STATE GRANGE PROGRAM COMPLETE

U. S. Commissioner Claxton Principal Speaker—Will Discuss Educational Topics

At a grange, leathery palms, becoming a gentleman? Is a gringham shirt as respectable as a white one? May an answer be properly, of course, and inevitably? The answer is manifestly triumphant.

The grange in charge of the annual meeting of the State Grange, to be held in Delaware, December 10-12, is a well-organized and excellent affair, and a most commendable for the people.

Among the speakers of national reputation is Philander Priestly Claxton, United States Commissioner of Education since July, 1911. President Taft found Dr. Claxton in Tennessee—a Democrat and a Methodist—and made him the educational expert of the government.

A dedicated man, professionally and naturally, he is also a driving man, walking energetically and talking easily and interestingly. Dr. Claxton has proven himself a man of big ideas as well as wide experience. He grasps the faults in the American public school system and has enthusiastically entered upon the task of attempting their correction.

Dr. Claxton graduated from the University of Tennessee at the age of 19, where he handled his expenses with borrowed money, paying his debts in due season. He entered John Hopkins with the intention of studying electrical engineering. "Inside of a few weeks," using his exact words, "teaching took such a hold on me that I gave up everything else."

It is not too much to say that Dr. Claxton became the greatest teacher in the South, rising in his profession from small schools where he was superintendent, to professorships in colleges. He traveled in Europe to perfect himself in educational methods. After himself putting all he had learned abroad into practice in the home land, training teachers became his specialty. Meanwhile, during one of his campaigns he held 40 meetings in 36 mountain counties of Tennessee and North Carolina, great educational gatherings to which farmers drove with their wives and children, coming in some instances from 20 to 25 miles from their little farms among the crags or in the valleys.

Such has been the work into which Dr. Claxton has thrown himself with all the strength of his fine personality. Now, at the age of 50, modern, vigorous, technician and practical, we find him turning all educated man wear—properly, of course—a jumper and overalls? To-day, yes. The answer is manifest. Industry is triumphant.

"Still the public schools are condemned as being inefficient. The American nation, born in blood and toil—principally wood-chopping—is being effeminized, critics declare, by its methods of primary instruction. Youths, they complain, want to be clerks, whereas they should be carpenters and plumbers. Maidens are lured away from the household, woman's kingdom, and into stores and offices. Spelling, so runs the indictment, is an art quite forgotten. Serious complaints if justified, but wholly groundless.

"To-day talk is subordinated to action. Lawyers have become less fluent. Sermons have been cut from an hour to twenty minutes. Editors print more news and less editorial. The soiled shirt is the symbol of service. The spirit of the age is revolutionizing our high schools. Mechanics are not being spoiled any more to make book-keepers and real estate agents, and the wives of next year are learning to cook, bake, and keep house.

Revival Services This Week

The revival services held in the M. E. Church are growing in interest with each evening meeting. The pastor, Rev. G. T. Alderson is ably assisted by Rev. John F. Clark, the popular evangelist of Delmar, Delaware. The services will continue during this week.

Hemphill-Eneigh

Elwood Hemphill of Camden, N. J., and Miss Clara G. Eneigh, of Newark, were quietly married at the M. E. parsonage, by Rev. G. T. Alderson last Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Hemphill left immediately for their home in Camden, N. J.

New Schedule on Pennsy

Few changes were made in the new Pennsylvania schedule which went into effect on Sunday, Nov. 24th, nor was an extra service given to Newark. Changes that should be noted are as follows:

The new home of George Chalmers, near White Clay Creek Church, is nearing completion.

Historical Lecture Announced

Professor Edward Potts Cheyney of the Department of History in the University of Pennsylvania, has consented to deliver one of the series of historical lectures to be given in Delaware College Oratory. Professor Cheyney, probably the best known historian in his field of work in the country, is the author of a number of important works and text-books and a speaker of great clearness, originality and force. He spent last year in Europe and is in close touch with conditions and problems there. His lecture—which will be given in January—may be looked forward to as one of unusual interest and value.

The Thanksgiving Service at St. Thomas' Church, will be solemn and Holy Communion at 10:30. The offering on that day is asked for the support of the Babies' Hospital in Wilmington. Contributions of fruits and vegetables will also be acceptable.

Ministers from the local M. E. and Presbyterian churches will take part in the services. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mr. Dawson Crushes Hand

Mr. E. W. Dawson met with an unfortunate experience last Monday while operating a corn husker on his farm near West Amwell. The right hand was caught in the machine and crushed and torn severely.

