Proposed Law Will Limit Parking Near University Campus

More Streets May Come Under 1-Hour Rule On One Side Of Thoroughfare

Limiting parking near the University of Delaware may soon be passed by the Council.

The proposed new law calls for one side of the street, restricted to one side of the street, from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. on University Avenue, North and South College Avenues, Academy Street, East College Place, Amstel Avenue and Kent Street.

Limiting parking problems in Newark have multiplied in the past several years, Mayor Wallace M. Johnson said in pointing out the reasons for the proposed new law. The increase in university personnel and the opening of the new plant south of town are the factors behind the growing congestion.

The outlook for the future is even brighter, according to Mayor Johnson, especially in view of the expected growth of the university, the possible construction of new plants here and the erection of the proposed university stadium.

The Mayor also pointed out that he has received numerous complaints regarding the town's traffic conditions.

Newark Sea Scouts Earn Regional Flag

Award Presented At Formal Ship's Ceremony

Newark's Sea Scout Ship, Admiral Kelly, has been awarded the regional flag and is entitled to fly it from the ship's mast. The award is gained by earning a fixed number of points during various sea scout activities carried on throughout the year.

The presentation was made last Friday by A. W. Glessner, district executive, who presided at a formal Ship's Ceremony, with many guests and friends of the scouts present.

Several scouts also received promotion. The most important went to Tom Skinner who was advanced to the rank of Able Sea Scout, the first in the ship. The following scouts were moved up from apprentice to full rank: Mario Lepera, John Mason, Rodger Kaufman, and Charles Glessner. The star scout badge was awarded by Rodger Kaufman, and the scout badge by Robert Stumpf and Ed Brown. The latter is the ship's skipper.

In earning the regional flag, the ship is rated on the following: advanced number of scouts present at each meeting, number of scouts in complete uniform, service work to the community, scouts attending summer camp and many other items.

John Dorrell, skipper of the Blandy, has officers are to be congratulated on winning the honor.

Christmas Operetta Dec. 15 At Schools

The spirit of Christmas has already spread at the Newark schools, where rehearsals are underway for the elementary school operetta, "Red Cantata," to be presented the evening of Dec. 15.

Mr. Esther Fenilton, elementary music supervisor, heads various committees directing the production. The show will include novelty numbers, dancing with new songs and dances, and promising a brightly entertaining evening.

Mothers Club Hears U. of D. Faculty Woman

Mrs. Karl Parker Hanson, assistant director of education at the University of Delaware, spoke on basic human management at the November meeting of the Newark Mothers Club.

Mrs. George Axinn and Mrs. Ardwin served as hostess and co-hostess. The committee consisted of Mrs. Harold Feery, chairman, Mrs. Dana Fletcher, Mrs. Curtis Rymer and Mrs. Ernest Mayne.

Toys And Canned Goods Again Sought To Fill Xmas Baskets For Newark's Needy

The Christmas spirit can't wait until Christmas if Newark's needy families are to have a merry holiday.

Every year Christmas baskets of food and toys are distributed to local families who otherwise would have a cheerless Christmas. These gifts are possible only if Newark's more fortunate residents show a little pre-Christmas spirit.

Local girl scouts will go from door to door here Nov. 24 to pick up cast-off toys. These will be repaired by volunteer workers. Especially sought are toys for older children, since the workers always receive more than enough for the younger ones.

A collection of canned food will be held later by the scouts, probably in early December. Donations of either toys or canned foods may be left at any time in the legion rooms, old Academy building. Volunteers are also being sought to help repair the toys.

The project is sponsored annually by the American Legion and Auxiliary in conjunction with the New Century Club and the Town Council. Mrs. A. P. Colburn, Century Club welfare chairman, Mrs. Robert Lewis, and Mayor Johnson are cooperating with the Legion aides in the work.

Spivakovsky, Noted Violin Virtuoso, To Play Here Nov. 27

To Appear In U. of D. Artist Series; Ranked With 4 Top Living Masters Of Bow

Tossy Spivakovsky, who violin technique has been described by critics as "the most colossal of any soloist now before the public," will present the second of the 1950-51 Artists Series concerts at the University of Delaware's Mitchell Hall on Monday night, Nov. 27. His performance, at 8:15 p. m., will be open to the public as well as to students, under a reserved-seat sale plan.

Spivakovsky is ranked with the four greatest masters of the bow today, and has won a unique place for himself in the American concert world within the past few seasons.

He played the record number of 83 dates during the 1948-49 season. It was the biggest tour for a major violinist since the days of Kreisler and Elton in the early '20s. Last season he fulfilled another completely sold-out tour, bringing his orchestral appearances alone to 51 in only three seasons. This year his tour, including some of the most choice appearances in the country, was completed months ahead of schedule.

Spivakovsky caused one of the greatest sensations in music when he made his debut appearance with the San Francisco symphony in January, 1948, playing the first local performance of the Bela Bartok Concerto under the direction of Pierre Monteux. His was the biggest ovation heard in San Francisco in years. The following season, Spivakovsky returned to San Francisco again. This time, other than Heifetz, he was the only soloist featured in two concertos on one program.

Next March, when Spivakovsky returns for the third successive time to play with the San Francisco Symphony, he will be heard in the Beethoven Violin Concerto, the greatest mark of honor an orchestra of major standing can give a visiting violin virtuoso.

During the current season, following a short tour of the north countries of South America, Spivakovsky will also make return engagements with the St. Louis, Cincinnati, and Cleveland orchestras, and will be heard with the Minneapolis Symphony, Rochester (Please Turn to Page 2)

Lt.-Col. J. Robinson Is Assigned To New Job

Lt. Col. James C. Robinson, Jr., former Inspector General at the School of Aviation Medicine, has been transferred to the Air Training Command, it was announced in school orders published this week. His new assignment, however, involves no change of station, as it is to the 3510th Pilot Training Wing, also on Randolph AFB.

Colonel Robinson, a senior pilot, came to the School of Aviation Medicine from Maxwell AFB last spring, and since the recent administrative reorganization of the school, which eliminated the Inspector General office, has been serving as assistant to the Director of Administration.

During World War II Colonel Robinson, a senior pilot, saw overseas service with the Seventh Air Force on Okinawa. He is a graduate of the University of Delaware and of the Air Command and Staff School. His home is in Newark, Delaware.

Action picked up on the local crime front in October, with police making 56 arrests as against only 45 for the preceding month, according to Chief William Cunningham's report.

Speeding again topped the list, with 22 motorists being picked up for violating the 25-mile limit in town.

The breakdown for the remainder follows: passing red light, 4 arrests; drunken driving, 2; driving without lights, 1; passing yellow "walk" light, 2; passing on right, 4; passing "stop" sign, 2; disorderly conduct, 5; failing to stop for police whistle, 1; assault and battery, 2; larceny, 3; leaving scene of accident, 1; drunk, 1; knowingly permitting, 1; no operator's license, 1.

Work Still Halted On Two Homes Here

Partially Completed Bungalows Violate Zone Law

Work is still at a standstill on the two new bungalows on East Cleveland Avenue erected in violation of the zoning law.

The builder, G. Wesley Wollaston, has entered a request for rezoning the north side of East Cleveland Avenue from an RD to an RA district in order to clear up the violation.

The request, signed by three property owners of the area, was presented at the November meeting of the Town Council on Tuesday night. The lawmakers referred the question to the Town Solicitor John P. Sinclair for study.

The two partially completed bungalows violate side yard clearance regulations in the area. The zoning law calls for at least eight feet between buildings and property lines there. Mr. Wollaston's homes only have about a five foot clearance.

If Mr. Wollaston's request meets the regulations, the Board of Adjustments may hold another public hearing on the issue.

Both homes are now boarded up, pending solution of the problem.

School Taxes

A total of $11,554.51 was received in 1950 school taxes in September, according to Supt. Wilmer E. Shue.

Methodist Choir To Sing Sacred Cantata On Sunday Afternoon

The senior choir of the Newark Methodist Church will present part one of the sacred cantata, "The Holy City" by Alfred R. Gaul, on Sunday at 4:30 p. m. in the church.

The choir will be under the direction of Miss Sarah A. Revelle. Soloists will be Mrs. James Everett and Don Martin, members of the choir.

"The Holy City" was composed by Gaul for the Birmingham Musical Festival in 1932 and has since earned a respected place in the ranks of great sacred choral works. The words are almost entirely Scriptural and also include two hymns, a verse from Milton, and three verses from Te Deum.

