R. W. THOROUGHGOOD, PROFESSOR OF CIVIL ENGINEERING, DIES

Was Head of Department and on University Staff for Thirteen Years

Professor Robert W. Thoroughgood, 55 years old, for thirteen years professor of civil engineering at the University of Delaware, died at 2.30 a. m. this morning, at his home on Delaware avenue, following an illness of several weeks. He is survived by his wife and two children, Robert W. Thoroughgood, Jr., who is connected with the Continental American Life Insurance Company, and Miss Jeanette Thoroughgood, a teacher in the Georgetown school, and one sister, of Georgetown.

Professor Thoroughgood was born and reared in the vicinity of Georgetown. He received his early education at the Georgetown Public School and the Wesley Collegiate Institute at Dover. He attended the University of Delaware and was graduated as a civil engineer from Lehigh University in 1902. After graduating for several years he did railroad work in Staten Island, N. Y., and Missouri. Later he was a member of the faculty of the University of Florida for a number of years. He came to Newark in 1920 as professor of civil engineering. He was a member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, and the Phi Kappa Phi Honorary Society.

The funeral will take place Saturday at one o'clock, with interment at Georgetown.

LOCAL GIRL TO BROADCAST

Miss Helen Gregg, a graduate of Combs Conservatory of Music, Philadelphia, Pa., and teacher of piano and voice, will broadcast a program of piano solos over station WDEL, Thursday evening, December 14, at 7.30 o'clock. Miss Gregg is a member of the Delaware State Music Teachers' Association.

COMMITTEE ANNOUNCES UNIVERSITY HOUR PROGRAM

Noted Explorer First One On Program

The University Hour Committee at the University of Delaware has just announced the program of four numbers to be presented during the present academic year for the faculty and students at the University. The program includes a famous explorer, Vilhjalmur Stefansson, a noted American illustrator, Rockwell Kent, a prominent dramatic reader, Frances Homer, and a foremost journalist, Maurice Hindus.

On this Thursday evening, December 7, Mr. Stefansson will deliver in Mitchell Hall his famous illustrated lecture entitled, "Abolishing the Arctic." This is the first time in several years that the committee has been able to offer an explorer on the lecture program.

Rockwell Kent, probably America's foremost illustrator, will give an illustrated lecture on December 15. Mr. Kent's varied interest—painting, illustrating, travelling, writing—make him a very interesting figure in American life. His illustrations for Moby Dick, N by E, and Wilderness are familiar to everyone. His lecture subject here will be, "In Defense of True Art."

Frances Homer, dramatic artist, will, on March 19, give an entertainment which promises to be the high spot in the year's program. In a series of dramatic episodes entitled, "Ladies of Destiny," Miss Homer successively portrays such characters as the famous Nell Gwynn, actress and mistress to Charles II, Cleopatra, Napoleon's Josephine, and Isabella of Spain in her final interview with Columbus.

Last, but not least, on the program will be a lecture by Maurice Hindus, reporting on that timely subject, Russia. Mr. Hindus has the unique reputation of being the only speaker on the University Hour program for the last three years who has been asked to give a return lecture. When he spoke here several years ago, his account of conditions in Russia was so colorful and graphic, yet so absolutely free from any expression of prejudice either for or against the Russian experiment, that the committee considers itself fortunate to secure him for a lecture on the same subject brought up to date by his recent trip to that country this year.

A special season ticket for the four numbers can be secured from the University Business Office or at the Box Office in Mitchell Hall on December 7.

DRY ERA ENDS TUESDAY AS UTAH ACTS AT 5:32 P. M.

President Appeals To Nation To Be Moderate In Exercising New Freedom And To Bar Saloon

National prohibition came to an end at 5.32 p. m. Tuesday, Eastern standard time, with the ratification of the repeal amendment by a state convention in Utah. The official word was flashed to Washington by telegraph in three minutes and the adoption of the substitute amendment was formally proclaimed at 5.49 1/2 p. m. by William Phillips, Acting Secretary of State.

President Roosevelt, at 6.55 p. m. issued a proclamation repealing four special taxes yielding an estimated $212,000,000 a year and directing a "personal" appeal to all citizens to exercise their restored "individual freedom" in a spirit of temperance.

The President called for wholehearted public co-operation to restore greater respect for law and order, to protect the dry states and to insure the banishment of the bootlegger, the saloon, the illicit liquor traffic and the "repugnant conditions" of prohibition and pre-prohibition days.

Declaring his confidence in the good sense of the American people not to bring upon themselves "the curse of excessive use of intoxicating liquors," the President warned that the return of the old conditions would be "a living reproach to us all." Individuals and families were advised that they could contribute to the spirit of lawfulness by consuming only such alcoholic beverages as had passed Federal inspection, had paid reasonable taxes for the support of the government and was dispensed through regularly licensed dealers.

The President's proclamation ended a thirteen-year experiment which cost $127,000,000 for enforcement, killed ninety-nine dry agents, wounded 561, killed 175 civilians at hands of agents and in the last six years sent 144,000 persons to prison for 71,000 years.

The President asked especially that the states authorize no return of the saloon in any form.

NEWARK STUDENTS IN "AUTUMN CROCUS"

To Be Given In Mitchell Hall December 14th

"Autumn Crocus," one of the finest plays ever given on the Delaware campus, is fast rounding into shape for its production in Mitchell Hall on Thursday, December 14. Townspeople and students will be treated to a performance of professional perfection.

It has long been the aim of the E-52 Players to provide the town of Newark, as well as the students, with their own "Little Theatre." In "Autumn Crocus" Mr. Kase has chosen a London and Broadway hit that will give the theatregoers an evening of hilarious laughter and entertainment such as has not been approached since "Bird in Hand" was given several years ago.

"Autumn Crocus" will be on the largest scale ever attempted by any dramatic organization in this section. There will be three complete sets of scenery which have involved much work and expense in the making, the lighting effects for this colorful play will be magnificently done, and no expense will be spared in the procuring of necessary equipment. To climax it all, the Tyrolean mountain costumes will be absolutely authentic, one of the costumes having been obtained only a few miles from where the plot is actually laid.

Federal Agent for Vocational Agriculture Visits State

Mr. A. P. Williams, Regional Agent for Vocational Agriculture spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of last week with State Supervisor of Vocational Agriculture, W. Lyle Mowlds, visiting former students of vocational agriculture, who are now farming for themselves, and several of the high school departments of vocational agriculture.

Mr. Williams was glad to see the interest with which some of our Delaware graduates have gone into the farming business and it is the hope of those in charge of the work that many others will follow the same course.

The following agricultural departments were visited: Milford, Seaford, Greenwood and Bridgeville. Mr. Williams also audited the accounts and records of the State Supervisor.

ST. THOMAS' GUILD TO HAVE TEA

A silver tea will be held by the women of St. Thomas' Guild on December 14, from three to five, at the Rectory, 176 West Main street.

