

Voters Approve School Bonds For $934,800 By Nearly 13-1

Local Funds—10 Per Cent Of $2,087,000—To Be Supplemented By $1,252,000 From State For New School Sites, Stadium; $100,000 Approved For New Equipment

With no tax rate increase involved, voters of the Newark special school district approved an increase of $934,800 in local bonded debt by a near 13-1 majority with referendum conducted last Thursday in the 10 elementary school buildings.

The decisions included separate votes—on the issuance of bonds for $834,800 to provide a new, 24-room elementary school in the Chapel Hill area; to acquire two school sites for future construction; and for Christiana High School Stadium seating—and for $100,000 to purchase library books and instructional equipment for the Christiana-Salem, Eden, and Wilmer E. Shue elementary schools.

State Funds Coming

The $834,800 local expenditure or 40 per cent of the total $2,087,000 required for the new buildings, the two sites, and stadium seating, is to be supplemented by state funds in the amount of $1,252,000 or 60 per cent of the total.

The $100,000 for additional school equipment is to be provided entirely from district funds.

The $834,800 measure was approved in a 2,411-189 vote, and the $100,000 issue was approved 2,432-163.

"The tidal wave of increasing student enrollment is the reason for these expenditures," a district spokesman explained.

The Newark district has doubled enrollment each seven years over the past two decades, and more than 11,200 youngsters are attending local public schools this year—up from an enrollment of 10,536 last semester.

Wm. du Pont, Jr. Memorial Slated At Delaware Park

The $50,000-added William du Pont, Jr. Handicap, honoring the memory of the track's founder, has been added to Delaware Park's annual stakes schedule.

Donald P. Ross, president of the Delaware Racing Association—operator of Delaware's only thoroughbred racetrack—announced yesterday that the new feature will have its first running during the 1967 meeting.

Next year's dates have not been formally requested from the Delaware Racing Commission, but traditionally, Delaware Park conducts 55 days of racing between late May and late July.

The du Pont Handicap replaces the $20,000-added Diamond State Handicap on the Delaware Park stakes schedule.

Like the Diamond State, the new race will be run at a mile and a sixteenth over the main track and will be for three-year-olds and older.

It will be the richest event offered at the Delaware track for handicappers, regardless of sex.

The $100,000-added Delaware Handicap, long the headline attraction at the Stanton course, is reserved for fillies and mares.

William du Pont, Jr., died at 69 on Dec. 31, 1965 in Wilmington, while a $2,500,000 expansion and modernization program he had initiated was in progress.

Du Pont's contributions to thoroughbred racing were by no means confined to Delaware Park or to his home state. He was internationally respected as a breeder and as an expert in race course construction.

His Foxcatcher Farms silks were carried by stakes stars for 40 years, from Fair Star in 1926 through Perfect Sky in 1966.

Among his most successful runners were Rosemont, winner of the 1937 Santa Anita Handicap; Parlo, champion three-year-old filly and champion handicap filly-or-mare of 1954; Fairy Chant, champion handicap mare of 1951; and Berline, champion three-year-old filly of 1960.

His blue and gold colors were borne by winners of four Delaware Park stakes: Chevation, the 1954 Kent; Parlo, the 1954 Delaware Oaks and the 1955 Delaware Handicap; and Rosenna, the 1937 New Castle Handicap.

'Business Community Working Together' Mumford Defines Chamber of Commerce

Carroll W. Mumford

Established prior to the Declaration of Independence—New York State organized the first chamber of commerce in 1768—a chamber of commerce "is the business community working together . . . for community development," Executive Secretary Carroll W. Mumford of the Greater Newark Chamber of Commerce reports after some research conducted for answers to frequently posed questions on chamber activities.

"It is the central agency that controls forces of the community for its improvement and development—in business, industry, and the professions," Mumford stated.

Chambers of commerce, beginning with the group in New York, now number more than 4,000 throughout the United States, and the chamber's job is community development, with the variety and scope of its activities "virtually unlimited," the secretary explained.

