BEVERAGE ALCOHOL AND SOCIAL PROGRESS

LESSON TEXT—Micah 2:9-11; Luke 21:29-31, 34-36; 1 Corinthians 6:9-11.
GOLDEN TEXT—Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God?—1 Corinthians 6:9.

"International Temperance Sunday—October 29, 1939." Let us join with people the world over in making our protest against the sale and use of intoxicating liquors. If every Christian would declare himself on this matter now, there would be a tremendous impact made on this universal problem and notice would be served on the liquor industry, on politicians, and on unbelieving mankind that Christianity intends to do something about it. We are far too docile and quiet on such matters, when we ought to speak up for God and for our country.

The lesson portions may seem a little unrelated, but study of them yields three important truths regarding the use of wine and strong drink.

I. Lovers of Wine and Strong Drink Destroy Their Nation (Mic. 2:9-11).

That statement may surprise some of our self-styled patriots who like to wave the flag and speak swelling words of devotion to our country and who at the same time love their intoxicating drinks. Micah rightly points out that his people had come to the place where they chose men to be prophets because they encouraged the people in the use of wine and strong drinks (v. 11). They must therefore expect the result which follows, namely, the destruction of the home and of the nation (vv. 9, 10).

We are all familiar with the claim that prohibition retarded the advancement of our nation and that its repeal would bring a return to higher moral standards, reduce crime, bring in prosperity, etc. The facts reveal that none of these have come true. Crime has increased by leaps and bounds under repeal, a situation as well known as to call for no proof. Moral standards have gone rapidly downward with the free use of liquor. If you don't believe that, ask a policeman what goes on in our taverns, or just keep your eyes half open and you can see for yourself.

Just now much is being made of the many jobs which are supposed to have been created by the liquor industry. What are the facts? The Christian Herald tells us, "A million dollars spent for furniture would employ 339 persons, spent for boots and shoes 336 persons, for home furnishings 191 persons, for booze just 93 persons." And remember that jobs making the stuff that destroys other jobs, are not worth having. The man who drinks is helping to destroy his nation.

II. Christians Do Not Drink, Because They Look for Christ's Return (Luke 21:29-31, 34-36).

If we are not "looking for that blessed hope and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ" (Titus 2:13), we should consider whether any of the things mentioned in these verses have gained control in our lives: the cares of this life, selfishness, or drunkenness. But why speak to Christians about that? Surely they do not use intoxicants. Sadly enough, some do. Taking advantage of the fact that the Bible speaks of temperance rather than of abstinence, they seek to justify an indulgence in these things, which they (and their neighbors) know is dishonoring to God and destructive of their testimony and usefulness in the community.

Christian, Jesus is coming again! He may come today! In fact, the fig tree (vv. 29, 30), which is the nation Israel, has been shooting forth new branches and bearing green leaves. The indications are that Christ is coming soon. Are you ready to meet Him?

III. Drunkards and Other Sinners Need to Be Saved (1 Cor. 6:9-11).

Being drunk is not a joke, even though thoughtless people laugh and cartoonists and writers of jokes at the unfortunate as they stagger in trade. Drunkenness is a foul and sinful thing, classed by the apostle Paul with the lowest of human vices. Review the list as it is given in verses 9 and 10 (and by the way, notice that covetousness is mentioned there too) and place drunkenness in its proper classification. Call it what it really is—sin, and then call on the One who can save from sin and then you will be washed from your sin, sanctified, and justified in the name of the Lord Jesus (v. 11). In Christ there is hope for the drunkard. A spiritual revival is the real answer to the liquor problem. Let us seek to promote it even as we at the same time give ourselves to an intelligent and constructive battle against this destructive force in the life of our nation.

Our Town Cast—

Dr. C. R. Kass, dramatics director at the university, has announced the cast for the first E22 Players' production for this year. From Women's College there are the following girls in the cast: Phyllis Wood, Jane Trent, Jane Hastings, and Helen Adams. Ellen Simon will play the lead of Emily Webb opposite Frank Amund, of Men's College, as George Gibbs. Mina Press, who spent the summer with the Robin Hood Theatre Group will assist Dr. Kass with the directing of the play.

