NEWARK, DELAWARE, WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 7, 1927

NUMBER 45

Board Of Education Holds Two Meetings

Expect To Move Grades Into Main Street Building By Tuesday;
Thrift Plans To Be Effected

The Board of Education, of the Newark Special School District, held two meetings during the past week in the public school office; one on Friday and one last night. The purpose of the meetings was to check on and discuss developments on the reorganization of the school plants, and to study the financial situation. Mr. J. Pearce Cann, attorney for the Newark Schools, met with the Board last night.

According to the present plan, it is expected that grades 4 and 5 will be moved into the Main street building by next Tuesday.

In accordance with the idea of making thrift a part of the academic curricula in the Newark Schools, a plan will be effected the third week in January in which every grade will have a system of saving. The system will be closely correlated with the study of mathematics and civics so that the pupils will acquire a definite and sound habit of saving which will operate regularly in regular amounts. This system is now in effect in Delaware in Wilmington, Smyrna, Claymont and Dover. One of its features is that it teaches the business of banking and encourages regular banking affiliations.

Miss Barner and Mr. Jenkins, student representatives of the Caesar Rodney School are the guests of the Newark School today. They are here to exchange ideas on student participation in school government and to catch the spirit of the Newark Schools.

A. & P. Co. To Open New Store Friday

Will Be Largest Store South Of
New York; Plan Extensive
Entertainment

On Friday morning, the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company will open, in Newark, their largest food store south of New York City. The new store, which has been remodeled from the Hanark Theatre, has been newly equipped throughout and will hold more than three times as much stock as the old store across the street. There will be 3000 feet of floor space.

Extensive entertainment has been planned for the opening. An orchestra will provide music. There will be large loaves of bread given away, besides many other articles of merchandise and candy for the children.

Most of the credit for the growth of the A & P business in Newark, in the four years that it has been here, has been attributed to Mr. T. H. Ford, who has been its manager, with the exception of a few short periods, since the first store was opened. This growth has been phenomenal in a community the size of Newark.

The moving and opening has been so arranged so as not in any way to disturb business. The fixtures and stock of the old store will be shipped back to the warehouse when it closes Thursday night, and the new store, with brand new stock and equipment will be ready for business Friday morning. The new store will have many added departments and features. One of these will be a separate produce department. Mr. Ford anticipates a permanent addition of about 5 to the personnel.

To Exhibit Chickens

One member, Robert Dennison, of Hockessin, of the 4-H Clubs of New Castle County is exhibiting a pen of his young Barred Rock chickens at the Baltimore and Ohio Interstate Poultry Exhibit held in connection with the National Poultry and Pet Show in Washington, D. C., this week. The young poultryman is in the du Pont Poultry Club under the supervision of County Club Agent Ed Wilim, Jr.

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad poultry exhibit brings together chickens raised by members of the twenty poultry clubs sponsored by that transportation company this year. These clubs are in the territory traversed by the lines of this railroad. The following premiums are offered by the B. and O. to its exhibitors at the Interstate Poultry Exhibit at Washington:

1st—High class breeding pen (4 pullets and 1 cockerel);
2d—High class breeding pen (3 pullets and 1 cockerel);
3d—High class breeding pen (2 pullets and 1 cockerel);
4th—Fifteen dollars cash; 5th, $12.00; 6th, $11.00; 7th, $10.00; 8th, $9.00; 9th, $8.00; 10th, $7.00; 11th, $6.00; 12th, $5.00; 13th, $4.00; 14th, $3.00; 15th, $2.00.

Mr. Wilim assisted Robert in selecting the birds which he sent to the show. In talking of the exhibit the Club Agent said, "This show gives the public a chance to see some of the things done by the 4-H clubs of the country. It also gives the club members who show an opportunity to have their birds in competition with others doing the same kind of work." The Agent further stated that the Barred Rock chickens sent by Dennison were bred strictly for egg production and they have laid a considerable number of eggs already this fall. By next year young Dennison's flock of chickens should have returned him a considerable profit.

