

Air Pollution Study Scheduled With $10,000 Research Grant

Dr. Donald F. Crossan To Direct Project To Determine
Affect Of Air Pollution On Plant Growth In Research
Sponsored By U. S. Dept. Of Health, Education, Welfare

The University of Delaware Agricultural Experiment Station has been awarded a $10,000 research grant from the U. S. Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare for an exploratory study on effects of air pollution on plant growth.

Dr. Morris S. Cover, experiment station director, announced that Dr. Donald F. Crossan, associate professor of plant pathology, will direct the study.

Preliminary research will be conducted to determine kinds of pollutants in the air, and affects they have on plants in Delaware.

Crossan said subsequent research will be needed to develop plants resistant to damage by air pollutants and to discover chemical and physical means of preventing damage to sensitive plants.

At present, crop losses because of air pollution along the eastern seaboard are estimated at more than $18,000,000 each year. Increasing industrialization and urbanization throughout Delaware, and particularly in New Castle County, are causing increasing amounts of air pollution, Crossan explained, and the problem can be expected to increase even more when proposed industries are added to the chemical companies and oil refineries presently in operation.

Air Pollution From Highways

In addition, greater numbers of cars and trucks on Delaware highways contribute to the pollution problem, Dr. Crossan explained. He said gases produced by these sources can cause considerable damage to agricultural crops and ornamental plants, particularly when weather conditions do not allow the pollutants to disperse into the atmosphere.

While financial losses to Delaware crops because of air pollution have not been estimated, symptoms of this type of damage have been noted.

Increasing frequency of crop loss in many cases insect and disease damage and nutritional deficiencies have been ruled out as causes, scientists believe more and more of these crop losses can be attributed to air pollution.

Crossan explained that relatively short periods of exposure to pollutants—only a few hours—can severely injure plants. Preliminary research in New Jersey has shown such crops as spinach, alfalfa, beans and peaches to be affected, and continued commercial production of some crops is seriously threatened.

Increasing Damage

In Delaware, plant scientists at the University have observed increasing amounts of crop damage, especially on spinach, potatoes and various ornamental plants, believed to be caused by air pollutants. Damage in some cases was so severe that entire fields of spinach were discarded. In addition, plants grown in greenhouses in New Castle County have shown similar damage.

In agricultural areas where industrialization and urbanization are constantly encroaching upon the land, reduced crop losses and higher production are needed to make the farm venture profitable, Crossan explained.

"That industrial air pollution is damaging to plants and to human health is an acknowledged fact," he said. "Basic studies are needed to determine cause and effect relationships of air pollutants and plant responses."

"Any evidence of a fundamental nature concerning response of host cells to pollutants will be of value in similar studies in human health," Crossan concluded.

Winter Wonderland Dancing Scheduled By Honor Society

"Winter Wonderland," the Christmas dance sponsored by the Christiana High School Honor Society, will be held Friday, Dec. 18, from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria, with music by the band.

Dress will be semi-formal, and door prizes will be given.

According to Darlene Patterson and Maribeth Eggett—dance committee chairmen—tickets may be purchased from any Honor Society member prior to the dance, or at the door.

Chaperones will be Mr. and Mrs. Joseph McNeal, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Eggett, Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Lyons, and Mrs. Catharine Y. Boney. Honor Society sponsor is Mrs. Joseph McNeal.

Officers of the society are Merle Roemer, Carolyn Hopkins, Cynthia Jordan, and George Policastro.

"Peeping Tom" Arrested

At Elkhart Apartment Area With complaints of a "Peeping Tom" in the Elkhart Apartment area west of Elkton Road for the past two months special patrols were set up by the Newark Police Department in attempt to apprehend the culprit.

At 9:35 p.m. on Dec. 2, Police Officers Fitzgerald and Holmquist apprehended a 17-year-old youth from that area, who confessed to four other cases.

Hi-Y Songest Scheduled

At Central Junior High The annual songfest for local Tri and Hi-Y clubs will be presented this Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the Central Junior High School.

Fourteen groups from Newark, Christiana, Conrad and Dickinson high schools will participate, and prizes will be awarded for best performances.

The songfest is open to the public.

Shue To Initiate Studies For Three Building Projects

Local Board Of Education
Directs Study Of Jr. High
Site, 24 New Classrooms

At the December meeting of the Newark Board of Education in the Robert S. Galaher Elementary School last Tuesday night, study of the next three building projects for the Newark district was authorized.

Supt. Wilmer E. Shue is to institute feasibility studies for location of the next junior high school, on the site of the E. Francis Medill Elementary School on Capitol Trail, and for the addition of 12 classrooms each at the Christiana-Salem and Eden elementary schools.

"This is a slight departure from what had been planned as the next school building projects, officials report.

The junior high school was planned because of ever-increasing enrollment, but instead of a single 24-room elementary school, Robert W. Mayer, assistant superintendent for student services, proposed that an additional 12 rooms to each of two existing buildings—bringing them up to the standard of 24-room schools—would better suit the needs of the Newark district.

The name for the new school on Casho Mill Road was discussed, and Vice-President William P. Cooke said that the board may decide upon the name from a list at the next meeting to be held at the Medill School on Jan. 12.

Suggested names for the school include the Dr. John R. Downes, the R. Elisabeth Maclary, Nottingham, John F. Kennedy Memorial, Casho Creek, Christiana Creek, Wilmer E. Shue, Thomas McKean, Robert E. Lee Memorial, Windy Hill, Casho Mill Road, Mason-Dixon, and the Mac B. Leasure elementary schools.

Postmaster Cooch Forecasts Record Christmas Mailing

Newark Postmaster F. Allyn Cooch, Jr., predicts that the volume of mail during this year's Christmas rush will hit a record high.

"Actually," he says, "it's an easy prediction because mail volume has been rising at a rate of nearly 3 percent a year for the past several years and this is most strongly reflected around the holiday season."

Well over 12 billion pieces of mail are expected to move through the U. S. postal system during December—with about 10 percent of the year's mail moving in less than three weeks.

The Newark postmaster reports that public cooperation is one important reason that post offices around the country are able to handle this huge mountain of mail in such a short period.

"Without the assistance of the public, we'd be in a jam. People who shop early and get their cards and parcels into the mails early make it possible for the holiday mail to be delivered on time."

"Imagine what it would be like if we were to get all the holiday mail the last week before Christmas!" Cooch concluded.

Four CHS Students To Appear Sunday On Radio "Parade"

This Sunday, four students from Christiana High School will be guests of Host H. Nelson Friedly on "Newark Schools on Parade," over Radio Times, with Dickens' citing the paradox of the aerospace age in which we are living, reminding the assembly that this is the era in which polio-myelitis has been defeated by research; that tuberculosis is on its way out as a taker of young lives; that we are approaching a cure for cancer; but that it also is the age when a President of the United States could be murdered on a public street.

"This is the age in which the civil rights bill came to fruition, yet this is the age in which three people riding through a state could be murdered and their buried bodies remain long undiscovered. This is the age when this nation is at its highest level of economic and cultural growth, but one-fifth of our population goes to bed each night hungry."

Ott's plea to the assembled Air Force officials, educators, Civil Air Patrol members and their guests, was that we do not develop an age of technicians with no thought to the humanities.

Citing the millions of dollars spent at the federal level for research in curriculum areas of science and mathematics, he commented: "It's not that I'd like to see the emphasis taken from the sciences and mathematics but rather see support for the humanities."

He went on to call for development of a Man in the fullest sense of the word, not a perfect technician.

The founding of Civil Air Patrol occurred Dec. 1, 1941, just one week prior to Pearl Harbor.

The anniversary is celebrated by the Civil Air Patrol on the first Sunday each December.

A Deer Apiece For Local Hunting Foursome

Three big whitetail bucks and a doe are photographed atop the Newark-bound station wagon at "Old Guide" Willard J. Baker's Maine woods camp on the Allegany.

In the foreground, successful Nimrods are John Jackson of the Paint Pot on Elkton Road in Newark; Tom "Bobby" Baker of Elkton; and Marshall Lake, manager of Hollywood-Perkins auto sales firm in Newark.

The "Old Guide"—veteran Maine Man Will J. Baker—stands at the left rear with Elkton's Bill Carrio, the fourth successful hunter.

Levy Court Approves Pike Creek Valley Housing Development With 4,500 Homes

The Levy Court of New Castle County approved the largest planned residential project ever undertaken in Delaware, last Tuesday.

