OVER SEVENTY THOUSAND SUBSCRIBED TO LIBERTY LOAN IN NEWARK

ONE HUNDRED FIFTY SUBSCRIBERS REPRESENTED

Campaign on Until Next Saturday--Goal Moved Forward to $100,000

Seventy thousand, two hundred dollars had been subscribed to the second Liberty Loan, at the local banks at the opening of business this morning, the result of the campaign opened by Josiah Marvel at Wolf Hall last Tuesday evening. Local workers met in response to the call of Mayor Frazer, in Council Chamber on Thursday evening, C. B. Evans and H. E. Vinsinger acting as a committee, subdividing the towns into districts, and appointing teams to canvass each district. The captains of the various teams follow: Above the B. & O. Mrs. C. L. Penny, E. Mr. C. B. Evans explained the various methods of purchasing bonds: by outright purchase; by partial payments as outlined by the government—2 percent down, 18 percent the fifteenth of November; 40 percent the fourteenth of December; 40 percent the fifteenth of January; or by arrangement with the Newark banks, $1.00 a week for $50 bonds; $2.00 a week for $100 bonds; or $20 a week for $500 bonds. Application forms may be secured from either bank or through any local chairman. Every citizen is urged to make the Liberty Loan campaign a proud chapter in local history. To date the leading teams are those of Mrs. Penny and Miss Hossinger. Many large returns are known to be not yet in, however.

Students of Delaware College at chapel exercises at noon today subscribed $2,000 to the Liberty Loan. At a similar meeting held at the Women's College on Tuesday $1,200 was subscribed. These amounts are not included in the total above mentioned.

Plan Union Evangelistic Services

The official boards of the Presbyterian and M. E. churches of Newark, met in joint session on Monday evening and formed an evangelistic committee, composed of representatives of the two churches to employ an evangelist and conduct a series of meetings early in the winter. Mr. G. N. Brown was made chairman, and Earl F. Dawson, secretary, of the committee.

Teach Sewing At Colored School

Seniors at the Women's College are giving a course in sewing at the colored school on Cleveland Avenue. In order to carry on the work to the best advantage, however, a sewing machine is badly needed, those in charge of the work stated this week. Anyone having a machine that could be used for the purpose is requested to notify this office.

Portrait of Professor Robinson Presented

The presentation of a portrait of the late Professor Frederic H. Robinson to Delaware College, a gift from his wife, took place this afternoon in the Recreation Room of Old College Hall.

Judge Henry C. Conrad, who was a classmate of Professor Robinson's, made the address of presentation on behalf of Mrs. Robinson. The address in behalf of the Alumni was made by Professor C. A. Short, while Dr. Samuel C. Mitchell made the address in behalf of the college. Following the exercises tea was served by the Director of the Commons, Miss Caldwell.

Professor Robinson, who died last spring, was for 26 years head of the department of civil engineering of the college and during those years "Old Delaware" graduated many men who have since made wide reputations in the engineering world. He severed his connections with the college in June, 1916.

Government Reassures Housewives

Denounces Circulators of Reported Seizure of Fruit

German agents are credited by the government with the circulation of statements that the food administration intends to take canned and preserved vegetable, and fruits away from individual householders who have acquired a supply of such articles.

Incidentally, it is learned that the circulation of this utterly false and misleading statement has enabled swindlers to take quantities of food from householders upon the pretense that they are government agents. The food administration wants it known generally that no interference with food held by individuals for family consumption has ever been contemplated and that there are no agents of the administration or of any other branch of the government who have any right to investigate the domestic food supplies of individuals. "You cannot make this statement too strong," said an officer of the food administration today.

If persons are being swindled by pretended agents they should take prompt steps to bring the offenders to justice.

The food administration has been encouraging all householders to can and preserve as much food material as possible, both for home consumption and for sale, and those who have responded to these urgings are entitled to all they have acquired, and will be protected by the government.