NEWARK GARDEN CLUB MEETS DECEMBER 12

The Newark Garden Club has arranged an interesting program relative to Christmas decorations and Christmas greens for their meeting on Tuesday evening, December 12, at 8 o'clock, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Daugherty, 208 Orchard Road. The program follows: "What Our Christmas Trees Are," by Prof. L. R. Detjen; "Decorations for the Christmas Table," by Mrs. M. M. Daugherty; "A Call to Protect our Christmas Trees," by Mrs. R. T. Jones; "Our First Christmas Tree," by Mrs. T. F. Manns; "Christmas Greens," by Mr. A. S. Eastman.

EFFORT MUST BE MADE TO PAY TOWN TAXES

Council Has Interesting Meeting Monday Night

Newark Town Council met in the Council chamber on Monday evening with Mayor Collins, Councilmen Lovett, Wollaston, Stoll, Hubert, and Ferguson present. Council's attorney, J. P. Cann, was present and discussed many things of vital importance to the future development of the town.

The acquiring of the Wilson lot by the University of Delaware, for the extension of the athletic field, eliminates the possibility of ever extending Academy street through to Cleveland avenue.

One of the main subjects of discussion was the tax situation in Newark, and it is the consensus of opinion of the Mayor and Councilmen present that some effort must be made on the part of delinquents to pay their taxes, which income instances date back to 1929. While it is not the intention of the Council to embarrass anyone, if no effort is made to pay taxes, there is a possibility of some properties being sold. Naturally, the town has borrowed money on which they are paying interest and when the delinquents do not pay their taxes, the extra expense practically falls on the taxpayers of the town. We are positive that Council will cooperate with any delinquent and help them, or suggest some way of reducing their obligations to the town.

DR. SYPHERD TO READ POETRY AT WOMEN'S COLLEGE

A reading of the poetry of Theodore Watts-Dunton will be given in the Hilarium of the Women's College at 7.30 p. m., Monday by Dr. Wilbur Owen Sypherd, Professor of English at the University of Delaware. Students, members of the faculty and others interested have been invited to attend.

P. S. DU PONT ELECTED HEAD OF INDUSTRIAL GROUP

Pierre S. du Pont, chairman of the board of E. I. du Pont de Nemours and Company, Tuesday was elected chairman of the NRA Industrial Advisory Board in Washington. Mr. du Pont has been a member of the board for only a month, having been made so through a rotation plan started in November.

His accession to the chairmanship was accompanied by induction of five new members: A. Lincoln Filene, Boston merchant; William A. Harriman, New York, chairman of the Union Pacific Railroad; William T. Kemper, chairman of the board, National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City, Missouri; Morris E. Leeds, Philadelphia industrialist; and Thomas H. McInerney, president of National Dairy Products Corporation, New York.

Kirstein, though retiring from the Industrial Board after several months of service, will remain connected with NRA as a member of the National Labor Board and also through chairmanship of the Retail Trade Code Authority.

MORE LAURELS FOR NEWARK SCHOOL

Adults In Study Group Under Leadership of Amy Gardner; Fine Illustration of New and Dynamic Trends In Education

Thirty-four people attended the last session of the Art Class being held each Friday evening in the Home Economics room of the High School. The activities of the group, itself an outgrowth of the newly organized Parent-Teacher Association, are being guided by Miss Amy Gardner of the State Bureau of Adult Education.

In keeping with the general working policy of the Bureau, Miss Gardner at the first meeting outlined a number of the ways in which the members might discover for themselves the joy and enriched living that lies within their art heritage. She explored the felt needs of the group.

After discussion, the class indulged in personal experiments with color combinations. This has led to a study of line texture, color harmony, observation projects, methods of classifying objects, etc. The instructor has shown a rare ability in combining the ideal and the practical.

"I feel as though a window had been opened," one member of the class declared after a recent session. "So many interesting things are unfolded before me. And every evening, in addition to expanding intellectual interests, I bring away one or two practical ideas to be used in every-day life."

The work in the adult classes affords an opportunity for parents to gain a better understanding of many of the activities now being carried on for their children in the regular course of the school day in the Newark school district.

The adult classes in Delaware, which last year enrolled more than 6000 for periods varying from 6 to 8 weeks, represent the type of constructive leisure time activities leading to enriched living, that educational leaders everywhere are insisting must be made a definite part of the school in the future. Such thinkers as Harry A. Overstreet, Edmund des Brunner, E. C. Linderman, are repeatedly citing Delaware as one of the two states which are making real strides in this direction, the other one being California.

As a result of the combined effort of Superintendent Brinser and the P.T. Association, a second class for adults will be organized after Christmas. Efforts are being made to secure as the leader Dr. Hopkins, of Lincoln School, New York, to interpret to the class some of the major objectives in modern education. The course will be especially adapted to the needs of the parents.

MR. J. K. JOHNSTON EMPHASIZES CITIZENSHIP AS VITAL AIM OF EDUCATION

In a very interesting and instructive address at the Newark School on Tuesday morning at 8:50, Mr. John K. Johnston, of Newark, emphasized citizenship as a vital aim of education and of every day living.

Mr. Johnston praised the work of the Newark School and congratulated the student body on the great opportunity which is theirs. He also emphasized the thought of "doing better today than you did yesterday."

Mr. Johnston said in part:

"One duty of education is to teach people to do better the desirable things they have to do. One main function of our schools through the ages has been to create good citizens, individuals who can not only support themselves vocationally, but who also take an interest in the welfare of their community and country."

"The aims, purposes and objectives of all education are to increase the well-being of society. Social betterment is our chief concern. We think in terms of better streets, better schools, better communities, better cities, better governments, and better nations."

"We see endless possibilities of extending human happiness through better government, better education, better economic arrangements of production and distribution. This betterment depends upon intelligent co-operative action. This betterment depends, to a large extent, upon the boys and girls of today who constitute the masses on whom the future guidance and future leadership of our Nation will depend."

"Intelligent co-operation is recognized as one of the most important ideals and demands of citizenship, and there must be practice in it. Participation in political activities furnishes this opportunity, good citizens, have certain rights and privileges, and they also have certain duties, responsibilities, and obligations. Citizens living together in a community should contribute something to it as well as get something from it. The only true American is the American who does his part in his community, just as each one of us does his part in the home."

"As the strength of the arch depends upon all its parts equally, so the maintenance of a strong and efficient administration of all elements among the people. What, to my mind, is more deplorable than even the misuse of political freedom, is the apathy towards their civic duties exhibited by so large a portion of our men and women."

"American needs more and better education for citizenship. We need more extended and more scientific civic education in our schools. We must teach our young men and young women how to approach the hard problems in contemporary politics, and study the historical roots of the economic and other social problems that must vex the minds and try the souls of the next generation."

"It is a serious responsibility to improve government. Our economic life has become so complex, beyond all previous example, and our economic interdependence correspondingly, so far reaching and acute, that in a hundred respects it is certain that the average citizen of the future will face responsibilities calling for degrees of intelligence and kinds of co-operative effort which in the past have been demanded only of a few leaders in every community."

Mr. Johnston then listed a number of questions which concern the citizen in his everyday relationship of government and some that the citizen is after all the judge of public affairs. The better the school citizen understands the frame-work of government the better he as an adult will help maintain the efficiency of government."

In Mr. Johnston's suggestions were the following:

"First—develop in the mass of citizens such information and such interest in public affairs as will discriminate between the political expert and the political 'rule of thumb' man, hold public officials to inescapable responsibility for results, and reward skill by giving it enlarged scope."

