RESERVES SWAMP NATIONAL FARM SCHOOL

AKER SCORES THREE TOUCHDOWNS. CANTWELL AND CROTHERS PLAY HEADY GAME. FARM SCHOOL FAILS TO SCORE. RESULT 22 TO 0

Three touchdowns by "Bim" Aker enabled the Reserves to defeat National Farm School Saturday afternoon, score 22-0. The game was rough throughout. Heavy tackling on the part of the Delaware line, in which Crothers was the chief factor, kept the Farm School boys on the run throughout the game.

The first quarter was a novel one, as our boys scored on two safeties, which is extremely rare in football. The first one was the result of a fumble by Graves after he had carried a forward over the goal line. A Farm School player recovered but was nailed in his tracks. The second safety came when Levitch was tackled behind the line on recovering his own fumble.

In the second quarter a long forward, Cantwell to Lord, gave the Reserves a start. Plunges by Aker and Alexander advanced the ball and Aker ploughed through for a touchdown. "Bim" missed the goal as he did on his next two chances.

In the fourth quarter by varied attacks, the ball was carried with-in striking distance twice, and Aker pushed it over on both occasions. H. Alexander was robbed of a touchdown when after he had crossed the line the Reserves were penalized for holding.

The feature of the fourth quarter was Aker's 40 yard run to the eight yard line. Farm School was too light an aggregation to cope successfully with the Delaware squad, which is not a heavy combination in itself.

As a whole the Reserves showed up well and some of them may be given a chance on the varsity against Mt. St. Mary on Thanksgiving Day. Cantwell played a heady game at quarter and Aker did excellent ground gaining. "Philthy" Crothers was a revelation at guard. He opened up wide holes in the opponent's line for the backfield. The line-up:

Service Flag For Delaware Men

According to the directory which has been recently compiled by Dean Smith, there are 116 Delaware men who are enlisted in some branch of the country's service. In accordance with the general custom, the Student Council, at its last meeting, decided to secure a service flag, each star in the flag to be significant of the service of one man. The flag is to be hung above the entrance of Old College Hall.

The list is by no means completed, and it is obvious that new stars will have to be added from time to time. The Student Council is to be kept informed of the entrance of new men into the service, through co-operation with the Review and Dean Smith and will attend to the addition of new stars as the necessity arises.

This flag can be looked upon with pride by everyone connected with Delaware College, as it will be strikingly significant of its part which the institution is playing in helping to win the war.

No "Review" Next Week

The management and the Editorial Staff of the Review have decided that there will be no issue of "The Delaware College Review" the week after Thanksgiving. This was deemed advisable because of the lack of news immediately after the vacation and because of the difficulty of getting the men together to hand in their work. It was decided also to make today's issue the best of the year so far as it has gone, and we would call your attention to the resumé of the football season, numerous other articles which help to make this the best issue of this year.

Meeting of Trustees

On Tuesday, November 17, the trustees held their regular meeting in the College. At an informal luncheon given by them, the trustees, the faculty, and the students were for the first time seated together in the new dining hall.

Delaware vs. Mt. St. Mary's

On Thanksgiving, with Mt. St. Mary's as opponents, Delaware will play its last football game of the year. This match not only marks the end of the season but also the last time Wilson, Lauritsen, and Myers will don their togs in behalf of the Blue and Gold.

It has been a queer season all the way through. In some games the team displayed a "pep" and fight that stamped them as a real football aggregation; in other contests they seemed to be on a pleasant afternoon's outing with the express purpose of keeping off the toes of their eleven guests. But for all the queer streaks shown, no one can deny that the team has displayed more football knowledge than any eleven that has gone before it, that every player can tackle, and tackle hard; that every man knows whom he should "get," and above all, that there is a spirit on the field that makes the old game of fight from start to finish.