This performance, which opens the tenth season for the E22 Players, will be presented in Mitchell Hall on Thursday, November 16, 1939.

Socially—
The annual Hallowe'en Dance will be held at the W. C. D. social program for this year. The dance, sponsored by the social committee and student council, will be informal and will be held in Old College on Saturday evening from 8:30 until 12:00. The orchestra featured will be that of Johnny Bennett.

Heading the receiving line will be Liz Attick, of the social committee, her escort, Miles Wagner; Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Gould, and Dean Marjorie Golder. The decorations for the Hallowe'en Dance will be the seasonable pumpkins, witches, and corn husks.

And as still more celebration for Hallowe'en the W. A. A., is sponsoring a party in the gymnasium on Hallowe'en night. Ping pong, shuffle board, deck tennis, dancing, bobbing for apples, and fortune-telling will be enjoyed by the guests. There will be a prize for the best costume, and refreshments will be served.

Outing Club—

Outing Club, a feature of the Athletic Association, will have its program more than just hiking. Golf, riding, ice skating, roller skating, sledding, and bicycling are also on the schedule. Officers for the club are: Mary Bradford, president; Louise Zurkow, vice-president; and Jeanne Chambers, secretary-treasurer.

Competitives—

Directors for the annual W. C. D. competitive plays are now being elected. To date the only election which has been completed is that of Senior Director Blanche Lee. Blanche directed her class' play last year when they were juniors; and they won—the first junior class to win the competition for many years. The other directors will be announced next week.

FOOD for THOUGHT

By CHARLOTTE SPENCER
Nutritionist, State Board of Health

The typical Delaware diet has plenty of vitamin C in the summer time, but with the coming of winter the amount used by many families decreases to a level too low to be safe.

Vitamin C is essential for health and vitality at all ages. It is necessary for good teeth, healthy gums, as well as resistance to certain types of infection.

Prolonged lack of vitamin C results in the deficiency disease known as scurvy. This disease used to be the scourge of sailing ships. Since most of the good sources of vitamin C are fresh and highly perishable foods, the ordinary sailor's diet was low in this factor. Sickness and resultant death follow unrelieved scurvy.

English sea captains discovered that scurvy could be prevented by a daily ration of fresh limes, and so English seamen came to be known as "limeys." Some American captains forced fresh onions upon their crews, even at the point of a gun.

Richest Vitamin Sources

Tomatoes and the citrus fruits are among the richest sources of vitamin C. That housewife is fortunate who faces the winter with a plentiful supply of canned tomatoes upon her shelves. The grapefruit juice which is being distributed by the Surplus Commodity Corporation is another good source of vitamin C.

Raw vegetables, except for tomatoes, are richer in this vitamin than cooked ones. The cooking loss is minimized if the water is rapidly boiling before the vegetables are added. The action of boiling drives out the dissolved air from the water, and the air in the water increases the loss.

The longer vegetables are cooked, the greater the loss. The cook who adds soda to keep the green color has destroyed a considerable quantity of the vitamin C.

Most mothers now realize the importance of the baby's daily dose of orange or tomato juice. Every member of the family needs a daily quota of vitamin C as much as the baby. Vegetables and fresh fruits used generously everyday with either tomatoes or citrus fruits three or four times a week will insure plenty of this important vitamin.

New Prospecting Method Being Used In Sweden

Permission to operate in Sweden has been granted a company formed to exploit a new prospecting method developed by two scientists, Dr. Nils Brundin and Dr. Sven Palmquist, of Stockholm. They state that it is possible to ascertain whether an area contains minerals by laboratory examinations of tree leaves, pine needles, and the like.

Trees and shrubs suck up the water solutions in which minerals leave their trace. For example, trees growing near a gold vein reveal certain gold contents in the leaves. Before definite results can be obtained, borings must be made, and magnetic and electric surveying are also employed. The inventors have experimented with success in England.

