Buckingham Escapes Death At Crossing By Split Second

R. F. D. Carrier Jumps At Instant Fast Train Demolishes Car At Harmony Crossing

MAIL RECOVERED

Raymond V. Buckingham, local R. F. D. carrier, had a hairsbreadth escape from death yesterday when he jumped from his car an instant before it was demolished by a train at the Pennsylvania crossing at Harmony.

Buckingham, who had practically completed his route, approached the crossing at about eleven o'clock in the morning. The crossing is unguarded and blind on one side, so Buckingham stopped and looked both ways. Seeing nothing, he proceeded to cross in low gear. As he got on the tracks he saw a train approaching at a high rate of speed. He attempted to go into reverse and back off the crossing, but went into second and stalled his engine. He made frantic efforts to start his motor, but the train was on him in a few seconds, and he jumped to safety, his feet striking the ground at about the same instant that the train struck his car.

The train was a special taking the Marine Band to Longwood for yesterday's concert. The engineer said that he was going at about 70 miles an hour as he approached the crossing. It was he who testified to Buckingham jumping clear at the moment that the car was hit.

Buckingham's car, a Star coupe, was completely demolished. What little mail Buckingham had with him was recovered.

Newark Schools Will Have 1-4 Mile Track

Board Buys Land For New Track; School Has "Constitution Day;" New Sports Added

The regular meeting of the Board of Education for the Newark School District was held last Friday evening with all members present.

By the purchase of a small plot of ground by the Newark Special School District from Mrs. Bennett on Academy street, it became possible to plan for a standard quarter mile track according to the standard as set by the American Athletic Union. The track has been laid out and is now being excavated. This track, when completed, in addition to helping very constructively in the program of physical education, should give a very definite stimulus to the formation of a track team in the Newark Schools, such as it had a number of years ago.

Through the kindness of Mr. Harry Maxwell, of New London, Pennsylvania, the Newark School has been granted permission to use the field south of Lovett avenue for football pending the completion of our own field. Mr. Maxwell's field is now placed in condition and future games will be played thereon. The fine public spirit of Mr. Maxwell is thoroughly appreciated. The many rainy days of the past seven weeks have held up very considerably the progress of the completion of the School Athletic Field.

Constitution Day

Friday, September 16, was observed as Constitution Day by the Public School of Newark in its assembly. (Continued on Page 8.)

WASH-OUT NEAR ELKTON

A traffic cop was kept busy at Glasgow on Monday and Tuesday diverting the Glasgow-Elkton traffic around by Newark. The detour was made necessary because of a wash-out at the foot of Creswell's Hill, near Elkton.

CHANGE IN SCHOOL TIME

With the return to standard time, which will take place on this coming Sunday, the Newark Public Schools will advance their schedule one hour, starting at 8:30 instead of 7:30.

Former Governor Who Died Sunday

CHARLES ROBERT MILLER

Slack Farm Buildings Destroyed By Fire

A fire which started in a barn, and was discovered about five o'clock this morning, destroyed the buildings on the farm belonging to Mrs. John Slack, which is situated off the Elkton road, near the Maryland line. The place was untenanted. Damage is estimated at around $5,000.

A call was sent to the Aetna fire house stating that the fire was at the Whittingham house, near the P. R. R. and both pieces of apparatus responded. When they reached the Pennsylvania tracks they saw the location of the fire and the Seagrave engine rushed to the Slack farm. As there was no water available, there was little that the firemen could do. They were joined later by the Elkton company and saved some of the contents of the buildings. A stack of hay caught fire and added to the conflagration.

Battery "E" Boys High Men In Rifle Match

Sullivan And Manns Lead Delaware Team In National Rifle Match; Bring Back Many Medals

Two members of Battery "E", Sergeant John L. Sullivan and First Sergeant Marshall M. Manns, placed first and second, respectively, in the scoring of the Delaware National Guard Rifle Team in the National Rifle Team Match, at Camp Perry, Ohio. The Delaware team placed seventy-fifth in the competition, 104 teams being entered.

Sullivan and Manns will be entertained at dinner by Major S. P. I. Duncan, in honor of their high scoring. Sullivan's total was 283 out of a possible 300 and Manns' was 265. In addition to his accurate shooting in the team match, Sullivan brought back two handsome medals for perfect scores in the 1000 and 600 yard individual matches. His scores in both being 50 out of a possible 50. Sullivan also won a number of other medals and money prizes.