On Thursday we face a team that last year licked us with an ease that was most saddening. This year they have displayed a brand of football that, according to dope, is slightly above ours; with lots of confidence they are coming up here all set to duplicate last year's tragedy. And so, ye Rooters come one, come all! You're going to see Ernie, Scutch, and Buzz rip 'em up for the last time; you're going to be shown that last years set-to was a sad mistake; and lastly, you're going to have the pleasure of watching the 1917 Football Calendar close most happily for all concerned.

In the evening the Student Council winds up the perfect day with the second of its informal dances of the year. All those who participated in the first event know of the happy time ahead; for those who missed it, these dances are held in Old College Hall and enjoy a setting that is most delightful halls, animating. In these ancient halls, rejuvenated, graduates, visitors, faculty and students will once more be gladdened and warmed by the Spirit of Old Delaware.

Meeting of The Ways And Means Committee

A meeting of the Ways and Means Committee of the Delaware College Alumni Association will be held in the near future to consider the advisability of holding an Alumni Banquet this year and of publishing one or more number of the Alumni "News." The members of this committee, elected at the meeting of the Association last June, are as follows: George L. Townsend, Jr., chairman; W. L. Francis, H. Rodney Sharp, William Edgar, and G. E. Dutton.

Glee Club Meets

The Glee Club held its regular weekly meeting Thursday evening. The attendance was not quite up to the standard set by the first meeting. Some of the songs learned last week were repeated and several new ones were rehearsed—"The Harp That Once Through Tara's Halls," "Nancy Lee," "The Star Spangled Banner" and others. Mr. Carpenter gave an interesting account of the "community singing" work that has been accomplished recently in New York. He said that plans were being made to establish "community singing" in Wilmington next January. At the request of one of the members Mr. Carpenter gave a short dissertation upon the origin of the treble and bass clefs. He also explained the "C" clef and several minor technicalities. Mr. Carpenter promised that there would be new music in a few weeks. He said that it was good to learn the old songs first so as to establish a firm basis for the new and more difficult work.

After the rehearsal a short business meeting was held.

Represent Delaware

In Washington

Dean Cullimore, Dean Hayward, Professor Candell and Professor Pence represented the College at the annual meeting of the Association of American Agricultural Colleges and Experiment Stations held in Washington last week.

Dr. Sypherd Lectures At Teacher's Institute

Dr. W. Owen Sypherd, head of the English Department of Delaware College, lectured at Teachers' Institute recently held at Milford. Dr. Sypherd presented three very interesting talks to the teachers. They were "Othello as a Representative Shakespearean Character," "The Battle of Books," and "Kipling as a Story Writer." Delivered in the Doctor's very impressive style they were highly appreciated by his hearers. Delaware College is especially fortunate in having such a man at the head of its English Department. Dr. Sypherd was absent from his Sypherd was absent from his duties at College on Monday and Tuesday of last week in order to deliver the lectures.

Change In Commons Management

Last week Miss Cauldwell was suddenly called away, and to meet the situation, Miss Beck and Mr. Langhorn took charge, beginning with the breakfast on November 22. They will continue to manage the commons until the arrival of the new director, Miss C. Stewart, on December 1. Miss Stewart comes from the Philadelphia hospital where she has been in charge of the diet kitchen, and hence she should be able to handle the situation here with entire success.

Visits Friends After Twenty Years

Arthur Reynolds, Delaware College alumnus, class of 1895, called on friends in Newark last week, his first visit to the town in twenty years. Mr. Reynolds was greatly surprised at the many changes he found here, and spoke glowingly of the progress noted. He is at present in the hardware business, at Spartansburg, N. C.

Delaware Alumnus Wins High Position

Mr. Charles P. Messick, class '07 has recently been appointed to a position of much responsibility and honor. Since his graduation from College Mr. Messick has been engaged in educational work at Trenton, N. J., where he did excellent work in the public and the night schools. Now he has been selected to occupy the position of chief examiner on the state civil service board of New Jersey.

Mr. Messick took his A. B. degree at Delaware College in 1907, and his master's degree two years later. All of his friends at Delaware are delighted to hear of his great success since leaving College.