When his overalls were caught in a tractor drive shaft, Andrew Wilson of Valley City, N. D., was practically stripped and painfully bruised.

Weekly Sermon

WAR'S WOEFUL REVELATION
By Rev. Clarence H. Benson,
Member of Faculty Moody Bible
Institute, Chicago

Text—And Hazael said, Why weepeth my lord? And he answered, Because I know the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Israel. And Hazael said, But what, is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing?—II Kings 8:12-13.

We have a wonderful picture here of the ignorance of men as to the wickedness of their own hearts. Hazael could not believe what Elisha prophesied concerning him. He did not think that he was bad enough to do any of the things here predicted. It is true he may have been an unscrupulous as many men of his day and secretly had ambitious designs to succeed Benhadad on the throne of Syria, but to murder him and thousands of innocent women and children, never. "Is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing?" He could not believe that such wicked cruelty lurked in his breast or that such barbarity toward women and children could be perpetrated with his sanction. He was not capable of such awful deeds. For once the prophet must be mistaken.

But the prophet did not speak as one who hazarded a conjecture. He foresaw the event with absolute certainty, and we later see Hazael acting with perfect freedom.

Lovers of Own Selves

Present-day events are a fitting type of this chapter in II Kings. We have the Word of God that predicts that "evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived," and that "in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholily, without natural affection, true-breakers, false accusers, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God." With the enlightenment and learning of the last century such a condition of affairs seemed impossible. But all of a sudden the world has learned that while the spirit of Christian civilization was willing to promote peace and prosperity, the flesh was weak, and that Christian civilization was fully capable of performing undreamed-of atrocities. There is no use complaining of the brutality of one nation and the inhumanity of another. War makes monsters of men and there is no such thing as refined warfare. Human nature is the same today as it was thousands of years ago, when in one unguarded moment it turned a beautiful garden into a home of wickedness, want and woe.

With Depraved Nature

Every person that comes into this world is born with a depraved nature, though he may be ignorant of it until some great catastrophe reveals his true condition, or the Spirit of God brings him to a realization of it. Men account crimes revolting when they hear of their comrades being convicted of them, but they do not realize that at heart they are no better.

War reveals not only the depravity but also the deceitfulness of human nature. Truly the Bible says, "The heart is deceitful above all things and desperately wicked." Let the fact that many of God's saints fell where they seemed to be strongest, teach us to take heed to ourselves lest we also be tempted and cast down. Moses the meek failed in his temper. Abraham faltered in his faith. Patient Job waxed irritable. Wise Solomon was an arrogant fool.

Human Nature Forbids

The deceitfulness of human nature forbids us from boasting of our strength. For years our civilization has boasted that the nations should learn war no more, but now is such boasting vain. No man is in as much danger as the one who thinks he is not in danger. None is so likely to sin as he who thinks he cannot sin.

Last of all, war reveals the dependence of human nature. Paul's paradox was, "When I am weak then am I strong." Paul realized his weakness, and when he had the fullest realization of his infirmities he felt he was in the best position to live and to labor for Christ, for his dependence was not on himself but on Christ. That should be the attitude of every Christian, and he will then be prepared for whatever comes. Christ's last words to His disciples on the terrible night of desertion and betrayal were: "Watch and pray lest ye enter into temptation; the spirit indeed is willing but the flesh is weak."

Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Klair with Miss Catherine Mullins, of Marshallton, and Earl Ewing of Wilmington, enjoyed a trip over Skyline Drive last week-end.

The kitchen of the manse at the Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church is being redecorated and furnished while the Rev. J. D. Blake is vacationing in Florida. Mrs. Eva Murphy, of Darby, Pa., is visiting with her sister, Mrs. Annie J. Dennison.

Alexander F. Kerensky, first head of the revolutionary government which overthrew the czar of Russia in 1917, has been lecturing in the United States, and was married recently at Martins Creek, Pa., to Lydia Ellen Tritton of Australia.

