Volunteer Firemen To Conduct Annual Convention In Newark

Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company Volunteers, Hosts For 39th Annual Convention This Friday, Saturday; Gala Parade To Begin At 4 O'Clock Saturday Afternoon

Plans for the 39th annual convention of the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Association to be held in Newark this Friday and Saturday have been announced by Charles Wolston, Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company director, and chairman for the convention. The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company and its auxiliary will be host and hostess for the state convention in Newark.

On Friday at 8 o'clock, the Delaware State Fire Chiefs will hold their annual meeting at the Christiana-Salem Elementary School, with Fred Willey, Cheswold, state president of the chiefs presiding. On Friday at 9 a.m., the 39th annual convention will open with registration of delegates and alternates at the Aetna Fire Station, Academy Street and Delaware Avenue in Newark.

President Paul Neuman of Haddon, will call the convention to order at 10 a.m. in the University of Delaware's Agricultural Hall on College Avenue. The invocation will be delivered by Dr. Thomas C. Mulligan, state chaplain; and John List, President of the Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company, will give the welcome address, followed by a speech of welcome from Newark Mayor Frank Durnall.

Luncheon will be served at the Newark Country Club on West Main Street for delegates and alternates. The following guests have been invited:

Special Guests
Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, Lt. Gov. J. B. Buckner, U. S. Senators J. F. Fear and John J. Williams; Representative Harris B. McNeill, Jr.; State Representatives J. Ennis, and H. R. Cross, have been invited, with Del-Mar-Va Auxiliary, President, and Merchants and Vice-President, John C. Hurlach, president of the American Association of Firemen, Secretary W. Dale Hogg; Joe Tom, president; Harry Lambert, G. Lester Cleaver, New Castle County Levy Court, and Fire Chiefs, Tidewater Oil Company; Wertheiser, Chrysler Corporation; and Maurice K. Clark, Wilmington Fire Department.

Demonstration of fire evolutions will be held at 3:30 p.m., and dinner will be served at the Newark Country Club at 4 p.m.

The Saturday meeting will be held at 10 a.m., and a luncheon will be served at the Aetna Fire Station. The "largest parade ever held in the City of Newark" will begin at 4 p.m., forming on East Main Street, and the parade route to be along the street west to Elkton Road and south to the Park-N-Shop Center.

It is expected that more than 100 volunteer firemen will participate in the annual parade, along with their families, bands, and fire-fighting equipment. The last time the Aetna volunteers participated in the annual state convention was 21 years ago—in September, 1938—during its 50th anniversary year. The state convention is the largest of its kind in the country, with some 57 volunteer companies represented, plus their ladies auxiliaries.

The ladies auxiliaries will meet at 10 a.m., Sept. 19, at Newark.

Mrs. Lloyd Wins Grand Prize Auto At Newark Center

Of 49,000 to 1 seem pretty overwhelming to most people—and to Mrs. Gertrude Lloyd of Middletown, who won a 1959 Buick Wildcat last Saturday at the Newark Shopping Center.

The selection was made at the close of the fourth anniversary sale. A quick check on the list of winners revealed that more than 4,000 had been filled out since the beginning of the sale on Aug. 28.

THE Aetna Company Grows With Newark!

Some 22 years ago, the Aetna fleet numbered three vehicles, including the Sea-graves at the left—and the veteran engine was old at the time.

AND NOW—the east side of Academy Street's last block is barely long enough to accommodate the Aetna Hose, Hook & Ladder Company fleet as Newark's volunteer fire-fighters prepare to entertain the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Association here this weekend.

Thomas Grimm

Senior at Princeton Theological Seminary, Thomas Grimm was named student assistant minister of the Newark First Presbyterian Church. He will begin his duties here on Saturday.

A native of Long Island and a graduate of Adelphi College, where he was president of the Council of Religious Clubs, Mr. Grimm's name has appeared in "Who's Who Among College and University Students."

The recipient of a fellowship from the Rockefeller Brothers' Fund of the American Association of Theological Schools, he has been a member of the touring choir. Two years ago he served as student assistant at the Church of the Covenant in Wilmington, and last year served as an intern under the Board of National Missions as director and instructor of Christian Education and Social Studies at Mary Holmes Junior College, Miss.