The food administration has received information from nearly every State that householders have been informed that all surplus food supplies and especially canned and preserved vegetables and fruits would be taken from them by the government.

Only a deliberate effort to cause alarm and discontent could account for the circulation of this falsehood, and therefore its origin is attributed to German propagandists.

COAL ADMINISTRATOR NAMES ASSISTANTS

To Fix Prices Today

With the hope of relieving, where it is possible to do so, those communities which may at any time be in danger of a coal famine, and in order that all sections of the State may receive equitable treatment, a State Advisory Coal Committee was appointed today by State Coal Administrator Charles H. Ten Weeges. The personnel of the advisory committee is as follows:

P. L. Grove of Wilmington, superintendent of the Delaware railroad; Robert D. Kemp, chairman of the Wilmington coal committee; John R. Lambson of New Castle, chairman of the rural New Castle committee; Harvey P. Hall of Smyrna, chairman of the Kent county committee; C. Sudler Richards of Georgetown, chairman of the Sussex county committee. Mr. Richards' appointment as Sussex chairman was also made today by Mr. Ten Weeges. This completes the organization for the State of the coal administration forces, except that Messrs. Hall and Richards are yet to name their co-workers on the Kent and Sussex committees. The State advisory committee is to devise ways and means for securing transportation for coal to all sections of the State, so that each section will have an equal chance. The ones that are the worse off will receive attention first.

Much of the time of Mr. Ten Weeges is being taken up by dealers who come to him for advice, many of them fearing that they will run in conflict with the new rules laid down, and consequently he finds it rather difficult to accomplish as much as he otherwise would be enabled to do.

Mr. Ten Weeges hoped to be able to have a meeting of the local committee this afternoon, following which it is his intention to announce the high and low prices which retail coal dealers may charge in Delaware.

Knitters Urged To Speed Up

Deliveries At Headquarters This Week

Two convalescent robes, knit by Mrs. W. H. Hilton, Miss Jane Maxwell, Miss Annie Wilson, and Miss Martha Wilson, have been delivered this week by the local Red Cross organization at the headquarters in Wilmington. The robes were packed in a box the day they were delivered and shipped to France. Miss Grime, chairman of the knitter's committee, has received word from headquarters this week, urging local knitters to rush work on the gray wool sweaters, scarves, helmets, etc., intended for immediate shipment to France. Fifteen articles of this lot will be delivered tomorrow. A second supply of olive drab yarn, to be made into garments for Delaware men at Annapolis has arrived, and more workers can be supplied with material at once.

Miss Beck, chairman of the Soldiers' Comfort and Recreation Committee, has delivered to headquarters this week 377 jars of preserves. Collections will continue all of this week and next. Those not desiring to give fruit may further the work of the committee by money contributions which will be converted into canned goods.

Choir Visits Masonic Home

Accompanied by the Rev. Walter G. Haupt, rector of the Church, and a number of members of the congregation the choir of St. Thomas P. E. Church on Sunday made another visit to the Masonic Home near Wilmington. The choir sang several selections for the residents of the home which was greatly appreciated. This was the second visit made by the choir to the home.

Governor Urges Purchase of Liberty Bonds

Governor Townsend yesterday issued the following proclamation for the observance of Liberty Loan Day:

In conformity with the Proclamation of the President of the United States, designating October 24th as Liberty Loan Day, I call the special attention of our citizens to this duty.

So consistently loyal, so energetically true, so determined to do our full bit, it has seemed superfluous to call the attention of Sons of Delaware to a National duty. At every call, Delaware has nobly responded. Not perhaps with the glare of enthusiasm that attracts attention, but with quiet efficient organization, the results have been practical and have more than met the demands placed upon us. This trait of character inherited from our fathers, is one of just pride, of which a boast can well be excused. But proud as we justly are of our history, and the immediate yesterdays—today has its duty, too. We can ill afford to rejoice in the achievements of yesterday, at the sacrifice of the call today.