Newark Physician, Wife Injured In Auto Accident

Dr. and Mrs. Wallace M. Johnson were injured in an automobile accident last week near South Hill, Va., when the left front tire of their automobile blew out, and the car was demolished as it left the road and struck an embankment.

Mrs. Johnson suffered a fractured pelvis, but the Newark physician and former mayor escaped serious injury.

An Aetna ambulance was driven to Virginia last Saturday to bring the Johnsons home, and Mrs. Johnson is convalescing at Exeter Hall Nursing Home on the Lancaster Pike near Wilmington.

Policy is set by a board of directors elected by the membership to serve without pay, and committees are appointed for specific assignments under general direction by the board.

The chamber's job of community development includes promoting industry and trade; the handling of civic activities and public relations for the community; assisting with zoning and parking problems; and working with local, county, state, and national legislators for desirable tax and freight rate structures.

"The know-how of the chamber with its available manpower, and facilities designed to help all members of the business community, can do a specialized job in local, community and industrial public relations and development programs," Mumford reports.

As the "front door" of the community, the local chamber welcomes newcomers, visitors and all others with inquiries; maintains a library of city directories; surveys, maps, tourist and travel folders; and a calendar of community events.

The chamber is financed on a voluntary basis with expenses distributed proportionately to the membership.

"Our membership consists of those who have a sincere desire to build a better business climate, and a better community in which to live," Carroll Mumford concluded.

Others in the play are Jim Cox, Pam Caswell, Kathy Lyness, Tom Barr, Charles Polot, Kenneth Snow, Richard Nardo, Jeff Dickerson, Dave Foster, Lynn Walls, Doug Friend, Ellen Dunn, and "Wolf" Bauer.

Newark High School's AFS student from Germany.

Stiff, assistant manager for Mt. Lebanon (Pa.) Township, began work last Monday morning as Newark's fourth city manager, succeeding J. Francis Neide who submitted his resignation last June but has continued to serve as the city's chief executive pending replacement. Neide is out of town for his annual vacation as a municipal employee.

Proposed ordinances establishing new salary and wage plans and establishing job classifications and wage rates for certain hourly employees; and prohibiting drag racing in the city, were approved unanimously at preliminary readings, and proposed parking prohibitions on Lehigh Road were approved in a 6-1 vote with Councilman Arthur P. Mayer dissenting because the portion of the roadway concerned "was a new street."

A scheduled final reading of a proposed ordinance for reapportionment of voting districts was deferred until Nov. 7, with Solicitor Clyde M. England, Jr., pointing out that the draft was inadequate concerning an "effective date" for reapportionment procedure.

Councilman Fred Wakefield presented his plan for reapportionment with 2,423, 2,514, 2,359, 2,676, and 2,651 residents in the first through sixth districts, and with the present numbering system to be used for the six districts in essentially the same locations, with minor modification of boundaries.

The plan agreed upon by the mayor's reapportionment committee has the first district moved into the western area, bounded on the east by Briar Lane; on the north by Nottingham Road; on the south by the C&O-B&O Railroad; and to the west by the city line.

The proposed second district is west of South College Avenue; east of the city line; south of the C&O-B&O Railroad; and west of West Park Place and Elton Road.

The third district boundaries remain unchanged—bounded on the east by South College Avenue; on the west and south by the city limits; and on the north by West Park Place and Elton Road.

Boundaries for the proposed fourth district are the city limits to the south and east; South College Avenue to the west; and East Main Street and Rt. 273 on the north.

The fifth district proposal is for city line boundaries to the east and north; on the west by the city limits; and by East Main Street and Rt. 273 on the south.

The proposed sixth district is to include boundaries of New London Road on the east; the city limits to the north; Nottingham Road and Briar Lane to the west; and the railroad on the south.

Supreme Court Support
Wakefield cited a U.S. Supreme Court decision upholding state rights of reapportionment based on the number of registered voters rather than a required basis of registration, and urged a basis of district registrations for Newark—"one that is corrected every year . . ."