Mr. Dawson was taken to Union Hospital, Elkton, where Dr. Mitchell found it necessary to amputate the third and fourth fingers of the injured hand.

The patient spent two days in the hospital. He is now at home, recovering from the shock of the accident.

High School Notes

During the last two weeks, basketball practice has been going on steadily at the High School, under the direction of Captain Ferguson. Despite the fact that practically all the material is very light, Captain Ferguson expects to turn out a winning team, the speed of the light boys to make up for the lack of weight. The team will most likely line up as follows: right forward, Bowen; left forward, Ferguson; center, Holton; right guard, Miller; left guard, Mote. Those who will most likely land the substitute positions are Lovett and Crow. As goal shooters, Ferguson and Bowen have developed wonderfully, and can be counted on almost every time. At center, the opposing centers will find a tough proposition, as Holton has most remarkable reaching powers, and his shooting is certainly an improvement over last year. Miller is exceptionally fast at guard, and can be counted upon every second of the game. Mote will undoubtedly break up more than one of the enemy's attacks, as he has developed into a very fast man. The boys are hampered in their practice, owing to the fact that they have no gymnasium, and all practice must be carried on out of doors, then when the boys get on the floors of the opposing teams, they are not sure of themselves.

All the teachers of the High, Grammar and Primary Schools are attending Teachers' Institute this week.

Rehearsals for the entertainment to be given in the Opera House, Monday evening, December 9th, are being held every evening under the direction of Mrs. M. Jane Murray. Reserved seat tickets are now obtainable at Rhodes' Drug Store.

SOCIAL DOINGS

Miss Lena Evans entertained recently at bridge, in honor of Miss Bowman of Wilmington, who was her guest for a few days. Miss Bowman is very active in philanthropic work and socially prominent in her home city.

Mrs. E. S. Armstrong entertained the original bridge club at the first meeting of its third season, very pleasantly, at her home south of Newark.

The prizes—a long stemmed cut glass bon bon dish and half dozen glass plates—were won by Miss Lillie Wilson and Miss Hallie Evans.

The "Luncheon bridge club" recently organized and which is to meet every two weeks, held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. A. A. Curtis on Wednesday last. The ladies who compose the club are Mrs. E. W. Cooch, Mrs. Houghton, Mrs. Tyson, Mrs. Penny, Mrs. Neale, Mrs. A. A. Curtis, Miss Lena Evans and Miss Eleanor Harter.

Mrs. Penny entertained the evening 500 club on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cooch gave an informal card party at their Cooch's Bridge house, on Saturday evening, which was much enjoyed by those fortunate enough to be present. Much fun was occasioned by the hostess' announcement that the person making the highest score would have to stand on a chair and make a speech.

Mrs. Harry Hayward spent Saturday and Sunday in Philadelphia, where she attended the "Suffragists" meetings and heard Miss Jane Addams.

Mrs. Christopher, wife of the new assistant to Prof. Hayward, is not only another bride to join the circle, but the possessor of a fine voice, which we hope Newarkers will have the pleasure of enjoying frequently in the future.

COLLEGE CHARTER COMMITTEES REACH AGREEMENT

Status of the College Apparently Settled All Property Likely to be Deeded to the State.

With the view of securing a perpetual charter for Delaware College, at the coming session of the General Assembly, a joint committee representing the State Board of Education, to which body the question was referred by the last Legislature, and the Board of Trustees of the College, have reached an agreement relative to some most essential points that should be included in such a charter. The present charter that the college is being conducted under will expire early next year having simply been extended for two years by the last Legislature. These points to be incorporated in the charter it is believed and hoped will remove all objections and meet with the approval of all parties concerned. They would wipe out the dual boards and convey the equity held by the original board in the college property to the State, the two points which really have been the bone of contention for the past four years in the attempts to get a perpetual calendar.

While the action of the joint-committee has yet to be ratified by the State Board of Education and the Board of Trustees of the College, it is thought that each of these bodies will sustain the work of its committee. The coming to this agreement by the two committees was really a compromise, as both were apparently in a conciliatory mood and willing to give and take in coming to a conclusion that they considered would be for the best welfare of Delaware College. This is especially true of the representatives of the old board, for regardless of what might be the present opinion the fact remains that fifty years ago, the State to secure the benefits under a federal act, bargained with the original trustees, for an equity in the buildings and grounds of Delaware College. In return the original board was to retain the right of naming half the board of trustees and it is held that the State has no more authority to break that bargain with the old board than the latter would have to break its agreement with the State.