Newark Thrift Shop Opens As Central Welfare Aid

The Newark Thrift Shop opened last Friday for the fall season, and will be open each Friday, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., and from 7 to 9 p.m. over the Newark Police Station, Mrs. A. D. Cobb reports.

Providing the major source of support for the Newark Central Welfare Committee activities, the Thrift Shop accepts donations of good, usable clothing for sale, and also sells articles on consignment, retaining a small percentage of the sale price specified by the owners.

Newark Antiques Show To Open Monday With Assist From Husbands, Teenagers

The Newark Antiques Show, which opens Monday evening at 7 o'clock for three days until 6 p.m. Thursday, has become a family project for members of St. Thomas Church.

Although the women of St. Thomas are official sponsors and do most of the work, they have come to rely on their husbands to help in the actual physical moving in and out of the show.

School Enrollment Up 9.5 Per Cent With 5,877 Pupils

Supt. Wilmer E. Shue Reports Public School Attendance Statistics

Enrollment in the Newark public schools has increased by 9.5 per cent over that of last June, with an attendance of 5,877 pupils reported by Superintendent Wilmer E. Shue last Monday, the first full-day schedule for all classes.

An overall increase of 508 pupils resulted during summer vacation, from a total of 5,369 pupils enrolled in Newark public schools at the close of school in June. Included in the June total are 230 pupils in the Christiana-Salem Elementary School attendance area which became a part of the Newark district before the close of the fiscal year on June 30.

Shue emphasized that the 508 pupil increase was in addition to pupils from Christiana-Salem. The largest increase in pupils has been in the junior high schools with an increase of 234 per cent over last year.

Seventh, eighth, and ninth grade enrollment at Central and Ogletown junior high schools is 1,494, compared with a total of 1,211 at the close of school in June.

Enrollment at the senior high school is 927, compared with 847 in June, an increase of almost 9.5 per cent.

Elementary school enrollment, Shue said, has not measured up to expectations. At the close of school in June, enrollment was 3,311, including 173 pupils enrolled in the Christiana-Salem School. A growth of 4.38 per cent has been experienced over the summer period with present attendance of 3,456.

The largest growth has been at the first grade level with a present attendance figure of 669 compared with 600 in June.

A significant factor to be noted in enrollment figures, according to Mr. Shue, is the trend towards a higher net increase in the secondary schools. The result of normal, elementary class advancement to the junior high schools, plus population growth in the community, is tempered with a net increase of older pupils as a result of in-migration. There is a trend for families with older children to replace families with younger children when there is a change of home ownership.

New Rose Garden Named In Honor Of Louis Detjen

J. Benjamin Williams, American Rose Society rosarian for the colonial district, presented Dean George M. Worrlow of the University of Delaware school of agriculture with a scroll last Thursday, representing the new rose garden at Agricultural Hall on the campus.

The dean dedicated the garden and named it the Louis Detjen Horticultural Gardens in honor of Professor Detjen who was on the staff of the horticultural department at the university for 34 years, from 1920 until his retirement in 1954.

The presentation and dedication ceremony took place in the new garden before the Delaware branch of the American Rose Society at dusk.

Professor Detjen was present to accept the honor from Dean Worrlow.

Church Ground-Breaking Planned Sunday For Construction Of $111,992 Building

Our Redeemer Lutheran Church of Chestnut Hill Estates will break ground for a new church building this Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. The service will begin in the chapel on Augusta and Malvern Road and conclude on the future church property, a block away at the end of Johnson Road.

The special service will take the place of the regular worship service for that one Sunday. The matins service, originally scheduled for 8:45 a.m., will not be held. Sunday School classes, however, will meet as usual at 9:45 a.m.

Taking part in the ground-breaking will be Curt Jantz, chairman of the congregation's building committee; Randall Fox, chairman of the congregation; William Webb, representative of the mission board; and the Rev. Duane Mehl, pastor.

All residents of the community are invited to witness the rite. Our Redeemer originally promised the Chestnut Hill Civic Association to break ground for a church building by October. Due to lengthy negotiations with contractor and architect, the congregation is just barely meeting the deadline.

Our Redeemer has been asked to vacate its present facility due to deed restrictions which limit Chestnut Hill homes to single family occupancy.

The future building has been designed as a two-story structure with both first and second floors opening on ground level. The building will seat 100 persons in its nave and 100 more in an overflow wing. Classroom space will provide for the needs of over 200 Sunday School pupils.

