Old College Lounge Set as Rendezvous

Music And Food To Be Served At Intermission

The Lounge in Old College will be open all during the dance this Saturday night so that couples will have a place to sit and relax during the hours of 8-12. Cakes and other refreshments will be served in the Lounge. Cappy's quartet, a musical group from Philadelphia, has been hired to provide music in the Lounge. You will be admitted to the Lounge by presenting your dance ticket.

Woody Herman, who will provide the music in the Field House, is coming to Delaware with a 20-piece band, plus his vocalists. Sometime during the evening, Herman and his crew will put on a show for half an hour. The rest of the time they will supply danceable music. The Friday night before the dance here, the Herman "Herd" will entertain at the University of Pennsylvania for the I. F. C. Ball.

The entrance to the Field House will be through the foyer, and the exit at the side door. Wooden planks will be placed from the side door to the paved walk. For this dance the cloak room will be next to the exit. Intermission has been scheduled from 10:00 to 10:30. Tickets are now on sale in University Hall. The price is $4.00 a couple and the price will be the same at the door Saturday night.

The guests Saturday night will be Dr. and Mrs. Carlson, Dean Rex-trew, Dr. and Mrs. Daugherty, Mr. and Mrs. William Murray, and the Deans of the Schools.

Development Fund Agents Appointed

Victor H. Jones, alumni chairman for the University of Delaware's 1949 Development Fund, has announced 50 representatives for the annual campaign, which is to be launched in the near future.

One representative was named for each class graduated since 1901, while two additional aides were appointed for the classes prior to that year.

Alumnae agents were announced recently by Mrs. Robert M. Joyce, Jr., the alumnae chairman.

The alumni representatives are: Classes up to 1894, W. W. Hyndson; 1895-1900, Dr. W. O. Sypherd; 1901, Cecil MacDonald; 1902, John W. Huxley, Jr.; 1903, Charles W. Bush; 1904, Joseph M. A Capella Choir To Tour Kent - Sussex

The University of Delaware's Brass Sextet and 38-voice A Capella Choir will make its annual visit to schools in Kent and Sussex counties on April 4, 5, and 6, according to an announcement by Floyd T. Hart, state director of music education.

Schools to hear assembly concerts are: Lewes High School, 9:30 a. m., April 5; Lord Baltimore School, Ocean View, 11:10 a. m., April 5; John M. Clayton School, Frankford, 1:10 p. m., April 5; Bridgeville High School, 9:50 a. m., April 6; Greenwood High School, 11 a. m., April 6; Dover High School, 1:20 p. m., April 6; and Smyrna High School, 2:40 p. m., April 6.

Arranged jointly by Mr. Hart and Anthony J. Loudis, professor of music at the University, the tour this year will take in assembly programs at seven schools as well as two public concerts in the evenings of April 4 and 5. The latter will be at Lewes High School at 8 p. m. on April 4, and the second concert will be at Laurel High School at 8:15 p. m. on April 5. The Lewes P.T.A. is sponsoring the program there, and the music department of the Laurel School is the sponsor there.

Invitations for the choir and brass sextet to present these concerts were extended by H. Geiger Omwake, superintendent at Lewes, and Charles P. Helm, superintendent at Laurel. Mrs. Catherine Stallings, director of vocal music, and Arthur Kretz, director of instrumental music at Laurel, are cooperating in arranging the entertainment there.

The musical assemblage of nearly 50 will have luncheons at the Lord Baltimore School and Greenwood High School, and dinner at the Sequola Inn, Lewes, and at various homes of Laurel. A large portion of the singers and instrumentalists live in either Kent or Sussex counties.

Details of the selections to be presented during the programs will be announced later by Mr. Loudis, as director of the choir, and J. Robert King, director of the Brass Sextet.

Contralto to Sing In Artists' Series

Kathleen Ferrier Recital Given Here on March 21

Kathleen Ferrier, young British contralto just starting her second American concert series, will be heard in a recital at the University of Delaware's Mitchell Hall, on the evening of Monday, March 21. Open to the public, the recital will be at 8:15 p. m.

Miss Ferrier's recent success in America traces to her performance a year ago with the New York Philharmonic Symphony, under Bruno Walter's direction, of the contralto part of Mahler's "Song of the Earth."

KATHLEEN FERRIER

A native of Lancashire in England, Miss Ferrier spent the war years touring England, under auspices of the Council for Encouragement of Music and Art, giving concerts in air raid shelters, factories, and schools. At the same time, amid London's blackouts and blitz, she was studying, giving concerts, and making solo appearances. In 1945, she was chosen for the leading role of the opera, "The Rape of Lucretia," in which she appeared more than sixty times in England, Scotland, and Holland. The following year, she also sang on the opening night as Orpheus in Gluck's "Orfeo."

Bruno Walter heard her, and engaged her as soloist for both the Edinburgh Festival and the New York Philharmonic Symphony. She made her American debut on January 15, 1948, and followed with recitals in Chicago and Ottawa. She then returned to England to fill an extensive concert schedule—she appeared also in the Netherlands and Scandinavia. She is returning to America this spring for a recital tour, including her appearance at Newark.

Reserved seats for her recital may be obtained through the Artist Series at the University of Delaware, or at the box office on the night of her performance.

