Poultry Committee Meets At Dover

Discuss Plans to Benefit Poultrymen. Drive for Membership.

The Executive Committee of the Delaware State Poultry Association held its first meeting at Dover, on November 17th. The meeting was called by W. V. Cosden, president of the Association, for the purpose of preparing a set of by-laws for the recently organized association, to appoint committees, and to take action on any questions that needed attention at that time.

When the meeting was called to order at 10 a. m. all seven members of the executive committee were present. These committee members are: W. V. Cosden, Dover, chairman; Warren C. Newton, Bridgeville; H. R. Lemex, Milford; Asa Reynolds, Georgetown; Guy Swanson, Milford; W. C. Matthews, Hockessin, and H. S. Palmer, Newark. Mr. M. C. Vaughn, Sussex County Agricultural Agent, and Russell E. Wilson, Kent County Agricultural Agent, by request of the committee, attended the meeting in an advisory capacity.

The first business to receive attention was that of preparing a set of by-laws. The objects of this Association, as set forth in these by-laws, are to cause the poultrymen to realize that they are all a part of one big business industry, and to bring to them the benefits of a united effort along educational, social, legislative, and business lines.

"United we stand; divided we fall." "In union there is strength." The truth in these old sayings were realized many years ago by manufacturers, railroad companies, bankers, lawyers, doctors and other professional men. Later the laborers became conscious of the same thing, and today we see the members of all these groups united into combines, associations, societies, unions, and so forth. The purpose of all these organizations

FARMER BADLY BURNED

Philip A. Kemether, a prominent farmer, living on the Salem Road, met with a painful accident early Monday evening. With his son, Mr. Kemether started to fill the gas tank, which is a part of the lighting plant. He had turned the gas off, without the knowledge of the boy, who turned it on, thinking he was turning it off. Working with a lighted lantern, an explosion resulted and Mr. Kemether was badly burned on one hand, his face and one ear. Dr. Peters, of Christiana, was called to relieve the suffering man. It is thought that only the fact that the gas was turned on but slightly saved Mr. Kemether's life.

THEFT OF TURKEYS

On Thanksgiving Day, in the morning, six men in two automobiles, drove down the road which leads past the farm of Jewel Spry, between Newark and Ogletown. Mr. Spry heard shots and thought the men were gunning for rabbits along the edge of the wood; but when the cars with their occupants soon sped away, and a flock of turkeys began making excited calls, he hurried to the spot. Three of the birds had been carried away, and a fourth had been left to die from shots.

This is the second report of the theft of turkeys in this vicinity. Eight were recently stolen from the farm of Ellwood Dean.

BUYS MAJOR STORE

Harry A. Franck College Hour Speaker

At "College Hour," held this morning at eleven o'clock, Wolf Hall, Mr. Harry A. Franck was the speaker. His topic was "Present Day China."

Mr. Franck is the author of a number of popular volumes on travel. Perhaps the best known of these are: "Vagabonding Around the World," "Vagabonding Down the Andes," and "Four Months Afoot in Spain." He has recently brought out two books on his walking trip through China.

Through his method of travel, Mr. Franck has been able to reach and see phases of life in various countries that are hidden to the ordinary traveler. He straps a pack on his back and starts off, generally with only a few dollars in his pocket, and when that money runs out works his way among the common people. When he started his vagabond tour around the world he had $100 and that he spent in Northern Europe, so that when he reached the Alps he was "broke." From there he walked around the world. He is responsible for starting the student walking tours which are so popular now.

Mr. Franck's speaking dates are at a premium, and the University was able to get him by a fortunate arrangement with the New Century Club of Wilmington. Mr. Franck speaks there tonight.

Dr. and Mrs. Crooks entertained Mr. Franck at luncheon with Mrs. W. H. Beacom and Miss Smyth of the Wilmington New Century Club.

Delegates Leave For Student Congress

John Harper And Jean Middleton Go To Ann Harbor

This morning, John Harper, president of the Student Council, Delaware College, and Jean Middleton, president of the Student Self-Government Association of the Women's College, left for Ann Arbor, Michigan, where they will represent the University of Delaware at the National Student Federation Congress.

One hundred and seventy colleges and universities will be represented at this meeting, which will be held at the University of Michigan.

The Student Federation was formed a year ago and its purpose is to seriously discuss scholastic problems and propose plans for their solution. The controlling issue at this time seems to be that the average American undergraduate is not willing to give the same concentration to scholastic work that he does to extra-curricular activities. In an analyses of educational profits, it appears that men and women who have had to strive for educational advantages and have been deprived of academic training now available to so many, have obtained a more profound culture than those to whom educational advantages have come without effort on their part. The question to be brought before the congress is how to provide a vital and energizing force to fire all students with a needed zeal and ambition.

In framing a program for the solution of this problem, stress will be laid more on men than buildings and equipment, and a more intimate relationship urged between student and faculty.

It is hoped to develop a purpose for going to college and to set a standard of conduct. To do this, extra-curricular activities must be made subordinate and supplementary to college work.

President McCracken, of Vassar and Dr. Michlejohn, former president of Amherst, will be the main speakers for the faculty side of the question. Dr. Michlejohn is now Professor of Philosophy at the University of Wisconsin.

KEELEY RECOVERED

The new officers will be chosen during the business session.

JAQUETTE IMPROVING

Paul Jaquette, the Newark High School player who was thought to be seriously injured in the Thanksgiving Day game, is improving rapidly and is able to walk.

Jaquette was carried from the field with what was thought to be a broken hip. Dr. Downs, who was present at the game, had him taken to the Milford Hospital, where X-ray pictures showed no fracture. J. R. Fulton and Horace Null drove the ambulance to Milford and Jaquette was removed to the Flower Hospital, Newark. Dr. Downs and Professor Brinser were with him on the home journey.

Miss Kathryn E. Woods, for seven years connected with the Extension Department of the University of Delaware as State home demonstration agent, died last Friday at a hospital in Keene, New Hampshire. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the home of her mother, Mrs. Emma Woods, at Gilsom, New Hampshire.

Miss Woods, who was born in Wisconsin, was a graduate of the University of Wisconsin, and had done post-graduate work at Columbia University. Her work in this State was of a high type and she had made a host of friends in this town and throughout Delaware. She was devoted to her mother, who is the only surviving member of her immediate family. Five weeks ago she went to Gilsom to visit her mother, was taken ill and soon the sad news came to her friends here that her condition was serious.

Miss Freda Ritz, of this town, an intimate friend of the deceased, represented the University of Delaware at the funeral on Monday.

After December 1, all Equitable policy holders will have the services of Miss Alice Leak, gratis, but the Equitable Life Company will make payment to the committee for all calls she will make. The promise of life insurance company support was one of the factors in bringing visiting nurse service to Newark.

Orpheus Club Concert

"Newarkers" prepare to hear the biggest and best musical program of the season. On December 14, in Wolf Hall, the Orpheus Club of Wilmington, will make its second appearance in Newark. The concert, sponsored by the Sophomore Class of the Women's College, will be given for the benefit of the college Yearbook, the Blue and Gold. The present Sophomore and Junior classes are responsible for this publication.

The Orpheus Club is a large and professionally trained male chorus directed by Dr. H. Alexander Matthews of Philadelphia. Its purpose as set forth in the Orpheus Creed is to serve the public by promoting good sound music with a universal appeal. The club will render its annual program at the Playhouse in Wilmington on Monday evening, December 13, and appreciation is due to the president of the organization, Mr. Charles L. Evans, for consenting to present the same program in Wolf Hall the following evening. An interesting feature of this concert is that there will be a specially engaged and well-known soloist from New York City, Miss Flora Toronti. Miss Toronti will bring her own accompanist.

Members of the Sophomore class, with much enthusiasm, are already launching their extensive campaign to sell tickets for this concert, which is expected to exceed in attendance and enjoyment the one given here last year.

Newark High School Granted Charter

Form Chapter Of National Honor Society, Third In State

Professor Ira Brinser, Superintendent of Schools, has just announced that the Newark High School has had its constitution approved and a charter granted for forming a chapter of the National Honor Society. This is the third charter to be granted in Delaware, one other is held by the Wilmington High School and one by the Lewes High School. Professor Brinser was responsible for the chapter that was installed at Lewes. In announcing Newark's acceptance by the Society, Professor Brinser spoke as follows:

"The Newark School has just received notification that its constitution has been approved and a charter granted for the formation of a chapter of the National Honor Society of Secondary Schools of the United States. This charter grants the 'right, privilege and power to establish, conduct and administer the Newark Chapter of the National Honor Society.' This is the third chapter in the State of Delaware—the first one was established in the Lewes High School, the second one in the Wilmington High School and the third one in the Newark High School."

