BLUE HENS MEET WEST CHESTER

Smokers And House Parties Highlight Rush Week; Houses Open To Freshmen

This week the five greek letter fraternities of the Delaware College campus are having their annual rush week. The rushing period opened at noon Monday and will continue until Sunday, September 27, at midnight.

During this seven day period the fraternities will be open to the freshmen for the first time this year. Freshmen and prospective fraternity men in the upper classes will be invited to the various houses and will have an opportunity to meet the members of each group in which they might be interested.

As in the past each fraternity will have two smokers and one house party. Theta Chi and Kappa Alpha will have smokers Monday and Wednesday night and Sigma Phi Epsilon and Sigma Nu will have smokers Tuesday and Thursday night. Sigma Tau Phi will have a single smoker Tuesday evening. Each fraternity will have a House Party Saturday night.

On Monday night Theta Chi will have a magician. The Kappa Alpha entertainment will consist of skits by some of the members.

On Tuesday evening Sigma Phi Epsilon will have a magician. A wrestler will be at the Sigma Nu House.

Wednesday night the Theta Chi's plan to have a Monte Carlo night. Paper money will be issued to the guests who will have an opportunity to try their luck with various gambling devices. Kappa Alpha will have a magician Wednesday night.

Sigma Phi Epsilon plans to have a very gay and entertaining affair Thursday night. While the Sigma Nu's will have movies at their smoker that night.

Freshmen will be allowed to remain in the fraternity houses until midnight Sunday, September 27. The "silent period" will last until Monday evening at six o'clock. On Monday afternoon from twelve o'clock until five o'clock freshmen who desire to pledge a fraternity will go to the Dean's office and signify their choice of a fraternity by giving the name of the fraternity of their choice and their own name to the Dean's secretary.

Hullihen Represents Delaware at Colgate

Our president, Dr. Walter Hullihen, will journey to Hamilton, New York, Thursday, to represent the University of Delaware at inauguration services to be held at Colgate University.

At that time, Everett Case former assistant dean of the Harvard University Graduate School of Business Administration, will be inaugurated as Colgate University's ninth president.

One hundred and twenty-one institutions of higher learning from 31 states, three Canadian provinces and the District of Columbia will be represented at the ceremonies. Dr. Harold W. Dodge, president of Princeton University, and Dr. James E. Conant, president of Harvard University, will be the principal speakers.

Pep-fest

The first pep fest of the 1942 football season will be held on the steps of Old College this Friday afternoon at 4:30 P. M.

All students of the University of Delaware are urged to attend and give the team a big send-off for the big game with West Chester.

There will be an important of all Blue Keys and Spartans next Monday, September 28. The meeting will be held in Wolf Hall at 7:00 P. M.

All members not attending the meeting will be dropped from the societies unless they see Walt Dkorkis or Pete Reburn before the meeting.

University Band To Hold First Practice Tomorrow At 5:00

At the first meeting of the University Band yesterday afternoon exactly twenty-two interested students were present. Mr. Kutz, director of the Newark High School Band, who has consented to help the students organize a University Band, also attended the meeting.

While the attendance was a little discouraging to those who are attempting to organize the band, some progress was made. However, before Delaware can have a band for football games there must be at least forty interested students, instead of twenty-two.

The first rehearsal is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon, September 23, at 8:00 P. M. in West Wing of Old College. All students who can play an instrument should attend the rehearsal. If you don't have your own instrument come anyhow, there are some instruments available.

STUDENTS—This is your last chance to have a University Band! If the meeting tomorrow is not a success the entire project will have to be dropped. It's up to you, so do your part.

Four Upperclassmen Pledge SPE Fraternity

George Barlow, Anthony Stalloni, Harry Irwin, and Jack Lee have been extended pledgeships by Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity. These men were "pinned" at a combined meeting of pledges and actives alike, in the fraternity library, on September 15.