This musical presentation is a part of Membership Sunday, which is being observed as the climax of the Evangelistic Advance conducted this fall. At the morning service, a class of new members will be received into the fellowship of the church. Dr. John J. Bunting, Jr., minister of the church, will deliver the sermon and conduct the confirmation service.

The junior choir, under the direction of Miss Revelle, will make its first fall appearance at the morning service, singing "Thanksgiving," a Rhenish folk song arranged by White. The senior choir will sing "Triumph Thanksgiving" by Rachmaninoff.

The public is cordially invited to attend both the morning service and the musical presentation in the afternoon.

Lack Of Classrooms Halts Kindergarten Project At Schools

Proposal To Organize Pre-School Class Next September Is Shelved

Lack of classroom space will prevent organizing the kindergarten program planned here for next September, it was decided at the November meeting of the Board of Education on Friday.

The board took the step reluctantly after Supt. Wilmer E. Shue explained that the school's housing facilities are already overtaxed and that a 200-pupil enrollment increase is expected next year. He also pointed out that state educational authorities have said they will not approve a kindergarten program here until all regular classes are adequately housed.

The board, however, reaffirmed its intention of launching the program as soon as it is feasible, which will probably not be until after the completion of the district's proposed new elementary building in a rural area. A request for funds to finance the building project will go before the next session of the General Assembly.

A study by the board estimates the first year costs of a kindergarten program at around $24,200, exclusive of funds for new classrooms. This covers up to $12,000 in salaries for three or four teachers, $4,200 in supplies and $8,000 in initial equipment. Before a kindergarten program could be organized here, the question would have to be approved by the voters of the district in a referendum.

Social Security payments for one parttime and six fulltime cafeteria workers at the schools were also approved. The cafeteria staff had previously approved the step, which for the first time makes the employees eligible for Social Security benefits.

A question as to whether or not the board was appropriating sufficient funds for the town library led to a study of the 1935 referendum on the subject. It was found this authorized the board to levy a two-cent tax to provide not less than $500 nor over $1,000 for the library. The latter amount is now being appropriated annually from school board funds and is supplemented by state support.

The Newark schools earn a rating of 130 in the school evaluation checklist published in the Oct. 16 issue of Life Magazine, Mr. Shue said. This means that, according to the Life questionnaire, the local schools rank among the best in the nation.

A $180 school tax refund was approved for Peter Zeittler, who was incorrectly billed for that amount by the county tax receiver. It was discovered that Mr. Zeittler is not a resident of the Newark district.

The board also heard reports from Frederick B. Kutz, high school principal, and Henry Brader, elementary supervisor. Both men reported on the work of this year's new teachers. Mr. Kutz summarized some remarks on the faculty made by Dr. John R. Shilling, of the state board of education, after a recent visit here. Mr. Brader pointed up the "democratic atmosphere" noted in the local schools by a recent group of visiting educators from Pennsylvania.

No Fires Reported In Town During October

Not a single fire was reported in town during October, according to Charles E. Moore, Aetna fire recorder. This makes the first alarm free month in many years here.

The volunteers answered fire alarms in the district during the 31-day period for fires causing an estimated $5,000 in property loss.

The ambulance made 43 mercy runs, covering 1022 miles.

Enrollment Jump Seen

An enrollment increase of 56 in the elementary school and 144 in the high school is anticipated in the Newark district for the 1951-52 term, according to Supt. Wilmer E. Shue.

The present enrollment is 900 in the elementary and 700 in the high school.

Council Will Rent Portions Of Old Academy For Town Hall

First Floor And Basement To Be Renovated For Town Offices; Action On Rent Control Postponed Until Dec.; Public Ash Collection Approved

The plan to restore partially the old Academy building for use as a town hall moved a step ahead at the November meeting of the Town Council on Tuesday night, when the lawmakers agreed to rent the first floor and basement of the historic structure.

In a business crammed session, the Council also gave initial readings to an ordinance controlling trailer parking in the town limits, postponed action on rent control, set new and stringent regulations for the police department, and made plans for a regular public ash collection.

It appears certain now that the town will soon leave its cramped quarters on Academy Street for more spacious offices in the old Academy building. The lawmakers accepted an offer of the building's board of trustees to occupy portions of the Academy rent free the first year and at a nominal fee thereafter. The trustees will retain full ownership and remain responsible for maintenance. The town will finance any repairs or alterations necessary to convert the building into a municipal headquarters.

According to plans outlined by Councilmen Carl S. Rankin and Samuel Diehl, the basement and first floor of the Academy will be renovated to provide quarters for the town administration.

A proposal to hold a referendum on the question of continuing rent controls here until next June will be discussed at a special meeting of Town Council tomorrow at 8 p. m.

Administrative force, engineering department and police force. The town library, now housed on the first floor, will be moved to another section of the building. Library officials are heartily cooperating in the project, it was said.

The new town hall will also contain public rest rooms and quarters for the town's elder statesmen who now gather in the summer months in the area before the Main Street school building.

The long range proposal to restore the Academy to its original condition will not be taken up by the Council, it was pointed out. This will be done only if aid is secured from state historical agencies and private societies. The restoration plan was proposed by Mayor Wallace M. Johnson last month when he first announced the town's intention of transferring the Academy building into a town headquarters.

Action on rent controls was postponed until the December meeting, but the lawmakers gave assurance that a vote on the issue would be held at that time. Under the local option terms of a recent federal law, the Council has the authority to continue controls until June, 1950. If no action is taken the ceilings will automatically expire Dec. 31.

In connection with the issue, representatives of four local unions were on hand Tuesday night to urge Council to continue the controls until the June deadline. The group included spokesmen for workers at the Danita Hosiery, Chrysler plant, Continental-Diamond and National Vulcanized plants. They were told to be on hand at the December session.

A resolution authorizing the purchase and installation of six-inch water pipe for the loop connection in Nottingham Manor, the Hall Development and the Beverly Road project near the University Garden Apartments was approved by the lawmakers.

This action, at least as it refers to the Nottingham Manor project, appears to be a reversal of a decision made by Council at its October meeting. At that time, Wayne Brewer, representing (Continued on Page 2)

Fire In Orchard Road Home on Monday Night

Two fires broke out here the past week, the first coming around 10:30 p. m. Friday, when leaves became ignited in the gutter along Amstel Avenue. No serious damage occurred.

The second call came at 10:40 p. m. Monday, when an oil heater caught fire at the home of R. W. Helm, Orchard Road.

The flames destroyed the furnace wiring and caused some smoke damage in the cellar. The loss has not been estimated, according to Charles E. Moore, fire recorder.

U. of D. Representatives At Land-Grant College Parley

Ten representatives of the University of Delaware are participating in the sixty-fourth annual convention of the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities, in Washington, D. C., this week.

The delegation is headed by Dr. John A. Perkins, president, and also includes: Dr. Allan P. Colburn, provost; Dean Francis H. Squire, Dean David L. Aarn, Dean Irma Ayers, Dean Carl J. Rees, Dr. W. Owen Sypher, George M. Worrlow, and Paul M. Hodgson.

Council Meeting

the Nottingham Manor Association, requested Council to install about 750 feet of water pipe in that section at a cost of around $4,000, in order to provide increased fire protection. He said a previous Council had agreed to assume the cost of the work. The lawmakers told him then that his plan was not practical and that, in any case, such pipe was impossible to obtain at this time. They advised him to renew his request when the material became available.

Councilman William Coverdale pointed out the apparent contradiction between this stand and the new resolution. He added that the Nottingham Manor section was outside the town limits and he said he felt in-town projects, such as the southside sewer, should get first priority. He refused to vote on the resolution.

Mayor Johnson explained that since the last session Town Supervisor Francis Niede had come up with a practical plan for bringing the entire area into the water system, thus providing for the future developments there, which the town will soon be called on to serve. As for the southside sewer, Mayor Johnson said the project was on the town's work schedule and would be handled in its proper order.

The proposed trailer camp ordinance, which was given its first and second readings, will be carried in full in the next issue of the Post. It provides lengthy regulations controlling the parking and use of trailers within the town limits. In general, it limits trailer camps to the northeast section of town, north of the Baltimore and Ohio tracks and chiefly in the Bernard property. It also requires a five dollar permit for each trailer in a camp and forbids their parking on any street, highway or public place in the town limits.