"Second—select for special training those men and women who have talent for training in statesmanship, as they are trained in other vocations. It took some time for us to gain proper perspective in the campaign for Vocational Education, but finally we saw the light and the benefits to be derived there from."

"Similarly—must we interpret the current agitation for the extension and improvements of Civic Education."

"We should have specialists as teachers. We have specialists to teach Vocational Guidance, specialists to teach physical education, music—similarly we shall certainly need to evolve a professional group of specialists in Civic Education. The great need is for the 'utilizer' of the expert service of those trained in Civic Education."

"In the fields of political and related activities, the large majority of citizens can no more be trained to assemble data and to derive sound conclusions with reference to the complicated economic, fiscal, judiciary, educational, sumptuary and other social problems now increasingly falling within the purview of government, than they can be trained to provide their own dental, ocular, and surgical service or to diagnose obscure diseases."

"Somehow, citizens must be so educated in civic matters that they will know when and where to rely upon conclusions reached by themselves, and under what circumstances to seek the guidance of experts."

"So today let us go seriously about the business of training our young people in Social Civics, in Statesmanship and inculcate in their minds that as good citizens they have a bringing about of government which public duty to participate in the shall serve each and all better, and that they owe and should give a certain portion of their time to the study of public matters, should participate in and give assistance in shaping the policies for the administration of the government of their city, their country, their state and their Nation."

"I have spoken of a sincere desire to promote a more intelligently interested citizenship, with an abiding faith in the merits of American Government, and with the conviction that the people of the United States will prove abundantly capable of solving their manifold problems by the traditional processes of reconciling Liberty with Law."

"Let us base all our political activities upon respect for the rights of others and upon the Golden Rule. Let us strive to bring about a government of strength, fairness, democracy, restraint, discipline and order, security and justice—thus transmitting to the younger generation a better government of the people, by the people, for the people, than was transmitted to us."

"If the few moments that I spent with you this morning has created a greater interest in your government, in your service, and in your daily life and living, I shall consider this time well spent."

Mr. Johnston was presented to the assembly by Superintendent Brinser, Principal Wm. K. Gillespie presided. A Thanksgiving playlet presented under the direction of Mrs. Hancock and Miss Hess preceded Mr. Johnston's address.

THIS STATE NOW HAS FIVE CANCER CLINICS

The Delaware Committee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer will hold its annual meeting in the Hotel du Pont, Wilmington, to discuss the cancer control work in Delaware and the five clinics now in operation in Delaware.

These clinics have been established since last July with Dr. Douglas Gay as the pathologist of the Delaware Cancer Committee. The service of these clinics is supported by popular subscription without profit to the sponsoring institutions.

The clinics are held at the Beebe Hospital in Lewes, at the Milford Emergency Hospital, at the Kent General Hospital in Dover, at the Wilmington General Hospital, and the Delaware Hospital, of Wilmington.

The purpose of these clinics are: To arrive at diagnoses, to advise as to methods of treatment, to assist patients in obtaining proper treatment and to observe patients during and subsequent to treatment.

These clinics have been established in Delaware for the purpose of examining and advising persons who think they may have cancer and for regular examination of patients after they have been treated.

The physicians of the State are co-operating in this movement by giving their time and efforts and by referring their patients to the clinics for advice.

In a bulletin on the subject of "How to Obtain Treatment For Cancer," the Delaware Committee states:

"The selection of a physician is always the most important factor and is frequently the greatest problem in the case of cancer cases. The family physician is generally the first person with whom the patient makes contact. Upon his judgment the final result often depends. He usually finds it necessary to refer the case to a specialist who is more familiar with this type of disease and possesses the required skill and suitable equipment for its accurate diagnosis and correct treatment."

"The failure to distinguish between 'benign' and 'malignant' tumors in the early stages of their development is directly responsible for much of the tragedy that occurs in connection with cancer, the Delaware Committee of the American Society for Control of Cancer states."

All tumors or new growth of the body, the Delaware Committee explains are divided into two large groups, the 'benign' and the 'malignant.' Those called 'benign' are, as the term implies, comparatively harmless; the others are called 'malignant' because of their disastrous effects upon the body. The malignant tumors are commonly called 'cancers'."

Benign and malignant tumors are alike in their disorderly growth and their failure to serve any useful purpose in the body. In other very important respects they differ widely.

The benign tumor usually grows slowly. The malignant tumor (cancer) usually grows rapidly.

The benign tumor merely pushes aside the parts which surround it. The malignant tumor grows into the tissues about it and may destroy them.

The benign tumor is quite self-contained and does not spread throughout the body. The malignant tumor has irregular outlines and almost always spreads to distant parts of the body. The benign tumor is dangerous to life only when growing in some vital organ, such as the brain. The malignant tumor is dangerous to life wherever it may grow.

These differences between benign and malignant tumors, however, are by no means as plain as they might seem. In actual practice, it is very difficult to say of many tumors, especially in their beginning, whether they are benign or malignant, whether they are cancer or not cancer. Only the specially skilled physician, by thorough examination and numerous tests, is able to determine the real nature of some tumors.

The failure to distinguish between benign and malignant tumors, in the early stages of their development, is directly responsible for much of the tragedy that occurs in connection with cancer.

There are few circumstances in the course of human life where knowledge counts for so much and ignorance proves so disastrous.

MENTALLY AND PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED CHILDREN IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DELAWARE

One of the startling announcements flashed through the press of the nation from the final session of the Hoover White House Conference on Child Health and Protection, held in Washington in November, 1930, was that of the 40,000,000 children in the schools of the country 10,000,000 were mentally or physically handicapped. This estimate was based on the various studies conducted by the large number of experts on underprivileged children connected with the two committees dealing with the social, educational and medical aspects of the handicapped group of juveniles. Not all of these 10,000,000 children are subject to the same degree of disability. The committees estimated, however, that about one-third of them are so maladjusted educationally or mentally or so handicapped physically or mentally as to require instruction in special classes on special remedial and corrective educational treatment.

No sufficiently comprehensive studies have been made in Delaware to enable us to state definitely how many children in the Delaware public schools are subject to various kinds of physical and mental handicaps. On the basis of the findings of the experts connected with the Hoover White House Conference, the number of our school children who are handicapped to the point where they require instruction in special classes or special remedial educational treatment can be stated to be about as follows:

Mentally deficient children.....	360
Borderline and very backward.....	720
Speech defectives.....	1080
Seriously malnourished and incipiently tuberculous children.....	1080
Hard of hearing.....	540
Deaf.....	32
Partially sighted.....	130
Blind.....	30
Crippled.....	150
Cardiopathies (serious organic heart cases).....	50
Total.....	4170

In addition, the number of difficult behavior children would probably total a thousand or more cases. Many of these, however, would be found in the other classifications.

Special public school classes of one kind or another have been in existence in the public schools of America for about two-thirds of a century. Investigations in many sections of the country of the products of these classes have shown conclusively that many handicapped children can be rehabilitated if given a sufficient amount of training of the right kind. Through proper training and instruction many can become self-supporting in whole or in part, and become cooperative, contented members of society. Many can be converted from sheer economic liabilities to social and economic assets. Even those most seriously handicapped can be rendered less of a burden to parents or caretakers or to Society if given appropriate instruction.