The Fashion Frock Of The Week

A TWO-PIECE SPORT ENSEMBLE
as worn in Hollywood by JUNE LANG
of Movie Stardom

Stripes have been good for some time, and now Paris says the newest in stripes is to have them on the bias, which does make them a bit different. In this two-piece sport ensemble as worn by June Lang, the bias stripes on the skirt is the style as well as the pattern feature, although the body fitting cardigan jacket is full of style, too. The snug jacket Miss Lang wears is a tweed material Shetland in an autumn leaf red, with a striped trim around it and on the cuffs and pocket. Material buttons with stripes binding fasten down the front. The colors in her striped wool and rayon skirt are called sea stripes because they resemble the variegated greens and blues of the sea. One interested in a practical fall and winter suit can make no mistake in selecting this one.

Belgian Palace Awaits British Royal Couple

When the King and Queen of England go to Belgium for their state visit in October, they will find the palace at Laeken, some four miles from the center of the capital, a lovely royal residence of their own Sandringham, its gardens very attractive for King Leopold is a gardening enthusiast with ideas for change and improvement. The palace itself is almost a shrine to the late King Albert, his apartments having been left much the same as they were in his lifetime. King Leopold lives in another part of the building. The Belgian royal children are coming out quite a bit into public life since the little Prince charmed everyone by opening the water fete at Liege. Princess Josephine, the eldest (12 next October) opened the children's park here bearing the name of her mother, the late Queen Astrid, with much poise the other day. These children's parks are being created in the chief towns of the nine provinces from a public subscription organized to commemorate the Queen.

Animals Are Blamed For Hay Fever

Doctors of Johannesburg, South Africa, agree that wild animals, as well as dogs and horses, can be blamed for hay fever. They advise those who suffer with hay fever to rid of tigers, lions, elephants, leopards, panthers, jaguars, etc., etc., and avoid contact with them. They include in their list of animals which have been blamed for hay fever, particularly in winter, the cause of the increasing number of hay fever cases, the belief.

The ladies of the church will serve dinner after the morning service, and before the service in the evening.

At this service, the new chancel, which includes pulpit furniture, altar, communion table, lectern, pulpit light, dossal, two hymn boards, baptismal font, American and Christian flag, cross flower vases, and collection plates will be presented to the church in honor and in memory of members and friends of the Hockessin M. JANE WYMAN, blonde Hollywood lovely who will be featured next in Warner Bros. "Kid Nightingale", ushers in the fall season with a black taffeta dinner frock that boasts that newest version of an old fashion—the bustle! The bustle effect is achieved by several rows of taffeta fluting edged with violet velvet ribbon—the rows curving low in the front and drawn up toward the waist in the back. The tiny cap sleeves are trimmed with the ruching, and to complete the period effect, she wears an old-fashioned necklace and bracelet of gold and amethysts as a charming accent.

Delaware's Semi-Varsity

When the majority of universities and colleges schedule junior varsity games with high schools and secondary institutions, they present teams consisting of men who have never seen varsity service. That's the accepted practice in almost every state and sector.

An exception is provided at the University of Delaware in this year of 1939, however. Three jayvee grid games have been played thus far and the so-called junior varsity in every instance, despite its record of two defeats in the trio of engagements, has included numerous players on Friday afternoons who are known as varsity men on Saturdays.

This doubling-up of material has resulted in a lone victory for the Blue Hens out of six varsity and junior varsity engagements. That lone triumph was a somewhat dubious, 13-to-6 conquest over the hapless Newark combine last Friday, when the alleged jayvees were bolstered by seven men who saw varsity action against Lebanon Valley on Saturday.

Sporting, What?

Any grid prestige Delaware might have garnered out of the current season has been lessened all ready by the miserable showing of its varsity material in action as jayvees. Observers are stymied as to how to classify the team. One group is of the opinion that the Friday outfit is a varsity squad playing a jayvee schedule, but the opposing faction, bolstered by the record to date, insists the Saturday team is nothing more than a jayvee array being paraded as a varsity.