"Throughout history man has attempted in one way or another to mark out for special distinction those who excel. Ancient universities have established their honor societies. In our own country the honored Phi Beta Kappa has lived until it now celebrates its Sesquicentennial with that of the Republic. It still remains one of the highest honors and outranks all other distinctions of the baccalaureate degree. In Schools of Education in our American Universities, the society for the recognition of scholarship and promise for further achievement is the Phi Delta Kappa."

"But it remained for the National Honor Society to establish an organization national in its scope for the recognition of scholarly attainments in the high schools of the United States. The National Honor Society recognizes four cardinal objectives as fundamental in all educational procedures: scholarship, character, loyalty, service. To exalt these objectives and hold them before the school as goals, toward which all should strive is the fundamental purpose of this society. To create an enthusiasm for scholarship, to stimulate a desire to render service, to promote leadership, and to encourage the development of those qualities whose sum total we call character—to seek the development of all these qualities—must always be the controlling spirit of this society."

"The National Honor Society interprets service as a willingness to render cheerfully and enthusiastically any service to the school whenever called upon; a willingness to do thor-

Penny Sticker Mighty Factor In T. B. Battle

Miss Emily Bissell, Of Wilmington, Devised Plan For Financing

(Reprinted from Sunday Star, November 28.)

A gigantic network of health protection, which includes medical treatment for the sick, preventive measures for those in immediate danger of disease attack, and that also safeguards the well, has been brought into existence largely through the power of a penny sticker. The American public voluntarily contributed about $5,000,000 in 1921 to keep the scourge tuberculosis from its doors—through the sale of the now universally known Christmas seal. Hospitals, sanatoria, clinics, open-air schools, preventoria, as well as a program of public health education, are able to carry on from year to year by means of billions of little stamps that decorate letters, boxes and bundles at holiday time.

The story of the Christmas seal is the story of a dream come true.

In 1907, Jacob Riis, one of America's pioneer social service leaders, received a letter from Denmark, his mother country, on which he noticed a gay little stamp with a health message. With his characteristic interest in social work, he inquired about it. Hearing the story of its use, he became so enthusiastic over this novel method of financing a public health campaign that he wrote an article for the "Outlook" describing the origin and working of the plan.

Miss Emily Bissell, of this city, alone among the thousands of the "Outlook" readers, thought of applying the Christmas seal idea in the United States. Her own particular problem at the time was to raise funds for Brandwine Sanatorium. In the sale of the penny stickers she saw the solution of her difficulty. So, in spite of discouragement, she undertook to organize and conduct the first tuberculosis seal sale ever held in this country. Her receipts from this venture reached what was then an amazing total, namely, $3,000.

Miss Bissell was actively interested in the Delaware Red Cross and was oughly any assigned service in school procedure or student participation; a readiness to courtesy to all and to offer aid and encouragement to members of the school whose work is not up to the desired standard; a willingness to uphold scholarship and maintain a loyal school attitude—to render anything worthwhile to the school and through the school to the community—in short, service over and above that of the plain call of duty."

"Leadership is interpreted to mean the demonstrating of a degree of initiative in class or in activities which leads to higher scholarship for all; in showing initiative for promoting any worthwhile school activities; in successfully holding school offices and other positions of responsibility; in contributing ideas which may be incorporated in the civic life of the school; in contributing ideas which may be incorporated in the academic life of the school; in showing the ability to think things through and then to get things done with a fine sense of cooperation."

"Recognition in character may be attained by meeting all school obligations promptly and completely—loyalty to the highest demands and ideals of the school; by showing an honest spirit in classwork and a spirit of cordiality and genuine sincerity toward teachers and student associates; by actively helping to maintain the right type of school spirit by such qualities of honesty, cooperation, reliability, promptness, achievement, morality, constructive criticism, public school ethics, constancy of purpose, sense of justice, sympathy generosity and reverence and willingness to give rather than to take—to be interested rather than to be indifferent—to be optimistic rather than to be pessimistic."

"Candidates eligible for membership must rank in the first fourth of their class with an average of 'B' or better. A-1 elected members will be presented with the emblem of the Honor Society, which is a gold key-stone and a flaming torch. The key-stone bears the letters S-L-C-S—which stands for the four cardinal principles as outlined above—Scholarship—Loyalty—Character and Service."

University Finances Increased $10,000

Dean McCue Reports Additional Money Received Under Purnell Act

Dean McCue, head of the Agricultural Department of the University, in his report to the board of trustees, stated that this fiscal year the finances of the University have been increased $10,000 under the Purnell Act. These additional funds he reported are being used to strengthen the work of the departments of Agronomy and Economics; one additional worker being added to each staff.

Dean McCue also announced the appointment of H. S. Gabriel to the staff of the Department of Economics and G. M. Gilligan to fill a vacancy in the chemistry department. The report in part follows:

"Seven new students in agriculture were enrolled in September. This represents about the average number that has entered each year since 1920. The School of Agriculture is equipped to handle about twice the number of students that it now has without increasing the overhead expense.

"H. S. Gabriel has been added to the staff of the Department of Economics and G. M. Gilligan has been appointed assistant in chemistry, vice Mr. Blackman resigned.

"Two bulletins have been published since the last meeting of the committee. 'Transmission of Butter Fat Percentages by Holstein-Friesian Sires,' by T. A. Baker, and 'Corn Production Experiments in Delaware,' by G. L. Schuster. The annual report of the director for the year ending June 30, 1926, is now in press and a bulletin on 'Grape Diseases' by T. F. Manns is ready for the press.

"The finances of the station for the present year have been increased by $10,000, due to the normal annual increase of the Purnell fund. These increased funds are being used to strengthen the work of the Departments of Agronomy and Economics, an additional worker being added to each department.

Three new projects have been inaugurated in Agronomy under the Purnell Act. Investigations in wheat on different soil types, investigations in soy beans on different soil types and pasture investigations. All three projects are located out in the State. The wheat project work is located at Middletown, New Castle county, and at Coolspring in Sussex county. The soy bean work is at Kenton, Kent county, and at Seaford, Sussex county. The pasture work is being conducted in Sussex county, between Coolspring and Nassau. For the pasture project it was deemed necessary that the station exercise more definite control of the land than is usual in most experiments away from the Central Station, consequently, a contract was entered into with the owner to lease ten acres of land to the university for a period of ten years at a fixed rental and also to obligate himself to do certain labor at a fixed rate per day and to furnish animals for grazing. The pasture work was inaugurated in September of this year.

"The work on cabbage breeding and selection which was started by C. A. McCue about 10 years ago and which has been carried on by Professor Detjen since 1920, has been transferred from sales and Hatch funds to Purnell funds.

"As revenue from Purnell funds increase it is becoming more and more evident that a number of the projects now being carried on under Hatch funds must be transferred to Purnell funds, for the reason that, in as much as neither Purnell or Adams may be used for administration purposes the burden of administration will eventually fall very heavily on Hatch funds, hence the necessity of releasing them for that purpose.

"The work of the Department of Entomology is filling a gap in the organization of the station that has long been apparent. Insects enemies appear to be on the increase both as to number of old enemies and increases in new enemies. It is likely that it may be the part of wisdom to increase the number of workers in that department at an early date.

"The work in Horticulture under Purnell funds has been laid out as a long time program in search of fundamental facts and it probably will be sometime before results are obtained.

"The report on the survey of the 'Hockessin Area' is now in manuscript form and will soon be ready for the printer.

"Club work has made rather remarkable progress during the past year, especially in New Castle and Sussex counties. Miss Anne B. Moore, the club agent in Sussex county, is especially to be commended upon the good work which she has accomplished in that county among rural boys and girls.

"A new venture was tried this sum-

A. G. Wilkinson Reports Improvements

Grounds And Buildings Have Undergone Extensive Changes; Saving In Fuel Costs

In his report to H. Rodney Sharp, chairman of the Building and Grounds Committee, A. G. Wilkinson, business administrator of Delaware University, lists many alterations, repairs and improvements that have taken place during the last few months. A resume of the work that has been done is as follows:

Delaware College

Old Power House—The brick stack has been taken down and cleared away. Two of the three boilers have been removed. The third will be removed shortly.

Recitation Hall—The outside of this building has been painted and some of the classrooms and offices renovated.

South Hall—The outside of this building has been painted and three classrooms renovated.

Tennis courts—The new tennis courts have been completed and are in constant use. These will be paid for from athletic funds.