It is now recognized almost everywhere that the primary obligation in the program of rehabilitating handicapped children devolves upon the public school systems. It is the obligation of the schools to discover these children, to determine the nature of their educational handicaps, to classify them correctly, and provide them with the kind of instruction which will enable them to reach their highest possibilities and enable them to become successful, contented members of society.

While Delaware has been rather tardy in developing programs of special education, a good beginning has been made during the last few years. At the present time 285 mentally deficient and retarded children are receiving the advantages of a special program of work in 13 special classes in the public schools of the State. Nine of these classes are in the Wilmington public schools, and the remaining four in the schools of Marshfield, Delmar, Millsboro and Milton. Two new classes were established last year, one in Wilmington and one in Marshfield. This fall five new classes have been established, four in Wilmington and one in Milton. A fresh-air class for malnourished and anemic children, delicate convalescents, children with damaged hearts and those susceptible to tuberculosis will be started in Wilmington in a special suite of rooms in the new Harlan School as soon as the plans can be perfected. The State Board of Education is now paying the salary of a teacher at the Brandywine Preventorium for the care of children who have been exposed to tuberculosis.

Consideration has been given to the establishment of special classes to provide for the needs of mentally handicapped children in many other schools, but progress has been delayed because of the lack of funds and the necessary rooms. Among

WILL THE 9 MARYLAND COUNTIES BECOME PART OF DELAWARE?

One of the members of the Legislature has a resolution providing for the nine counties on the Eastern Shore of Maryland to be welcomed as citizens and residents of Delaware, which may be introduced in the House. This depends upon residents of these counties deciding to secede from that State, as it has been reported, they are planning to.

The secession rumors on the Eastern Shore followed the recent action of Governor Ritchie in sending troops to Salisbury to arrest suspects in the Princess Anne lynching. The sense of the House resolution is to incorporate these 'Shore counties into one big State to be known as Delaware.

The resolution reads: "Whereas, press reports have stated that the members of the Senate and House of Delegates of the State of Maryland representing the counties on the Eastern Shore and a great number of the citizens and residents of said counties have announced that they are desirous of seceding from the State of Maryland; and

"Whereas, because of geographical, social and historical conditions the people of the Eastern Shore are kin to the citizens and residents of the State of Delaware; now therefore

"Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Delaware in general assembly met: "That the citizens and residents of Red, white and blue signs, reading "Never Ritchie Again." We'll a our Part," pasted on the rear window of automobiles coming from the Eastern Shore of Maryland attracted much attention and some amusement Monday, among the residents of Delaware.

One Delaware motorist who displayed a sign said he was stopped while passing through Salisbury, Monday morning, and handed the sign. In reply to a question he was told:

Printed parodies of well known songs including "Maryland, My Maryland," in which Ritchie is satirized and his troops criticized, were also distributed.

SHOP EARLY, SEND EARLY

Although the mail service force is augmented during the holiday season, it is well to shop early and send gifts early through the mails. The phrase "Do not open till Christmas," has worked well. With this in mind we can shop and mail early and be sure that Christmas will not be spoiled for somebody all because we were negligent about the matter. Far better had the gift arrived too early than too late. There can hardly be a "too early," but there surely can be a "too late."

Washington and Wall Street

Call it psychology, or democracy, or whatever you will, it is reasonably certain that there was a different and better feeling throughout the whole nation when President Roosevelt and Wall Street tangled up on the money question.

Regardless of party affiliation, the majority of American citizens when confronted with an issue between big business and the masses, will stand behind a President with nerve enough to keep away from entangling alliances with Wall Street.

Of course, big business is not always wrong. Sometimes the experts employed by great financiers name the correct solution to financial problems, even for the benefit of the country at large. We must not condemn unless condemnation is due. We must not think every rich man a scoundrel. But assuming that the attitude taken by Mr. Roosevelt on the money question is one that will ensure to the benefit of the people, the mere psychology of the stand of the Administration has worked magical wonders for the American people.

The pocketbook is mightier than either the sword or the pen, and it is refreshing to know that President Roosevelt has not yet, at least, succumbed to the siren call of Wall Street.

We'd be satisfied to have even some of W. J. Bryan's free silver right now.

TRUCK WITHOUT LIGHTS CAUSES
ACCIDENT NEAR NEWARK

Failure to have lights on the rear of a truck is alleged to have been the cause of an accident that resulted in the injury of James Breeding, aged 32, of Newark, a guest in the New Castle County Workhouse, just before daylight, Wednesday. Breeding, suffering lacerations of the face and chin, and bruises to the body, was taken to the Wilmington General Hospital.

Louis G. Fielding, 35, of Baltimore, driver of the truck, into the rear of which Breeding's automobile crashed,

Covered Dish Luncheon and Musicales;
Silk Hosiery Demonstration

The Newark New Century Club will have a Covered Dish Luncheon and Musicales for their Christmas program this year at the Club House, December 11. Mrs. J. Pearce Cann, first vice-president, will preside at the business meeting. The president, Mrs. F. A. Wheelless, who is also chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, will be in charge of the Luncheon. There will be a small cover charge in addition to the Covered Dish which each member is expected to bring. Mrs. Wheelless has asked that all food be sent to the Club House by 12:45 so that the committee in charge will have ample time to arrange the Luncheon which will be served at 1:00. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance. Members may bring friends.

Mrs. Glenn Gildersleeve, state chairman of music, will present the most of the musical program. She will bring her own accompanist. It is hoped that Mr. Gildersleeve will also be on the program, but the present report is that he will not be able to come. The joint program which the Gildersleeves presented before the Club last year was thoroughly enjoyed.

FIND AGED MAN DEAD
IN GAS-FILLED ROOM

With four jets to the gas range turned on, the dead body of William T. Quillen, aged about 66 years, was found by neighbors in the kitchen of his home on Delaware avenue near North College avenue about noon Sunday.

Mr. Quillen was last seen about 11:30 o'clock Saturday night when he was in a nearby store. When nothing was seen of him all morning Mrs. William H. Johnson notified other neighbors and they entered the Quillen home to find it filled with gas fumes. After opening some windows they managed to get to the kitchen where Quillen's body was found in a chair with his arms on the sink.

It was apparent that the man had been dead for some hours. No one else was in the house. It is supposed that on entering his home near midnight Saturday night, he turned on the four gas jets and then seated himself in a chair to wait the end. Those who saw conditions in the kitchen say it was a miracle that there was not

The Philadelphia representative of Real Silk Hosiery will be present at the meeting, will have an elaborate display of hosiery on hand, and will talk for about 10 minutes. The Club will get a percentage of sales made.

Mrs. R. O. Bauman, chairman of program, has arranged a game as part of the entertainment. Prizes will be awarded.

The Ways and Means Committee will be in charge of the Luncheon and will be assisted by the Hospitality Committee. The members of the Ways and Means Committee are: Mrs. F. A. Wheelless, chairman, Mrs. G. W. Rhodes, Mrs. R. Heim, Mrs. W. A. Wilkinson, Mrs. R. T. Jones, Mrs. J. Q. Smith, Mrs. Raymond Burnett, Miss Elsie Wright, Mrs. W. F. Lindell, Mrs. Claude Hearn, Mrs. G. D. Plummer, Mrs. Paul Lovett, Mrs. Leonard Rhodes, Mrs. H. W. Davis, Mrs. Harold Tiffany, Mrs. Handy and Miss Anna Frazier.