The contract for the building was awarded to the firm of Di Sabatino & Ranieri of Elmsere at $111,992. Members of the church have elected to do much of the interior work in the building in order to cut costs.

Changes In Voting Districts Proposed For Council Action

Amended Plan Presented By Harold Grant, Chairman Of City Election Board, For More Equitable Voting Representation, Defeated By Council Vote Of 3 To 2

Plans for a more equitable distribution of population for Newark's municipal voting districts were presented at a special meeting of City Council last Tuesday night, and the proposal submitted by Harold Grant, election board chairman, and amended by Councilwoman Betty McClelland, changing boundaries and voting populace for the three current voting districts, was defeated by a 3-2 vote of council. A special meeting of council to consider re-apportionment of municipal voting districts was scheduled by Mayor Frank M. Durnall for Sept. 29.

Grant's plan provided for an eastern district population of 3,263 with an area from Wilbur and Academy Streets, east to the city line; a middle district west to the B&O tracks, and north to South College Avenue and Main Street, and east to North College, with a population of 3,302; and a western district with a current population of 1,650, and an imminent future population of 2,450, west of the B&O and North College Avenue.

Amended Plan
Mrs. McClelland amended this proposal to include the area west of Wilbur Street to North College Avenue and Main in the Eastern district, and extending the western district boundaries to the east side of Elkton Road, with a more equitable distribution of population for 3,649 in the eastern; 3,416 in the middle, and 2,543 in the western districts.

In the only vote polled on the several plans presented, Grant's proposal as amended by Mrs. McClelland, was defeated, 3-2, with Councilmen William M. Coverdale, Samuel L. Diehl, Jr., and C. Vernon Steele in opposition.

Mrs. Edward H. Lake presented a plan last Tuesday night, prepared by the Newark League of Women Voters at the request of Mayor Durnall in May, 1958, and originally presented to council without action—in October of last year.

This proposal included an eastern district east of North Chapel Street, south of White Clay Creek, and south of East Main to South College Avenue, a middle district west to Elkton Road and north to Main Street, including all land south of Barksdale and west of Elkton Road; and a western district west of Elkton Road, between Barksdale and West Main, and north to Main Street, including land north of White Clay Creek.

The league proposal was submitted on the basis of "easily defined geographical lines" and "districts as equal in population as possible in accordance with the city charter."

Western Division
Councilman Diehl proposed that the western district be divided into two districts, with two additional council members to be elected, to provide "more thought and constructive criticism" at the council table, and to avoid changing existing boundaries in the eastern and middle zones with consequent re-registration.

Neither proposal was acted upon. If it had, it would go to a complete re-registration. Diehl's proposal, with which observation Election Board Chairman Grant heartily concurred.

Hugh F. Gallagher, Jr., in the audience, cited the Diehl plan as "A real good idea," to be worked on for adoption with the 1962 census figures, but urged that council "adopt reapportionment now."

He pointed out that hasty adoption of the Diehl plan might arouse resentment for the balance of power that might exist in the present western area with the proposed split and two additional councilmen at the table.

Enough!
Mayor Durnall objected to increasing the number of councilmen for the city of 10,000, pointing out that "the City of Memphis with a population of 640,000 has only four council members."

Councilman Coverdale expressed concern with "the utter disregard of complications that may ensue" from proposed reapportionment.

He pointed out that with proposed changes in district boundaries, Middle District Councilman Diehl would be in the eastern district, and Mrs. McClelland, western representative, would be located in the middle district.

City Solicitor John Sinclair was unavailable for legal advice requested by Coverdale.

Samuel Handloff, former city solicitor in the audience, commented that "the only way council can act is by ordinance," and that "reapportionment should serve the broad interests of the community, even if certain councilmen have to suffer."

The mayor halted a heated exchange between Coverdale and Handloff, and Mrs. McClelland introduced Mr. Grant's amended proposal with the preface: "The people are being denied their chartered and constitutional rights if we allow election districts to remain so completely out of balance."

The motion was defeated.

PAUL DOLAN HONORED
Dr. Paul Dolan, University of Delaware, has been appointed by Gov. J. Caleb Boggs to serve as a member of the Delaware Day Commission for a term of four years, Delaware Day, Dec. 7, marks the anniversary of the First State's ratification of the Constitution.