Councilman Wakefield reported a total of 454 registered voters dropped from the city's rolls since last April for failure to exercise their voting privileges, with 27 in the first district; 42 in the second; 101 in the third; 80 in the fourth; 152 in the fifth; and 52 in the sixth district.

Folsom pointed out that "the rest of the state is apportioned on a basis of population," and Harold Brown of the reapportionment committee, said the registered voter basis is used "when you don't have access to a population count."

Brown said that on the basis of "one number, one group of voters to stay with a population count," the basis used by the committee in its reapportionment proposal.

Former Councilman William M. Coverdale in the audience said that the charter requires "all six districts must be reapportioned—the third is not," and concerning the stated "immediate" redistricting in the proposed ordinance, added "five councilmen will have to vacate office" since the charter requires that each councilman shall live in the district he represents.

"Sacrificial Lambs"
Coverdale said that the former eastern and middle districts, now the first and second, had served as "sacrificial lambs," and that proposed reapportionment "seems to be favoring another group of people."

Councilman Olan R. Thomas objected to the reapportionment plan for doing away with the present first district "and setting up a new one."

Brown expressed regret for any belief "that one side of the town is being favored," and that such was "not the intent of the committee. One side of the city has grown more rapidly," he added.

College students were not included in the population count, Brown replied to Coverdale's query.

Two High Schools Offer Programs In Distribution

The two senior high schools in the Newark district have installed programs in distributive education—diversified occupations, a program of studies in marketing, management, and distribution, preparing students to enter the field of distribution.

The Newark district has hired two teachers to carry out this new program.

At Newark High School is Manera Constantine, and Richard Canouse operates the program at Christiana.

The two teachers expect to carry on most of their DE-DO work on a cooperative basis by using stores and other commercial enterprises within the community.

The major problem that teachers who came on the job last July have found is in working with parents who feel that DE-DO is not for their child because it snacks of vocational education.

Miss Constantine and Canouse believe that after they overcome this initial resistance, the program in Newark has tremendous potential.

The Newark district has a little over 50 percent of its graduates going on to four-year colleges, and a total of 74 percent go on to advanced training in either a two-year college or specialized school.

The schools must present a program for children who will continue their education after high school, and it is hoped that this distributive education—diversified occupations program will be a partial answer.

Asked what students could hope to achieve through the DE-DO program, teachers listed the following items:

The distributive education student acquires educational advantages—a combination of theory and practice by which he is able to relate instruction to life situations.

The student acquires certain social advantages. He has contacts with store personnel and shopping customers which bring his social intelligence into play and improve his social attitude.

Students acquire economic values with opportunity for work without losing the advantages of high-school training. He is able to earn money while in training, thus partially supporting himself.

And the student acquires disciplinary values by assuming responsibilities in store work. To compete with older salespeople they must develop poise and dignity.

It offers the student a natural method of choosing an occupation, and provides opportunity to prolong school life in spite of motivation or financial difficulties.

It helps bridge the gap between school and business world; develops sales ability and job intelligence; emotional stability, and a constructive attitude toward society.

Father, trying to point out advantages of a good life to his son: "I know a man who doesn't drink, smoke or chase and he just celebrated his 100th birthday." Son: "How?"

EVERY SIXTEEN MINUTES...

Every sixteen minutes blindness strikes one American. This tragedy of minutes adds up to the estimated 416,000 persons in the United States who are already blind. In the next 12 months, 32,700 more will lose the precious gift of sight. Yet half of all this blindness is preventable.

No miracle drugs or magic cures are required. Only the conscientious use of already-available information on eye health and safety by every adult and child in this country would cut in half the yearly tragic toll of blindness. For free information on how you can prevent blindness and save sight write to the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, Box 426, Dept. E, New York, N. Y. 10019.

Pressurized Shortcut To Baked Beans

Boston baked beans, a perennial cold weather and holiday favorite, often miss their rightful place on the menu simply because the prescribed preparation time, up to six hours, just won't fit into a busy homemaker's schedule.