Councilman Coverdale refused to approve the initial readings of this measure on the grounds that it would work hardships on the owners of several trailers long situated in the town, specifically three near Ray Elliott's Sunoco Station and one on Academy Street. Mayor Johnson said the Council was primarily seeking publicity on the measure in the first readings and would be guided by public reaction in the final reading next month.

A lengthy set of new and stringent regulations governing the police force was also approved. The articles, modeled after those governing the Wilmington police force, regulate the general conduct and behavior of the officers while on duty. They provide stiff penalties for violations but give the offender a right of a trial with counsel, similar to a military court martial, if he desires. The board of judges will comprise the Mayor, Town Solicitor and the Police Commissioner.

A petition urging that the Danita Hosiery plant provide private parking space for its employees was read at the session. The document, signed by 45 residents of the area and protested the nuisance created by workers' cars parked all day on such streets as Wyrting and Ashley Roads, East Park area, and residential sections of South Chapel Street.

The lawmakers agreed to send a letter to the Danita management, urging that immediate steps be taken to correct the situation. It was pointed out that at a recent Council meeting a Danita representative appeared before the lawmakers and stated that the company was then building a parking lot for its employees. The project, however, seems to have either been abandoned or delayed.

Plans for a regular public ash collection to begin the week of Dec. 4 were also drawn up by the lawmakers. Details as to dates of collection will be drafted by the street and sewer department. Local truckers will be asked to submit sealed bids on the work on an hourly basis. Once the collections are organized, Council will seek yearly contracts for the work.

Mayor Johnson issued a reminder that no foreign matter, such as newspapers, should be placed in garbage cans. Under terms of the town's contract with the garbage collector, such waste must be unwrapped and contain food refuse.

Town Alderman John R. Downes was ordered to proceed with the collection of a number of delinquent parking meter fines.

Councilman Diehl announced plans for placing large tags on all parking meters, listing the hours when the devices are in operation. There has been some confusion among local motorists regarding the hours, he said, especially the Friday night hours. It is hoped this procedure will serve as a convenience to car owners.

An ordinance calling for the daily licensing of all door-to-door pedlars here received its final reading and automatically became law. The measure is designed to protect housewives from bogus salesmen.

Another ordinance was also passed. This formally legalizes Sunday movies here and repeals an old law governing public entertainment.

A request from Herman Wollaston and Joseph A. Barkley for a tax refund on property along South College Avenue, which they recently sold to St. Thomas Church was referred to Town Solicitor John P. Sinclair for a recommendation.

Councilman Frank Durnall was authorized to set up suitable auditing controls for the town ambulance fund. Some confusion exists as to whether the Aetna Company or the town is auditing the fund.

A letter was received from Clarence A. Whitman, RD 3, protesting the reclassification of a V-shaped piece of property on East Cleveland Avenue, just off North Chapel Street, from RD to commercial to permit the erection of a filling station by Irvin Crowe. Councilman Frank Durnall, who read the letter, said he believed Mr. Whitman had mistaken the piece of ground involved, since it is not near Mr. Whitman's property.

Mary Cramer was on the surgical list last Thursday, when she had her tonsils and adenoids removed, and is definitely on the convalescent list at this time.

Barbara George patronized the Delaware Memorial Hospital for her T & M this past Wednesday. Consolation, Mary, is the thought that those big people can put you through that only once.

We think that it is rather significant that this township had 179 voters out of a possible 225 registered voters. I wonder if everyone is registered, though. If not, may we suggest that the process is comparatively painless? There'll be a special day, publicized for registration in this vicinity, next summer.

Cliff Owen was home at the Sandwicks last weekend.

We regret to say that Mrs. Sam Pierson didn't return home as was planned, but has undergone further surgery.

We have heard several comments on the "Wedding Party" at the Hallocke affair October 30, sponsored by the Home and School League. Since eleven children were involved, and a "prettiest" prize was received, we'll tell you about it. When the marching music became "Here Comes the Bride," the moment had come, and little Debby Lewis, Mary Cramer and Judy Nichol led the group as three little flower girls, strewing real flowers, and wearing their best frocks with flowers in their hair. Next came the three bridesmaids, Janet Nichol, Shirley Pyle, and Mary Hendrixson, carrying bouquets, wearing appropriately, and wearing floppy, flower-trimmed hats. Finally came Cynthia Ness, looking every inch a bride in a white nylon formal trimmed with gold braid, wearing a veil, with a cap of pink and white chrysanthemums, and carrying a bouquet of the same color chrysanthemums. Little Phyllis Wallace was a fetching little train-bearer. As the party reached the front of the hall, it was joined by the groom, Emery Wallace, and his best man, Billy Nichol, both dressed "to kill," and with Billy doing a good job of "bucking up" the groom. Last but not least, was Davey Ness, as Parson Pease-Porridge. David's pink pants, trimmed with white yarn hair, his white yarn mustache and goatee, dark trousers, and "cape" of black plus a book in hand, helped him represent nicely the venerable parson in the picture. Costumes are fun, but we hope we don't suffer any more suspense when the time comes to prepare for a real wedding in the family.

Dinner guests at the William Nichol home a week ago Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sanborn, and the Reverend George Gardner.

Nov. 6 marked a big occasion—the third birthday of little Karen Leslie Kaib. The little lady entertained a number of small friends. She announceed this to me with a "Marfalet, I going to have a birthday party with ice cream and cake." Her mother tells me the party included candy, nuts, games, and finally—guests! On this list were Johnnie and Judy Nichol, Johnnie Taylor, Janie Ellis, and Wendy Klauck. The Willing Workers had their annual turkey dinner at Landenberg Hall Nov. 11, and eyewitnesses report a crowd. Needless to say, said crowd had a de-licious dinner, those who worked for the affair felt amply rewarded as the cash clinked in, and the "worthy purposes" came nearer realization!

Ned and Dick Cramer followed little Mary on the sick list, recently, and Billy Nichol had to take a couple days off to wrestle with the current virus, last week.

We are happy to report that Arthur Watson, who has been confined to the home of his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hixon, following a series of heart attacks three weeks ago, is very decidedly on the mend. In fact, Sunday was a big occasion, for Mr. Watson set up for half an hour. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Watson of Philadelphia were guests at the Hixons until their father was declared out of danger.

The New London Grange held an installation of officers Nov. 8, and is planning a gala dance for this Wednesday night at nine o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Pratt have gone to Potter County, hunting "Ba'ar."

Willis Hocking and La Rue Van Sant headed for Potter County and the big bad bears this past Sunday.

Kemblesville School is to be the scene of the Kemblesville-Franklin PTA meeting this Thursday night. A Thanksgiving program and refreshments are planned.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shakespeare, who is an impressive 78 years of age, and held in high regard by the many friends she has made in her years of residence in this community, has sold her farm to Lacey Lester, of near New London. Mrs. Shakespeare had a sale the other day at her home, and we understand she was privileged to see her beautiful dishes and many antiques sold to people who quite evidently valued them. Friends will be pleased to know that Mrs. Shakespeare plans to live on at her old farm home for an indefinite period.

The London-Britain Home and School League held its regular meeting this past Tuesday, and was fortunate in seeing two American Cancer Society films: "Miracle Money," and "Traitor Within." Various health literature was made available at this time by the health chairwoman. A pleasant social period with appropriate refreshments, was enjoyed by all.

The bake sale held at the recent Election Center, was most successful. Thank you all, from the Home and School League. The kiddies benefit, you know.

The playground committee is trying to find approximately 200 ft. of 2" pipe for the fabrication of playground equipment for South Bank School. If anyone knows where such material can be purchased reasonably please contact Mrs. John Alcock.

Miss Beverley Craig has gone to Florida to spend the winter. Friends are sorry to hear of the misfortune of Mrs. William Hutchinson who fell and broke her arm. She is resting comfortably at her home and we all wish her a speedy recovery. Miss Bessie Davis, of Wilmington, spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Annie Harrington. Pvt. William Walker has returned to Camp Stewart, Ga., after being called home by the death of his father, Raymond Walker, who died very suddenly. Besides his widow, Mrs. Mary Cooper Walker, Mr. Walker is survived by two sons and three daughters. Final services were held at Gedhardt Funeral Home. Interment was in Grace Lawn Memorial Park.

Pencader Grange held its semi-monthly meeting on Monday evening, Worthy Master Henry W. Brooks presiding.