The Town Council held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night and was visited by a delegation of property holders from South Academy street and Kells avenue.

Sergeant Green was spokesman for the delegation and asked what could be done to improve street conditions on South Academy street and Kells avenue. The Council replied that the town engineers had investigated the conditions, had ordered ten carloads of cinders to put on the streets, and had effected improvements in the drainage system to carry off surface water.

Councilman Handloff made an earnest appeal in behalf of the Flower Hospital, pointing out the many charitable services that it renders the community in caring for accident and charity cases; where patients are kept without charge and much valuable materials and drugs used. The Council voted $100 for the Flower Hospital.

An ordinance, presented by Councilman Wilson, was passed requiring a deposit of $5.00 on electric light meters, when installed for non-property holders.

Due to the extra amount of clerical work anticipated during the month of January, it was decided to engage Miss Alice Kerr to assist the secretary, Mrs. Laura Hossinger, during that month.

SHIPS HORSES SOUTH

On Monday, Mr. William Connor, trainer and manager at the Bob Smith Farm shipped twenty thoroughbreds to the Commander Ross Farm below Laurel. Ten of these were colts that Mr. Connor had broken and trained at the Smith Farm this season. One was "Golden Spire", a stake horse who had been sent here to recuperate after a hard campaign. The other nine head were horses which had been under Mr. Connor's care for various ailments and conditioning.

Plans for a new barn with forty box stalls, which was to have been built here, have been abandoned for the time being. Mr. Smith has leased the Ross Farm for the winter and will school jumpers and train runners there. However, Mr. Connor expects another consignment of colts to train here in the Spring and it is possible that there will be a string of jumpers sent here for schooling.

P. H. Kane Killed at Singlerly Crossing

The grade crossing at Singlerly, three miles north of Elkton, was the scene of another fatal accident early Saturday morning when Paul H. Kane, age 25 years, of Elkton, was killed by a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad freight train.

Kane was returning home in his automobile about 2 o'clock and when he reached Singlerly crossing an east-bound freight train was passing. After the train had cleared the crossing Mr. Kane attempted to drive over the tracks. A west-bound freight train came thundering along just as Kane had started his machine and before he could stop his car it crashed into the freight. The automobile was demolished and he was killed almost instantly. Deceased was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kane, Jr., of Perryville, and was employed on the Pennsylvania Railroad as a freight brakeman. He married Miss Pauline Bennett, a Cecil county school teacher, and daughter of Mrs. Louisa Bennett, of Elkton, who survives him with an infant son. Coroner Howard W. Green had the young man's body removed to his home in Elkton.

At the Coroner's inquest held Monday night the Railroad Company was censured for not providing proper signals at the Singlerly crossing.

The funeral services will be held from his late home Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment in Elkton Cemetery.

"THE BIG PARADE"

The first screen story of Laurence Stallings, noted newspaper man, novelist and playwright, has been booked for a three-day engagement at the Newark Opera House, starting tomorrow night.

This is "The Big Parade," a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by King Vidor and starring John Gilbert. The plot of "The Big Parade" might be written in one sentence—An American Boy Goes to France. Jim Apperson, son of a rich family, leaves for France without any heroic musings. Slim, a riveter, and Bull, a bartender, are in his company, and they become buddies for the duration of the big adventure. We follow them through their training in a rural French village where Jim meets Melisande and immediately forgets about the girl he left at home.

Then the big parade! The long line of lorries moving to the front. Melisande is left standing in the road clutching one of Jim's hobnailed shoes. This is an exquisite scene, intelligently directed. Then

Power Official Dies In Elkton

Clarence R. Powell, age 47 years, general manager for Cecil and Harford counties for the Northern Maryland Power Company, died Saturday morning at Union Hospital following an operation Thursday for a stomach disorder.