Sullivan made "expert" in the Regular Army course A, and in the Coast Artillery course D. Manns made "expert" in course A, and "sharpshooter" in course D.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY FINED

William R. Crawford, of Louisville, Ky., was haled before Magistrate Thompson on Sunday by State Highway Officer Edward Carpenter. He was charged with reckless driving. Crawford, who produced cards showing he was a district attorney, seemed to believe that he should have a special sort of immunity and debated lustily to that effect. Carpenter testified that he had trailed him for 7 miles at a speed ranging from 50 to 60 miles an hour and Crawford was assessed the customary $25 and costs.

Four Hurt In Cecil Auto Crash Sunday

Philadelphia Man Still In Hospital; Other Driver Held

Four persons, a physician, another man and two women, all of Philadelphia, were taken to Union Hospital, Elkton, suffering with painful injuries and Andrew Stackowski, of Baltimore, is being held on a reckless driving charge, as a result of an automobile crash which occurred on the Elkton-Glasgow road Sunday afternoon.

The injured are as follows: Dr. B. F. Williams, 1703 West Columbia avenue, Philadelphia, collar bone broken, severely cut and bruised. Mrs. Williams, his wife, severely cut and bruised.

L. T. Bennett, 2035 North Sixteenth street, Philadelphia, artery of left arm severed and badly bruised and cut.

Mrs. Mary Keenan, same address, minor cuts and bruises. The Philadelphia party was headed towards Wilmington on their way to Philadelphia Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock, in a Chevrolet touring car, when Stackowski with two other men in a Dodge coupe, headed the same direction, is said to have either side-swiped or hit the other car in the rear.

One of the women of the Philadelphia party said that the coupe hit their machine almost squarely in the rear. Stackowski claims that he only side-swiped the car in an effort to pass.

A call was made for the American Legion ambulance of Elkton. In the meantime, Dr. Williams directed first aid assistance to the injured, the best that he could under the circumstances.

Dr. Williams, his wife and Mrs. Keenan returned to their homes in Philadelphia Monday night, while Bennett is still confined to the hospital. Stackowski with the other two men were taken into custody after they accompanied the injured persons to Elkton. Stackowski was held for a hearing Thursday night before Magistrate T. Gove Scotten, on a charge of reckless driving, pending the outcome of the injured persons.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

John Moore, of East Main street, counts himself lucky in the quick recovery of a Chevrolet car, which was stolen from him last night when he left it parked outside of the Washington House. He reported the theft to the police and the car was found later in the evening, abandoned in Chester.

LOCAL FIRM GETS CONTRACT

Burglars Active In Newark Last Week; Enter Four Places

Ernest Burnley Chases Empty-Handed Thief From House; 4 Of Gang Which Robbed Marritz Store Caught; Burglaries Not The Work Of One Gang

POLICE INVESTIGATING

A week of unusual activity on the part of burglars in Newark was ended last Friday morning when Ernest Burnley, of Cleveland avenue, chased an intruder from his house and through part of the town, but failed to catch him. The thief left his collected loot behind him. Three other places had been entered during the week; the home of Elmer Thompson, on Main street, the Farmers' Trust Company and Marritz Department Store. Four of the five men who robbed the Marritz store have been caught by the Philadelphia police.

Ernest Burnley was awakened early Friday morning by a noise on the first floor of his house. Going downstairs to investigate he heard a burglar leave the house. Mr. Burnley gave chase, following the thief to North College avenue, across the B. and O. tracks and into the University grounds, where the burglar disappeared. Mr. Burnley did not get close enough to the man to get a description.

When Mr. Burnley returned to his house, he found that the thief had forced a rear window to enter and (Continued on Page 4.)

The Great B. & O. Centenary

Overland transportation's story, from the earliest mode of travel used by man to supplement his own motive power down to the latest giant of the rails, will unfold itself next Saturday on the outskirts of Baltimore. Never before in this country has anything of the kind been attempted on such a scale; never before have so many of the veterans that have made railroad history foregathered to display their quaintness and antiquity alongside the modern locomotive's might and power.

