SGA Grants Funds To Campus Clubs

At the SGA meeting of January 5, as a result of the request which was published in the Review for the organizations of the University to send a statement of funds which they needed and how they would be used, seven clubs sent statements to the SGA. When the Student Government Association allotted the money, if all was in order and the request was reasonable, they granted the amount requested for the period of February to June. The Women's Athletic Association requested $80.00 which was not granted since the WAA is sustained by the Athletic Association. Kappa Delta Pi, an honorary educational fraternity, asked for $35.00, which was refused, on the grounds that this organization is not open to the entire college. The Sociology Club asked for $37.00; a sum of this was to have been used for especially printed posters, which the SGA thought was an unreasonable request, so they subtracted this amount and allotted $25.50 to the Sociology Club. The Spanish Club, El Patio, was given the requested sum for a half year, $18.40. The Mathematics Club received $16.00 and the Art Club got $29.00. The Economics Club submitted a report but it was incomplete. The club is preparing another report which will be considered at the next meeting of the SGA. The organizations plan to use this money, which will be held at the office of Student Coordinator, for speakers, traveling expenses of speakers, films, parties, refreshments, and various other educational functions. The SGA has closed its books to organizations requesting money as of last Thursday.

Book Exchange To Open Here

Newark, Del. (Special)—A used book exchange is finally here! Alpha Omega, the national service fraternity, has submitted to and received the approval from the University to operate a Student Used Book Exchange on Campus. Approval of the basic idea was given by the Student Economic Service Committee, Mr. Edward C. Lawson, Chairman.

During the week of examinations, students will be able to bring their books to The Exchange from 9 to 12 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. A charge of 20 cents per book will be made by The Exchange to cover operational expenses (i.e. publicity, costs, printer's costs, etc.). For receiving and selling used books, The Exchange will be open during the first week of each term from 9 to 3 p.m., Monday through Friday. The Exchange will be open from 3:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. during the rest of the term. Notices will be posted on all boards giving the details of the method of operation of The Exchange within the week.

Alpha Phi Omega assembles college men in the fellowship of the Scout Oath and Law to render service to the student body and faculty of the University. Since A.P.O. is a service fraternity, it crosses all lines of honorary, social and professional fraternities. In the operation of a Student Used Book Exchange, A.P.O. feels that it is rendering a service to the student body of the University. A.P.O. Book Exchanges are successful in operation at the University of Pennsylvania, Lehigh University, and Virginia Institute of Technology. The Zeta Sigma chapter hopes that the student body will find The Exchange an aid to their financial troubles here at the University of Delaware.

Honor System Plan Nears Completion

Colleges throughout the nation have begun to realize that present day methods for combating cheating on college campuses are not only highly ineffective, but also have other bad effects on student-faculty relations, the individual's moral growth, and the stifling of true democratic educational advancement. Leading colleges have adopted the Honor System which has proven quite successful and now would not be changed by the students for any other plan. Delaware, also realizing this problem on its campus, decided to take a step toward securing this system. The first measures were taken last year when a constitution was drawn up by a hard-working group of students under chairmanship of Robert McFann. This constitution was compiled with the aid of other universities such as the University of Virginia, Johns Hopkins and Harvard, where Honor Systems are being carried on successfully. Problems and the effectiveness of such a system were discussed and a vote taken by the student body showed that a large majority of them were in favor of having such a system at Delaware.

This year a new committee has been formed to complete the plans formulated last year. Wayne Polari, who was a member of last year's committee, was elected chairman. Wayne is a present member of the S.G.A. and was president of his junior class. Vice-chairman of this group is Ted Youngling, who was the leading Independent candidate for S.G.A. last year. He is also an outstanding member of the wrestling team. Barbara Thompson, as secretary, is also a member of the S.G.A., and an officer of the Home Economics Club. Trudy Gilgenast was chosen publicity chairman. Trudy is co-chairman of the freshman class and held the offices of secretary and vice-president of her senior class at P. S. duPont High School. The other members of this committee include: Shirley Taylor, a girl who is admired for her fine service to the school, and who is a willing and able worker towards securing this system; Tom Runk, another member of the S.G.A. and former secretary of his junior class. Tom is also a member of the varsity wrestling team and P.K.T. fraternity. Bill Nicoll, co-chairman of the freshman class and former vice-president of the Student Council at P. S. duPont High School; Bob Richards, a K.A. member and one of the leading engineers, a group that constitutes a large part of the student body; Lois Streithof, present secretary of the junior class and an officer of several other campus organizations; Norman Glassman, a member of A.E.Pi fraternity and Intra-Fraternity Council and Alan Stewart, a sophomore representative in the S.G.A., and a fellow whose wonderful voice is heard in many campus activities.

These students were selected according to their class rating and division. All groups and organizations on campus are represented, so that opinions and ideas can be well distributed among the student body. The committee has held weekly meetings this term discussing this system and the constitution is being carefully examined and revised.

ATTENTION ALL FRESHMEN MEN

All freshmen interested in joining fraternities are reminded that rush week will begin on February 6 and extend to February 18. If you are interested in taking part in rush week activities, be sure and pick up a copy of the rushing booklet at registration for the second term on February 1. This booklet contains all the information pertinent to the rushing period.

Coxe Selected For Rotary Scholarship

For the second successive year the Rotary Club of Newark has been honored by having its nominee for a Rotary Foundation Fellowship selected as the candidate for such a Fellowship of the 272nd Rotary District consisting of 44 clubs in Delaware and the southern half of New Jersey.

Louis H. Coxe, IV, who was selected by the Rotary Club of Newark as its nominee for a 1950-51 Rotary Foundation Fellowship, survived competition with the candidates presented by other Rotary Clubs in the District to be named as the official nominee of this District. Each Rotary District will present a nominee and the ultimate choices will be made by Rotary International.

Newark's nominee last year was David Helms, who was later selected as the official nominee of the 272nd Rotary District and was subsequently awarded a Rotary Foundation Fellowship. He will study in Chile for one year under that Fellowship.

Delaware Graduate

Mr. Coxe, a graduate of Newark High School in 1942, started at the University of Delaware that Fall but went into the United States Army in April, 1943. He served for three years in the 100th Infantry Division, part of which service took place in France and Germany. He was discharged on May 29, 1946 and returned to the University of Delaware in June, 1946, majoring in Political Science. He was graduated from the University of Delaware last June with a B.A. Degree.

After his return to the University of Delaware, he appeared on the Dean's list, the University Honor Roll every term but one.

While at the University he was a member of the swimming team in his freshman year and he was a member of the Spanish Club and International Relations Club. In the spring of 1947 he was the representative from the University of Delaware to the Intercollegiate United Nations Organization held in Chicago.

Working for M.S.

Mr. Coxe is now studying for his M.A. Degree at the University of Delaware and expects to receive it from the University next September.

His plans this summer include a trip to Mexico. Upon completion of his M.A. work, Mr. Coxe plans to commence work for his Ph.D. Degree. Should he succeed in securing one of the Rotary Foundation Fellowships he will spend one year abroad in connection with his studies for the Ph.D. Degree.

At a colorful ceremony in Carpenter Field House on December 16th, seven undergraduates were tapped for membership in Omicron Delta Kappa, national honorary fraternity recognizing leadership. In addition, two prominent alumni and one member of the Board of Trustees pledged to the Beta Sigma Circle, the Delaware chapter of Omicron Delta Kappa.

The ten new members who will be initiated prior to the annual banquet on January 17th include J. Caleb Boggs, Representative from Delaware in Congress and an alumnus of the University; J. Allen Frear, United States Senator from Delaware and also an alumnus; Robert R. M. Carpenter, a member of the Board of Trustees and Chairman of the Trustees Committee on Health, Physical Education, and Athletics; and the following undergraduates: William R. Owen, Richard B. Wells, Leo J. Mullin, Jr., William H. Grotzinger, Charles N. Masten, Robert Van Ness, and William W. Kutz.