Mr. Powell, whose home is in Harisburg, Pa., where his wife and seven-year-old son now reside, had been ill for several days preceding the operation.

He has been resident manager of the power concern with offices in Elkton, for about a year, and had made himself popular in both Cecil and Harford counties, both of which are included in the company's territory. He was a graduate electrical engineer, and for several years, had been connected with utilities, in Philadelphia. He was a Mason and a member of the Engineers' Club of Philadelphia.

The deceased is survived by two brothers, Thomas Powell, of New York, and W. Earle Powell, of Philadelphia.

The march through the forest with snipers and machine guns everywhere. The rhythm of this unbeatable advance of khaki-clad figures makes a deep impress. On and on until the climax in the shell-hole, when Jim goes over the top to avenge his two pals. You'll never see such a scene pictured on the screen again!

Supporting John Gilbert as the star are Renee Adoree as Melisande and such well-known players as Hobart Bosworth, Claire Adams, Claire McDowell, Karl Dane, Tom O'Brien, Robert Ober and Rosita Marstini.

HE HELPS THE GARDENER

The chipping sparrow is a well-loved garden visitor whose hair-lined nest shelters four or five beautiful greenish blue, brown-speckled eggs. There are usually two broods a season, so that much benefit accrues to the gardener; for many green caterpillars and beetles are needed to feed the nestlings.

More than half the children are taking the treatment, which is given absolutely free of charge by the State Board of Health, which now maintains an office in Newark.

Thursday afternoon there was a meeting of the Sewing Club, recently organized by the older girls of the school, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. W. S. Hill, of Newark. After their work was done refreshments of cake and orangeade were served by a committee composed of Elsie Ware, Vivian See and Madeline Cusane. These girls not only served the refreshments, but prepared them themselves as well. The officers of the club are: Rachel Phelps, president; Mollie Cleaves, secretary; and Sara Moore, treasurer.

The Boy Scouts cleared eleven dollars from their Bake sale Saturday. The proceeds, it is understood, are to go towards purchasing a tent for the troop. Though there are less than a half-dozen scouts in the troop, they surely deserve great credit for the enthusiasm and zeal they show.

During the past week Mr. and Mrs. L. Irving Hutchison and family moved into their new home, only recently completed. It is located just above the Methodist Church, on the road to Oglethorpe, and is the third house to have been put up in that vicinity during the last few months. And there are two more being built a little farther up the road—Lynam McDowell's and Frank Morrison, Jr.'s.

On account of the severe storm of Sunday evening and the resulting bad travelling, the pageant, "An Adventure in the Clouds," which was to have been given by the Epworth League in the Christiana M. E. Church, had to be postponed.

The regular meeting of the Christiana Improvement Association was held in the School Hall Tuesday evening, December 6. A short entertainment followed the business meeting.

Gladstone's rule, even in his older years, was that of a "twicer," as he termed it at public worship. "Church going," he said, "is not a matter of fancy for a Christian. It is his duty for the work's sake. I am a regular churchgoer. I should go for various reasons if I did not love it, but I am fortunate enough to find great pleasure in the midst of devout gatherings, whether I can accept their creeds or not. For I find that there is in a corner of my heart a little plant called Reverence which wants to be watered about once a week."

Are you looking about for a means or a method by which you can help improve the community in which you live?

There is no other way by which a man can make what is best in himself such a wide and permanent influence for good in his community as by throwing himself heartily and vigorously into church work.

To be an outside saint is better than nothing, but the best position is to be an inside laborer in the life of the Church, thus helping to develop the finest character and bestowing the greatest blessings on mankind.

A man is never more safe or more happy, never more useful, than when he has associated himself with the composite life in the Spirit which the Church provides.

"Come thou with us and we will do thee good, and thou shalt be to us instead of eyes."

These words of Oliver Wendell Holmes came out of the personal experience of a fine, true, splendid man, and the same sort of experience may be yours.