Regardless of how the Delaware coaching staff elects to treat or mislead its limited material, it is hardly sporting to continue the practice of playing men of varsity caliber against high and secondary school teams, current records notwithstanding.

One method school coaches might employ in the future to combat the practice is to insist that all games against Delaware jayvees be played on Saturday afternoons when the varsity is usually pretty well occupied.

Maybe This Happened

We haven't been able to confirm this tale, since none of the principals will talk, but it's a good one in any event and timely, too.

According to accounts, Conrad High School's recent disastrous meeting with Delaware City was listed as an affair between the Indians jayvees and the best, which wasn't supposed to be too hot, team the Canalers could assemble.

From the student body, of course.

Our Number One scout reports,

Flashes

By Bill Fletcher

ON SATURDAY, THE UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE grid representatives dropped their third consecutive game, two of which (Ursinus and Lebanon Valley) have been decided by a mere matter of four points and the other by a single touchdown.

THERE ISN'T A MAN IN THIS or any other town with even the slightest degree of football interest who couldn't tell you how the Hens could have licked the Bears and the Red Devils and the Flying Dutchmen—this business of replaying Saturday's game is American mankind's most popular pastime.

We'd welcome the opportunity to turn back the clock and see a few of the old "stars" performing for their old alma mater on the gridiron. . . chances are that Old Joe Donkes, the slippery cee who dashed 60 yards, performed the feat with a water bucket in his hand. . . or Powerhouse Johnny Doe charged nothing more than his meals and everything else he bought.

The only pass Projector! Pete Perkins ever made was at a cute little freshman coed who promptly retaliated with a right hook to the jaw that threw Pete for a loss of ten yards while the kicking this former "grid satellite" did was after finals examinations when he was treated unkindly by professors.

THERE WERE SOME WHO actually played and in this class you'd find the men who understand just what the problems are a boy has to face in competition and the difficulty a coach has in moulding together a team of inexperienced griders into a smooth, clicking, co-ordinating machine. Those in this group who date on finding fault should have been football coaches. . . just to see how really pleasant a business life can be.

You'd like to see victories. . . we'd like to see victories. . . Steve Grenda would like to see victories. . . everybody wants to win and it's true that in the final analysis to most people the season's record and not the points scored is the basis for determining whether the team has been a success or a failure.

From our personal viewpoint (we've seen the three games to-date), the Hens have stuck in the ball game until the last whistle. . . after a rather sluggish start at Collegeville, they tackled Dickinson on Frazer Field and showed signs of definite improvement, and last week's Lebanon Valley game, played against overwhelming odds, couldn't have been disappointing to anyone.

From personal observations. . . we like the squad's spirit. . . the morale is fine and we like the way the team has increased its effectiveness since the opener on Oct. 7. Coach Steve Grenda's University of Delaware gridgers will break out of the red in the very near future.

CO-MANAGERS BILL CORNELIO and Bob Morgan, who hang around Frazer Field and direct freshmen, sophomore, and junior managers in the art of handling the needs of the Delaware gridgers, are still howling about the work they had to do during pre-school practice when no assistants were available.

One unfortunate afternoon, (the medicine kit was in the locker room), Backfield Man Melvin Brooks pranced off the field with a nose that dripped blood much the same as water pours over Niagara Falls. "Get the medicine kit," ordered Assistant Coach Joe Shields.

CO-MANAGERS BILL CORNELIO and Bob Morgan, who hang around Frazer Field and direct freshmen, sophomore, and junior managers in the art of handling the needs of the Delaware gridgers, are still howling about the work they had to do during pre-school practice when no assistants were available.

And as Brooks stood there, nose freely flowing, Morgan searched and searched and searched for a coin. Bob lost.

With a squad of assistants on hand now, however, the two gentlemen are afforded the opportunity to strut with the dignity as they believe their positions demand.