The commissioners approved rezoning of 1,100 acres in Mill Creek Hundred to form Pike Creek Valley and made public a contract with the four developers.

There are 4,500 dwelling units planned. The contract guarantees that the land will be developed in accordance with a master plan submitted by the developers. It grants broad minimal zoning in return for guarantees designed to limit house density.

The land had been zoned agricultural and general purpose. Work on initial stages of the project is expected to begin early next year, and the $60 million project has a completion goal in the late 1960s.

Limiting density and providing for open space could not be guaranteed.

A contract submitted by developers was rejected by the Levy Court last September with suggested major revisions. These were incorporated in the new contract.

Pike Creek Valley has been the center of controversy since September, 1963, when the four developers purchased the 1,100-acre site in Mill Creek Hundred.

The project would provide 4,500 dwelling units of many kinds—apartments, single homes on lots of various sizes and town houses. Also included in the plans are provisions for parks, churches, school sites and commercial and recreational centers.

The development site is centered around the Pike Creek Valley north and west of Kirkwood Highway with an 11-mile perimeter.

New Dormitories For 796 Planned To West Of B&O

$5 Million Complex At UD
Approved To Accommodate Record Student Enrollment

A $5 million dormitory complex to house 796 students was approved by University of Delaware trustees last Saturday, and will be constructed on university property between Elton and Hillside roads, opposite Amstel Avenue and west of the B&O Railroad tracks.

At their semi-annual meeting, the trustees recognized that the university will have to accommodate the largest single year increase in enrollments in its history.

"Yesterday's post-war babies are the freshmen of September 1965," Dr. John A. Perkins, university president, said.

To meet enrollment growth, trustees approved a 1965-66 budget request to the state for $6,328,430, an increase of $725,441, for operating expenses. Also approved was a request for $407,280 for the university's proposed community college in Wilmington.

They also authorized a request of $9,044,200 for capital expenditures. Of this total, $6,044,200 would be for additional classrooms, office and laboratories; $2 million for a community college building in Wilmington, and $1 million to help finance the dormitory-dining hall complex, set for completion in September, 1968.

The complex would consist of six residence halls—three each for men and women—and a separate dining hall for 1,300, which also would serve students from other dormitories.

The complex would increase the university's student housing capacity to more than 3,500.

Anticipated housing requirements for the 1965-67 school year are 3,378, or about 60 percent of the 5,500 undergraduate students expected by that time. Present enrollment is 4,323.

Another dormitory complex—Gilbert Hall—is nearing completion near the Student Center. It will accommodate some 540 students and will be ready next September.

About $4 million of the total cost will be provided by sale of self-liquidating bonds, with the remainder included in the university's total capital outlay request to the General Assembly.

Included in the complex will be two classrooms, and office space for four faculty members.

Tentative plans call for 480 single rooms and 158 double rooms.

The Newark school district and Radio Station WNRK are cooperating to present 10 programs of Christmas music during the holiday season.

Philip A. Toman, assistant superintendent for information services, reports that music is being recorded in both elementary and secondary schools for broadcasting over the holidays.

The music includes both band and choral numbers, sacred and secular.

The first of the Christmas programs will be broadcast Sunday, Dec. 20, as part of Newark Schools on Parade.

Offered regularly at 12:30 p.m. each Sunday, this program has H. Nelson Friedly as host.

Another program of Christmas music will be featured on Newark Schools on Parade on Dec. 27.

Beginning Thursday, Jan. 1, and continuing through Friday, Jan. 1, Newark Schools Notebook—heard daily on WNRK at 3:30 p.m.—will broadcast a program of Christmas music.

In addition, WNRK Engineer Chris Christ will record the entire "Peep of Carol" program to be presented at Newark High School on Dec. 20, for rebroadcast during the Christmas season.

Randal Wimberley, a sophomore at Christiana High School, has been selected to participate in the All-Eastern Delaware High School Chorus which will perform in Buffalo, N. Y., Feb. 5-8.

Herbert Windle, choral director at Christiana High, announced that the chorus will be made up of students from 15 states in the eastern division of the Music Educators National Conference.

Randal's application for membership in the Chorus was approved after he auditioned before a state screening committee.

Results from this audition were sent to the State Music Association president, and the National Interscholastic Music Activities Commission selection committee, who made the final decision.

Randal is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Wimberley, 25 Minquill Drive, Newark.

Chinese Girl, 7 Financially Aided By D. O. Neidigh

D. O. Neidigh of 100 Neptune Drive, Newark, has financially "adopted" Chan Choi Pik, a seven-year-old Chinese girl in Hong Kong, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Avenue South, New York City.

The foster parent has promised to contribute $15 a month for the child's support for at least a year.

A photograph and case history of the new overseas "relative" have been received by the foster parent. Choi Pik, who looks like a delightful small pixie, is one of five fatherless children.

Her father, a merchant, provided for his family until in 1961 he fell ill. He suffered from hypertension and the condition grew worse. He died in 1963.

Choi Pik's mother is a general worker in a garment factory. She used to earn $21.05 a month but has been ill, cannot work full-time, and now earns only $14.03 a month.

The children are in school and their mother is anxious to keep them there. But schools in Hong Kong are not free and all of them have tuition fees except our Choi Pik, who has been granted a scholarship. They all need books, supplies, suitable

VFW Children's Party

Slated Saturday, Dec. 19
The annual Veterans of Foreign Wars Christmas party for children will be held Saturday, Dec. 19, at 10 a.m. in the VFW Post 475 home on Barksdale Road.

Children of veterans and of social members of the local post, up to 12 years of age, are invited. John Sadot announced last week.

GI DIVIDENDS

More than 12,000 veterans in Delaware will receive $611,200 in 1965 GI insurance dividends, according to Leon Fields, manager of the Wilmington Veterans Administration Regional Office. Dividends will be paid between Jan. 2 and 10, 1965.

clothing . . . the mother cannot manage these things without some form of outside help.

Plan's aid to Choi Pik assures her of her chance for an education. An "adoption" through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., is financial not legal; but the relationship is personal.

Every month the child writes to "Dear Foster Parent." Both original and translation are transmitted.

The foster parent also writes monthly, often describing life in the United States; urging good study habits, and advising the child to seek help when needed from the American director and his corps of trained local social workers.

Foster Parents' Plan is a non-sectarian, non-profit, non-propaganda, independent, government-approved organization.

Some Good Christmas Advice

Can't beat a salty old skipper for good advice. "And you can't beat U.S. Savings Bonds as a Christmas Gift," says that skipper of security, Paul Ford, star of "Never Too Late" on Broadway and soon-to-be star of CBS-TV's "The Baileys of Balboa," adds: "The Savings Bonds you've given as Christmas gifts in past years are still growing in value, still giving pleasure to those who received them. Why not follow your own good example again this year—give Savings Bonds!"

University Guard, Police Cooperate For Quick Arrest

Man Accosting UD Coeds Arrested on Description Provided By Campus Guard

Prompt action by a University of Delaware security guard and Newark police led to arrest last Friday night of a man charged with accosting two girl students on Academy Street near the university campus.

Newark Police Chief Arthur Haussler identified the man as Robert Odom, 21, of Newark, who moved to Delaware from Georgia about two months ago.

He was arraigned before Magistrate Horace Best on two counts of assault and battery and committed to the New Castle Correctional Institution in default of $2,000 bail.

The two young women, neither of whom was injured, were accosted in separate incidents at about 6:30 last Friday night.

Odom was seen behaving in a suspicious manner by University Guard Myron A. Van Meter, and when a report of the attacks was made to security headquarters a few minutes later, he immediately telephoned a complete description of the man to the Newark Police Department.

Within 10 minutes, Odom was apprehended on Cleveland Avenue by Officer Frederick Herald, and he was identified by the plaintiffs.

Dean of Students John E. Hocutt praised both the university's security force and the Newark police who have been on special alert since a similar incident was reported three weeks ago. He described the arrest as "another example of the effective cooperation which has so long existed between university and City of Newark authorities."

Police said they did not believe last Friday night's case was connected with previous incidents.

Six Persons Hurt Saturday In Three-Car Accident

Six persons were hurt last Saturday in a three-car collision on South College Avenue in front of the Chrysler parts plant in Newark.

James Nichols, 19, of 92 East Main St., Newark, was admitted to Wilmington General Hospital with severe face lacerations. The others were treated and released.