Dr. J. Fenton Daugherty, Dean of Men and Secretary-Treasurer of Beta Sigma Circle, announced today that Dean Wilson Shaffer of Johns Hopkins University, would be the featured speaker at the Initiation Banquet in Old College following the initiation next Tuesday.

The seven undergraduate members, all outstanding members of the student body, constitute the third group of initiates pledged to ODK since the organization was chartered on the Delaware campus in 1948. The organization, besides recognizing the leadership abilities of outstanding members of the student body, also devotes itself to service to the University, and many of the improvements on campus in the past two years can be traced to the initial efforts of ODK.

Bill Kutz is a senior in the School of Agriculture and is a member of Alpha Zeta, honorary Agricultural.

Del. Military Ball Features Ray Carr

The annual Military Ball of the University of Delaware will be held from 8:00 to 12:00 p.m. on Saturday, Feb. 4, in the Women's Gym. This is the second Military Ball since the war. The Military Ball last year was successfully held at the Newark Armory. The dance will feature the music of Ray Carr and his Orchestra, featuring Nancy Higgins. Carr's Orchestra has played for several dances at the University—The Harvest Hop and the Sigma Nu Formal—and many dances in the Wilmington area. A feature of the dance will be the selection of an Honorary Colonel from among the girls attending the Ball. The young lady and her escort will lead the Grand March. The dance will be open to all members of the ROTC at the University and all Reserve Officers of any branch of the service and their guests. The dance will be formal (non-essence) with ROTC students and Officers requested to wear their uniforms. The tickets, which are $1.50, may be purchased through members of Scabbard and Blade, at the door, or through the Military Department.

Hen Stadium Drive Seeks Funds From Student Body

The University of Delaware's stadium fund this week received a big push toward its $150,000 goal when the Newark Trust Company turned over $1,000 as its contribution to meet "a long-felt need."

John P. Cann, a vice-president of the bank, handed the check to President William S. Carlson in the latter's office.

"It is our feeling," said Mr. Cann, "that the proposed stadium will fill a long-felt need in your rapidly expanding athletic program and will lead dignity and prestige to the University's intercollegiate contests, and will be a source of pride to the student body, alumni, and citizens of the state. We hope that you may receive the fullest support and cooperation, in this worthwhile project, from everyone who may be contacted by you. You have our best wishes for a successful campaign."

President Carlson, in accepting the check, thanked the Newark Trust Company for its "expression of confidence in our plans for the future."

"With the general expansion of the University," said Dr. Carlson, "and the steadily increasing enrollment, there is a continuing need to plan for future growth. One of the great needs has been the lack of local facilities for carrying on our greatly expanded athletic program, particularly in football. Since I came to Delaware, we have been able to schedule only one football game on Frazer Field. Those most intimately concerned with the growth of the University have long felt the necessity for bringing all athletic activities back to the campus.

"Plans for construction of a stadium have been under consideration for some time. With the active interest of the Alumni Association and other friends of the University, it now looks as though we will be able to take this next step in our growth. Football after all is another university activity and should be played in the University environment.

"We also appreciate the generous sentiments of the Newark Trust Company in connection with the success of this important venture. Your contribution will go a long way in making the campaign a success."

The Student Government Association has announced that it is sponsoring this week a drive on campus for raising funds for the University of Delaware football stadium. They are asking one hundred per cent contribution from the student body.

Work among the alumni to raise funds has already begun; there have been rallies and meetings all over the state. One of the greatest selling points that the stadium committee can have in soliciting alumni contributions will be the total student contribution.

We all recognize the need for Delaware's having its own football stadium. We all applauded the decision of the alumni to use this year's development fund for it. It is our place now to help bring the stadium dream into reality.

Many of us will not be here long enough to enjoy as undergraduates the new stadium. Most of us, however, will be coming home to the U. of Del. from time to time during the years. Football will be an important part of our alumni life, just as it is an important part of our undergraduate life. When we contribute to the stadium, we are contributing to our own future enjoyment.

The faster the funds roll in, the faster work will be able to begin, and the faster the project will be finished. The SGA has asked the minimum contribution be one dollar, but any sum will be welcomed. The students' $2,500 will be but a drop in the bucket, of course, but its value to the campaign, if we can show the alumni 100% contributions, will be tremendous.

There will be representatives in each House and Dorm to solicit these funds. Commuters and off-campus members of the student body have been asked to leave their contributions at the SGA office. The drive ends Monday, January 16—GET YOUR CONTRIBUTION IN!

Open Letter From The Fountain Committee

It may come as a great surprise to many of you comprising the University community to learn that the Student Union soda fountain has been losing money. During the first ten weeks of operation, the loss has approximated one hundred and forty dollars ($140.00) per week. Paradoxically, business has been too good. How many of you have waited in line for five or ten minutes to get served? Originally, the design of the fountain was to accommodate only a small, limited number of customers. Because of the delightful response of an unimagined large number of patrons, it was necessary to improvise in order to give service to all. The consequence of such remedies was to "go in the red." For example, the Coffee Bar was operated at a net loss because of construction cost, unnecessary attendants, inefficient equipment, and the fact that little profit is realized on a five cent cup of coffee.

The alterations which have been so recently completed give much promise of curing the above situation.

Also aware that there has been inefficiency not only from lack of plant facilities, but for other reasons, the Student Union Fountain Committee has taken drastic steps to prevent continued loss. In this connection, the students are to be reminded that the soda fountain belongs to them and that it is here only to serve them.

Clearly, the soda fountain must at least "break even" financially to continue in existence. The Fountain Committee asks the students to help by putting suggestions in the suggestion box prominently displayed in the fountain area or to address them to any of the undersigned. The committee also asks the cooperation of everyone in keeping the room as clean as possible.

Somewhere In the Woods

By DON MILLER

Prologue—

The play begins with the tale of the three little boy kittens, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Each wanted to serenade a little girl kitten. Through expert manipulation, the girl kitten arranged a schedule for the boys. Each had one night . . . from then on, the names of the nights were Thursday, Friday, and Saturday. Wise are the ways of kittens. No Delaware coed ever had a better idea.

Scene I:

Christmas Holidays . . . Setting: club called Bop City. Cast includes many people to fill the empty seats, but the main party is seated directly in front of the bandstand.

Cast: Shirley King, who entertained a large party at her home after a thrilling ride down 7th Avenue in a Nash, Mary Lou Conover, "Bulldog" Murray, Don Crossan, Bob Lind. Mary Lou even counted the times Lionel Hampton drummed on her table. BJ Kinder looked around Broadway and thought she was back on the campus. Seems she spent the whole time saying "Hi" to fellow students.

Close of scene: Penn Station . . . many tired, broke Blue Hens headed for home and a rest. By the way, Jim Evans, ties are in order at the Astor, BJ was embarrassed!

Scene II:

Time 31 Dec. 49 . . . Setting: Walt Ellis' home in Saint Georges'. Cast as seen through our eyes appeared blurred, but finally we focused on "Hop" Hauptle and Joan Wallis. Don Reynolds couldn't keep his eyes off Jabby . . . watched her every minute. Ernie Mettnett and Winkle, Don "Mule Train" Hur, Freddy Schenk sporting brand new argyles, "Bongo" Miller with the ever present "Herbie." By the way, Herbie didn't even get as much as a jacket for Christmas. Wray Hushebeck with Marge Brennan, Janice Russo with Jim Riley, she being the one of dancing fame. Bucky Walter with Marge Kenny, Bob Burk with Lois Matthews, Jack Coulter and Louise, Ray McCarthy and the number one girl in his life, Carol Black. Joe "The Eye" Miller with Betty Jane Lovell back in a corner so very cozy. Ann Jones finally got out of Penn station and met Frank Lanza at the party. Gus Seaburg and a girl whose name we wish we knew. Watching the television broadcast of Times Square were Clare DiNardo and Ned King, Spiz Sposato and the missus, looking great after a fine football season.