Campus—South College avenue has been widened and curb and cement walk laid between Main street and Delaware avenue. Grading of this property is in progress.

Memorial Library—The large room in the basement, intended for store room, has been converted into a classroom and furnished. This being necessary to accommodate the large number of students.

University model—The model of the university has been on exhibition in a booth at the Sesqui-Centennial in Mer with rural women. A 10-day vacation camp for rural women was established at Sandy Landing in Sussex county. The results obtained were better than expected and it is quite likely the venture will be repeated next summer.

"Farm work during the summer and fall was greatly handicapped by wet weather, and, as a consequence, the Experiment Farm has been further behind with its work than at any time since the writer has been supervising the farm. The silo was filled with great difficulty before frost came, but killing frosts came before the remainder of the corn could be harvested. The apple crop was unusually heavy, and losses were incurred on account of inability to harvest on time. Great difficulty has also been experienced in marketing the apple crop to any financial advantage. The low price of apples coupled with high labor cost of harvesting and a high package bill will seriously cut into farm receipts for the year.

"The peach crop was of good quantity for the acreage involved, but prices were low and it is doubtful if any profit was realized on the crop.

"Owing to wet weather a portion of the second cutting of alfalfa was lost. The hay crop was good, although, due to rains a great deal of the timothy was over-ripe when harvested. From the standpoint of profitable farming this has been, perhaps, the most discouraging season that the farm has gone through for a number of years."

POSTAL HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS MAILING

No deliveries Christmas Day after 12 noon. Mail early for delivery before Christmas.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT, SIZE

No parcel may be more than 84 inches in length and girth combined. For delivery locally and in 1st, 2nd and 3d zones, 70 pounds is the maximum weight; all other zones, 50 pounds.

PACKING

Articles that are perishable or easily broken or crushed should be packed with care and marked "fragile" or "perishable." Consider what a package must go through with before reaching its destination and pack accordingly.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

The early mailing of Christmas cards is as important as any other mail. A habit of late mailing of cards has caused great congestion in post offices and considerable delayed delivery. Uniform sizes in greeting cards greatly facilitate handling, as odd sizes upset the routine technique.

PARCELS AND CARDS MAY BE INDORSED "PLEASE DO NOT OPEN UNTIL CHRISTMAS"

SHOP NOW AND MAIL FOR EARLY DELIVERY

Christmas packages and mail consigned to foreign countries will not be received bearing other than official postage stamps. Such mail with Christmas stickers will be returned to sender if a return address is provided, otherwise it will go to the dead letter office.

VALUABLE MAIL

All valuable mail should be insured. Coin, currency, jewelry and articles of similar value should be sent as sealed, first class, registered mail.

WHEN TO MAIL

Christmas mail addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than Dec. 20; within two days travel, Dec. 18; three days, Dec. 16, and for more distant points not later than Dec. 14. Mail for local delivery should be mailed Dec. 22.

Philadelphia. The cost of booth and exhibit is borne by private funds.

Women's College

Residence Hall—A number of the rooms in the building have been renovated, the old dining hall in the basement being remodelled to suit the needs of rooms for the faculty.

Science Hall—Classrooms and laboratories have been renovated and changed to provide for the increased demand for instructional purposes. New lights have been installed in chapel room.

Sussex Hall—An additional bathroom has been installed in this building.

Temporary dormitories—These dormitories have been painted outside. The paint was provided by the Delaware School Auxiliary. The university paid for the labor.

New Dining Hall—This building is now finished and in use, and has filled a very serious need. Everything has been provided both for comfort and efficiency.

Steam lines—The steam lines of the Women's College have been connected up with the new university power plant. A new line laid in conduit from Sussex Hall to Science and Residence Halls. Changes have been made in each building which will make it possible to provide hot water the entire year without using the small hot water heaters, at the same time providing for the shutting off of heat in the buildings.

Power House—The old boilers have been removed and cleared away.

Laundry—It was intended to use the old power house for the laundry, the present small laundry being entirely inadequate. The cost of equipment that would be needed for this would be about $7,000. There being no funds available for this, the plan has been abandoned for the present. It will be necessary to have the laundry work done by an outside firm. The present laundry equipment is entirely worn out, being only ordinary household equipment and having been in use for the past ten years.

Walks and grading—The grading and building of walks to the new buildings is under way.

New Castle Hall Dormitory—This building is about finished. There was considerable delay in the work which the contractor claims has been caused by the marble not having been delivered. This has meant great inconvenience in housing students.

General

President's house—This house has been painted outside and a number of rooms renovated. The heating plant has also been repaired.

Hauling of coal, etc.—Through the purchase of the dump truck and conveyor, we have this year hauled our own coal. After charging 25 cents per ton less for hauling, we have saved around $700 in the cost of fuel and also paid $2,282.03 on the truck and conveyor which represents over half of the cost.

A conservative estimate of the truck is five years. It will therefore be seen that more than the balance of the cost will be paid this year, which should show a saving of close on $3,000 for the following two or three years.

CO-OPERATIVES GROW

The number of farmers' co-operatives increased from less than 6,000 in 1915 to approximately 12,500 in 1926. During this same decade the volume of business done by farmers' co-operatives has grown from $635,838,000 to about $2,400,000,000, and the number of farmers who are members of co-operative associations has increased from 651,000 to nearly 2,000,000. The agricultural co-operatives today are marketing one-fifth of the farm products of the country.

Folks who never do any more than they get paid for, never get paid for any more than they do!—Elbert Hubbard.

The Christmas Seal

This week there will be mailed throughout the State of Delaware thousands of letters appealing to Delawareans to buy Christmas Seals. These Seals, with the double-barred cross and carrying a cheery message of Christmas, have become one of the most potent factors in the National fight against the white plague. The proceeds of the sale go to the National Tuberculosis Association and are used by local chapters to aid in protection against this scourge. These protective measures include not only medical treatment and care for the sick, but preventative measures that shield those in immediate danger of the disease and provide safeguards for the well.

The story of the Christmas Seal is the realization of a vision and the one person who is responsible for making this vision a fact in the United States is a native Delawarean, Miss Emily P. Bissel, of Wilmington. Miss Bissel is one of the signers of the letter of appeal and Delaware can pay her no greater honor than to respond handsomely to the appeal.

also a member of the national body, the American Red Cross. The National Tuberculosis Association, or the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, as it was then called, was but a comparatively unknown organization. Convinced that the Christmas seal idea could be extended over the United States, she therefore took her plan for financing tuberculosis work to the Red Cross and persuaded them to undertake the first national sale of Christmas seals. That was in 1908, and the sale that year brought in about $135,000.

In 1909 it leaped to $200,000, and the indications were that the Christmas seal would become a permanent welfare institution. The American Red Cross, however, was not primarily interested in organizing tuberculosis work, and so, in 1910, it drew up an agreement with the National Tuberculosis Association for the further continuance of the seal sale. The latter was a struggling organization with limited funds and an ambitious program, and the Red Cross, therefore, agreed to give to the undertaking its name and emblem, and sufficient capital for financing the Christmas seal sale as its share in the partnership. The National Tuberculosis Association, on the other hand, agreed to organize the sale and direct the expenditure of the funds that would be realized through it. In order to insure the Red Cross against financial loss, the latter was to receive a small percentage of the total contributions. All seal sale money was to be expended only for anti-tuberculosis work to meet local, national and state needs under the direction of the National Tuberculosis Association.

This happy partnership between two of the largest public welfare organizations in the country lasted for ten years. Until 1919 only the scarlet emblem of the American Red Cross appeared on the Christmas seals, but in that year, both it and the double-barred cross, international emblem of the anti-tuberculosis campaign, were embodied in the seal. In 1920, the partnership was dissolved, and in that year the Christmas seal appeared for the first time with only a double-barred cross.

The reason for this change was that the American Red Cross desired to perpetuate its annual Roll Call begun in the years of the Great War, and did not wish to appeal to the public for funds twice a year. Furthermore the Christmas seal could not stand on its own merits. For, during the past ten years, state and local organizations for tuberculosis work had come into being all over the country, hundreds of hospitals and sanatoria for the care of the sick had been constructed, preventive measures, such as nutrition classes, summer camps, open-air schools, were everywhere in operation. The Red Cross believed that its foster-child, the Christmas Seal, no longer needed its protection. Since 1920, therefore, the National Association has been the sole proprietor of the Christmas seal, the crimson double-barred cross which invariably appears on it, marking it as the only anti-tuberculosis seal. There is no longer a Red Cross seal, nor is the Red Cross any longer incorporated in the Christmas seal design. The little holiday stickers sold all over the United States at Christmas time are tuberculosis Christmas seals, and bear the double-barred cross emblem of the tuberculosis campaign.