To the "Fair of the Iron Horse," as it is called, will come actually or in copy most of the blue ribbon iron horses of history, assembled at the invitation of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad, which has chosen thus to observe its hundredth birthday.

For many months the exhibition has been in the making on the outskirts of the railroad's home town. Several buildings have been erected: A Hall of Transportation, a Traffic Building, an Allied Services Building, all devoted to the long story of transportation development. At one side is a memoir of the days before the iron horse came, when the National, the June Bug, the Shake-Gut and other famous stage coach lines bumped travelers over the country. An old-time tavern has been built and furnished in faithful reproduction—pump, coach house and all—to serve as administration headquarters.

Among the many objects of interest will be the two picturesque scenic models, worked out in beautiful detail, placed on display in conspicuous sections of the Hall of Transportation. A model 250 feet in length, shows typical scenes along the Baltimore and Ohio from Baltimore to Chicago and illustrates transportation progress from 1827 to 1927. Ten miniature working models of locomotives, old and new, with baggage, freight and passenger cars characteristic of the respective periods, will run on this little, reproduced Baltimore and Ohio, depicting the evolution of railroad operation. There will also be eleven models of various types of bridges representing different periods. The first section of the panorama shows Baltimore Town in 1830. It depicts the Carrollton Viaduct, a single stone-arch bridge over Gwynn's Falls, the first built by the Baltimore and Ohio in 1829, and the oldest in the world. In the background is shown Baltimore with the familiar landmarks and the old town of a century ago.

In contrast to this is Chicago of today at the other end, presenting the Chicago Terminal of the Baltimore and Ohio in 1927, with the Capitol Limited emerging from it. Between the two extremes the scenes portray the general character of the terrain, the rugged mountains of Maryland and Pennsylvania giving way gradually to the rolling country of Ohio and Indiana.

Another scenic model, 60 feet long, is historic Harper's Ferry and vicinity in 1859, the year in which John Brown conducted his famous raid upon the United States arsenal there. The engine house, which became known as John Brown's Fort, may be distinguished.

The chief feature is the combined bridge of the railroad and highway. The railroad through this bridge, with its sharp curves at both approaches was long recognized by scientific writers on engineering as one of the most difficult and dramatic bits of railroad location in the world. The historic bridge, some 700 feet in length, was destroyed by Stonewall Jackson in 1861, as he evacuated Harper's Ferry from the Confederate Army, first burning the arsenal.

The entire scenic model is surrounded by the seals of the States of Maryland, Virginia and Pennsylvania, the three states in which the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad was originally chartered. These seals in turn separate a large battery of American flags.

Phila. Paper Praises Colonel W. T. Bradley

From The Girard Avenue News, of Philadelphia, issue of September 15th, comes the following appreciative comment on Colonel Bradley and his recent circus-party in Newark:

"One of the most thrilling experiences in an American boy's life is the circus. So great is the attraction that they who have been refused the privilege of attending have been known to leave home and follow this alluring affair. Boys in great cities, such as Philadelphia, know very little of the hardships of their less fortunate cousins of the country districts far removed from the great activities of city life, yet the heart of these country lads throbs for the many amusements just the same as others, more especially for the great circus that appears in some neighboring town once yearly.

"After the circus has gone there is generally a bitter disappointment to hundreds of kiddies who have been deprived of the chance to see this great event, but we are more than elated to learn that on Thursday last, at least the children of Delaware at and near Newark had the surprise of their lives, as the generous heart of Colonel Walter T. Bradley and the annual circus had arrived at the same time and it was Colonel Bradley's privilege to see all these youngsters marching into the circus tent loaded down with the good things that help make a circus a success.

"Colonel Bradley spent his boyhood days around Newark and, no doubt, has had the same disappointment that boys and girls now have and we wonder if the fire was not kindled at that time and that the burning has been going on until at last it burst into flame. We don't know, but we are sure that hundreds of kiddies went to sleep Thursday night and in their dreams saw the old circus over again and it is certain that as they wend their way to school it will be with lighter and happier hearts than had they been deprived of this great privilege.

"The Girard Avenue News, through its exchange, learned of the kind act of Colonel Bradley and had its representative on the ground.

"Colonel Bradley had the able assistance of the Newark Post in arranging this party and must say they conducted the affair in a most orderly manner.