Barlow, a senior, has been very active while at the University. He is a member of the Blue Hen Club and has participated in varsity basketball and football.

Toni Stalloni, a pre-law student has participated in varsity football for three years and is also a member of the Blue Hen's. He is a Junior.

Harry Irwin, a history major, has played left wing on the Delaware soccer team for the last three years. In addition to displaying soccer ability, Harry has demonstrated that there is a place for him on both the baseball and basketball teams. Lee, a Civil Engineer and transfer from the University of Maryland, has come to Delaware with an impressive record. Jack wrangled, swam, and played soccer for Maryland. He was also a member of the Student Grange and Footlights Club.

The addition of these four men makes the total Sig Ep pledge enrollment total ten.

Delaware Seeks To Maintain 13 Game Win Streak As Murray Starts 3rd Year

By BYRON SAMONSKY

The University of Delaware football team will pry the lid off its 1942 season this Friday night, September 25, when it meets the West Chester State Teacher's College at Wilmington Park starting at 8:30 o'clock. This will be the second game in a series that was inaugurated with West Chester last year. The game of last year resulted in a 7-7 stalemate.

Association Again Presents Concerts In Mitchell Hall

The series of concerts presented each year in Mitchell Hall by the Newark Community Concert Association will be given again during the present school year. Those who have attended concerts in the preceding series need not be reminded that the performers have always been selected from the highest talent available, and that the concerts contribute greatly to the pleasure and inspiration of University life. For the information of newcomers the following facts will be informative.

(1) The Association is a non-profit organization whose object is to bring to the community musical attractions of the highest calibre.

(2) Membership is open to any member of the community, by subscription payable in advance.

(3) All net funds from membership fees are used to bring to Newark the best available artists.

(4) Three, or possibly four concerts, depending upon the funds on hand, are given each year.

(5) Admittance to concerts may be had only by the presentation of membership cards.

(6) Since it is necessary to have all funds in advance, no admissions to single concerts can be sold at the door.

(7) The membership fee for students is $2.00 plus 20c tax. For others it is $5.00 plus 50c tax.

(8) Membership may be obtained only during the week of September 28 to October 3, inclusive.

(9) Membership may be obtained at

(a) Association headquarters, 73 E. Main Street.

(b) from any Association worker.

(c) from special representatives in each fraternity house, and in each dormitory.

(d) at a desk in the lobby of University Hall.

(10) Memberships are transferable. That is, any member who is unable to attend any particular concert may lend his card to someone else.

The membership fee for students has been set at the very minimum in order to place the concerts within the means of the greatest possible number of students. It is hoped that they will avail themselves of the opportunity of becoming members.

One hundred twenty engineering, science and management defense training courses are now under way in Texas.

A University of Oregon "athletic honor roll" shows more than 100 former Webfoot athletes now in the armed service of their country.

The Hens will be trying to maintain their spectacular win streak that has now reached 13 games. Coach Murray has been drilling his charges for four weeks and although there have been some injuries the team will be a presentable one that takes the field against the Rams.

The West Chester combine has already played one game this season. It defeated Moravian College 6-0 in the opening game for both schools. Nick Giunta was the star in this game. He made many long runs and the Moravian line found him a hard man to get their hands on. The Rams showed in last week's game that they will be a dangerous opponent for the Hens. They have many of last season's standout players on the team. Just a couple that Coach Murray's team will have to keep their eye on are Dick Wisniski who intercepted a pass that set up the West Chester score, Harry Tillet, who threw a pass to Pucci for the only score of the game, and their diminutive and elusive ball carrier, Nick Giunta.

Although the Rams have the advantage of already having played one game, the Blue and Gold men are set for them. They have been running their plays smoothly in practices and their defensive strength looks to be better this season than the one of last year which only netted their opponents 26 points.