Latin Development Topic of Discussion

Latin American development should be linked with European recovery by the "North American productive impulse, in a realistic approach to a new expanded world economy," Dr. Herbert Dorn, professor of economics at the University of Delaware, Monday, March 7, told members of the Junior Section, Wilmington New Century Club at the clubhouse. His subject was "What Does Latin America Mean to Us?"

"The task is urgent," said Dr. Dorn, "and concerns us all. Europe has paid much for being late—let us be sure America acts on time."

Trade barriers such as high tariffs, import quotas, and exchange controls "should not once more—as in the 1930's—become the last word in the relations between nations of the world," he declared.

Terming "the great post-war problem" to be the "economic freedom of man and nations in a world of interdependencies and ideological unrest," Dr. Dorn commented that "a survey of the existing tendencies of Latin American countries gave evidence of their paradoxical character, which must be understood as part of that great problem."

"Mutual understanding between North America and Latin America," he said, "in the cultural field—no less than in the economic—should lead the way to ever-growing cooperation, the prerequisite of economic peace."

Research is required to facilitate such cooperation, according to Dr. Dorn, who cited the goals of the University of Delaware's Institute for Inter-American Study and Research, which he heads. The institute, he explained, was founded last year "with the purpose of cooperation in clearing the problems involved, and working on solutions which combine theory and practice."

"Some of the problems of Latin America," he said, "are of decisive character, and are common both to the Latin countries and to the United States."

"To overcome these problems, we must think in terms of continents here and there."

Dr. Dorn, who joined the Delaware faculty in 1947, was consulting economist and acting director of the Department for International Economy of the War Economy Board of Cuba, for several years prior to that time. Earlier, he had been chief justice of the Supreme Court of the Reich in matter of public finance in pre-Hitler Germany.

Delta Shelter Open For Formal Visits

Delta Tau Delta will hold open house all day Saturday and Sunday at the Delta Shelter, 230 East Main Street. All students and members of the faculty of the University are cordially invited to stop in at any time during these two days to visit with the members and see the house.

D.T.D. is the newest fraternity on campus to occupy a house, the Deltas having moved in at the beginning of this term. The open house this week-end will mark the first time that the house has been open for all to visit on a formal basis, although there have been several house parties this term, and the proud new occupants of the house have already shown their redecorating job and the red leather-furnished living room to a number of their friends.

The members sincerely hope that you will find time to stop in at the Shelter this week-end.

Int. Students Hold Brown Hall Party

Dancing, Buffet Supper Highlight Gala Affair

On Saturday night, March 5, the International Students Club celebrated the Carnival season with a gala costume party in Brown Hall. Students and faculty representing such countries as France, Greece, Mexico, Panama, Nicaragua, Italy, Germany, Puerto Rico, Holland, Cuba, Iceland, Canada, and China appeared in their native costumes at one of the most colorful social affairs of the University.

Peggy Munoz and Alfredo Berguido, social chairmen for the International Students' Club, opened the Carnival with a demonstration of the Raspa, a typical Mexican folk dance. Soon everyone was joining in the fun, and some forty people began to imitate the actions of the Mexican jumping bean around the floor. After a game of charades, exhibitions of the rhumba, the jitterbug, and the tango were presented, followed by the Virginia Reel.

A buffet supper prepared in the French manner by Simone Baboud and Marina Atia furnished refreshment for the tired dancers who soon revived enough to spend the remainder of the evening in social dancing. Dr. and Mrs. Dorn took the center of the floor when a Viennese waltz was played, and the many Latin American students outdid themselves in the rhumbas and sambas in competition with Mr. Louis Tobla, the avowed rhumba king of the University of Delaware.

No serious international incidents occurred during the Carnival, although it was the cooperative work of so many different nationalities. If the students in this organization can have such a gay and happy time together despite their different tastes in music and in food, surely there must be some hope for the future of the world.

Engineering Group Meets at Commons

The student branch of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers held its regular monthly dinner meeting at the Commons on March 2. Forty members and guests attended.

Chairman Daniel L. DuHamell, Jr., announced that eight students will present papers at the next meeting, with prizes to be awarded of $5, $3, and $1. The student presenting the winning paper will have his expenses paid to the Regional Conference at George Washington University, Washington, D. C., where he will compete against students from fifteen other colleges for a first prize of $50. Indications are that a large number of ASME student members from Delaware will attend the Conference, held on April 1 and 2. The visiting students will have an opportunity to go on field trips to the Bureau of Standards, Naval Gun Factory, and the Naval Ordnance Bureau.

Membership for the current year for students enrolled in Mechanical Engineering is open until March 14, 1949. Honorary Chairman Edward C. Lawson discussed two of the many advantages of ASME student membership. Transfer from student member to junior member at graduation eliminates considerable correspondence and delay, and also a saving of $10 on the transfer fee. Secondly, the ASME employment service is available to members at a substantially lower rate. Students interested in further information about the ASME should contact Prof. Lawson, Mr. DuHamell, or one of the other officers who are: Vice-chairman, Baudy R. Grier; Secretary, Richard C. Higgins, and Treasurer, Leonard S. Horner.