The agreement reached by the joint-committee on the essential items to be incorporated into a charter could be placed under six heads as follows:

- 1—The board of trustees shall consist of 28 elected or appointed members and four ex-officio members. Twenty-one of the members shall be recommended by the board of trustees of the college and the other seven shall be recommended by the Governor, all of these 28 members to be confirmed individually by the State Senate and the terms to be for life. The ex-officio members shall be the Governor, President of the State Board of Education; a member to be elected by the State Grange who shall be skilled in agriculture and a member to be elected by the Wilmington Board of Trade who shall be skilled in the mechanic arts.

2—Upon the passage of this charter the original board of trustees shall deed its equity in the college to the State.

3—All the accounts of Delaware College shall be audited by the State Auditor and by him certified to the State and National Governments.

4—A report shall be published annually by the college, which shall contain the President's report and the financial report.

5—The college shall be open to women as soon as provisions shall have been made for their accommodations.

6—Delaware College is at the head of the State public school system and as such shall articulate with the public schools in a manner to be devised by the State Board of Education and the Faculty of Delaware College.

The two committees that reached these agreements at a recent conference consists of Dr. George W. Twitmyer, of Wilmington, and Professor Harry Hayward of Newark, representing the State Board of Education, and Charles B. Evans of Newark, J. Harry Whitman and John Biggs of Wilmington, Samuel H. Derby of Woodside and Samuel H. Messick of Bridgeville, representing the Board of Trustees. Dr. Twitmyer on behalf of the board of education and Mr. Evans on behalf of the trustees were appointed a sub-committee to incorporate the above items into a charter that will be presented to the two bodies for their approval. In case they approve the draft, it is felt that the General Assembly will pass the charter.

Newark Grange

Eight names were proposed for membership at the meeting of Newark Grange held in College Hall on Tuesday evening.

All were accepted and will be initiated next Monday evening. The members will include Prof. and Mrs. Tiffany, Mr. and Mrs. Lee Cooch, Mrs. Arthur Houghton, Mrs. C. A. McCue, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Thompson.

Mr. Spence in Accident

While driving on the road between Singery and Cherry Hill, on Thursday, George L. Spence of Newark, was thrown out of a team when the horse was frightened on approaching a traction engine. Mr. Spence was badly cut about the face, several of his teeth were knocked out, and his left leg sprained. The horse was injured somewhat and the buggy top damaged. The driver of the team escaped unhurt.

Athletic Association Awards "D's"

With the close of Delaware's football season, comes the awarding of the "D's" and the election of the captain for 1913. Eleven members of the team will be awarded the honorary "D" at a meeting of the Athletic Association this afternoon.

It is likely these members will meet at once and select the captain for the next team.

Jimmy Huston, this year's leader, who had his collar-bone broken in mid-season and was unable to get back in the game, it is thought will be re-elected.

Master Raymond Barney, the young cyclist who holds the record among Newark boys for long trips on his wheel, left this morning at seven o'clock for Farmington. Young Barney made a similar trip last summer, reaching his uncle's home in time to join the family at the evening meal.

"If You Can't Buy in Newark---Get It in Wilmington"

Masonic Lodge at Presbyterian Church

Huron Lodge, No. 25, A. F. A. M. at the Presbyterian Church last Sunday morning.

The morning, emblematic of the Masonic year, began auspiciously in the morning. The musical program was a pleasing part of the service. School children sang in unison by Mr. W. J. McHenry, organ accompaniment by Mr. J. A. McHenry.

"Rock of Ages" by Remick was beautifully sung by Mrs. Carl Christopher, organ accompaniment, and the choir rendered the hymn "In the Cross of Christ I Trust."

Rev. J. A. Brown addressed to his brethren. He spoke of the 50th anniversary of the 10th chapter of 1st Corinthians, which is to be observed on the 1st of December.

He spoke of the Missionary of the World as a symbol of intelligent men, and pointed out the consideration of those who are the plan of salvation which is a plan better than any man-made plan. Although Masonry is harmonious with the church and works for the betterment of its members and humanity, it is not identical with the Christian church.