The honor of America, the integrity of democracy the very life of liberty itself is at stake. The ideals of humanity, of which the word America is most expressive, stand at bay.

Our fathers have given their sons, our mothers their heart's prayers. This great hard sacrifice has been made. We are asked now, only, to supply funds to go toward their efficiency in making the world's fight for right.

Compared to the work of our sons, compared to the sacrifices already made it is such a little thing, yet of vital practical import.

Just, lest we forget, be it remembered that Wednesday, October 24th, is Liberty Loan Day. With this thought in your mind, it is with confidence that I say the Delaware if today will hold true to the thoughts and deeds of yesterday.

We dare not do less than our share—history prophesies we do more."

John G. Townsend, Jr.
By the Governor,
Everett C. Johnson,
Secretary of State.

FOUNDERS' DAY EXERCISES FOR SATURDAY

Corner Stone of New Dorm To Be Laid

The third annual Founders Day of the Women's College of Delaware will be observed next Saturday. The exercises this year will be of greater significance than on previous occasions, owing to the fact that the corner stone of the new dormitory will be laid at this time.

Governor Townsend will be present, also Ex-Governor and Mrs. Charles R. Miller.

The usual formal exercises will be held in Warner Hall, at which Mrs. Grice of Philadelphia, will be the speaker. Her subject is "Democracy—Its Appeal to Womanhood." Mrs. Charles R. Miller will speak of her work on the State Committee of the Council of National Defense. The ex-governor has also consented to speak. Addresses will be made by Dean Robinson and President Mitchell.

The Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Selma Bachrach, will furnish the music. The third part of the program will be in the hands of the Sophomore class. It is the ceremony in connection with the planting of the class tree. The exercises will be held promptly at 2 o'clock in order not to conflict with the Delaware-Dickinson game on Frazer Field on the same date. The committees in charge are the following:

Another interesting relic of those times is the large United States flag displayed at the Paper Mill of Curtis and Brothers during the period of the Civil War.

Word was received at the local bank today of the sudden death of Dr. Francis L. Springer, of Newport, for the last four years director of the Farmers' Trust Company. Although Dr. Springer has not been in the best of health for a year, he was not considered any worse than usual, and this morning started out with his medicine case to visit his patients. Soon after leaving the house he was seen to pitch forward. Friends hastened to his assistance and found him dead. The deceased is a cousin of Miss Margaret L. Springer, of Newark.

CROWD ATTENDS OPERA HOUSE MEETING

The Effect of Dry Laws Discussed

Newark Opera House was crowded last Sunday evening, the occasion of the discussion of the effect of dry laws in Kent and Sussex County, by Colonel Robert G. Houston of Georgetown, Delaware. Dr. S. C. Mitchell presided at the meeting. Music was furnished by the Delaware College orchestra, and there were choruses, by young folk from the M. E. and Presbyterian Sunday Schools. The gathering was one of the largest assembled in Newark in years. Dr. Mitchell in a few opening remarks, related personal experience in Virginia.

"In 1891," he said, "I lived in Charlottesville, Va., a college town like this, in the center of a prosperous farming district, with a highly intelligent citizenship. There were saloons everywhere, with drunkenness and the resultant poverty, crime, and disease. Saloons were driven out of that community in about 1907. I have made repeated visits since then. The substance of conversations with many representative men reveals that business is greatly improved, there are no vacant houses, the jails are practically closed, and there is happiness and prosperity everywhere. I don't believe you could get ten men to go back to the old order."

