's tradition—military and otherwise.

"In times of stress and great public trial it has always been the role of the educated man to come to the assistance of his fellows and lead them back to normalcy. This has been especially true of war time when this leadership has meant the fighting of battles and the defeat of the enemy before the return to peace may be made. Every institution of learning in this country has had some effect upon the formation of the country and upon its wars through the graduates it has sent out into public life. Delaware has done its share in this work.

Delaware College was chartered in 1833 as a private school and was merged with the old Newark Academy, a preparatory school which had been founded in 1767. Very few records exist of the old Newark Academy, but it is known that signers of the Declaration of Independence were students at one time in the Academy. Delaware College received donations from several church organizations from time to time and its students generally took up the work of the church after graduation. There was no military instruction whatsoever but this did not prevent them from doing their share in the defense of the country nor of furthering the cause of a nation founded on Christian principles.

"In checking up the records of the graduates we find many interesting facts:

"William F. Stites, of the class of 1839, served in the Army during the Mexican War. He was discharged in Mexico but never arrived in the United States.

"William M. Stuart, 1840, was a midshipman in the Navy during the Mexican War.

"Julian Rogers, of the class of 1839, became an assistant surgeon of the United States Army and was a member of the expedition across the plains and Rocky Mountains in 1849. Later serving as surgeon at Fort Clark, Iowa, in 1851 and at Fort Snelling, Minnesota, in 1857. He probably was on duty in the Indian country throughout the entire period of 1849 to 1857.

"Aquila F. Ridgely, 1843, served with Army in the Sioux and Seminole War.

"The Civil War furnished opportunities for many of the graduates to prove their patriotism or to stand up for what they believed to be right. They served with bravery on both sides of the struggle. Those serving with the Union Forces were: William H. Purnell, class of 1846, later President of the University from June, 1879 to 1875, and in whose honor Purnell Hall has been named. After the first Battle of Bull Run he raised a regiment of Infantry, two batteries of Artillery, and two companies of Cavalry, called "Purnell's Legion." The Cavalry was later increased to three companies and when an experienced officer was not provided for their command he took the field himself. He served six months, resigned, and shortly after was re-

Dr. Hullihen To Make Radio Address

To Speak Over Columbia Chain Monday Afternoon

On next Monday afternoon, February 27, from two to two-fifteen, Dr. Walter Hullihen will deliver a Radio address under the auspices of the National Student Federation of America. His talk, "Undergraduate Study Abroad," will be broadcasted from Station WABC and the associated Columbia Network stations.

Dr. Hullihen will review the history of the Foreign Study Plan from the day that the idea was first broached by the late Professor Kirkbride, to the present highly successful operation of the exchange plan. It will be recalled that because of the vast difference between the American and European systems of education, the idea was not at all thought feasible at first, but because of the irrepressible enthusiasm of Professor Kirkbride, a one year's trial was granted him, and the ensuing success of his work is now history. This year, under the Delaware Plan (there are sixty-five students spending their Junior year in France and twenty-two in Germany, with approximately thirty-six American colleges being represented).

Haverford Falls To Blue Hen Cage Five

O'Connell Leads Scorers

Led by the high scoring of "Irish" O'Connell, the University of Delaware basketball team defeated Haverford College last night in Philadelphia, 36-24. This was the eighth victory of the season for the Dohertymen.

The game started with very little scoring and mid-way in the first half Delaware held a 6-5 lead. This 6-5 score was as close as the Haverford squad ever got to the Blue and Gold team. "Doc" Doherty's cohorts had little trouble in piling up a substantial margin which they held until the close of the conflict.

"Irish" O'Connell and Allen Kemske led the Delaware scorers with 12 and 9 points respectively.

EDITORIALS

The present editors and staff now face a problem which they feel unnecessary. The election of Editor-in-Chief and the subsequent filling of staff positions will take place the first week in April. At graduation in June the staff will lose more than half of its present members. Who will take their places?

The apparent lack of interest in becoming one of The Review Staff may be due to an ignorance of newspaper work or to a mental inertia. Inexperience should keep no one out of this valuable extra-curricular activity. The editors were once inexperienced and realize they have much to learn. The value of experience gained in this work is attested by the number of Seniors on the Staff.

The organization of The Review allows a man to enter the field of work he prefers or feels he is most capable in. It affords an opportunity for him to compare with others his ability in expressing himself and an opportunity to enlarge his social, intellectual, and business contacts. It further brings him closer to the University of Delaware.