Scene III:

Tuesday, 3 January, 1950. Setting: On campus.
No smiles, only tired faces.

Scene IV: Turf Club Friday P.M.

Freddie "Boodiny" Hartmann and Betsy Nelson. Bob Challenger and Barbara Potter ringed over the holidays, Pat Reybold very much escorted by Rocky Carzo, Burl Crompton, and Leon Ryan.

Spotted very close together were Don Shannon and a very sharp new girl whose name shall remain with the other military secrets. Might be a pinning in the very near future.

Entertainment for the evening was supplied by Joe Kwiatkowski and Milt Keene. Milt gave a well delivered oration on Free Love, and Joe delivered his little talk on Prohibition. The highlight of the evening came with Joe and Milt combined to do a polka.

Scene V:

Field House Basketball Game . . . cast attired as cheering students. Rae Stark sitting with Bill Webb . . . way up in a corner. Bill Gordon splitting a weekend with Nan Lurch and Charlotte. Bob Grubbs who recently lost his pin to Daurice Logue. Les Ridings with Jean Jamieson, Mary Little with Ozzie. Tom Greenwood, a Phi Delt from Penn, and Scotty, who wears the pin in the family.

Scene VI:

Same Eve . . . the Turf again. Bob Kelleher and that Hagen girl. Don Borse with Mary Perelli . . . and didn't she date someone else the other evening? Jim McGee pulling the fast getaway with Mary Sagan. Burt Williams and Jane Eagan. Jack Bradford with the cute Bobby Martin, a Frosh cheerleader. Spoff Beadle with Nancy Smith.

Scene VII:

Bob Carpenter's house New Year's Eve. Setting: much noise and merriment. Cast: Will "Where's The Head" Fisher making a stumbling entrance to the game room . . . Bill Vanneman with Stewie from Drexel . . . Lois Deiss with Les Ridings. Drexel girls monopolized the men from KA with a few exceptions.

Dick Armour, Dana Burch, Greg Gause dropped in stag to get their New Year's kisses . . . Greg complaining of a terrific cold, which limited his drinking to his own brand of cough medicine. Tommy Silk, and the gal who sports his pin, Carol Pope, sitting out the effects of the punch . . . Creepy Pete punch, that is.

4.0 for the week:

Grace Schulze studied her trig and watched Tommy Runk wrestle at Swarthmore. Betty Berien and Chris Christian attended a recent house party in red flannel night

Lab Theatre Asks For Able Actors

The next Lab Theatre production will be presented on Tuesday, February 21. Tryouts are scheduled for Thursday, February 2, from 4 to 5:30 in Mitchell Hall. Announcement of the plays selected will be made early in the exam period and the books and scripts will be available on E-52 reserve in the library.

Once again, be reminded that these plays are for the purpose of trying out new plays, new staging techniques, and (most important to you) new talent. This is an opportunity for many who have not yet had their chance. All interested students are urged to make a note of the tryout times and to watch the bulletin boards for announcements.

Play Due April

Announcement has been made that "The Princess and the Swineherd," adapted from Hans Christian Anderson, is the selection for the third annual Children's Theatre Production. The play will first be presented in Mitchell Hall on March 31 and April 1. Performances will then be given throughout the state on April 20, 21 and 22. Bookings for the tour will be arranged this month.

The Bars and Stripes Forever

BY
HARRY "LOVE IS WHERE YOU FIND IT" STRINGER
AND
DICK "LOOK WHAT RITA FOUND IN AN ALLEY" TYLER

Your two depraved cinematics attended Newark's one and only Bijou Tuesday night and chewed five pounds of popcorn through two and one half hours of true film art. We were indeed fortunate in seeing Montgummary Cliff (he should jump off one), and Olive deHavoline (an oily specimen) fulfill their contract requirements in the Warner Cement Company's not-so-mello drama "The Airdale." William Whiner, who used to direct traffic and now does movies, consumed 496,699 feet of film in creating this celluloid monster, most of which should have been left on the cutting room floor. His direction for daytime scenes was superb, however, at night, the wrong end of the camera was used and nothing can be seen but loose film coming out the rear of the camera and spilling all over the floor. This is rather confusing to the audience since the dialogue in these scenes is usually confined to heavy panting.

Olive must have been making two pictures simultaneously, because in the ballroom montage she appeared costumed for, "The Snake Pit." It was thought by some critics that this was a device used by Mr. Whiner to make Olive a bit more conspicuous. Her hairdo looked like the prize winning result in a Pillsbury Flour Contest where the yeast had failed to rise. Miss deHavoline's makeup was done by duPont "Speed-easy," and gowns were by General Motors.

Her acting was somewhat below par due to the fact that she didn't know her lines. Several times during the picture she could be seen cupping her hand to her ear listening to the prompters. Montgummary tried to hide this from the audience by stepping in front of her and waving his arms; this resulted in the finest samba ever filmed by Hollywood.

Montgummary, known to his friends as "Gum-Gum," does a creditable job in the role of the wanton lover but is handicapped by one slight thing: He has no talent.

A bit of a handsome dog, Montgummary beguiles Olive with sensuous looks, disagreeable cigar smoke, and ju-jitsu. She falls completely under his spell, and the couple are about to take off like big birds, when lover-boy's creditors overtake him and whisk him off to California where he works for ten years as an exercise boy at Santa Anita.

All this meets with high approval from Olive's old man, who tosses his will around like a newsboy with his last copy of "Police Gazette." The old boy dies a mild death from oversleeping, and the possibility of having a little gore becomes more and more remote. However, before he is nailed shut, Olive manages to squeeze ten G's from his mouthpiece, which is enough news to lure Montgummary back East like a whippet dog that has just swallowed a gross of Ex-lax.

Our boy has sprouted some shrunken over his upper lip and now looks like a poor man's Edgar Allen Poe. Olive, in the meantime, has been reading too many comic books and refuses to be swayed by Montgummary's suave tactics.

The final climactic scene is really a beaut. He comes a-calling, "mit das flowers in hand," but is frustrated at the front door like an undesired vacuum cleaner salesman. For about ten minutes he goes through the antics of "Open The Door, Richard," at the same time ducking the irate neighbors' offerings of old shoes, dead cats, and stagnant fish. On the other side of the oaken portal, Olive, unperturbed by her own cruelty, sits in her rocker and matches half crowns with her maiden aunt, Livinia II. Here endeth the lesson. Our sole comment is: Bring back Smiley Burnett!

ROTC NOTES

The results of the small arms firing competition held for the freshman ROTC cadets of the University of Delaware was announced today by Lt. Col. Layton A. Zimmer, Professor of Military Science and Tactics. The targets for the two top men were so close it was necessary to send them to the National Rifle Association, Washington, D. C. for scoring.

Under the NRA scoring Cadet John E. Elpper, Lancaster Pike Road, Wilmington, Del., won top honors with a score of 121 out of a possible 125. Cadet Edward E. Cunningham, Monroe St., Lakeview, West Hempstead, New York, won second honors with a score of 120 out of a possible 125.