Christmas seals have done much more than to raise dollars for the relief of active cases of tuberculosis, worth while as this function is. More powerful has been the stimulus to establish new organizations dedicated to educational and preventive work which, it is hoped, will ultimately eradicate the white plague entirely. Through these activities every inhabitant of a community benefits from the Christmas seal sale. More than 600 hospitals and sanatoria have been established in the United States, approximately 1,000 open-air schools are in operation, 11,152 public health nurses are working in homes and schools, in cities and in remote hamlets, to educate children and adults in disease prevention. Clinics, prevention, child health education and nutrition classes have become routine activities in almost every community. The institutions that have sprung up as the result of the actual work made possible by the seal sale are alone valued at more than $175,000,000. The death rate of tuberculosis has been cut in half in the last twenty years, and for this achievement, considerable credit is due the annual seal sale.

Thus the Christmas seal has become a sound investment as well as a dream come true.

Newark Loses Championship For First Time In History of D.I.A.A.

Questionable Officiating Decides Bitter Deadlock. Polli's Touchdown Sensational Climax to Breathless Struggle.

By CHAS. B. JACOBS, JR.

On Thanksgiving Day at Milford, Newark High School lost the D. I. A. A. football crown they have held since the founding of that organization in 1920. It was a titanic struggle between two great teams that gave their all and more, and the crying shame of it is that Laurel, whose team was all that had been said of it, should have won a verdict that was clouded with unsportsman-like tactics and questionable work on the part of the officials. The game was to the death, but clean and neither Laurel nor Newark asked odds of anyone.

Laurel brought a mighty team on the field, a team that was capable of holding its own in any company. They brought with them a record of a perfect season in which their goal line was never crossed for a touchdown. They had scored 200 points against one field goal for their opponents. But, in the light of circumstances, they met a team that was greater and could give more, pound for pound, than they could. Newark, outweighed from 5 to 50 pounds along the whole line, held fast and even, and the higher the odds piled against them, the harder they fought. It seemed the worst they should have received was a tie; perhaps Laurel did have the best team, but no unbiased spectator of that game will ever grant that there was any choice between them.

Newark's first bad break happened long before the game started, when the bus in which they were riding to Milford had trouble along the road. This made them 20 minutes late getting on the field and for this they were penalized by being made to start the game cold and in scrimmage on their 15-yard line.

There is a little question about the sportsmanship of this penalty and a certain question of its legitimacy. The ruling invoked is one made to penalize teams who loiter in the dressing room to get the team already on the field on edge. However, the circumstances in this case were well known to the D. I. A. A. officials, and the fact that Newark was compelled to travel in the neighborhood of 70 miles against 15 or 20 for Laurel, made this ruling assume an odor not unlike Harris tweed on a rainy day.

Newark, however, took this set-back with good grace and sizing up their ponderous opponents adopted a Fitzsimmons philosophy and tore into them like wildcats. Newark kicked and Laurel rushed the ball back to the 10-yard line. A smash at center was stopped at the line. Riley broke through and stopped a play for a five-yard loss. Jaquette and Morris each stopped another and Morris kicked out of danger. Laurel returned the kick and Newark made a first down. Laurel took the ball again and the period ended with Laurel holding the ball in Newark territory. The first period gave Laurel a slight edge in rushing the line, though Newark held or broke through when they needed to.

The second quarter went to Newark in spite of everything and everything covers a lot in this instance. Shortly after the period opened, Jaquette intercepted a pass on his own 5-yard line and ran it back for 30 yards. Here Newark was penalized 5 yards for off-side, which was the first of a monotonous series of penalties. They were deserved for the back field was getting in motion before the ball, but at the same time the Laurel line was just as impetuous and in nearly every case that Newark was called off-side, Laurel's line was off-side too. However, Newark got the penalties.

A pass, Riley to Morris, gained a few yards, but this was handed back by another off-side penalty. Morris punted for 40 yards and Laurel juggled, dropped, scooped-up the ball and fumbled it again. A pile of players fell on it and when they were untangled Mayer was hugging the ball at the bottom of the pile.

With ball on Laurel's 10-yard line, Newark took it 5 yards in two plays. On the third play, Newark drew another off-side penalty and went back to where they started from.

It just so happened that one of the Laurel ends was a yard off-side on this play, but the head linesman had eyes only for Newark. On the next down Whiteman went through tackle for 7 yards but it was not enough, and Marvill, Laurel's roving tackle, kicked out to Newark's 40-yard line. A pass, Jaquette to Morris, gained 10 yards, but the 4th off-side penalty in this period cut this gain in half. Morris kicked and Laurel drew an off-side penalty, this time accompanied by three raucous rabs and a hiss for the head linesman. Laurel punted, Morris received, and because of a mix-up when he was tackled, Morris was excluded from the game and Newark penalized 15 yards.

This penalty was rather severe, because both players were at fault and Morris' action was instinctive and justified. Morris plays clean football and while he did something to deserve a penalty he was deliberately provoked and both or neither player should have been penalized.

"Rip" Smith replaced Morris and Newark made 3 first downs in 6 plays. Newark drew their 5th off-side penalty in this quarter just before the half closed.

While they were pushed back 40 yards on penalties, Newark took this quarter by a good margin and proved that Laurel's stone-wall defense could be penetrated.

The third quarter was even and both goals in danger several times. Both teams did a lot of kicking. "Rip" Smith did some sensational tackling and showed Laurel a thing or several about slanting through tackle, but the loss of Morris was sadly evident. His judgment and kicking might very possibly have brought Newark a score in this period.

The last quarter was a repetition of the third until it was more than half over, and it seemed that both teams were too strong to be scored on. However, Newark's odds were yet to be piled higher. Jaquette took a smash on the hip that laid him low, but he wouldn't give up, and with his face drawn with pain, went back in the game and smashed the line for a good gain. He was later hit again in the same place, and Coach Malin, fearful of a permanent injury, took him out. A few plays later Polli, fast and heavy Laurel back, broke through tackle and was on his way. Riley and Whiteman had been sucked in on the play and had to turn and chase him. Smith flung at him but missed. Morris was on the sidelines gnawing his lips, Jaquette writhing with pain under a pile of blankets and nothing between Polli and victory, but Williamson, fly-weight safety-man. He tried valiantly but his scant hundred pounds hardly made that hurtling back pause. Riley pounding desperately after him all but brought him down, but Polli dodged safely over the line and Marvill kicked the extra point.

A score of reputable witnesses said that as this play started, the head-linesman honked his horn and called Laurel off-side. However, he didn't recall the play and the touchdown stood.

Even then, Newark didn't give up the fight, but resorted to all the desperate plays in the football bag to even the score. However, when Bishop intercepted a forward pass at midfield, it spelled defeat and the game closed with Laurel holding the ball.

On the last play Dayett, whose head had been banged and hammered for an hour without making him miss a pass, was knocked unconscious.

While even the winning play was questionable it detracts no credit from Polli's magnificent run. In fact, the whole Laurel team, who were a clean, husky bunch of football players deserve every bit of praise that they got. Every man of them rose to sensational heights at periods in the game. Marvill, 210 pounds of tackle, shared starring honors with Polli. He looks less than 16, but his weight is proportionally distributed and he makes every pound of it count both on defense and offense.

Words fail when it comes to describe the gallant fight that the Newark boys made; outweighed, discriminated against and with all the bad breaks possible they took greater courage with each set-back and gave their last ounce of everything they had. To pick out the stars would be impossible, they all starred at one time or another. Jaquette is a symbol of their courage, for he played his most desperate football when he was dizzy with pain. It seems that such a team should be unbeatable and we can hardly be called hard losers to say that they would have been under strictly impartial officiating.

From a point of consistent and cumulative results, Vogel was easily the star of the game. A complete play by play account would be liberally sprinkled with "5 yards by Vogel." Vogel, who is from Middletown, didn't happen to be in uniform, but he was more of a blight as head linesman than he could possibly be actually playing in a game.

The discrimination against Newark was so flagrant that there are sound grounds for a protest. How a protest would fare at the hands of the D. I. A. A. committee is problematical, but it should be a lesson to Newark.

to have a voice hereafter in the selection of officials. This is not the only time that Newark has had to contend with prejudiced officiating, but it should certainly be the last. In justice to Mr. Faulkland, umpire from W. C. L. let it be said that no fairer official ever worked a football game. It is estimated that more than 3,000 persons watched the contest.