Without divulging any of the secrets of the Masonic order, which there has ever been a great mystery, the speaker declared tonight that the world something of the history that he addressed. (1) The members are loyal to the commonwealth. There are no anarchists found among the fraternity. They are solemnly pledged to support all laws as they exist. (2) They are men of high morals, the high demands of its members temperance, morality, prudence and justice toward all men. (3) They are reverent in a supreme God. This characteristic is so pronounced that one would expect to find church membership an inevitable consequence. (4) They accept in its entirety God's Holy Word. No higher title has dared to bring a mutilated copy of the scriptures to the lodge room.

The speaker then defined the word Christian—Christ's men—those who profess Christ before men and live accordingly. Among those who call themselves by this name are many who fail to apply the professions of the seventh or Holy Day to the six secular days of the week. But are these the consequences of the perfect pattern of Christ? In conclusion the talk became evangelistic and the speaker urged his hearers to return to their Creator the reasonable sacrifice of a life consecrated to the service of God.

Another Calendar Reform

Who knows but within a few years Pennsylvania will cease to have twenty-eight days sleeping one year in four when it has twenty-nine, and that the old rhyme that starts, "Thirty days hath September," will have to be laid aside to serve only as a story for the children of a few generations hence. The international movement to reform the calendar is making excellent progress and it is believed that in a few years a complete change will be effected. The calendar, which has been the chronological standard for the past two centuries is coming to be considered beyond its usefulness and more progressive ideas.

The basis of the reform lies in the re-negating of the first day of the year, New Year's Day and not including it in any month. The year would then be divided into twelve months and one day over. Delecting one day from every year there would remain 364 and the year could then be divided into four quarters of 91 days each. The months would then according to the plan, have 30 and 31 days each, only the last month of each quarter having 31 days.

The division of the year in this method and the elimination of the first day from the scheme would put exactly thirteen weeks in each quarter. Therefore, if the quarters were started on Monday, the thirty-first day of the last month of each quarter would fall on Sunday. New Year's day would not be included in the scheme and could have no other name attached to it. The year would be ended on Sunday and would always start on Monday interpolated.

In leap years, a day would be interpolated, to be known as leap day, which would be placed according to some, after the 30th of June, or, according to others, at carnival time. This of course is a mere detail. Leap year, excepting one, in every four just as the twenty-ninth day of February is now treated.

This plan is only one of the many suggested but it is the one apparently most favored. In case within the next few years the change is made the old calendar which for two centuries has kept account of the days and weeks will be placed on the shelf to become part of world history, —our daily bread.

A Toast to Bread

Here is the backbone of civilization—bread. It satisfies when nothing else can satisfy. When the nectar of the gods tastes flat and insipid in the merry quaff, and when the mien, with its surfeit of viands and victuals fails to please, good, sweet, nutritious wheat bread comes like a ministering angel to put courage and spirit into the hearts of men. Arrayed in no delicious frostings or tempting garnishments, bread wields the scepter in its regal sway. Companion of prince and peasant, at home in cabin and castle, it is, indeed, builder of men and of nations —our daily bread.

Want Ads for Farmers

Only a comparatively few readers of newspapers realize the benefit of the Want Ad Department. It is a cheap form of advertising odds and ends. For the farmer it is always a paying proposition. Suppose you have a cow, few pigs that you would be willing to sell. Put it in the Want Column and rest assured you will get the customers. Then again, a farmer often sees where he could handle a heifer or calf during the winter. With a little extra forage, he has on hand, he can by feeding it make a dollar or so without any extra work. But he has not the time to hunt them up. Run in an Ad something like this:—

WANTED—Calves. Would buy 3 or 4 calves, if price is right.

You will get an answer. There isn't a farmer in this community but what could have an Ad in our Want Department at a profit to him.

WELCOME THE STATE GRANGE

Arrangements are about completed for the entertainment of the State Grange which meets here early in December. It is hoped the folk of Newark will do everything possible to make the Convention a success. Last year, when the Grange met at Lewes, very flattering reports were made of the hospitable reception given by the Sussex town. Residents of Newark are perhaps not quite so personally interested in farm subjects as in the lower counties, but this should in no way deter us from giving the farmer delegates a right royal welcome. According to reports, when our ladies set out to entertain a guest, a visit to Newark becomes a pleasant recollection.