We hope the lower classmen will see the importance of The Review to the school and to themselves and will demand that some of their members join The Review Staff. Freshmen will have their names published as staff-members after April 1.

Origin And Gradual Development of Sports

"Sports" Has Different Meaning Today

This is the second of a series of articles pertaining to Physical Education which are appearing in The Review. We feel that with the aid of this column a broad and more accurate view will be taken as to the aims and objectives of the Physical Department at the University of Delaware.

The word "sport" with all its forms and varieties is as old as Father Time. In every period of the world's history of which we have any record whatever sport in some shape or form has its distinct place.

The term "sport" was applied in early times to all forms of pastime, but modern usage has limited it to what is known as field sports, such as fox-hunting, fishing, shooting, etc., while the term "sports" is generally confined to athletic contests.

In the old Greek and Roman meaning an athlete was one who contended for a prize in the games; now it is a general term for any one excelling in physical strength. Among the Greeks, the training for athletic contests was very rigorous, the matter of diet being made of greatest importance. An athlete could begin his career as a boy in the contests set apart for boys. He could appear again as a youth against his equals, and though unsuccessful could go on competing until the age of thirty-five years when he was debarred, it being assumed that after this period of life he could not improve; however, this applied more particularly to ancient sports than those of modern times.

Athletes in those days formed the basis of the great armies, and it was the Greek and Roman method of preparedness for offense or defense in time of wars. At the present day our methods of training are mainly for the purpose of participation in sports, but also for keeping men fit for the great contest of life.

Sports were cultivated many hundred years before the Christian era, by the Egyptians and several Asiatic races, but they reached their highest development in the celebrated Olympic games 776 B. C. and from that period down through all history have been a ready theme for poet, painter and sculptor. Virgil's happiest and most beautiful lines were sung in honor of athletic sports. Among the marble treasures of the Capitoline Museum and

BY a vote of 289 to 121 the House of Representatives passed the proposed twenty-first amendment to the Constitution. This passage of the bill, after last week's vote in the Senate, places the matter before the states. Within a few months it is predicted that the requisite thirty-six states will have passed the amendment and made national prohibition a thing of the past. This culminates the labors of the Association For Repeal of the Prohibition Amendment, as it is generally agreed that there will be no great difficulty in pushing the proposed amendment through the states. The only person who disagrees with the above statement is Doctor Clarence True Wilson, famous dry leader, who insists that the dries still hold thirty states.

the Vatican one is most impressed by the wonderful muscular development of the gladiator, the graceful attitude of the discus thrower.

The Greek idea was that the body of man had a glory as well as his intellect and spirit, and required disciplining in the same manner, and that by this harmonious discipline man best honored his Diety.

The term athletics is modern. The ancients spoke of all contestant sports as races, and these races consisted of running, wrestling, boxing, leaping and quoit throwing, and it is supposed that it was in allusion to these races that St. Paul wrote to the Corinthians, "Know ye not that they which run in a race, run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run that ye may obtain, and every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things."

One of the greatest needs of organized baseball, according to Joe Carr, newly appointed promotional director of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, is more college athletes.

THE entire world was shocked last week by the attempted assassination of President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt by one Giuseppe Zangara, naturalized citizen and former bricklayer. Although alienists found the man sane, he seems to be laboring under some sort of paranoic delusions which render all office holders fit targets for his bullets. Meanwhile, four victims of his shots lie in Florida hospitals; they include Mayor Cermak of Chicago. The hero of the affair is a Mrs. Cross who grabbed the would-be assassin's arm and spoiled his aim, thus saving the life of the President-elect.

Conjecture immediately arose as to the next president, should Mr. Roosevelt have been shot. The new twentieth amendment provides for such an exigency and is the first legislation that does. Under its terms, Vice President-elect Garner would have become president.

JAPAN has officially signified her intention of withdrawing from the League of Nations unless its disapproval of her Manchurian policy is reversed. This would also include a withdrawal from the Arms parley and practically a severing of all relations with the Western World. Meanwhile, the Nipponese are massing 50,000 troops for a decisive drive on Jehol province in Northern China. It is expected that strenuous effort will be made to annex Jehol to Manchukuo, the synthetic Japanese-dominated Manchuria. However, Chinese resistance is being roused to a higher pitch than ever before, and the resistance will be spirited.