A memorial service conducted by the worthy chaplain, Sister Lucy Butler, and her aides. The Grange charter was draped in memory of the deceased National Master Albert Goss, and a copy of a resolution passed by the Grange expressing deepest sympathy for Mr. Goss' family was voted to be sent to his family.

Pomona Grange will meet with Union Grange at Corner Ketch on Thursday, Nov. 30, 1950 at 10:30 o'clock. Ralph Klair, a member of Harmony Grange, explained the service of a tax records corporation in aiding the completion of income tax reports.

The lecturer's hour was a ladies night program with Sister Audrey Brooks in charge. She introduced Sister Betsy Mitchell, state health chairman of the Delaware State Grange. She spoke on the part health and a good health program play in the grange.

Readings were given by Mrs. Elva Gooden and Miss Annabelle Laws. A quiz was conducted by Mrs. Elizabeth Brooks, guitar and vocal selections were given by Miss Anne Wilhelm.

At the next meeting, Nov. 20, a Thanksgiving supper will be enjoyed by grange members. Dec. 4, election of officers for the year 1951 will take place.

are you wondering about buying a new car now?

With the best intentions in the world, many car owners fall into false economy just by not trading in for a new car soon enough.

At the present time, especially, this can easily happen.

It is not a question of "scare buying." The brief fury of this that was touched off by the Korean war soon died down . . . as it should have.

The question is simply what is best for you, personally . . . what is best for your family . . . what is best for your pocketbook.

It's a question you alone can answer . . . and one that deserves your most careful thought and attention.

For instance . . . How much sound value and safe transportation is there left in your present car? Is it costing you more to run and keep in repair than a car should? Does it give you and your family the satisfaction and peace of mind you want your family car to give?

Along with that . . . Have you talked figures with one of our Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealers? Do you know what one of these new cars would cost you, and what it would give you compared to the one you now drive? Have you seen and driven the new cars which owners by the thousands tell us are the most dependable and satisfactory cars, and the greatest dollar values, that we or anyone else ever offered the public?

Also . . . With present uncertainties about taxes, living costs, and all the rest, you can at least count on this—that trading your car now for a new Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler will make your family's transportation safe and sure.

As you think about these questions, here are two facts worth remembering . . .

One is that Chrysler Corporation cars are wonderful values . . . attractive, comfortable, dependable and brilliant in performance . . . and put together to stay together. They'll give your pride a boost the minute you see them, and they'll assure your good judgment that you've got the best in dollar value that a car buyer ever got.

The other is that the men who sell these cars are mighty good men to do business with. Our dealers have been carefully sought out and encouraged to be the ablest and most responsible group of car dealers in the world.

They're proud of our new cars. And they are proud of their own business reputations for good service and square dealing.

Why not come in and have a talk with one of these dealers near you? It needn't cost you anything but a few moments' time. And it could be the best investment of time you ever made!

NEWARK TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From Issue of November 18, 1925

Dedicate New School
Formal dedication of the new public school building here will take place Saturday, Nov. 21.

The principal speaker will be Pierre S. du Pont, whose efforts for a better public school system in Delaware have won him national prominence.

Newark To Play For Title
Dover High's protest that the winning touchdown in their recent game with Newark was illegal has been ruled out by the DIAA, and Coach Nunn's Jacket warriors stand as finalists in the state championship series.

The Jackets will meet Georgetown for the state championship on Thanksgiving Day.

Former Pastor Dies
Grim death again struck home and bore away an old friend of many Newark people Saturday, when the Rev. Joel S. Gillfillan, former pastor of Head of Christiana Church, succumbed after a short illness at his Wilmington home. Dr. Gillfillan was 71 years of age.

Church Guild Organized
A Women's Guild of St. Thomas Episcopal parish here was organized Monday, and Mrs. Samuel J. Smith was elected first president. The new group supercedes the old Guild in existence many years. Other new officers are Mrs. Norris N. Wright, vice president; Mrs. R. O. Bauman, secretary; Miss Audrey Miller, treasurer.

Heads State's Teachers

ark resident, has been elected president of the State Teachers Association, a group comprising all public school instructors in the state.

J. Harvey Dickey, of Newark, was this afternoon elected Master of Delaware Odd Fellows at the annual meeting of the Grand Lodge, Wilmington. Mr. Dickey is well known in lodge circles, having worked himself up through minor offices of the order until last year he was elected Deputy Grand Master by a large plurality.

He is extremely popular with his fellow lodgemen and a bright year is predicted for him in his fraternal work.

Personals

Mrs. George Griffin, who has been poorly since last summer, was a recent patient at a Wilmington Hospital, but is now convalescing at her home here.

Miss Marjorie Eastburn has returned from a visit with friends in Oxford, Pa.

Miss Edith O. Lewis attended the Yale-Princeton football game in New Haven last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Smith and son, Frank, motored to Rehoboth, Del., last weekend to visit Mr. and Mrs. Harry Palmer.

L-Day Contemporary Music Festival Set For Dec. 2 At U. of D.

Plans are in progress for a Contemporary Music Festival, to be held at the University of Delaware on Saturday, Dec. 2, under the joint sponsorship of the University's Music Department, and the Institute of Delaware History and Culture, and the Delaware Philharmonic Orchestra. The day's activities will constitute the annual fall meeting of the institute, but will be open to the general public.

Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N.Y., will be guest speaker at a luncheon in Old College which opens the festival. At 3 p.m. Jay Blackton will conduct the annual fall meeting of the institute, but will be open to the general public.

Dr. Howard Hanson, director of the Eastman School of Music at Rochester, N.Y., will be guest speaker at a luncheon in Old College which opens the festival. At 3 p.m. Jay Blackton will conduct the Delaware Philharmonic in a concert in Mitchell Hall. Dr. Hanson will comment during the concert on the individual composers and their works being performed.

Heading the festival committee are J. Robert King, acting chairman of the Music Department and associate director of the Delaware Philharmonic; Dr. R. O. Bauman, chairman of the institute; Mrs. Bernita Short Gerster, formerly of the Music Department staff, who also represents the institute; and Lewis Knowles, president of Local 311, American Federation of Musicians.

"The purpose of the festival is the recognition of outstanding American composers of today, and the focussing of public interest in the field of contemporary music," explained Mr. King.

Margaret G. Sedwick To Be Speaker At D. Drama Parley

And Stage Productions To Be Discussed At Session Tomorrow

Margaret Guenver Sedwick of the seventh Delaware Dramatic Parley which will be held on Friday, Nov. 17, at the University of Delaware.

Sedwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Guenver of Marshallton, Pa., alumna of the University of Delaware, where she was prominent in dramatics, she took leading parts in several plays staged by the E52 Players.

After her graduation in 1949, Mrs. Sedwick joined the touring company of the Shakespearean actress Margaret Webster. The Webster company toured the United States, presenting Shakespearean plays at scores of theatres, including Mitchell Hall at Newark.

Mrs. Sedwick will discuss her experiences with the Webster company at the forthcoming conference. Speaking at the luncheon meeting scheduled for 1 p.m. in Kent Hall, she will have as her "Touring Shakespeare with Margaret Webster."

Other events on the day-long conference program include discussions of the use of television for theatrical productions; a talk on the production of plays; methods of production techniques illustrated through records; a clinic; and discussions of the role of local organizations in the National Theatre Assembly, to hold this winter.

The Delaware Dramatic Conference is an activity of the University Dramatic Center and the Delaware Dramatic Association. Dr. C. Robert Kase, director of dramatics at the U. of D., is conference director.

U. S. Not Ready For World Leadership

Americans Must Overcome Isolationist Views

Americans are not prepared for the role of world leadership "thrust upon by the accident of history," declared Dr. P. Hanson, professor of geography at the University of Delaware, in a lecture recently on "Geography's Role in Modern Education."

"We have acquired the role of leadership in at least half the world," said Professor Hanson in the second of the current Graduate Lecture Series, "but we act, as a people, more frightened than perhaps any other people on earth. Nowhere are the prophets of doom loved with more fervor than in the United States, and nowhere is the fear of the imminent end-of-the-world-we-know-it embraced more ardently. The various explanations for this are down to the fact that we seem to have little faith in the quality and effectiveness of our present world leadership."

And with good reason. As a people we are at present neither prepared intellectually nor equipped for the leadership that has been thrust upon us by the accidents of history. We have stepped into that role straight from the long history of isolationism, and it should be obvious to any American at the mores, the adaptations, the attitudes of isolationism are inadequate preparation for world leadership.