Mr. Henry Mason, whose house on the Hares Corner road was destroyed by fire ten days ago, has been staying since that time at the home of Mr. Harvey Maclary, a neighbor. Mr. Mason has the ruins of his home cleared away, and is going right ahead with his plans for rebuilding.

Flyleaf Scribbling

Recently I found a book on old-time schoolbooks with a chapter devoted to the flyleaf scribbles inscribed in them by the school children of long ago. This led me to wonder if school children still scribbled on the flyleaves of their books, and how their sentiments differed from those of other days. I appointed all the school children in the neighborhood as special investigators and soon I had a fine collection of flyleaf scribbles. One interesting difference in the scribbles is that the youngsters are now terse and epigrammatic in their statements, whereas our forbears were longwinded and lyrical.

The chief theme of the old-time scribbles was the exhortation to the public not to steal the book: "Steal not this book for fear of Tom Harris will be after you"; or, "Steal not this book for fear of strife, for the owner carries a big jackknife." Now it is written: "In case of fire, throw this in"; "Do not open till Christmas."

The attitude toward the contents of some books is somewhat more flippant than that of young pioneers. The latter scribbled reverently: William Graham his Book. God grant his grace therein to look, That he may run that blessed race That heaven may be his dwelling Place.

The nearest approach to reverence found on the flyleaves of present-day schoolbooks was the terse, "Pray as you enter," whereas large detour signs and open all night notices are popular.—Indianapolis News.

Two Concerts

Within two weeks Newark people will have the privilege of hearing two good concerts, given by two clubs made up of friends of ours,—the Delaware College Glee Club Friday evening, December 9, and the Orpheus Club of Wilmington, on Thursday evening, December 15. Both concerts will be given in Wolf Hall.

A Glee Club is a great asset to Delaware College. The young men who make up its membership and Professor Berry, who has organized and who directs the club, have worked hard to perfect the program which they will give to us on Friday evening. They are enthusiastic over their work, and nothing will keep up that enthusiasm more than to have Wolf Hall packed with their friends on the evening of the concert.

The Orpheus Club is always welcome in Newark, and we feel grateful to the Sophomore Class of Women's College for bringing them to us. The girls should have our early support. We shall all go; why not buy our tickets now and give them the assurance of a full house?

The Gifts of the Days

Emerson, in one of his most cameo-like poems, confesses how badly he chooses among the offerings of the days. They march by in single file, bearing every variety of gifts, from diadems to fagots. He, walking in his little garden with its trimmed borders, gazes at them, hastily takes from their offered treasures a few herbs and apples, and his visitors are gone, looking back scornfully upon the meanness of his choices. Emerson is about the last person one would name as illustrating an unworthy use of time. With his plain living and high thinking he seems to have made as noble a selection among the gifts offered by the days as any mortal ever did. Yet day after day he found cause to reproach himself with the unworthy use that he had made of his time.

The same hours and minutes are dealt to us all, and at this very moment our fellow beings are busy making their choices from the heaped basket of the passing day. Too many choose like children, caught by some glitter, careless of the substance. Others carefully select, and presently they are the envied ones. All have the same twenty-four hours, and if all would choose, not from impulse, but by taking thought, the farewell glance of the day would not be so reproachful. If from one day we would select, not its jewels or its toys, but only its scroll of wisdom, we should be better able to take advantage of offerings made by its successors.

Emerson call these days "muffled and dumb." They make no sign; they give no word. The choice depends upon us alone. Were it not so, these gifts of the days would have no effect upon our character. We should be mere automatons. By choosing, making mistakes, learning to deliberate, growing in power of discrimination, we find that these voiceless and impassive days have been our educators in the truest sense, for they have compelled us through disappointment, regret, and perhaps through suffering, to teach ourselves. Happy are we if at last we translate length of days into wisdom, which is not so much knowledge as the recognition of values.—Providence Journal.