The powerful line will be led by one of the tri-captains of the team, Hugh Bogovich, whose outstanding play of last season should be repeated. The remainder of the line is made up of veterans. The ends will be Harold "Buck" Thompson and Wade Pitt who are both strong on defensive as well as the offense. Bob Furman and Tony Stalloni, who has been shifted from the guard position that he played last year, will be the tackles. Combining at the other guard post with Bogovich will be Walt Marusa, while Barney Hancock will handle the pivot spot.

Football Schedule

Nov. 14—Western Maryland Wilm.
*Night games

A speedy, deceptive, and smooth working backfield will be led by two of the other tri-captains, Al Newcomb, whose field generalship and blocking abilities have made him a Hen standout, and Walt Paul, whose punting and running qualities made him a feared man on the Delaware squad last year. The remainder of the backfield will be made up of Art Millman, and Paul Hart, 210-pound back, whose job it will be to take

Rush Week . . .

Freshmen, this is your week! Until now, you have been the "rats" of the campus. However, the magic words "Rush Week" have transformed you from rodents to a very privileged and honored group on the campus.

During the past few weeks, the fraternities have been observing you on the campus, eating in Commons, in classes and even at the Women's College. Now it is your turn to inspect the fraternities. You will be invited to smokers and house parties, and all of the fraternities will welcome you anytime during the day or evening. You are asked to see the houses and meet the members so that it will be easier for you to decide which fraternity is the one you should join.

Before going any farther in this discussion, there is one very important point to be suggested—Be sure to consider all the fraternities. Don't spend a lot of your time in one house. Instead, go around to all of the houses, meet their respective members, and look over the houses themselves.

The problem of which fraternity you would like to join is one which you should give very careful consideration. The most important thing to do is to choose a house where you will fit in with the group living there. This will be the fraternity whose members you like and feel most at home with.

Your final decision is a very important one and should be made very carefully. Remember, you will probably have to spend the rest of your college days associating with the boys and living in the house of the fraternity which you choose.

INVEST IN VICTORY!

Our boys can take the War to the enemy, if we back them up with ships and tanks and guns! But that takes money!

Help your Government to put the tools of war into the hands of our soldiers by purchasing War Savings Bonds and Stamps. And remember . . . just one Bond can't lick the Axis any more than just one gun! It takes millions of Americans buying War Savings Bonds and Stamps every pay day!

Bonds cost $18.75 and up . . . and they pay you back one-third more in only 10 years! Stamps cost 10¢, 25¢, and up . . . soon total the price of a Bond if bought regularly.

Help our boys on the fighting fronts wherever they may be! Buy War Savings Bonds as an investment for yourself and your country.

"KEEP 'EM ROLLING"

Keeping old tires rolling—from consumers to rubber reclaiming centers to aid America's production program—are (left to right) pretty Peggy Hawkins, Janet Rowe and Peggy Kraft who have formed a committee to put over Atlantic City's salvage drive. They were caught by the cameraman on the celebrated Wooden Way where the dimout provides an intriguing background for the 1942 version of hoop-rolling.

Interfraternity Council President Explains Rush Week To Freshmen

By CAL GERNER

President, Interfraternity Council

After three weeks of orienting and adjusting yourself at Delaware you are to make this week one of the most momentous decisions of your life; i.e., should I join a fraternity, and if so, which one. I can imagine that you are somewhat confused about making such a step and would thus welcome some sort of an explanation of fraternity rushing that is taking place this week.

First of all, the fraternities are interested in good men—men who do things, men of ideals and spirit, men who are interested in Delaware. If you feel that you are such, you are a potential fraternity man.

You will hear a lot about the advantages of belonging to a fraternity this week and it is all "straight stuff." A group so closely united as a fraternity has something that isn't found anywhere else—an intangible brotherly spirit that you've probably already noticed, a feeling of betterment of the group and thus the individual that is lacking elsewhere. There are hundreds of things that make Greek-letter life an ideal investment that the men in each house will point out to you.