BILL OF RIGHTS DAY
In calling for the observance of next Tuesday as Bill of Rights Day, Gov. Elbert N. Carvel has urged Delawareans to "give thanks to Almighty God for the foresight of those who drafted and adopted our Constitution and the Bill of Rights, and for the courage and sacrifice of those who have fought to protect and preserve this document and the great nation for which it is the foundation."

ARMY AIR NATIONAL GUARD Enlisting New Recruits
Both the Army and Air National Guard in Delaware are enlisting men without previous military service, and Maj. Gen. Joseph J. Scannell, Delaware adjutant general emphasized this fact in a statement issued to correct what he said was widespread impression that the Guard was not taking new recruits.

The General's advice to young men interested in serving their military obligation in the National Guard: "Go to your nearest National Guard armory; they will give you the qualification test and if you pass, arrange for a physical examination and find a place for you in the Guard."

Indian Guides, Adventurers Plan Weekend Activities

The Western Branch YMCA has scheduled special activities this weekend for two of its groups.

The Nanticoke Nation of Indian Guides is having its winter pow-wow on Sunday at the Central YMCA in Wilmington from 4:30 to 7 p.m., when boys and their fathers will participate in pool and gym activities.

The Y-Adventurers are planning to attend the Harlem Globetrotters' basketball show this Saturday evening, with third through sixth grade boys and their fathers included in this program.

Three Additional Degree Offerings Announced At UD

University of Delaware trustees approved three new degrees last Saturday—master of applied science; bachelor of science in business education; and bachelor of engineering administration.

Master of applied science degrees will be offered in metallurgy, nuclear energy and computer science, and will provide an intermediary step leading to already approved doctoral programs in these fields.

The bachelor of science in business education will equip graduates to teach general business subjects, such as bookkeeping, typing and shorthand in secondary schools.

The bachelor of engineering administration will prepare students for positions in market research, technical sales, contract administration, traffic engineering and other fields requiring engineering knowledge with business experience.

Airman Alvin L. Mutter Graduates As Mechanic

Airman Alvin L. Mutter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin S. Mutter of 7 Maywood Drive, Fireside Park, Newark, has graduated from the training course for U. S. Air Force jet aircraft mechanics at Amarillo AFB, Tex.

Mutter, who attended Christiana High School, is being reassigned for duty at Beale AFB, Calif.

Cooch Advises Wednesday Christmas Card Deadline

To be absolutely sure of on-time delivery, out-of-town Christmas cards should be mailed by next Wednesday at the latest, Newark Postmaster F. Allyn Cooch advised today.

Postmaster Cooch noted that there is more to the four new Christmas stamps than just a pretty design. Each of the gaily colored holiday messengers can trigger a vast amount of postal service for you," he said.

March of Dimes Appeals Are Mailed

More than 6,000 personal letters signed by Alexis I. duPont Bayard, state chairman of the National Foundation March of Dimes, are in the mail as the annual appeal to aid children with birth defects begins.

Here, Bayard (center) inspects boxes of letters as they are about to be posted with Frank J. Hory, New Castle County chapter campaign chairman (left) and Wilmington Postmaster August F. Walz (right).

Red Cross Offers Christmas Cheer In Talking Record

A touch of home will be brought to Delaware servicemen on Christmas Day through a service of the Delaware chapter, American Red Cross.

Families with servicemen overseas or stationed at distant points, may come to the Red Cross chapter house in Wilmington and make a free record to send them.

The service is also available to foreign exchange students attending schools in Delaware who may wish to send records to their families overseas and to families of Peace Corps volunteers.

It will cost only the postage to mail the "Voice from Home" record. Everything else is provided without cost by the Red Cross.

The talking letter may be made in Wilmington at the Red Cross, 913 Gilpin Avenue, through Friday, Dec. 18 from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Tatnall Tips Off Buyers On Yule Tree Selection

Christmas trees are in plentiful supply this year, but buying a tree, deserves careful attention, cautions Dave Tatnall, assistant agent in ornamental horticulture.

While personal taste usually determines selection of a tree, the customer should look for the following desirable characteristics before buying: good retention of needles; full, symmetrical form; sturdy branches that support ornaments; foliage that has good color and is pleasant to handle; and pleasing fragrance.

Purchase the tree early when there is a wide choice, and keep the butt end of the tree in a container with water.

Sisterhood To Have Party For Patients At Hospital

Men and women at Delaware State Hospital will be the guests of the Newark Sisterhood of Temple Beth El at a Christmas party next Wednesday evening at Farnhurst, with this annual project of the Sisterhood.

Mrs. Saul Jacobs is chairman of the party project.

Members will prepare a fried chicken dinner with all the trimmings, and will serve dinner to the patients.

The Sisterhood has several parties at Farnhurst during the year, and a spaghetti party in October was termed "most successful."

What kind of a tiger do you want under your hood? (Have you priced a tiger lately?)

If you're handy with a whip and chair, go for the 360-hp GTO. It bites. But then, even the 335-hp GTO bites. If you want a slightly more civilized package (but with lots of the GTO muscle), try the Le Mans. You can get it with a six or either of two V-8s. They all have bucket seats. Carpeting. And cost less than some tame cats. So go price a tiger.

Participation Increases In Feed Grain Program

Increased participation in the feed grain program this year as compared with 1963, meant that farmers planted about 7 million fewer acres to feed grains, according to Paul Hastings, acting chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation state committee.

Farmers signed up to divert a record 34.4 million acres of feed grains to soil-conserving uses in 1964 and 23 million acres of this was for diversion from corn.

Feed grain prices in 1964-65 may average a little above the year before, continuing the general upward trend of the past three years. Higher 1964 loan rates for feed grains and reduced production will strengthen prices.

Sign-up under the 1965 feed grain program will take place early next spring.

Jim Ashton Warns Of "Flowing Bowl" In Traffic's Toll

Your flowing bowl could increase the traffic toll, the Delaware Safety Council warned yesterday.

The office party with its flowing bowl can further boost Delaware's soaring 1964 traffic fatalities, warned J. James Ashton, manager of the Council.

"Either dry it up or cut it out," Ashton advised, as a constructive step toward preventing further increase in Delaware's 1964 traffic death record.

Studies made by the National Safety Council show that a sizeable percentage of Christmas season traffic accidents occur in the early hours. Many of these can be traced back to the office party and its highball hilarity.

"This is no effort to dampen the traditional Christmas spirit," Ashton emphasized. "It is a practical attempt to eliminate a definite source of death and destruction on the streets and highways at a time they hurt the most—the Christmas season."

"Good sense requires that if you drink, you should refrain from driving. If you must drive—don't drink. The throttle and the bottle don't mix," Ashton cautioned.

It is ironic to celebrate a holiday dedicated to "Peace On Earth, Good Will Toward Man" and then send people out on the public highways in a condition to injure or destroy fellow men, Ashton concluded.

Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church
The congregation has approved a fund drive to be conducted next spring by the new church development office of the Presbyterian Church.

Children baptized last Sunday are Barbara Lynn Lumley, Renee Alene Nowland, Scott Corey and Robin Lynn Pierce.

Ruth Circle met last night with Mrs. Henry Worrest. Members took food for a Christmas basket for Olivet Community Center.

Esther and Dorcas circles met Tuesday at the church, contributing food and money for a needy family.

Miriam Circle held a covered dish supper last night at the home of Mrs. Donald Hallman, North Star.

Mrs. Raymond Nichols of Limestone Acre, is entertaining Lois Circle today for a luncheon meeting.

The young adults will be guests of the Rev. and Mrs. William Evans this Sunday at 8 p.m.

The annual men's communion breakfast service will be held this Sunday at 7 a.m. in the social hall.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ellen B. Armstrong, wife of Archie W. Armstrong, took place last Saturday with interment in Red Clay Creek church cemetery.

Daughter of Joseph and Henrietta McCormick Hanna, she was a lifelong resident of this hundred. She was a member of Red Clay Creek Church, Liberty Rebekah Lodge, and Harmony Grange.

Mrs. Armstrong is survived by two sons—John of Kennett Square; Stephen of Cooper Farms—Mrs. Howard Stike, Hockessin, and Mrs. Kenneth Atallah of Heritage Park, 12 grandchildren, and two great grandchildren.

The Hockessin Fire Company Ladies Auxiliary will elect officers next Monday night after the annual Christmas dinner.

