E-52 brought us a touch of the Orient in

Marco Millions

Nancy Schnabel and Howard Seebach co-starred

The snow storm of December 14 brought with it two conflicting effects. It produced many beautiful scenes like the one pictured, but it also produced traffic conditions which prevented many disappointed couples from attending the Winter Formal. Among the missing was Ralph Flanagan, although most of his band were on hand and carried on.

Basketball gave us many a thrilling evening's entertainment

Captain Bill Utt and Coach Fred Emmerson discuss plans for the season.

Coach Fred Emmerson's sparkling 1951-1952 court squad turned in the best seasonal performance ever witnessed in basketball here at the University, by winning a record 17 games (while losing six) besides wrapping up the Middle Atlantic title for the first time. Actually, the Hens copped 19 victories, if the pre-season exhibition routes over Fort Meade and Franklin and Marshall could be counted officially.

Big Jim Kruzinski—senior center was a standout this year.

If ever a basketball campaign had its share of thrills and mishaps, the hoop schedule of the past winter was the one. At the beginning of the season, Skip Crawford, who had previously been one of the standouts on the Frosh squad of a year back, stepped into the role of the Hen's leading point-getter, setting a blistering pace throughout the first half of the 23 game schedule. The soph ace was sporting a handsome 19 point average at the end of the first semester, when scholastic difficulties forced his withdrawal from the squad. Elongated Matt Lamkin met the same fate, and Emmerson was thus deprived of the much-needed services of these two proficient sophomores. As the first half of play ended, the Hens had established an 8-5 win-lose reading; St. Joe's, Penn, and soon to be crowned N.I.T. champions, the LaSalle Explorers, all dealt out defeats to the Emmerson men. Another Pennsylvania school, PMC, administered a surprising 111-87 shellacking to Delaware in the Chester college's diminutive gym.

Dick Evans vainly attempts to block a shot by Swarthmore's Joe Carrol.

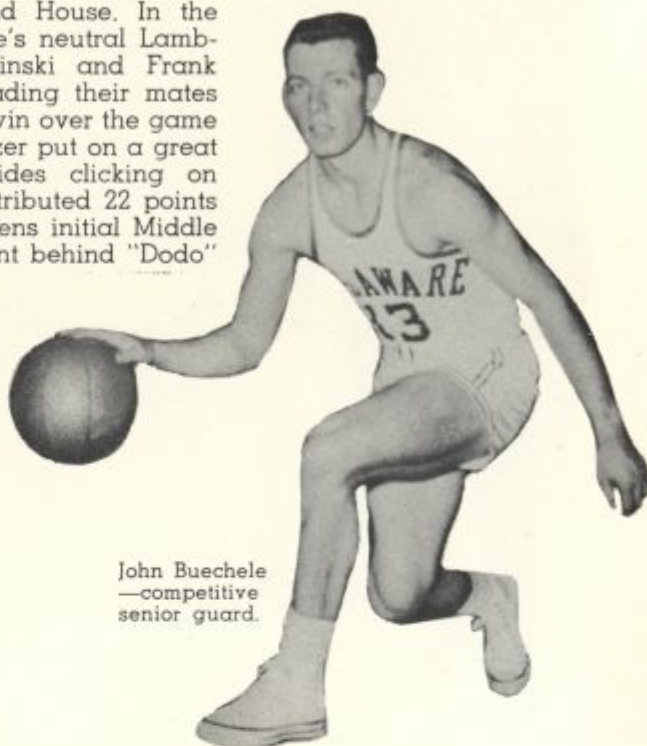

Senior Dick Goldberg showed fine defensive work and all-around play.

Frank White—high scoring sophomore forward.

After dropping a close 68-61 decision to Villanova at the opening of the second term, the Blue Hens began to move and captured nine straight triumphs. In the process of compiling this remarkable winning streak, the Newark cagers snatched the Middle Atlantic flag out of the frantic grasp of the PMC Cadets. Following the aforementioned 111-87 defeat, the Hens bounced back and threw the league race into a deadlock for first place by taking the measure of the military men with a 57-46 score in Carpenter Field House. In the playoff tilt, held at Swarthmore's neutral Lamb-Miller Field House, Jim Kruzinski and Frank White were outstanding in leading their mates to the all-important 64-53 final win over the game but outplayed Cadets. The Kruzer put on a great rebounding performance, besides clicking on numerous hook shots, and contributed 22 points to the victory which put the Hens initial Middle Atlantic crown on ice. One point behind "Dodo" in scoring was rangy Frank White, whose last minute splurge in the final quarter paved the way to certain victory. The conquest of PMC was an outstanding feat, in view of the fact that Captain Bill Utt added his name to the absent list by fracturing his wrist in the second meeting with runner-up PMC.

Such stalwarts as Kruzinski, Goldberg, Utt, and Buechele will be sorely missed from next year's squad. However, with Dick Evans back to serve as captain-elect for next winter's quintet, which will be composed of veterans White, Crawford, Lamkin, etc., Fred Emmerson shouldn't have cause to lose his easy-going disposition.

Bill Utt, this year's captain, was the play-maker who helped the team to attain its smooth teamwork.

Dick Evans is the newly elected 1952-53 captain.