Mrs. Delaware—Mrs. Dorothy Kutner of Brookside—holds up the coupon of the winner of the 1959 Fiat, presented by the Newark Shopping Center at the close of its Fourth Anniversary Sale. The imported auto, parked at right, was won by Mrs. Gertrude Lloyd of Middletown.

HELPING HAND

INDUSTRY SEEKS THE HANDICAPPED

Physically handicapped workers have proved their worth as competent employees in industry, and recognition of this from no less a group than the National Association of Manufacturers.

In the eve of the Oct. 4-10 observance of "National Day of the Physically Handicapped Week," NAM president J. Hope has sent a letter to the association's 20,000 members applauding the accomplishments of disabled workers. "They have done more than their share not only in helping themselves and their dependents, but in helping sustain the nation's economic strength," Mr. Hope observed.

He pointed out that handicapped job placements increased 100 percent in the first half of 1959 over the same period of 1958. "Today industry seeks the handicapped," the NAM president said.

This stands as a tribute to the courageous determination of disabled workers to overcome their handicaps and to supporting. It is also a tribute to the employers who have given them the opportunity to prove they can do it.

Navy Notes - Assignment Asmara

The Coast to Tripoli
By William P. Mote

A graduate of Newark High School, Class of 1937, Navy Radioman Bill Mote, son of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Mote, Newark, is stationed at Asmara, Africa, 65 miles from the Red Sea. His articles concerning Navy life will appear from time to time.

High over Spain we encountered thunderheads. They were much the same as one sees over the East Coast but at our altitude they looked even bigger. As we headed toward them I began to wonder if I had been right in leaving my air sick pills in Bermuda. Then we banked to the north and toward France. We flew in this direction for about 45 minutes. Then, the girl brought us dinner and I knew the pilot had gone by the storm. This would cause a lot of extra air time. I was glad that the tanks had been full when we left the Azores.

We watched the sights of Spain from the air and saw roads, large buildings, a dam with power poles leading away to Madrid, and the checkboard pattern of the fields. By the time we finished eating it was dark and the engine exhausts were

I slept and around midnight I woke and went up to the radar shack to see where we were. On the scope we saw Italy, the islands we were over next to it, and the near coast of Africa, several hours away. I went up in the flight deck and looked out ahead but all was darkness.

I returned to my seat and watched the stars. My thoughts ran away as I watched them, very clear and motionless in the void. We sailed on toward Africa at all but 300 mph and I dozed for awhile.

Then, the lights came on and we strapped in once more. This time I felt no fear of the landing. Maybe it was because we had finally reached Africa. The plane came over the lights and we let down for the landing.

Even in the darkness, Africa looked a bit forbidding and strange. Then we flared out over the runway and with a slight jolt we touched on ground. The props howled as we slowed down. We stopped and walked into the heat. There was the usual terminal and bus—and a surprise—palm trees!

I was tired, but so was most everyone. It had been nearly 11 hours since we had left the Azores. We piled into the bus and rumbled off to the chow hall to eat our breakfast and relax for two hours. We didn't leave for four hours. When we landed, only one of our four engines had been working just as it should. Old 191 needed a bit of rest, too!

Delaware's Starting Line Tops 200-Lbs. With Letterman To Start At Each Post

Blessed with the largest and deepest line strength since his arrival in Newark nine seasons ago, Coach Dave Nelson, master of the Wing-T, will start a letterman at every position, and starters from last season in at least seven.

No lineman among the starters tips the beam at less than 200 pounds. Headed by center and captain, Mark Hurn, a home town boy and former Yellowjacket star, who stands 6-1 and weighs 220, the group includes ends Mickey Heinicke and Dick Broadbent, 214 and 212; tackles John Mordas, and Ray Klapsinski, 219 and 220; End Leon Dombrowski and Otto Fad, 200 and 235-lbs.

In the backfield the obvious starters will be senior quarterback Gampy Pellegrini, fullback John Bowman and halfbacks Jack Turner and Tony Suravitch.

Turner, the leading ground gainer in Delaware's 67-season football history, was 19th in the nation last year among small college halfbacks, with 674 yards in 174 carries.