Chaos Into Unity

Dean Williamson, from the University of Minnesota, met with several groups last week to discuss various methods for the improvement of conditions at the University. We don't know what Dean Williamson's final report contained but we hope that some provision was made for the co-ordination of activities. Under the present system there is no governing body for all extra-curricular activities. Since clubs are no longer supported by S. G. A. funds they fail to come under its aegis. The result of this set-up is a complete lack of unity.

We suggest some sort of council to be composed of the presidents, or some other delegated officer, from each organization approved by the Committee on Student Organizations which would be responsible for co-ordinating activities. This council would be similar to the Inter-Fraternity Council and the University Religious Council. Under their sponsorship the clubs at Delaware would be united, and the possibility of joining action to secure more active participation increased.

Commuters' Room

Is the Commuter's Room in the basement of the Memorial Library supposed to be open to all students? This was the impression that we received when we first heard of its opening. However, recent events have shown that we were wrong. During the past few weeks students have wandered down to buy a coke and sit and relax only to find that the door was locked and some organization was using it. The Commuter's Room and the Student Union in the basement of Robinson Hall are supposedly filling the need of a regular Student Union Building. If they are to do this effectively they should be open to the entire student body at all times.

And while on the subject of the Commuter's Room—Empty boxes are provided for coke bottles. There is no excuse for leaving bottles on the floor and under the furniture. This means a great deal of extra work for the men who have to clean up, to say nothing of the unsightly appearance it gives to the room. It only takes a few steps to place the bottles back where they belong.

Library Schedule! Do You Like It?

Have you wanted to use the Library when it was closed? To use it, that is, for study or reading? Or are you satisfied with the present business hours at the Library? Here's your chance to express your opinion.

The Faculty Library committee would like to get your opinions in the questionnaire below. To keep the Library open during its present off-hours would require more funds. So the committee would like to get some evidence before recommending the expenditure of more money. It won't take you long to fill in the questionnaire, clip it, and deposit it in the box on the Circulation Desk at the Library. Do it before March 19.

For your convenience here is the present Library schedule: During classes and examinations: Monday to Friday 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday 8 a.m. to 1 p.m., Sunday 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. During Summer School the hours are the same except that the Library closes at 9 p.m., is not open Saturday unless there are classes, and is always closed on Sunday. At any other time it is open Monday to Friday 9 to 12 a.m. and 1 to 4 p.m. It is closed on Election day, July 4th, day before Christmas, Christmas, day after Thanksgiving, New Year's day, part of convocation and commencement days.

THE GEYSER

By JIM REAGAN

On September 27, 1946, President Carlson appointed a Committee on Theory and Practice to re-examine the "entire program of liberal education" at the University. This committee has just submitted a full report of its study and a plan for revision of the University curricula and administration to achieve five objectives.

These objectives are: (1) Strengthening the faculty and encouraging the entrance of a larger number of students of superior scholastic preparation and attitude, (2) the building of a sound general-education program for all students, (3) increasing the incentives and opportunities for individual student initiative, (4) improvement of the students' use of English, (5) elevation of the tone of the students' extra-curricular social and intellectual life.

A meeting was held on Tuesday, March 8, for faculty discussion and consideration of the report and its suggested changes. Unfortunately, we are unable to report on faculty opinion, since our deadline precedes the meeting's conclusion. However, we hope to be able to present their reaction in the near future.

What effect will this have on the students now enrolled? This, of course, depends on adoption of the program laid down in the report, and on the speed with which the program is to begin. The report stresses evolution rather than revolution, but a major change is advocated which will affect students entering in the fall of 1949 and all subsequent classes. Adoption of certain portions of the program may also affect lower classmen already enrolled.

The thunderbolt, as far as many students are concerned, is the general-education phase of the report. It is recommended that a sequence of core courses be prescribed for all students in all schools of the University, beginning with the class of 1953—that class which enters in the fall of 1949. These courses are designed to help the individual to "approach the following goals: (1) spiritual insight, (2) moral integrity, (3) emotional maturity, (4) social effectiveness, (5) physical well-being, and (6) intellectual enlightenment."

The courses are: Freshman year—Physical Sciences (8 credits) and Western Civilization (6 credits); Sophomore year—Biological Sciences (6 credits) and Study of Literature (6 credits); Junior year—The History of Ideas (6 credits); Senior year—Great Issues and Problems (6 credits).

The trend in education is now toward "core" and "prescription" courses, according to the report. "Core" courses "stress selected topics, rather than systematic coverage, and they aim at the understanding of ideas rather than at the knowledge of facts." These prescription courses are required of each student, and probably would replace some of the traditional electives.

The explanation of the courses given by the report is too lengthy to be covered in one short breath, so we shall attempt to cover these for you as a series. Since the outlines are tentative, a better idea (Continued on Page 6)

THIS PAST weekend your correspondents visited Washington, D. C., and while walking the streets in our jockey shorts because we wanted to horse around, we uncovered the biggest news scoop of the year . . . here goes—

TRUMAN RESTS AS AIDES PRESS SUIT ON LEWIS

Averting what promised to be a national labor dispute, Joe Truman, a pants presser or the Acme U-Wait-We-Press Cleaners, Inc., calmly rested on his constitutional rights as three unidentified apprentices pressed the pants of Mike L. Lewis, undisputed boss of Local 5557 (United Pants Pressers, Men's Division).