"Ags" Hold Meeting

A rather poorly attended meeting of the "Ag" Club was held at seven o'clock Thursday. Due to the fact that the Glee Club Meeting conflicts with the meeting of the "Ag" Club the question was disputed as to whether or not the time of the meeting should be changed. As so many of the members were absent, it was decided to call a meeting Friday immediately after Chapel to decide upon a new arrangement.

The Orchestra

As yet, the orchestra has not played a very prominent part in college this year but we hope to hear more of it later. There is no denying the fact that the student body enjoys their presence every Wednesday morning in Chapel, and everyone would like to hear from them more often.

It has not been so many years ago when the orchestra was one of the best organized activities in Delaware and its reputation was state-wide. Last year, however, interest began to die out and since then it has been gradually slipping. The fault lies with no special person, but simply is due to a lack of interest and initiative on the part of the musicians. There is enough talent in College to start afresh this year and it is hoped that before the year is over Delaware will have another "crack" orchestra.

Thursday the students will have their last chance, this year, to show their appreciation of the football team. Regardless of the record made, it is up to every one to back the team and the Coach to the limit. This has not been a successful season, in so far as victories make success, but in many ways it has been one of the best years Delaware has ever had. From the start there have been many difficulties to overcome and these have affected the team in various ways at critical times. The hard schedule this year must also be taken into consideration. With such teams as Swarthmore, Haverford, Dickinson, Maryland State, and Stevens, as rivals it could not be expected that our team could win every game.

It is not through the lack of hard work, however, that the team has not chalked up more victories. Every player has given "all that he had" during the entire season and it is this spirit that we should root for them Thanksgiving Day.

W. C. D. NOTES

STUDENTS PRESENT

ORIGINAL PROGRAM

Various Magazine Departments Suggested

Saturday evening the Dramatic Club entertained at an open night. "The Women's Home Learn-All," a loving magazine, was presented. Some of the scenes were in tableau form, while others were little plays. Miss Paulina Smith, the president, and Miss Anna Scott, chairman of Program Committee, had charge of the production as a whole. The various sections were prepared by various girls.

The first thing in the magazine was the cover. This tableau representing a soldier bidding his sweetheart good-bye, was posed by Margaret Reynolds and Alice Jefferis. Next came the advertisements. Dutch Cleanser, which was posed by Helen Bancroft; Corn Flakes, by Kathryn Robbins, and Cream of Wheat by Victoria Zukowsky. The music section, which followed, was a dramatic recitation, "Dresden China," by Miss Paulina Smith. The art section was prepared by Miss Mary Dennison, and introduced by Miss Catherine Fletcher. The first luring picture representing Corpaccio's "Singing Boy," was posed by Alice Roop. Elizabeth M. Jones took the part of the "Girl with the Muff," by Madame Le Brun. Charlotte Easby and Kathryn Robbins posed as the partrair of Madame Le Brun and her daughter. While the Spanish Dancer, "Carmencita," was posed by Laura Rodney, in brilliant red and black.

The department of Fashions was well represented. Miss Olga Seifert, as the French Modisti, displayed to the audience four exquisite costumes, loaned for the occasion by Braunstein of Wilmington. The costumes were worn by living models. Miss Rodney wore the college frock, Miss Alice Fisher the Grenadies Street suit, Miss Easby the afternoon gown, and Miss Rouse, the charming evening gown. The department of Food Conservation was not forgotten. Miss Dorothy Newton, from behind a table covered with suggestive cans of fruit, vegetables, addressed the audience in a humorous way, urging patriotism through conservation.

GIRLS FORM ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Miss Mary Dennison, president of the Junior Class, has proposed a plan which the Juniors have been working on for some time; that is, the formation of an athletic association. This association will provide for inter-class basketball and tennis tournaments. Already the Sophomores and Freshmen have organized basketball teams and are planning a game in the near future. After discussion the student body voted to have an athletic association which the Juniors should further plan and organize, and a committee was appointed to draw up the constitution.