During the course of the competition which was conducted under the supervision of 1st Lt. J. W. Barrett at the Newark National Guard Armory during the month of December, a total of 248 freshmen cadets completed the firing. Thirty cadets qualified as "Expert Rifleman," 108 cadets as "Sharpshooter" and 82 cadets as "Marksman." The firing was coached by M/Sgt. W. G. Rivello and M/Sgt. G. G. Wicker, Regular Army instructors with the University of Delaware ROTC. The freshmen cadets competed for the Marksmanship Prize which is awarded each year for the highest score by the Delaware Chapter, Society of Daughters of Founders and Patriots of America. The gold medal was awarded last year to Cadet J. E. Buechele, now a member of the sophomore class.

MEET YOUR CLASSMATES

By ROGER BROWNING

The Republicans' old slogan used to be, "It's time for a change," and the time has come for yours truly. Beginning next semester there will be a new writer of this column, and we know he will enjoy meeting the different students around the campus. Bob Cunningham and myself will be entering new journalistic fields on the Review.

Usually, the President of a fraternity is a man who has confined most of his extra-curricular activities to the fraternity. Such is the case with Joseph Francis Baldwin, of Yorklyn, Delaware, President of the Delaware Alpha Chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Although his only college activity now is the Allison Associates, of which he is Chaplain, his activities in Sig Ep have been many and varied and have occupied most of his time.

Joe, "Pork," or "Old Pear" as most of his brothers call him, has been a member of the Pledge Committee, P. K. Chairman, and Scholarship Chairman. While holding the latter position he set up a scholarship program with the aid and suggestions of Dean Daugherty, which the fraternity is now using very successfully. Besides holding preliminary offices, any President should possess the character and personality that will make him a good representative of the group. It would be difficult to find a better man than "Pork" for the job, for he is friendly, sociable, courteous, conscientious, and a hard worker.

Among his many interests are listening to good semi-classical and classical music, singing, reading (Esquire), flying, traveling, sleeping, dating, football. More than anything else, talking to people is his favorite spare time interest. Like most people he has his faults, such as being moody, sarcastic, and disagreeable when getting out of bed—but they are few.

"Pork" represented Sig Ep well as first string center on its championship fraternity football team these past two seasons. This year he was chosen first string on the All-Fraternity team. Volleyball, softball, and handball are his other active sports.

"Old Pear" is a adequate nickname, since he stands 5' 11" tall and weighs a mere 195 pounds. He has hazel eyes and gray hair which makes him look older than his twenty-four years. In fact, one woman while visiting the house thought he was the father of one of the members.

Women constitute a good part of his college life. He prefers women who are attractive, well-mannered, neat, sociable, understanding, and have a good personality.

After graduation "Pork" plans to take his Business Administration knowledge into sales work in relation to meeting people and traveling.

S&B Initiates Four ROTC Undergrads

The Scabbard and Blade, national military honor society at the University of Delaware announced recently the tapping and initiation of four Advanced ROTC cadets in a ceremony conducted in the Old College Building. The following students were formally initiated in the society: Fred G. Harvey, Jr., Hockessin, Del., Edward A. Wadsworth, Jr., 201 Lakewood Road, West Palm Beach, Fla., James J. Crumlish, 303 N. Rodney street, Wilmington, Del., and Charles F. Benzel, Greenville, Delaware. Scabbard and Blade was first established at the University of Delaware in 1932. The unit was deactivated during the war due to its membership joining the Armed Forces but was reestablished at the University in a ceremony of reactivation in March 1948. Scabbard and Blade was originally founded in 1905 at the University of Wisconsin and has grown today to a society of some 85 chapters at nearly all universities having ROTC. The principals of the military honor society are to foster esprit de corps in ROTC, to raise the standard of military training in American universities, and to promote good fellowship among its members.

Univ. Thespians Present New Play

What happens when a vain emperor tries to outdo himself in the selection of a new wardrobe suitable for his Birthday celebration? This question will be answered on the stage of Mitchell Hall, Newark, next week, when the University Drama Group presents "The Emperor's New Clothes" on Friday evening, January 20th at 7:30 o'clock and Saturday afternoon, January 21st at 2:30 o'clock.

The production is a play adapted for children by Jane Sinclair from the famous story by Hans Christian Andersen which has the same title. Under the general direction of the Children's Theatre Committee, of which Betty Kase is chairman, the play is being directed by its author, Mrs. Sinclair, with the assistance of Henry Weitz.

Tickets for the play are now on sale at the Newark Department Store in Newark and Greenwood Book Shop in Wilmington. They will also be on sale at Mitchell Hall on Wednesday and Thursday of next week between 6:30 and 8:30 o'clock in the evening. On the Friday evening of the performance the box office will open at 6:30 and on Saturday at 1:00.

As a result of last year's successful Children's Theatre play, a number of invitations have been extended to the University Drama Group to take "The Emperor's New Clothes" on tour. Some of the invitations will undoubtedly be accepted and a schedule of visiting engagements is now being worked out.

Library Exhibits Picture Collection

A photographic exhibition entitled "Emerson's New England," is on display at the University of Delaware's Memorial Library until Jan. 21. The exhibit deals with places and place-names especially associated with Emerson, Thoreau, Hawthorne, Alcott and Longfellow. It consists of 25 panels, which depict scenes at Concord, Walden, Brook Farm, Haverhill, Cambridge and Boston. The text is mostly from writings of the 19th Century New England writers.

The exhibition, in the prints room of the Library's west wing, is to be open during regular library hours: 8 a. m. to 10 p. m. weekdays, 8 to 5 on Saturdays, and 1 to 5 and 7 to 10 p. m. on Sundays. The material was arranged by the editors of "Life" magazine.

Dr. Weitz To Head 'Study Habit' Class

A new "academic orientation program"—a voluntary effort of self-improvement for University of Delaware students who think their grades do not reflect their abilities, or who need help in overcoming handicaps in study habits—will be instituted this winter.

There are expected to be two one-hour group meetings each week during the second semester of the current year. One will be devoted to discussion of common problems, and the other to lectures, exercises, and drills related to study skills.

The last date for applying is February 8, and the first group meeting will be announced on February 13. The group meeting will be scheduled at a time which conflicts with the class schedules of the fewest number of applicants.

Helps Students to Adjust

Announcement of the orientation program is made through Information Bulletin No. 2 of the Psychological Services Center, issued today. Copies of it and of the recently-issued Bulletin No. 1, which outlines the function, services, referral procedures, fees, and general information for the Psychological Services Center, is available upon request at the center.

Dr. Henry Weitz, director of the Psychological Services Center at the University, who will conduct the program, said that it is "designed to assist students in making more adequate adjustments to the academic aspects of college life through consideration of problems of motivation and through training in techniques of study."

Open to All Students

"Any student," said Dr. Weitz, "who feels that his academic performance in college is not at the level of his ability can benefit from such a program. Students who feel that they have weaknesses in some specific study skill such as reading, outlining, note-taking, study-planning, etc., may secure some help in overcoming these handicaps. The program is not designed exclusively for students whose grades are low, although they may obtain help through participation in it. Students with fairly high grades can profit and may derive more from it in the long run than the mediocre student."

30 Students To Be Chosen

"Students whose poor work in college results from poor secondary school preparation in specific subjects or from a genuine lack of aptitude for academic pursuits, will find little in the program to help them. The academic orientation program is not to be a coaching section for students with specific subject-matter weaknesses, nor will it turn students with very limited scholastic aptitude into scholars. The program carries no academic credit, nor will any grades be given for work in the program."

There will be, however, both individual counseling and regularly-scheduled group meetings for the 30 students selected for the program from among the applicants, and Dr. Weitz also plans periodic tests and graded drill exercises, the results of which will be furnished to the student for his own self-evaluation.