"Accompanying Colonel Bradley was Mrs. Bradley, Walter Bradley Martin and Miss Gertrude Bassett, all joining in and distributing candy and flags to the kiddies.

"The Girard Avenue Business Men's Association, of which Colonel Bradley is an honorary member, congratulated the Colonel on his generous spirit and are proud to have among its membership one who has the welfare of the children so much at heart."

Innocence is like a polished armor; it adorns and defends.—South.

Practical Help For Farmers

Grange Urges Larger Appropriations For Research Work

The Grange is taking an active part in the concerted effort being made at Washington to induce the coming session of Congress to make larger appropriations for research and experimental work in agriculture, and farmers throughout the country believe that this is one of the most practical forms of "farm relief" that can be sought. Recently representatives of more than a dozen national farm and industrial organizations appeared before Budget Director Lord, urging that increased funds for such work be included in the budget to be presented to the 70th Congress. This group was led by the Grange representative at Washington, Fred Brenckman, and a strong case was made.

Ever since it was founded the Grange has stressed the importance of experimental work, urging individual farmers and community groups of them to devote part of their efforts each season to such experimentation, and out of it to improve the quality of their farm operations. Moreover, hundreds of Grange meetings every year feature discussions based upon the results of experimental work on the land, with livestock breeding, etc.

"FIREMEN, SAVE MY CHILD"

That inimitable comedy team Wallace Beery and Raymond Hatton, stars of such past successes as "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now" try further comicalities in "Firemen, Save My Child" which will be at the Arcadia Theatre at Wilmington during the entire week of September 26th.

One naturally compares "Firemen, Save My Child" with the other successes of this pair and finds the newest picture the funniest by many number of laughs. Two rookie firemen who just blundered into the company of the "smoke-eaters" find themselves devoted to their profession because the chief has a pretty daughter whom they think showers them with attention.

A thrilling fire scene at the climax of the picture alternates from melodrama to comedy with a thrill one moment and a laugh the next.

Josephine Dunn is the young lady in the cast.

MARRYING PARSON WEDS

Rev. E. E. Weaver Marries Mrs. Alda Meyer at Temple Lutheran Church

With the record of having performed marriages at the rate of almost 30 a day which earned him the title of "the marrying parson of Elkton," Rev. Ernest E. Weaver, widower and father of two grown children was Saturday united in marriage to Mrs. Alda Meyer, of Philadelphia.

The ceremony took place in Temple Lutheran Church, Fifty-second and Race streets, at noon, with Rev. A. Pohlman, pastor of the church, officiating. Dr. Weaver was attended by his son, Dr. E. B. Weaver, a member of the dental school faculty at the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Ray E. Ulmer, of Lancaster, was matron of honor. The couple motored to the seashore where they will spend a honeymoon. They will reside in the Seidel Apartment, Richardson Park, Del.

Mr. Weaver came into the spotlight in May, 1926, when the Maryland classic of the Reformed Church demanded that he discontinue marrying couples at Elkton. After a brief encounter with the ecclesiastical officials, during which he pointed out that he had done nothing reprehensible under the Maryland law, he left Elkton. He has been in the ministry 26 years.

DELAWARE CITIZENS
ASSOCIATION PLANS
STATE-WIDE PROGRAM

Plans for a state-wide conference, to bring together all those who are working for the social advancement of Delaware, are being worked out by the newly organized Delaware Citizens Association. Dr. H. V. Holloway, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Dr. A. T. Davis, Executive Secretary of the State Board of Health; and C. A. McCue, dean of the Agriculture department, University of Delaware, have been requested to co-operate with Miss Etta Wilson, Executive Secretary of the Delaware Citizens Association, in the formulation of a program. The conference will probably be held at Dover in October.

The widespread belief that there is a definite service to be rendered by a citizens association in the state of Delaware, is registered in the letters being received at the State office daily, according to reports from the headquarters in the Old Capitol Hotel building, Dover. Between three and four hundred Delawareans have registered as members of the association. "Why not join and help make the Association grow," is the question that every member is being asked to pass on to his neighbor.

ELKS RECOGNIZE COOCH'S BRIDGE CLAIM

At the final business meeting of the Elks convention at the Elks' Home in Wilmington, last Friday morning, a resolution was adopted by the association, in which the Elk Flag Day ritual was changed to mention Cooch's Bridge instead of Fort Stanwix.