There was an important joint meeting of the Executive Board and the Library Committee at the home of Mrs. G. R. Sinclair, chairman of the Library Committee, on Wednesday at 2 p. m.

MAY REVISE TEACHING
METHOD IN SCHOOLS

Revision of the English curriculum of the Delaware high schools will be discussed at a special meeting of English teachers at the Women's College of the University of Delaware, Saturday morning.

The meeting is a direct outgrowth of a meeting held two years ago at which time a committee was appointed to investigate the existing conditions and offered suggested improvements. John Shilling, of Dover, assistant superintendent of Public Instruction for Delaware, is chairman of the committee which has called the meeting.

During the past year various teachers throughout the State have tried new methods and the results will be made known at the gathering Saturday morning.

LOWERED MILK PRICES FOR SCHOOLS IN PHILADELPHIA TERRITORY APPROVED

The request of the producers and distributors of the Philadelphia Milk Shed has been approved by Secretary Wallace reducing the price of milk to schools as follows:

"Milk may be sold to schools in half-pints at 3 cents for 'B' milk and 3 1/2 cents for 'A' milk. This new purchase price will be welcomed by schools as it will aid in making milk available to many children in more nearly adequate amounts."

West Chester Easy For Newark Yellowjackets

Newark Yellowjackets added West Chester to its string of victims Sunday, downing the invaders on the John F. Richards field at Newark, 13 to 0. Triumph enabled the Jackets, undefeated in 18 starts, to keep their state clean.

The Jackets opened the scoring in the first period. Starting a drive from their own 40-yard line they marched the 60 yards for the first tally, culminating in Sheaffer going over from the 5-yard line. A pass, Chamberlain to Sheaffer, added the extra point.

The other Newark touchdown came in the third period. Cole and Thornhill, Jacket ends blocked a West Chester kick on the 25-yard line. A series of plays brought the oval to the three-yard stripe from where Chamberlain went over. The try for the extra point failed.

West Chester was unable to get the ball within scoring distance throughout and failed to register a single first down.

The Yellowjackets have not been beaten in 18 consecutive games and have met and defeated some of the best teams in the State willing to face them. They are anxious to meet the Penn-Del champions for the State independent title. To date Penn-Del refuses to give Newark a chance. Newark will more than likely oppose Fort DuPont in the final game of the season next Sunday and should they win they will lay claim to the State crown.

Hall, Mrs. Lulu Walls, Mrs. Eliza Peels, Margueretta O. Brown, Laura E. Robinson, Anna Timmons, Kathryn L. Knight and Mary E. Barcus also spoke.

The present Dupty Great Pocahontas, Mrs. Kathryn Wilkinson, Anna W. Shepherd and Carrie Andrews were present. Ten councils and 18 tribes were represented. The Rev. L. T. Gibson pronounced the benediction. Next Tuesday evening, December 12, the Degree of Pocahontas of Wilmington will give a reception in honor of the Great Inchoance of the Great Council of the United States, in Wilmington at Pythian Castle, and on Friday, December 15, the Tribes will give a reception in his honor at Milford.

PRESENT PAGEANT AT EBENEZER M. E. CHURCH

All members of Minnehaha Tribe are requested to be on hand next Tuesday evening as business of importance will be discussed.

"Thanks Be Unto God," a pageant written and directed by Mrs. T. O. Wills, was presented Sunday evening in the Ebenezer M. E. Church by the young people of the church assisted by the choir. The pageant, which was held in conjunction with the special Thanksgiving services, attracted a large audience. In the cast were Mrs. Elsie W. Whiteman, Mrs. Luella Brown, Mrs. Amelia Norton, Mrs. Violet Starkey, Mrs. Elsie Davis, Misses Bertha Kirk, Alma Johnston, Sara Matthews, Jessie Wood, Leola Brown and Esther McCall, the Rev. T. O. Wills, Ernest Whiteman, Warner Hollingsworth, Joseph Cross, Jr., Charles and Earl Lynch.

Dr. Ezra Crooks, professor of philosophy and sociology at the University of Delaware, was the guest speaker at the morning services. Dr. Crooks spoke on the life of Job. He cited him as the greatest of eastern farmers. Then he likened Job's problems to those of the present day.

NEWARK SCHOOL NEWS

EDITORIAL

It is most vehemently hoped that the era of indifference toward sports has reached its climax and that henceforth the way will be paved for more spirited activity in games. After much deliberation, Mr. Gillespie has succeeded in drawing up an inter-mural basketball schedule, although not in its entirety. This week will see the opening of the schedule. Now it is up to us to do our part.

In previous years the attitude toward sports has been of inferior standing. It is up to us now to put it far above par. Boost your home room, your class, and your school! Make this year stand out before all others! Don't be a slacker! But stand up and fight! This is your golden opportunity. Let's see you take advantage of it.

NEWARK TROUNCES DOVER
THANKSGIVING DAY 36-0

Newark defeated Dover last Thursday on Frazier Field by the score of 36-0. Captain Perry, playing his last game for Newark, was the outstanding lineman; while Eric Mayer, flash of the backfield, was the outstanding figure in the backfield. The game was played before the largest crowd ever assembled at any game this year.

From the very start Dover was outplayed and Newark's goal-line was threatened only once, in the last quarter. Spurred on by the thought that this was to be their last game for Newark, the Senior members of the squad played an exceedingly fine game.

Newark's first score came in the early part of the first quarter, when Mayer plunged through tackle for a touchdown. The try for the extra point failed.

A triple pass, in the second period, Wharton to Daly to Mayer, gave Newark her second touchdown. A pass from Wharton to Daly added the extra point to the score.

The Black and Gold scored 23 more points in the third quarter. Mayer kicked off and the ball went over the goal line. Running down the field he fell on the ball to score his third touchdown. Daly scored the extra point on a pass from Wharton.

Shortly afterward George scored on a plunge through tackle. Wharton dropped back the extra point. Mayer ran a punt 60 yards to score his fourth touchdown, the try for the extra point was successful. The scoring was stopped when Ewing broke through the line and scored a safety.

The lineup:
Newark
Daly ..... L. E. .... Ringold
Egnor ..... L. T. .... Zaneba
Beers ..... L. G. .... Shilling
Perry ..... C. C. .... Behan
Cage ..... R. G. .... Knof
Brimjoin ..... R. T. .... Shank
E. Smith ..... R. H. B. .... Reed
E. George ..... F. B. .... Miller
F. Wharton ..... Q. B. .... Games
Mayer ..... L. H. B. .... Cardy

Substitutions: Newark, R. Smith for E. Smith; Maxwell for Wharton; R. Hutchison for G. Wharton; Cobb for Egnor; Ewing for Beers; Applegate for George; Widdows for Smith; Dunlap for Wharton; Gibb for Brimjoin; Zebley for Egnor, Dover, Behan for Ringold; Rodbell for Shank; Supple for Knof.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL, 1933-34
General rules:
1. All boys and girls of the home rooms are eligible to engage in this program until the varsity squad is picked, then these boys so picked will not be eligible to play on the home room teams.