WAC's Offer Jobs To Women Grads

For the first time since the establishment of the Womens Army Corps, qualified college women now have open to them careers as Regular Army officers. The Department of the Army has announced a program of selection and training of qualified college women for the WAC. The mission of the WAC is to provide for the assimilation and appropriate utilization within the Army of volunteer woman power of the nation. The Corps led by a group of trained experienced officers is so organized as to be capable of immediate expansion in event of an emergency.

There are few careers available to the young woman of America which offers such a variety of interesting fields in which they can engage as that offered by the Army. The career of the WAC officer is based on rotation of assignments in a planned and controlled career pattern. These assignments may take the WAC Officer to Texas, Cali-

Research In Social Science Is Essential For World Peace

Increased appropriations for social science research are essential from Congress, the United Nations and other organizations, Stuart Chase, prominent social scientist, told an audience of 600 persons at a University Hour lecture in Mitchell Hall Jan. 4.

Mr. Chase listed that as one of three current needs in the social-science field. The others were: that "intelligent laymen must see what science can and cannot do" and that "young people must meet these challenges, and help expand the boundaries of the science of man."

Listing the achievements of social science, Mr. Chase said that the outstanding one is "the culture concept." In that connection he declared that "an individual cannot be understood apart from the culture which contains him; we are all culture-bound and when we realize it we are a little more free because then we can appreciate other cultures." Other social-science accomplishments, he said, include: "the law of social change; the sampling theory, and the group dynamics technique." There has been more progress, he added, in the last generation than in all previous years.

On the other hand, he said, there are four major questions for which social science has not yet found the answers. These, he said, are: "How large can a given society grow and still maintain humaneness?"

"What kind of society can provide freedom for the individual and economic security?"

"How can leaders be protected from the demoralizing effects of their own power?"

"How can we elicit more agreement between groups within our society?"

Mr. Chase was introduced by Dr. Charles N. Lanier, Jr., professor of economics.

California, Japan, Germany, Panama Canal Zone or any of the world wide installations of the Army. The career patterns are obviously influenced by individual aptitudes, abilities and preferences.

Must Be College Graduate

Currently WAC Officers are assigned to over 140 different Army jobs some of which are Administrative Officer-Military Government, Director of Personnel, Personnel Psychologist, Food Service Supervisor, Public Relations Officer, Statistician and Military Intelligence Officer. The WAC officer receives schooling to prepare for responsibilities commensurate with rank and experience. Equal career opportunities are afforded each WAC officer through proper selection of assignments.

To be eligible to apply the individual must be a college graduate or a prospective graduate in her senior year, have attained her 21st birthday but not have passed her 27th birthday by next summer, be a citizen of the United States, single, and with no dependents under 18 years of age, and be physically fit.

Age waivers may be granted in certain cases to women with World War II service. After initial competitive screening, applicants will be given direct appointments as (Continued on Page 6)

Ah! To live the life of a trainer!! Why? 'Well, it isn't just anyone who is invited to be a member of a fruit club or the Heinz's Soup Club. Just ask Mr. Gus Seaburg (alias Miss Gussie Seaburg); he'll be able to confirm those statements. It appears that Gus, the good-natured trainer of the Flightin' Blue Hens, has been the object of practical jokes for many years. Recently, our own Blue Hens have been the culprits. They changed his name to Miss Gussie Seaburg, and they placed it on mailing lists all over the country. For a matter of fact, Gus said, "That name is on more mailing lists than any other name."

In one instance, Gus, who is approximately 6'3", received an inquiry from the Adler Elevator Shoes Company concerning the size of the shoes he ordered and how tall he wanted to be. The company's motto is "The taller you are, the harder she'll fall." (A helpful hint for the men on the campus.) Another time, the boys had a salesman sent to Mr. Seaburg's house to see if he wanted a waxer. (Of course the salesman was under the impression that he was to see Gussie.)

To show how considerate our grid team is, it is only fair to mention that they were quite concerned about Gus' hearing. Yes, indeed! That's why they sent a man to his house to sell him a hearing aid.

"Miss Gussie" has received all kinds of mail from cook books to bath salts to books on how to increase your love life. Once, a lingerie shop in New York wrote asking what (his) measurements for the corset and bra she (he) had ordered were. Imagine Gus's surprise!

The team always managed to play some tricks on Mr. Seaburg before the games. In Peoria, Ill., before the game with Bradley, the boys prepared a pile bed for him. In it he found a telephone book, ash trays, newspapers, and just about everything else but the kitchen sink. Also, Gus found the maid's wagon in his room, covered with all kinds of cosmetics, cold creams, etc. That wasn't everything. Little did Gus know that the team had set his clock ahead. The next morning when the alarm went off he thought that it was seven o'clock. Gus went hustling around thinking he was late only to find that it was just five o'clock when he reached the hotel lobby.

Even Coach Murray has joined in the fun. Gus reports that once Coach Murray wanted him to receive a notice about being a trainer for the Olympics of London, England. Remarkable! A woman trainer.

Our trainer is slightly cautious about hanging his coat in the Commons Dining Hall. It seems that he has found just about everything in it from eggs to turkey heads.

Although the Yuletide Season was near, and despite the fact that Miss Seaburg, pardon! Mr. Seaburg would make a perfect Santa Claus, Gus refused to accept such an offer. About six or seven years ago, he went to a corner where he was supposed to meet his friend and waited for three long hours. There he stood just like Santa, but his friend never came.

Ah, to live the life of a trainer, especially the life of Mr. Gus Seaburg!

Hen Tankers Keep Up Torrid Pace By Topping F. & M.

Newark, Delaware, January 7—The mermen of the University of Delaware followed up a long holiday period with a 48 to 27 victory over a MASCAC champs, Franklin and Marshall College, in Taylor Pool last Saturday.

Three records were broken as the speedy U. of D. tankmen took six first places in nine events. Hugh Miller broke his own record in the 200-yard breast stroke, as he covered the distance in 2:39.2. This broke his old mark of 2:38.6 set against Lafayette last December.

Miller also figured in another record-smashing event as he, Murray Campbell, and Charlie Lloyd turned in a time of 3:14.1 in the 300-yard medley relay. This bettered the old record by 1 4/10's of a second. Baudy Grier, the team captain, broke the Taylor Pool diving mark as he compiled 109.2 points in that event.

The Franklin and Marshall freshmen turned in a 45-30 victory over the Hen frosh in a preliminary event.

Prior to the Christmas vacation, the varsity swimmers defeated Lafayette 54-21 and were beaten by a strong Virginia squad, 41-34. The Virginia meet was close all the way, with the last relay determining the outcome of the meet. In their only pre-vacation meet, the frosh dropped a 41-34 decision to the Lafayette freshmen.

Recapitulations of First Four Hen Tilts

Muhlenberg 68; Delaware 41
Coach Fred Emerson and his sophomore-laden basketball squad, who have high hopes of bettering last season's 7 won, 13 lost record, journeyed to Allentown on December 14 to engage the high-flying Mules of Muhlenberg College. When the smoke of battle cleared and the cheers of the crowd subsided, the Blue Hens found themselves on the short end of a 68-41 score. The eight yearlings received their baptism under fire against a really rugged team and gave notice that they will be heavily counted on the rest of the season. Captain Jim McFadden was high scorer for the night with six field goals and three fouls for fifteen points. Marv Jaffe and Dick McGee netted thirteen and twelve (Continued on Page 7)

Chalk Talk

By FRED HARTMANN

1949 football took an encore last Saturday as the "South" and "North" clashed in the newest addition of the campaign to prolong football hysteria . . . the Senior Bowl game. Travis Tidwell, Auburn's sensation at the quarterback slot, master-minded his Rebel aggregate to a 22-13 victory over the Yanks, literally swiping the curtain calls from Doak Walker, (SMU's contribution to the All-American ranks) and succeeded in pleasing 20,000 fans, who probably would have gone home feeling as though they had been cheated out of their last farthing as so many fans are at so many bowl games (according to so many experts). In spite of the apparent success of this, the baby of the post-season family, there was a little meat at which the vultures could pick . . . since the players participating were all Seniors and had finished their collegiate athletic careers, the shysters that sponsored the affair offered each man a share of the gate receipts . . . the members of the winning team were each awarded $475 while the losers were each given $345 . . . action? Of course! Eight of the Seniors lost their athletic scholarships which were supposed to aid them financially until graduation in June. But, wait a minute. Haven't we forgotten something? Yes. Football, with its ups and downs, its pro and con, its headaches and heartaches, is tucked away until next fall. (We promise not to mention it again . . . not until spring practice anyhow).