We must realize, too, that the farmers of Delaware and their wives are becoming a strong force in the shaping of measures leading to a better Delaware. The Grange is no small factor in the State. Representing as it does, a progressive and active citizenship, awakening to a realization of its power, it promises to wield a strong influence on legislation leading to public welfare. Questions of varied interests have received thought and debate. Prominent among these is that of education. The Grange of the whole State is keyed to high interest in this question and has pointedly expressed the need for changes for betterment. Not only is this true of the System of Public Schools but of Higher Education as well. The relation and duty of Delaware College to the State has, by the administration of the Agricultural Department, been brought forcibly to public attention. The Grange has realized the benefits to be derived and has entered into a hearty and healthy support of the College. Only recently has this sense of ownership and duty to each other, been realized. The Grange has reckoned well the opportunity and is in the forefront in strongly demanding equal chance for the education of their girls and with one accord has agreed on the idea of the Affiliated College with Delaware.

Whether all classes of our citizens agree with this plan or not, its justice must be admitted and it is well to listen to their arguments and reckon with a force of no mean and growing proportions.

What we want to impress is a better acquaintance. The spirit of the day is for a better understanding and healthier relationship between the town and the country. By this, we of to-day can go far in bettering conditions under which our children will live tomorrow.

THANKSGIVING—JUST ONE VIEW OF IT

Thanksgiving, in reality, is not a day, it is a condition of the mind. It celebrates no event, it is an attitude of the man. By custom, fostered in times of stress, we by proclamations have set aside a holiday. And wise it is, for in times of peace and plenty, we humanly incline to forget recognition. Strange as it may seem on reflection, this year with State and Nation at its highest point of prosperity, Thanksgiving Day will in no wise compare in fervor with this historic day of stress at Plymouth Rock or those of strife when Lincoln introduced this National Recognition for blessings received and enjoyed. Success and freedom from cares dull that sense of gratitude, while stern responsibilities create reverence for the Sources of Power.

At Christian worship, around the table of family reunion or afoot with Nature, in giving thanks in individual way, is it not well to take reckoning whether with the enjoyment of what we have given us, we have taken our full responsibility toward men and ideas? Is it possible in the year to come, as thoughts and good of material worth come to us, to render a practical Thanksgiving by sharing these with friend and stranger?

Each of us will, in a way, feel somewhat of the spirit and meaning of the day. With bowed head in the pew, or uncovered, listening to a woode danthem before the God of Outdoors,—all will sense, to some degree, an attitude of thanks for blessings received—and they are many.

After the day of worship, each in his peculiar way, as we sit around the evening lamp with friends and families, enjoying necessities and luxuries of life, let us, this day, express our thanks in a real practical way by slipping down to our Y. M. C. A.—Public Reading Room—Young Men's Club, where several boys are sitting, by circumstances, unable to join in family reunion, and give them a glad hand and thanksgiving that they are in our midst to share with us, what work, luck and ancestry have given us.

If we can't do this, then this Thanksgiving is, in some part, a failure. Pealing anthems, fervent prayers, rustle of silks, laden tables, blasts of auto horn—all tend toward mockery unless we, in some part share that which we have learned or received. It is not selfishness, it is neglect. Engrossed in the business of the hour, enjoying the evening game, we forget. We fail, too, to reckon what this neglect means. We fail to realize the possibilities of what is in our power to do. Nor is church and practical citizenship attune to the needs of the day in neglecting to assume this leadership. It is a need not for the spreading of any creed, it is a practical social need tending toward a better, a healthier citizenship, making for a happier and more efficient life.

"Theory and can't be done. Pastoral work and study take all my time."

"Preach and anything for a sensation."

"Any one who wants reading will get it" are frequent replies in public and personal condemnation in private, to the attitude of The Post.

In answer, this office reports this week:

A farmer, comparative stranger, comes in with this: "I have been letting my boy come to Newark Saturday evenings for an outing and now its the usual story. You know where he goes. Isn't there something that can be done?"

From a young man working in a Newark factory. He visited the office and seeing a pile of magazines stored here, said, "I'll give you 50 cents for that pile."

There's your text, there's your sensation, there's your new building. There's your opportunity for Thanksgiving.

This is, in no wise, the peaceful and gracious Thanksgiving editorial usually seen. The orthodox in the newspaper world would render well turned phrases concerning our many blessings.

Anticipating accusations, we admit this is a personal thrust. It is, but we include ourselves.

The idea has been crudely put, but we challenge anyone to successfully contradict it and point with shame to the man who says it is not worthy of attention.

Newark has always been noted for her length but accused of being narrow in spots. She's broadening out all right. Watch her grow.