"RUSHING"—HOW IT WORKS

This week you will be "rushed." This means that you will meet many upperclassmen and visit many of the fraternity houses and as a gentleman you are expected to accept as many invitations as you possibly can. Rush week lasts until midnight Sunday and during that time it is a pretty good idea to examine all the houses and get acquainted with the members. Monday is the "Silent Period" and that afternoon the Dean's Office will be open to enable you to state your first and second choice of fraternities. This is a fair and square system that is convenient and advantageous to both parties.

The choice of a house is entirely up to you. The five here at Delaware are all good widely accepted national fraternities in good standing with the University. You'll find, nevertheless, that some or one appeals to you more than others. Perhaps the physical aspects of the house are superior; perhaps the members seem more like the type of fellow that you want to live with for the next three years. In many cases your parents may be impressed by one fraternity more than another. At any rate, make your decision wisely and thoughtfully, weighing every factor with deliberation. Beware of crackpot advice—the stakes are too big for anything but a positive choice of your own making.

Don't be bashful about this proposition—visit the houses whenever you have a free hour. When you have decided on a fraternity don't hesitate to "talk turkey"; the members are interested in having you know all about initiation fees, dues, etc. Many of the fraternities publish pamphlets describing their chapter in which you will find a more elaborate account than that which I have summarized here.

In summarizing I should like to formulate a byword with which you won't go wrong: Look them all over—make your choice—and stick by it.

Music is the leading extra-curricular activity on the campus of Texas Christian University.

Though, because of numerous conference championships and bowl games, many persons might have guessed football as the main student interest, a survey discloses more than twice as many students participate in musical activities as in all intercollegiate athletic endeavors.

A total of 143 students this year are members of the Horned Frog band, the mixed chorus, the symphony orchestra and several smaller musical organizations.

Intercollegiate athletics attracted 61 boys, in football, basketball, baseball and track teams.

Library Notes

We had been talking about "The stones begin to dance" by Aben Kandel, which I said I did not like, but I supposed . . .

"But you suppose it must be good because the reviews have all been good. My dear fellow, in my opinion, and this, mind you, is only my opinion, in my opinion a book is good or bad as the lady in Shakespeare so wisely put it not because the reviews or the knowing ones or the libraries call it good but because you think it so. There are almost as many dead books as there have been forecasts of bibliographical immortality, and almost as few living ones as there have been wholly unfavorable reviews, which is a mild statement in its way."

"Reviewers . . ." I volunteered.

"Exactly. Reviewers have a living to earn too and although you can butter a little of your bread with frank, unvarnished reviews, your reviewer will be not butterless merely, but without the staff itself if he differs too proudly, too often, and too long. I recall picking up Walter Meller's 'Old Times' is a remainder stall a dozen years ago. The pictures, the print, the format generally appealed to me and, though I remembered nothing of the reviews beyond the fact that I had somehow not read them, I bought it at once and repented at leisure. There were sentences about nothing which began nowhere, progressed through a morass of parentheses and wound up where they began. Not one, but scores of them.

So I looked it up that I might be assured on the word of authority that I had spent my pennies badly."

"And you were justified?"

"On the contrary. There were three or four reviews, not long ones to be sure, but full of praise which no human being who had wasted eyesight on the book could have had the effrontery to write, be his need for butter never so great."

It was an opportunity to use my new word. "So you eschew . . ."

"No, I take them with salt. But, review nor no review, a good book speaks aloud for itself. Have you looked at Knopf's 1930 edition of William Cobbett's Advice to young men (and incidentally) to young women?"

I had not.

"Now there's a book which is just over a century old. I don't know that you'll find a review of it. I have seen it mentioned occasionally, the latest, I think, in Holbrook Jackson's 'Anatomy of bibliomania.' The author was a crank and, according to some views, a criminal. He was the embodied spirit of self-satisfaction and the butt of sarcasm in his time and much neglect in ours. He had as many shortcomings as Wagner and his virtues obtruded themselves so offensively as to take on the character of vices."

"And yet . . ."

