W. S. GREGG EXPIRES

Counsel For du Pont Co. Died Thursday

William S. Gregg, 26 West Main Street, advisory counsel of the legal department of the E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Company, died last Thursday morning from a heart attack suffered while en route by train from Philadelphia to Wilmington.

He was pronounced dead at the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, to where he was taken from the French Street station at 10:35 o'clock. He would have been 66 years old on Oct. 10.

Mr. Gregg joined with the du Pont Company on Jan. 11, 1917, to handle the company's war contracts with the United States Government. From this position of attorney in the legal department, he arose steadily to the position he held at the time of his death.

The deceased began in Philadelphia as legal stenographer for the Virginia Coal and Iron Company and shortly afterward entered the service of the federal government. He became successively law clerk in the Department of Justice at Washington, special assistant to the United States attorney in Philadelphia, and special assistant to the United States attorney general. In the latter post, he acted as counsel for the government in the famous United Shoe Machinery case which the government brought against the company under the anti-trust law. He was also active in the Chicago Packers suit brought by the government under the same law.

Georgetown Graduate
Born in Newport, Pa., Mr. Gregg attended the New Bloomfield, Pa. Academy and was graduated from Georgetown University, Washington, in 1905, with the degree of LL.B. Funeral services, conducted by (Please Turn To Page 3)

Back To Standard
That one hour of precious sleep lost by Newark residents, when clocks were moved ahead by sixty minutes on the last Sunday in April, will be regained this week end.

Daylight saving time ends officially at two o'clock Sunday morning, when clocks and watches, moved forward in April, can be turned back to Standard time.

Provisions Of 1940 AAA Farm Program Approved

Provisions of the 1940 Farm Program have been approved and will be made known to Delaware farmers in plenty of time for them to plan cropping operations before planting time, announces D. A. Taylor, Harrington, chairman of the State AAA Committee.

Mr. Taylor explained that, according to a statement made by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, "Thorough consideration given to the present European situation and its possible effect on American agriculture when the 1940 program was drafted. The aim of this program is to maintain a production of farm commodities in this country which will balance with the demand, whatever that demand may prove to be, and to maintain and improve the fertility of our farm land. Farmers' interests are carefully safeguarded in this program which also serves the public interest."

APPLE SURPLUS PROBLEM

Committee In Session To Draw Solution

Because of the larger-than-normal 1939 national apple crop, a committee of Delaware apple growers met Monday night at the State Board of Agriculture offices in Dover to discuss plans for moving the surplus fruit this year.

Cobb Called Session
The session was called by A. D. Cobb, assistant director of extension at the University of Delaware, who last week, with A. Bailey Thomas, of Wyoming, attending a meeting in Washington, held by a group of representative apple growers from over the United States to discuss the problem on a national basis with representatives of the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation.

At the Washington meeting, it was brought out that a reduction of 20,000,000 bushels of apples in the supply available for the fresh fruit market was advisable to relieve the situation caused by more than average production of both apples and competing fruits and the uncertainty existing in the export market.

The program recommended by the removal of apples from regular grower representatives provides for the transfer by growers of approximately 10,000,000 bushels of apples of less desirable grades from sales for fresh consumption into commercial by-products or other outlets. It was further recommended that the FSCC make arrangements to purchase from individual growers a quantity equivalent to that transferred to other outlets.

Methods Of Diversion
Growers would then be able to divert their apples in the following ways: Canning, drying, freezing, conversion into juice, ensilage, stock feed, fertilizer, not harvesting, or by other approved methods of transferring the fruit from fresh consumption channels. All fruit of marketable quality kept out of the fresh market in these ways would be considered as having been diverted under this program.

The Dover meeting was called by Mr. Cobb to facilitate prompt action on the part of Delaware growers. Those attending were members of the state apple growers' advisory committee which was appointed in 1937 by the Delaware Extension Service to function in the FSCC surplus apple purchase plan of that year.

The state committee requested the FSCC to send representative to Delaware at once to outline details of a tentative purchase plan which may be used to move surplus apples.

Mr. Cobb stated that no purchases could possibly be made under any such plan before Oct. 1. He pointed out, however, that apples of marketable grades could be diverted any time after Sept. 18 by growers wishing to qualify for purchase allotments. Proof of diversion would get in touch with members of the state committee in order to learn details of the proposed plan.

Card Party To Be Held By Ivy Crow Temple
The ways and means committee of Ivy Crow Temple No. 4, Ladies of the Golden Eagle, will hold a card party Friday evening, Nov. 17, at eight o'clock in Fraternal Hall. Among the awards will be a turkey and a pair of chickens. Mrs. Ida H. Colmery is chairman of the committee, assisted by Mrs. Gertrude Williams, Mrs. Emma Poore, and Mrs. Viola Ewing.

LOCAL DOG EXHIBITION SATURDAY

Playground Fund To Benefit From Show Of Canines

Newark's first dog show will be held Saturday afternoon at two o'clock on the athletic field at Newark High School, where canines of all breeds and classes will be paraded before an outstanding corps of judges.

Hastily arranged at the request of A. Raymond Jackson, state chairman of the National Dog Week committee, the affair is open to all dogs in Newark and vicinity, from prize animals of blooded stock all the way down to those of mixed breeding.

Classes for entries will not be arranged until the show actually gets under way. A parade around the athletic field will open the affair, while the judges decide on the different classes to be viewed.

Ribbons To Be Given
The usual blue ribbon will be given to winners, red ribbons to dogs judged second, and yellow ribbons will go to the third dog in each class. Special ribbons, stamped in gold, have been procured for the event and are being displayed throughout the town. Other awards will be made also.

Frank H. Clark, noted breeder of Irish and English setters, who formerly resided in Newark, will head the judges. He will be assisted by Paul Leahy, Mr. Jackson, Dr. P. A. Traynor, and Mrs. Ross Robinson, each of whom is well known in state dogdom.

Two judging rings will be placed in front of the football stands at the athletic field for the event. With more than 30 entries already filed, officials of the affair are hopeful of having at least 100 dogs on display.

The entry fee has been set at 50 cents for each dog and owners have been requested to have all animals on leashes.

Playground To Benefit
Open to the general public, both as exhibitors and spectators, a charge of ten cents will be made for admission.

All returns above actual expenses will be given to the Newark Playground and Swimming Pool Fund. Charles H. Rutledge, a member of the playground committee, is general chairman of the showing. He is working under the direct supervision of Mr. Clark, state show chairman for similar events in Wilmington, Dover, and Laurel.

Mayor Proclaims Event
Mayor Collins last week issued a proclamation naming the period from September 17 through 23 as National Dog Week in Newark. The show Saturday afternoon will climax the celebration.

In order to cooperate with the local show, a similar event originally scheduled to be held at Baynard Stadium, Wilmington, Saturday afternoon, was moved ahead to Saturday morning so as to avoid conflict.

LOCAL BAND BEST AT REHOBOTH

School Unit Is Judged Finest In Fire Parade

Resplendent in new uniforms, the Newark High School band was judged the best in the parade that climaxed the annual convention of the Delaware State Volunteer Firemen's Association and the Delaware Volunteer Firemen's Auxiliary Association last Thursday at Rehoboth.

Marching under the command of Director Frederick B. Katz, the unit accompanied the Aetna Hose Hook and Ladder Company's delegation of paraders. Other prize winning musical groups were: Mid-dletown, Harrington, Laurel, and the Delaware First Drum and Bugle Corps of Talleyville.

Christiana Wins Prize

The delegation from neighboring Christiana was second to the Rob-bins Hose Company of Dover with the largest number of men in line. Parade judges were: Mayor J. Arthur Downing, former Mayor Fred A. Ross, Chief T. C. Beswick, Upper Darby, Pa.; B. B. Ewing, Mrs. May Hall McCabe, Mrs. W. S. Corkran, and Miss Ann Hazzard.

With close to 5,000 delegates registered, the convention was one of the largest in the history of the firemen's association. Fifty companies were represented in the parade.

The 1940 session will be held at Smyrna.

DELAWARE NYA BOYS RANK HIGH

Students Who Work Fill Many Offices

As a result of studies just completed, it appears that NYA students at Delaware colleges are better and more outstanding students than the group as a whole. William H. Morris, assistant state administrator, announced this week.

Although less than one-sixth of the student body at the University of Delaware was employed on NYA at any time during the past academic year, over one-half, or 14 out of 25, of the students elected to Phi Kappa Phi, or the leading honor society at the university were NYA students. Over half, or 4 out of 7, of the students elected to Tau Beta Phi, the engineering honor society, were employed on NYA, and over one-fifth, or 36 out of 165, of the students on the dean's honor roll were NYA workers.

In addition, NYA students filled the following offices: Two of the four class presidencies, the presidency of the Student Council, and the editor-in-chiefship of the Review, the college publication.