The resolution followed the presentation of data collected by Edward W. Cooch and presented to the War Department. The recommendations of the Tri-State Association will be submitted to the Grand Lodge of Elks for adoption, which adoption will recognize Cooch's Bridge as the place where the American flag was first unfurled in battle, September 3, 1777.

Delaware Opens Grid Season October 1st

Rothrock Getting Good Results In Early Practice; Some Vets Have Not Yet Reported; Three Newark Boys Out

With the opening game, versus St. Josephs, scheduled for October 1, on Frazer Field, "Joe" Rothrock, new director of athletics at the University of Delaware, with Assistant Coach Doherty, have begun to give the Delaware gridiron squad intensive workouts.

Among the candidates reporting for the first practice last Thursday were Oscar Morris, "Bill" Doordan and "Jack" Jaquette, of last year's Newark High School team. Captain Reybold, Creamer, DiJoseph, Glasser, Wright, Boyer, Reese, Rose, Barton, Benson, and Goffgon, of last year's University squad also reported on Thursday. Coppock reported Monday and Carlson, Squillance, Riggan, Green, Sweeney, Loveland, Draper and Patchell are expected to be in uniform within the next few days. This veteran array will be augmented by some likely freshmen by next Monday.

"Ace" Taylor, a last year baseball star, is expected out for football and will add speed to the squad. Coach Rothrock has been drilling the men in fundamentals and getting them in shape by running punts and passing the ball. Monday, he started them in dummy scrimmage. Rothrock, one of the best all-round athletes that Delaware has ever produced, seems to have gained the loyalty of the squad from the start and the men are showing a willing and robust spirit. Rothrock has made it plain that he will tolerate no breaking of the training rules, and that every candidate must give him absolute loyalty.

TYSON HEADS WINNERS AT READING FAIR

Herman Tyson is at the Allentown Fair this week, where he hopes to continue the winning streak that he drove into at the Reading Fair last week. Mr. Tyson won six races at Reading and two of them were notable performances. Driving Johnny B. in the 2:14 trot, he won in straight heats of 2:08 and 2:11. With Hal Bee he took another race in 2:06 and 2:06. Mr. Tyson will desert Allentown one day this week for Hanover where he will race Golden Direct.

SPORTING CLUB ELECTS

At a meeting of the Newark Sporting Club, held Monday night in the clubrooms, over Wollaston's store, officers were elected for the ensuing year. Herbert Henning was chosen president; Leroy Crompton, vice-president; Loring Cordrey, secretary-treasurer.

The club is refurbishing the rooms. They intend to put a fast basketball team into local competition during the coming season.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving but sad memory of our darling baby and brother, Charles Lloyd, who died September 14, 1925. Two years have passed. Our heart's still sad.

What would we give to clasp his little hand; his patient face to see, To hear his voice, to see him smile, as in the days that used to be? But some sweet day we hope to meet again.

Beyond all evil and strife In Heaven that happy life. No one can fill your vacant place. Sadly missed by Mother, Father and Brother.

In loving remembrance of our dear son, Elmer Luther Todd, who died September 25, 1923.

We loved you, so we miss you; In our memories you are dear, Loved, remembered; longed for always, Thoughts of you are always near. Mother and Father.

"With a friend at home many a boy would not need a friend at court."

Rising Sun Takes First Game In Series

Second Championship Contest With Elk Mills Next Saturday

Rising Sun took the first game of a five-game series being played for the championship of the Susquehanna League between Elk Mills, winners of the first half, and Rising Sun, winners of the second half. The score Saturday was Rising Sun, 9; Elk Mills, 3.

The second game will be played next Saturday at Rising Sun and the third game the following Wednesday at Oxford, Pa.

Andy Miller, who started on the mound for the Rising Sun team, received his bumps in the second inning, when Elk Mills tallied three runs. He was removed from the box and Regan replaced him. After this the Elk Mills boys caused no further trouble from a run standpoint. McNutt pitched nice ball for the losers but his support was bad.

Robinson was heavy hitter for the winners, collecting three of the nine hits, one of which went for extra bases.