H. S. Basketball Schedule Announced

Prospects For Strong Team; Class Games Through Week Will Test Material

Coach Malin is exceptionally enthusiastic about the prospects of the High School winning the D. I. A. A. basketball championship this year. Last year Newark was runner-up to Dover in the northern bracket.

Paul Jaquette, captain, Riley and Morris, last year's letter men, form a strong foundation to build on and there is plenty of good material to choose the other two men from. Riley will probably play center with Morris a forward and Jaquette, roving guard. Whiteman trying for forward and Holloway for guard show natural ability and both have some experience. Cecil Williamson is another experienced player who strengthens the squad.

In raw material, Mr. Malin has Bill Doordan, Winni Mayer and "Rip" Smith, all football stars who should develop on a basketball court.

This week the inter-class games will be run off and should give a good line on respective ability.

All games are scheduled for Friday evening, and the High School authorities are trying to arrange to play home games in the Armory.

The D. I. A. A. schedule—
Dec. 17—Caesar Rodney—Away
Jan. 7—New Castle—Home
Jan. 14—Delaware City—Away
Jan. 21—Smyrna—Home

High School Blanks Alumni

On Saturday afternoon, on Frazer Field, the High School football team played their annual classic with the alumni and "goose-egged" them, six to zero.

Due to injuries and absences the High School had only nine men on the field, so Johnny Mayer, Knute Rockne for the alumni, with more generosity than judgment loaned them "Shorty" Chalmers and Phil Cornog. The lone touchdown is doubly credited to "Butch" Riley and Bill Doordan. Chalmers threw the pass that both of them, mistaking each other for some one else, grabbed and put down over the goal line.

Stephan gave the gallery the most for its money when he did a W. C. Fields with a football. His juggling was above reproach, but he couldn't make the ball disappear and somebody took it away from him. The cast:

High School	Alumni
W. Doordan ..... r. end	Crompton
McMurray ..... r. tackle	M. Doordan
Cole ..... r. guard	R. Manns
Cornog ..... center	M. Armstrong
McDowell ..... l. guard	W. Armstrong
Sylvester ..... l. tackle	Doyle
A. Jaquette ..... l. end	M. Manns
Morris ..... quarterback	Rupp
Chalmers ..... r. halfback	V. Armstrong
Whiteman ..... l. halfback	Stephan
Smith ..... fullback	Hubert
Riley at end for Jaquette.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRLS OPEN B. B. SEASON ON 17th

The girls basket ball team of Newark High School will open their season Friday night, December 17, at the Caesar Rodney School. The prospects for their winning the championship are unusually bright this year as only two members of last year's fast varsity squad were lost. Among those out are: Lillian Robinson, Anne Chalmers, Anna Frazer, Marion Singles, Willa Dawson, and Dorothy Armstrong.

Shorty Chalmers Star of Mythical Eleven

In the All-Maryland Scholastic football team, chosen by Paul Broderick, of the Baltimore Sun, George "Shorty" Chalmers, former High School star and now at Tome, is listed as the "one best bet" on the team. Broderick says, "Chalmers at half-back, is the team's best bet. He is good on defense and offense and is the best drop-kicker in the State."

Honorable Charles R. Miller

The death of Ex-Governor Charles R. Miller has cast a gloom over the State. His passing is particularly a loss to the University of Delaware. Ever since he appeared in the State Senate at Dover, through the years of his governorship, and since that time Mr. Miller has been a supporter of the needs of the institution. Legislators gave heed to what he said because they trusted his business judgment and in every instance when the University's needs were made plain to him, as real and practical, he spared no effort to state the situation clearly to those who appropriated the State's funds.

The growth of the Women's College has been especially gratifying to him, as he was one of the strongest advocates for its institution and has been a patient and intelligent worker in every interest pertaining to its building and maintenance. No detail has been too small to gain his interest and he never spared himself where he could work in its behalf.

Poultrymen in Delaware are showing keen interest in the Production Poultry Show to be held in Milford Friday and Saturday, September 30th and October 1st, under the direction of the Milford Grange and the Delaware State Poultry Association. Breeders who have good Production Stock are eager to show their birds, and farmers who make a practice of buying hatching eggs, baby chicks or cockerels each year are expecting to learn where to get the most for their money.

As this is strictly a Production Show, all birds will be judged by the following score card: Body type, 25 points; head, 15 points; body conformation, 30 points; handling qualities, 10 points; legs and toes, 5 points; condition, 15 points. No birds should be entered in the show that have any of the following defects: Off colored feathers, wrong kind of comb for the breed, side sprigs on the comb, stubs between toes or on shanks, unhealthy in any way.

Persons who expect to place birds in the show must write Mr. Gus Swanson, Milford, Delaware, not later than Saturday, September 24th, and tell him how many birds they expect to place in each class and send remittance for the total amount of entry fees. The entry fees are 50 cents for each pen and 25 cents for each single bird entered. All birds must arrive at the Grange Hall on Tuesday, September 29th. No birds will be accepted later than 9 a. m. Friday, September 30th.

Mr. Frank Yadin, Superintendent of the International Egg-Laying Contest at Milford, will judge the birds. H. S. Palmer, Poultry Specialist, the University of Delaware will be present both days to discuss poultry problems with interested poultrymen.

K. P. Surprised By Fraternal Visit

Large Delegation From Wilmington And New Castle Wait Local Knights At Monday Meeting

Oseola Lodge No. 5, Knights of Pythias, was honored at its weekly meeting, Monday night when a large delegation of Knights from Wilmington and New Castle paid it a surprise visit.

The entertainment lodge members were taken by surprise as they gathered for the meeting to find the hall lighted and occupied by several present and past grand officers beside a number of past officers of subordinate lodges.

Grand Vice-Chancellor Frank W. Fisher, who is chairman of the recently formed organization committee, explained that the visit was in the interest of the membership and attendance campaign launched in Pythian Castle, Wilmington, September 10, when committees of three, from subordinate lodges met and elected Grand Vice-Chancellor Fisher chairman and Grand Outer Guard Harry J. Cable secretary.

Among the visitors were Grand Vice-Chancellor Fisher, Past Grand Chancellors Harry Keene, J. Carroll Brinton, Grand Outer Guard Harry J. Cable, past Chancellors R. Edward Pinder, Albert S. Boyce, Irving H. Brinton, George Grandell, Leroy Lowe, Eugene Johnson, Theodore Hanf, Morris Drucker and Samuel Wheeler.

DELAWARE'S DEAD GOVERNOR

Former Governor Charles R. Miller, of Delaware, though he served for four years as the Chief Executive of the Diamond State, was so closely affiliated with financial and industrial concerns in this city as to be virtually a Philadelphian. His domicile was in Wilmington, but his business, club and social relations were here.

As Governor of Delaware his administration was one to which the State owed at least two of its most important advances along the path of modern progress. One is the Women's College, at Newark, which he advocated in his inaugural, in 1913, and behind which he put all his influence. Another is the system of concrete roads, of which he is fairly entitled to be regarded as the father.

The Woman's College, a part of the University of Delaware, has exceeded all expectations formed at its foundation, so that enlarged facilities and new dormitories have been found necessary, while the Delaware roads are one of the most valuable assets of the State. No better evidence of the esteem in which Mr. Miller was held could be given than his election to the Governorship in 1912, the sole Republican to attain office in a campaign in which the Republican party was split by Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy for President.—Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.

NEW BUILDING STARTED

At a congregational meeting at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning, the building committee was given authority to proceed with the work of erecting a new Sunday School building in the rear of the church.

George W. Griffin is chairman of the committee, which also includes Professor H. K. Preston and O. K. Straborn. The contractors will be the Smyth Construction Company of Wilmington, who started the work yesterday, expecting to finish the work by May 1. The contract price is $36,340. The building will be of stone, and of an architectural design in keeping with the present building. The dimensions will be 41 ft. by 105 ft. There will be sixteen classrooms, an auditorium 40 by 52 ft., with a stage, a study for the pastor's use, a kitchen, and wash-rooms. Some improvements will be made also to the present Sunday School room.

CONVOCATION SPEAKER WILL BE DR. SPAETH

It was announced last week that Bishop Philip Cook would be the speaker at the Convocation exercises of the University of Delaware, to be held next Wednesday. Bishop Cook, due to a previous engagement in New York City, which he had forgotten when he accepted the invitation for the Convocation address, will not be able to speak. President Hulihan has secured Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth, head of the English department, of Princeton University, as the Convocation speaker.