Late last week Coach Fred Emerson and his hardwood hawks journeyed west, put on a three quarter demonstration of polished basketball, but yielded during a final period which saw the classy Techers cut the cords with unbelievable accuracy. Losing on the road for the second consecutive time wasn't enough, Jack Frost waved an icy finger that snapped a watermain at Detroit's Coliseum and the boys had to forfeit a shower after the encounter. They took a shower when they returned to Newark! More yet. Due to difficulties in arranging for train reservations they had to leave their Pullman beds at 7:00 a. m. on Saturday morning in favor of a day coach. Nothing like a tough ball game, then up at seven, then another game that night against one of the finest squads in the MASCAC. Good thing Sunday games are outlawed.

Sport magazine's board of experts headed by Grantland Rice recently published their nominations for the top athletes of 1949. Over one hundred writers participated in the voting and the results were as follows:

Tommy "Old Reliable" Henrich was voted the outstanding athlete of the year.

The top performers in each field:

Jackie Robinson, baseball
Leon Hart, college football
Otto Graham, pro football
Alex Groza, college basketball
George Mikan, pro basketball
Ray (Sugar) Robinson (world welter weight champ), boxing
Sammy Sneed, golf
Sid Abel, hockey
Pancho Gonzales, tennis
Mel Patton, track
Steve Brooks, jockey
Joe Verdeur, swimming

The members of the intramural basketball leagues have set a blistering pace during the keen competition to date. Compliments are in order, but the reverse is necessary for eight games have not been reported. Negligence in bringing the scores to the Athletic Office after each contest makes accurate standings impossible and prevents the staff of this page from presenting an official up-to-date scoring chart. In the future, and if you have any scoring sheets of games played in the past, turn them in as soon as possible.

Plans are being made for CHALK TALK to sponsor a game to ring down the intramural curtain sometime in March between the Intramural Champions and an All-Star squad chosen from the other teams of the Leagues. More about this after finals. More about finals now—Good luck!

Hens Take On Haverford; Seek First MASCAC Win

Newark, Del., Jan. 10 (DK)—

Basketball is once again in full swing at Delaware. To date, Coach Fred Emerson's youthful varsity has not been sensational, nor even exceptional, but they have shown flashes of glory that indicate great promise for the future. So far this season they were defeated by Muhlenberg, Lawrence Tech, and Swarthmore, and have beaten Washington College. Jan. 9 they faced powerful Temple University, and although the result is unknown at the time of printing, there is little doubt of the outcome.

The Swarthmore game last Saturday night marked the beginning of the Middle Atlantic States Collegiate Athletic Conference, Southern Division Basketball League. Conference, which includes Drexel, P.M.C., Haverford, Ursinus, Swarthmore and Delaware, was won last year by P.M.C., and the Chester lads are favored to repeat this year. The regular season conference play consists of a double round-robin, with each team playing each other team twice, once home and once away.

Tonight (Thursday), the Blue Hens travel up to Haverford College, Haverford, Pa., to test the strength of Coach Bill Prizer's veteran squad of mainliners. Available for service will be six lettermen and a host of newcomers who have already proven themselves capable this season. Captain Sol Tollin will be back for his fourth season as a regular; he was selected on the first team of the All-Conference team last year, and the 5'6" star is going great guns again this season. Haverford's big point maker this year is a freshman sensation named Paul Bomze. He is currently very high in the leading scorers of the Philadelphia district.

Saturday night, Delaware meets Ursinus on the Collegeville, Pa., court. Last year when the Hens went up they were beaten in a close, nip and tuck contest, despite the 20-point efforts of Co-Captain Bill Nash.

Next Tuesday night, Delaware completes its pre-exam circuit on the Carpenter Fieldhouse floor when the Cadets of P.M.C. will be engaged. Following this game the local basketweavers will lay off the hardwood and lay on the books until the completion of final examination. The midseason truce ceases on February 8 when Drexel Tech comes down to renew the 1950 campaign.

Everyone is urged to be on hand on Tuesday evening, since P.M.C. is expected to field one of the (Continued on Page 8)

ASME, Hustlers Loom As Nat. And Internat. League Kings

Last Monday, January 9, speedy Sigma Nu dropped favored Theta Chi 43-40, thus throwing the American Intra-mural League into a virtual four way tie for first place. Sigma Nu took control of both boards from the larger Theta Chi's, and led all the way. Ken Wood's sensational set shot from mid-court with seconds left pulled Theta Chi within two points but Fred Brown dunked a lay-up to insure the game. Dick Grossman and Curt Turner led their respective teams with ten points each.

Sigma Nu now holds victories over both Theta Chi and K. A. Sig Ep has beaten Sigma Nu and lost to Theta Chi. The race may be decided in the last week of the season, when K. A.'s Rebels take on both Sig Ep and Theta Chi.

Johnson led the ASME five with 27 points for the game. Dark horse Barracks A rolled to a 64-31 win over the hapless Steamrollers, with Luke Broadway hopping 16 for the Kings Row Cagers. The strong Newman Club, who have lost to ASME only, are only waiting for the leaders to falter.

Hen Paddlers Gain Nat. Tourney Final

Playing in a marathon tournament which ran twelve hours and fifteen hours on successive days, the University of Delaware Table Tennis Team, although unseeded, won five matches, while losing only one, to gain the final round of the national intercollegiate with such schools as Temple, Queens, Syracuse and Upsala of New Jersey.

Delaware, led by its captain, Ed Clark, the University champion, upset Augustana of North Dakota, the number one seeded team, by a match score of 3-2 in their first match. The three players of the Delaware team, Clark, Terry Schall, former Wilmington young men's champion, and Emir Dowlatshahi, a Prince of the Iranian Royal Family, then proceeded to defeat Union, Western Maryland, Bloomfield and Temple, in that order. Their only defeat up to the finals was to the Upsala "A" team which went on to win the tourney. The Delaware team went down fighting by a score of 1-3 in the Upsala match, with Dowlatshahi making a spectacular effort in the final decisive games which drew round after round of applause from the crowd. His powerful offensive game was working perfectly as he took the first game from Case of Upsala 21-10, but in the final two games, Case drove his way to victory, 21-14, 21-17. Terry Schall of Delaware won 7 singles matches, while losing only to Phil Hadland of Syracuse in the finals. His record for the tourney stands next to that of Nathan Sussman of Temple who was the only player in the tournament to go undefeated.

Delaware match scores were as follows:

Delaware 3; Augustana 2
Delaware 3; Union 0
Delaware 3; Western Md. 0
Delaware 3; Bloomfield 0.