"Obviously, if we are to play our present difficult role with any hope of effectiveness, it now behooves us to learn as much as possible, as rapidly as possible, about the rest of the world. Our world today is in the throes of a deep-rooted social revolution, unequalled even during the Renaissance. The conditions and demands of human life and existence are changing everywhere with an explosive rapidity, and education, to keep pace with that situation, must change to correspond, however difficult that may be."

"I am convinced that the social sciences will soon find their own 'unified field theory' and that they will find in the need for a responsible and practical attitude toward the process of raising man's standards of living throughout the world."

90 Percent Of Delaware Farms Have Electricity

The U. S. Department of Agriculture has just released its figures on electricity on farms, according to Edward Schabinger, New Castle County Agricultural Agent.

This report shows that 90 percent of Delaware's farms do have electricity. That means that out of 9,296 farms, 8369 farms have electricity to run their water pumps, refrigerators, lights, their chicken houses, barns and yards, and do numerous other things on the farm.

Delaware ranks fifteenth among 48 states, and that's pretty good, said Mr. Schabinger, but we still have 374 farms in Delaware without electricity. That means that 374 farmers and their wives are still doing back-breaking, tedious work by hand.

In further quoting the USDA report, Mr. Schabinger says that most of the farms in rural electrification has been made since 1945. Not only has the number of farms using electricity increased but the amount of power used has skyrocketed.

Farmers have found that a kilowatt hour costing a few pennies can produce the equivalent of 10 hours of manual labor.

Counterfeiting Old American Pastime

Making Of Fake Money Began Early

Counterfeiting of money was described as "a favorite American pastime" and a "nation-wide industry" during most of our history down to the Civil War, in an address on the subject Monday by Dr. H. Clay Reed, professor of history at the University of Delaware.

Dr. Reed, whose topic was "Counterfeiting in the United States from the Revolution to the Civil War," was the third speaker in the current series of Graduate Lectures being held at the university. He pointed out that counterfeiting is an ancient practice, dating from the time of the first minted coins, and counterfeiters came to America early and "grew up with the country." In the first year of his new city of brotherly love, William Penn found inhabitants imitating coins. The paper-money era began in the colonies in 1690, and immediately attracted the attention of counterfeiters.

PERSONALS

Mrs. H. S. White of Washington, D.C. spent the past week-end with her sister, Miss M. Katharine Jones of West Main Street.

Mrs. George L. Medill of York, Pa. is visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McVey of South College Avenue.

Mr. Charles Hollister of Chestnut Hill is now a patient at the Veterans' Hospital, Elmsmere, and on Saturday was visited by his son and family, Master Sergeant and Mrs. George Hollister and children of White Plains, N.Y.

David Ottey of Nottingham Road was host on Monday afternoon to his classmates of grade 6 in celebration of his birthday. Mr. Moyer, his homeroom teacher, and Johnny Mank and Drew Willis were also guests. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Orville Ottey.

"The early bills were of simple, design, engraved on copper, and easy to imitate," said Dr. Reed. "Some counterfeiters were printed on imported plates, but others were entirely homemade. An ingenious Massachusetts housewife, for instance, had the whole family engaged in a flourishing business, making and circulating various New England bills which were copied by hand in her own kitchen. She laid a piece of damp starched muslin on a blank paper and ironed it hard, transferring the design to the blank paper. This impression was fainter than the original, so she went over it with a fine quill to restore its blackness."

LITTLE THINGS about the Stars

By GEORGE LILLEY
NEW YORK, N. Y. — Eugene Patrick Dennis McNulty, as a helpless, bewildered youth, has drawn one of radio's fine characterizations. You know him as Dennis Day. For the fifth year he is back with his own program, "A Day in the Life of Dennis Day," Saturday nights, NBC. Dennis plays the mixed-up kid so convincingly hardly a week passes that he does not receive a letter from an aged couple offering to adopt him. He likes that. "As long as people want to adopt me," he says, "I have nothing to fear." He has little to fear anyway. A graduate of New York's Manhattan University, he is a shrewd business man, owns a prospering music publishing house, real estate, etc. He would have been a lawyer. He enrolled at Columbia School of Law but an illness forced him to turn to singing.

TOP MUSICALS TO TV
For the first time in television, viewers are being offered elaborate, top-drawer musical comedies via a new program, "Musical Comedy Time," aired on alternate Mondays (Oct. 2, 16, 30, etc.), NBC-TV, 9:30 to 10:30 p.m. EST. On the show's up coming schedule: "Anything Goes," "Chocolate Soldier," "Rio Rita," "Song of Norway," "Bandwagon," "Panna Hattie." Typical of its talent: Martha Raye, John Conte, Jeanette MacDonald, Rise Stevens, Patrice Munsel. "Musical Comedy Time" brings you practically a complete production—the full set of acts, scenery, casts. Sponsored by one of radio's top spenders, the show is another indication that television-programming, not long ago an infant, is growing up fast.

HOLLYWOOD HILLBILLY

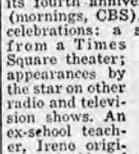

Judy Canova: Popular Hollywood "hillbilly." This cultured young lady is one of our most traveled actresses, thinks travel develops sense of comedy. Says Judy: "Meeting different people in different situations is a sure way to find out things and make people laugh." She started in show business as a singer, teamed with her sister Annie ("The Happiness Girls"). Her brother Zeke made it a trio ... people are funny and they were signed by Paul Whiteman. Judy is back on the radio—a hayseed gal from Cactus Junction trying to crash society—Saturday nights, NBC, one of the few femmes this season to head her own show. She'll also sing a song or so. She studied serious music at Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, is a first-rate coloratura soprano. Judy once so impressed Nelson Eddy, he wanted to arrange a concert tour for her.

GRAND SLAM NO. 4

"Grand Slam," top-rated daytime musical quiz show, starring singing hostess Irene Beasley, is celebrating its fourth anniversary on the air (mornings, CBS). Included in the celebrations: a special broadcast from a Times Square theater. Before that she appeared by the star on other radio and television shows. An ex-school teacher, Irene originated the idea of listeners participating in radio quiz programs. Before that she was, of course, surprised herself one of radio's outstanding blues singers. The Memphis born gal, lanky in her early years, took up voice study in the hope that it would give her poise. When she found she could really sing, she was most surprised of all.

Social Security Facts On Domestic
Do you employ domestic help in your home? If you do, it will be necessary for you to report their wages and social security numbers to the Collector of Internal Revenue beginning with January 1, 1951.
Under the new amendment of the Social Security Act, domestic employment on a regular basis must be reported the same as a business house reports employees' earnings every calendar quarter. This will require some additional bookkeeping on the part of the housewife for she must determine whether the domestic is regularly employed under the Social Security law.
Questions concerning the employment of domestics and duties of the housewife on reporting the domestic earnings can be answered at the office of the Social Security Administration, 6th and King Streets, Wilmington, Delaware, of which Mr. Roger R. Minke, is manager.

YELLOWJACKET HIGHLIGHTS

By the Journalism Class And The Junior Journalists Club At Newark High School

Early last Wednesday morning, November 8, Ann Crunden and Ruth Mary Cooper left Newark on a special train to visit the United Nations at Lake Success with the American Association of University Women of Newark.

In the morning the visitors were permitted to attend various UN committee meetings. They had lunch in a huge cafeteria. After lunch they saw Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt close by in the UN bookstore. All the women crowded in to see her.

In the afternoon they went to an exciting meeting of the Security Council where there was a hot debate about asking representatives from Communist China to be present in the UN when Communist aggression in Korea is discussed. The Council discussed MacArthur's report on Chinese Communist aggression in North Korea.

The visitors sat in comfortable chairs watching the council and listened with ear phones to the translations of the speeches when they were given in a foreign language.

11-C Devotes Program To American Education

An assembly on education was presented by the 11-C homeroom in the auditorium on Wednesday, November 8.

The general theme was "Government Of, By, and for the people." Nancy Lewis spoke on the origin and observance of American Education Week. The statements of the President of the United States on Education were read by John Leas. Mrs. Overbey, sponsor for 11-C, read a charter of the National Education Association Defense Commission for American Teachers. "The Living Constitution," a speaking program developed as a commencement program by the pupils and principal of Pauls Valley High School, Pauls Valley, Oklahoma, was followed in the program. The special speakers in the Living Constitution portrayal were in this order: Dorothy Murphy, William McLain, Helen Leasure, Janice Olson, Shirley Ross, Edith Priestley, Charlotte Martin, and Laura Jane Reed. A group of eighteen members of 11-C homeroom made up a choral reading group.