A happy solution is the use of an aluminum pressure cooker, which makes cooking time a matter of minutes instead of hours, yet retains the zesty homemade flavor of this hearty, nourishing dish. Rugged aluminum pressure cookers or pressure saucepans conduct heat quickly and evenly to maintain the exact temperatures so important to controlled pressure cooking.

For everyday family meals or those big holiday dinners, this baked bean recipe will take pressure off the cook and put old-fashioned flavor back on the table.

BOSTON BAKED BEANS

2 cups (1 pound) dried pea beans
1/4 pound salt pork
4 tablespoons sugar
4 tablespoons molasses

1 1/2 teaspoons salt
3/4 teaspoon dry mustard
3/2 cups water
1 medium whole onion, peeled

Wash beans and soak overnight in water to cover. Drain. Make cuts 1/2 inch apart down to rind of salt pork. Mix sugar, molasses, seasonings and water in 4 quart aluminum pressure cooker. Add beans, onion and salt pork. Cover. Cook at 15 pounds pressure for 45 minutes following manufacturer's directions for using pressure cooker. Makes about 5 cups baked beans.

Any Time Is Turkey Time!

No need to limit turkey dinners to holiday time—here's a delicious example of the good eating that turkey offers for any time dining.

Granted, this turkey dinner is different from the one grandmother annually placed on the groaning board. For instance, the dinner comes to the table in one dish—almost!

The turkey is the same—but with a difference! We discovered how easy it is to feature slices of a boned turkey roast. However, if you prefer, substitute cooked slices from a conventional roast turkey. Then team with delicately flavored, midget carrots.

There's one thing you just can't change in a turkey dinner—the gravy. But we did! Our up-dated dinner features velvety-smooth canned chicken gravy, a rich golden "sauce" that perfectly gilds turkey and carrots...gravy with a consistently superior texture, plenty of home-style taste.

ONE-DISH TURKEY DINNER

1/2 cup chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) chicken gravy
1 can (1 pound) small whole carrots, drained
8 slices (1 ounce each) cooked turkey
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
3/4 teaspoon nutmeg
Buttered cooked noodles

In skillet, cook onion in butter until tender. Add remaining ingredients except noodles. Heat; stir now and then. Serve with noodles. Makes 4 servings.

The theme will be "A Harvest of Fashions" with fashions from Sears-Roebuck.

A special guest model will be Nancy Jacobs, Mrs. Delaware. There will be door prizes and home baked specialties, and tickets may be purchased by contacting Mrs. George Watson, or at the door.

NEWARK'S FOURTH CITY MANAGER

Welcome, Edward R. Stiff, as Newark's new city manager, and as a new resident from Mt. Lebanon in Pennsylvania.

As a father of seven youngsters; a veteran of the U. S. Air Force; and with experience as municipal office manager and field foreman—and as assistant city manager, he is conditioned to tense times—and there will be more than a little tension with his new job as city manager in Newark.

Stiff's predecessor, J. Francis Neide, has provided able lieutenants and a smooth-working municipal force, but he had plenty of problems as the city's chief executive. That Mr. Stiff faces some tough going, goes without saying.

We believe our Newark City Council acted wisely in selecting him for the job, and wish him well.

Frank Osborne, a member of the reapportionment committee, objected to Wakefield's proposal that voting districts be allocated on the basis of registrants as providing "minority control." Such a move, he said, "would disenfranchise a portion of the population, and pointed out that 'the freedom not to vote' was an important consideration.

Francis E. B. McCann, chairman of the reapportionment committee, said that a priority of plans had been presented, and that "determination rests with council."

Councilman Mayer warned that a change in voting districts with the pending national election would result "in mass confusion," and at the advice of Solicitor England, action on a final reading of the proposed reapportionment law was deferred until Nov. 7.

Special Train Brings Classes To Trainees

Clear the tracks for The Permacel Express — perhaps the most unusual private passenger train in operation today.