Educational television in Delaware was discussed Tuesday night at the dinner meeting of the Hockessin-Yorklyn Lions Club at the Lamborn Library. The club begins its sale of Christmas trees this Saturday.

Carbon Monoxide Menace
Cited "Creeping Killer"
Carbon monoxide is the "creeping killer," whose deaths are often undetected, a safety official warned yesterday.

"If you get sleepy while driving, stop at once, get out of the car and breathe fresh air—the cause of your sleepiness may be carbon monoxide," said Richard H. McMullen, president of the Delaware Safety Council.

The Western Electric Co. recently presented a pyrometer for measuring extremely high temperatures, to the University of Delaware's mechanical engineering department.

R. E. Hines, Western Electric official, gave a $1,000 check for its purchase to Dr. J. P. Hartnett, department chairman, who said the instrument would be useful in both heat transfer and mechanical metallurgy laboratories.

THIS ONE-TWO IS ONE TOO MUCH

END THIS INJUSTICE

Despite its constant crusade against injustices, America appears to have a blind side in the area of income taxation. How else can you explain the fact that for 50 years, the federal government has imposed double taxation on dividend income?

This deplorable situation results from the fact that a corporation pays tax on its income and then the individual stockholder is also taxed on the dividends he receives from the same corporation.

It is gratifying to note, therefore, that the National Association of Manufacturers has launched a drive to abolish double taxation of individual income.

W. P. Gullander, NAM president, points out that termination of the injustice, which could easily be accomplished by allowing the corporation to deduct from its tax base earnings which are paid out in dividends, would have many wholesome effects. Among other things, he said, it would:

- Provide relief proportionate to the burden of double taxation at different income levels.
- Largely eliminate the threat of penalty taxation to family owned or other small corporations.
- Make American industry more competitive, taxwise, with European producers.
- Remove the bias against equity capital in new corporate financing, arising from the fact that interest on borrowed money is now deductible but dividends are not.
- Tend to neutralize the tax factor in deciding whether a business should be incorporated.

Both the Administration and the Congress, we believe, should take immediate steps to end the double-taxation blight.

Letters To Santa Claus

Postmaster F. Allyn Cooch and his associates at the U. S. Post Office in Newark, are among the foremost of Santa's assistants, and each year process many letters addressed to Santa Claus at the North Pole. After reading his mail, Santa returns some of the letters from his legion of little friends, with the request that Mr. Cooch forward a few to the Newark Post for publication, to assure the little people that their letters are not neglected.

Postmaster Cooch and his friends join Santa in wishing all of these little letter-writers a very, very Merry Christmas!

Dear Santa: My name is Jimmie Fulghum. I live at 11 Malvern Road, Chestnut Hill Estates, United States of America. This is what I want for Christmas. University To Designate "Schools" As "Colleges"

After July 1, 1965, the University of Delaware's "schools" will be known as "colleges."

The change is in name only and is designed to describe more accurately the character of the university, trustees announced last Saturday.

Watson, Hopper, Saunders, Hackney Win TD Club Banquet Honors; Murray Speaks

Newark Fullback Reggie Watson and Christiana Halfback Jack Hopper—and Newark Quarterback Norris Saunders and Christiana Tackle Jim Hackney received trophies as players contributing most to team morale, and as outstanding senior football players at the two local high schools. The occasion was the annual banquet of the Newark Touchdown Club, with Duke Touchdown Coach Bill Murray, the principal speaker last Tuesday night at the Newark Country Club.

George M. Worrlow, vice-president and dean of agriculture at the University of Delaware, was toastmaster, and former Newark athlete J. Paul Jaquette, president of the club, presided.

The Mayer Brothers Award for Newark High School's outstanding senior player was presented to Norris Saunders by Dr. Arthur P. Mayer, "son of a Mayer brother," and a former Delaware swimming champion.

Newark Touchdown Club trophies for players contributing most to team morale, were presented to Watson and Hopper by Duke Touchdown Coach Bill Murray, the principal speaker last Tuesday night at the Newark Country Club.

Coach Bob Hoffman introduced his senior lettermen of the Newark High School football team — guests of honor John Cronin and John Hassman, guards; Charles Hayman, halfback; Richard Hicks, tackle; John Mayer, guard; Steve Mitchell, end; Saunders and Watson; Manager Mike Murphy and Statistician Joe Russell.

Former University of Delaware athletic director and football coach, and now head football coach at Duke University, William D. Murray answered his question "Do we need football?" with "emphatically yes—we need it perhaps in greater measure than ever before."

Coach Murray said that "within the breast of every man, there is a power far beyond his imagination. In sports we see this more than in other areas of life," he stated. Discussing major college football, he said that as much as a million dollars annually is spent on a big arena team, and that contrary to popular belief, the football program often is conducted with monetary loss, and that seldom does it provide funds for support of other school athletics.

Major college football provides an inspirational affect that perpetuates the sport down through the high school level, he said, and concerning Bobby Lynch, just turned 15, shot his first rabbit recently ahead of Dad Earl Lynch's bugling beagle.

Hunting near Red Lion, these two cottontail champions started "plenty of rabbits," Mr. Lynch said, "but they'd been hunted before and went in holes underground real fast."

Three of these Red Lion rabbits were lion-hearted enough to stay above ground and provided some good, extended music of the chase. And this, after all, is the real sport in hunting with beagles.

"A lot of hunters shoot a rabbit as soon as it jumps ahead of the dog," Earl Lynch continued, "and they miss most of the fun. A good dog will bring that rabbit back to the hunter—if there aren't too many groundhogs holes around," the veteran Newark police officer added reflectively.

Lindsay C. Reynolds, Jr., bagged a beagle's first rabbit recently in a recent hunting with his dog Chip off New London Road near Newark.

"We no more than got out of the house," Lindsay said of his successful hunt "when two pheasants got up—and one was a hen."

"The cockbird jumped a little bit ahead of the hen, and I think I must have fired the first shot under him. Anyhow, he kept on going. But the second shot folded him up," Lindsay concluded concerning some pretty fair gun handling of a 12-ga. double barrel fowling piece.

"And we got a rabbit, too," he added in afterthought, "all admiring the big ringneck's unbelievable, spangled plumage."

And speaking of rabbits, friendly Francis Grinnage provided J. Harvey Dickey a rabbit dinner with one of four cottontails Francis shot recently during a banner day afield.

"We jumped 14," Francis Grinnage said simply—and with real satisfaction. And that kind of rabbit hunting is hard to beat.

Whether you're giving or getting a gun for Christmas, raises all sorts of questions. What kind should you buy?

It would take a book to answer all of the questions. And the happy recipient's own personal preference governs the answers. The National Rifle Association offers some guidelines to help make the surprise a pleasant one.

A shotgun is the ticket for small game or bird hunting. You need a high power rifle for big game like deer. For an economical all-around gun, the 22 rifle is the best choice. But this is only part of the decision.

One you decide on a shotgun for bird hunting, there's still the choice of gauge and choke.

Half of all shotguns sold in America are 12-gauge. The 20-gauge is No. 2. The rest are 16-gauge, 28-gauge, 410-bore and a few 10-gauge Magnums for goose hunting specialists. Notice, the bigger the gauge number, the smaller the bore.

The small gauge guns—28 and 410—are fine for experts. With their thinner shotshells, they can't throw as much shot. So most hunters get the biggest practical gauge, the versatile 12.

Now you must decide on choke. Choke is a constriction of the bore at the muzzle. It works like the nozzle on a garden hose. Wide open and the shot pattern spreads quickly. Tighten it up and the shot stays together longer.

The duck hunter often takes his shots at a high flyer passing overhead. He needs a full choke gun to hold a tight shot pattern out to 60 yards. If he calls ducks in to decoys, the prey is nearer and a modified choke is often the choice.

Improved cylinder is the choke for quail and grouse hunters. He may flush birds barely 20 yards in front of his feet and a tight full choke could be disastrous at such short distances.