Suravitch, who played most of the season at fullback, was the squad's leading scorer with 48 points on seven touchdowns and three extra-point plays.

Nelson will add to the versatility of his backfield this season by having the halfbacks capable of playing either side, and Bowman and Suravitch will alternate from half to fullback.

Behind his starters Nelson has speedy halfback Dave Beinner; junior fullback Pape Lukk, and two promising sophomores — quarterback Barry Fetterman and halfback Ken Schroek.

Among the line replacements are such stalwarts as tackle Mike Boyd, reported to be the most improved player on the squad; Jim Garvin and Bob Johnson, two hustling guards; and center Lenny (Earthquake) Nelson, a 262-lb. behemoth with speed as well as brawn.

What the Blue Hens appear to need most is speed and for this important quality Nelson depends upon halfbacks Davey (Bugs) Beinner and newcomer Ken Schroek.

Beinner, a junior from Irvington, N. J., showed speed and shiftness last season while gaining 246 yards. He ranked third among all Blue Hen ball carriers, scored three touchdowns, and also snared four passes for 60 yards. He proved adept at returning punts and intercepting passes.

Schroek, another Garden Stateer from Ortleigh Beach, was a leading ground carrier with Delaware's winning freshman squad and has shown ability in spring practice and early season scrimmages. His broken field running and defensive toughness have attracted the attention of the coaches and Nelson says succinctly "He'll play."

Delaware opens the season with arch-rival Lehigh at Delaware Stadium on Sept. 26.

Hens Scrimmage With Army Squad In Saturday Visit

Army Scores Seven Times As Hens Gain 230-Yards Including 12 First Downs

"I was disappointed that we were unable to score," Coach Dave Nelson reported on the Delaware scrimmage with the Army at West Point last Saturday, "but we were able to move the ball. We picked up 12 first downs and about 230 yards in five long quarters of play. Army scored seven times during the afternoon, but only three of these touchdowns were against our first team."

Nelson offered no apologies, but observed that his team was operating under several handicaps.

"We were at a disadvantage since we made no defensive plans for the Army offense while the Cadets have been working for more than a week on ours. As it happens, their first opponent of the season is Boston College, a Wing-T team."

Injuries may have played a part in the results. First team guard Otto Fad and end Mickey Heinicke were out of action before the game, and tackle John Mordas was injured during the first series of plays. Mordas' injury is minor and he is expected to rejoin the team this week.

Nelson commended halfback Tony Suravitch and fullbacks John Bowman and Pape Lukk for their play. "Suravitch and Bowman ran well and Lukk looked good defensively," he said. "What really killed us, though, was pass interceptions and a lack of defensive preparations for some of the plays they used. Army's backs reacted like cats on defense. They made six interceptions."

Despite the one-sided scoring, Nelson said he was satisfied with his team's performance against one of the top-rated teams in the country.

"They certainly didn't run us out of the ball park," he said. "In fact, there was only one long run by either team, an 65 yard sprint by reserve fullback for the Cadets. We improved greatly in the second half, too, for only two scores were made after the half."

"The trip and the experience did our boys a lot of good," Nelson concluded.

seven big flounder, weighing up to seven pounds, that he caught with Big John Sadowski last weekend, drifting fishing on the bay side of the Indian River Inlet.

The Swede and his companion fished with bucktails garnished with strips of fresh squid, and in addition to the big tog and flounder, caught half-pound black sea bass until they tired of the bait.

Axel tired of the big tautog, too, before the fish showed itself from off the bottom.

Drifting rapidly with the tide, both anglers were frequently snagged on the rocky bottom of the inlet, and when the tog took hold, Axel was prepared for another hassle with the topography of the inlet bed.

John Sadowski cranked up the motor and ran back against the tide over the "snag" and at that juncture, the big fish surged off with a lunge that jarred all hands.

For a long time, it appeared that the Swede had tied into a stinger, and then Sadowski caught a glimpse of the big tog as it swam toward the surface to investigate the annoying drag on its dental work.

From then on, Axel had his heart in his work, and somehow the fish was boated without the aid of a non-existent gaff and a too-small landing net.

Another fortunate angler in that area, came ashore with seven flounder weighing a total of 42 pounds—doormats taken in drifting over the bay with whole, six-inch mullet or fatback for bait.