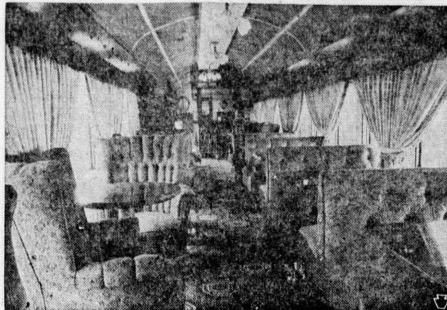

During 1967 the train will make a nation-wide tour. Train buffs will easily spot its brilliant red, white and black exterior, with gold trimmings, as it chugs along behind a steam locomotive and coal tender converted to diesel power. Nicknamed Choo Choo College, it is the only private passenger train operating on commercial U. S. railroads.

The really unusual part is the inside. Its three coaches have been remodeled and decorated in the style of the 1890-1920 period when railroads were king. The train is replete with antiques and furnishings from the late Victorian era. One coach serves as a dining-parlor car and is elegantly outfitted with old-time parlor chairs, plush carpets, a magnificent cuspidor and oak bar. Paintings, gold striped and fringed window shades, ornate carvings, silk and satin embellishments, and a player piano. There are brass cuspidors, including several used by ladies in the 1890's.

Another car contains a kitchen, the train crew's quarters and air conditioning, heat, electricity and other power facilities to make the train self-sufficient. The kitchen is a reproduction of those used on trains half a century ago, except for its three charcoal broilers, dishwasher and other ultra-modern conveniences. Heart of the train is the classroom car, which blends the decor of the old with the latest in audio-visual equipment, including closed circuit TV. Permacel Division of Johnson & Johnson, manufacturers of pressure-sensitive tapes, will use this car to train thousands of its distributor salesmen throughout the country next year. Each week or two the train will

Three cars, a steam locomotive and coal tender make up this unique train. Its nationwide tour in 1967 will provide on the spot training for pressure-sensitive tape distributor salesmen.

School day recess will be different in this dining-parlor car — luxurious replica of the good old days provided for classroom breaks. Stop at a new town or city so that Permacel can conduct the classes in the distributor's own backyard. At the rear of the classroom car is a small lounge with antique furniture upholstered in satin damask. Behind it is a picture window and another familiar sight on passenger trains of yesterday — an observation deck, with brass rail and fittings. This unusual train will begin its long journey throughout the U. S. in January, 1967.

Council approved such an investigation at a cost ceiling of $15,000 to be confirmed by the geologists, and at Folsom's urging, "with agreement that they will not divulge their findings to competitors."

A proposed resolution amending municipal subdivision regulations to include redivision of industrial parks, was referred to the planning commission; the State Highway Department is to be requested for a report on the area between Nottingham Road and the C&D-B&O Railroad with regard to beltway plans; and a deadline of Nov. 15 was set for questions to Comptroller Albert K. Martin on the annual budget.

Councilman Mayer reported that the Newark special school district had recommended reconstruction of Casho Mill Road as a two-lane street with paved sidewalks, adding "they confirmed our position a month late."

At Doehbert's prompting, council reaffirmed its request for a $1,500 study of a municipal golf course. Thomas asked "will this include a swimming pool?" And Doehbert replied that he was "talking about a golf course as something to earn money to pay for other kinds of recreation. Not a pool, just a golf course."

The special meeting of Newark City Council was adjourned last Monday at the 10:30 p.m. deadline.

Your new book has a new look—inside and out!

New Castle County to get new, improved directory.

After you've admired the lovely cover of your new telephone directory, take a look at its pages.

This directory is new inside, too! You'll see 3 columns of listings instead of 4 (much less strain on the eyes). The Pink Information Pages have been redesigned for simpler use. In fact—the whole book is easier to read and more convenient to use.

And with the issuance of the totally new directory, everyone in Delaware will have ANC. Telephone numbers will be expressed completely in numerals instead of letters and numerals. This means no more letter O and number 0 (zero) mistakes—and no more letter I and number 1 (one) mistakes. Your dialing will be easier and more accurate.