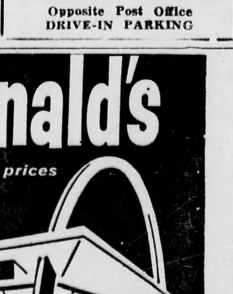

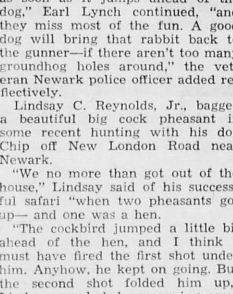

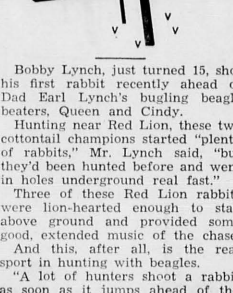

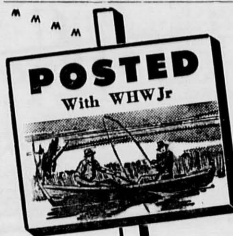

If your Santa hunts everything, a modified choke is a good compromise. Or have an adjustable choke device mounted on the gun barrel. It can be set for whatever choke you need.

The big game hunter also has a wide choice of gun and caliber.

A high velocity cartridge that's safe for hunting antelope on western plains is a disadvantage in the forested mountains of the East. The cartridge that you'd use for moose hunting in Canada is too powerful for small eastern white tail deer.

The size of the game and the type of terrain hunted are critical factors in choosing both rifle and caliber.

In the woods, a slow brush-bucking bullet like the 30-30 or 44 Magnum are best. And they come in short

Delaware Letters Awarded To Three Newark Athletes

Three Newark athletes — Stu Green in football, and Joe Gaglia and Ken Williamson in cross country — have won varsity letters for their participation in the University of Delaware fall sports program.

All 14 senior members of the football squad; 14 juniors, and five sophomores won their varsity D's.

Varsity letters were awarded to 15 members of the Blue Hen soccer team, and seven letters were won by cross country team members.

Billy's Blue Hen Matmen To Make Debut Wednesday

The University of Delaware wrestling team coached by Paul Billy will make its debut next Wednesday in a home stand on the Carpenter Field House mat at 7 p.m.

The Blue Hens will face John Hopkins in the opener, and the next opponents will be from Ursinus on Jan. 9.

1964 Yellowjacket Captains With Coach Hoffman

Fullback Reggie Watson (left) and Tackle Ricky Hicks (right) were co-captains for the 1964 Newark High School football team honored by the Yellowjacket Booster Club at its annual banquet last Saturday night in the Aetna Fire Hall off Ogletown Road.

Watson and Hicks, who led the Yellowjackets through a 6-3 campaign, are photographed above with Coach Bob Hoffman prior to early-in-the season session on the Newark High School field.

NHS Senior Barbara Bohning, 17, Ranked With Nation's Top Table Tennis Stars

Seventeen-year-old Barbara Bohning, of 250 Dillam Road, Newark, is featured twice in the ranking lists published this week by the U. S. Table Tennis Association.

She is fourth in the 17-and-under category, and in women's singles, is 10th ranked—an automatic ranking on the strength of her consolation victory in the U. S. Open Championships.

"Both rankings are too high," Barbara believes. "It's going to be tough to maintain them through this season."

Barbara, who plays with the Newark YWCA Table Tennis Club, is the first Delaware player ever to achieve national ranking.

Irving Levitzky came close in 1933, when he was acknowledged to be 27th in the country in men's singles; but the official list that year included only 20 names.

Miss Bohning made history in Delaware after only two seasons of play. In that time, she has played regularly several times a week, and has played in tournaments from coast to coast.

At the beginning of her two years with the club, Barbara had a handicap of 11, meaning that she started each game with 11 points towards the 21 necessary to win.

Carbine models that handle fast in close quarters.

Out West where spaces are wide open, hunters take longer shots. The trajectory of the light, high velocity bullet gives an advantage. The inherently accurate bolt action rifle is usually the choice for long range shooting and popular calibers are the 243, 270, 284 and 308.

Your choice of rifle 22's is a question of the type of rifle. Auto-loaders are popular. All you have to do is squeeze the trigger—and reload the magazine. Lever and pump action repeaters let you match the pace of other guns and that's important.

If your mighty nimrod is accustomed to a pump action shotgun, his rifle might better be pump action also. Otherwise, he could find himself yanking a rapid fore-and-aft when he should be working a lever.

For greater economy, a bolt action repeater usually sells for less than those above.

Least expensive — and best for training a youngster—is the bolt action single shot. He learns to make that first shot count. He doesn't have more waiting in a magazine.

Good advice is a big help in choosing the type of gun to buy. And your own local gun dealer is well equipped to supply it. He knows which are popular in your area. He can make a sound suggestion once you give him the particulars of personal preference, type of hunting and type of terrain—and how much you want to spend.

But don't stop thinking here. Once you get the gun home, it needs some safeguard.

Any gun worth its salt is worth a good gun case. A gun rack that locks keeps prying hands away. Store ammunition separately also under lock and key.

Youngsters in the house must be taught to respect the power potential of any firearm and to treat it accordingly. For information on home gun safety, write the National Rifle Association, 1600 Rhode Island Avenue, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Overheard at an office snack bar: "I figure my job is safe. It doesn't pay enough to make it worthwhile to invent a machine to do it." Catholic Digest.

Globetrotters' Neal Shines As Dribbler In All-Star Show

The Harlem Globetrotters' Fred Neal will demonstrate his prowess as a dribbler when he opposes the Washington Generals in the basketball end of a tripleheader sports and variety show at the University of Delaware's Carpenter Field House this Saturday night.

Richard Bergmann opposes Lee Dal Joon in a table tennis match on the program starting at 8 o'clock, and additional novelty features preceding the game and continuing at intermission will feature Steve Parry, trampolinist; Mike Le May, acrobat; George Lee, finger balancer, and Lee Marx, acrobatic juggler.

Neal, formerly of Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, N. C. is the new dribbling sensation of the Trotters.

Neal had made the squad as a versatile and valuable performer last season before observant Owner Abe Saperstein detected his dribbling routine in a workout.

Saperstein advised Fred to concentrate on this specialty — took him along with the Trotters on a summer tour of Europe — and this season has installed him as the team's No. 1 dribbling star.

Fred Neal not only can move the ball expertly from all angles, but is one of his team's hottest scorers and most respected competitors.

Rawstrom's Mermen Face Loyola In Saturday Meet

Coach Harry Rawstrom's University of Delaware swimming team faces Loyola this Saturday in Taylor Pool at 2 p.m.

Defeated at Franklin & Marshall in the season opener, Rawstrom's mermen lost a 75-20 meet here with Bucknell last Tuesday afternoon.

Final Tilts Slated Sunday Afternoon In Junior Football

Final games of the Capitol Trail Junior Football League will be played next Sunday, with the Hummingbirds and Stanton teams meeting at Stanton, and the Green Raiders and Central squads playing at Kells Avenue in Newark.

Last Sunday afternoon, the Vets swept both games, the junior squad defeating the Hummingbirds by 20-0, and the senior VFW team beating the senior Birds 27-0, while Stanton won 20-0 and 13-6 over the Junior Raiders.

In defeating the Hummingbirds, two touchdowns and an extra point conversion by Brooks; one touchdown by Conkey, and one extra point by Ricky Matthews provided the VFW Juniors with their win.

In an abbreviated senior game, the Vets' Lane scored the first TD on a quarterback buck from two yards out; Houston scored on a handoff to plunge five yards off tackle for the second TD. Sullivan scored around right end from the Hummingbirds 45, and Lane raced 35 yards for the final TD.

Three blocked kicks were recovered by Eppes, Purcell and Bratton. Due to injuries and lack of adequate reserves for the Hummingbirds, the second half of the game was called off.

At Kells Avenue the Junior Green Raiders team lost to Stanton, Norris scored one and Tucker, two touchdowns, to win the junior bout.

In the senior game, the first Stanton TD was made on a completed pass from Rock to Carey, and Rock scored the extra point.

Bock scored again, off tackle for 11 yards.

By the time a man gets to greener pastures, he can't climb the fence.

Hopkins, Insua Honored On ECAC All-South Team

Two of Coach Dave Nelson's Delaware football players have been named to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference College Division South team for 1964.

They are Halfback Bill Hopkins, who set a Delaware season rushing record of 944 yards, and Guard Manny Insua.

Steve Mitchell Wins Top Senior Trophy As Booster Club Honors NHS Grid Squad

Steve Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Mitchell, was awarded the Yellowjacket Booster Club Trophy as the senior football player making most progress during the year, at the Booster Club's annual banquet honoring the Newark High School football team and their coaches in the Aetna Fire Hall on Ogletown Road last Saturday night.