Colored Students Lead
Again, at the State College for Colored Students, Dover, out of 15 students who were on the NYA, 8 received awards at the end of the academic year, including the J. A. Frear prize for general leadership. Of these 8, four received two awards.

There are possibly two reasons for the good showing made by NYA students. Mr. Morris pointed out. The first is that in selecting those to be employed, consideration is given to leadership, scholastic ability, and personal qualities, as well as need of employment. Secondly, it is possibly true that those who find it necessary to work while attending college take greater advantage of the opportunities.

Credit for the results obtained is due to the college officials in charge of NYA, Charles Bush, at the University of Delaware, and J. B. Clarke, at the State College for Colored Students, according to Mr. Morris.

Delaware Camera Club To Go To Valley Forge

Members of the Delaware Camera Club will go to Valley Forge, Pa., on Saturday where they will photograph this historic site under the direction of Christian Sanderson, well-known historian.

Cars will start from the duPont Hotel, Wilmington, at one o'clock. A five-minute stop for a discussion of the Battle of Brandywine will be made at Birmingham after which the group will go directly to Valley Forge. Dinner will be held at the Old Forge Inn at Malvern at 5 o'clock. In the event of rain or unsettled weather, the trip will be postponed until Oct. 7.

Plans For Fall Flower Show Completed By Committees

To Be Staged At Century Club Saturday-Sunday

Final plans have been completed for the eighth annual flower show to be held in the Newark Century Club on Saturday from four to ten p. m. and on Sunday from twelve to six o'clock, under the sponsorship of the Newark Garden Club.

Judges Selected
The specimen exhibits and dahlias will be judged by Howard E. Ball, Miller Speakman, and Fred Smith, officers of the Delaware State Dahlia Association. Baskets, bowls, and artistic arrangements will be judged by a committee from the Wilmington Garden Club, headed by the president, Miss Ellen duPont, consisting of Mrs. E. L. Homsey and Miss Gertrude Brinkley.

All entries are to be brought to the Century Club Friday evening between six and ten p. m. Perishable blooms may be brought Saturday morning before ten o'clock.

The various committees have been working hard to make this show the best ever staged and all Newark residents are asked to support and encourage the workers by their participation and attendance. Any exhibit which can't be sent will be called for if a member of the garden club is notified.

The following committees are in charge of arrangements:
Entry and classification—Mrs. E. W. Ginter, chairman, Mrs. Fred Strickland, Miss Ida Leak, Mrs. E. L. Richards, William H. Phillips, and Miss Elizabeth Hill; arrangement and decoration—Mrs. David Eastburn, chairman, Mesdames R. O. Bauman, R. W. Heim, and M. W. Hanson, the Mesdames Edwina Long, Winifred Fader, Lydia Fader, and Freda Ritz, and Messrs. A. D. Cobb, Leon Ryan, and W. P. McCright.

Other Committees
Hostess—Mrs. R. T. Jones, chairman, and Mesdames A. D. Cobb, E. Douglas, M. M. Daugherty, W. A. Wilkinson, T. F. Manns, W. C. Waples, C. J. Rees, L. H. Ryan, J. Robinson, and Miss M. E. Wright; properties—Elmer J. Ellison, chairman, Wilmer Hill, Harry Hill, W. P. McCright, E. W. Ginter, G. E. Dutton, Jr., and A. D. Ginter; A. Eastman is in charge of the judges and awards committee. American Flag Council To Hold Hot Dog Roast

American Flag Council No. 23, Jr. O. U. A. M. will stage a hot dog roast Monday evening at Wesley Chapel, McClellandville. Members of Eureka Council No. 1, Welcome Council No. 7, Winona Council No. 9, Diligent Council No. 10, of Wilmington, and Middletown Council No. 2, will be guests at the affair.

Plans are now underway for a card and bingo party to be held Monday night, Oct. 16, in Odd Fellows Hall.

Much Enthusiasm Shown

While considerable interest and much enthusiasm was expressed for a "Newark Day" at the fair, it was plainly indicated that a more successful trip could be staged in the spring.

Numerous people in the vicinity have already visited the great New York show and undoubtedly many of them would like to return, but it was doubted that family budgets (Please Turn To Page 3)

The workers in our subscription campaign have now settled down to the real work. A few withdrawals from the list leaves an opening for more of the ambitious men or women of Newark and vicinity to enter and get their share of the hundreds of dollars to be given away by The Newark Post on Oct. 28.

From the credits as published above, the race so far is close and anyone entering now would be under no handicap. They would find it interesting as well as profitable. If you have a little spare time come in and get a receipt book. It costs you nothing to enter and the last you can make is twenty per cent on all you collect.

According to the standing as published; Miss Lydia Mearns leads the list with very little difference between first and last.

FRIENDS SOLICITED TO ASSIST WORKERS

New Chevrolet Car Or $500 In Cash To Winner; Awards $1,200

The Newark Post's big circulation campaign is now starting to take shape. The inactive workers will be taken from the list as soon as it becomes known that they are not interested and fail to make a report at least once a week. It will not be long before the field will be left to the really interested workers who mean business and who have made up their mind to go out after that new 1940 Chevrolet car or $500 in cash. At no time in the campaign will the exact standings be published as the right is reserved to withhold some of the credits.

Time To Enter
There is still time to enter as one of the workers in this drive. The few who have started to work have not scratched the surface as yet and many a first prize has been won in these campaigns by some real active and enthusiastic entry who feared no competition but jumped into the race during the second week and secured business where the other fellow said there was nothing doing.

FAIR TRIP POSTPONED

"Newark Day" Not To Be Held This Year At Exhibit

"Newark Day" at the World's Fair in New York will not be held this year, it was decided last Friday night by a special committee called by the Chamber of Commerce to discuss its possibilities.

While the idea is being dropped for the present, tentative plans were made for staging such an event in the spring of 1940, when it was decided, more people will have a desire to attend the mammoth show.

Those who participated in the discussion were: Mrs. Harry S. Gabriel and Mrs. John R. Fader, American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. R. T. Jones and Mrs. J. M. McVey, New Century Club; Miss Helen Clark, Business Women's Club; Arthur E. Tomhave, Lions Club; American Legion, and Meyer Pilsnick and C. H. Rutledge, Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Rutledge presided.

Has Public Approval

The stamp of public approval has already been placed upon The Newark Post's campaign. Nothing but words of commendation have come to this office on the liberality, fairness, and awareness of the whole proposition. We feel sure that as the campaign progresses, the people will willingly support their favorite candidates by giving them a subscription or renewal to this paper. It takes hard work on the part of the contestants to arouse interest in their behalf, but if they will just start out and put a little new and ginger into their campaign they will soon find that it is not hard to get the business.

Little Competition

The few who have started have found that it is not hard to get subscriptions and renewals to this paper. The price is attractive, being less than a great number of weekly papers of the same standing. The publishers of this paper are standing behind an expense account of over $1,200 on this deal and it will take some real hard work on the part of the contestants to pull the paper out even. Our loss, if any, will be the workers' gain.

Where can anyone find the wonderful opportunity that The Newark Post is presenting to the men and women, young and old of Newark? (Please Turn To Page 3)

Monferoni Girls Guest At Lions Meeting Here

Four advanced students of the Antonetti Monferoni dancing studio, Wilmington, provided entertainment at the weekly meeting of local Lions Tuesday night at the Newark Country Club. The girls were presented by Thomas Ross, chairman of the meeting who served as master of ceremonies.

A tap dance specialty was featured by Miss Audrey Steward, while Miss Betty Millman did a Gypsy dance. The Misses Jerry Parks and Alma Smith rounded out a quartet which presented a "can-can" number.

Ray Raegar, pianist, furnished musical accompaniment, while Louis T. Staats led the group singing.

ISAIAH: FORETELLING THE BIRTH OF THE MESSIAH KING

LESSON TEXT—Isaiah 7:14; 9:1-7; 11:1-5.
GOLDEN TEXT—His name shall be called Wonderful, Counselor, The mighty God, The everlasting Father, The Prince of Peace.—Isaiah 9:6.

Christ is coming! Christ has come! Christ is coming again! All three of these great truths are declared by Holy Scripture. In our lesson for today we study the prophecy of His birth which was given by Isaiah about 750 years before the event took place, and with it we find many beautiful details concerning His blessed character and accomplishments. It is entirely appropriate that the lesson for today should be taken from the Old Testament and relate to the prophecy of the coming of the Messiah King, thus binding together the Old and the New Testaments. Isaiah's prophecy prepares us to study His life in the Gospel of Matthew, beginning next week.

I. The Coming of the King (7:14; 9:1-6).
To us it is entirely understandable that the Son of God was to be come flesh and dwell among us and that all the grace and power of God should be upon Him, for we know that He did come in perfect fulfillment of the Scriptures. But let us not fail to note the marvel of this revelation made centuries in advance through God's prophet.