We suggest you continue to transfer frequently called numbers to your personal directory. There's no change in dialing procedure, so the numbers you've already recorded are as useful as ever in saving you time and trouble.

And remember—the telephone book is the first place to look for numbers and information.

DuPont Research Plans Modified For Glasgow Site

A modified plan to allow the DuPont Co. to construct a new research facility near Glasgow was approved by the New Castle County Levy Court last week.

DuPont had asked the county to rezone 827 acres of land at U.S. 40 from R-2 (agricultural and general purpose) to M-3 (heavy industrial).

The Levy Court reported it had followed the recommendation of the New Castle County Zoning Commission and decided to provide a buffer zone for area residents by rezoning an 111-acre strip along Delaware 896 to R-C (residential-commercial).

The other 716 acres will be rezoned M-3 as DuPont requested.

The DuPont petition did not draw opposition at the commission's public hearing.

The company said it could live with modifications if the county believed them in the public interest.

Informal Fetes Blossom for Fall

A game-time TV get-together for football fans makes an informal party theme. This floral arrangement of yellow and white chrysanthemums was designed by Florists' Transworld Delivery for the serving table, and the clever hostess requested extra mums fashioned into football corsages for each lady guest.

NEW YORK (CFN)—Parties are in season any time of year, and as fall begins, party-givers might adopt the Bard's advice—"To thine ownself be true" as a golden rule for entertaining.

Today, informality in entertaining is a way of life for Americans, including the First Family. Formal protocol is observed at White House dinners and receptions, but "at home" in Texas, the Lyndon Johnsons pattern their parties with all-American ease. Cook-outs and buffets with simple, hearty southern fare are served up to family friends, newsmen and visiting foreign dignitaries.

The fall season holds good opportunities for informal parties for the social set. If you're a football fan, plan a "win or lose" buffet following an afternoon at the game with friends. Or, invite fellow fans to watch the game on television. Refreshments can be simple—coffee and cake or the frankfurters and soft drinks you would enjoy at the stadium.

Decorate the television set with football pennants and choose fresh fall flowers for your table.

Florists' Transworld Delivery designers recommend arrangements of bright yellow and white chrysanthemums for your game-time gala. After-the-theatre suppers or dinner parties call for more sophisticated flowers such as pink roses or peppermint carnations, the floral experts say.

If you have a junior hostess in the house, parties with themes are especially fun. The at-home discotheque, hootenanny, luau and roaring twenties party take the right directions in fun, food and games for teenagers. Let your young hostess gain experience as a party-giver by planning all details. Your FTD florist can help choose appropriate floral arrangements to fit the party mood.

Parties with themes were the hallmark of one of the country's most famous hostesses, Elsa Maxwell. The tireless party-giver once turned elegant rooms in a New York hotel into a barnyard setting as an unusual entertainment for her sophisticated friends.

During the early 1900's, Mrs. Potter Palmer of Chicago was one of society's best known hostesses. While her parties were strictly formal, she would go to any length to put guests at ease. Once a dinner guest upset his plate, and Mrs. Palmer showed that social mishaps can happen to anyone by overturning a large tureen.

Party success is no secret, and today's entertaining woman can match talents with any well-known hostess—with informality as the key to making guests at ease and at home.

"I tell you I won't take this room," money for a room like this. It's country . . . " protested the old lady to the bellboy. "I'm not going to pay good dow. Just because I'm from the bellboy. 'This is the elevator.'"

"Kelso" Kelley Gets Three Touchdowns, Pedro Swann Runs Kick In 80-Yd. Score

Halfback Dick "Kelso" Kelley, co-captain for Coach Bob Hoffman's Blue Hen Conference Yellowjacket champions, carried the ball for three touchdowns, including a 22-yard romp and a 65-yard pass play on the receiving end of a shot from Co-Capt. Lou Stengari at quarter-back, as Kelso walked the Indians 48-6 last Saturday afternoon at Claymont.