Earl Leahy Scores Winning Field Goal

Newark Wins Over J. V.'s

"Doc" Doherty's basketball quintet defeated the highly touted P. M. C. five last Saturday night in the Taylor Gymnasium, 40-38. Earl Leahy, who had entered the game late in the second half, scored the field goal which deadlocked the game at the end of the regular playing time and then in the extra period scored the goal which brought victory to the home team.

The game started with "Irish" O'Connell scoring from the field. The scoring during the first half was fairly even except at one time the Chester Cadets assumed a 16-7 lead. This lead was steadily cut down by Kaufman, Thompson, and O'Connell. Near the end of the first half, the Delaware cagers finally brought the score on even terms with their old rivals. Before the first half had ended they managed to score another field goal which enabled them to leave the floor at intermission with a two-point lead. The score at half time was 20-18 in favor of the Blue Hen five.

The second half was a duplicate of the first with both teams fighting for the lead. In this half "Big Ed" Thompson did most of his scoring and these points helped the Blue Hen squad to keep on even terms with the Timm-coached squad. With about one minute to go the score was 38-26 in favor of the visitors. "Irish" O'Connell drove a hard pass to Leahy who dropped it in the basket for the tying score. The game ended when the ball was carried to the center of the floor to resume play.

With the stands in an uproar the extra-period started. Leahy again dribbled under the basket for the winning goal. The remainder of the game was spent in preventing the Big Red team from scoring. Knowing the minutes were quickly passing, they began to shoot wildly at the basket in an effort to tie the score. We all know they failed.

Newark Trips J. V.'s

The Delaware J. V.'s and Newark High School put on a preliminary game which in many respects was like the big game which followed. At the end of regular playing time the score was 38-38. In the extra period the high school managed to nose out the Delaware representatives, 41-38. Wharton led the Newark scorers with 11 points, while Johnny Warner led the home team with 9. The scores: P. M. C.

Delaware Out- swims Rider

Face F. And M. And Lafayette Over Week-End

T. Hanaway

Running up a high score in the first five events, Delaware swimmers established a lead that could not be overcome by Rider. The relay team of Lattomus, Murray, Lindstrand, and Lawrence won the 200-yd. relay in the time of 1:43.6; Lattomus took first in 50-yd., time: 25.2, and Carey, Delaware, took a first in the 440-yd. swim, time: 5:56.6.

Bill Croes, Delaware freshman, featured the meet, winning the 150-yd. back stroke and breaking the record set by Bill Brown, former Delaware captain. Croes was not shoved very hard at any time, otherwise he may have done better. He was timed at 1:52.4, two-tenths better than the pool record.

Rider came back strong in the 200-yd. breast stroke, and the 100-yd. dash, taking both events; Brooks winning the first, time: 2:53.1; and Lewallen the latter in the time of 57.5. Kelley, of Rider, gave a beautiful exhibition of diving to take first honors with a total of 70.2. Rider had a total of three first places to four for Delaware. Summaries:

200-yard relay—Won by Delaware (Lattomus, Murray, Lindstrand, Lawrence); second, Rider, (Lewallen, Mueller, England, Kettle). Time: 1:43.6.
Fancy dive—Won by Kelly, Rider; second, Wilson, Delaware; third, McCullough, Delaware. Point score: 70.2.
50-yard dash—Won by Lattomus, Delaware; second, Mueller, Rider; third, Lawrence, Delaware. Time: 25.2.
150-yard back stroke—Won by Croes, Delaware; second, England, Rider; third, S. Barker, Delaware. Time: 1:52.4. New Delaware record.
440-yard swim—Won by Carey, Delaware; second, Scott, Delaware; third, Mueller, Rider. Time: 5:56.6.
200-yard breast stroke—Won by Brooks, Rider; second, Dippel, Rider; third, L. Barker, Delaware. Time: 2:53.1.
100-yard dash—Won by Lewallen, Rider; second, Lindstrand, Delaware; third, Murray, Delaware. Time: 57.5.

Delaware swimmers leave this week-end for a three-day trip when they will swim the crack F. & M. and Lafayette tank teams. Coach Bardo is confident that we shall win both meets, although the freshmen will not be allowed to compete in either meet. Both our opponents have had as good a season as Delaware has had, but against weaker teams.