"In 1895, I went to Richmond to live. There were 150 odd saloons on the 'Wrong side' of Broad street. The city has been dry now about a year. I have visited the city a number of times since. I have been told by a prominent lawyer there who openly worked against prohibition, for he honestly believed it was for the best to license this thing—and there are men who believe that, just as good and honest as can be found on the globe—I have been told by this man that the law is enforced, that business has quickened, due we know not entirely to prohibition law, however. One of the Richmond papers, a few years ago co-operating editorially in the 'wet' campaign, has recently made a survey of the credit furniture houses of the city. They find from exact statistics that where a large percentage of furniture under the old regime was turned in for failure on payments, it is now rare indeed for this to happen. The man no longer spends his earnings on Saturday night for drink; he hands a good portion to his wife and she is able to meet the furniture payments.

"Our country has entered upon a great undertaking and we are once again sending our boys to fight for liberty. We are giving them to our country, to fight, and if need be to die for what is right. Shall those of us who are at home be weak-kneed enough to let a corruption gnaw the very vitals out of our nation here at home?"

Mr. Houston, the chief speaker of the evening declared the issue of this campaign is clear and defined: "Shall we grant the privilege of a certain means of making a livelihood to a few, at the expense of jeopardizing our young men and our homes?" He said in part: "At the ballot box every man

TEACHERS CO-OPERATE IN HOOVER CAMPAIGN

Commissioner Spaid Mails Circular Letter

The following letter has been mailed this week to teachers throughout Delaware, urging their enthusiastic co-operation in the distribution of the food conservation pledge cards next week. To the Teachers of Delaware:

The State Board of Education feels the need of adding its request at this time to those of Governor Townsend, the commissioner of education and the county superintendents—to the end that all teachers will do their "bit" promptly and enthusiastically in the campaign for pledge cards to begin Oct. 21st. The 750,000 teachers are honored when the Federal Government appeals to them to instruct the 22,500,000 school children in the conservation of food.

Fit yourselves for the task by studying the literature sent you from Washington; make yourselves masters of magazine articles and talk about foods, etc. In your classes, The Food Administration goes to the heart of things in the following statement:

Conserving food does not mean eating less; it means eating less of some things and more of others:

Eat less wheat—more rye, corn and oatmeal.

Eat less beef and pork—more fowl and eggs.

Eat less animal fat—more vegetable oils.

Eat more of our abundance of perishables, eat more potatoes—save the concentrates, so that we may ship more to our Allies.

Buy no more than you need—eliminate waste.

If some farmer in your district is ill, organize your large pupils into a band of helpers, and urge them to assist after school and on Saturdays to get in the corn and husk it. Likewise, encourage the girls to help with the house-work if some mother in your district is ill.

The success of the campaign for the pledge cards lies with the teacher. Her personality and enthusiasm will cause her pupils to carry out her plans joyfully.

The State Board of Education counts on you to show that your district is ready to back up the campaign against waste. Most sincerely,

The State Board of Education

Over Here

This is the paraphrase on Geo. M. Cohan's "Over There," written for the Boy Scouts of America by Oliver Herford for their second Liberty Loan Campaign. It was printed in Boys' Life, the Boy Scouts' Magazine. The Scouts are using it in parades, in the movies and at public meetings.

Johnny get the mon', get the mon', get the mon'!

Help to down the Hun, down the Hun, down the Hun;

Money talks, let money shout!

Turn your pockets inside out!

Hurry, buy a bond, buy a bond, buy a bond.

Help them over yond', over yond', over yond'.

Let your gold flow in a stream.

Let them hear the Eagle's scream!

Over here! Give a cheer!

Tell the lads over there not to fear.

That the ranks are swelling, and the scouts are yelling

And the bonds are selling, over here.

Never fear, never fear.

We are all on the job over here. Tell the Kaiser he'll be wise When he meets the troops we're raising for him here!

Johnny dig the dough, dig the dough, dig the dough. Let your dollars go, don't be slow, let 'em go.

Help to give the Teutons fits, Put the Kaiser on the fritz.

Make the Teutons roar, then some more, then some more!

Help to win the war, win the war, win the war!

Do your bit the bond to float, Help to get the Kaiser's goat!