Truman, however, refused to submit to union brutality and waited while his assistants undertook his job, firmly convinced that he was protected by the Pants Pressers Code of the Wages and Hours Act of the 80th Congress.

In a closed shop with no spectators admitted, Truman allowed his assistants to iron out difficulties, while Lewis maintained a broad front. The Garment District breathed a sigh of relief as Lewis left the shop, satisfied with the job. Truman, it was revealed later by a Union spokesman, will be given a vacation with pay, which he will spend occupied with Mr. Lewis' laundry (including flatwork).

Robert L. Durkee Addresses D.S.T.A.

"Our Professional Coming of Age" was the subject of an address by Mr. Robert L. Durkee, Executive Secretary of the Delaware State Education Association and Editor of the Delaware School Journal, to the Delaware Student Teachers' Association last Thursday.

In addition to enumerating the benefits derived from belonging to a professional organization, Mr. Durkee stressed the compensations which come as a result of teaching. While financial remuneration has always been a sore point, he pointed out that teachers' salaries are rising. However, Mr. Durkee stressed that the financial angle was minor when compared with other compensations such as a knowledge that one has helped develop the personalities of students. He used as examples situations from his personal experiences. The meeting was followed by an informal discussion period and refreshments.

Several high school students, interested in forming a chapter of the Future Teachers of America at Wilmington High School, were guests of the D. S. T. A.

Alumnus to Speak About Brotherhood

The Rev. Alexander Boyer, class of 1940, returns to campus this week during the regular time for College Hour, at one o'clock in Mitchell Hall, Thursday, March 17. Mr. Boyer, now pastor of St. James Episcopal Church in Newport, is prominent in humanitarian and clerical circles in northern Delaware. He has played a leading part in the Wilmington Housing Authority, the Delaware Fellowship Commission and other groups.

In introducing two films to Delaware students, Mr. Boyer will combine his knowledge of the local campus and current problems emphasized by Fellowship Month.

The films to be presented are, "The Brotherhood of Man," a cartoon depicting racial groups, their differences and similarities, and "Democracy," a statement of the modern application of the fundamental American heritage.

This program is designed to give students some knowledge of the background of pending Civil-Rights legislation in the State of Delaware, as it effects each citizen of Delaware.

Bacteriology Topic Of Public Lecture

The history of the development of bacteriology was outlined by Dr. James C. Kakavas, chairman of the Department of Biological Sciences at the University of Delaware, in a public Graduate Lecture Series address Monday, March 7.

Beginning with the discovery of bacteria, Dr. Kakavas enumerated bacteriology's contributions to present-day life. Among the subjects which he discussed, was the research into bovine mastitis which he directs at the University. Dr. Kakavas also showed motion pictures dealing with bacteriology. His topic was "The Biology of Bacteria."

7,200 years of college... and still learning

THE Bell Telephone Laboratories is known as a leader in communications engineering. On its staff are 1,622 engineers and scientists with college degrees. Among them they have 7,200 years of college training... and they are still learning.

They study many things. How to speed your voice across the street or around the world. How to keep your voice natural in tone and volume. How to make central office equipment capable of switching your call even faster. How to produce in laboratories the materials which are hard to get in their natural form—quartz, for instance. How to conserve the scarce metals which go into wire and cable, by making one circuit carry many conversations.

From such studies they learn how to make your service better and better, and keep its cost low.

Hens To Compete In MABC Playoffs As Haverford Win Yields Third Place

THE SPORTSMAN

By DICK WELLS

Blue Hen gridders opened spring training Monday in preparation for the toughest schedule in Delaware football history next fall. Some 70 candidates reported for the initial workout, while additional men are expected the latter part of the week. Coach Murray and his staff wasted no time in incorporating the "feel" into the rusty troops, as Tuesday's meeting on the field was climaxed by a spirited 15-minute scrimmage. Co-captains Jack Miller and Nine Stalloni provided the spark, while a stronger Don Boorse produced the lone TD as the chow bell rang.

The dormant Hen passers sprouted wings at Haverford as they breezed to a 75-54 victory over the Mainliners and won themselves a berth in the play-offs. Billy Cole's stellar defensive work at the expense of Sol Tollin, Haverford scoring ace, was the outstanding feature of the game. In addition to holding the host's scoring machine down, Cole led his mates' offensive punch, which had its best success this season, with 16 counters.

Although the swimmers failed in their bid for the conference title last weekend, they had a little balm in seeing the F. & M. team cop the trophy over Lehigh. There isn't much love lost between the Hens and the Engineers, and apparently between the Engineers and the rest of the Middle-Atlantic teams. Lew Ward, Jim Crumlish, and Jack Smith, the medley trio that won that event Saturday only to be disqualified, are hoping that they'll get another crack at the Lehigh medley trio at the Eastern Collegiate this weekend.

There has been plenty of praise from among the swimmers at the fine jobs turned in by Roland Anderson and Harv Ewing this year, both of whom served as trainers. Jack Smith, the burly tank co-captain, has twice cracked the school record in the 100-yard dash but can't get credit for either performance as a new standard, since both of them were turned in as part of a relay.