2. The home room manager will be responsible at all times for the members of his or her home room team.

3. The games will be played as preliminary games to the varsity games on Tuesday and Friday nights; or whenever the varsity is scheduled to play. Especially will this be true of the Senior High School teams.

4. The Junior High School teams will play immediately after the close of school each day.

5. A practice schedule will be arranged so that the teams can practice. Those people who are transportation students will practice each noon in the gymnasium. Those persons who go home for lunch will practice immediately after school.

RAMBLINGS ON

THURSDAY'S GAME

Was Mayer flashy? Boy! They just couldn't stop him. That lad was all over the field. . . . Perry seemed to have a habit of breaking through the line. It was pitiful to see how he was worrying those boys from Dover. . . . Daly was always throwing someone on the ground. (Probably to explain something to them) . . . Yeah, Beers was playing. et quamt! Ask Dover. . . . Was Egnor "e pluribus unum"? You'd think so if he handled you like he handled Dover. . . . We think Brimjoin was playing. We couldn't see him for dust. . . . Cage was far from caged and Wharton wasn't saving himself for the dance either. . . . George played his finest game of the season and made Smith step to keep up with him. . . . Instead of Guy following in Ferris' footsteps, Ferris is following in Guy's footsteps (Guy runs interference for him).

GRADES 10-B &amp; 10-C MEET IN FIRST BASKETBALL GAME

The first intramural basketball game of the Newark High School was played between the Sophomore girls of sections B and C. Although C usually follows B in the alphabet, it jumped way ahead for a score of 24 to 4 in their favor.

The team work and cooperation of both teams was very good, although 10C held the ball almost all of the game. Grade 10B made their four points in the last quarter. The lineup was as follows:

10C
M. Schuster ..... C. .... D. Mitchell
P. Ring ..... S. C. .... E. Martin
A. Seward ..... F. .... P. DuHadaway
E. Rose ..... F. .... H. Johnston
F. Smith ..... G. .... V. Francois
B. Tarr ..... G. .... A. Owens
F. Smith and P. Du Hadaway, captains.

Referees: Seniors, Maralee Kennard and Rosalyn Ernest.

Pauline Du Hadaway made the four points for 10B. The twenty-four points for 10C were made by Anne Seward and Elizabeth Rose. Wednesday afternoon the girls of 10C will meet the girls of 10A.

AN INTERESTING ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

On November 23, the Senior High School assembly program, under the direction of Miss Kedney, was presented by the Senior girls from Miss Hess' room. It was given in the form of a fashion show.

Edna Lee was Madame, a woman who might be found at the head of any fashionable dress shop. Seven girls came to shop displaying all types of proper dress; then seven girls, improperly dressed came to Madame for advice. Later the seven girls who were poorly dressed came back correctly dressed. This program displayed in an interesting manner the contrast between the properly dressed and the improperly dressed girl.

The seven properly dressed girls were the following:
1. Mary Dotter presented the proper dress for a short girl.
2. Dorothy Godwin was a correctly dressed school girl.
3. Maralee Kennard displayed the sports costume.

4. Eleanor Roberts represented the correctly dressed Sunday night type.
5. Frances Brown displayed the correct dress for a business girl.
6. Grace Ferguson presented the proper dress for a tall girl.
7. Margaret Murray wore the correct evening dress.

The seven girls who came to Madame for advice were the following: Emma Beck, Anna Dill, Anna Bell, Helen Vansant, Lillian Danby, Gladys Boyd and Irene Wilson.

JOKES

Miss Bennett (answering phone): Hello, who is this?
Voice: How do I know, I can't see you.
Jack: "What striking speech did Paul Revere make when he finished his immortal ride?"
Bill: "Whoa!"
John: "Do you save half of what you earn?"
Minot: "I don't get that much."
Paul: "If you are such a good shot, let see you hit that snake in the eye."
Collins: "Which eye, right or left?"
Stuttering Sailor—P-P-P-P-P.
Captain: "Well, if you can't say it, sing it."
Sailor: "Should our acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind; the blooming cooks fell overboard and twenty miles behind."
Loving Wife—(Hounding G. C. G., a saucerful of white powder). Dear, taste that and tell me what you think of it?
G. C. G.: It tastes like soda to me.
Wife: That's what I told Nellie, but she declares it is rat poison—taste it again, dear, to make sure.
Mr. Black: Can you give us Lincoln's Gettysburg address?
Welch: He never lived there.

Alice—I just got a big load off my shoulder.
Joyce—Whassa matter? Wash your neck.
Teacher—What is steam.
Pupil—Water gone crazy with heat.
Mary Moore.

THE MONARCH BUTTERFLY

The Monarch butterfly is given this name because he has strong wings. Monarch means king. Because of its strong wings it has been seen flying south in Winter like the birds.

It has a long tongue and eats honey. The wings are orange and black. It is pretty and likes to fly from flower to flower. It walks near the water. Another name given to this butterfly is "Milkweed Butterfly."

The caterpillar has a long body and grows very fast. It has rings around its body, and sleeps during the long winter. Little caterpillars hatch out of butterfly eggs.

The chrysalis is a cocoon-like object from which the butterfly comes in the Spring. It is very pretty, but oddly shaped.

The caterpillar, before the chrysalis is made has a fine meal on the leaves of the milkweed. The silk for the chrysalis is made by the caterpillar. He weaves the silk around a leaf or twig and around his body. The outside of the chrysalis is hard and shiny like shellac. It is light green with gold spots. When the caterpillar goes to sleep in the Fall he awakes the next Spring a beautiful butterfly.

THE RUBY-THROATED HUMMING BIRD

Once there was a wise Indian chief. He had a brave little son. The boy was loved by all the people of the tribe. The little brothers of the wood stopped to play with him. He had a kind heart and loved to make everything happy.

Best of all he loved a certain little brown bird, that had a tiny nest built high up in the tree. It lined the nest with the softest down from fuzzy cat-tails. This bird was smaller than other birds and it could not sing.

It stayed near the little Indian boy. He had an idea that its wings made music and so he called it, "The Bird With The Sweet Wing Song."

The wise chief sent a message to a far-away chief by his son. The little brown bird showed the little Indian boy the way. As a reward for his help the Indian boy asked his father to give the little brown bird some pretty colors. The little Indian painted his little bird friend these pretty colors.

OUR ASSEMBLY PROGRAM

Miss Trott's assembly program was November 29. The first thing on our program was to sing "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come. Billy Ball recited a poem called "Father, We Thank Thee."

Our class had a play called, "A Thanksgiving Dinner of Long Ago." The characters were as follows:

Father, Holton Harlock; Mother, Maryemma Ryan; Grandfather, Carroll Creighton; Grandmother, Betty Ritchie; John, George Wright; Bethiah, Lois Detjen; Mary, Grace Grant; Content, Louise Hawkins; Prudence, Eva Tweed; other children, Anne Smyth, and Kanawha Williams.

The story was played in a colonial kitchen where the family was getting ready to go to church early Thanksgiving morning. The children were allowed to sit at the table that day for the first time in their lives. In colonial days it was that it was disrespectful for children to sit at the table with their elders.