Charter Committees

Reach Agreement

A member of the State Board of Education committee, in commenting on the agreement reached, stated that he thought the old board members should be commended for taking the attitude that they have to meet the demands of the people, when it must be remembered, he said, the old board under that bargain made with the State in 1867, did not have to agree to any change.

Should the charter be passed as recommended by this joint committee it will make some material changes to that of the present. The most important one to many persons who have been agitating the matter for several years will be that the State would hold absolute title to the buildings and grounds. Because of the fact that the Legislature at practically every session makes some appropriation to the institution, it has always been held by a number of prominent men that it should be an out and out State Institution with the State holding complete title.

The manner of appointing members of the board will be another important change. At present the board consists of 32 members appointed for life. Of this number 15 represents what is known as the old board and 15 the State. Vacancies in the old board are filled by the Governor. There are two ex-officio members, the Governor and President of the College. Under the proposed new plan the Governor would still be an ex-officio member but the President of the College would be dropped from the board as an ex-officio member. The 21 members that it provides for to be named by the board would be elected by the board as a whole and not by the old board alone. The board would fill vacancies that occurred as the result of the death of any of the 21 members named by it, while the Governor would fill vacancies that occur among the seven that he appoints. It provides for three new ex-officio members, one to be named by the State Grange, one by the Wilmington Board of Trade and the President of the State Board of Education. The membership would be the same as now, 32, but the new charter would provide for four ex-officio members where now there are but two.

The provision for the State Auditor to make an audit of the college accounts was probably put in because of the fact that the State on the passage of the act would hold the complete title.

The provision opening the college to women was put in, to be ready in case the movement for an affiliated college for women should be acted on favorably by the coming General Assembly.

During the four years that the matter of a new charter for Delaware College has been before the people of Delaware, it has been contended by many that the entire present board should be wiped out by a new charter and all appointments in the future be made on behalf of the State in some way. On the other hand because of the work that the present board has been doing for years on behalf of the college and the old bargain that the State made with the original board, some of the board members and their friends have been contending that the present charter should be perpetuated. Persons who have been in touch with the matter, however, and know the correct sentiment, are positive that it would be practically impossible to get the Legislature to act on either of those plans. Under these circumstances the essential points agreed on by the joint committee it is thought will be looked on favorably by all who have the interests of the institution at heart.

The present board of trustees is made up as follows: Representing original board, Dr. H. G. M. Kolback, Charles B. Evans, George G. Kerr and Joseph H. Hossinger of Newark, J. Harvey Whiteman, William T. Lyman, Lewis P. Knish, John Biggs, Thomas Davis, Chancellor Charles M. Curtis and Henry B. Thompson of Wilmington, Dr. George W. Marsdell, of Milford, John C. Higgin of Delaware City, George A. Blake of Elkton and Henry Ridgely of Dover.

Trustees on behalf of the State: Samuel J. Wright and Everett C. Johnson of Newark, Ex-Governor Preston Lea of Wilmington, R. L. Heiser Ball of Marshallton, Daniel W. Corbit of Odessa; John C. Stockly of Smyrna; Charles S. Conwell, of Camden; W. Watson Harrington of Dover; Samuel H. Derby of Woodside; Ex-Governor John Hinn of Wyoming; General William H. Stevens and James E. Dutton of Seaford; Lewis W. Mustard of Lewes; Samuel H. Messick of Bridgeville and Edward D. Hearne of Georgetown.

Ex-Governor Lea is president of the board; Mr. Stockly, vice-president and Mr. Evans, secretary and treasurer. Governor Simson S. Poiner and Dr. George A. Harter, president of the College are ex-officio members.

CREEK CHURCH

The annual meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of this church was held at the Manse last Thursday evening, November 21st, and was pronounced by all a most enjoyable affair. Over sixty persons were present, and all seemed delighted with the entertainment and reception accorded them. The program, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all, was as follows:

Musical—Choir;
Prayer—Elder Samuel McCoy;
Musical—Choir;
Synodical Report—Mrs. J. W.
Lowden;

Musical—Choir;
"The World in Baltimore"—Mrs.
B. L. Dickey;
"The Pageant"—Mrs. L. A. Derickson;

Musical—Miss Reba Moore;
Reading—Mrs. Lawrence Pennington;

Instrumental Music—Messrs. Chil-
las and Chambers;
Recitation—Miss Reba Moore;
Closing Song—Choir.