JOURNAL CLUB AT WOMEN'S COLLEGE

Last Friday evening, Dr. Foster met with about thirty of the girls to discuss to possibilities of a Journal Club. They decided that the Journal Club could make itself useful, first, by forming and having distributed a weekly bulletin of the best magazine article; secondly, by providing a page of announcements for the prospective school paper; and thirdly, by making a scrap-book of clippings of the events happening at W. C. D. The club will meet once a week and Zelma Bachrach will act as President until the club re-organizes after Christmas.

ELMS SET CUT ON CAMPUS

Horticultural Department Selects And Plant Trees

The horticultural department of Delaware College, under the direction of Professor C. A. McCue, has recently completed the work of setting out 98 American elms, on the new campus of the College. The trees have been planted in two partial double rows, according to the landscape design of Day and Klauder, architects, the idea being to give a hedge effect rather than a tree effect. "It will be at least ten or fifteen years," Professor McCue stated today, "before the general idea will be apparent to the public." The elm is a slow growing tree, its average life being 300 years. Many specimens, however, thrive for 400 years.

All of the trees were selected from the Thomas Meehan nurseries, of Thresher, Pa., by the horticultural department. They are very uniform and super excellent specimens.

"Phil" Marvel '20, was knocked unconscience and Leon Gordy '20, sustained a broken nose as the result of the vigorous football practice of the Sophomore team Wednesday afternoon. The Sophomores team Wednesday afternoon. The Sophomores have been practicing diligently in preparation for the Fresh-Soph game which is scheduled for the Saturday following Thanksgiving.

"REVIEW RUST"

Dr. Counts—"I'll give you eight minutes to write what you know about Spacial Preception."

Mackie again—"I can give you all I know in one minute, Doctor."

What is the thing we like the best? The Campus, the Campus.

We like of the College above the rest,

The Campus, the Campus.

There we like to sit on the grass, And enjoy ourselves when absent from class,

For there the Freshman may not pass, On the Campus, the Campus.

But the Campus as a place has past, We loafed thereon and time went fast—

On the Campus, the Campus; But now a new name's in our bean, Henceforth it must be called the "Green."

The darkest outrage ever seen 'Gainst the Campus, the Campus.

There are still the following positions open on the Freshman team for aspiring '21's: Pinch-back, Green-back, Sway-back, Hunch-back, Mus Back, Draw-back, Zweiback, Brick-a-brac—Hello Garrett! 's a good thing ya blew in, I was running out of positions for Freshmen. Who is that young woman Doc Mitchell is showing around the Campus? A teacher from Rhode Island who has come to study conditions here, you say? Humph! rather early for that. She ought to come here after mid-years.

At Any Fraternity House

'19—"Who's on the fire?"

'20—"Cole."

'19—"Come on flip! who's on the fire?"

'20—"Oh! An old flame."

W. C. D.—"Who is that stout young man?"

D. C.—"Oh, he's a big bug here."

W. C. D.—"What's his name?"

D. C.—"Roach."

Prof. Carpenter—"I am going now, boys, but you may sing all you like."

Hump—"Why, that's not in this book!"

'21—"How d'ya get such a hard 'round here?"

'20—"Why son, when I was younger I was hard of hearing—the condition went to my head."

At The Commons

Gordy (passing his glass)—"Glass of water, please."

Shessinger (effusively)—"Why certainly, dear, two of them if you like."

Gordy—"Whoop! only one of them in that glass!"

I like all the Seniors, Their mien is so warm, And if I don't vex them, They'll do me no harm.

They've given a dance— 'Twas their only chance To "drag" the young damsels Whom we others charm.

I like all the Seniors, Their mien is so warm, And if I don't vex them, They'll do me no harm.

—Watchel I. Dew.

At the Glee Club Meeting

Mr. Carpenter—"Let's see, - it takes ten minutes to walk to the Women's College, doesn't it?"