" . . . I read it with satisfaction from introduction to the last page, was sorry when it was finished, and never happy out of earshot of someone to whom to read choice bits. He is a violent man, but violence mellows after a hundred years, in a pleasant binding with good print."

College Hours

Students are urged by Dr. Hulihan to hold themselves ready to attend a College Hour each and every Thursday on short notice. In time of emergency no one knows when and how often the meeting of the entire student body will be necessary. Students will watch the bulletin boards at all times for it will be impossible to plan all College Hours in advance, and case of a sudden need for a meeting, the bulletin boards are the best means of notifying students that such a meeting will be held.

S P O R T S

Hen Scratches

DOUGHERTY AND PIPER

Come Friday night and the Hens will have either tied another scalp on a well-laden belt or taken it on the chin from an outfit that has been itching to do just that. Last year the Teachers almost upset our apple cart and they've been griping about it ever since—and nobody is in a hurry to sell short a team that is mad.

With a 6-0 win over Moravian last Friday night to toughen up the butterfingers and a lizard-like back named Giunta, the Rams will loom as anything but a breeze in our initial battle. Theirs is a squad studded with plenty of veterans including Ed Wieland and Joe Martin who collaborated for that nauseating pass last September 27th.

Pass defense, the one cankerous sore spot in the otherwise ironclad '41 defense, is being given plenty of attention by the coaching staff, and if the Teacher pass snappers operate consistently behind our secondary as they did in the last game there is certainly someone of color in the woodpile.

Despite the Emancipation Proclamation concerning Rat Rules, it is suggested that the frosh attend en masse and screech their larynxes to a froth as all noble Frshmen have done for the last 51 years.

"Quick Henry, the tape!"

Murray's galaxy of holdovers for the coming campaign seemed to paint a picture too blue, and so it looks as if fate stuck in a couple of strokes. The great eleven of '41 fame is like a tire with a couple of patches, now. Red Hogan provided the first blowout when he received his call from the army, leaving the fullback post vacant. Paul Hart is filling this quite capably, with his passing running practically on a par with the Redhead's.

Then it was Hugh McClelland, a frosh fullback who was really a comer. This lad from Episcopal could pass, run, and kick with the best of them. A shoulder injury he sustained last week may keep him out for several weeks.

No. 3 fullback to hit the inactive list was "Coal-dust" Coady, tailback for the Golds. Joe suffered an ankle injury during that same last week, and the probability is that he will not see action against West Chester. This leaves Coach Murray mighty slim on fullbacks having Paul Hart, a starter, and frosh Steve Romanick and John Houseman in reserve. Romanick is a fair passer, and after his baptism under fire, should hold up okay.

Buck Thompson left a gap in the Blue Hens' line when a sprained ankle diminished his hopes of starting against the Teachers. Buck, a good end on any coach's team, provided scintillating pass-snatching and knife-like defensive play to spark the team. However, this may give Pless Poole, a rugged wingman from the South, a chance to prove his worth.

The lineup as we see it:

Delaware	West Chester S. T.
L.E. Pitt	White
L.T. Furman	Moffett
L.G. Bogovich	Adams
Center Hancock	McCorkle
R.G. Marusa	Guidin
R.T. Stalloni	Suydam
R.E. Barlow or Thompson	Wisneski
Q.B. Newcomb	Tillet
L.H.B. Paul	Fucci
R.H.B. Millman	Giunta
F.B. Hart	Capriotti

Intramurals

Intramural six-man touch football leagues are now being formed. There will be two leagues consisting of fraternity and non-fraternity teams. Squads will be limited to 11 members. The schedule is now in the formative stage and play is expected to start within a week or two.

Last year the "keepers," known as the "Oscars" the previous year, retained their school championship by defeating the fraternity champs, the Sigma Nu's, by a 36-6 score. Two members of the team have entered the service—Tom Scripps and Ed "Ace" Bradley, passer and end respectively. However, the "keepers" are out to retain the title, with holdovers Burkett, Reed, Elsaesser, and Hollingsworth back in the fold, along with several newcomers.