1. Born of a Virgin (7:14; 9:6).
He was to be born. Christ did not come as a fully matured divine being after the fashion of the so-called gods of mythology, but He entered our needy world as the Babe of Bethlehem's manger. What infinite condescension!

He was to be born of a virgin, and so He was. There are those who would minimize the importance of this, or try to explain it away by interpreting the word "virgin" to mean a young married woman. The late Robert Dick Wilson, an outstanding authority, says, "The great and only difficulty lies in disbelief in predictive prophecy and in the almighty power of God, or in the desire to throw discredit on the divine Sonship."

2. God with Us (7:14).
"Immanuel" means "God with us." Isaiah had a foregleam of the incarnation which brought the eternal Son of God into that God-man relationship which was absolutely indispensable if there was to be redemption. Sin had made a barrier between God and man which man could not pass, and only as the God-man, Christ Jesus came through that barrier to be "God with us" could there be any hope of our salvation.

3. A Great Light (9:2).
The Messiah was to break through the dense darkness of sin and sorrow to bring light and joy. How gloriously that prophecy has been fulfilled!

II. The Character of the King (9:6; 11:1-5).
The prophet foretold not only the meaningful names of the coming Messiah, but pictured in glowing beauty the mighty things which He was to accomplish.

1. Revealed by His Names (9:6).
"Wonderful"—that word has been so misused that it means comparatively little to us. It really fulfills its true meaning in Christ. He is unique, remarkable, yes, truly wonderful.

"Counselor"—in every detail of life, great or small, an infallible guide. "Mighty God"—not just like God, or representing God; Christ is God. "Everlasting Father"—the tender and loving, unfailing One to whom time does not bring any change, for He is the "Father of eternity." "Prince of Peace"—He is not yet the ruler of the nations of the world, hence we hear not only of wars but of rumors of wars. Mark it well that there will be no enduring peace until He comes to reign whose right it is to reign, the divine Prince of Peace.

2. Revealed by His Deeds (9:7; 11:1-5).
Eternal justice and righteousness, peace, wisdom, understanding, counsel and might, the spirit of knowledge and the fear of God, unfailing equity—all these glorious accomplishments are to characterize the Messiah according to Isaiah's prophecy.

Has the prophecy been fulfilled? We know that all of these qualities were in Christ when He came to earth the first time, but the complete fulfillment of this prophecy awaits that day toward which the child of God looks with joy and hope when Christ shall come again. As we study this portion of our lesson, our hearts should cry out with John, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus!" (Rev. 22:20).

To Gain Truth
Truth is never learned in any department of industry by arguing, but by working and observing; and, when you have got hold of one truth for certain, 10 others will grow out of it. The assertion of truth is to be always gentle.—Huskin.

had already believed on the Lord Jesus Christ and had been regenerated by His Holy Spirit. That to which he is urged is simply to conform his daily life more to the gospel he had thus embraced. To practice godliness, therefore, one must first be godly, and to be godly in the Bible meaning of that term, involves a clean heart and a right spirit, which God bestows on them who accept Him and confess His Son. "He that hath the Son of God hath life eternal; he that hath not the Son of God hath not life" (1 John 5:12). The first principle of godliness is obedience to God, and the first principle of obedience is submission to the yoke of Christ.

Affairs of Men
"There is a tide in the affairs of men Which taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, all the voyage of their life Is bound in shallows and in miseries." If fortune be taken in its highest and holiest sense, then the tide that carries thither is the Name above every name, and "there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). "Now is the accepted time; today is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2). "Hear and your soul shall live!"

Learn a lesson from the times. In these days men are bent on the development of their outward man, but do thou, not neglecting or despising that, be equally bent on the development of thy inner man.

Specific Promise in Bible
In other words, there is not a single want of our nature for which there is not a specific promise in the Bible ready to be made over to us if we comply with the simple and reasonable conditions. Is it food and raiment? "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Is it counsel and direction in our daily affairs? "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God, who giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not." Is it support in old age and death? "My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

But passing now from the testimony of the Bible, reflect on that from observation and experience. Take the question of health. The life insurance companies, just referred to, will tell you that they make special rates for those whose habits are supposed to be promoted by true godliness.

Question Of Fortune
Take the question of fortune. While it is not affirmed that the godly always become rich in this world's goods, yet they make better workmen, more judicious managers and clearer thinkers, all of which improves their financial status. "The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it."

Take the question of one's influence and standing among men. Does not the world respect and value a truly godly man? Would not the world rather deal with men who obey the laws of God than with those who disobey them? A truly godly man will not sell his vote, nor defraud a neighbor, nor deceive a friend. He will give full measure and weight, and will tell the truth.

had already believed on the Lord Jesus Christ and had been regenerated by His Holy Spirit. That to which he is urged is simply to conform his daily life more to the gospel he had thus embraced. To practice godliness, therefore, one must first be godly, and to be godly in the Bible meaning of that term, involves a clean heart and a right spirit, which God bestows on them who accept Him and confess His Son. "He that hath the Son of God hath life eternal; he that hath not the Son of God hath not life" (1 John 5:12). The first principle of godliness is obedience to God, and the first principle of obedience is submission to the yoke of Christ.

Affairs of Men
"There is a tide in the affairs of men Which taken at the flood, leads on to fortune; Omitted, all the voyage of their life Is bound in shallows and in miseries." If fortune be taken in its highest and holiest sense, then the tide that carries thither is the Name above every name, and "there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved" (Acts 4:12). "Now is the accepted time; today is the day of salvation" (II Cor. 6:2). "Hear and your soul shall live!"

Learn a lesson from the times. In these days men are bent on the development of their outward man, but do thou, not neglecting or despising that, be equally bent on the development of thy inner man.

Specific Promise in Bible
In other words, there is not a single want of our nature for which there is not a specific promise in the Bible ready to be made over to us if we comply with the simple and reasonable conditions. Is it food and raiment? "Seek ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you." Is it counsel and direction in our daily affairs? "If any man lack wisdom, let him ask of God, who giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not." Is it support in old age and death? "My God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus."

But passing now from the testimony of the Bible, reflect on that from observation and experience. Take the question of health. The life insurance companies, just referred to, will tell you that they make special rates for those whose habits are supposed to be promoted by true godliness.

Question Of Fortune
Take the question of fortune. While it is not affirmed that the godly always become rich in this world's goods, yet they make better workmen, more judicious managers and clearer thinkers, all of which improves their financial status. "The blessing of the Lord, it maketh rich, and he addeth no sorrow with it."

Take the question of one's influence and standing among men. Does not the world respect and value a truly godly man? Would not the world rather deal with men who obey the laws of God than with those who disobey them? A truly godly man will not sell his vote, nor defraud a neighbor, nor deceive a friend. He will give full measure and weight, and will tell the truth.

What Is Godliness?
But what is godliness? It is not merely making a profession of Christianity and uniting with the church, because there is such a thing as a form of godliness without its power. The thought of this text is addressed to a young man who was already a Christian. He Gooden, president, officiated. Mrs. Mary Smalley, Harmony, and Mrs. Ford spent Tuesday with Mrs. Alice Appleby.

Pencader Grange No. 60 held its regular meeting Monday night. Overseer J. L. Ford officiated in the absence of Worthy Master Delbert Gooden, who underwent an operation at the Delaware Hospital, Wilmington, September 5.

The Home Economics were in charge of the program which consisted of a display of home-made articles and the following features: Mrs. Helen Weiner was chairman; group singing, orchestral numbers, a reading by Miss Jeanette Laws, and a recitation by Miss Marion Comly.

Members Hold Debate
A debate, featuring Mrs. Laura Smith and Mrs. Ford, centered on the following questions: Be it resolved that the modern home is a better place in which to rear children than the one of our grandmother's time.

Games were won by Miss Ann Conner and Clifford Ellis. Miss Conner also gave a reading. A gift of a pair of blankets was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Davis, recently married members. "Booster night" was set for October 28, with a chicken party supper scheduled for October 12.

Mrs. Sarah Dayett spent Friday with Mrs. Marie Delbert at Elkton, where Miss Florence Dayett, Baltimore, was a guest also.

Mrs. Carroll Mumford, Newark, spent Tuesday with Mrs. J. C. Barr.

Mrs. Amanda Johnson and Miss Ada Johnson returned home after spending several days in Virginia. They returned via the Skyline Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. William Huggins spent Wednesday with their daughter, Mrs. William Wilson, near St. Georges.

Mrs. Charlotte Dayett celebrated her 78th birthday Wednesday. Salem Social held the September meeting in the church on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harry W. Davis was a caller at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Brooks on Sunday.

800 Furloughed Employees Called Back By B. & O.
Announcement was made at the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad general offices in Baltimore, Md., this week that more than 800 furloughed employees of the maintenance of equipment department of the company had been called back to work at various points on the railroad to repair and build locomotives and freight cars. This has been made necessary by the increased volume of freight moving during recent weeks.