Lattomus in the 50-yd., Scott in the 440-yd. free style, Lindstrand in the 100-yd., and H. Wilson in the dives are counted on to bring in first places, since all four men have better times than their respective opponents. S. Barker and Murray have been showing constant improvement in practice and are being counted for some points. L. C. Barker, who at the beginning of the season broke the Delaware record for the 200-yd. breast stroke, has been constantly improving of late, and will be a valuable addition to Delaware's team. Lindstrand is also having a successful season, having made more than thirty points in meets this season.

Fencers Down Drew University

Before one of the largest crowds ever to attend a fencing meet, the University of Delaware fencing team defeated Drew University, 10-7, last Saturday in Taylor Gym. The outstanding men of the meet were A. Murray and Henry Ridgely, each of whom won three bouts. Almost every member of the team won at least one bout. Several times during the meet the score was tied but Delaware took the last two foil bouts to clinch the match. Score:

Murray defeated Salney, 5-1.
Ridgely defeated McMurphy, 5-3.
Slovin lost to VanGuilder, 4-5.
Cohen lost to Smith, 0-2.
McSorley defeated Trinkaus, 2-1.
Shilling lost to Vegtlen, 3-5.
McRright defeated Child, 5-4.
Murray defeated McMurphy, 5-3.
Ridgely defeated VanGuilder, 5-1.
Slovin lost to Salney, 4-5.
Cohen defeated Lornkaus, 2-0.

Dohertymen Face Tough Opponents This Week

Friday night the Blue and Gold cagers will be host to a strong Washington College five who already hold one victory over them this season. Fresh from their recent victory over P. M. C., Delaware will be out to stop their friendly enemies from Chester-town.

On Saturday night the Blue Hen five will play Susquehanna on the home floor. Susquehanna is reputed to have a strong five this year and a hard fight is expected to take place.

... IT'S TIME TO
TELEPHONE HOME!

EIGHT-THIRTY P. M. is the time to telephone home!

The day's rush is over; the night's still young. There's plenty of time for a newsy, intimate chat. The family's at home, eager to hear your voice. (They'll be there for sure if you telephone as a regular habit, the same time each week.)

What is more, it is cheapest to telephone after 8:30 P. M. That is when the low Night Rates go into effect on Station to Station calls. For 45c you can then call as far as 140 miles away!

Yes, it's surprisingly inexpensive, as these typical rates show. But be sure you make a Station to Station call. Just give your home telephone number to the operator and hold the line. If you like, the charges can be reversed.

COMING—WILL ROGERS IN "STATE FAIR"

"Green Pastures" Will Be At The Playhouse

"The Green Pastures," Pulitzer prize winner, and the most widely discussed stage offering of our times, will be presented at the Playhouse for four performances commencing Monday, February 27. A matinee performance will be given on Wednesday, March 1. The play is now in its third year.

In eighteen scenes "The Green Pastures" depicts the rise and fall of mankind as viewed by the simple plantation dandy of the Old South. Marc Connelly, the author, found the basis for his play in Roark Bradford's collection of Negro stories, "Ol' Man Adam an' His Chillun," and the piece is enacted by a Negro cast of more than a hundred, which includes the famous "Heavenly Choir," the latter rendering spirituals which are interwoven with the play's dramatic action.

The outstanding figure in the big cast is Richard B. Harrison, who plays "the Lawd," and is revered as a sort of diety by the other members of the company. He was a professional play reader before he undertook this role, a Shakespearean scholar, who made his home in Southern California and was a familiar figure in club, church and chataqua entertainments, and taught at various Negro educational institutions in the Southern states. Sixty-eight years of age, Mr. Harrison will celebrate his 1215th performance in "The Green Pastures" when the play has its Wilmington premiere on February 27. Other prominent players in the huge cast are Salem Tutt Whitney, Daniel L. Haynes, Alonzo Fenderson, Susie Sutton and Doe Doe Green, the latter portraying the role of "Gabriel," vacated through the death last February of Samuel Davis. Mr. Green is the sole member of the cast who was not in the play when it opened in February, 1930.

Well, that's something about cigarettes I never knew before *the cigarette that's Milder

the cigarette that Tastes Better*

I'd never thought much about what's inside a Chesterfield cigarette. But I have just been reading something that made me think about it.

Just think of this, some of the tobacco in Chesterfield—the Turkish—comes from 4000 miles away! And before it is shipped every single leaf is packed by hand. All because Turkish tobacco is so small and delicate.

Of course I don't know much about making cigarettes, but I do know this—that Chesterfields are milder and have a very pleasing aroma and taste. They satisfy—and that's what counts with me!