Mitchell, a first string end for Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjackets in 1964, and who had not played football in his junior year, was the high scoring end in the State of Delaware during the recent season.

Coach Hoffman introduced his letter-winners of the past season with the seniors led by Co-Captains Ricky Hicks and Reggie Watson at tackle and fullback; Guards Ricky Cronin and Jack Hassman; Charley Hayman—high-scoring halfback in the Blue Hen Conference—Guard Larry Tucker; and Halfback Davey Word.

Each member of the squad—letter-winners and junior varsity players including Juniors Mike Turner, Bob Vance, Bob Curran, John Ingold, Rowan Perkins, Bob Nichols, Billy Mitchell, Dave Grayson, and Bill Bobb—received wooden statuettes faced with enlarged photos of the individual players—trophies hand-made by Jack Cronin of the Yellowjacket Booster Club.

"I'm extremely proud of the youngsters this year," Coach Hoffman said, addressing the audience. "We had the best offensive football team in my six years at Newark, and I thought we had been back to back," the Newark coach added concerning Newark's defense of the conference crown won in 1963.

Hoffman cited inexperience and inconsistency for the Yellowjackets' failure to retain the championship in compiling a 6-3 season, and blamed himself for any inconsistent, losing play.

Raymond "Scotty" Duncan, assistant athletic director at the University of Delaware, was toastmaster, and Delaware Line Coach Ed Maley was the principal speaker.

Maley cited the physical values to be derived from football with industry, hard work, and fitness, and the moral values developed with courage, competitive spirit, loyalty, self-sacrifice, poise, ethical conduct, and obedience.

"I congratulate each of you on your participation in the game of football," Coach Maley concluded. Harvey Fulton is president of the Yellowjacket Booster Club.

NCC Golf Quartet Shy Three Strokes For Bermuda Play

HAMILTON, Bermuda — The Newark Country Club pro-amateur team fell three strokes short of qualifying for the finals of the International Goodwill Golf Tournament here.

The foursome of Joe the Pro Andea and amateurs Ted Sweeney, Bill Whitman and Jack McCambridge were five under par for the first six holes but finished with a best-ball 66.

Twenty-seven teams qualified for the final with a cutoff point of 138. The Newark quartet carded 141.

Capt. Ricky Hicks Named 2d Team All-State Tackle

Co-Captain and tackle for Coach Bob Hoffman's 1964 Yellowjackets, Newark High School, Ricky Hicks has been selected by the Wilmington Sportswriters & Broadcasters Association as a tackle on the Delaware All-State Football Second Team.

Hicks, a veteran letterman at end, was transferred to tackle in his senior year with the Yellowjackets, and is the lone Newark representative of the three All-State teams selected by the WSBA.

At Kells Avenue the Junior Green Raiders team lost to Stanton, Norris scored one and Tucker, two touchdowns, to win the junior bout.

In the senior game, the first Stanton TD was made on a completed pass from Rock to Carey, and Rock scored the extra point.

Bock scored again, off tackle for 11 yards.

Watson, Hopper, Saunders, Hackney Win TD Club Banquet Honors; Murray Speaks

Newark Fullback Reggie Watson and Christiana Halfback Jack Hopper—Newark Quarterback Norris Saunders and Christiana Tackle Jim Hackney received trophies as players contributing most to team morale, and as outstanding senior football players at the two local high schools. The occasion was the annual banquet of the Newark Touchdown Club, with Duke Football Coach Bill Murray, the principal speaker last Tuesday night at the Newark Country Club.

George M. Worrlow, vice-president and dean of agriculture at the University of Delaware, was toastmaster, and former Newark athlete J. Paul Jaquette, president of the club, presided.

The Mayer Brothers Award for Newark High School's outstanding senior player was presented to Norris Saunders by Dr. Arthur P. Mayer, "son of a Mayer brother," and a former Delaware swimming champion.

Newark Touchdown Club trophies for players contributing most to team morale, were presented to Watson and Hopper by Newark Postmaster F. Allyn Cooch, and Newark Police Chief Arthur S. Haussler presented the Newark Touchdown Club Trophy to "Bub" Hackney as Christiana High's most valuable senior player.

Coach Bob Hoffman introduced his senior lettermen of the Newark High School football team—guests of honor John Cronin and John Hassman, guards; Charles Hayman, halfback; Richard Hicks, tackle; John Mayer, guard; Steve Mitchell, end; Saunders and Watson; Manager Mike Murphy and Statistician Joe Russell. Former University of Delaware athletic director and football coach, and now head football coach at Duke University, William D. Murray answered his question "Do we need football?" with "emphatically yes—we need it perhaps in greater measure than ever before."

He cited great human qualities developed by football and other competitive sports—the necessity for our educational system to develop such qualities—and said "the most dangerous man is the genius without spiritual background."

Coach Murray said that "within the breast of every man, there is a power far beyond his imagination. In sports we see this more than in other areas of life," he stressed. Discussing college football, he said that as much as a million dollars annually is spent on a big arena team, and that contrary to popular belief, the football program often is conducted with monetary loss, and that that loss is provided for support of other school athletics.

Major college football provides an inspirational affect that perpetuates the sport down through the high school level, he said, and concerning

Bobby Lynch, just turned 15, shot his first rabbit recently ahead of Dad Earl Lynch's bugling beagle beaters, Queen and Cindy.

Hunting near Red Lion, these two cottontail champions started "plenty of rabbits," Mr. Lynch said, "but they'd been hunted before and went in holes underground real fast."

Three of these Red Lion rabbits were lionhearted enough to stay above ground and provided some good, extended music of the chase. And this, after all, is the real sport in hunting with beagles.

"A lot of hunters shoot a rabbit as soon as it jumps ahead of the dog," Earl Lynch continued, "and they miss most of the fun. A good dog will bring that rabbit back to the gunner—if there aren't too many roughing holes around," the veteran Newark police officer added reflectively.

Lindsay C. Reynolds, Jr., bagged a beautiful big cock pheasant in some recent hunting with his dog Chip off New London Road near Newark.

"We no more than got out of the house," Lindsay said of his successful safari "when two pheasants got up—and one was a hen."

"The cockbird jumped a little bit ahead of the hen, and I think I must have fired the first shot under him. Anyhow, he kept on going. But the second shot folded him up," Lindsay concluded concerning some pretty fair gun handling of a 12-ga. double barrel fowling piece.

"And we got a rabbit, too," he added in afterthought, still admiring the big rickrack's unbelievable, spangled plumage.

And speaking of rabbits, friendly Francis Grinnage provided J. Harvey

Dickey a rabbit dinner with one of four cottontails Francis shot recently during a banner day afield.

"We jumped 14," Francis Grinnage said simply—and with real satisfaction. And that kind of rabbit hunting is hard to beat.

Whether you're giving or getting a gun for Christmas, raises all sorts of questions. What kind should you buy?

It would take a book to answer all of the questions. And the happy recipient's own personal preference governs the answers. The National Rifle Association offers some guidelines to help make the surprise a pleasant one.

A shotgun is the ticket for small game or bird hunting. You need a high power rifle for big game like deer. For an economical all-around fun gun, the 22 rifle is the best choice. But this is only part of the decision.

One you decide on a shotgun for bird hunting, there's still the choice of gauge and choke.

Half of all shotguns sold in America are 12-gauge. The 20-gauge is No. 2. The rest are 16-gauge, 28-gauge, 410-bore and a few 10-gauge Marums for goose hunting specialists. Notice, the bigger the gauge number, the smaller the bore.

The small gauge guns—28 and 410—are fine for experts. With their thinner shotshells, they can't shoot as much shot. So most hunters get the biggest practical gauge, the versatile 12.

Now you must decide on choke. Choke is a constriction of the bore at the muzzle. It works like the nozzle on a garden hose. Wide open and the shot pattern spreads quickly. Tighten it up and the shot stays together longer.

The duck hunter often takes his shots at a high flyer passing overhead. He needs a full choke gun to hold a tight shot pattern out to 60 yards. If he calls ducks in to decoys, the prey is nearer and a modified choke is often the choice.

Improved cylinder is the choke for quail and grouse hunters. He may flush birds barely 20 yards in front of his feet and a tight full choke could be disastrous at such short distances.

If your Santa hunts everything, a modified choke is a good compromise. Or have an adjustable choke device mounted on the gun barrel. It can be set for whatever choke you need.