Advice For Packing Peach Crop
Fresh peaches—universally popular dessert fruit—were recently designated by the Secretary of Agriculture as one of the foods currently in surplus. For this year, the peach crop of the United States is larger than usual, and considerably bigger than it was last year. Best peach news of all comes from the states supplying the market now and on through to early October.

This abundance late in the season probably will mean that peaches will be well represented on winter supply shelves, says Miss Pearl MacDonald, nutrition specialist for the University of Delaware Extension Service. They'll be put up whole, as pickles; canned, in halves; made into preserves in small uniform pieces, or lose their shape entirely in the process of becoming good peach butter.

Pack In Glass Jars
The Federal Bureau of Home Economics says the best way to can peaches is to pack them in glass jars or tin cans after a short pre-cooking, then to process them in a boiling water bath. Put up this way in pint or quart glass jars, in number 2 or 3 tin cans, they'll need about 15 minutes of processing.

Peaches simmered in syrup before they go into the jars will shrink a little and fit in more closely. They will also help to prevent a brownish discoloration that sometimes starts at the top of a jar of canned peaches. The preliminary cooking destroys the enzyme that starts this discoloration before it has a chance to begin its work. Cook the peaches in the syrup only 4 to 8 minutes, but not until they are soft.

Mature To Ripen
Good peaches to buy are fairly firm with few or no bruises. The test of peaches ripeness is not its beguiling blush, but its background color. If this has changed from green to whitish or yellowish, the peach should be a good buy. Peaches not to be used immediately should be mature enough that they will ripen. If the "ground" color has started to break—that is, turn yellowish or whitish, the peach should ripen satisfactorily. Avoid peaches that have small skin punctures with gum oozing out of them, and those that have brown spots that may be the first sign of rapidly spreading decay.

Harnessed Sun Rays Are Put To Work
Harnessed rays of the sun are cooking food, drying fruit, extracting salt from sea water and heating houses in Russia. The progress made in solving the problem is of particular significance in the arid Asian republics, the Caucasus, and the Caucasus. An experimental station has obtained satisfactory results in applying the sun's rays in drying fruit and vegetables.

The Academy of Sciences in Moscow is studying the possibilities of using solar energy for household appliances and for industrial work. It is also making tentative investigation of the possibilities of using solar energy in the various fields of action.

Largest Grange Class
The largest class of candidates to join Harmony Grange in a number of years, was given the first two degrees on Monday evening. Joseph Mitchell, a past master, assisted Worthy Master Leon Gilmore with the initiation work.

In the group were: Miss Mary Taylor, Miss Gladys Eastburn, Miss Jane Klair, Miss Ben Hicks, Mrs. Charlotte Milbourne, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ehart, Miss Carrie Lynam, George Lynam, Charles Davis, James Goodwin, Davis Walker, Raymond H. Beyerlein, David Rambo, Robert Cooper, and Miss Marion Crossan.

Grange Will Rally

Next week, the Grange will rally with Granges all over the nation in celebration of national "booster night." This meeting is open to the public.

The forty-second annual convention of the Mill Creek Hundred Sunday School Convention is being held today at Red Clay Creek Presbyterian Church. An all-day program will be given. The morning speaker will be the Rev. Richard M. Green, pastor of Hockessin M. E. Church, whose subject is "Christian Education for Today." Reports from the nine Sunday Schools will be a part of that program.

Special Musical Program

In the afternoon, the guest speakers will be: the Rev. George A. Burslem, D. D., pastor of St. George's Presbyterian Church, and Miss Ethel Reynolds of Wilmington. There will be special music at each service.

Delegates from the Ebenezer M. E. School, White Clay Creek

School, and Red Clay Creek School are: Mrs. Anna Cameron, Mrs. J. B. Patterson, Mrs. John Lynch, Mrs. Carl Nelson, Mrs. Raymond Davis, Ebenezer, Miss Elizabeth Brown, Miss Pearl Vought, Mrs. Raymond Benson, White Clay Shakespeare, Mrs. Joseph Pierson, Mrs. Hervey Woodward, and Mrs. Leslie Woodward, Red Clay.

Dee-Cee Club Social

The Dee-Cee Club of Ebenezer M. E. Church enjoyed their first fall social Friday evening. Plans for a Halloween party to be held Oct. 29 were discussed. The following decorating committee was named: Miss Jane Staats, Miss Dottie Little, Miss Kathleen Little, Paul Nelson, Charles Nelson, and Buddy Wiggins.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Eastburn moved Saturday to Marshallton from their home near Marmal. Recently, they sold their 92 acre farm to Mrs. James Skelly of Wilmington.

Miss Anna Dennison, and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. P. Hicks visited the New York World's Fair last week.

Hanna Son Born

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Hanna are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son born Sept. 10 at their home on Mermaid Road. The baby has been named Edwin Joseph.

Whiteman's garage, recently remodeled into a dance hall, is proving very popular to the young people.

Harry Kelly has been on a motor trip to visit friends in Arizona. Mrs. Clara Pyle of State College, Pa., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pennington.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Jennings Billy and Emilie Ann Pennington with Mr. and Mrs. William Moore of Roselle, were entertained Sunday at Sellersville, Pa., as the guests of Mrs. Alice Morrow.

Other Social Items

Mr. and Mrs. Layton Baynard of Milltown Road, have returned from a trip to Connecticut, Vermont, and Rhode Island.

Miss Mary Armor returned Monday to the Women's College, University of Delaware, where she will begin her senior year studies.

Miss Helen Pennington of Morrisville, Pa., spent the week end at the home of her parents at "The Mermaid."

Harmony rural school was awarded a first-aid kit this week by the Anti-Tuberculosis Society of Delaware for complying with certain health rules during the 1938, 1939 school term.

Farm Program

An important provision which will encourage further soil conservation measures on small farms, insures that as much as $20 may be earned on every farm participating in the program. Another important conservation provision will encourage the planting of forest trees on farms by allowing farmers to earn up to $30 for tree planting, in addition to the regular soil-building allowance for the farm.

Soil-building practices have been provided to meet more adequately the needs for soil conservation, said Mr. Taylor, and special emphasis will be given to conservation of wildlife. In areas where food for the farm family is generally inadequate, a home-garden provisions will be available. The new provisions also extend to commercial peanut and commercial vegetable programs to more counties than in 1939.

MORTGAGE BURNED BY LODGE

History Of Organization Is Reviewed

By Miss Emma S. Maclary

Newport, Sept. 20—Armstrong Lodge No. 26, A. F. and A. M., held a celebration here on Monday evening for the purpose of burning the mortgage on its building. The history of Armstrong Lodge which was organized and the charter granted in 1870, was given by Francis Diehl, master. The Masonic Temple here was erected in 1913 and provides a lovely meeting room, nicely furnished; a large auditorium and banquet room, as well as two other rooms, one housing the Newport Post Office, the other a small store.

Stephen Leech served as master of ceremonies for the evening.

The speaker of the evening was Dr. M. Dorizof, world traveler, and a member of the faculty of the University of Pennsylvania.

Guests of honor were George W. Vandegrift, grand master of the State of Delaware and his staff, and other prominent Masons in this section.

The Concord High School Band furnished musical selections during the evening.

Centre Is Opened
The Newport Recreational Centre

was officially started Friday when footings were laid and concrete poured for the foundation wall which will be 6 inches deep and 18 inches wide. The building, which will be of stone construction, will be erected at the corner of Marshall and Christiana Streets at an estimated cost of $7,000. The building will be 40 by 26 ft., and will comprise one large room and basement where athletic events will be held by the Boys' Club and the Girls' Club and other organizations of the town. Arthur G. Craig, director of the Boys' Club, who has been actively identified with his project stated that the labor will be furnished by the W. P. A., and materials will be supplied by local organizations and residents interested in the youth of the community.

The executive board of the Krebs School P.T.A. met on Thursday evening at the home of Edward Bratton, president. The board is planning a card party to be held on Friday evening, Oct. 6 in the auditorium of the Krebs School. Proceeds from the party will be used to defray the P.T.A. portion of the expense in connection with the installation of a new electric refrigerator in the school cafeteria. The first P.T.A. session for this season will be held tomorrow (Thursday) in the school. Edward Bratton, president will be in charge of the business session, and members of the faculty will be in charge of the entertainment.

Health Survey Made

Dr. J. R. Downes has been at the Krebs School during the past week conducting a health survey, and giving physical examinations to the pupils. On Sept. 26 at 1 p. m., the State Health Department will administer immunization against diphtheria to all children of the New-

APPLETON

Many members of the community attended the two-day horse show at Fair Hill last week end. Carl Feucht was a member of the board of directors for the event. Frank Truhlar won ribbons with two colts entered in the draft horse classes, and Herbert Badgers participated in the steer riding contest. Miss Elaine Willis and her pony, "Queenie," took part in the show on Friday.

Clement McMullen, who has been ill for several weeks, is still quite sick. His many friends wish him a speedy recovery.