ELK MILLS ATHLETICS

At the game last Saturday for the championship of the Susquehanna League between Rising Sun, winners of second half, and Elk Mills, winners of the first half, of course you know, Rising Sun won, 9-3, before the largest crowd that ever attended a game of the Susquehanna League. These two teams will play a series of the best out of five games, the second one to be played at Rising Sun next Saturday and the third one to be played at Oxford the following Wednesday, September 28, at 3:30 p. m. Manager Seth says that one defeat does not discourage him and that he fully intends to give the fans some real base ball before it is all over.—Contributed.

Ginther Plays Fine Golf At Spring Haven

Paired With Anderson Finishes With 69 After Bad Start; Tie For Medal Prize At Newark C. C.

After a bad start going out in the morning Eddie Ginther, professional at the Newark Country Club, staged a whirlwind finish in the Professional Best Ball Match, held at the Spring-haven Country Club, Monday afternoon. Eddie paired with Harry Anderson, Kennett Square, and they finished in fifth place with 145 for the 36 holes. Bill Leach, of Overbrook, and Lew Goldbeck, of Bala, took the match with 141.

Eddie and Harry had a 40 for their first nine holes in the morning round which knocked their chances for first money. They came home in 36 for a 76, and in the afternoon busted par in the eye for a sterling 69.

Last week, Eddie played in the qualifying round for the P. G. A. championship, played at Philmont; four to qualify. He stood eleventh with 185. All the scoring was high, 158 qualifying.

Eddie has an entry filed for the Central Pennsylvania Open, to be played, probably, at Reading on October 3.

The second round matches for the Club Championship of the Newark Country Club were played on Saturday afternoon. Paul Pié, Jr., and G. E. Dutton tied on Saturday for the law medal prize, each having 72, net.

The results of the Club championship matches in the first sixteen were as follows:

C. H. Hopkins beat J. P. Armstrong, 5 and 3.

E. B. Wright beat C. T. Gardner, 7 and 6.

H. L. Bonham beat F. G. Houghton, 4 and 3.

E. W. Steedle beat J. R. Syfrit, 2 and 1.

In the second sixteen H. Souder beat Dr. George W. Rhodes, 5 and 4; and J. M. Terrell won from H. G. Lawson by default.

The School Bell Rings

It's readin' and 'ritin' and 'ritmetic time again. And, after all, there are a lot of nice things that happen when the old school bell rings again. Not as nice, of course, as swimming and fishing or playing house and things like that maybe—but it has its compensations. There are new clothes and new teachers and new books, new pencils and pads, new school bags and maybe a brand new lunch box.

What new things are going into the lunch box this year? This is the problem of the mother and it requires just as much study for the correct solution as do those new problems which the children ponder over.

The Lunch Box

And now about the lunch box. Is it an up-to-date kit with separate compartments and perhaps a container for hot and cold foods—or is it the same kind of a lunch box that you used to carry when you went to school? You wouldn't dress the kiddies as you dressed in your school days, so why give them an antique lunch box when really adequate kits can be obtained at a relatively small cost?

The next thing is to make the contents attractive—with some delicious surprise tucked away inside. There are many such surprises to be found in the greatly increased variety of foods that are now put up in cans. If you can remember back so far as the days when you used to sit and watch the snail-paced hands of the big clock creep around the dial on their long journey towards twelve, and while you listened perhaps to some enlightening facts about longitude and latitude your mind was on the baseball or basketball game set for the noon hour—you will remember what twelve o'clock means to the school child.

Enticing Foods

The contents of the lunch box must be made as enticing as the game, for it is so important, from a health standpoint, that the school-child should eat a hearty and wholesome lunch to carry him over that two o'clock period when the vitality is at its lowest ebb. Educators and dietitians have cooperated to select foods to be served at school lunch tables that are brain and body-builders—foods easily digested and energy giving. Guided by their discoveries, then, let us plan a week of menus to pack into the school luncheon kit.

The Recipes

Ham Loaf Sandwich—Put the contents of a small can of ham loaf through the meat grinder once. Mix it with mayonnaise and spread between two thin slices of white or rye bread.

Cherry Tarts—Line individual tins with puff-paste. Fill them with the contents of a can of cherries sweetened to taste. Put strips of the paste over the top and bake for fifteen minutes in a hot oven. Wrap individually in waxed paper.