Drape Smith—"It doesn't take me that long."

There once was a center—a bright cheerful lad—

Who passed the ball well as a rule, But as finals or prelims

He never could pass;

He soon passed right out of school.

Col. Pendleton—"Where is the bugler when he is not sounding calls?"

Louie—"Why, Colonel, he is sound asleep."

There once was a petulant miss, Who had received her first kiss.

Said she, "What a bore, I'd have had lots more

Had I known they were just like this."

Martenis '19—"I won't have time to answer those questions in an hour."

Prof. Pailthorpe—"You can answer all you know in an hour."

After The Game

He (seeking information)—"And were there any long gains?"

Sweet Young Thing—"Oh, yes, a man with a whistle and knee britches carried the ball thirty yards, and do you know, they were all afraid to stop him."

'19—"I heard you were held up on your way home the other night."

'18—"Yes, that's the only way I got home."

Blue Hen of 1919 Class To Appear Soon

The 1919 Blue Hen will probably appear earlier than is customary for the annual to be published. The present board has several new ideas which will make this year's book stand in the front rank among Blue Hens. Handsome engravings with several pages devoted to college views will feature the book.

The present board will place a copy of the Blue Hen in every high school on the Delmarvia Peninsula in order to interest the students in the College and inspire in them a desire for a higher education. This will be of immeasurable value to the educational interests of the State and will be an excellent advertisement for the College as no catalogue will be issued this year.

The book will not be a great deal different from previous publications except that it will have a flexible binding, contain matter which will better depict the College, its advantages and purposes, and yet contain probably less pages than any other Blue Hen. "Condensation and Quality" is the motto of the board.

Alumni who wish to have a copy of this book had better place their order with the business manager, Garrett Cantwell, immediately as only a limited number will be published.

DELAWARE HAS ONE MORE GAME

Will Close Season With Mt. St. Mary's On Thanksgiving Day

As there will not be another game until Thanksgiving, Day Coach Baumgartner gave the Delaware College football squad a rest the first two days of this week. There was no practice Monday or Tuesday but the work was resumed this afternoon. The game on Thanksgiving Day will be the last of the season.

The squad welcomed the two days rest following the hard game with Swarthmore last Saturday and the lay off will no doubt benefit most of the squad, as they had been going hard since early in September with very little let up.

While the season has not been a great success, the schedule has been one of the hardest that a Delaware team has tackled for some years. It was the first season for Baumgartner as Coach, he succeeding William J. McAvoy, who had coached Delaware eleven for ten years and who is now a lieutenant at Camp Dix. Coach Baumgartner did not come to Delaware until about one week before the opening game which was with Maryland A. C., and consequently had little chance to get the squad in shape for that contest.

Opinions differ as to the work of the new coach, but there seems to be general satisfaction with the results obtained, taking into consideration the inexperienced material that he had to build a team from. There have been a number of set backs due to injuries and numerous changes were made by the coach to try and get a winning combination. The loss of Clancy who sustained a fractured collar bone shortly after the first game, weakened the team considerably, as he was by far the best end in the squad.

The showing of Delaware against Swarthmore in the first half of the game on Saturday was a surprise to everyone. The blue and gold put up a fight that made every son of Delaware proud of them, but the weight of the "Little Quakers" was too much for them in the last half.

To date Delaware has won two and lost five games. The team started off by losing to Maryland A. C., at College Park after Coach Baumgartner had been in charge but one week, and consequently had little opportunity to even judge of the ability of the members of the squad. This defeat was followed by a victory over Haverford on the latter's grounds which was the first time in many years that a blue and gold team had won from Haverford. Delaware next lost to Western Maryland and Dickinson, but defeated Gallaudet and then lost to Stevens and Swarthmore.

The game with St. Mary's Thanksgiving Day should bring out a large crowd. The two teams are apparently evenly matched and there is prospects of a close game. Mt. St. Mary's defeated Delaware last Thanksgiving.