The big game hunter also has a wide choice of gun and caliber. A high velocity cartridge that's fine for hunting antelope on western plains is a disaster in the forested mountains of the East. The cartridge that you'd use for moose hunting in Canada is too powerful for small eastern white tail deer.

The size of the game and the type of terrain hunted are critical factors in choosing both rifle and caliber. In the woods, a slow brush-bucking bullet like the 30-30 or 44 Magnum are best. And they come in short

1964 Yellowjacket Captains With Coach Hoffman

Fullback Reggie Watson (left) and Tackle Ricky Hicks (right) were co-captains for the 1964 Newark High School football team honored by the Yellowjacket Booster Club at its annual banquet last Saturday night in the Aetna Fire Hall off Ogletown Road.

Watson and Hicks, who led the Yellowjackets through a 6-3 campaign, were photographed above with Coach Bob Hoffman prior to early-in-the-season session on the Newark High School field.

NHS Senior Barbara Bohning, 17, Ranked With Nation's Top Table Tennis Stars

Seventeen-year-old Barbara Bohning, of 250 Dallam Road, Newark, is featured twice in the ranking lists published this week by the U. S. Table Tennis Association.

She is fourth in the 17-and-under category, and in women's singles, is 10th ranked—an automatic ranking on the strength of her consolation victory in the U. S. Open Championships.

"Both rankings are too high," Barbara believes. "It's going to be tough to maintain them through this season."

Barbara, who plays with the Newark YVCA Table Tennis Club, is the first Delaware player ever to achieve national ranking.

Irving Levitt came close in 1933, when he was acknowledged to be 27th in the country in men's singles; but the official list that year included only 20 names.

Miss Bohning made history in Delaware after only two seasons of play. In that time, she has played regularly several times a week, and has played in tournaments from coast to coast.

At the beginning of her two years with the club, Barbara had a handicap of 11, meaning that she started each game with 11 points towards the 21 necessary to win.

Barbara Bohning's game is based on a sound control of the table, made possible with a heavily wristed push that slows down her opponent. Her points, however, are made mainly with a forehand kill that is the envy of most players.

Proficient in several other sports, Barbara intends to enter the University of Delaware next year to major in physical education. She is a senior at Newark High School.

NCC Doug McMinn Succeeds Savitch As DSGA President

Doug McMinn of the Newark Country Club, was elected president of the Delaware State Golf Association at the organization's annual meeting Tuesday night at the DuPont Country Club.

Other officers elected are Vice-President Tony Dominiel, Hercules; Joe Barry, DuPont, and Charles Laldo, secretary-treasurer.

Barry will retain his post as membership handicap director.

Named tournament director, and Chauncey Dean, also of Newark, assistant tournament director.

Retiring president Saul Savitch was presented with a trophy in recognition of his outstanding work for the past year.

McMinn is a former baseball and basketball star.

Clutch 10th Frame Strike Wins Heart Fund Tourney

A young woman bowler from Rehoboth rolled a clutch 10th frame strike to win the woman's title in the state roll-off of the Delaware Heart Fund bowling tournament at Bowlerama on Sunday.

Myrlon Shockley awarded off a final game challenge by Mrs. Gertrude Clarke of Blue Rock Manor, while Jerry Bender of Kynal Apartments won the state men's title.

The trim blonde from Rehoboth rolled a strike and followed up with a second strike and a seven in extra frames to boost her total pin production to 86 above her league average.

Hopkins, Insua Honored On ECAC All-South Team

Two of Coach Dave Nelson's Delaware football players have been named to the Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference College Division South team for 1964.

They are Halfback Bill Hopkins, who set a Delaware season rushing record of 944 yards, and Guard Manny Insua.

Globetrotters' Neal Shines As Dribbler In All-Star Show

The Harlem Globetrotters' Fred Neal will demonstrate his prowess as a dribbler when he opposes the Washington Generals in the basketball end of a tripeheader sports and variety show at the University of Delaware's Carpenter Field House this Saturday night.

Richard Bergmann opposes Lee Dal Joon in a table tennis match on the program starting at 8 o'clock, and additional novelty features preceding the game and continuing at intermission will feature Steve Parry, trampolinist; Mike Le May, acrobat; George Lee, finger balancer, and Lee Marx, acrobatic juggler.

Neal, formerly of Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte, N. C. is the new dribbling sensation of the Trotters.

Neal had made the squad as a versatile and valuable performer last season before observant Owner Abe Saperstein detected his dribbling routine in a workout.

Saperstein advised Fred to concentrate on this specialty— took him along with the Trotters on a summer tour of Europe—and this season has installed him as the team's No. 1 dribbling star.

Fred Neal not only can move the ball expertly from all angles, but is one of his team's hottest scorers and most respected competitors.

Rawstrom's Mermen Face Loyola In Saturday Meet

Coach Harry Rawstrom's University of Delaware swimming team faces Loyola this Saturday in Taylor Pool at 2 p.m.

Defeated at Franklin & Marshall in the season opener, Rawstrom's mermen lost a 75-20 meet here with Bucknell last Tuesday afternoon.

Final Tilts Slated Sunday Afternoon In Junior Football

Final games of the Capital Trail Junior Football League will be played next Sunday, with the Hummingbird and Stanton teams meeting at Stanton, and the Green Raider and Central squads playing at Kells Avenue in Newark.

Last Sunday afternoon, the Vets swept both games, the junior squad defeating the Hummingbirds by 20-0, and the senior VFW team besting the senior Birds 27-0, while Stanton won 20-0 and 13-6 over the junior and senior Green Raiders.

In defeating the Hummingbirds, the Vets' Lane scored the first TD on a quarterback buck from two yards out; Houston scored on a handoff to plunge five yards off tackle for the second TD. Sullivan scored around right end from the Hummingbird 45, and Lane raced 35 yards for the final TD.

Three blocked kicks were recovered by Eppes, Purcell and Bratton. Due to injuries and lack of adequate reserves for the Hummingbirds, the second half of the game was called off.

At Kells Avenue the Junior Green Raider team lost to Stanton, Norris scored one and Tucker, two touchdowns, to win the junior bout.

In the senior game, the first Stanton TD was made on a completed pass from Bock to Carey, and Bock scored the extra point.

Bock scored again, off tackle for 11 yards.

Steve Mitchell Wins Top Senior Trophy As Booster Club Honors NHS Grid Squad

Steve Mitchell, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Fred Mitchell, was awarded the Yellowjacket Booster Club Trophy as the senior football player making most progress during the year, at the Booster Club's annual banquet honoring the Newark High School football team and their coaches in the Aetna Fire Hall on Ogletown Road last Saturday night.

Mitchell, a first string end for Coach Bob Hoffman's Yellowjackets in 1964, and who had not played football in his junior year, was the high scoring end in the State of Delaware during the recent season.

Coach Hoffman introduced his letter-winners of the past season with the seniors led by Co-Captains Ricky Hicks and Reggie Watson at tackle and fullback; Guards Ricky Cronin and Jack Hassman; Charley Hayman—high-scoring halfback in the Blue Hen Conference—Guard John Mayer; Mitchell at end; Manager Mike Murphy; and Statistician Joe Russell.

Junior lettermen are Center Bob Ewing; Halfback Dick Fulton; Tackles Bill Murphy and Pat Walker; and Fullback Don Walp.

Sophomore letter-winners are End Conway Hayman; Halfback Dick Kelley and Jim McDonough; Quarterback Lou Strenigari; End Larry Tucker; and Halfback Davey Word.

"I'm extremely proud of the youngsters this year," Coach Hoffman said, addressing the audience. "We had the best offensive football team in my six years at Newark, and I thought we had come back to back," the Newark coach added concerning Newark's defense of the conference crown won in 1963.

Hoffman cited inexperience and inconsistency for the Yellowjackets' failure to retain the championship in compiling a 6-3 season, and blamed himself for any inconsistent, losing play.

Raymond "Scotty" Duncan, assistant athletic director at the University of Delaware, was toastmaster, and Delaware Line Coach Ed Maley was the principal speaker.

Maley cited the physical values to be derived from football with industry, hard work, and fitness, and the moral values developed with courage, competitive spirit, loyalty, self-sacrifice, poise, ethical conduct, and obedience.

"I congratulate each of you on your participation in the game of football," Coach Maley concluded. Harvey Fulton is president of the Yellowjacket Booster Club.

NCC Golf Quartet Shy Three Strokes For Bermuda Play

HAMILTON, Bermuda — The Newark Country Club pro-amateur team fell three strokes short of qualifying for the finals of the International Goodwill Golf Tournament here.