Delaware Gridgers Seeking First Win

HAMPDEN SYDNEY SLATED TO INVAD FRAZER FIELD

Coach Steve Grenda Seeking Field General; Hens Due For Victory Or Bad Defeat; Seek To Develop Reserves

Past performances won't mean a thing when Coach Steve Grenda's University of Delaware gridgers entertain Hampden-Sydney on Saturday in their third straight home appearance. Scheduled to be held on Frazer Field, the battle will get underway at 2:15 o'clock.

Victories Scarce

As far as past records are concerned, neither the Blue Hens nor the invading Southerners have done much in the way of victories to write home about. The Blue and Gold representatives, local grid fans will know, have dropped three tilts to highly-favored opponents, while the Hampden-Sydney team, playing way out of its class on four occasions, has dropped four verdicts in five starts.

The invaders have lost three games by 26-0 decisions to the University of Virginia, to the University of Maryland and to William and Mary College, Dartmouth also chalked up a 32-0 conquest at the expense of the Southerners while the only victory recorded by the Confederates to-date is a 32-0 triumph over Guilford.

Tough Opposition

In view of the fact that the four defeats have been at the hands of teams outranking them in class, the invaders are not to be reckoned lightly and the Hens are in for one of their stiffest combats of the season.

Working from behind a big and fast forward wall, Hampden-Sydney's passing attack is reputed to be deadly with a couple of fleet, shifty backs, Flannigan and Berry, doing most of the projecting. The aerial offensive is combined with a tricky assortment of ground maneuvers which makes the team dangerous at all times.

On the other hand, the Hens, improving with each contest, are ethereal in for a victory or an overwhelming defeat.

Forced to accept a field-goal turn-back from Ursinus; a one-touchdown conquest at the hands of Dickinson and an extra-point humbling from Lebanon Valley, Coach Steve Grenda's charges are due for a decided shift one way or another.

In an effort to solve part of the Blue and Gold's offensive problem, the Hens' mentor turned his attention this week to developing a capable quarterback to relieve Capt. Eddy Vidon and sophomore Melvin Brooks, outstanding ball carriers, of the burden of mapping out Delaware's strategy.

Safeword Outstanding

Most outstanding candidate for the job thus far is Conrad Sadowski, a rummy blocking back who has proved a decided asset to the Hens this year. A sophomore who did not report for football in 1938, the former Wilmington High School star has turned in sterling performances in running interference, passing and defensive work in the three games to-date.

This step to groom a new quarterback was taken due to the fact that the Delaware leader and the brilliant sophomore ball carrier have turned in their best performances, unhampered by the quarterbacking duties.

Attention is also being focused on the development of reserves to fill the shoes of some of the men who have been forced to play 60 minutes of every ball game.

Lee Baer, who replaced Al Northwood, veteran tackle, in the starting lineup last week, has pleased the Delaware coaches with his work and appears to be a certain option against Hampden-Sydney.

Pleased with the progress shown by his charges but still aiming for a victory, Coach Grenda is not too optimistic about the outcome of Saturday's battle.

It will be the Hens' last appearance here until the final tilt when they play host to Washington College on alumni homecoming day.

week and there seems to be little chance of the Jackets' snapping their losing streak there. . . West Nottingham Academy is probably on the way out as far as being scheduled at the local institution for next year. . . the Colors, Md. team's padding up a bit and its getting too big and too tough. . . George Lee, assistant Delaware coach, is nursing a bad chin after sitting beside Steve Grenda on the bench last Saturday. Sez Gawgie: "I didn't mind so much when he tried to get that punt off and buried his foot in my leg. . . but when he tried to steer it down the field, I moved."

Spurns Pro Grid

Whizzer White, Colorado wonder boy and all-America football star, en route to his first class at the University of Virginia, a pre-war Rhodes scholar, White turned down a $15,000 professional football offer.

Two Diamond Stars Suffer With Arthritis Is Report

Richard (Dick) Roberts, well known in state athletic circles, and Freddie Mitchell, University of Delaware short stop, are both suffering with arthritis, according to reports this week.