"For few, alas, are they whose names may outlive the grave, but the thoughts of every man who writes are made undying; others appropriate, advance, exalt them; and millions of minds unknown, undreamed of, are required to produce the immortality of one."—Bulwer.

Burglars Active

had piled all the silverware on the dining room table. He was apparently frightened off before he had time to pack it up. Nothing was missing from the house.

Catch Marritz Thieves

That the series of depredations was not committed by one gang was made evident when four of the gang of five negroes that committed the Marritz robbery, were caught by the Philadelphia police; three of them the day after the robbery, and one later in the week.

On Monday morning a Philadelphia colored policeman arrested Robert Harris, of Georgetown, N. J., and Henry Richardson, of 904 Lombard street, Philadelphia, both colored, when he became suspicious of the car in which they were sitting. After these two were locked up a search was made of the house in front of which they were parked. Detectives, breaking down a locked door of a room, found Charles Mosely, colored, of 510 South Twelfth street, Philadelphia, with goods later identified as belonging to Marritz. Later in the week another negro, said to be a member of the same gang was captured. The three first caught are said to have confessed to having robbed Marritz. A fifth negro, supposed to be the leader of the gang, is still at large.

The recovered goods are valued at about $75, but the remainder of $500 worth of stock taken from the Marritz store has not as yet been recovered.

The four negroes will be given a preliminary hearing in Philadelphia on September 30 and will then probably be brought to Wilmington to stand trial.

The local police and State authorities are making investigations.

Jones, superintendent of the Middletown district; "Primary Materials and Methods," instructor, Miss Eleanor Collins, Brownstown Mission, Wilmington, and "Life of Jesus," instructor, the Rev. E. M. ### MARRYING PARSON WEDS

Rev. E. E. Weaver marries Mrs. Alda Meyer at Temple Lutheran Church. With the record of having performed marriages at the rate of almost 30 a day which earned him the title of the marrying parson of Elkton, Rev. Ernest E. Weaver, widower and father of two grown children was Saturday united in marriage to Mrs. Alda Meyer, of Philadelphia.

The ceremony took place in Temple Lutheran Church, Fifty-second and Race streets, at noon, with Rev. A. Pohlman, pastor of the church, officiating. Dr. Weaver was attended by his son, Dr. E. B. Weaver, a member of the dental school faculty at the University of Pennsylvania. Mrs. Ray E. Ulmer, of Lancaster, was matron of honor. The couple motored to the seashore where they will spend a honeymoon. They will reside in the Seidel Apartment, Richardson Park, Del.

Mr. Weaver came into the spotlight in May, 1926, when the Maryland classis of the Reformed Church demanded that he discontinue marrying couples at Elkton. After a brief encounter with the ecclesiastical officials, during which he pointed out that he had done nothing reprehensible under the Maryland law, he left Elkton. He has been in the ministry 26 years.

VICTIM THROWN OUT

A. H. Mendenhall, a director of the National Bank of Elkton, found a young man unconscious on his front porch last week at his country home at Blue Ball, injured about the head and evidently suffering from a drug. The youth stated his name was Kline and his home in Parkersburg, Pa.

His parents came to the Mendenhall place and took him home. They believe he was drugged, robbed, and, after being beaten over the head, thrown out of an auto.

Mermaid

There was a small attendance at Harmony Grange on Monday evening, owing to the stormy weather. The fertilizer order was closed, and reports of the County Fair were turned in. Over two hundred dollars was cleared at the fair.

The wedding cake, presented by Mr. and Mrs. Walker Pennington, who were married last Saturday, was enjoyed by all.

Pennington-Benard

The marriage of Miss L. Rowena Benard and Mr. J. Walker Pennington was solemnized last Saturday afternoon at one o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, near Talleyville. The Reverend J. D. Blake performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father. The maid of honor was Miss Dorothy Benard, sister of the bride, and the best man was Martin Pennington, brother of the groom. The ushers were Girvin and Warren Benard. The house was beautifully decorated with flowers and the bridal party stood under an arch of laurel and goat-daisies. The bride was dressed in white georgette and wore a cap-shaped veil, caught with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. Her travelling suit was of dark blue cloth, with fur collar and a black hat. Her sister wore pale yellow georgette and carried yellow chrysanthemums.

Sixty guests, all relatives of the bride and groom, attended the wedding. A wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Pennington left for a motor trip to Niagara Falls. After their return they will live at The Mermaid.

Most of us like it medium when it comes to water for washing or bathing.

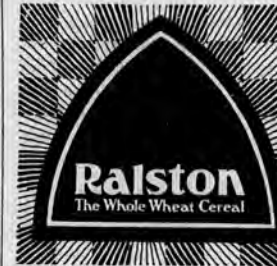

Combination faucets at kitchen sink and bath-room fixtures bring the comfort and cleanliness of "once-used water" to all the family.

They save hot water, too, at the daily rush hours.

White Sales

Get ready for the "white sales" in January by sending for Farmers' Bulletin 1449-F, "Selection of Cotton Fabrics," which gives information about nearly 100 common household and garment textiles made of cotton, with suggestions as to how to judge them for suitability and durability.

Sweet Potatoes and Apples

Did you ever try sweet potatoes and apples cooked together? First cook the sweet potatoes in their skins in boiling salted water for about 15 minutes. Pare, core, and slice the apples. Place alternate layers of sweet potatoes and apples in a buttered baking dish, sprinkling each layer with sugar and dots of butter. Add a little water, and bake until the apples and potatoes are soft. Brown sugar is liked by many people for this combination.

Rabbit

Rabbits are good cooked in any way chicken is cooked—fried, or baked, when young and tender, stewed, or in casserole in gravy, if older. Left-over rabbit meat is good for croquettes, hash, shepherd's pie, salad, or in any dish where you could use chicken.

Add Celery

Add chopped raw celery to sauces served with croquettes, or to creamed vegetables, chicken, meats, oysters, fish, or scalloped dishes; a tablespoonful of celery to a cupful of sauce gives a good flavor.

Added Service For Eastern Shore

With sixty-six thriving communities on the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula being supplied with power and lighting service equal to that of the majority of metropolitan sections, and plans being completed for the erection of a $1,500,000 power plant by the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company, of Salisbury, Md., to further extend this service and to provide practically unlimited power, special attention is being directed to the unusual opportunities offered the hundreds of industries seeking suitable locations not far from the congested city districts.

This decided attractive feature is recognized by officials of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, which is now nationally advertising and publicizing the Peninsula and its unusually substantially economic and agricultural offerings. In the judgment of business men in all sections, this power service will be the means of attracting a material number of manufacturing plants and industries to the Peninsula where they may locate in a section immediately adjacent to the largest city markets, with excellent transportation facilities by both rail and over a system of the highest type improved highways.

F. N. Lawton, General Manager of the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company, when questioned as to the actual supply which his company is able to furnish in the way of power, definitely stated that while the service today is reaching nearly 100,000 people and caring for the majority of the manufacturing plants, they are still capable of giving even further service, and as soon as the new $1,500,000 power plant is completed the present power will be increased three fold.

"This means that our high tension wires spreading throughout the greater portion of the Peninsula will provide sufficient power to care for an unlimited number of manufacturing plants. Our service will be equal to that in any section, and we are quite confident that this service will attract many manufacturers who are looking for sites where lower taxes are to be had and where labor may be secure on a more attractive basis than that which the larger centers demand. It is but natural that manufacturers prefer a section out of a congested district, providing that they can secure more suitable locations where they can obtain the electric power necessary to their demands.

"The Del-Mar-Va Peninsula has more to offer manufacturing concerns than any other section within a radius of many miles of such large cities as Philadelphia, Baltimore, Jersey City, and New York. We have motor truck service to each of these centers ranging from three to ten hours and all of our peninsula is hooked up with improved highways. Both rail and water

A MESSAGE FOR YOU ABOUT YOUR SCHOOLS

How bad are these school buildings that we say need replacement? A representative of the Joint Educational Committee started out recently to see for herself. The first stop was made at Marshallton on the Lincoln Highway, near Wilmington. Here 280 school children are being cared for in one main and four supplementary school buildings. Conditions which are a positive menace to the health and safety of the children, exist in at least one-half of the grade rooms.

Thirty-two fourth grade children were found quartered in a second story room, 27x19 feet in size, with just 7 feet 3 inches between the floor and ceiling. A stove occupies the center of the room. A foot beyond the teacher's vision is completely blocked by a huge square chimney. That the smoke sometimes escapes is apparent from the blackened wall surface.