Captain Bob Downing worked his last meet for the Blue and Gold Gymnasts last Saturday as he and his mates dropped a 50½ to 45½ decision to the avenging West Chester team. A larger crowd witnessed the contest in the Field House, which saw the Hens nearly pick up the winning points in the last three events. By virtue of placing first on the rings, second on the horizontal bars, and fourth in tumbling, Downing continued his point mastery as he notched a total of 12.

The Rylandermen will return in full force next season with the exception of Downing. George Schaeen, Jim McGee, Leon Hart, Lee LeCates, Joe Miller, and other comers will be back with their experience to form a strong nucleus for building a winning combination.

With the completion of a victorious freshman basketball season that registered nine victories to two losses, the Hens will be looking forward to a more successful win-lose season next year. Bob Siemen's Chicks ran up 620 points, an average of 56 per game, against their opponents' 461, or 42 per game. Their only defeats were by the Drexel Tech Jayvees and the P. M. C. yearlings, each of whom they beat on the Delaware court.

Ingenuity No. 6

"My God," said the Duchess, "Take your hand off my leg."

No, it isn't original. It's the opening sentence to a famous novel by a renowned writer. His (or her) name or the title of the novel—your guess is as good as ours. Which only leads to—nobody's guess was as good as nobody's or something, on last week's DELHIEN (No. 5). It hardly seems possible that the line "Great athletes are great—some as good as me" didn't spell "A-C-E H-O-F-F-S-T-E-I-N" to at least a couple of campus "heads," but perhaps WE (with reference to the cats who have time to see four movies a term) are waiting until the prize gets to four or perhaps six passes to the State. And that's the way it stands in the coming test (No. 6). Four free passes to the local cinema for a four line poem revealing to us the identity of the mystery man mentioned below:

Think of a movie star you'll have it made
As a hardwood hawk he makes the grade
To guess this riddle will be as easy as heck.

Brains—now—not even a peck.

How about it, Mr. Piffel? For Piffeling a few lines to us you can make it pay. Your poems? Are just going to prosperity now. Or how about "Coaltown." What's a matter, man—get scratched?

That's the three O mark for this time gang—have yourselves a ball at the Herman Hop and remember to lend an ear to "Lemon Drop" for some real gone "Bop" it's tip top.

"The Chubby Cherub."

Hen Mermaids Open Tank Season

Blue Hen Mermaids have begun rigorous training to mark the opening of the W.A.A. Interclass swim season that will culminate in the Intramural Swimming Meet scheduled for the week of March 20th. Swimming Manager Jean Hemphill has announced that the four class teams will be classified within their own team into beginners, intermediates, and advanced swimmers. Each team must have representatives for each class of swimming. The dates for classification are the following:

Freshman—Thursday, Mar. 10th
Sophomores—Tuesday, Mar. 15th
Juniors and Seniors, Thursday, Mar. 17th

The tentative dates for the meet will be held on the following week on Mar. 21st, 23rd, and 24th.

Class Managers are for the Freshman, Patty Gilbert; the Sophomores, Joyce Hilty; the Juniors, M'Liz Pettit and Laura Lange; the Seniors, Betty Hershey.

Championship Is Killed by Decision

Mermen Draw Third In Middle Atlantic Tourney

An eyelash decision by a Middle Atlantic swimming judge put a first-round crimp in any plans the Blue Hen mermen may have had about winning the conference championship last Saturday night as the Bird swimmers finished third in the eight-team melee in the Franklin and Marshall pool. Coach Harry Rawstrom, after watching Bauduy Grier and John Bishop and the medley relay team of Lew Ward, Jim Crumlish, and Jack Smith qualify for the finals in the only varsity activity of the afternoon session, led his squad into the evening's activities pretty confident that the Hens would make some noise.

But the first piece of business on the evening agenda sent their hopes plummeting off the deep end of the beautiful Lancaster tank. The Delaware medley team, heavy favorites in that event and the highest card in Rawstrom's hand, was disqualified after romping home first. It was ruled that Smith left the mark before Crumlish touched home, and the win went to the second place Lehigh trio, along with the ten points. The Birds finished in 3:15.5, a new conference record, and almost two seconds better than the Engineers. With the disqualification went gold medals for the threesome and possibly the meet for the Birds.

There was plenty of pro and con around the officials' table as the decision was debated before the surprised throng. Rawstrom was of the opinion that the official was not able to make such a close decision from his position. Contrary to usual practice, the relays were not checked by the usual "touch" system, whereby the official places his finger on the man on the mark, and actually "feels" for any infraction. But the decision stood, and Rawstrom accepted it and forgot about it for the remainder of the meet. He concentrated then on bringing his squad far enough out of their gloom to salvage some measure of success. They did accumulate 31 points in the other events, which was good enough for third spot behind F & M and Lehigh.

In fairness to these two teams, it must be said that the points the Hens could have had from a successful medley would still have left them in third place, but the damage that can be done to a team's spirit by such a blow is hard to measure in points. Ironically enough, the Hens have defeated both F & M and Lehigh in dual meets this year.

The Hens' total was accomplished by only seven men, with Grier leading the way with the only Delaware victory of the day. His 95.6 performance in the diving enabled him to retain his local monopoly in this event and to far outdistance the rest of the conference field. Except for West Chester's Bob Kerper, who won the backstroke and individual medley, Grier was the only competitor to successfully defend his crown.