At the conclusion of the program Laura Jane Reed asked the audience to stand and repeat the Preamble to the Constitution of the United States of America.

Bobby Knighton, Polio Patient, Returns to School

Bobby Knighton, whose return to school was delayed by an attack of polio, enjoys being back with his classmates. While in the Doris Memorial Hospital, Bobby received 350 cards, plus candy, cookies and books. The hospital furnished a television set for him and his roommates. Bobby is now looking forward to playing football, baseball and soccer, his favorite sports.

Meet the Band—Part 2—Trumpet Section With Mario Le Pera

Mr. Ernest Wilder, band leader at Newark High School, is teaching twenty-two young students to play the trumpet. These students are in grades four, five and six. Mr. Wilder is expecting all twenty-two to develop into trumpet players who will be future members of the school band.

Mario Le Pera will assist in the instruction. A junior this year, Mario is in charge of the ten-member section of the band. Each of these band members has spent at least a year learning the fundamentals of the trumpet and trumpet playing. Mario has been in the New Castle County Band for two years as a baritone and trumpet player. He has also been a member of the State Band, an important musical organization of the state of Dover.

This is the second of a series of articles on the Newark High School Band. The first covered the drum section and in particular the work of Ernest Lloyd who is instructing a group of students in work with drums.

University of Delaware Home Economics Department Holds Open House For High School Girls Of Delaware

Delaware's Home Economics Club entertained high school students interested in home economics as a vocation at an open house held on the college campus last Wednesday.

Dean Irma Ayars and Miss Janet Fisher, president of the club, welcomed the girls. A tour of the campus followed. Leaders of the tour were University members of the club. After the tour an informal tea was held in Old College Lounge. Following this discussion groups were formed to enable students to talk over ideas on home economics problems and plans.

Sadie Hawkins Dance Is Well Attended At NHS

The senior class of Newark High School sponsored the Nov. Sadie Hawkins Dance held in the auditorium from 8-11 p.m. Music was provided by records contributed by the students.

A traditional dance, the Sadie Hawkins affair affords all girls an opportunity to invite the men of their choice. The girls pay on this occasion which is similar to the annual Twirl Season Dance in February by the sophomores.

Chairmen of the committees for the dance were: Chaperones, Patsy Harvey; tickets, Donald Biederman, Ronald Cheadle; entertainment, Betty Poole.

The admission price for the dance was $1.50 per couple. Money made by this dance is placed in the senior class treasury to be used for the annual senior trip to Washington.

Less Elbow Grease For House Cleaning

New Time And Labor Saving Hints For Homemaker

Housewives of today don't need as much muscle as grandma did. Science has come to the rescue. Detergents are high on the list of cleaning aids.

Detergents dissolve soil, especially greasy soil, faster and better than most soap and water, says Miss Louise Whitcomb, extension home management specialist at the University of Delaware.

Recent tests by the New York Experiment Station should prove to be time and labor savers, she reports.

Miss Whitcomb suggests that you try gentle handling instead of rubbing and scrubbing, the next time you wash walls, woodwork, or shampoo upholstery and rugs. The new alkaline cleaners soften the fabrics, and roughness will cause unnecessary wear and tear. The following four steps will make cleaning easier:

1. Remove loose dirt by sweeping or vacuuming.
2. Apply the detergent solution quickly, using as little as possible to avoid soaking or dripping.
3. Remove the detergent by going over the surface rapidly with a damp sponge or damp absorbent towel.
4. Dry by rubbing lightly with a dry towel.

Strong alkaline cleaners, such as soda or ammonia, are hard on paint—they dry it and in time may make it flake off or affect the color.

In conclusion Miss Whitcomb says that regardless of the cleaner used, follow the directions on the package carefully. Manufacturers have to make thorough tests before releasing a product, so they usually know best.

County 4-H Leaders Given Tractor Repair Training

Several leaders in the 4-H Tractor Maintenance Program participated in the State 4-H Training School recently at the University of Delaware. The Delaware Extension Service cooperated in this training with the American Oil Company, sponsors of the National 4-H Tractor Maintenance Awards Program.

According to Maurice B. Field, County 4-H Agent, this school was attended by Raymond Lamborn, Russell Brackin, Gene Frazee, Joseph Mitchell and Willis Passmore. Lamborn and Brackin demonstrated air-cleaners service; Frazee, valve-tappet adjustment; and Mitchell, the generator, battery and spark plug service on tractors.

The White Brothers Supply Company, Newark Farm and Home Supply and Fader Motor Company were among the tractor dealers who took an active part in the training.

it's a CHANCE you wouldn't take

No, you wouldn't risk moving in, unarmed and unprotected, on a deadly rattler, no more than you'd expose your life to any one of the hundreds of risks against which you can have protection.

But it's easier to see the peril of a rattler poised to strike than to sense some of the everyday chances many of us still take with our own and our families' lives.

Leaving a family without the security of life insurance is no less a risk than tempting a rattler; it's a risk no man can afford to take.

For without adequate life insurance a family is taking chances, reckless, unnecessary chances. See for yourself how easy and inexpensive it is to secure family protection—there's an Equitable representative near your home who will be glad to explain how you can assure your family's future.

The Three-in-One Komemaker's Club received the traveling gavel last Thursday with the Wimodausis Home Demonstration Club in Ebenezer Methodist Church. The gavel was brought by the members of Port Penn Home Demonstration Club and presented by Mrs. Robert Kumpel to Mrs. Rodney Easton, host president. The gavel has been in the county since last January. It will be returned to Talleyville Club on Nov. 21. The Talleyville club has been planning to better acquaint the members of the different clubs with each other. Port Penn members gave a short program. A Pennsylvania dialect poem was read by Mrs. Edward Cordery. Mrs. Alvin Miles read "Down by the Winger Works." Kumpel conducted a penny quiz which was extremely difficult. Mrs. Joseph Mitchell captured the prize.

Miss M. Katharine Jones, county leader, demonstrated "Holiday Refreshments and Decorations." She gave many practical suggestions. There were tables decorated by the Three-in-One clubbers. One was arranged for Thanksgiving and the other for Christmas. Miss Jones urged that the hostesses entertain for the holidays, have her arrangements simple, attractive and convenient.

The Three-in-One Club started plans for its annual Christmas party with Mrs. Daniel Cecil, Mrs. Joseph Brown, Mrs. William Adams, and Mrs. William DeLong as the committee.

For the Wimodausis Club arrangements for a yule party had been completed and it will be held Dec. 13 in the Lamborn Library Club room in charge of Mrs. Dale Seymour, Mrs. Sara P. Evans, Mrs. William Gass, Mrs. Ruth Edwards, and Mrs. Lewis Colmery, Sr.

This club realized $35.00 at its recent bake sale. Mrs. Bertha Armor and Miss Annie Klair were named to visit Mrs. Bethin Springer who has been confined to her home for many weeks. Mrs. Lewis Colmery, Sr., has been ill for the past week.

Harmony Rural School
Armistice Day was appropriately celebrated by the following program: Poems to the Unknown Dead, by Joyce Cannon; "In Flanders Field," by Maryson Springer; "Our Peace" by Beverly Cannon; reading, "Our Flag," by Sallie Evans; songs, "Kipling's Recessional," "Home Road," by the school.

In the human relation classes for the fifth and sixth grades, a panel discussion was held last Friday on the subject "Should We Be Different or Like Others in Styles, Speech and Actions?" Beverly Cannon led the discussion with Sallie Evans, Francis Farmer, and Maryson Springer participating assisted by Mrs. Elsie W. Stradley.

The school subscribed 100% to the annual drive for the Junior Red Cross.

Mermaid
Harmony Grange will visit Delaware Grange at Newport next Monday evening when a Thanksgiving program will be given as arranged by Miss Ruth Hall and Mrs. George T. Jamieson. On Nov. 27, the ways and means committee headed by Mrs. Roscoe Walker is planning an old fashion box social to be held in the hall. There will be a program of entertainment. Last week the grange enjoyed a program given by the Future Farmers from Conrad High School. This group exemplified the workings of this order. Twine brothers, Don and Ken Baer, furnished musical selections on the piano and guitar. The grangers sang "Happy Birthday" to Miss Annie Derickson.

Mr. Harry Potts, of Winchester, Va., was a guest overnight at the home of his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pennington, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Trembath of Wilmington, were Sunday visitors of the Penningtons.