Bucknell Whips Del. Matmen, 22-10

Newark, Delaware, January 7—The injury-riddled matmen of the University of Delaware dropped their third straight meet to undefeated Bucknell, 22-10. With Runk, Snyder, and Paris sidelined by injuries, the Blons found the going a bit easier than had been expected. The Hen men took only two of the eight matches as Lou Kenderline pinned Nelson Woodcock in 4 minutes, 9 seconds; and Ted Youngling pinned Ed Kiley in 2 minutes flat.

The Frosh dropped a 32-7 decision to the West Chester Teachers J. V. squad in a preliminary contest. West Chester took all but one of the frosh matches, the heavyweight match going to Schultz as he pinned Tucker in 2 minutes, 5 seconds.

On December 16, the varsity and freshman entertained the grapplers from Haverford. The varsity lost their match 22-6; but the frosh evened the score by thumping the Haverford yearlings 25-13.

Delaware 3; Temple B 0
Delaware 1; Upsala A 3.
Delaware 0; Syracuse 3.
In the final round the Delaware team, first to ever enter the Nationals from this school, was eliminated by Syracuse University with Norteza Nouri, Persian singles champion defeating Clark of Delaware and Hadland of Syracuse defeating Schall of Delaware in the singles to put Syracuse ahead 2-0. The last necessary match point was added only after a tight doubles match in which Clark and Schall extended Nouri and Freed of Syracuse to three games. The scores of this final match went 17-21, 21-17, 15-21 with Syracuse winning the doubles and match 3-0.

The Greek Column

Alpha Epsilon Pi

Last weekend, a delegation from Delaware went to Washington to attend Alpha Epsilon Pi's Middle Atlantic Conference. Among the local A. E. Pi's making the trip were Norm Glassman, Dave Bunin, Arnie Greenhouse, and Robert "Hack" Herold.

Dave Bunin played host to Garry Greenstein, Al Bellak, and Jack Herman at his home in St. Petersburg, Florida, over the Christmas vacation. All the fellows had a wonderful time and came back with nice suntans.

A large contingent of A. E. Pi's attended "The Paragon" at the Playhouse New Year's Eve. Afterwards, there were parties at Joe Yucht's and Stan Rosen's.

The A. E. Pi house was thrown into confusion last week by the arrival of Joe Horowitz and Armand Braiger at three o'clock in the morning. Both boys went to school here last year and are now attending the University of Miami. Joe and Armand wish to be remembered to all their friends here.

Alpha Tau Omega

The Brothers all arrived back from the holidays on time. Even Bill Matthews, who usually stays an extra day or two, was here for the first day of classes.

Bob Hoch, the erstwhile pitcher, announced that he had pinned Miss Nancy Tait of Allentown, Pennsylvania. The believe it or not department has it that the actual ceremony took place on the pitcher's mound in the Allentown Ball Park. Well . . . anyway, best wishes to you both always.

Congratulations to our new pledge, Bill Bauerband. Bill has officially been with us since before vacation. He is a veteran, a junior, and hails from Elizabeth, New Jersey.

Just Gossip: After months of decision, Bob Hopkins just can't resist a Southern accent . . . (Is it true what they say about Dixie?) Johnny Fiorino still contests that his "Oatzy" is a queen . . . by the way, it won't be long before Johnny and "Oatzy" walk the aisle together . . . maybe a year. We hope every one is studying diligently for finals. Happy New Year, people.

Delta Tau Delta

Well, the Deltas are just about back in the swing of things after the long Christmas holiday. Of course, a few of the troops are having a rough time getting back to normalcy, namely Harv "Boots" Day and Jack "Bugsy" Christfield, who seem to be retaining a bit of the old wanderlust in taking in the sights of Little Olde New York. Meanwhile, the activity at the house has been centered on cramming for finals or, we should say, getting a head start for a change.

On Friday night, Dec. 16, 1949, the Deltas entertained a group of young gentlemen from the Ferris Boys' School. The highlights of the evening consisted of witnessing the Washington College-Delaware basketball game followed by a coke and ice cream party back at the house.

After a joint songfest, the boys entertained us with a snappy rendition of "Alimony"—quite a song. But finally, the evening came to a close—a quiet one. We would like to congratulate Phi Kappa Tau for entertaining these same lads at the recent Swarthmore-Delaware game.

To here wishing everybody good luck on the finals—and we'll see you next semester, we hope!

Kappa Alpha

After displaying the proper holiday spirit in good taste, the KA's are now settling down to some hard work to hit the coming exams. Celebrating those past Christmas days in full fury were Brothers Richard Huff and Arnel Nutter, who were engaged to their gals. Brother "Up-Charles" Masten surprised the troops by pinning his room-mate's sister, the lovely Jan Richards . . . One point for South Jersey.

Last week, Kappa Alpha played ATO in a red hot basketball game, with Fred Ginkler and our "Bundle of Joy" Bazela racking up high scores. Stan has also received the

Varsity Club "Outstanding Intramural Athlete" Award.

In general news, we learn that Brother Harry Smith took off from the University of London to vacation two weeks in Switzerland. We also learned that Bill Vanneman disagreed with a telephone pole outside of Ardmore, Pa. Bill has a fascinating hobby of paying county officials for new poles. Also, Kappa Alphas of the Wilmington area had a wonderful time at Brother Bob Carpenter's house, ringing in the New Year.

Our big project of fixing up the romping room in the basement is rapidly coming to a finish. We hope the alumni will be pleased at our progress at the coming Alumni Smoker this Friday.

Phi Kappa Tau

Following the precedent set by the Delta Tau Delta's, the Phi Taus played host to the underprivileged boys of Ferris Industrial School on Saturday, January 7. The evening's activities included ice cream and cake at the home and later a basketball game in the Field House. This work was done to give some of the underprivileged children of this vicinity a chance to see and enjoy some of the life which we as college students, take for granted.

Congratulations to Weston Beale for his engagement to Miss Mary Yarnall of Wilmington, Delaware, during Christmas vacation. Weston is now doing graduate work toward his master's degree in electrical engineering.

A big moment arrived last week at the house when the lounge finally got its floor complete. Yes, it is all hardwood now, and take it from us, it's really a super job.

Like us, you are probably "longing" for finals and all the "enjoyment" connected with them; so "good luck—and pass the bottle."

Pi Kappa Alpha

After a wonderful vacation, the Pikes found on returning to Ye Olde Campus that brother Harold "Ike" Isaacs has planned Shirley Hartman, R.N., U.S.N., from Perry Point, Md., and Brother Bob Grubb pinned to Daurice Logue—congratulations extended.

Brother Bob and Peggy Dukes are back after a wonderful, though snowless, honeymoon up in the hills. Jack Veale was seen last evening soaking up his beautiful, ultra-modern livingroom furniture—pull up a ring stand and relax. Just kiddin', Peg.

Jim Neal finally found a basketball enthusiast—Andy Scarl, as well as near-graduate M.E. (how talented can a guy be?)—Norm Wilson with a rosy ear, how come?

Pi K. A. announces the following new officers for the coming year: President, Bob Cox; Vice-President, Harold Isaacs; Treasurer, G. V. "Doc" Wood; and Secretary, Bill Welsh. Congratulations, fellas.

Sigma Phi Epsilon

Last week the strong Sig Ep five continued its current winning streak by downing a strong Sigma tion. The active chapter hopes the future fulfills their every expectation.

Sigma Phi Epsilon says good luck to Alpha Tau Omega and Pi KA in their new houses.

That's all from the Sig Ep house—good luck in your exams and we'll see you next term.

Theta Chi

Hugh Miller and Murray Campbell helped set a new pool record in the medley relay against F. & M. Saturday. Hugh went on to break his own breast stroke record in a record breaking day.

The Come As You Are Party Saturday night was a lot of fun. It might as well have been a pajama party for all the red flannel and slinky, sheer rayon there. Dr. and Mrs. Duennen and Mr. and Mrs. Major Judged Jean Cashman and Stan Hughes the "best dressed" of the evening.