William McCloskey visited the New York World's Fair on Tuesday. Mrs. McCloskey is proudly exhibiting a rare night-blooming Cereus bearing a red flower.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scott, who were recently married, were given a variety shower at the home of Mrs. Hervey M. Scott last night. The bride is the former Miss Vera Warrington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Warrington, Perryville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. Seruck T. Kimble, who summered in Appleton and Newark, have returned to their D. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Bunting, Harrisburg, Pa., spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bunting. An inspiring service was presented at Flint Hill Church Sunday, when the Rev. Harry McGonigal, a blind evangelist and student of Adam Geibel, was the guest of Rev. Bernard.

A year old baby was left on the porch of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Clayton, in St. Louis while a card party was in progress.

THE PHANTOM LETTER

(The Second National Letter-Writing Week has been set for October 2 to 8 by the Post Office Department. It is in the interest of the event that the following "letters" are published.—Ed.)

I am the letter you MEANT to write.

But you were too busy, or you kept putting it off, or you excused yourself by claiming you "didn't know what to say."

So I never was written.

And because I never was written there is a question in the mind of one of your friends; or a pleasant bond with some one has been broken; or there is loneliness in the heart of one who thinks of you.

It was such an easy thing to have done—that letter which should have been written. But you let the time pass, and somewhere a friend, or a family, or even an acquaintance, is the poorer.

The word that would have brought cheer to the sick one was not written; the gracious thank-you for a favor done or a gift exchanged was never mailed; the happy ones who wished to know that you shared their happiness; and the unhappy ones who so craved a word of sympathy are wondering at your silence.

I am just a phantom letter.

I am the letter you DID write.

Joyfully, cheerily, I sped on my way, expectant for the warm welcome I knew awaited me wherever my destination.

I went into the eager hands of a mother or a father, and I watched old eyes grow bright as my message of love and remembrance was read and re-read.

I went to the absent friend of yours and brought to him or her the news of early intimates; I renewed to them the picture of their home circle, and with them I relived hours of friendly and warm-hearted activities.

I went to the newlyweds and in your name rejoiced in their delight; I went to the bereaved and your sincere words brought them a comforting ease.

To a birthday I added the joy of your good wishes; I refreshed a shut-in with your newsy chat; to a young person on the threshold of a career I brought your words of courage.

Everywhere I went I spread the warmth of your personality, and I brought back to you an over-flowing wealth of friendship and affection; your name was loved and remembered.

It's so easy to write a letter, because a letter is just yourself. Fancy phrases aren't necessary. The best letter is the one that makes the reader say happily, "It just sounds like —." Take your pen now. Write across the surface of that blank sheet just merely what you would say in person. The simple words of Lincoln's letters are great literature because the words were just his own voice speaking. Write your thoughts just as they come to you. Then your letter will be a part of YOU and doubly precious to those you have remembered.

But above all, don't let your letters be phantoms. Bring them to life by writing them.

No Drifting - - -

WASHINGTON—North Dakota's isolationist Senator Lynn Joseph Frazier last week intimated that Franklin Roosevelt was playing politics with World War II. Most other Republicans refrained from such crass accusations. Yet one thing was certain the President was engaged in an extraordinary political operation.

Woodrow Wilson in 1914-17 drifted with the U. S. people until he and they swirled into World War I. When at last he had to act he had the people behind him. In the world of 1939 where Dictators strike fast and hard, a democracy which takes three years to make up its mind is at grave disadvantage. No man (perhaps not even Franklin Roosevelt) could say for certain last week what the President of the U. S. really wanted to do about war.

Avowed Opinion Drift

But all signs pointed to the fact that Franklin Roosevelt had resolved not to let U. S. public opinion drift. In World War I months if not years passed before millions of U. S. citizens began to think in terms of a world struggle. Last week Franklin Roosevelt deliberately set out to hasten the process. He did so by proclaiming a "limited" emergency. He did so by adding three new members—Loan Administrator Jesse Jones, Works Administrator John M. Carmody, Security Administrator Paul Vories McNutt—to his Cabinet "for the duration of the emergency." Practically his every act—from announcing that Congress would be called, to ordering increases in Army and Navy—was a reminder to the people of the U. S. that the world is now facing a crisis and that the U. S. will soon have to make decisions.

Vigor in Attitude

Franklin Roosevelt's character, and the implication of his preparations both indicated that the decisions which he will ultimately urge for staying out or getting into war will be vigorous if not aggressive. Whether the public, pushed to a decision, will agree with him is another matter. But last week his advisers believed that he had already won the first round: that Congress when called into session will, filibuster or no filibuster, modify the Neutrality Act to permit export of arms.

As he had promised, the President laid down two sets of rules for U. S. Neutrality. In one set he conformed to international usage, in the other to Congressional statute. The first forbade aliens on U. S. soil as well as U. S. citizens to take armed service with a belligerent. Others of its 17 rules forbade belligerent ships-of-war to use U. S. harbors for anything more than hurried (24 hours) ports of call, to roam with intent to fight in U. S. waters, to chase one another in and out of American ports, to take on at U. S. docks more fuel than enough to get them to their countries' nearest ports, or to repair damage caused by battle at sea. The second Presidential proclamation recognized that war prevailed, embargoed exports of arms, munitions and materials of war to belligerents in conformity with the Neutrality Act of 1937.

Little Effect Heard

Little was heard of its effects on U. S. trade, and for good reason. In the first six months of 1939 shipments of the materials now embargoed accounted for a paltry proportion of total U. S. exports. Still on the permitted export list were such war necessities as oil, steel, grains and other foodstuffs, even parachutes.

People in the U. S. quickly learned that neither Congress nor President has the final definition of "materials of war." As it did in the first World War, to the vexation of the U. S., Great Britain declared almost every conceivable necessity of life in wartime to be contraband and therefore subject to blockade, making paper-work of the Neutrality Act's precise delineations between military and non-military materials.

Would Elude English

"I frankly question," said Michigan's Republican Senator Vandenberg, "whether we can become an arsenal for one belligerent without being the target for the other. I doubt if it is possible to be half in and half out of this war."

Franklin Roosevelt frankly proposed letting the U. S. be an arsenal for the Allies (at good pay) while neutrally offering Germany the materials it could try to slip past the British blockade. His dramatization of statutory neutrality's paradoxes was aimed at bringing Congress to the same view.

Holds Latent Powers

Meanwhile Federal legalities searched the Constitution and the statutes for special powers. As President and as Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces, Franklin Roosevelt indeed had at hand a host of latent powers. Some stem from the U. S. Constitution, some from statutes dating back to the 18th Century, many from laws passed for Woodrow Wilson before and during World War I and never repealed, others from New Deal laws.

The President promptly began invoking such powers. Correspondents at a regular press conference saw him in vigorous mood, as ebullient and confident as in the crisis days of 1933. He announced that what he was about to say would justify no screeches, nothing but calm. "For the proper observance, safeguarding and enforcing of the neutrality of the United States," he then proclaimed a national emergency. (Orally he called it a "limited" emergency by way of minimizing it.) By that stroke he assumed many powers which would be his in actual war.

Powers To Act

Having done so, he may, among other things, legally:

Fix prices of food and fuel.

Take virtually absolute control of dealings in international exchange and of domestic banking.

Enlarge the armed forces to any extent necessary to prevent what he considers to be infringements of U. S. Neutrality.

Close any radio station, or take it over for Government use.

Seize any vessel within U. S. waters (whose scope he may define at will).

Arm U. S. merchantmen. Franklin Roosevelt last week used only three of his emergency powers. 1) He ordered the Army enlarged from 210,000 to 227,000, the Navy from 116,000 to 145,000, the Marine Corps from 19,000 to 25,000, the National Guard from 190,000 to 235,000 (if the states agree). 2) He allotted $300,000 to the State Department to finance repatriation of endangered U. S. citizens in Europe. 3) He upped G-Man Edgar Hoover's force by 150, to hunt down spies.

MANHATTAN—The prima donna of radio's war commentators is stoop-shouldered, professorial Hans von Kaltenborn. In his 17th-floor sanctum off CBS's busy news room, few dare disturb him between broadcasts except the man who brings his meals, prepared to his taste by his German baroness wife. To the bustling, unshaven CBS staff during the last busy weeks, H. V.'s thinness, as well as his pontifical microphone, has brought many a chuckle. One night last week the listening world as well as the studio staff enjoyed an almighty howl at H. V.'s expense.

Announcer Frank Gallop (who announces the Philharmonic in season) walked into the sound-proof news studio ten minutes before H. V. was scheduled to take the air. On the network was the Alibi Club period. Waving cheerily at the engineer in the control room, Gallop sat down before H. V.'s microphone. To a control-room engineer in these critical days, a wave from an announcer means only one thing—clear the air. But Announcer Gallop, still thinking he had ten minutes to go, tried a whimsical sort of warm-up of his announcement of Kaltenborn's Edit the News. He intoned it to the measure of Old MacDonald Had a Farm. In his sanctum, H. V. heard the announcement start over his loudspeaker, grabbed his jumbled notes, rushed into the studio in time to hear himself introduced to his public as:

Al-tch

Ve-ee Kal-ten-born

E-Yi, E-Yi, O!