We were greatly favored by the presence of Miss Moore of Farmington, and Messrs. Chambers and Chillas of Newark; the two latter giving selections on the violin. Miss Moore also delighted the company, and in both of her numbers, was obliged to respond to encores, which she gladly did. May we have another such evening in the near future.

On next Sunday, December 1st,
we hope to have our annual "Harvest Home" service. Our past experiences, of this character, have been thoroughly enjoyed by all our people, and we look for a hearty response at this time. A committee, with Mrs. B. L. Dickey of Stanton, in the lead, has been appointed, and we expect to see evidences of their work along lines of decoration next Sunday morning. We hope to see, on the platform, a display of many of the soil products. Our organist, Mrs. William Peach, will be at her usual place, and the choir, led by Mr. Edmund Peach, will render special music appropriate to the occasion. The sermon, at this time, will be delivered by the Rev. E. J.

Hopkins, pastor of the Presbyterian church at Elsmere, Del. It will be a pleasure to welcome Mr.
Hopkins, and to listen to him, he being a comparative stranger in our midst, having recently come to Delaware from Trenton, N. J. At this service we shall take up an offering for the "schemes" of our denomination.

Rev. J. W. Lowden and Mrs.
Lowden hope to visit "The World in Baltimore" this week. This is an impersonation of the missionary work and life of the entire foreign world, and is spoken of as "indescribable."

DELAWARE CITY NEWS

Delaware City, Nov. 27. Rev. Dr. John D. Rushbridge has been accepted as minister of the Presbyterian church here and will conduct services beginning next Sunday. Rev. Russell Paynter of Newark conducted services last Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Alden Richey of New Castle has been elected rector of Christ Episcopal church and will assume his duties next Sunday.

A bazaar will be given by the ladies of Christ Episcopal church in the parish house on December 5.

Work on H. C. Clark's two buildings near the railroad station is progressing rapidly.

Literary society has been formed at the High School. The officers are as follows: President, William J. Morrow; vice-president, Harold Weaver; secretary, William Housewright; and treasurer, Albert Thompson. The members of the Executive Committee are: Alton Barnes, John Wise and Charles Warner.

A Musical and Promenade will be given in Assembly Hall on Thanksgiving evening, for the benefit of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church.

The gunners about here report large numbers of rabbits. Woodcock and partridge are very scarce. There are not plentiful at present but a good season is expected owing to the cold weather.

A branch of the Progressive League of Delaware has been established here with T. J. Whittemore, president, and William B. Patterson, treasurer. The club will hold its first meeting on the first Thursday in January.

George Gardiner, who recently shot himself accidentally, is improving rapidly.

The oyster supper and bazaar given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church in the fire engine house last Thursday evening was well attended.

In a well played game of football at Ft. DuPont Saturday afternoon, the Fifty-fifth Company team defeated Chambers-Wylie of Camden, N. J., by the score of 10 to 0. The playing of Remo, the plucky left end of the soldier team, was a striking feature of the game.

Carpenters are completing the wood-work on the interior of the fire engine house. Metallic ceilings and side-walls are going to be made also. The building, when completed, will prove a great improvement to Delaware City.

Work on the road on Fifth street is progressing rapidly. About half of the road has been completed. Robert A. Peacock, chairman of the Good Roads Committee expects to have the entire work finished with fifteen days. The road is about 8 tenths of a mile long and when completed will make a continuous stone road from Wilmington, Del., to Augustine Beach, a distance of about twenty-one miles. Upon the completion of this work, efforts will be made to build a road on Clinton street. However, it is thought that this will not be done before next spring. The money for the road on Fifth street has been raised by popular subscription.

A Letter to Little Girls

Newark, Del.,
Nov. 26, 1912.

Dear Little Girls: When you send your letters to dear old Kris, tell him he can find the sweetest dollies at the Parish House on afternoon and evening of December 5th.

Their dresses can be taken off and laundered. Our ladies are working hard to fill his orders—and he can find something nice for Mother and big brother Tom.

Wishing You a Merry Xmas,
St. Thomas' Guild.

A Pretty Home Wedding

One of the prettiest weddings of the season took place at the home of Mrs. E. C. Jones last Wednesday evening, when the marriage of her daughter Miss Lola M. Jones and Mr. Gustavus H. Smith, was solemnized.

The house was beautifully decorated according to a definite color scheme. Rev. W. J. Rowan officiated.