The room's sole method of lighting and ventilation is by means of four small windows, located on three different sides of the room. There is a tin roof under each window, a fact which made the room unbearably hot during September and October. Now it has its compensation, however, for the teacher remarked, "I often think in case of fire I'd have to get the children out on the roofs, for they can go only single file on the stairway." The steps, old, wooden, and dark, are, by actual measurement, thirty inches in width. The only toilet facilities at the disposal of the children are in the rear of the main building, across the highway, 150 yards distant.

Little first grade children find their school home in an abandoned store room on the opposite side of the pike. Every time they go to their playground, visit the drinking fountain or wash room, they cross the main Lincoln Highway, at a point where the road curves at the foot of a hill, dreaded for its skidding possibilities by every motorist who drives over it.

Across the bridge, facing another dangerous curve, the fifth grade "carries on" in a rented lodge room. There is not even a sidewalk between the doorway of the school room and the main thoroughfare over which the vehicles surge, in literal thousands, every day in the week. A wooden stairway, broken by a landing with right angle turns, leads to the second-floor school room. On opposite sides there are three windows. The rear is partitioned off with dreary faded curtains. Gaping flaps reveal a mass of old lumber and discarded furnishings, genuinely ideal lodging places for germs and dust accumulation. "My attendance is below normal now," the teacher remarked, "for there is scarlet fever in the district."

As the bell rang for recess the children adjourned merrily to the rear of the building, attempting an organized game on a rough bit of ground steeply sloping to a rocky little stream that batters its way noisily to White Clay Creek. At one end of the playground there is a sharp drop to the stream's bed of perhaps eight feet. Entirely open and exposed, there is no attempt at protection. The pump and antiquated outhouses, which the children struggle hard to keep neat and clean, figure prominently in the picture.

Every child has to cross the road at the dangerous curve, in going to his home. The teacher is in the habit of taking position in the middle of the highway and holding back traffic until the children are out of harm's way.

"School could not be held under these conditions," Mrs. A. P. Mote, principal of the school declared, "were it not for the marvellous and courageous spirit of the teachers."

The fact that thousands of Delaware children are required to go to school, day after day, in the face of conditions which threaten their personal safety, represents the big issue in the Delaware school situation.

Protective Tariff Greatly Strengthened

The National Republic has several times called attention to the movement for American abandonment of the protective tariff policy by American international financiers who have made extensive European loans and inventions, and who believe that they can more easily collect these foreign obligations and more profitably realize on their investments in European industries through the overthrow of the barriers which protect the American home market. Primarily these barriers which protect the American standard of wages and living, and the effect of their removal would be the scaling down of American to European economic levels, admittedly much lower than our own. The publication of a round-robin appeal for lower tariffs, said to have originated in England, and signed by American as well as European bankers, has served to test the temper of the country on this program. The reaction has been decidedly unfavorable, and the cause of protectionism in the United States has been materially strengthened by this pronouncement. It is claimed that this statement was intended to refer only to the higher post-war tariffs of the European nations, but in that case it would scarcely have been signed by Americans, since customs duties are domestic problems, the solution of which is not helped by outside interference.

Secretary Mellon's statement declaring against American participation in such a program, is an unanswerable argument. Mr. Mellon shows that not only is it necessary to American prosperity to maintain our tariffs at a protective level, but that the rest of the world would be harmed rather than helped by departure from that policy. He shows that the United States maintains free trade over an area nearly as large as Europe, representing a larger productive unit, and that a reduction of American consuming and producing power through lowering of our wage scales and therefore of our standard of living and consuming level, would actually reduce American purchases abroad. Curiously enough the statement is still repeated that our present protective tariff prevents foreign sales in the American market; yet during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1926, our imports aggregated four and a half billion dollars—the largest volume of imports in our history. Mr. Mellon points that if our consumption of coal, rubber, coffee, raw silk, petroleum, copper, nitrates, shellac and similar commodities were cut in America to the average world level, the world demand for these commodities would sink far below supply and produce commercial disaster rather than prosperity abroad. While under a protective tariff we cut down importations of manufactured articles, we greatly increase our importations of raw materials and of articles we do not produce in the United States. Between 1924 and 1925 we increased our duty-free importations from two billions to three billions, while our importations of dutiable articles remained about the same in quantity—National Republic.

INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

The Minneapolis Tribune editorially declares that crime is our country's most expensive luxury. It quotes statistics charging that crime costs the United States about $10,000,000,000 a year. Loss in loot alone is about $3,500,000,000. Loss in diverted man-power is $6,500,000,000 more.

Each year crime costs America a sum equal to the entire war debt owed our country by Europe, or twice what it costs to run the government. In any one year we spend ten times as much for crime as we have spent on highways. Reducing crime one-half would in five years wipe out the national debt, costing each inhabitant $83 a year. The Chicago crime commission says that city has 30,000 crooks and criminals costing the city $20,000 a year apiece.

What is the remedy? Is it play or work? Does any nation spend more money on college and high school sports like baseball and football than ours? Do the children of any country play more and work less than our children? A genius proposes spending millions in every state on more playgrounds for the children.

What is more conducive to crime among the growing generation of boys and young men than idleness and spending money they never earned? Nebraska is considering a department of higher education to relate the student with and prepare him for, an honest-to-God job for life best fitted for him. San Mateo-Burlingame union high school has more than half its boys working, learning trades, as well as making their grades.

Is it not time to ask our schools whether industrial education of our youth is not the solution of the problem? Are not habits of industry and earning money before you spend it, a good way to reduce the national crime burden?

PAINT BRUSHES

Paint should never be allowed to dry on a brush. While still on a job, keep the brushes in raw linseed oil between intervals of work. Kerosene oil is better for brushes used with flat paint. Hanging brushes in raw linseed oil over long periods of time will keep them in good condition. Or they may be washed in turpentine, kerosene or mineral spirits and then with soap and water, dried thoroughly and covered with wrapping paper.

The Psychology of the Switch

Ann Roe Anderson

"I don't want to go to ride," announced five-year-old Mary when her mother, Mrs. Brown, suggested a drive Sunday afternoon.

The little girl had been playing contentedly with her dolls, but she was now hurried into the automobile and when she resisted given a shake and told to keep quiet.

As I was "company" I tried to divert Mary's attention, but I was drawn into conversation with some of the grown people. Mary giggled about for a time and then began to ask questions which it seemed to me should have been answered, but which were entirely ignored by her mother.

Suddenly Mrs. Brown exclaimed, "Mary, sit still and keep still!"

For a short time the child was quiet, but curiosity got the best of her and again she asked a question.

"Bill, stop the car!" snapped Mrs. Brown.

Mary cowered against me, the animation fading from her face. Her mother was out of the car almost before Mr. Brown had slowed down, and walking to a bush beside the road she broke off a switch. Returning she exclaimed, "Now, Mary, just let me hear another word out of you and see what you get!"

The child was soon asleep, and I learned that many of her naps were taken under circumstances such as this. Several times she aroused with a start only to sink back into a restless sleep.

"Mary giggles as much in her sleep," Mrs. Brown laughed, "as she does when she is awake. I don't know what is the trouble with her. I think I'll have to take her to a specialist."

I wondered if Mrs. Brown had never heard of the effects one's last waking thoughts have on the nervous system and so I directed the conversation to psychology, but Mrs. Brown was not interested and was soon telling me of her astuteness at bridge.

We who have gone to sleep with a heartache know that the switch which Mrs. Brown brought to the automobile meant intimidation, depression and troubled dreams for Mary, who always wakes irritable, languid and unrested, while the thoughtless mother wonders why the child is "so cross."

Potatoes Not Particular

For potato culture gravelly or sandy loam soils, if well supplied with organic matter, are in general the most desirable. The potato, however, is not so sensitive with respect to soil as are some other crops. Under suitable conditions a satisfactory crop may also be grown on a fairly light sandy soil and a medium heavy clay soil, provided the heavy soil is well drained and the light soil, has a good moisture supply. Muck or peat soils are also satisfactory if properly drained and the light soil had a good moisture supply. Muck or peat soils are also satisfactory if properly drained and well supplied with available plant food. A reasonable good crop may be expected from any soil outside of blowsand and heavy clay, provided the climatic conditions are favorable and the soil is well supplied with organic matter and available plant food.

"The education of the pre-school years is far too important to be left to chance. Kindergarten training is a wise provision for the employment of the pre-school child through the direction of the native impulses into intelligent purposeful activities. All that the child may become later hinges upon the influences exerted in these years. The background gained in this way is invaluable both in increasing the child's ability to enjoy living fully and also in comprehension of later more formal school activities."—J. C. Bliss, New Jersey State Normal School.