To Miss Kedney, our class wishes to express its thanks and appreciation for her ideas and help in getting our stage property.

Lois Detjen,
Grade 5.

The Primary Thanksgiving assembly was held at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. It opened with the Gloria, the Lord's Prayer, the Flag Salute, and the reading of the Bible.

Lydia Smith of the second grade told the story of our Pilgrim Fathers and "The First Thanksgiving." This was followed by a hymn sung by Catherine Leisner, also from the second grade.

All the children participated in telling about the many ways for which they were thankful.

The first grades sang the Thanksgiving songs, "Father, We Thank Thee" and "Thanksgiving Day."

The second grades sang the songs, "On Old Thanksgiving Day," "A Pumpkin Ran Away," "The Three Mince Pies," "The Entire assembly sang "America" and adjournment followed.

Miss Leary's room was awarded the flag for having the best dress coming from and going to assembly.

NEW LONDON AVE. SCHOOL NEWS

THANKSGIVING DAY

Many, many years ago the Pilgrim left England because they were not allowed religious freedom. They found it difficult, in a foreign country, to make a decent living. Their leaders began to look toward America, America the land where they might keep their nationality and work out their ideas in peace.

They left England in the fall of Mayflower, 1620. It was December before the Pilgrims selected a place of settlement at Plymouth. At the coming of Spring supplies became plentiful. Friendly Indians taught the Pilgrims how to grow Indian corn.

When provisions and food for the second Winter had been laid in they gathered together and thanked God for what he had given them. This was the first Thanksgiving day in the history of America.

Thanksgiving Day was annually recommended by Congress during the Revolutionary War, but was discontinued from 1784-1789, when Congress recommended Washington to name a day for the adoption of the Constitution. In 1863 and 1864 President Lincoln named Thanksgiving Day and recommended that these be annually.

THE PLANTATION OF NEW ENGLAND, 1620-1629

Other colonies arose in the colder regions to the north of Virginia. Which received the name of New England. The first of these settlements owed its origin to a little band of English Separatists. Toward the end of November the Mayflower came to anchor in Cape Cod harbor, what is now Provincetown. On Christmas Day the men went into the woods cut down trees and began to put up a few cabins. This was the first house built by white men on the shore of Massachusetts. To the contrary of time they built up more such cabins and called the town New Plymouth. But later the name got shortened to Plymouth.

Miles Standish

Miles Standish was born in Lancashire, England, in 1584. He was one of the colonists of the Mayflower. The Pilgrim fathers appointed him captain and he led many expeditions against the Indians. He died at Duxbury, Mass., in 1655.

John Alden

John Alden was one of the Pilgrim Fathers who came to America in the Mayflower. He was born in England in 1599 and was a cooper by trade. He settled Duxbury, Mass., in 1621, and married Priscilla Mullens. He was a magistrate in the new colony for more than fifty years and out lived all his fellow voyagers on the Mayflower.

Milk Shippers Form Committee

Formation of a committee of Wilmington Milk Shippers, to consider problems which may arise in connection with the milk marketing agreement in Wilmington, was accomplished last evening at Newark, when five men were elected by a group of twelve dairymen called together for this purpose by H. W. Cook, Director of the Inter-State Milk Producers' Association, and J. T. Plummer, field man of the same organization. The five men elected were: W. W. Kennedy, Landenberg, Pa.; Hongland Gates, Elkton, Md.; W. Lewis Phipps, Wilmington, Del.; J. L. Ford, Cooch's Bridge; and Eugene E. Paxson, Middletown, Del.

This group will meet with a similar number of Wilmington dealers to adjust disagreements which may arise in relation to the milk marketing agreement gives this committee authority to (1) receive complaints, (2) adjust disputes, (3) make findings of facts, (4) issue warnings, and (5) take measures to enforce the necessary regulations.

Other dairymen in attendance at the meeting were: Frank Van Hekle, St. Georges; Leland Pleasanton, Middletown; H. W. B. Simmons, Odessa; T. Theodore Laws, Bear; Irvin Armstrong, Middletown; E. C. Phillips, Middletown; Irvin G. Klair, Marshallton; H. W. Cook, Summit Bridge; and County Agent Ed Willis, Jr.

PIN MONEY

To many a farm wife the telephone is a source of extra dollars. With its aid she sells her poultry, butter and eggs.

In this Christmas season, particularly, housewives in town will welcome the offer of fresh country produce. Let your telephone earn for you the cost of your Christmas gifts.

A telephone on the farm more than earns its keep. It helps you buy—it helps you sell—it helps you keep in touch.

PAUL IN CESAREA

LESSON TEXT—Acts 24:10-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—And herein do I give myself, to have always a conscience void of offense toward God, and toward man. Acts 24:16.
PRIMARY TOPIC—A Returned Missionary.
JUNIOR TOPIC—Prisoner Before a King.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOP-IC—How to Have a Good Conscience.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOP-IC—Christ's Way of Life.

1. Paul Tarrying in Philip's House (Acts 21:8-14). He was bound for Jerusalem. On his journey thither he looked up his abode with Philip who had so successfully wrought as an evangelist in the early days of the church. While entertained in this home, Agabus, by symbolic act using Paul's girdle, portrayed the binding of Paul at Jerusalem. The meaning of the words of the disciples at Tyre is to be understood in the light of the Spirit's revelation through Agabus.
To the Tyrian disciples the Spirit made known the fact that suffering awaited Paul. To Agabus the Spirit made known what kind of suffering.
The same Spirit made known to Paul what awaited him at Jerusalem and sent him forward into it.

2. Paul before Felix (Acts 24:1-27).
1. Paul arrested in Jerusalem (Acts 21:27-40). Paul, at the advice of the elders of the church of Jerusalem, took a Jewish vow in order to conciliate the Jewish brethren, inciting them to seek Paul. On the basis of supposition these hardened Jews dragged him from the temple and beat him unmercifully, intending to put him to death.

2. Paul accused (Acts 24:1-9). Paul is now in the hands of Felix who determined to hear his case after his accusers had come from Jerusalem.
The case against him was formally presented by Tertullus, a Roman lawyer. The charges contained four counts:

(a) A pestilent fellow (v. 5). This would indicate a fellow utterly base and without a purpose.

(b) An instigator of rebellion (v. 5).
This charge would bring him into conflict with the Roman power.

(c) The ringleader of a sect (v. 5).
The aim in this charge was to throw contempt and suspicion upon the Christians, thereby bringing Paul into deeper trouble.

(d) Profanity of the temple (v. 6).
In this charge they willfully suppressed facts.

3. Paul defends himself (vv. 10-21).
This defense is a superb example of the strength and dignity of a man whose life is actuated by a noble purpose. Observe:

(a) Paul's frankness and courtesy
(v. 10). He freely recognized the fact that Felix had been ruler long enough
to be able to form a just judgment,
and assumed that Felix would render
a decision on the basis of facts.

(b) Charge of sedition denied (vv.
11, 12). He showed the utter falsity of the charge on the ground of the harmlessness of time, and also on the ground of his conduct while in the temple, even challenging proof of
this accusation.