Corn Situation

Frost has done much damage in North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Michigan, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, and a few other corn States. This will result in a serious seed-corn problem in many localities. County agents, reinforced by emergency demonstration agents in practically all the States affected, are pushing campaigns to encourage the careful selection, curing, and storing of seed-corn. The need of making careful plans to get the largest amount of feeding value out of soft corn and corn stover is apparent to all careful farmers.

Messages From The Liberty Loan Committee

Seven score years have passed since that day on which our forefathers stood together and said: "What is life without Liberty? What is money without a country?" Yet that same question is before the American people in this hour of peril! We've put our hand to the plow. Have we backbone enough to finish furrow? God help our fighting men if we do not stand behind them! God help our women and children if the Hun breaks through and brings the war to our shores! He spit his insults at us and we struck back. It's now a question of him or us, and we may expect no mercy! America is beginning to know who are men and who are not; who are brave and who are cowards; who are patriots and who are slackers!

And the man who on this Liberty Day stands before you and cannot say that he has done his full share, though it may be small, is a thing despicable—a man to be shunned and hissed by every true American!

The day is not far distant when the full realization of war will be upon us. Therefore, we say in all earnestness, we must see to it our soldiers and our sailors have the equipment and support that will enable them to give a good account of themselves on the battlefields of Europe. Unlimited money is demanded and $100 right now may do more than several times that amount later on. We have entered the war, let us not make the mistake of sacrificing our men and withholding our dollars. Naked bravery will not win such battles as are being fought today—the heroism of our valiant sons must be supported with better fighting machinery and more of it than possessed by the enemy. An overwhelming response in subscriptions to the second Liberty Loan must be our answer to the call which has gone forth for our help—it is the only way many of us can prove our love and devotion to our country.

Germany despised us as a weakling nation, bloated with wealth. Today she hates us for our interference with her plot against the whole world's freedom. "After England, America!" That is her slogan. "We'll make the rich Yankees pay our debts, and we'll teach them a lesson in the paying!"

And don't think that America cannot lose this fight! For lose it she will if you and I sit back and let the other fellow do the fighting and the lending, both! Our troops are marching out to "no man's land," ready to go through hell for us. They do not ask that we older men tramp beside them, but they do ask that we back them up with our last dollar, providing shoes, and food, and clothing, permitting no want of guns or shells, cartridges or airplanes, counting no sacrifice too great when they are laying down their lives for freedom and humanity.

What is the United States? It is yourself and others like you. If you do your share, you are square with your country, with your conscience and your God. If you buy Liberty Bonds, you are practically at the front. Gun in hand, fighting for the Stars and Stripes. The people of Belgium are asked to hand over their money, but it is with a gun at their head. If they do not subscribe for the German bonds or taxes, they are killed and their property is stolen.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

College "Pep" Needed

Saturday's football game is only a realization of the college spirit now existing at Delaware College. The student body as well as the football team was not there with the determined spirit of winning. The football team forgot how to fight and the student body failed to back the team—winning or losing.

This same lack of spirit is shown in all college activities, when word is collected for a bonfire, who does the work? Freshmen, and Freshmen only because they are afraid if they do not help they will be put under the showers. Who does the snake dance around the field between halves of the football games? Freshmen, and they do it because they are helpless to resist the commands of Upper Classmen. Who does the cheering, principally? Freshmen. Who sit together in a body on the cheering stands? Freshmen.

This is not the right way to show College spirit. Anything that has to do with the College as a whole should be entered into by Seniors, Juniors, and Sophomores as well as Freshmen. We are all Delaware College.

When a bonfire comes off every student get together and show our real spirit; every student sit together in a body in the cheering stand at the next football game; every student get into the snake dance. Delaware College is not a Freshman College. It is a College where Seniors, Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen are collected in one body, and this body should act as a unit, not as two or three distinct units.

Let "Wallop Dickinson" be the slogan for this week. Every student be in the cheering stand next Saturday (and sure to stay there) to back the Coach, to back the football team, and most of all, to back Old Delaware.