THE ROAD TO MANDALAY

Lon Chaney took a terrible risk for his art in "The Road to Mandalay," coming to the Hanark Theatre Monday and Tuesday, December 6th and 7th. The part of "Singapore Joe," sinister renegade in the Oriental underworld and keeper of a Singapore brothel, calls for a man with one eye blinded from a knife slash. Chaney used a chemical to cloud one eye so that it appeared white when photographed.

The story, which depicts a character torn between good and evil impulses, is unusual in that its realistic and grotesque characterizations are not overdone. Chaney is excellent in an unusually active and difficult part. Owen Moore makes a delightful wistful and we are really sorry to see him reform. Lois Moran is winsome as the heroine and Henry B. Walthall adds another deft performance to his repertoire. California was combed for Asiatic characters to form atmosphere and Kamiyan Sojen is particularly sinister as English Charlie Wing.

Who is wise? He that learns from everyone.—Poor Richard.

ENDURING MONUMENTS

In no other country in the world can one see such striking monuments to the life work, initiative, enterprise and courage of individual citizens, as are seen in every part of the United States. The peculiar part is, that one passes by these monuments on lonely roads and in the most crowded cities, without realizing it.

William J. Baldwin, of Birmingham, calls attention to such a monument down in Alabama. It is a two-room cottage built of rough boards. In it lives a young farmer and his wife. Mr. Baldwin says this cottage "is typical of the abodes of many young farmers of today who are holding the world together by digging out of the soil food and raiment, the very foundation of our earthly existence."

But where is the monument? It is the cabin itself, sheltering a happy family, relieved of much farm drudgery by the electric wire which reaches them and does much of the farm work, including cooking, washing, ironing and farm chores to which it is applicable.

Thomas W. Martin, the man who put this wire to outlying Alabama farms, is like other public utility executives in all sections of the United States. He has built a monument which will be more enduring than a shaft of granite, because his act has brought progress and development to a state, which will endure for all time. Such monuments of human happiness and work made lighter, may not be reproduced by sculptors or recorded in the Hall of Fame, but as Mr. Baldwin points out, the benefits of such service will linger longer than a face chiseled in marble.

work and they are expecting to enroll a large membership. Membership cards are being printed and will be distributed when finished. Dues will be one dollar a year.

While the executive committee was in session, H. S. Palmer, secretary, presented two letters about which he wanted their advice: one was a letter from Prof. James E. Rice, of Cornell University, asking for suggestions from the poultrymen of Delaware on a Proposed National Uniform Plan of Poultry Standardization and Accreditation of Breeding Stock, Hatching Eggs and Chicks. After considerable discussion the committee passed a motion indorsing the plan on which Dr. Hare is now working, namely, that flocks tested once and officially culled be called "Supervised Flocks," and flocks passing two consecutive free bacillary white diarrhea tests and officially culled be called "B. W. D. Accredited," and that as soon as conditions would permit, Delaware should follow the proposed national plan as laid out by Prof. Rice.

The other letter was from Prof. Harry R. Lewis, president of the National Poultry Council, in which he invited Delaware to become a member of that Council which is doing so much for the poultry industry. Action on this question was deferred until after the membership drive.

The committee adjourned at 4 p. m., after giving a day's time and the cost of travel to and from Dover, to the general cause of the poultry industry. Are you interested enough to support it with your membership?

SERVICE CITIZENS GIVE BOOKS FOR ATTENDANCE

The Service Citizens of Delaware in their effort to co-operate in securing better attendance for the public schools of Delaware, present each month, to the grades in the Delaware schools specially selected books for attendance of 92 per cent or better.

To secure these books for the grade is a co-operative enterprise on the part of everyone concerned with the school and as such is a constructive enterprise.

The books received for the month of September are:

"American Hero Stories," grade 6, Miss Frances Medill, teacher; "The Goblins of Haubeck," grade 3, Miss Harriet Wilson, teacher; "The Adventure of Danny Meadow Mouse," grade 2, Mrs. Mamie Palmer, teacher; "The Voyages of Dr. Doolittle," grade 3, Miss Miriam Scarborough, teacher; "Diddle Dumps and Tot," grade 5, Miss Bessie Wingate, teacher; "The Giant of Apple Pie Hill," grade 1, Miss Sara Steele, teacher.

The following books were received for the month of October:

"The Boy Who Knew What the Bird Said," grade 2, Mrs. Mamie Palmer, teacher; "The Voyages of Dr. Doolittle," grade 5, Miss Bessie Wingate, teacher; "Two Little Men," grade 3, Miss Miriam Scarborough, teacher; "An Old Fashioned Girl," grade 6, Miss Frances Medill, teacher; "The Boy Who Knew What the Bird Said," grade 3, Miss Miriam Scarborough, teacher.

More books were earned but have not as yet arrived as some of the teachers have not decided on their selections.

The tariff question is becoming non-political through the abandonment of opposition to the policy by the party which once made the tariff a paramount issue. During the recent senatorial campaign in Nevada, John F. Nugent, Democratic candidate for Senator, declared that the Democratic Party was rapidly becoming a protection party. In Colorado the Democratic senatorial candidate publicly declared that he favored ample protection on all Colorado products, which of course could not conceivably be obtained except through a general policy of protection. It is doubtful if any political party will declare in 1928 in favor of the overthrow of the protective policy.

There is nothing good or bad but thinking makes it so.—Shakespeare.

New Century Club

Members of the Newark New Century Club and their sons and daughters enjoyed a trip through the Orient, and a Mediterranean cruise, personally conducted by Mr. Elmer Taylor, of East Orange. We left New York with Mr. and Mrs. Taylor, and after reaching Gibraltar, exploring Granada, and traveling through Northern Africa, we reached the Holy Land, visited the sacred Scriptural scenes and temples, went to Turkey, Greece and Italy, through Southern France, saw the palaces, fountains, cathedrals, the finest examples of architecture in the whole world, all by means of a drawing-room moving picture machine. So vivid and real did it all seem that when New York was sighted on the return trip, one member was heard to exclaim, while covering her eyes, "O, I don't want to come back home." The afternoon was one of exceptional enjoyment and will long be remembered.

Next Monday at 2.30 at the clubhouse, Mrs. Albert Robin, of Wilmington, will talk on "Education in Russia." Russian music will be furnished by Mrs. Tarumianz. Our crowded meetings indicate increasing interest in the program this year.

—Acting Secretary.

DEBT TO TEACHERS

Herbert Hoover says: "Our schools do more than merely transmit knowledge and training; they are America itself in miniature, where, in a purer air and under wise guidance, a whole life of citizenship is lived experimentally with its social contacts, its recreations, its ethical problems, its political practice, its duties and its rewards. Ideals are developed that shape the whole adult life. Experience is gained that is valuable for all the years of maturity. I should be one of the last persons in the world to belittle the importance of the exact knowledge that teachers impart to their pupils—as an engineer I set a high value upon precise information—but knowledge, however exact, is secondary to a trained mind and serves no useful purpose unless it is the servant of an ambitious mind, a sound character, and an idealistic spirit. Social values outrank economic values. Economic gains, even scientific gains, are worse than useless if they accrue to a people unfitted by trained character to use and not abuse them. The work of educators, then, is of three categories: The imparting of knowledge and a trained mind, the training of citizenship, and the inspiring of ideals. I should rank them in that ascending order. And our nation owes the school teachers a debt of gratitude for their accomplishments in them."

FOX OR PIG?

Delaware is a small State but her farmers seem capable of making a big noise when necessary. As we get the story, Delaware gives legal protection to foxes—apparently to please the hunters. A farmer named L. B. Whaley caught a fox in the act of killing a little pig. Several of these pigs had been missed and the fox, after a taste of pork, came boldly back to help himself. This farmer caught the fox in the very act. He turned his dogs loose and with the help of neighbors started after the fox. A game warden heard the dogs and arrested the men, for chasing a fox. They pleaded guilty and were fined. Then in order to make a test case they changed their plea and will seek a trial in the superior court. They are going to find out whether a farmer can protect his property or not. The case will probably hinge on whether chasing a fox away from the place where he killed the pig can be considered a protection of property! If not these farmers will work for a new law which will give them protection. It is about time they found out whether their pigs and chickens are to be slaughtered to make a Roman holiday for the hunters.—From Rural New Yorker.

Every man owes it to society to spend part of his time in expressing his own soul. The world needs him. Society cannot afford to let him merely give it his feet and his hands.—Gerald Stanley Lee.