(c) Charge of heresy (vv. 14-16).
This he met by a confession and a de-fial. He admitted that he was of this "way" which they called heresy, but declared that Christians were heretics.
He showed that his actions were in keeping with the Hebrew religion, worshipping the same God, believing in the same Scriptures and had the same hope of a coming resurrection of the dead.

4. Felix trembles before Paul (vv.
22-27). Wicked as was Felix, Paul's demeanor won his favor though it did not secure the apostle's release.

5. Paul before Agrippa (Acts 26:1-23).
The occasion of his appearing before Agrippa was the visit of Agrippa and Bernice to Caesarea. More than two years had elapsed since the trial before Felix. During this time the Jewish hatred for him had not abated.
Upon the arrival of these guests they expressed a desire to hear Paul. Before these distinguished personages
Paul boldly witnessed. The gospel should be preached to all, regardless of wealth or station in life. As a result of Paul's defense Agrippa was left unconvinced.

6. Paul's frankness and courtesy
(v. 10). He freely recognized the fact that Felix had been ruler long enough
to be able to form a just judgment,
and assumed that Felix would render
a decision on the basis of facts.

(b) Charge of sedition denied (vv.

ground of his conduct while in the
temple, even challenging proof of
this accusation.

(c) Charge of heresy (vv. 14-16).

TEETH AND HEALTH

By Samuel M. Fink, D. D. S.

FOCAL INFECTION

The majority of infections of the body are due to centers of infection in some part of the head. These centers are mostly the cells and sinuses connected with the ear, nose, throat, tonsils, and teeth.

There are thirty-two chances for infection from permanent teeth and twenty from the temporary teeth. If the teeth and mouth are neglected, you are almost certain to have foci, or centers of infection, in the mouth.

Any disease that is caused by pus may develop from the teeth.

It is true that you cannot prevent all mouth infection no matter how hard you try, but you can prevent most of it. Isn't it foolish to suffer and waste health and energy from abscesses that you could have prevented?

You might be naturalized in another country and you might get another wife or husband, but you can't get another body. Take care of the one you have.

Q.—Please describe a Pivot Tooth?

A.—A pivot tooth is called a Porcelain Crown or Collar Crown. It is an artificial crown made of porcelain and metal and attached to the natural tooth root by means of a gold collar or band encircling the exposed portion of the root and by a post that extends into the root canal of the tooth.

look relatively thrifty at the present time, worm infestations are working upon them, lowering their vitality, and as they go into egg production with some added drain upon their bodies for egg production, it is bound to lower their vitality and weaken them further. When cold weather strikes pullets of this kind, they have very little resistance, go into a moult quickly, and because of low vitality, have a difficult time getting back into production.

Many people, in examining a flock for worm infestation, look only at the birds that are about to die. In most cases a bird of this kind will show no symptoms of a worm infestation to any great extent. In examining the birds, select a bird that has considerable flesh upon it, one that might possibly be fit to dress for consumption. Then take the intestinal tract and open it from the gizzard to the fecal pouches. If a worm infestation is present, it will be found in a bird of this kind.

Even though the infestation may be rather light, most poultrymen will find it desirable to give the birds a good worm treatment and thereby maintain their vitality. If the treatment is delayed an the worm infestation seems to increase, it will be more difficult for the flock to overcome the ravages of these parasites and production will be more severely affected as cold weather comes in. For all flocks that are being used for hatchery purposes, it is doubly important that the birds be free from parasites in order that the greatest vigor and vitality may be obtained in these flocks.

SHOP EARLY AND AVOID ACCIDENTS

Heavy congestion of pedestrian and motor vehicle travel during the last-minute Christmas rush is a prolific cause of accidents. Pedestrians with their arms full of bundles and their minds on their shopping list rather than on traffic are inviting trouble. "Shop early and avoid accidents" is the way which the Delaware Safety Council paraphrases the old saying. Make this a careful Christmas and a merry Christmas is sure to follow.

Taxes on Hogs

Commissioner of Internal Revenue Guy T. Helvering stated today that it has been brought to the attention of the Bureau of Internal Revenue that in many instances farmers and others are slaughtering hogs and selling the products to consumers without payment of the processing tax. This is a violation of the Agricultural Adjustment Act and regulations promulgated thereunder, which provide that any person who slaughters hogs for market must file appropriate returns and pay the processing tax thereon.

The tax applies even in the case of the producer who slaughters his own hogs and sells or otherwise disposes of all or any part of the products.

Heavy penalties are provided for violation of the law or evasion of the tax and any person who slaughters hogs and sells all or any part thereof should confer with the collector of Internal Revenue for his district who will assist him in preparing and filing the required returns.

HOLIDAY SWEETS FOR CHILDREN

Sweets for children at holiday time is always an interesting part of the plans for the family pleasures, says Miss Pearl MacDonald, Extension Service, University of Delaware.

It is often a temptation for children to eat too much candy and sweets at Christmas time. School records frequently show the results of too much indulgence at this season. One reason for this is that sweets crowd out of the diet other foods such as milk, eggs, fruits and vegetables which the child should have daily to keep him in good condition.

Also, sweets in excess may cause acid stomach, headache, dullness and general lowered vitality.

Sweets on which fruits and nuts are used are considered better for children than just the regular candies.

This year, when cost has to be carefully considered by many families, delicious sweets can be made at home, suggests Miss MacDonald. The children, too, will like to help make the goodies.

The following are delicious and easily made.

Butter Cream filling is used like fondant, but is much more easily made. To make: Use ¼ cup butter; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 tablespoons hot milk or cream; 2 cups sifted confectioner's 4-X sugar. Cream butter till very soft, add sugar gradually, blend thoroughly. Then add—and beat thoroughly until very smooth. Add enough more sifted 4-X sugar to make mixture hard enough to shape into balls.

This makes the foundation for butter creams. This may be used to stuff dates or prunes, dipped in chocolate for chocolate creams, mixed with nuts or coconut or in any kind of candy making.

Stuffed Prunes. Steam large perfect prunes till tender. Remove stones, cutting an opening on one side. Fill centers with mixtures of chopped nuts, dates, raisins, figs, apricots or other dried fruits. After filling centers, press prunes into shape and roll in sugar. Other fillings may be used as: peanut butter, or butter cream filling, or shredded coconut mixed with butter cream filling.

Stuffed Dates. Remove pits, fill with butter cream filling mixed with nuts, press into shape, roll in sugar.

Or, place a nut in center of date and cover outside with butter cream filling.

Or, dip end of date in melted "Dot" chocolate and then in ground nuts.

Or, dip whole date in melted "Dot" chocolate.

Coconut Brittle. 2 cups dried coconut; 1½ cups sugar; 1½ cups corn syrup; ¾ cup water; 2 tablespoons butter. Cook together sugar, syrup and water, stirring until sugar is dissolved. Add butter and continue cooking until syrup becomes brittle when dropped in cold water (200° F.). Add coconut and pour on a greased pan.

When cold, break into pieces. Nuts may be used in place of coconut. Peanuts make a very good brittle.

Salted Almonds. Blanch shelled almonds in boiling water and remove skins. Put a few at a time into a small wire strainer and lower into sauce pan with hot salad oil. When the right brown, remove, pour