Smith was his usual self, and despite the bitter disappointment that he suffered in the medley decision, came roaring back with a brilliant performance in the century to place second in this event, and anchored the final relay to third place. John Bishop turned in one of his best performances in the finals of the fifty yard dash and placed second here to Lehigh's Gil Casiraghi. In addition, Johnny finished fourth in the hundred and swam a leg on the relay to give him top point honors with 7.5 of the 31 points. Hugh Dougherty kicked in five and a half points of (Continued on Page 5)

Frosh Cagers End Up With Triple Tie

The Freshmen basketball team closed out their season last Wednesday night by trouncing the Haverford Jayvees by a 65-36 margin. This victory rounded out the 1948-49 Frosh record at 9 wins against 2 losses, and sewed up a three way tie for first place in the Southern Division, MASCAC Freshman League. The other two teams deadlocked for first place are Drexel and P.M.C., both of whom have been beaten by the Delaware Frosh this year. Last year, the Delaware lads were undisputed winners of the league with 10 wins and 2 losses.

On Wednesday night, the "Blue and Golden Bantams" outthrust the boys from Haverford, Pa., and continued to play firebrand, classy basketball. High scoring Ray Kee again came out on top of the scoring column as he bucketed 15 points on 6 action goals and 4 free throws. Pivot-man Walter "Count" Swenchart followed with 11 counters, while Billy Utt made 10. Fred Brown, permanent captain of last year's Upper Darby High School team, played a stellar defensive game and contributed 5 points to the grand total.

The Haverford aggregation were paced by forward Buddy Steiner who got 10 points.

The following players will receive freshman numerals for their 1948-1949 season's effort: Ray Kee, Walt Swenchart, John DeGasperis, Bill Utt, John Buechele, Dick Harris, Fred Brown, Bill Shockley, and Bob Shockley. Immediately following Wednesday night's game, Ray Kee was elected captain of the 1948-49 Freshman Basketball Squad.

Gymnastics Team Loses Final Meet

Delaware's gymnastics team lost its final meet of the season to West Chester by a disheartening score of 50½ to 45½ points. Although the Blue Hens captured only two of the six events, only five points separated them from victory.

Quint Meets Haverford Again In First Of Series

The Fighting Blue Hen basketball quintet wound up their regular season on Wednesday evening by putting on their finest exhibition of the season as they downed Haverford by a convincing 75-54 score. Sparked by the terrific offensive and defensive play of 5' 6" Billy Cole, the Hens got off on a fast start, took an early lead, and remained in control throughout the contest.

Cole led the Delaware scoring with 16 points on 6 field goals and 4 fouls, but more important, he held the high-scoring Sol Tollin scoreless for the first time in the Haverford sharpshooter's collegiate career. Game scoring honors went to Haverford's Craig Heberton, the center whose deadly pivot-hook shot netted him 11 big field goals. Heberton also dropped 3 foul shots to total 25 points.

Jules Hoffstein had one of his better nights against Haverford as he made 15 counters. Bobby Gregory and Bill Nash collected 15 and 10 points respectively for the "Hustlin' Hens."

In the last frame, Coach Joe Brunansky yanked his first-stringers and gave his reserves the floor. "Easy Ed" Clark promptly dazzled the fans with his sparkling floor play and accurate shooting; his much-practiced hook shot, however, failed to connect. Dave Rosenblatt, in his first and possibly last appearance on the Blue Hen basketball court, responded to the pleading of the bench and dropped a two-pointer.

This victory brought the regular season's record to 4 wins against 14 losses. Having won 4 out of their 10 league games in the Southern Division, MABC, the Hens have finished up in a tie for third place and have earned the right to compete in the playoffs tomorrow and Saturday nights at Swarthmore. Tomorrow night, Delaware again meets Haverford, while P.M.C. plays Swarthmore for the Southern Division Championship. If Delaware beats Haverford on Friday, they play the winner of the P.M.C.-Swarthmore game on Saturday night. If we lose, we play the loser of that game.

The public is invited to attend these play-off games at the massive Swarthmore Field House this weekend. Tickets are $1.00 and will be available at the door.

Consultation Tilt Held by Chess Club

President Bill Hart led his team to victory in the first consultation match held by the University Chess Club. This match is the first of a series that will be held to instruct the members in the finer points of the game. Along with the match, the chessmen continued to work on the ladder tournament, and the strength of the team, because of the splendid progress of the tournament is now becoming better known.

The next meeting will be held Friday, March 11, at 7 p. m. in the Old College Lounge. We repeat that it's still not too late to join; so if you are interested, come out and participate in the activities.

W.A.A. Basketball Tournament Ends

The W. A. A. basketball tournament ended last week with the Juniors and Seniors contending for top honors. Both teams scored four victories losing only one game. During the last week of play, the Juniors defeated the Freshman A team, 32-18 and downed the Seniors 39-36. At the same time Freshman B dropped a 26-24 game to the Seniors. Final play-offs will be in the near future to determine the winner of the tournament.

Freshman A triumphed over the Freshman C team with a 47-22 victory, bringing their total wins up to three with 2 defeats. The Sophomores dropped one to Freshman B 51-33, giving the latter team 3 wins and 2 defeats. The Sophomore team also bowed to Freshman A when they were overcome, 21-8. Of the teams Freshman C fared worst, suffering 5 defeats, while the Sophomores were next with 5 losses and one win.