The Swimming Team brought more prestige to Delaware

Good swimming teams have come to be the rule at the University of Delaware under Coach Harry Rawstrom, and 1951-52 was no exception, as the swimmers swept to a record-breaking 9-1 log in dual competition. Winning three in a row before dropping a meet to Lehigh, Middle Atlantic Champions, the mermen won their final six straight and ran up a total of 554 points, to their opponent's 235.

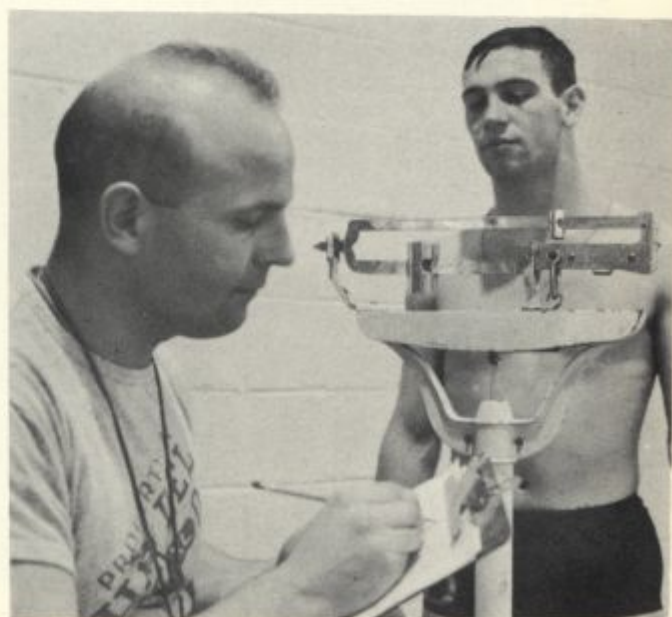

Twelve men received Varsity letters at the end of the season. Charlie Lloyd was team captain, and supplied much of the team spirit. Lorin Krusberg, a sophomore, turned in a brilliant performance to take high-scoring honors for the year with 71 points. Art Mayer with 70, Charlie Presnell with 68, and George Ester with 65, closely followed. Together, these five totaled over half the team's points. Delaware's opponents might note that all of this quartet will return next year.

This was a year of records for the swimmers. Seven school records were set, along with three for the pool, three for the pools of some of our opponents, and three for the freshmen. Art Mayer was the leading record breaker followed by Krusberg, Keogh and Ester, Goodley, Agnor and Apostolico, in that order.

At the close of the season, the Middle Atlantic Swimming Championship meet was held in Taylor pool, and Delaware won its greatest glory, by finishing second only to Lehigh.

This was one of the youngest and best of Delaware's teams, and it appears that swimming fans can look forward to good things for many years to come.

This Year's Wrestlers Had the Best Season in U of D History

Wrestling continued in its post-war surge to glory at the University of Delaware, as Coach Whitey Burnham's grapplers won six, lost one, and tied one, in dual competitions. This gave the 1951-52 team the distinction of the best record in the history of Delaware's wrestling teams. A total of 167 points was amassed, as opposed to 88 for the opposition, along with the amazing record of 27 pins to 4 in favor of Delaware.

Led by Captain Paul Catts, Jim Michael, and Tom Schultz, the grapplers took four matches before the coming of mid-years saw the team weakened by the loss of Vince Stallone, capable 167 pounder. The long lay-off accounted for the 15-15 tie at the hands of Drexel. A strong Bucknell aggregation upset the Blue Hens 18-10. However, the grapplers were back on the beam with wins over Ursinus and Muhlenberg by identical scores, 23-11.

Coach Burnham had the usual strength in his heavies this year, with Jim Michael and Tom Schultz leading the way with 33 and 30 points. Michael's 33 points set a new school record, breaking the 31 he set last year.

Power in the lower weight divisions showed a marked gain, as Lennie Clapp and Don Rumer split 40 points between them. Captain Catts and Charlie Rodriguez followed with 16 points apiece, closely trailed by Jerry Angulo, who had 14. Vince Stallone garnered 10 points, while Tom Bratton and Frank Stevens, who joined in mid-season, totaled 5 and 3 points respectively.

After the close of the regular season, the grapplers journeyed to Swarthmore to take part in the 14th annual Middle Atlantic Collegiate Wrestling Association Championship meet. The Hens emerged in fourth place, with Tom Schultz winning the heavyweight title.

WAA

Two sports, bowling and fencing, were new additions to the Women's Athletic Association this year. They were both enthusiastically received and will in all probability have a greater following in succeeding years.

WAA bowling, managed by Frances Miller, was conducted in the Newark Bowling Alley. The girls used these alleys at reduced rates by setting up their own pins. There were eight teams who competed in the tournament.

Fencing was organized into a club consisting of eight members. Their activities were somewhat limited because of the small membership and the small amount of equipment. However, the girls met once each week and received instruction from Mr. Roland Walls. Miss Durant acted as faculty advisor.

WINTER SPORTS

Swimming, badminton, and basketball were managed by Dinny Wells, Alice Johnston, and Nancy Goyne, respectively.

Below are shots from the play-off game between the winners of Tournament A and Tournament B. "Mary's Lambs", a New Castle team, defeated the "Topsy Toppers" in a close contest.