Mrs. Frank G. Dennison is at her home-in-law and daughter's Mr. and Mrs. James Derickson, where she has been for the past few days.

Corner Ketch
Union Juvenile Grange had Mrs. Mary Thomas of Maryland, state director of juvenile orders, as a visitor last Saturday. The grange received three new members and planned for their visitation to Harmony at Mermaid on Saturday afternoon. Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, also of Maryland, was a visitor. Union Grange No. 1 is preparing for two special occasions this month: the first on Saturday evening, when the annual poultry supper will be served in the hall starting at 5 p.m., the second on Nov. 30, the date of the quarterly meeting of New Castle County Poisons Grange with Union as host to the all day session beginning at 9:30 a.m.

Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church
The church was host to an evangelistic fellowship team from Princeton Theological Seminary over the past weekend. The team comprised Robert Lakey of Muskegon, Mich., team captain; Merl Elrod of St. Paul, Minn.; William Birmingham of Scranton, Pa.; Ray Bratman of Boulder, Colo., and Richard Oman of Minneapolis. The team conducted the Sunday school and church services, also the Westminster Fellowship meeting. For their entertainment, the local group had a party Saturday evening, a hike, and fellowship Sunday afternoon. The sermon on "Freedom Through Christ" was preached by Bob Lakey.

A turkey supper for the building fund is to be served in the church school room Nov. 29 sponsored by the trustees.

Ebenezer Methodist Church
The church choir met last evening to rehearse for its special Thanksgiving music. The group is also beginning to work on their Christmas music.

Ebenezer was represented Monday at the district conference at Asbury Methodist Church at Middletown.

Thanksgiving services will be held next Sunday at 11 a.m. Lindsay Greenplate, superintendent of Ebenezer church school, has assisted the Rev. James H. Bishop to complete the arrangements for the union Thanksgiving services which will be held Nov. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church.

The MYF planned Sunday evening meeting with the president, Tommy Jarrell, for the annual Christmas party to be held Dec. 15 at the home of Anne Beyerlein on Paper Mill Road. The group drew names for their gift exchange. A newspaper drive will be conducted in charge of Tommy Jarrell, Mark Ayers, and Gene Dempsey. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jester of Newark, will entertain the Mite Circle on Nov. 21. Mrs. Ralph Whitman is program chairman and Miss Frances Jarrell will have the journal. Mrs. Jester, Mrs. George Knotts, and Mrs. Albert Humphreys are the hospitality committee.

Propose New Centers For Women Schools At U. of D.

Continued growth in enrollment of girls studying home economics, and broadening of the program of instruction in that field, has resulted in a request for a new University of Delaware center to house home economics and teacher-education. Miss Irma Ayers, dean of the School of Home Economics, told 325 visiting high school girls on Nov. 8.

Miss Ayers greeted the visitors during open house held by the School of Home Economics. Speaking at the opening gathering in Mitchell Hall, she pointed out that the present enrollment of 116 home-economics majors is a 150 percent increase over five years ago. The number in the freshmen class has doubled during this time, and the present 40 freshmen in home economics is almost equal to the total in the School of Home Economics in 1945.

FILLIN' IN

We are Newark's official Public Enemy Number 1284—at least that was the number on the yellow parking tag we found adorning our automobile one recent morning. We were a bit shocked to find crime had reached such proportions here. If the number means anything, Delaware's second largest city is infested with lawbreakers. Practically everyone in town has a police record.

We pocketed our parking ticket with a small thrill of pride. It was our first and meant we could join that growing company of citizen-motorists who mutter against the town government and plot to pluck the beam from Officer Mote's eye.

We also thought it rather complimentary of Officer Mote to present us with a ticket. It struck us as rather democratic and openminded of him to show our antique coupe the same respect he gives to sleek, powerful 1950 models. Our battered heap wore its gay yellow tag with a proud, jaunty air as if pleased to be included among the big boys.

We can understand now, though, that look of shocked bewilderment and suppressed fury we have noted on the faces of so many parking ticket holders. We mean the "they can't do this to me" look.

After the novelty wore off, we began to boil, too, especially when we read the tag. It was a curiously worded "summons" to report to the police on or before a specified date with between-the-line hints of dire consequences if the order was ignored.

The whole thing smacked of gestapo tactics, and we read it with a distinct "they can't do this" feeling. Our first impulse was to crumple the ticket in our hot, rebellious fist and toss it in the gutter, but our sense of good citizenship, which might more accurately be called fear of authority, prevented us.

We held off paying the fine, though, for a couple of days. Let them wait for our attitude, and we bristled (not too obviously) every time we saw a local gendarme. Our huff began to get frayed, though, as the deadline neared. In more panicky moments, we imagined that "Wanted" signs would be soon going up about town, and several times we could have sworn we saw Officer Mote, disguised in a bowler hat and warus mustache, trailing us along Main Street.

By the time we went to pay our fine, our shoulders were sagging, our legs shook, and we looked every inch a hang-dog criminal. Knowing the thoroughness of the local police force, we foresaw a harrowing session, complete with a grilling under light fingers by Chief Cunningham, fingerprinting by Sgt. Hill, mugging by Cpl. Smith and a stiff sentence from Justice Clarence Foster.

The only person who greeted us, though, was kindly faced Miss Phoebe Sapp of the office force, who politely accepted our dollar fine and gave us a receipt as if we were merely paying a just debt.

We left feeling somewhat better about the whole thing, but still with a spark of resentment, a small railing. There was, we are still convinced, something unjust about it all. The trouble is, we suppose, that it is becoming impossible anymore, even with the best intentions in the world, to be a law-abiding citizen. The small tyrannies keep mounting until one can't keep track of them. We got our ticket because we forgot about the meters, or rather because, out of habit, we still considered Main Street a free street.

It is curious, though, how easily one gives up small freedoms and becomes adjusted to the new despotism. We don't forget the meters anymore. In fact, we're now so beaten into line we automatically slip in our penny or nickel and, without a murmur, go our hedged-in, circumscribed way. Even the resentment is gone.

There are now 648 junior colleges in the United States including those which are integrated with regular school systems. These institutions, according to the National Education Association, have an enrolment of nearly 460,000 students.

Conrad High Pointing To Upset Jackets In Turkey Day Contest

A. I. DuPont Throws First Half Scare Into Jackets But Latter Win, 26-13, To Remain Top Contenders For Mythical State Title

Although Newark High's undefeated Yellowjackets are heavy favorites in the annual Thanksgiving Day fray with Conrad High, anything can happen when the traditional rivalry is resumed here on the athletic field at 11 a.m.

The Redskins, still smarting from the 45-7 trouncing Newark gave them last year, have been pointing for this one all season, and reports from Conrad say both team and student body have already started beating the victory drums in anticipation of an upset. The invaders will be at fever pitch when they arrive here for the annual Turkey Day classic.

Coach John Chanowski's Redskins, who have a creditable season's record to date of four and four, are a veteran outfit. The man to watch in the backfield is Maynard Dill. A converted fullback, Dill, who now directs the Conrad attack from the quarterback slot, is the county's outstanding aerial artist, with a remarkable record of pass completion.

Newark, after a severe first half scare, came through the A. I. DuPont fray last Saturday on the top of a 26-13 count. The Jackets did not suffer a single injury and should be in top physical shape for the Conrad encounter.

The A. I. victory extended the Jackets' string to eight and kept them in the forefront of the contenders for the mythical state championship. One more hitherto unbeaten club, St. Andrew's, fell by the wayside last Saturday, leaving only Bridgeville and Newark in the elite group.

Following is an account of the A. I. game by Jim Seydell, a journalism student at Newark High: "In the first five plays of the ball game, Newark scored on a pass from quarterback Dave George to Capt. Hank Correll. Bunny Blaney split the uprights for the point after touchdown.

"The A. I. Tigers struck back on a 70 yard drive. Bernie Andrews tossed a touchdown pass to End Bob Hasting from the 10 yard line. Jim Renshaw's extra point was wide.

"In the second quarter Jim Renshaw, the Tigers' right end, intercepted a Newark pass and raced 53 yards for a touchdown. This time Renshaw's conversion was good. The Tigers led at half time, 13-7.