Last Monday the Inter-Dorm Tourney got off to a bang-up start when the Boletus Hot Shots defeated Turvey Hall 36-13.

Pi K A Celebrates National Founding

Delta Eta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity celebrated the founding of the national fraternity on Friday, March 4th. About sixty members and guests attended a Founders' Day Banquet, held in the Old College Blue Room.

Principle speaker at the banquet was John Horn, executive assistant to Senator John Sparkman of Alabama, who spoke on "The Next Great Step in Brotherhood—the United Nations." Mr. Horn brought out the importance of the success of the UN for future world peace and the need for a feeling of brotherhood like that provided by fraternalism.

Other speakers were John E. Hipple, Philadelphia lawyer and Counsel to the Council of the national fraternity; Kay Puleipher, former editor-in-chief of the "Shield and Diamond," national fraternal publication; A. Rae du-Bell, the chapter's first alumnus member; and James Edmondson, chapter president.

Following the banquet, a report on the Delaware chapter's progress was given, and plans for future growth were discussed. The celebration concluded with singing under the leadership of Alan Clifford, graduate student and chapter member.

the total with fourths in the 220 and 440 and a place on the final relay team, while Frank Craig rounded out that quartet and Murray Campbell placed fifth in the individual medley relay.

The remaining four points, although small in comparison with the total, represent a sizeable chunk of courage on the part of one of the Bird seniors, Lew Ward, the slim redhead from Audubon, N. J., swam the race of his college career in the 150 yard backstroke to come within an ace of defeating West Chester's Kerper, a feat that has never been accomplished in the four years that Kerper has been dominating this event in the Middle Atlantic League. Lew came in at 1:46.7, a shade above the school record, and not a body length behind Kerper who was clocked in 1:45. What made the performance all the more noteworthy was the fact that Ward had swam medley legs in the afternoon and evening before the 150 and had broken 1:07 seconds both times.

Rawstrom's freshman contingent did themselves up brown, and finished second to Lehigh in both the medley and freestyle relays. Larry and Hugh Miller and Marv Eggert formed the medley trio, and Eggert, Don Bardo, Tom Clements and Charlie Lloyd formed the freestyle quartet. Eggert turned in two fine hundreds in both these events, and the return of Lloyd after a lengthy sick leave made plenty of difference. The frosh were clocked in 3:59 in the freestyle relay, a feat that was never accomplished by a Hen varsity since 1946 until early this year.

Rawstrom is planning on taking most of his varsity and frosh men to the Eastern Collegiate next Saturday, and they'll be up against even tougher competition there. Most of the New York colleges plus Rutgers, the host school, Temple, Penn State, Pitt, Carnegie Tech, the Merchant Marine Academy, and other eastern tank titans will be represented.

On the following weekend, the Bird mentor is still nourishing plans of entering some of his men in the Eastern Intercollegiate at Princeton, a meet that includes the Ivy League and some of the top swimmers in the East. Ward, Grier, and Smith are tentatively slated for action there.

Cello-Piano Recital Program Named

The program for the cello-piano recital which Anthony J. Loudis, professor of music, and Orlando Cole, cellist of the Curtis String Quartet, will present at Mitchell Hall on the night of Tuesday, March 15, has been announced.

It includes:

Sonata in G MinorHandel
Sonata in A MajorBeethoven
Sonata in A MinorGrieg
Sonata in C MinorBarber

The recital, open to the public without charge, will be at 8:15 p.m.

Mr. Loudis, who has been with the University of Delaware's Department of Music for more than 10 years, has been heard in numerous piano recitals both locally and elsewhere.

Mr. Cole likewise is familiar to local music-lovers. For years one of the outstanding cellists of the East, he has appeared many times at the University since his first visit 20 years ago. Several of these concerts have been with the Curtis String Quartet and the Philadelphia Trio. In addition to almost 2,000 chamber music recitals that have taken him to all parts of this country and Europe, he also has made appearances as soloist with orchestras, in recitals and over the radio networks of this country and Canada.

As a member of the Curtis String Quartet, he is one of the co-founders of the New School of Music in Philadelphia, where he teaches the largest class of cellists in the country. He is also identified with the Wilmington School of Music. Mr. Cole is first cellist of the New Chamber Orchestra of Philadelphia, whose concerts are heard by a large audience each season at the Academy of Music.

Mr. Cole and Mr. Loudis described their sonata program as including four representative works from outstanding composers of the early classical, romantic and contemporary periods. Samuel Barber, composer of the sonata representing the latter period, is one of the most prominent of living American composers, and Mr. Cole was associated closely with him and the sonata during its composition 15 years ago. Since then Mr. Cole has given more than 100 performances of it with the composer at the piano. Others to perform the sonata have included Platiogorsky, Garbousova and Salmond.

S. G. A. Notes

The first issue to be covered at the SGA meeting, March 3, was that of the football movies of some of Delaware's away games. These movies will be shown in Mitchell Hall, April 5.

The ring committee has decided to let Murchison Jewelers have the bid for the school rings. The ring as offered has the Memorial Library on one side and the seal on the other. Only a few minor changes will be made in the ring.