Fact and Fiction - - -

EUROPE—What is propaganda? Once the word meant nothing more than the legitimate promulgation of ideas. World War I and the methods of totalitarian governments later gave the word a new meaning, linked it to organized, wide-scale lying, the deliberate manufacture of atrocity stories, misrepresentation of enemy successes, exaggeration of enemy defeats, the conscious manipulation of sentiments to arouse war spirit, hatred of the enemy at home and sympathy among neutrals abroad.

Great Britain and Germany came out of World War I with diametrically opposed attitudes toward propaganda. Defeated Germany, unwilling to believe in military defeat, believed that Allied cleverness in propaganda, their own clumsiness in it, was largely responsible. Great Britain, on the other hand, had a group of battle-scarred veterans of propaganda and a world-wide reputation for amazing cleverness in molding public opinion. For many a post-war year the seediest remittance man in South America was judged a secret agent; the hungriest British novelist lecturing to the U. S. was thought by many to be a Foreign Office spokesman.

Rival Novelists Vie

The wheels of propaganda were beginning to buzz in their various ways last week as two novelists and a Scottish lawyer fought to reach the eyes and ears of the world with the best cases they could make for the conduct of their warring countries. One novelist was Paul Joseph Goebbels, author (at 24) of Michael, probably as bad a book as has ever been published, and operator (at 41) of the most powerful, most smoothly organized publicity machine the world has ever seen.

The other novelist was Jean Hippolyte Giraudoux, author (at 39) of Suzanne and the Pacific, one of the funniest and freshest of modern French novels, and director (at 56) of France's brand-new, slow-starting Bureau des Informations.

Scott At Helm

But because of its past pluperfect performance and present eccentricity, most interest centered last week on the propaganda plant of the Scottish lawyer. When Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain made Baron Macmillan of Aberfeldy Britain's Minister of Information, he gave the 66-year-old peer one of the toughest, one of the most delicate, of Britain's wartime jobs. It was one of the undeveloped "shadow ministries." Lord Macmillan had to organize a staff to shift and relay war news after war news had already begun to come in. He had to establish censorship after censorable news was already jamming the wires.

If Lord Macmillan's first task was to undo Britain's reputation for cleverness, he could not have started more brilliantly. Nobody could accuse Britain's propaganda of functioning smoothly last week. It was clumsy, amateurish, slow-starting.

Goebbels At Full Speed

While Britain drowsed in the propagandist shadows last week, whipped to full speed was Dr. Goebbels' powerful Ministry of Propaganda and Public Enlightenment, which even in peacetime spends some $100,000,000 a year, employs 25,000. Twenty-four hours after German troops entered Poland, neutral newsmen had photographs of German troops on the march. Tanks, big guns, bombers, mutilated bodies, charred houses, refugee children, smashed bridges, all added up to create an impression of overwhelming military strength, dramatized the speed of Germany's advance.

America For Americans

Sir: Shall we discuss War? Oh, no, it is not a pleasant topic of conversation. We shall conspicuously avoid the subject and be happy. We do not need to worry or converse about it. Let the heads of the governments take care of that trouble. Is this right? Shall we be ignorant of plain facts that are so clear to see if we open our eyes?

We must be watchful. We must teach our young people, who do not want to think of war for fear a dear one may go. All right, begin at home. Are you sure that all are loyal, true Americans? Do you know anyone who would hesitate to salute our flag and pledge their allegiance? Do you know anyone by word, or action, are undermining a true and loyal American-born citizen in order that he may fill the position left vacant by so doing? On account of his wonderful ideas, why did he not put them to practical use in his own country? The truth of the matter is that he grasped them from someone else, claiming them as his own while the other poor unfortunate American-born citizen would rather not be in the same atmosphere. Would a true American have such in their employment?

Did you know anyone who had important business in New York the same time of the Nazi demonstration held there last winter? Do not be like the poor deluded Poles who lived neighbors to German Poles for years and during this conflict were sent before the firing squad by their seemingly trusted neighbors. This can happen here. You think not? You think the Nazi are away off some place. Do you think they are coming up to you and say, "I am a Nazi?" No, not now, but soon—if we go to war. Do not be deluded.

Have you enjoyed "Our Land of Liberty—The Home of the Free and the Brave"? We all have. We have known no other. We do not have to report to anyone. We are free and so happy. What has caused dissatisfaction and unrest in our country? People from other lands come to our good U.S.A., and start laughing about our form of government. They agitate and stir up strife. They came here because they did not like their own land or perhaps they are spies for their country. Is our American for Americans, or for this riff-raff?

You would not like to open your eyes and find yourself living in the Dark Ages. You would not like to see your boys trained as the Spartans trained their youth. That is the way the youth in Germany is being trained.

Christianity changed those dark days for us. What is Christianity to Germany? Nothing at all. They say there are no Christians; there is no Christianity. Have our (Please Turn To Page 8)

Miss Virginia Harrington To Wed Prof. Schoenborn In June

Announcement Of Engagement Made Last Saturday

Engagement Announced

Miss Virginia Harrington

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ridgely Harrington, a buffet dinner held on Saturday night at their home in Dover, announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Virginia Harrington, to Mr. Edward Martin Schoenborn of Columbus, O., and Newark. Guests from Dover, Newark, and Wilmington were present.

A graduate of Women's College, University of Delaware, where she matriculated after studying at the University of Wisconsin, Miss Harrington is a teacher in the local public school system.

She has taken an active part in numerous dramatic circles and is a member of the University Drama group, the Wilmington Drama League, Puppets, Newark Faculty Players, and E. 52 Players.

Weddings

Killough-Mae

The marriage of Miss Beatrice Mae, of El Paso, Texas, and Mr. William John Killough, of Penfield, Pa., took place in Des Moines, Iowa, on August 17. The ceremony was performed by Judge Russell Jordan.

Mrs. Killough is the daughter of Mrs. R. J. Mae, of El Paso, Texas. She was graduated from El Paso High School in 1935 and received a B.A. degree in languages from the college of Mines, a branch of the University of Texas, in 1938. For the past year, Mrs. Killough has made her home in Kansas City, Missouri, where she was associated with Haverford Laboratories.

Mr. Killough, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Killough, of Penfield, is a graduate of Haverford High School. He received his B.S. degree from the University of Delaware in 1937 and for the year following his graduation was employed at the Experiment Station. He is a member of the Phi Kappa Phi and Kappa Alpha fraternities.

The couple is at home in Leon, Iowa, where Mr. Killough is connected with the Soil Conservation Service in the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Mullen-Bowlsby

Announcement was made this week of the wedding of Miss Evelyn Bowlsby, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Bowlsby, 46 N. Chapel St., and Mr. James Mullen, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Mullen, of Avondale, Pa.

The ceremony took place on September 2. Rev. Oliver J. Collins, pastor of St. Paul's M. E. Church, Wilmington, officiated. The couple was attended by Miss Helen Brown, Newark, and Mr. Walter Thompson, Wilmington.

Mathews-Fiske

The Rev. Dr. Robert B. Mathews, of Snow Hill, Md., and Miss Louise Fiske, of Damariscotta, Maine, were married on Sunday, September 4, in Maine by the Rev. Charles W. Walden. Only a few close relatives of the bride and groom attended the ceremony.

SQUAD OF TURNS OUT AT COLORA, MD.

Russell Faber
To Take Over
Grid Reins
at Nottingham

Seven boys responded to the call for the football squad at West Nottingham Academy, Md., last week.

By tradition, more than 50 members of the football squad at this Maryland preparatory school play football, although tennis, basketball and other sports are also popular.

Junior Varsity Squad
The boys' football squad is coached by Russell Faber, who is taking over the reins of the team from Coach Steve O'Connell, who is leaving for the University of Maryland.

Faber, who is a former player at West Nottingham, is a member of the faculty and has been coaching the team for several years. He is a former player at West Nottingham and has been coaching the team for several years.

ONE TEAM LACKING

Seven Combines
Signed Up In
Ping Pong Loop

By Ned Ball
With seven teams, made up of 23 local ping pong players, paving the way in their anxiety to launch the Newark Table Tennis League, the league's governing body Tuesday night at Powell's Restaurant, that two teams were attempting to organize, but President Leonard Fossett, issued a "first come, first served" policy which was approved by the commission. It will be necessary to have one or three more teams signed up in order to balance the loop.

In the meantime, a schedule will be drawn up for eight teams and the loop will get underway the first Thursday in October. The first half of the league will be played prior to Christmas with the second half slated for after the holiday season.