In The Surf
In the surf, things were less interesting. A nippy northeaster on Saturday stirred the murl on the bottom to handicap marine visibility, and did little to enhance aerial casting. Three big skates were taken, and in the afternoon—just as some snapper blues began to snatch at our strips of fatback—time and bait ran out.

The wind shifted from northeast to west late in the evening, flattening out the ocean and surf, and as far as we could see—up and down the beach from Stockley Street at Rehoboth—the smooth surface was rippled with millions of migrating mullet—and not a trout or a blue slashing among them.

C Sunday, weather and water conditions were much improved, but mullet were the only fish in evidence until early in the afternoon, a school of big blues began slashing the blue water into white, foaming explosions some quarter-mile offshore.

We strained the old Penn reel trying to reach 'em, but they were too far out.

Babe Ruth League Plans Organizational Meeting

An organizational meeting of the Newark Babe Ruth League will be held next Tuesday at 8 p.m., at the American Legion Home in George Read Village, S. Kennedy Fell announced this morning.

All interested adults are invited to attend, and fathers of Babe Ruth League players, particularly, are urged to be present.

Merritt Burke is president of the Newark Babe Ruth League; Bob Beattie is vice-president; Al Brayman, treasurer; and Sam Yarrington, secretary.

Guy Ammon

Genial Guy Ammon, the Lura-Bait manufacturer of Rehoboth, stopped by to say "hello" and confirmed the personal observation of a transient with a resident's statement that the fishing was and had been "terrible."

Mr. Ammon makes a plastic fluorescent-painted, hooked lure that bluefish and trout in the surf can't resist but Guy Ammon advocates fish in the surf for best results. And they weren't there last week-end.

In a last chance try, one caught a blue late Sunday afternoon—after one rod had been dismantled for the trip home. And that's cutting things pretty close.

Mark Hurn Leads Delaware Grid As 1959 Captain

Former Yellowjacket Begins Third Year For Delaware As Captain

Mark Shedd Hurn, pre-medical student, but what the doctor ordered is Fightin' Blue Hens at the Delaware of Delaware.

The 220-pound senior in his third year as center in the football team where he has played has won the respect of mates and opponents alike.

The heavy captain of the Hens is no stranger to the football fans. Only a freshman he was a standout with the Newark High School team, by former Blue Hen star D. C. Hurn, 115 lbs. At the time of the freshman football season, Hurn was the only player to win numerals in football and baseball.

His success was not limited to the athletic field. He is president of the sophomore class, member of Sigma Phi Epsilon, and helped the 1959 team record in recent years.

An across-the-street Head Coach Dave Nelson, who has coached Hurn since his freshman year, said Hurn is a "real leader" and "a real team player."

Hunting Supplies

Delaware's dove hunting season opens tomorrow, with a daily bag limit of 10, and the first half of the split season for this migratory, feathered bullet ends Oct. 22. The second half of the Delaware dove season will open Nov. 20, continuing through Dec. 19.

All persons over 15 years of age are required to have a hunting license to avoid unpleasant conflict with the law and Bill Wideman, a resident hunting license may be purchased locally for $2.25. With license, guns, and shells, all you have to do is locate doves to be in business—and finding a concentration of these long-tailed streamliners may take a bit of doing.

Few targets are more sporting, and a dove with its mind on its work and under a full head of flying steam is tough to hit.

Local Man On Probation For Threat With Pistol

Common Pleas Judge A. James Gallo last week fined Anthony A. Carr, Wilson Street, Newark, $50 on a charge of threatening bodily harm.

Carr was charged with threatening Charles Roy, Church Street, with a .32 caliber revolver on June 13.

Carr was placed on a year's probation for carrying a deadly weapon.

be the scene of a Family Night covered dish supper at 6:45 p.m. Tuesday. Following a fellowship dinner Elder James Corner will discuss church work in crowded downtown areas of modern cities.

Millard Davis, Rhoads Speck, and Mrs. Rachel Justis attended a workshop for church school staff members at the Concord Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon.

The fall program of Christiana Boy Scout Troop 75 got underway Monday evening with a Court of Honor in the Methodist Church. Wayne Hawkins, Ricky Jeandell, Andrew Perry, and James Shetler were awarded second class badges. Twenty merit badges were also presented, and Rodney patches were given to those boys who attended camp this summer. Patrol leaders were elected for the coming year.