The wedding party was composed of Mr. William C. Smith of Marion, N. C., brother of the groom, who acted as best man; Miss Katherine Steel, cousin of the bride, maid of honor. Miss Martha A. Smith, sister of the groom and Miss Alice G. Kerr, were bridesmaids and Mr. Frank H. Zebby of Wilmington and Prof. Joseph M. McVey of Elkton, ushers; Master Justin Steel acted as ring bearer, and Miss Rosalie Steel, flower girl. Miss Madeline Pennock played the wedding march.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith will return from a trip north on Thanksgiving day. They will reside at Metebysville, Del.

Cecil County Letter

Work is progressing rapidly on the new frame stable with slate roof, which the Pure Oil Company is having erected on Jeffers or Turner's Wharf, at the foot of Bridge street, Elkton.

Bricklayers from Baltimore had finished on Friday the basement wall of the Elkton Banking and Trust Company's new building on North street, and on Saturday the floor beams of the bank room were placed in position. Work on the building will be rushed as it is to be completed by New Year's.

Elliot Graham of Cambridge, brother of the late Jack of the Coast James T. Graham, who broke two vertebrae of his neck by a recent fall from a ladder on Holt street, where he was in the employ of the Maryland Ferry Power Company, was treated at the Columbia, Pa. Hospital and was last week removed to Union Hospital, Elkton, where hopes are entertained of his ultimate recovery.

Sheriff Perkins on Thursday night was called to North East to arrest Earl Diefenderfer, a fourteen year old boy, who was offering for sale there a horse and buggy which he had stolen from a farmer named Creswell, living near Blytheville in the Port Deposit section. The boy was lodged in Elkton jail.

The Little farm in upper Elk Neck, recently bought by W. Arthur Mitchell of Elkton, at public sale has been sold to a Philadelphia purchaser.

The Anna Lewis farm, fronting on Elk River, just below Elkton, has been sold, it is reported, by Julius Vandegrift, executor of his wife, daughter of the late owner, to a purchaser from Philadelphia.

John and David Gilpin and their sister, Miss Margaret, removed this week from the Gilpin farm, near Elkton, to the Partridge mansion, owned by the former. The farm, it is reported, has been or is about to be sold to Omar D. Crothers, Esq., of Elkton, for $6,000.

Elkton has a veritable "mad dog" scare, caused by a rabid hound, one of a number owned by the Elkton Hunt Club, which was killed on Friday, on Landing Lane, by Bulfinch Potts, after it had bitten a dozen or more dogs which it met on its run through several streets of the town. The dog's head was sent to Baltimore for examination, which showed that the animal was really rabid. The bitten dogs have been tied up to await developments, and will likely all have to be killed. One thought to be mad but which, it is said, had really been poisoned was shot by Henry Mitchell, near Union Hospital, on Saturday, after it had frightened a number of people it passed on the streets.

Quarrelling on their return from the Democratic parade in Chesapeake City on Saturday night, Edward Naylor and Charles Dilkes, two young men employed at the Radnor Pulp Mill, came to blows near the foot of Bridge street, Elkton. Dilkes was pummeling Naylor when the latter drew a pistol of heavy caliber and beat the former over the head with the butt, and finally fired a bullet which struck Dilkes in the leg. No action had been taken up to Monday by the authorities, and it is said that Dilkes is not disposed to prosecute.

The Wilson and Marshall celebration held in Elkton last Tuesday night was a notable demonstration in which the delegations from the Fourth district, including Elk Mills and Iron Hill, bore leading parts. The line of horsemen, footmen, floats, wagons, carriages and automobiles was fully a mile in length, many horsemen riding four abreast. The largest crowd seen in Elkton since the Smith Mass meeting in 1899 was massed on the streets. Five bands and a life and drum corps from Wilmington were in line, and the North East and Aberdeen Bands played selections, after the parade, at intervals until the arrival of the Southbound midnight train. The parade broke ranks at the Court House, after the circuit of the town, and the great crowd was addressed in brief but fitting speeches by former Attorney General Isaac L. Strauss of Baltimore, and Congressman Covington, of Easton. Residences and business places were illuminated and decorated, and the best of order prevailed. Some members of the Utopia Band, of Elk View, Pa., had to foot it home from Blue Ball, where an axle of their automobile broke on their return trip. The Democrats of Chesapeake City held another celebration in that town on Saturday night with a parade of residents of the First and Second districts and delegations from Elkton and nearby points in Delaware.