Dean Williamson from the University of Minnesota was present at the SGA meeting in an advisory capacity. Several problems concerning student conditions at Delaware were discussed and suggestions for improvement of some of these conditions were made by Dean Williamson.

NOTICE

Any male student interested in representing any one of the following groups as a member on the Intramural Athletic Council, please notify Coach Rylander at the athletic building or Herb Babel, Box 43. Commuters, training house, students residing in Newark, and students residing outside of Newark.

Sandburg Address Is Huge Success

On Tuesday evening, March 1st, the University was host to the noted American poet, author, and biographer, Carl Sandburg. Before a capacity audience, Sandburg spoke, read several excerpts from his works, and accompanied himself in singing songs from his American Songbag.

Introduced by President Carlson, Sandburg discussed the confusion and uncertainty of the present day. He accused the people of our time of lacking individualism and the critical, creative spirit. With down-to-earth examples he ridiculed standardization, over-gregariousness, and popular gullibility.

Sandburg personified the individualistic theme of his talk. Speaking slowly and distinctly, he tended to digress from his topic. He freely related personal opinions, alluding to nationally known figures and practices.

The first selection which the speaker chose to read was a long poem from The People, Yes. Native American proverbs and expressions were listed and grouped in free verse form, resulting in a poem theme of which was American life. Next, Sandburg read three excerpts from his latest work, a novel titled Remembrance Rock. He concluded the program by singing American folksongs.

Born in Galesburg, Illinois, Sandburg has come to be known as one of the great poets of our day. He has published at least nine volumes of poems besides his recent novel. He is probably best known, however, for his six-volume biography of Abraham Lincoln.

Merit Wins French Students Awards

The Modern Language Department takes pleasure in announcing the several gifts from the French Gratitude Train, recently on display in the Memorial Library, have been awarded to outstanding students in the two intermediate French courses, French 104 and French 202. The first award, two original paintings of Paris by George Bruyer, was presented to Norma Jampolsky for her excellent work in French 202; the second award in this class, a de luxe edition of Daudet's "Lettres de mon moulin," was won by Frances Johnson; the third, a box of French coins given to "an American friend" by a French railroad employee, was presented to Claire Collins McGinnis. In French 104, a similar box of coins was awarded Nancy Davis in recognition of her excellent record, while two illustrated books on France were presented as second and third awards to Barbara Beck and Amy Wocko.

The students named above merit congratulations upon winning these awards, not only because the gifts have a certain intrinsic value and are indicative of excellent standing in French, but because they will remain as tangible evidence of the admirable attempt of the people of France to convey to the people of America their profound and sincere gratitude for the assistance and encouragement given them during these recent tragic years.

mored sequel to "The Razor's Edge" which Metro expects to call "The Blue Blade." The hero is a Hindu wise man who yearns to lose his wisdom and be a dope like everyone else.

Running time: One Hour, 20 minutes. Shaving time: Ten minutes. Producer: R. Demille.

The cast runs through its lines as if the boys and girls had a few quick ones before work. You might even say it was a plastered cast. The other hero, Mr. Gillette, is not the man for the part he plays. He is not cut out to play a gay blade with blue blood. In real life, of course, he has blue blades and gay blood.

The story is nothing new either. Boy meets girl. Girl gets mad at boy. Boy gets mad at girl. They both work themselves into a lather. Girl is pursued by the rash villain and is saved in the nick of time by the boy, who has a close shave. There follows a romantic duet of "Hone, Sweet, Hone" before the fade, strop. We've had enough, Mr. Runou deMille.

Now to beat the red hand around our clock with the mail as time will allow . . .

of their possible actual content can be given after faculty discussion, and this information will be available by next week.

One other recommendation in the report will greatly affect the student if it is adopted—not only the students entering later, but possibly those already enrolled. To aid in the improvement of English usage by students in all classes and schools three points are proposed: (1) a sub-Freshman course in composition (no credit) for students unprepared for the regular Freshman course, (2) a remedial laboratory, for students above the Freshman class found deficient in writing or speaking at any time in any course, (the student would remain as long as required by the instructor in charge), and (3) a written examination, to be given at the end of the Junior year to all students who earned less than "B" in Freshman English.

The points which we have covered, of course, are only a portion of the report—and they will not necessarily be adopted. But they represent serious changes in the courses of study here, especially in professional and scientific curricula.

True, they will probably not affect us; but they will affect those who come after us, and we must guard their interests. The faculty will have opportunity to discuss this plan; student should have the same chance. We will be glad to publish any letters of comment about such a thing—although, if things get too rough, longer letters may have only extracts published.

We feel that these changes fit in with the idea of attracting superior students; but, as long as this school is committed to the acceptance of all Delaware high school graduates capable of profiting by college work, professional students may find graduation difficult. A firm foundation for life is as important as a firm foundation for professional work in our minds—so use it all!

ASIDE TO SPY SYSTEM—We feel such a thing as this deserved full coverage as possible—next week we'll catch up!

Listening Group

The Classical Music Listening Group will hold a regular meeting Sunday at Old College Lounge at 7:30 p. m. The program will consist of:

1. Brahms's "2nd Symphony"

2. Handel's "Water Music"

3. Richard Strauss's "Death and Transfiguration"

A special program, consisting of a musical identification contest, refreshments, and music had been originally planned for March 12, but now has been postponed until March 19.