Rosters of the teams submitted at committee meeting were as follows: Gillespie's Pedagogues—William K. Gillespie, captain, M. James Parsons, Lester S. Bucher, and Robert E. Kern; Center Street Crescents—Leonard Fossett, captain, Dr. Fred Bollinger, Thomas Hanaway, and Hugh Gallagher; Bridgewater's Highlanders—Jack Bridgewater, captain, Eric Mayer, Bob Strahorn, and Charles Gibbs or Dave Cronhardt.

Southside Bear Cats—Bill Fletcher, captain, Reed Stearns, Del Stearns, and Guy Wharton; Haines Street Pingers—Ned McCully, captain, Fred Mencher, Gilbert Chase, and Charles Davis; Surratt's Travelers—Grover T. Surratt, captain, Charles W. Davis, Ralph O'Connell, and Alvin Handloff; Westend Tigers—Ernest Reilly, captain, Wayne Nesbitt, Hughes Thomas, and Jack Houck.

When completed, schedules will be distributed to captains of the various clubs. Two trophies will be presented, the Newark Post award to the individual with the highest percentage of victories, and the William K. Gillespie prize to the winning team.

Rigney Selected July 4 To Assert Independence
July 4, 1939 was the day that John Rigney of the White Sox asserted his independence and started on a sensational victorious career. Here is his record from July 4 until September 2:

July 4—beat St. Louis, 7 to 3, allowing four hits.
July 9—beat Detroit, 6 to 3, allowing six hits.
July 15—beat Philadelphia, 7 to 3, allowing seven hits.
July 19—beat Boston, 8 to 0, allowing four hits, none until the 8th inning.

August 2—beat Philadelphia, 2 to 1, allowing four hits, only two prior to the ninth inning.
August 8—beat Detroit, 5 to 3 with nine hits.
August 14—beat St. Louis, 5 to 2, in a night game, allowing only three hits, the two runs being due to errors. Fanned ten men.

August 24—beat Boston in night game, 3 to 1, permitting six hits and fanning eight batters.
August 28—beat Philadelphia in night game, 5 to 4, allowing seven hits and fanning eight batters.
September 2—beat Detroit, 2 to 0, allowing only two hits.

Bing Miller Resented American Guns-Bullets
Both Manager Baker and Coach Bing Miller of the Detroit Tigers are war veterans who had service overseas.

"If everyone saw all the horrors that I saw in the World War, there never would be another war," said Del Baker.

"What made me the maddest, twenty-one years ago," said Miller, "was to know that our own American boys were shot down with bullets made in America and fired by guns made in America."

Al Brazle Boosts Sox Left-handers To Five
Because he was able to strike out twenty-three men in a semi-pro game against Fort Smith, Ark., Al Brazle was signed by Little Rock. He now has been purchased by the Red Sox, which gives Boston five southpaws—Grove, Ostermuller, Wade, LeFevre, and Brazle.

Dorothy James Roses Now In Bloom

West Grove, Pa., Sept. 21 (Special)—Fall rose time arrived in this locality with the exit of the summer season, to find more than 2,000 plants of the new Dorothy James variety in full bloom, along with 175,000 other exquisite blooming plants, ranging in color from the dark maroon Will Rogers to the bright white Snowbird. The reds, yellows, pinks, and multi-colored roses make the fields, along U. S. Route 1, a sight which attracts people from hundreds of miles.

This is the first season for the Dorothy James rose to make its appearance in the Chester County rose fields at this town and the nearby village of Jennersville. It was propagated by the Conard-Pyle Company, one of the foremost rose growing firms in America, and was named in honor of the charming daughter of the Governor of Pennsylvania. The rose fields are open for public inspection on weekdays and Sundays, without charge.

The Dorothy James rose made its first appearance at the Philadelphia Flower Show last spring, and was instantly acclaimed for its delicate coloring. Apparently the rose has inherited all of the strong qualities of the mother plant. The blooms are carmine red on the outside of the petals, and open to a lovely chamomile pink color. The blooms are full to the center and come on strong, firm stems which hold the great 60 petalled flowers erect on the bush, or when cut.

A delightful trait of the Dorothy James rose is its health qualities, being known as a "summer hardy," which means that its olive green holly-like foliage is practically immune to disease and stays on the plant to enable it to continue in bloom throughout the hot months, when many other varieties are resting after their big June effort.

models is taking place on a national basis through special displays in the showrooms of more than 2,800 dealers and distributors, and the new Buick will be on display at the Newark branch of the Wilmington Auto Sales Co., E. Main Street, on Saturday.

Featuring the line for 1940 are two completely new series of cars of ultra modern styling and new standards of quality and performance in the lower and medium price fields. They are the series 50 Super and the series 70 Roadmaster, constructed on entirely new chassis of 121 and 126-inch wheelbase, respectively.

Completing the Buick group for next year are the popular series 40 Special, on a 121-inch wheelbase; the series 60 Century, on a 126-inch wheelbase, and the series 80 Limited, on 133-inch and 140-inch wheelbase, respectively.

Throughout the model range the 1940 Buicks have been stepped up to new highs of style, quality and performance. Bold and artistic treatment in front end styling has provided a distinctive Buick hood representing pronounced change and improvement over previous years. Underneath the attractive exterior are chassis held to be the sturdiest ever produced by this manufacturer, and, at the same time, the most advanced.

Outstanding Designs
The series 40 and 50 cars, are powered by valve-in-head straight eight engines of 248 cu. in. displacement developing 107 horsepower at 3600 R.P.M. Engines of identical design, but with 320.2 cu. in. displacement and developing 141 horsepower at 3600 R.P.M., are used in the series 60, 70, 80 and 90 cars.

Outstanding structural and design features, including such important items as improved torque tube drive; independent front wheel suspension, ride stabilization fore and aft, more powerful hydraulic brakes, and improved lighting and electrical equipment, are incorporated in the cars. In addition, more than 70 new features representing detailed change and improvement are listed in the engineering description of the models.

The 1940 cars have improved front and rear direction signals, Ponton rubber seat cushions, engine turned instrument panels, sealed beam safety headlights, entirely new frames, new engine mountings, new carburetion, addition of oil filters on all engines, better direct steering linkage, improved handshift gear control, marked improvement in shock absorber equipment, new safety free reeling inside rear door handles, windshield wiper boosters, an improved system of tire changing, and a host of other refinements marking them as complete and luxuriously equipped automobiles.

Engines Balanced
For 1940, all Buick engines are balanced after assembly by an exclusive electrical process to within a fraction of an inch-ounce, claimed to be the finest engine balance tolerance in the industry. As a result, the engines, which in addition are cradled in rubber mountings having a 60 per cent increase in cushioning capacity, deliver their power virtually without trace of vibration.

The Buick series 50 Super and series 70 Roadmaster, are highly advanced cars. Both are available in two models, a six passenger four-door touring sedan and a sport coupe having full width rear seat. The two series have been engineered to include new developments in materials, methods and design, and embody the smooth curving lines of practical streamlining for lower wind resistance and increased beauty.

The long lines of the bodies project without break into the sheet metal of the hood and fenders, and together with the slight tilt of the radiator and the in-built head and tail lamps, present beautiful exteriors, particularly noteworthy for balance and proportion.

The new series have a reduced overall car height and floors have been lowered, allowing the elimination of running boards on these lower bodies. In spite of the reduction in overall height, more than adequate headroom has been designed into them.

Exceptionally easy ingress and egress also is possible, with the front doors hinged at the front pillars and the rear doors hinged at the center body pillars, aided by the proximity of the floor to the ground.

The new bodies are the result of an intensive development by Buick and Fisher engineers and the styling section of General Motors, to combine a hitherto unattained structural strength and rigidity with the most modern styling. Consequently, these new Buick-Fisher unit-body cars are as different in lines and structure from bodies of the last two or three years as those bodies differed from the bodies of twenty years previously.

Like the Super and Roadmaster, all other Buick series have the same compact external appearance, with the lines of the fenders merging into the hood and body. Distinctive in all series is the manner in which the headlamps have been inset into the fenders, surmounted by the new fender lamp direction signal with its modernistic lens grooved to harmonize with the radiator ornament and grille.

The new Buick die cast radiator grille are in outstanding appearance feature, having heavier and wider spaced horizontal bars and substantially increased frontal area. The grille is designed to include the catwalk section of the front end, a utility as well as style factor.

OBITUARY

Miss Eva Anderson

Miss Eva Anderson, daughter of Mrs. Haines Harlan and the late John Anderson, died suddenly late Wednesday afternoon, at her home near Fair Hill, in her 20th year. Besides her mother and step-father, Mrs. Haines Harlan, she is survived by two brothers and one step-sister, all living at home. She was a niece of Mrs. Margaret Anderson of Elkton.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, September 19, with interment at Blake, Md.