Those wishing to participate in this year's intramural football program are requested to get their team lists ready and turn them into Mr. Lawrence as soon as possible.

Editor of THE REVIEW

University of Delaware
Newark, Delaware

In last week's edition of THE REVIEW, there appeared in the column written by those idols of the sports-world, "Piper and Dougherty, a rather slighting remark about Roy "Pecker" Hand as they called him, and his efforts toward making the soccer team. It is this writer's opinion that such a comment by these two "supermen" writers was neither necessary nor called for. After all, we can't all be built like Atlas; and often times the efforts of the small man are worth a damned sight more than those of the big man. Maybe Roy is no six foot 300 lb. specimen but it should be none here and now that he is working harder than anyone out there on the soccer field. One has only to ask Coach Lawrence or better still, attend a practice and see for himself if I'm not right. A few guys around here ought to learn not to criticize another's efforts, no matter how poor they may be. Of course, our two writers do so much toward helping the teams that they can overlook the other guys' efforts. Don't forget Messrs. Piper and Dougherty, that there are plenty of small men in this world. Some day they're going to be heard from. And when they are, guys like you had better steer clear of them.

West Chester's new coach, Heinie Miller, former mentor at St. Joseph's College, will be trying to halt the Blue Hen winning streak as well as winning his second game of the season, while Coach William D. Murray will be out to keep the slate clean for the Delaware team. The lineups:

Delaware	West Chester

Hancock center	McCorkle
Marusa right guard	Guidin
Stalloni right tackle	Suydam
Pitt right end	Wisneski
Newcomb quarterback	Tillet

Millman right halfback	Giunta

All Youths Destined
To Help Win War

The college student's part in winning the war has been clearly laid down by War Manpower Chief Paul V. McNutt. The path of service forks: All able-bodied males are bound for duty in the armed forces. All others, men and co-eds must be trained to carry the ball on the Home Front.

Mr. McNutt in a speech at Purdue recently, said:

"The colleges and universities are charged with increasing the number of technicians upon which both industry and the armed forces depend. The colleges and universities, by insuring a continual supply of technically trained men and women, can insure the continual increase of our strength for victory and for peace."

University of Wisconsin students who attended the 1942 junior prom went without corsages to buy more than $500 worth of defense stamps.

Classes in military science and tactics were conducted during summer sessions at the University of Minnesota this year for the first time.

Seventy-two per cent of the students in the University of California college of dentistry work while they are in school.

Eastern Oregon college students have formed their own air raid protection unit and first aid corps.

Sports In Review

Ed. Note: With an apology to Mr. Kieran of the New York Times, we introduce to the many (?) readers of this page a new column: "Sports in Review" . . . by Bob Levine.

With the football and soccer season in the offing, we thought (and we do think occasionally), that it wouldn't be a bad idea to mosey down to the locker rooms and see what tidbits of gossip our ears could pick up. So with pencil and paper in hand and a sharp eye looking out for rival reporters we entered the abode of the lockers.

It took just one whiff of the odor usually thin . . . emanating from the place and we made a headlong dive for the open air. In a few minutes we had fortified ourselves with a couple stiff milk shakes and we were once more ready to brave the elements of the locker room.

But today was our lucky day, for just as we were again to enter those detested confines, who should come stumbling out gasping for breath, but that snappy skipper of the Soccer Team, Bill Lawrence.

Hurry we thought, here's our chance for a good story, as we dropped both pencil and paper in our excitement.

"Mr. Lawrence," we managed to blurt out, "what's the chances of the soccer team this year?"

After taking a few gulps of fresh air he turned to us.

"Of course," he said, "it's too early to really tell, but I can say that I've got quite a lot of material."

"That's very revealing," I told him, "especially since everybody in Delaware knows that the 35 tryouts this term constitute one of the biggest turnouts in recent years."