Substitute Quarterback Bob Tucker started the scoring by intercepting a Claymont aerial early in the first period. Yellowjacket 30-yard touchdown, and Stengari added the extra point with the first of six successful placements.

Kelley's 22-yard scoring run and Stengari's conversion gave Newark a 14-0 lead at the end of the quarter.

In the second period, Stengari pitched to Kelley for the 45-yard scoring play, and Co-Captain Lou added a touchdown of his own with a plunge from the one-yard line for a 27-0 half-time count.

End Larry Tucker accounted for the fifth Yellowjacket touchdown by taking Stengari's pass for a 14-yard punch in the Claymont end zone, and Newark was out in front by 34-0 as the fourth frame began.

Claymont salvaged a bit of solace from Saturday's session as Marion passed to Smith in a five-yard touchdown play for the 34-6 count, and the Yellowjackets romped home from there.

Halfback Pedro Swann fielded an Indian kickoff to run 80-yards for Newark's sixth TD, and Kelley drove through for a three-yard touchdown, and the final touchdown, with Stengari's kick providing the 48-6 final count.

Yellowjackets in action against the 1-0 B-Flight Claymonts of the Blue Hen Conference included Quarterbacks Stengari and Tucker; Halfbacks Kelley, Swann, Bradley Lane, Don Wintering, and Gary Hayman; Fullbacks Jim McDonough, Tyrone Wood, Bill Fletcher, Dave Ward — starting halfback David Wood is recuperating in the hospital after an automobile accident on Oct. 8 — and Brian Grier; Centers Ken Woodward, Tom Bratton, John Turner and Grier Murray; and Guards Tom McDonald, Dave Gray.

Football Greats Burton, Waller Address TD Club

Former Newark High School, University of Maryland, and Canadian Professional Football League Star Bob Burton, and Ron Waller — named by the WSBA as Delaware's Outstanding Athlete in setting an all-time state scoring record as a halfback for Laurel High School — and later a star running back for Maryland and the NFL Los Angeles Rams — were guest speakers at last Monday's noon luncheon meeting of the Newark Touchdown Club.

Burton is a coach and active player for the Wilmington Clippers in the Atlantic Coast Football League, and Waller is the newly appointed head coach for the Clippers, succeeding Tex Warrington, resigned.

"I don't have the wheels any more," Waller said somewhat sadly when asked if he planned to play for the Clippers. But Burton is still playing a starring role.

Burton urged attendance at Clipper home games in Wilmington's Baynard Stadium, citing a preponderance of local area talent with the professional Clippers, including Newark's Arnie Saunders.

Concerning the Ferris School for Boys where he is employed as a counselor, Burton reported that Ferris ranked No. 1 in the nation for least runaways, and third in all-around quality program.

The school's seven teachers, he said, instruct on the basis of student IQ.

Waller, also employed with the Youth Service Commission which directs the Ferris School, cited success of the Atlantic Coast League as dependent upon operation as a farm system by the NFL or AFL organizations.

In a taxi squad verbal arrangement with the Eagles, Waller said, the Clippers have one player subject to call up by the parent club.

The Clippers practice Tuesdays, Wednesdays, and Thursdays at the Ferris field, and players receive from $75 to $175 per game.

President J. Earl Lynch conducted Monday's meeting, and all interested persons are invited to see the film "Golden Decade of the Baltimore Colts" at next Monday's noon luncheon at the Horseshoe Carriage.

OFF AND RUNNING by John I. Day A Dream Track

Back in the early 1930's a colorful Kentucky gentleman named John Oliver Keene was busy building a dream. He envisioned a haven for horsemen at his Keeneland Stud which had been in the family since Colonial days. He had built a full-sized training track, along with a huge stone edifice with stables on the ground floor. The project stalled from time to time while Jack Keene took a string of horses north to win a few purses and a bet or two.

Meanwhile, the Kentucky Association track at Lexington had become a casualty of the depression. The nation's horse breeding capital was without horse racing and not very happy about it. A group of prominent Lexingtonians approached the Keeneland Association with a plan for a non-profit track, and the Keeneland Association was born.