Roberts, a member of the faculty and football coaching staff of the Henry C. Conrad High School, Richardson Park, is at his parents' home, here. He will probably be confined for another seven or eight weeks, it is said. An outstanding football and baseball performer at the University of Delaware prior to his graduation last year, Roberts was the first-string receiver for the Cambridge Cardinals, winners of the 1939 flag in the Eastern Shore League.

Mitchell, a junior at Delaware and a member of the Blue Hen basketball and football teams, is resting at the home of friends. The malady, it is stated, prevents him from opening the lid on his right eye.

In addition to attending classes during the day, Mitchell has been employed at the Continental Diamond Fibre Company at night.

The triple hit by Eddie Joost, Cincinnati second-sacker, that sparked the winning rally in a recent game against Chicago Cubs was the first three-base hit Eddie ever hit in the major leagues. He picked the proper time for his wallop.

Bill Trotter of the Browns has won his last four games but not until a few days ago was he triumphant in a contest in which he started and went the entire route. His other three victories were as a relief pitcher.

By "The Roamer"

Sweeping all six of their matches with Ned McCully's Pingers, Jack Bridgewater's Highlanders gained a deadlock for first place in the Newark Table Tennis Tournament as Bill Fletcher's Bearcats, leaders in the circuit last week, turned back Grover T. Surratt's Travellers, 5-1.

Undisputed possession of the third spot was grabbed by Len Fossett's Crescents who turned in a 6-0 conquest over Mervin Dale's Darkhorses, giving the winning combine a record of 14 wins and four losses for a percentage of .777.

The Darkhorses were shoved back into fifth place when Bill Gillespie's Pedagogues trounced the Tigers, 6-0, to compile of total of 12 victories and six defeats for a percentage of .667.

The Pingers, with a percentage of .833; the Travellers, with a mark of .111, and the Tigers, lacking a single victory, hold down the sixth, seventh and eighth places, respectively.

Brooks Always Potent Threat; Clark Steadily Gaining Polish

Former Newark Star Leading Hen Attack

Local Gridder Stands Out

(This is the final in a series of articles introducing football candidates at the University of Delaware. Ed. Note.)

By Bill Fletcher

Introduced this week in the last of this series of biographies are Melvin (Ripper) Brooks, recognized as the most potent backfield threat on the University of Delaware grid squad, and Lorenzo (Dutch) Clark, who is playing his first year of football at any institution.

Brooks, in the upper photo, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude C. Brooks, of Glasgow, needs no introduction to local followers of the Blue and Gold, for the former Newark High School star carved out an enviable record performing on Yellowjacket teams.

Always A Threat

Scaling 174 pounds and standing 5 feet, 8 inches, the Hen star who can be depended upon to break loose for much-needed gains, moves like a deer with the ball under his arm and his work has been largely responsible for Delaware's improved offensive showing in the last two games. "Ripper" broke loose for a sparkling 50-yard run on Saturday to put the Hens back into the ball game with Lebanon Valley, but the threat ended with a pass interception.

In high school, Brooks served as home room president and president of his senior class. He has three brothers, two of whom are outstanding diamondmen at Newark, a sport in which "Ripper" also earned four varsity awards. Bill, the youngest, is only 12 years old, but you can count on another prominent athlete in a few years.

Former Soccer Star

Clark, pictured in the lower photo, could be a varsity athlete—on the soccer team. Instead of regular action with the booters, however, the former Claymont High School athlete has elected to make a bid for a football berth, a sport in which he has never performed in organized competition.

Graduated from Claymont after winning four letters in basketball and soccer, "Dutch" proceeded to follow his studies at Springfield College where he won his freshman numerals in soccer, baseball and basketball. In his sophomore year, he was awarded his varsity letter in baseball and was a regular member of the Springfield soccer team which was crowned national champion in 1937.

Melvin (Ripper) Brooks (upper) Lorenzo (Dutch) Clark (lower)

He transferred to Delaware in 1938 as a sophomore and proceeded to turn out for football despite the fact that he was ineligible and had never played the sport before.