"Well, confidentially," he said, raising his voice to a high pitch, "I don't mind telling you that if the material proves satisfactory, the Soccer Team should be as good as any other team Delaware will turn out this fall."

"Who said that?" came a southern accent from around the corner of the locker room and in less time (if that's possible) than it takes "Bogey" to stop a line plunge, who should be upon us but no less a personality than "Football" Bill Murray.

Who all said that the soccer team could be as good in Delaware College sports as my football squad? Why, nothing on the campus can compare with my football team," said Murray.

"Yeah," laughed Lawrence, "why, my soccer boys could run rings around your football men. In fact, they'd make those pigskinners seem like the Newark to Wilmington bus compared to the newest flying fortresses."

"Is that so?" retorted Murray, "why all we'd have to do is have one scrimmage and my boys would have your soccer players flatter than a freshman after his first Military Drill."

"On yeah," said Lawrence, "well . . ."

Well, well, is that being of sound mind (no wise cracks) and being the only one attending the proceedings, I decided to depart post-haste before some spectator got hurt.

It would be safer for me, I figured, if I went where I could spend my time writing to my congressman or somebody asking why something couldn't be done to the locker rooms to fumigate them.

At any rate, we wish the best of luck to both Coach Murray and Coach Lawrence, and we know they'll both have great seasons if they just now down the opposition as well as Uncle Sam is going to do it to the Axis.

OUR DAY

By Stew & Hank

Revised deadline time of early Saturday stymies any attempt on our part to bring you a scoop on the Welcome Scrimmage of Saturday eve. But from the Frosh (?) Hop we can bring you an item that interests us. (And by the way, Jackie would get sore if we didn't print this.) It seems that Jackie has taken up the handleading profession and made his debut at the Frosh affair.

TIP: If you ever have any time to kill and want to double your moxie, just step over to the Monte Carlo establishment (now running full tilt) that sometimes goes under the name of the Tra—g Hue.

Well there is one thing we can say for some of the WCD Ladies they do have a nice profile all the way down.

Well this week is rush week and wholesale trapping is now being carried out in grand style. So, Frosh, here's a tip. This week you are king, next week, (when pledged) you . . .

FAMOUS LAST WORDS:

So long, fellas I'm going to gym!

Well, Our Prexy has done it. You are no longer allowed to talk to "those Girls." To put it briefly, Boom Booms Blitzed. A number of snappy romances are thus thrown on the rocks. But take it easy Dick and Ham!

And then, of course, Pinky tells us about the church she goes to. It seems that it is so small that every time the preacher says Dearly Beloved she thinks it's a proposal.

And as Billy Nash told us the other day, as far as he can see a professor is, in reality a text-book wired for sound.

Victor "When I drink, everybody drinks, when I pay everybody pays" di Sabitino has accomplished his life time goal. His pin now resides on the Southside of the Campus. Nice work Thelma!

We are inclined to believe that when Lincoln freed the slaves the Commons hired them.

And as the WCDame says, Alone in the blackout is more fun if you aren't.

Hot Horse Harry Irwin is quite peeved over the fact that the soccerettes get NO publicity in the Wilmington Gab sheets. Will someone please give Harry a break?

POEM OF THE WEEK:

E 52 Selects "Eve Of St. Mark" For Fall Production

For their first production of the current season the E 52 Players at the University of Delaware have selected the recently published and as yet unproduced play by Maxwell Anderson, one of America's leading playwrights. THE EVE OF ST. MARK was written especially for the National Theatre Conference New Play Project for release to non-professional theatres without regard to previous Broadway production. Delaware playgoers will therefore have the opportunity of seeing this new work before or at the same time as New York audiences.

Tentative dates for the production by the Players are October 22 and 23. The Playwrights Company in New York has announced a production sometime in October.