The mistletoe of the Christmas holidays might have inspired Dean Toda to pin Shirley Cannon and Tom Silk to pin Carol Pope. That makes just about one-fourth of the brothers either married, engaged, or pinned!

After a strenuous pledge training, lengthy egg race, and rigorous Hell Night—Earl Shannon, Milt Keene, Joe Kwiatkowski, Harry Dunn, Bill Butler, and Marvel McWilliams were formally initiated into Theta Chi Wednesday night.

Monday's basketball game now leaves the fraternities in a four-way split. The playoffs should be very exciting.

Elections

At a regular meeting of the University of Delaware cheerleaders squad recently, the new co-captains were elected for the year 1950. They are Joyce Hilty and Al Graves. Also installed at the meeting were three members of the Freshman squad, Bobby Martin, Polly Gollard, and Mary Jane Guenveur, as members of the regular squad.

Varsity Club

The Varsity Club held its second annual banquet Tuesday, January 10th in the Blue Room of Old College Hall. Following a cordial steak dinner, president Leo Mullin announced that a new vice-president would be elected at the next regular meeting due to the expected graduation of Bill Gordon in February.

With no further business to be discussed, Mullin introduced William S. Martin, toastmaster of the evening. Guests recognized were W. D. Murray, Harry Rawstrom, Milt Roberts, and Gus Seaburg. Mr. Martin then introduced Mr. Bob Geasey, publicity director at Temple University, the guest speaker.

Following an interesting recap of some of Mr. Geasey's wide experiences in sports, president Mullin adjourned the meeting.

points respectively for the Mules.
Delaware 48; Wash. College 47
Washington College paid a visit to the Field House on December 16 and went back to Chestertown smarting from a 48-47 defeat in the first home showing of the 1950 edition of the Blue Hens. Delaware's attack, spearheaded by the diminutive soph forward, Johnny DeGasperis, who scored thirteen points, worked like a charm and the Hens led 16-7 by the end of the first period. Although outscored in the second quarter, Coach Emmerson's charges left the floor at halftime sporting a seven-point lead. As the second half began the Blue Hens immediately built up a margin of sixteen points. Then the tide of battle shifted. With three minutes remaining in the third period, the Sho'men started to slowly erase the deficit. Led by Nick Scallion, the game's top scorer with 20 points, the visitors continued to whittle down the margin throughout most of the final period. However, the Hens' defense stiffened to stave off a last-minute burst and Delaware emerged with their first victory of the new season.

Lawrence Tech 67; Delaware 53

The Hen cagers invaded Detroit to meet the Engineers of Lawrence Tech in their third game. Before the final whistle sounded, with the score standing at 67-53 in Tech's favor, the Engineers knew they were in a battle. With Jim Kruzinski, the elongated center, leading the way, the Blue Hens more than held their own against their hosts and at the intermission left the floor with a one-point lead, 32-31. As the third period began, Tech, with Blaine Denning and Barney Petty pacing the attack, began to click, and at the three-quarter mark, had a five-point lead. Kruzinski, who tallied twenty-two points, was held scoreless in the final stanza and with their big siege gun bottled up, the Hens' attack bogged down in that fatal fourth period. Denning and Petty, with 18 and 17 points respectively, paced the Engineers while Johnny DeGasperis garnered 12 for Delaware.

Swarthmore 54; Delaware 40

Jim Reilly, Swarthmore's counterpart of Tony Lavelli, brought his cohorts to Carpenter Field House to play the Blue Hens in their first MASC Conference game. The Quakers were heavily favored and the game more or less went according to script for the first half. The visitors left the floor with a 27-15 lead, Reilly accounting for twelve. At the intermission though, the Hens threw away the script and, during the third period and part of the fourth, staged an exciting comeback as has been seen here in many a moon. Proving himself to be Johnny-on-the-spot by stealing balls, intercepting passes, and breaking up plays, DeGasperis led the onslaught that saw the Garnet lead decrease to eight points. He scored eight of his eleven points in that hectic comeback quarter. As the clock began ticking away the final ten minutes, many Blue and Gold followers thought that a startling upset might be in the offing, but the visitors held the Hens even, and with four minutes remaining and seven points to make up, the Blue Hens wilted.

Reilly, who had nineteen points, and Dick Half added the final six points of the game and sewed up the contest for the Quakers, 53-40.

THE DU PONT DIGEST

FOR STUDENTS OF SCIENCE AND ENGINEERING

EXCITING NEWS ABOUT

Du Pont's Newest Fiber

Hundreds of smaller businesses will join with Du Pont
in bringing benefits of Orlon* acrylic fiber to you

Strong sunlight will damage most fibers—but not "Orlon" acrylic fiber, the latest synthetic yarn to come from the Du Pont laboratories. This remarkable fiber, which took eight years of intensive research to develop, has a lasting resistance to sunlight, mildew, high temperatures and even sulfuric acid. Experts say that it is the best fiber yet found for outdoor use.

In 1940, Du Pont scientists began work on a new fiber that seemed to have unusual properties. Development continued during the war when, under the name "Fiber A," the output went for military use in the hot, humid South Pacific. Recently the Du Pont Company decided to build a plant at Camden, South Carolina, for full-scale production. This new plant will cost about twenty-two million dollars.

While samples of "Orlon" fiber are now in the hands of knitters, weavers and finishers for experimental purposes, it will probably be late 1950 before articles made of it will be generally available. Then you can expect to see it in awnings, convertible automobile tops, golf bags, sails, electrical insulation, as well as certain articles of clothing.

In developing the uses of "Orlon," Du Pont will work with hundreds of smaller businesses—a "partnership" that will bring Americans not only new and better products, but more jobs, more business activity and another contribution to better living.

TRADE-MARK

OUTDOOR uses of "Orlon" will include furniture fabric, golf bags, sweaters and swimming suits. New fiber stands up extremely well under sun and rain.

SEND FOR the booklet "This is Du Pont." It is a 52-page picture story of one company's contributions to America. For your free copy, write to the Du Pont Company, 2503 Nemours Building, Wilmington, Delaware.

strongest teams that will compete in the Fieldhouse this season. Last year they had the best team in the Southern Conference and practically the same squad is back to repeat their stellar performance of 1949. Coach Woody Ludwig of the Cadets predicts a great season, since in addition to last year's group of veterans, he will be able to turn loose a pair of new giants, 6'6" Bob Marks and 6'5" Alden Jahnke. The mainstays of the P.M.C. aggregation this year, just as last, will be 6'2" Eugene Margavage and his equally tall running mate Walt Udovich. Both placed on the first string of last year's All-Conference selections and are prolific scorers. Udovich, a football end, led the P.M.C. scoring last year with 355 points, and is repeating this season.

Shifty Bobby Martz and Alvin Ingber, both of whom were chosen to the second All-Conference team last year will be on the first string and are great playmakers. In addition to the previously mentioned veterans, Coach Ludwig will have on call four more lettermen, Emanuel Bosio, Ray McLaughlin, Wayne Fullerton, and Arthur Lux. McLaughlin and Lux are rounding out their fourth year of collegiate competition.

On paper they're sensational, on the floor they're terrific.

Although Coach Fred Emerson has not been bowled over by a streak of victories, he is well satisfied with the progress of his sophomore charges and their guiding light, senior Reds McFadden. He believes that practice, experience, and a little more development of his tall boys will produce a good, winning team. His squad has been reduced in size to fourteen players; this is the number that he will probably carry through the rest of the season. The first string, consisting of McFadden, Bill Utt, Johnny DeGasperis, Jim Kruzinski, and