"Newark kicked off in the second half. Earl Schaan grabbed a DuPont fumble on the Tigers' 30 yard strip. Bunny Blaney went off tackle for ten yards and fumbled but Hank Correll fell on it on the ten. Two plays later Bunny Blaney scored from the one yard line. Blaney converted again. In the same quarter hard charging Earl Schaan blocked Ronnie Burcham's punt. Tom Baker recovered it on the 25 yard line of the Tigers. Halfback Hank Correll threw a touchdown pass to Bunny Blaney which covered 20 yards. Blaney's extra point was wide to the right.

"In the final period Blaney intercepted a DuPont pass on his own 30 and raced to the 55. This was followed by a Blaney to Jim Wollaston touchdown pass play. Blaney's conversion was not attempted due to a bad center. The Tigers took to the air but it was too late to gain against Newark."

The University of Delaware soccer team won out, 2-1, over Johns Hopkins for its fifth victory of the season last Saturday. A last second goal by Howard Betz settled the issue.

Farm Leaflet on 'Poultry Disposal Pits' Published

A new leaflet, "Poultry Disposal Pits," is now available from the Delaware Agricultural Extension Service, or your county agent, announced J. Frank Gordy, extension poultryman, today.

Silas McHenry, assistant extension poultryman, is the author. Building instructions and diagrams were supplied by William A. Calvert, extension agricultural engineer.

McHenry recommends burying or burning dead birds immediately as part of a good disease prevention program. Disposal pits save labor and time, have no noticeable odor if correctly covered, can be used all-year-round, are not fire hazards, and make it impossible for dogs or rats to dig up the dead birds and further spread disease.

Battered Hens Face Powerful Bucknell Bisons On Saturday

Prospects Gloomy For Season's Windup In Wilmington Park; Kickoff At 2 P.M.; Washington And Lee Outgenerals Delaware, 32-0

Bucknell's rampaging Bisons will invade Wilmington Park this Saturday to meet the University of Delaware's tattered Blue Hen gridder. The kickoff will be at 2 p.m.

Last Saturday while the Hens were bowing, 32-0, to the Washington and Lee Generals, the Bisons were toppling Temple University, 35-0. The fact that this is the same Temple which a few weeks ago turned back the Hens, further darkens the picture for this Saturday.

The game will be the season's finale for the Hens who to date have won two victories and a tie in seven starts for their poorest showing in years.

Delaware held its own during the first quarter against Washington and Lee but from then on the Generals were in command. They pushed for two scores in the second period, more in the third and another in the fourth.

An overwhelming ground attack proved the General's major asset. They tried only 12 passes which were good for a total of 21 yards. However, they steam-rolled for a 433-yard total on the ground against a slim 58 for the Hens. The latter managed only two first downs, while the Generals reeled off 28.

Their tricky offensive was marred by Gil Bocetti, a slough of a quarterback, who kept the Hens confused much of the afternoon.

Washington and Lee's first drive was stymied, when, in the second quarter, the Hens held on their own. But the latter politely gave their guest another try, when End Dave Holt fumbled and the Generals took over on the 13. Rondo Broyles ran around end for the score.

The second TD came in the second quarter on a 56-yard reverse by Holt with Charlie Holt doing the honors. The Generals' only two complete passes helped them toward their score. This drive ended with Holt punching his way over from the end.

Score by Periods
W. and L. 0 12 13 5
Delaware 0 0 0 0
Washington and Lee scoring: Two touchdowns—Broyles 2, Holt, Stark 2. Conversions—Michaels 2.

Reserve team champion was another Newark dog, owned by Warren Lamborn, Milford Crossroads. Reserve line honors were won by Hot Rod.

Rosettes were awarded to the reserve hounds.

The Delaware Coon Hunters Association is planning to make the championship trials an annual event.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Grier of Norristown, Pa. spent the weekend with their daughter, Mrs. Willard Johnston.

Mr. Levi Murray, Eastburn Heights, was last Saturday for a three-week visit with Mrs. E. T. Murray in St. Michaels, Florida. Margaret and Jack Murray and Eleanor Murray motored to Florida with Mrs. Murray.

Miss Carol Lee Noonan was the guest of her grand mother, Mrs. D. Darrell, Capitol Trail, last weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Cattell, Polly Drummond Road, are spending this weekend in Metuchen, N.J., visiting their daughter, Mrs. J. D. Leonard and family.

Mrs. David Eastburn, Mill Road, reports that she was able to attend the session last week and that the experience was much more worthwhile than she had anticipated. She was especially impressed by the "Praying Session" conducted by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and in the general session Mr. Malik displayed his usual individual manner.

Capitol Trail residents who were attending to the eight o'clock news broadcast on last Thursday morning were surprised when the power was suddenly cut off. Then those not near enough to hear the crash heard the scream of police and ambulance sirens.

A pole near Delaplaine Manor, on Capitol Trail had been struck by a car driven by Ricardo Medella, of Wilmington, a student at the University of Delaware, who was taken to the Wilmington General Hospital. The impact of the collision was so great that the pole was broken off, carrying with it two high-tension power lines. Until the damage could be repaired all traffic on the highway was closed off for an hour and it was two hours before electric power could be restored over a wide area.

Motorists are glad to see the white lines which were painted on the center of the highway last week.

White Clay Creek Presbyterian Church Mrs. David G. Anderson's Sunday School class conducted the opening worship period, last Sunday. The following young people took part: Gracie Miller, Loretta Windle, William Peach and Jane Hammell, who played the piano.

In a business session held last Sunday evening, the members of the Westminster Fellowship voted $5 toward the improvement program of the church. They also adopted a constitution and by-laws based upon the denominational recommendations. Under the new ruling, the presiding officer will be known as the moderator, in harmony with the term used by both Presbytery and Synod. All young people between the ages of 15 and 24 are invited to take part in the program on the second and fourth Sunday evenings. The group is now officially known as the Youth Fellowship of White Clay Church.

Mrs. M. D. Mullan, Capitol Trail, gave an interesting report at the Women's Missionary Society last Thursday. She represented the women of White Clay Church at the meeting sponsored by the Newark Council of Church Women, last Monday, which was addressed by Miss Mable Head, of New York. Mrs. McMullan was serving as an alternate for Mrs. David Eastburn who was unable to attend.

Mrs. Howard Bradley, president of the Women's Missionary Society, announces that the group has voted to accept the invitation of the Red Clay Missionary Society to joint with them on Thursday evening, Dec. 14. The regular December meeting of the White Clay Society will held on Tuesday, Dec. 12 at the home of Mrs. Pennington.

Mr. Ralph Lindell, chairman of the members, announces the following assignments for the remainder of the month: Nov. 19—Raymond Lindell, Edward Maxwell, Jr.; Nov. 26—Robert Gallaher, Ralph Murray.

All members and contributors will soon receive by mail complete information concerning the combined current expense and benevolence budget for 1951 which was adopted by the session and trustees at a joint session held on November 8th.

The worship service canvass will be used again this year. Those who bring their 1951 budget pledges to the church service on Sunday, Nov. 26, or mail their pledges in time, will have their pledges consecrated with the offering for the day.

The Every Member Canvass Committee will plan to visit or contact every member or contributor who has not been heard from by Dec. 3rd. The Senior Choir will rehearse on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

On Sunday, Nov. 19, the pastor will bring a pastoral message on "For the Lord Is Good."

On Wednesday, Nov. 22, a union Thanksgiving service, sponsored by the Mill Creek Sunday School Association, will be held at White Clay Church. The Young Women's Bible Class planned for a Christmas party Dec. 13 at its recent meeting. It also tentatively planned to give a yule party to the patients of Layton Home. The group gave $25.00 to the Blake Memorial Chancel fund.

This Saturday evening, the W.F. will go to Grace Methodist Church for the Wilmington Christian Youth Council square dance.

1951 Farm Outlook Good, Expert Says

Delaware farmers can look forward to another profitable year in 1951 according to W. T. McAllister, extension specialist in agricultural economics at the University of Delaware. McAllister recently attended the Annual Outlook Conference in Washington, D.C. He reports that in spite of higher costs for farm machinery, supplies, living costs, farm wage rates and taxes, new farm incomes should be somewhat above that of the last two years, though not as much as in 1947.

Higher prices are likely for meat animals, including chickens and turkeys. Dairy products, most feed grains, and fruits and vegetables will probably be slightly higher also. Lower prices than the average for 1950 may be expected for eggs and potatoes.

There will be food enough for everyone, even more than last year, continues McAllister, but it will be at a slightly higher price. A strong consumer demand resulting from much business activity and increased industrial activity will encourage one of the largest agricultural crops in history.