While perhaps not exactly in the way that Jack Keene had planned it, Keeneland has turned out to be a haven for horsemen. It is a year-around training center, a market for yearlings in the summer and older horses in the fall, with good racing at spring and autumn meetings. Officers and directors are unpaid; stockholders receive no dividends and, in the event of dissolution, proceeds of the sale of assets will go to tax exempt institutions.

The late turf writer Joe Palmer once observed: "Kentucky tradition has been exaggerated, misunderstood, laughed at, taken too seriously and distorted but the conduct of the race track at Keeneland is in the best of it."

Halfback Stu Green Leads Hen Scorers With Two More TD's Against Villanova
Senior Halfback Stu Green of Camden, N.J., leads the Delaware football team in both rushing and scoring after four games.

The 25-year-old father of three children scored both of the Blue Hens' touchdowns in their 16-14 loss to Villanova last week; he gained 250 yards in 74 carries; and scored six touchdowns so far this season.

Junior Halfback Brian Wright of Rockville, Md., is second to Green in rushing with 236 yards in 65 carries.

Another junior, Fullback John Spangler of Baltimore, is third with 153 yards in 48 rushing attempts.

Senior End Mike Purzycki of Newark, N.J., just missed the Delaware single game record of eight receptions against the Wildcats. He caught seven passes for 132 yards and set up both of the Blue Hens' touchdowns, a pair of one-yard plunges by Green.

Coach Paul Billy's Blue Chicks Lose To Bullis Prep

Coach Paul Billy's Delaware freshman football defense, forced to make four fine stands in the third quarter, was unable to contain Bullis Prep in the early going last Friday as the Blue Chicks bowed 12-7.

The loss, which occurred here on south campus field, was the first of the year for the Blue Chicks and evened their season's record at 1-1. Bullis is 3-0.

"Between their passing and their fullback they just wouldn't give up control of the ball," Billy said. "They passed all over the place and our defense just couldn't stop them. That made the big difference."

Delaware scored first as Tom DiMuzio hit Joe Purzycki on a six-yard pass to cap a 78-yard drive but the Blue Chicks were unable to mount another sustained drive until late in the fourth quarter when they moved to the Bullis 16-yard line before fumbling away the ball.

Bullis scored in the opening quarter on a five-yard pass from Tom Gough and again in the second quarter on a 27-yard run by Craig Gieger.

"Our quarterback, DiMuzio, was hobbling on a sprained ankle and couldn't get back to pass as fast as he should," Billy winced. "And our line wasn't giving him the protection he should have, either."

A strong wind hindered Delaware's punting in the third quarter as the Blue Chicks were unable to cross midfield. Bullis, aided by good field position, threatened several times but the Blue Chicks held, stopping drives on one, two, 18 and 19-yard lines.

The Chicks' next game will be Oct. 28 against Temple, away, at 3 p.m.

Coach Bill Horney's Christiana High School Vikings scored a second successive victory by trouncing 1-1 Gunning Bedford of the Blue Hen Conference B-Flight at Newark stadium last Saturday, 32-6.

Halfback Joe Thomas put Christiana out in front by running 16-yards for a touchdown early in the first quarter, and Fullback Jeff Heath blasted through the Gunning Bedford defenders for another to give the Vikings a 12-0 lead in the initial period.

Halfback Glen Thompson ran 32-yards to score in the second quarter; Halfback Mike Horney kicked the extra point; and Horney broke away for a 10-yard run and touchdown to provide Christiana with a 25-0 half-time advantage.

Gunning Bedford's Foraker was on the receiving end of Brady's pass for a 51-yard touchdown in the third period, and then Viking Quarterback Dave Claus passed to End Greg Kracher for a 40-yard touchdown, with Claus kicking the conversion for the 32-6 score.

Neither team tallied in the fourth quarter. Christiana, 1-1-1 in the conference A-Flight, meets the 0-3 Bulldogs at Brandywine High School this Saturday at 1:30 p.m.