The play deals with the people of the United States unified in a great struggle for the preservation of their ideals. Writes Professor Lee Norvelle, Director of Theatre at the University of Indiana and Chairman of the New Play Project, "The play is, in my judgment, one of the greatest contributions yet made to the democratic way of life through the medium of the theatre. Mr. Anderson has written a play of and for the people of the United States in a time of national crisis."

Dr. C. R. Kase, Director of Dramatics, has announced the following tentative cast: Layton Mabrey, Russell Wilson, Leah Ottey, Irving Morris Park Huntington, Edwin Bruce Ayars, Henry Jacobs, Bill Pool, Morton Schulman, Barton Case, Louis Pais, Phyllis White, Dorothy Welsh, Marguerite Engberg, Helen Wilson, Joseph Haw, and Nancy Hammond.

The first rehearsal will be held on Tuesday, September 22, at 4:45 P. M. in Mitchell Hall.

The health service at the University of Minnesota has administered standard cold remedies to students in an experiment to determine their effectiveness.

Some participating students, although they were not aware of it, took only ordinary sugar pills instead of the regular cold pills. They were asked to check whether the treatment had helped the cold.

Thirty-five per cent of those treated with sugar pills reported "improvement," doctors said.

Welcome Dance A Success Despite Crowds And Heat

On with the dance! Let joy be unconfined! These were the by-words of the gala affair presented in the Commons of Old College last Saturday night. It was the annual Welcome Dance which marked the official opening of Delaware's social season. Spirits were high and the lights low as lovely damsels flitted across the floor led by their graceful partners. Newer students needed little prodding to step out and trip the light fantastic, for the alluring charms of our students from the lower end of the campus were irresistible. Dancing was from 8:00

The dance was informal so as to expedite the forming of new acquaintances and to facilitate the renewal of old ones. The heat drove many people away, and the steps of old college were just as popular as the dance floor.

One of Wilmington's most popular bands, Sid Foster and his Cadets, furnished the music for the evening. His arrangements offered both sweet and swing rhythms to suit the varying tastes of the dancers.

Attendance was limited to students of the college and their dates, outsiders being barred. Tickets for admission were the athletic season tickets.

The absence of decorations was unavoidable due to war conditions; however, it apparently did not detract in any way from the gaiety of the evening.

Those in the receiving line were: Dr. and Mrs. Squire, Dr. and Mrs. Caldwell, Pete Reburn, Barbara McKinney, Carl Wright and date.

Prom Committee Sends Student Questionnaires

Questionnaires have been circulated among the student body of Delaware College by the Junior Prom Committee in the hope that final decisions may be reached on questions vital to the success of the largest social affair on the campus.

The Junior Prom, strictly the student's affair, will be arranged in such a manner as to satisfy the greatest amount of people and provide the highest type of recreation for the traditional "Prom Night."

The questions concerned were:

1. Do you want the Prom in the new Field House or in Wilmington?
2. Do you want it formal or informal?
3. If formal, do you want flower corsages or war stamp corsages?

Although the field house is nearing completion and will be ready by November 27, the Committee felt that the problem of transportation would be felt by the residents of Wilmington. Because other colleges have banned formal attire at dances, it was felt that the same opinion might rest with the majority of the students in the form of the third question concerning corsages.

Tabulation of the ballots will be held Tuesday night and results will be released to the students in the next issue of THE REVIEW. Students who have not voted and who wish to do so may register their vote with Art Stewart.

Members of Delta Gamma sorority at the University of Akron, hearing that men students were buying fewer defense stamps than were the co-eds, offered a kiss with each stamp sold on "bargain" day.

The usual day's sales had been $8. "Bargain" day hit $30.

Not to be outdone, the Purdue university chapter of Alpha Zeta, national agricultural honorary fraternity, held a dinner.

But there wasn't any food on the table. Money that would have been spent for food was given to the Red Cross or used to buy defense bonds.

An athletic field at the College of St. Scholastica, Duluth, Minn., covers one-third of the 160-acre campus.