The foursome of Joe the Pro Andea and amateurs Ted Sweeney, Bill Whitman and Jack McCambridge were five under par for the first six holes but finished with a best-ball 66.

Twenty-seven teams qualified for the final with a cutoff point of 188. The Newark quartet carried 191.

Capt. Ricky Hicks Named 2d Team All-State Tackle

Co-Captain and tackle for Coach Bob Hoffman's 1964 Yellowjackets of Newark High School, Ricky Hicks has been selected by the Wilmington Sportswriters & Broadcasters Association as a tackle on the Delaware All-State Football Second Team.

Hicks, a veteran letterman at end, was transferred to tackle in his senior year with the Yellowjackets, and the lone Newark representative on the three All-State teams selected by the WSBA.

TAG DAY

The Newark Area Welfare Committee will conduct its annual Tag Day program next Wednesday in the Newark and Brookside business districts in effort to obtain public contributions of cash to provide Christmas baskets for needy families in the area.

Mrs. J. Harvey Dickey is perennial chairman of this wonderful Christmas basket project for the Newark Welfare Committee—and for more than a quarter-century, needy families have had their Christmas made brighter by these gift baskets of good fellowship and cheer.

The Welfare Committee work does not stop after Christmas, but provides emergency aid throughout the year.

McAllister Reports Possible Solutions To Farm Problem

High Agricultural Output Results In Sub-Standard Living Level For Farmers

While difficulties facing agriculture have been discussed at great length by many people, the heart of the problem can be stated in a sentence: "Our vast agricultural production machine simply turns out more products than can be sold at prices which give farmers a level of living equal to that of other parts of our economy."

Causes of the problem, and solutions for it, can not be stated as easily, nor can the people who make these kinds of decisions decide on the best course to follow, says W. T. McAllister, farm management specialist at the University of Delaware.

There are six "classic" solutions to the farm problem, McAllister states. Some have found their way into various pieces of farm legislation, and others have been proposed by farm organizations and groups interested in promoting particular segments of agriculture. McAllister says that while previous efforts to cure the ills of agriculture have not been particularly effective, it does not mean that some of the proposed solutions are not valid.

He lists these six alternative solutions: Let the problem work itself out in the open market; increase demand for farm products; reduce farm output; support farm prices; improve bargaining position of farmers; and supplement farm incomes.

McAllister feels the do-nothing approach is popular among non-farmers. Many feel that programs which tampered with basic economic laws of price-making have not solved the problem, and that agriculture should be left to cure its own ills.

"Under this approach inefficient farmers would be forced out, and efficient farms would grow. The objective would be achieved, but at a high cost to those forced out," McAllister reports.

The proposal to increase demand for farm products sounds good. If everyone used one more pint of milk or one more pound of wheat, there

Crittenden Cites Danger Of New Virus For Corn

Maize Dwarf Mosaic is the scientific name given a serious new virus disease of corn. First found in Ohio in 1962, according to Dr. H. W. Crittenden, plant pathologist at the University of Delaware, it is a potential threat to all corn producing areas.

Crittenden attended a two-day conference at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station, where all aspects of the disease were discussed by more than 100 scientists from 32 states and Canada.

Although the disease has not been observed in Delaware, plant pathologists at the university are on the alert for it, and plan to conduct field surveys during 1965 to insure that the disease does not get a head start on producers.

means spending more tax dollars for foreign aid and public welfare.

Reducing farm output by a small amount would solve the problem according to the economist. "This means taking some of the excess resources out of agriculture. The four basic resources are technology and management, labor and land, and capital. Of these, land is the most easily retired. Such a program was started in the 1950's and a different version of the same program is in use on feed grains and wheat today. It has had some effect on total output but costs have been high," McAllister advises.

Price supports have met with varying degrees of success—good in the case of wool and sugar, failure in wheat and potatoes. In most cases, the problem has been to establish a price high enough to make the programs acceptable to farmers, and low enough not to encourage overproduction.

McAllister feels such programs didn't help low income farmers because they usually have very little to sell anyway.

Improving the bargaining position of farmers is a method that has gained national attention. The National Farmers Organization is attempting this by getting farmers to sign contracts permitting the NFO to act as their marketing agent. They have used strikes and withholding actions in an effort to gain bargaining power. Large inter-regional co-operatives that have marketing contracts with their members is another approach. A third approach is to have control of resources used for producing the commodity on which they are bargaining, McAllister says.

"Some gains have been made through this approach, but it still does not attack the problem of total agricultural production adjustment," he said.

Farmers need more cash income, not higher prices. Therefore, supplementing farm incomes appeals to

"And What A Merchandising Idea"

This is the comment Armand Carpentier made to Dennis Hawkes, University of Delaware marketing specialist, as Mr. and Mrs. Carpentier leave on their two weeks Grace Lines, Caribbean Cruise, his award for winning the Poultry Merchandiser Of The Year Contest. Over 400 poultry retailers participated in the 1964 contest sponsored by the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc., in cooperation with the agricultural economics department at the University of Delaware.

College Frosh Lacking In Reading Skill Admissions Director E. R. Ott Reports

Dr. Edward R. Ott, director of admissions at the University of Delaware, reports the entering freshmen's inability to read well "is the result of an age which you can turn on a button and get everything you used to be able to get out of a book."

Ott said the university's admissions office closely examines the college board examinations of every applicant, and rejects those with low scores on the verbal test.

The university also sponsors a reading study course in the summer, and teaches an extension course designed "to serve as a bridge between high school and college," Ott said.

Each student arriving at the university is placed in an English course section on the basis of his ability. His ability is determined by both the college board tests and his first two weeks of writing, Ott said.

Dr. Paul A. Cundiff, the chairman of the university's English department, agreed with Ott.

"The critics are right," he said. "The average students—not the better ones, of course—don't write as well as we would like and don't read as much as we would like."

Cundiff stressed, however, that "this is not the fault of the high schools. They're like us—overrun with students."

"What disturbs me," he said, "is the lack of intellectual curiosity."

farmers. This is being done in some farm programs. Wheat, feed grains and cotton are examples. McAllister feels the idea has versatility in that it can be used to keep farm income at a stable level, and when necessary, can encourage excess resources to be taken out of production. It also can be used to provide minimum income for a farm family seeking off-farm employment or training.

Depending on the way it is administered, it can be a means of stabilizing farm income during an adjustment period or a major farm welfare program.

YWCA Announces Winter Classes At Smyth Center

Classes in portrait painting, crewel work, and family square dancing are being offered in the new winter term of the Alice P. Smyth Center YWCA at 318 South College Avenue.

A new group in astronomy, with Alvin Nacman as instructor, is being sponsored jointly with the Newark public schools, and started Dec. 8, at 7:45 p.m., in the Christiana High School planetarium for 10 sessions.

Groups for teen-agers include fashion and beauty ideas on Tuesdays from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m., while family square and folk dancing is scheduled for the first Saturday of each month at 8:30 p.m. in the Center. All ages are invited to register for this activity.

The new term opened last week, with registrations still open for some events, and will continue through Feb. 23.

Memberships and participation are available to men, women, and children, and details on any class may be secured from the Smyth Center.

Army Offers Holiday Leave For Current Enlistments

Men who enlist in the Regular Army between Dec. 9 and Jan. 1, may request up to 15 days advance leave and be home for the holidays according to a recent announcement by Sgt. Struyk, local Army recruiter.

He also advised that service personnel enlisting during the same period may be granted up to 17 days leave, to preclude reporting to their units on Christmas and New Year's Eve.

Christmas Greens Workshop Planned At Smyth Center

Mrs. Charles Dunham will be the speaker and instructor at the Christmas greens workshop to be held immediately following next Wednesday's luncheon at the Alice P. Smyth Center YWCA in Newark.

During luncheon, Mrs. Dunham will discuss basic methods for making Christmas wreaths, and there will be time for questions concerning any special projects guests may have in mind, before everyone sets to work.

Those interested in attending the Christmas workshop must register not later than next Monday. There is a small fee required to cover cost of wreath frame, ribbon, wire and spray.

Participants should bring their own evergreens, clippers and ornaments. Mrs. Joseph Brown and Mrs. David Swick will be hostesses at the luncheon.

Guests may bring a sandwich or buy one at the Center, and beverage is provided. A nursery is available on request.