A backfield candidate, Clark, who weighs 180 pounds and stands 5 feet, 9 inches, is going to be a hard man to keep off the starting eleven once he has gained a little more experience. He's an excellent blocker and can kick a ball a mile, but he still lacks the polish necessary to assure a finished performance.

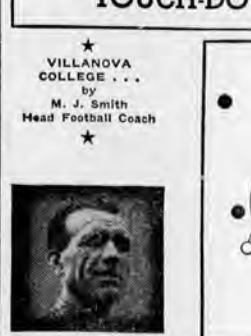

Keep your eyes on both these boys—their best days are yet to come.

Naval Food Purchases Made On Tonnage Basis; Menu Improved

"Hard-Tack" And Monotonous Round Of Meals Replaced By New Schedule

While the limited national emergency declared recently by President Roosevelt will not permit the United States Navy to carry out the custom of past years of receiving visitors to its shore activities and on board its ships, varied forms of marking Navy Day on Friday throughout the nation will be followed.

The public has been invited to visit Naval Reserve armories and Naval Reserve vessels outside Navy yards. Receptions, drills, demonstrations, and exhibits will be held at all Naval Reserve armories.

Of interest and importance to residents of rural communities is the way in which the Navy is fed. It is generally conceded that the Navy of the United States is the best fed body of men afloat in any part of the world.

Food First Consideration
Regardless of where our men are serving, be it in the big battleships or the home stations, or in the small gunboats and destroyers, in Central America, or in China, it is a military necessity that the blue-jackets of the United States Navy be well fed.

An efficient man-of-war must necessarily be manned by a well-trained, well-nourished, and well-looked-after body of men. A well-fed man is usually contented, and contentment is a part of the high morale which must be maintained. It is a time-honored privilege of sea-going men all over the world to growl about their food, but it is usually a good-natured growl and indicates the important part that food plays in maintaining the morale of the Navy as a whole.

Navy "Boys American"
The farmers of the United States feed these men, for the Navy "boys American," and all items of food-stuffs, except those not actually produced in this country, come from the farms of the country.

While the farmer produces much of the improvement in the feeding of the sailor is due to the marvelous advances in food storage and preservation made possible through refrigeration and canning. In the early days there was no way to preserve meats except by packing them in brine, or by smoking and curing. It was impossible to carry on a long voyage any vegetables or cereals other than those which could be dried, such as beans, peas, and rice. Facilities for baking were most meager, and the sailor had to depend upon hard tack for his daily bread.

High Quality Required
To supply practically 145,000 men—the authorized peace-time strength of the Navy—with three meals a day requires a tremendous amount of food. This food, supplied by the farming industry of the country, is purchased through contract made by the Bureau of Supplies and Accounts of the Navy Department, Washington, and on contracts made locally by the supply officers of different navy yards and naval stations. All food for the Navy is purchased under federal specifications, which are of a standard requiring high quality. The food is inspected upon delivery by expert inspectors, frequently detailed by the Department of Agriculture to assist the Navy, and by the Navy's trained inspectors and chemists. The canned foods purchased by the Navy amount to about thirty million pounds a year, or approximately eight hundred and fifty carloads—all the products of the farms of the country.

Poundage In Millions
As an example, the Navy will buy yearly a million and a quarter pounds of canned corn, three million three hundred thousand pounds of tomatoes, one million seven hundred thousand pounds of peas, seven million pounds of evaporated milk, one million pounds each of peaches and pears, one-half million pounds of tinned meats, one million and a half pounds of jams, one-half million pounds of sauerkraut, one and three-quarter million pounds of catsup, one and a half million pounds of string beans, one-half million pounds of beets, one million pounds of apples, one-half million pounds of applesauce, and many other items in correspondingly large quantities.

With the use of all these essential farm products, the Navy attempts to feed the blue-jackets so that they will receive a well-balanced ration of high grade food, cooked and served in the most pleasing and appetizing manner.