Knit For Soldiers And Sailors

Students of the Women's College are doing their bit in the way of knitting. Wherever the girls go the bright bags accompany them, and the number of gray and khaki wool sweaters is growing fast. The girls knit between lecture periods, they knit as they walk along the campus. Forty sweaters are promised to the Delaware regiment by November fourth.

Doomsday At

Women's College

"Doomsday," the day upon which all College dues are paid, was observed at the Women's College last week. Behind a long table in one of the rooms in Science Hall were the representatives of the various organizations and classes to receive dues, and in return to make out neat receipts. Purses were light when the day was over!

Man's Reason Upset Again

Speaking at a suffrage rally at Cooper Union Mrs. W. J. Bryan painted a satirical picture of the evils of woman suffrage that brought laughter from the audience. Mrs. Bryan said in part: Man has always opposed those things which spoke for progress. He referred to the first matches as a hellish invention.

The cooking stove, too, was thought by him to be dangerous, and the baby buggy was looked upon as a device which was certain to carry woman daily miles from her home and cause neglect of her duties.

Street lighting was opposed as bound to increase immorality and to cause persons to prowl about the streets all night. The speaker continued:

It has even been suggested that mankind might die of unrequited love if women were granted the right to vote, and that woman would die of exhaustion when she came to voting day in and day out.

Men are poor judges of women, even after long association, when they permit themselves to believe that we are going to lose our femininity because of getting the vote. We cannot possibly lose it, as it is woven into our very fabric.

It is not claimed that the ballot in the hands of women will prove a panacea for all ills, but it will make for improvement. And the ballot for woman is absolutely essential for the protection of the wage-earners among women.

INTERESTING BIT OF CHURCH HISTORY

Related By Mrs. George Porter

A recent letter from Mrs. Helen Porter, of Baltimore, gives interesting bits of history connected with the Presbyterian Church of Newark.

In looking over some papers of Rev. George J. Porter, the letter states, "I found the enclosed letter from a friend of his, the late Colonel McComb, of Wilmington. You will see by the communication that the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church which is hand carved, and a model of beauty, was donated by Colonel McComb, at a cost of two hundred dollars. The wainscoting in the rear is also hand carved and was paid for out of the church fund. There was also six hundred dollars collected by Mr. Porter from friends in New York City, former members of his congregation at Arken, South Carolina. The large window in the rear of the church was donated by a relative of Mrs. Hugh Hamill's at a cost of over seven hundred dollars; the two pulpit windows were donated by Mr. Porter and his brother, Dr. William Porter, of Phoenixville, and Mrs. Lott, a sister-in-law of Mr. Porter. The left hand window was the gift of the former, and the right hand of Mrs. Lott, of Easton, Pa., costing $45.00 each. Mr. Porter also contributed $50.00 to the building fund of the manse."

Hoping that the present generation may love and appreciate a church which cost so much labor and sacrifice on the part of those who brought it to its finished condition, and beautiful proportions, most all of whom have passed away, I remain

Yours respectfully,
Mrs. Helen C. Porter.

Y. W. C. A. At The Women's College

Miss Kathryn Jackson led the Y. W. C. A. meeting at the Women's College last Sunday night. She took "Is Your Bible Dusty?" as her subject and asked pertinent questions about Bible reading: "Can a student find time every day for voluntary reading?" Miss Hilda Stevens said that one of the reasons for coming to college is to train ourselves in good habits, and that a systematic reading of the Bible is an important habit to acquire.

Miss Laura Rodney answered the question, "How much time should be spent in the reading?" by saying that it should be part of our daily routine.

Miss Edith McDougle said that, though we may not be able to set a definite time, it is better to do our reading in the morning in order to start the day well. Miss Caudell added that we should speak to our Heavenly Father before we speak to our earthly friends. We need our daily manna fresh and as a guide for the day.