Business Administrator

Appointed

On Wednesday, November 21, a new office came into being at Delaware when Mr. Langhorn entered upon his duties as secretary of business administration. He will have entire charge of the business side of the college, such as the supervision of college property. He will also be the purchasing agent for the college. He was selected by Mr. H. Rodney Sharp, chairman of the committee on grounds and buildings. At present his office is in Recitation Hall in the same room with Mr. Charles B. Evans and Miss Todd.

Mr. Langhorn is an experienced man in engineering and architectural work. As the representative of the architects, Day and Klauder, he has, for a year or more, supervised the erection of our college buildings. He is therefore well known to the whole college circle. His directive energy will be felt in the commons where he will assist the director.

Mr. Langhorn is married and expects to move his family to Newark later. The college is certainly to be congratulated upon securing one so experienced in all building operations and the one so familiar with our whole college.

Seniors Hold Dance

On Friday evening, November 23, the Seniors of Delaware College held a very successful dance. This affair was the first of its kind to be given by the Senior Class and its high success prophesies more of them for the future. The dance was one of the most enjoyable given this year, and it showed the spirit of the Class of 1918, in that a class dance was an original idea for Delaware. The hall was not decorated, but a roaring fire in the fire-place added much cheer to the gathering. The music, which was procured by "Bob" Sumwalt, was of the highest order and deserves great credit for the high class of music furnished. In keeping with the call of the times refreshments were not served, but the whole group repaired to Coverdale's during intermission. The floor was in excellent condition and became better as the flying feet ground in the wax. There were more than twenty couples present, representing the Senior Class. Among the faculty members present were: Dean and Mrs. Alan R. Cullimore, Prof. and Mrs. C. E. Short, Prof. Z. E. Sraeger, Miss Bigelow of the W. C. D. faculty, and Dr. Sypherd.

A dance such as this one adds much to the life of the college and it helps greatly to bring together the members of the class who are taking different courses. Delaware yells and cheers were given during intermission. The patronesses were: Mrs. Alan R. Cullimore, Mrs. C. E. Short, Miss Bigelow, and Miss Edwina S. Long.

Second Lieutenant J. A. O'Daniel of Newark, and former student of Delaware College, has been transferred from the headquarters company, 110th Heavy Field Artillery, stationed at Camp McClellan, Ala., to the aerial school, Austin, Texas.

CHAPEL TALKS

Mr. Wise Addresses Students

Mr. Herbert Wise, an architect of the firm of Day and Klauder, gave a very interesting talk to the student body last Monday. Mr. Wise said that architecture develops with the soil. We in America have had little time as yet to develop traditions and traditions are necessary for the development of architecture. Delaware is the most favorable place for its development; because her early settlers brought with them many of the ideas of the building structure of Europe. To this day New Castle is visited by architects from all parts of the continent to study the old houses still standing. Most of the buildings are of brick and have been built to stand the test of time.

In regard to the buildings on our campus Mr. Wise said that much of their structure was an imitation of this old style, which our early settlers introduced. One of the characteristics of the buildings is the rectangles crossing one another as in Old College Hall. In this building we find a rectangular centre, two rectangular wings to the side, and connecting halls which cross these wings and from two other rectangles. The entrance to the building was devised to make it possible to have an assembly there. A speaker could stand in the centre and the audience could completely surround him by occupying the stairs and balcony above. The square stones of the floor are an imitation of the Colonial style. They appear rough now, but it will require but a few years to wear them smooth. The talk was very interesting and it opened our eyes to many of the problems which our architect had to face in designing our buildings.

For the purpose of fitting young men to take positions of responsibility in the business world and to fill them intelligently and efficiently, Delaware College has established a course in Business Administration as a part of the work of the Arts and Science Department. The course is conducted by Dr. Fred Clark, who came to Delaware this year from the University of Michigan, where he has been an instructor for several years. In addition to taking subjects which are designed to give a broad cultural training, the students in the new course will have work in economic problems and in the problems and practice of actual business.