Filled Celery—Crisp celery stalks in the ice box. Blend one cup of crushed Hawaiian pineapple, one-half cup of fine-chopped nuts and one cream cheese, with one small can of deviled ham. Use enough mayonnaise to handle easily. Season with salt and stuff celery stalks with mixture. Wrap in heavy waxed paper.

Olive and Pimiento Sandwich—Grind one-half cup of large pitted olives and two canned pimientos through the meat grinder. Spread between buttered slices of graham bread and add a crisp lettuce leaf. Wrap individually.

Dates Stuffed with Peanut Butter—Remove the pits from the well-shaped dates (the canned dates are excellent for this) and insert in the cavities small portions of peanut butter. Roll in fine granulated sugar and set aside to become firm before using.

Don't want to be asked to join, just feel it an honor to belong and send the membership committee a quarter before the next meeting.

The program committee had a pleasing program arranged, the most enjoyable being a talk by Rev. G. T. Gehman, pastor of Ebenezer Church, entitled, "Build on a Solid Foundation."

PART OF MAN'S HEAD SHOT OFF

The Cecil county authorities are looking for Joseph Johnson, Negro, employed at Conowingo, who is charged with shooting and killing another Negro employed at the same place, known as "Crimp." Johnson is alleged to have used a shotgun and blew off the greater part of his victim's head. The shooting took place at Salvatore's restaurant at Octoraro. Johnson had been out gunning Saturday afternoon for squirrels, it is alleged, and upon returning stopped at the restaurant. An argument is alleged to have arisen between him and "Crimp," the latter pulling a revolver. Johnson is said to have stepped outside the door, and "Crimp" followed. Johnson then is alleged to have fired both barrels of his shotgun at the other Negro. Johnson has not yet been arrested. Coroner Green, of Elkton, will hold an inquest.

FATHER GRANT'S BENEFIT PROMISES HOT ACTION

Broadcast of Tunney-Dempsey Fight Will Follow Card of 4 Bouts

Father John M. Grant, of Hockessin, has not only arranged a stellar card for his benefit boxing show at the Elsmere Stadium tomorrow night, but has provided two additional features that should take with the fans. After whetting the appetite of the crowd with four fast six-round bouts, Father Grant will have the Dempsey-Tunney embroglio broadcast as the concluding entertainment of the evening.

Father Grant has also a 16-ounce pair of gloves, a present from Jack Dempsey, which were sent on to be auctioned off for the benefit. These gloves have been used by Jack in his training for the Tunney fight.

While no positions have been given the bouts on the card, the clash between Sylvan Bass, of Baltimore, and Gene Moretti, of Atlantic City, is good for a headliner on any card. Another hot engagement is promised when Tommy Libertto, of York, Pa., and Jimmy Burns, of Philadelphia, meet. These men are bitter rivals for featherweight honors. Eddie Leonard, Baltimore flyweight, who claims the championship of the South, will swap hooks with Ray Belmont, of Philadelphia, and Georgie Sidons and Willie Schrupp will have it out in the fourth bout.

The show will start at 9:00 p. m., daylight time.

Newark Schools

This day was Newark's contribution to the National Program of Constitution Week, September 11-17, which was set aside by President Coolidge as a week for the study of the document.

Marshall Eastburn, '32, in "The Plan of the Constitution," traced the duties and powers of the Executive, the Legislative, and the Judicial Department.

John Murray, '28, speaking on "The Novel Features of the Constitution," emphasized the unusual system of checks which prevents any one of the three branches of the government from becoming sovereign powers.

The school had as its guest, Mr. Morse, representing the American Security League of New York, which has as its program the perpetuation of the Spirit of the Constitution. He spoke on the "Constitution and its Relation to everyday Life." "Those fifty-six men," said Mr. Morse, "who met in Philadelphia to devise a new system of government accomplished their difficult task in the brief space of four months. Through their efforts they gave to the world a document that has no superior. This is our heritage. A proper attitude, regard, and respect for living the ideals of daily life and the observance of the Golden Rule will go far toward meeting our responsibility in perpetuating the immortal document which is our priceless heritage."

Alfred Vansant, president of the Class of 1928, presided and called the attention of the school to the significance of the day in addition to reading the state law relative to the teaching of the Constitution in the Schools of Delaware. On behalf of the school he expressed appreciation to the guest of the day, Mr. Morse, for his interesting and inspiring address.