Miss Paulina Smith illustrated the meaning of "Bible Circle," by the geometric circle, of which every point in the circumference is equally distant from the central point. In the Bible class the central point might be the common ideal toward which each member of the class is striving.

Miss Esther Dodson sang. Next Sunday's meeting will be led by Miss Mary Jane Mason and will be on "Social Service."

Funds Needed To Run Dry Campaign

The following letter is being distributed by the rural New Castle County Anti-Licenses Committee:

Dear Friends of the Cause:

How much is it worth to you to have Newark dry? An active and efficient campaign is being carried on by the Rural New Castle County Committee for the purpose of making dry this county. To continue this successfully expenses must be and have been incurred. To cover these expenses we are presenting the facts to friends of the cause and asking their assistance. Your prompt response will be greatly appreciated. Please do not lay this aside to be looked after later. You may overlook it. Mail your check for anything you feel you can give to the treasurer. A "Dry Newark" will be worth more than it costs. Send your check today.

POTATOES IN GREAT DEMAND

Government Advises Purchase of Winter Supply

Attention is being called in this week's news-letter from the Department of Agriculture, Washington, to the increased facilities needed by farmers for storing potatoes and other root crops. The high price of grains is greatly increasing the demand for potatoes; and all who have cellar or other storage facilities are being encouraged to lay in a winter supply. The increasing use of potatoes in bread making may well provide a market for millions of bushels. In addition, the substitution of this universally used vegetable for bread is expected to make such a demand as will entirely absorb the unusually large crop indicated by the latest estimates. In view of the substantial crop in sight, growers should be more than usually careful in grading and otherwise preparing their potatoes for the use of more discriminating consumers who are willing to pay the higher and more profitable prices for well graded products. Loans on stored potatoes are not likely to be made except on well graded, clean stock.

Economy Hints

One rat will eat or spoil four bushels of grain a year. It costs $2 or $3 a year to feed a rat on your place.

The rough part of grains has two important uses. It contains mineral and other substances which are useful in keeping the body healthy; it adds bulk to the food, and so helps along normal digestion.

When the Modern Woman Goes to Buy a Stove —and if she shops around a bit she is confronted with the perplexing problem of selecting from any number of good looking models in the cook stove line—her only salvation then, if she has not tried out a dozen or more, is to select the stove that the majority of women prefer and demand.

THE VICTOR COOK IS THE STOVE

no matter where you go; when quality counts, the Victor Cook's the selection, and in Wilmington the only place you can buy this stove is Miller Brothers. We have them in good variety and at old prices, because we bought them last year.

Women Who Are Going to Buy a Hoosier Kitchen Cabinet Should —do so before next Saturday for after Saturday the prices advance considerably—and right now, to save is to demonstrate patriotism. But no matter if you wait until next Saturday, you will enjoy unending opportunity to save in the kitchen by installing a Hoosier. The waste in the majority of kitchens would virtually feed an army. A Hoosier in the kitchen eliminates waste, but the main point that we make is this—IF YOU BUY YOUR HOOSIER BEFORE THE CLOSE OF THE BUSINESS DAY AT THIS STORE NEXT SATURDAY, YOU WILL EFFECT A FIRST SAVING THAT WILL BE MOST GRATIFYING. We are forced to adopt the new schedule of prices fixed by the manufacturers when we open for business next Monday morning.

 is equal; the millionaire's vote counts the same as the poorest working man's. Men sometimes vote wrong, not from any lack of desire to do right, but from a lack of knowledge of the facts. I have come tonight to tell you some facts.

"Personally I feel as though I had come to argue a question with but one side to it. I have never heard any argument on the other side that I thought could be sustained. The liquor business is an evil, according to every state court, every state legislature, the Supreme Court of the land. States under what is known as the police power of the state pass laws regulating the liquor traffic. The police power of the state is that power that lies in the laws of self defense of the state. We can all resort to self defense if threatened. Upon the same principle states may defend themselves from that thing which menaces them in the form of the liquor traffic.