WEDDING

Chambers-Boulden

Miss Effie P. Chambers of Wilmington, and Mr. Elmer E. Boulden, of Trainer, Pa., were quietly married at Harrison street M. E. Parsonage, Wilmington, last Saturday evening, September 19, by the Rev. G. T. Alderson. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Boulden left for Washington, D. C. The bride is well-remembered in Newark, her former home, where she has many friends.

Speeding Prohibited

At the last meeting of Council a number of complaints were made by citizens of the excessive speed of automobiles on the new section of Main street. Many cars are reported as running at 30 and 40 miles an hour, although the limit is fixed by town ordinance at 12 miles an hour.

Mayor Hoesinger was authorized to appoint a traffic officer to prosecute careless drivers. In view of the fact that the appointment has not yet been made, Councilman Lutton on Monday served a warrant on Richard Whittingham for driving at a dangerous rate of speed on the Main street of the town. Whittingham was fined ten dollars and costs by Squire Lovett.

Personals

Mr. S. S. Broadus of Decatur, Ala., visited his sister, Mrs. S. C. Mitchell, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Thomas of Swarthmore, Pa., were recent visitors in Newark.

Miss Mary Groff has returned after spending the summer in the Adirondack Mountains.

Mrs. John McCadden of Philadelphia was the week end guest of Mrs. W. E. Hayes.

Dean Robinson has announced that the resident faculty and students of Women's College will be at home to their friends Friday afternoon and evening of every week.

Miss Kathryn Pritchett of New York who has been visiting friends and relatives here has returned home. Miss Pritchett has been instructor in Foods and Textiles of the Home Economic Department of the University of Texas. She has resigned this position to accept a call on the staff of the School of Household Arts at Columbia University.

Arthur Houchin, Delaware College, class 1913, left Monday to take the position of teacher in physics and athletics in the Yale School, Lancaster, Pa.

Mrs. George Modill is visiting her brother, Frank Pennock, near Hockessin, Delaware.

Mrs. William E. Perry of West Chester is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. E. Hayes.

Miss Miriam Prole of Dover Conference Academy, spent the week-end in Newark.

Miss Edith Spencer left on Monday to resume her studies in the Baldwin School, Bryn Mawr, Pa.

Alex Jackson, attorney of Salisbury, well-known here, was a Newark visitor on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Delaware J. Willis spent the week-end with the latter's mother, Mrs. M. B. Dunlap, Wilmington.

Mrs. Walter Anderson spent the week-end with friends in Kemblesville.

Miss Ethel White of Wilmington was the guest last week of Mrs. Ben Davis.

Miss Reba Vansant of Philadelphia spent Sunday with Mrs. George Vansant.

Rebecca Cann is spending a week with her grandmother, Mrs. Richard Cann, Kirkwood, Delaware.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Monihan on September 13 observed their golden wedding at their home between Landenberg and Strickersville, where they have resided since 1894. Many relatives and friends attended the celebration.

Horse Killed
Joseph Pratt, a farmer of the Kirkwood section, was thrown out of his wagon and stunned, and one of his horses was killed when an engine drawing a caboose struck his team at State Road crossing on Saturday morning. He was placed in the caboose and taken to Delaware Hospital, and later returned to his home.

Elkton Man Weds

Mr. Charles E. Warburton of Elkton, and Miss Annie Louise Chaffinch were married on Wednesday at the bride's home in Easton, Md. The couple took a wedding trip north and will reside in Elkton.

Women's College

Including both regular and special students, the total enrollment in the New Women's College is 54. Of these, 48 are from Delaware, 4 from Maryland, 1 from Pennsylvania and 1 from New Jersey. Students taking regular four year courses are classified as follows: Arts and Science, 19; Education, 8; Home Economics, 5. In the two year course in Home Economics there are 13 students, and there are 9 special students.

The Young Peoples Society of the Hockessin M. E. Church held a meeting at the church on Friday evening.

On Oct. 7, they will sponsor a three-act play, "Aunt Minnie from Minnesota." The play, directed by Jack McCartney, will be given by the Community Theatre Players of Lancaster, Pa., and will be presented in the I. O. O. F. hall.

The members of the society will hold a rummage sale in Wilmington on Oct. 3 and 4.

The Rev. Richard M. Green, pastor of Hockessin M. E. Church, has chosen as his sermon for Sunday morning, "The Will of God."

Rally day will be observed in the Sunday school on Oct. 1.

To Open School
The Newport Training School will open on Monday evening. The Rev. Green will be dean of the school.

Class officers of the seventh and eighth grades of the Hockessin Consolidated School were elected on Friday as follows: Seventh, president, Martha White; vice-president, Edna Good; secretary, Harry Temple; treasurer, Louise Wilkinson.

Eighth, president, Ella R. Pierson; vice-president, Charles Wetzel; secretary, Earl Walker; treasurer, Sally White.

Mrs. Bessie M. Taylor, of Newport, was a week-end guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred E. Gebhart.

Mrs. Kendall Williams has returned to her home after an appendix operation in the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington.

Misses Rebecca Sayers, Marjorie and Irene Blansfield, of Newport, and Mildred Gebhart, of Hockessin spent Thursday at the New York World's Fair.

Christian people worked all these years in vain? Have our missionaries been on a worthless mission and been martyrs for naught?

This is a terrible, wicked, cruel war with no glory. It needs the prayers of all Christian people.

Christianity brought civilization. So with a people who have renounced Christianity, they have become as barbarians. They can not be appealed to.

The firing squads in Germany are those who have been taught not to flinch when their victim is recognized as their own flesh and blood. Just to kill is not enough for them. Often the victim is horribly tortured first.

Then you think you can trust them and believe them as you listen to their wonderful ideas?

Since Canada entered the war it is at our door; it is on our threshold. It is time to awaken!

Loyalty and patriotism should be taught as a requirement in our schools. Americanism should be taught with a vigor to all ages and classes. Be sure all pledge allegiance with heart and soul. Be sure that all salute our flag of our U. S. A. with might and main. Everyone should know what has happened, what is happening, and what will happen.

Thank God we do not have to "Heil" anyone. We were born in a land of liberty. But let's hail our stars and stripes. Let us hail our America and let us "Praise God from Whom All Blessings Flow."

made to pay you big; renewals of present subscriptions count the same as new on commission.

Those who finish in the big prize winning class will earn as much in a few short weeks as a great number of people earn in a year of hard work. Over a hundred dollars a week will be the earning of the leading candidate at the close of the race on October 28.

Getting ahead in a campaign of this kind is the result of the same principles that determine success in any other kind of business. "A quitter never wins and a winner never quits."

Real Work Still Ahead
The real work of the campaign is still ahead and the effort that will determine the first prize winner is not that of the best starting qualities but that of the best sticking qualities. More credits will be issued on subscriptions now and until October 4 than at any other time during the campaign. The first period can easily determine the first prize winner as the credits take a big drop after the campaign goes into the second period.

To the readers of the paper and the friends of the various workers, we would say, support your favorite entry in the campaign. You must have one and that one needs your encouragement and help. Don't let them down. Encourage their initiative and energy, their enthusiasm and pep; give them your subscription or renewal and for as long a term as you possibly can. It is credits that will win for your favorite and the longer term you give that one, the more credits they receive in proportion. You pay for the paper as the price has been reduced for longer terms. The year during the campaign, the same time you are helping your friend.

The Fun Begins an Hour From Now

THROW down your newspaper, turn off your radio—get your family and grab your hat!

Down on the streets right now is the bright and beaming face of a 1940 Nash. And just looking at it will make you feel good all over!

One sweet sweep of glittering line, it looks gay as a Mardi Gras—and twice as exciting.

But don't waste time staring. You belong in the driver's seat. For that's where the fun begins.

Before you start, turn on the Weather Eye to the comfort you want. (It offers new conditioned air wonders this year.)

Just a nudge of your toe, and in one split-second you'll get a good idea of what a hundred-odd stampeding horses can do. Three finger flicks—and the gears are shifted. Then—a lift, a rush, a click—and a new Fourth Speed Forward lends soft wings to your ride.

Don't worry about that Sunday driver ahead. There's something new in the throttle—the Nash Automatic Overtake. Just press your toe—and leave him dawdling in your dust, wondering where you came from—or where you went.

Then head for a backwoods road where the others dare not follow . . . and feel what happens.

Ruts and bumps rush up to meet your spinning wheels, but—they never seem to reach you. Your hands stay idle on the wheel.

It's riding magic, pure and simple. A ride so smooth, so level, so silent that you might be in your easy chair at home, or sleeping in the Nash convertible bed.

It's the new Arrow-Flight Ride . . . result of an entirely new springing combination . . . and we dare you to say you've ever experienced anything like it, or known steering that was so sure and effortless.

Get your hands on it now—for you'll regret every minute you don't own one! Your Nash dealer is waiting. Come on—it's getting late—let's go!

Again...it's that new NASH

NEW LOWER PRICES This 1940 Deluxe Nash LaFayette Sedan costs only $875.00, delivered at factory, standard equipment and Federal taxes included.