A camping trip is planned for next weekend. Scoutmaster Donald McLaughlin has announced. Boys 11 years old or older, who are interested in joining the Scout troop, are invited to attend Monday meetings in the church, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Christiana-Salem elementary school is in its first full week of operation with an enrollment of 152 students from grades one through six. The staff and faculty remains the same as last year, with the exception of the school secretary, who is now Mrs. Gladden. Special instructors in art, music, and physical education will teach classes at Christiana once a week. Some of the children of this district are receiving the benefit of special instruction at the Medill school.

In addition to the Christiana school population, the fourth, fifth, and sixth grades of the new Robert E. Gallaher School are being housed here until their own school can open, which will probably be with a few weeks. Teachers for this group of 108 students include Mrs. DeLong, fourth grade; Miss Shaw, fifth; Mrs. Fenstermaker and Mr. Balant, sixth.

Delegates from the local fire company auxiliary to the women's convention on Saturday are Mrs. Elizabeth Tackach, president, and Mrs. Laura Mae Vincent, with Mrs. Charlotte Bush and Mrs. Ada Cleaves as alternates.

Local residents noted the death in Wilmington last week of a former Christiana resident, George B. Reed, age 97. Mr. Reed was the original owner of the home on East Main Street now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Burris. There are

The kick-off event for the summer program was a Junior Fishing Derby with a record 383 youthful fishermen. Closing the summer on a similar note, the Delaware State Junior Fishing Rodeo, held in conjunction with other state contests, again produced a state "queen" with Sharon Winslow.

The Recreation Pony Baseball system was increased to five leagues, and a total of 470 boys signed with 20 teams. The New-Rec League was composed of four teams with 71 older boys registered.

The softball program was increased to a five-team independent league, a five-team industrial league; a six-team church league and a four-team intermediate league.

The park was the site of the eight week YMCA day camp, and two-week Girl Scout Camp, while 25 different groups used the picnic and park site on a reserved basis.

Delaware Food Market Report

By Anne Holberton
U. of D. Agricultural Extension Service

With the coming of fall, increases in prices on both fresh fruits and vegetables will be true this week-end. More and more products are being shipped from a distance since local supplies are fast disappearing.

Penny increases are found on cabbage, beets, snap beans, potatoes and squash. Butter beans, lettuce, tomatoes, and corn are all up three to five cents.

Steady in price are carrots, dry onions, green peppers, baking potatoes, celery, cucumbers and green onions. Weekend sales offer the best opportunity to save when buying vegetables.

Fruits as well as vegetables cost more this week. Locally grown cantaloupes are gone and prices are two to three cents higher for the western melons.

Lemons have gone up two cents a dozen and peaches, plums and pears are one to three cents higher.

To offset this increase, apples are a bit cheaper this week, and there are plenty of bananas for 15 cents a pound.

Seedless grapes are also steady to cheaper in price. Both of the fruits are ideal for the school lunch box and for after-school snacks.

The "luxury" melons are coming into their own now, with supply increasing and prices ranging from 69 cents for a honeydew to 89 cents.

CONSTITUTION DAY

SEPTEMBER 17

On this day, 172 years ago, the most significant convention ever held in America came to its climax in Philadelphia's Independence Hall.

For 17 long and sultry weeks, 55 delegates from the original states had been drafting a Federal Constitution. Their sessions, over which George Washington presided, had been marked by stormy debate, dissension and bickering. But on Monday, September 17, 1787, the momentous document was finished, signed and sealed.

"We, the people . . ." it began—and went on to guarantee the blessings of liberty, to blueprint the most ethical and beneficent form of government ever devised, and to weld together a loose confederation of states into "a more perfect Union."

We salute the Signers of the Constitution . . . the men who designed and built our Ship of State and charted its destiny. We honor them for their noble purpose, their vision, their stubborn insistence that basic individual freedoms be unabridged by central governmental powers. From their wisdom and labors has come the greatest legacy of every succeeding generation—the American Way of Life.

Today, we must preserve this way of life against opposition, for there are dissenters and malcontents now as there were in 1787. We must preserve freedom of enterprise, must resist all misguided socialistic efforts to convert or cancel any of the liberties we enjoy.

"We, the people . . ." must keep faith today with those who first demonstrated their faith in us.