"One of the great arguments against dry laws is that they encroach upon man's liberty. Is there a single law upon the statute books of Delaware that does not encroach upon man's liberty? All law means that man shall live for the good of the many—to prevent anyone from going out and doing just as he pleases to the harm of his neighbor. We are all familiar with the man who tells that in his father's boyhood the decanter was on every sideboard; that even the minister was treated to a glass of wine upon his visit to the home. My friends, it is the commercializing of the business that has put the great harm into it. The man who can afford to waste his money on this stuff has it in his home; the poor man goes to the public house to get it, and it is the business of the saloon keeper to sell all he can and make the better living. Decide whether or not you will vote to give some man the privilege of making money in this way, or to protect the American home. It is useless to tell an intelligent audience that 75 percent of our crime, 75 percent of our insanity are directly traceable to this cause.

"In Sussex county before 'dry' laws were in effect, the Grand Jury was seldom in session less than a week, sometimes longer. Now it is unusual for it to be in session two days. It's up to you, men. You have the responsibility; you are your brother's keeper. You must see that the temptation is removed from every man. What is the use in Sussex having voted to remove this thing from the county, and then sending her boys to a college town, where in the very beginning of his manhood he is thrown open to things of this kind? What is the reason that state after state has gone dry? Why have so many southern states gone dry? We all know it. The people in the south know, that their large colored population, when full of whiskey become beasts, and dangerous. Sometime ago after an investigation, the Baltimore and Ohio Company went before the Legislature asking to have laws put upon the statute books of Maryland, forbidding the selling of booze to a man wearing their uniform.

"I appealed, sometime ago, to the head of a certain department in behalf of a young man who was reported to me as a very worthy one. He told me, 'Mr. Houghton, we want good men; we are going to keep good men when we find them. This man is discharged because he was under the influence of alcohol when on duty. We have too many lives entrusted to us to risk the mistake of a drunken man.' Alcohol affects a man's efficiency at least 40 percent. That's why so many states are voting dry.

In Sussex there were some people who honestly believed they would have to move out if the county went dry. 'What are we going to do for revenue?' they said. You may not realize it, my friends, but in Georgetown at least $20,000 passed over the saloon counters. Close the saloons and it means $20,000 more over the counters of merchants for the food and clothing of that man's family. The amount of a merchant's license is regulated by his purchases. Upon investigation I have found that those merchants who sell to the class of men who visited the saloons, doubled their business the first year under prohibition laws. That meant an increased license in the state, and in three years time the increased revenue from the merchants has amounted to more than all the revenue from the licensed saloons.

"In far off Russia, which we are went to think of as generations behind us, 'dry' laws have come as a war measure; in France and Great Britain. Our own Congress passed laws as a war measure—but they will never be repealed.

"In this time we are asked to conserve food. We know that in France they have no wheat bread; that dishes that contain sugar are served only once a week. Are we going to permit a continuation of this traffic in our own country? The world is asking for bread. Shall we give it a stone? I prevail upon you to think of it."

Whether it is for complete plumbing work for a new house or a small repair job, any service we perform large or small receives the same careful attention and skillful handling. We have the experience, the knowledge and the facilities to do any job right, at the right figures. Get our estimates.

The Government First!

Tremendous as is the present activity in the marshaling of men, food and munitions for the conduct of the war, the placing of the Bell System unqualifiedly at the disposal of the Government has relieved one paramount factor of preparedness.

Yet with the growth of our military establishment, the demands upon the Bell System are bound to magnify. Increased activity in commerce and industry also means more need for telephone service by private business. But there must be a careful weighing of the importance of the two.

Every American who wants to help win this war should bear in mind that private service must give way to Government service should emergencies require that everything be subordinated to the telephone demands of the Army, the Navy and other representatives of the Government.