Fair Play in Education

Recent history has shown that when an announcement is made of financial stress at a leading men's college the response is usually in terms of millions. The men have an overwhelming advantage in this respect. Were the heads of Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Dartmouth, Columbia, Williams and Lehigh to say in a joint statement that they were faced with a need for funds, "so grave and so immediate that the usefulness of these institutions is ominously threatened," the men of America would come together as they did when they sang, "We are coming, Father Abraham, 300,000 strong!"—in both instances to prevent a national catastrophe. But such a need is precisely what the heads of the seven best-known women's colleges have presented in the leading article of the current number of the Atlantic Monthly. Whether the need is in the men's colleges or in the women's, however, it is largely the men who must be the financial protectors, for, as these seven presidents point out, most of the money of the country is in the hands of the men.

Endowments in the women's colleges, as compared with the men's, are conspicuously small. "The largest of the women's colleges, for example, has endowments yielding annually less than $120 per student, compared with $500 enjoyed by its nearest neighbor among the men's colleges," reads the article in the Atlantic. Expenses have to be met by charging high tuition fees. But the limit of higher fees has been reached, report the women's colleges, so that the admission of students from public high schools, and of the daughters of teachers, ministers, and other professional men on moderate salaries, is steadily declining. Admission of students from expensive private schools is increasing, and beyond a certain point this would become a calamity since it would result in too great a discrimination in favor of the more financially favored class. In addition it is pointed out: "We must expect more and more to have our best men teachers drawn away from us by our wealthier brothers."

Ordinarily comparisons are unwise. But, these seven prominent educators maintain, "the women's colleges must parallel the education offered, not by the mediocre colleges for men, but by the colleges which train men most efficiently; for, unless women are to be less seriously trained than men, the first rank must be the same for each." The question is made one of justice rather than one of chivalry. Colleges for women stand upon their history and achievement. They invite scrutiny and they can stand comparison with those of men.

It becomes apparent that if America is prepared to admit the right of women to the same quality of educational opportunity as men, the institutions for women should receive financial support in proportion to the tasks laid upon them. If men believe in education for women, they must contribute as generously for their wives' colleges as for their own. The plea is not for special consideration but for fair play.—Christian Science Monitor.

SCHOOL BELL TO RING

After a silence of two and one-half years, the old school bell on the Main street school building will ring again Monday morning. This is the only bell on any school building in Newark. It will ring on school days at 8:30 in the morning and 1 o'clock noon.

My Workshop—The School

Mary Roberta Corcoran

My workshop is an interesting place. You would like it. Thirty-five intelligent little faces, wearing Sixth Grade bodies, fit into these seats each day. They call it school.

It is my workshop. In it I see more than the simple sums and spelling words set in neat rows together. I try to analyze, to get behind these little faces who peer at me each day. It is the most interesting of places—this human shop of mine. I see their woes, their joys, their gray desires.

Because I remember, only too well, the grey-eyed somber little girl I used to be in school (a world of gloom, and pointers, dust of chalk, and other things), we make the hard things gay; give them new clothes to wear, talk them, and laugh them.

Now a small boy stalks across the stage. He is brave Charlemagne—world glory in his eyes. Another—Great Columbus. Sometimes I think they all will go to Hollywood. They act so well.

To make the dull hard grind of mathematics easy, we keep a graph, a record of each one's work in which we try to "beat" ourselves—make our own record better.

Sometimes, while walking up and down these avenues of mortals, I bless each busy head. Something joyous—full of gratitude rises within me. Something that thanks the power that gave me my small worldly niche to fill.

Once a small one, busy with his own endeavors, unconsciously—not thinking—called his teacher, "Mother." Dull red confusion mounted up to stain his cheeks with color. He did not know what fierce exultant joy rose up to choke this makeshift of a "Mother."

Dear Lord, for such poor stumbling efforts as are mine; Thy recompense is great.

SMALL-TOWN STUFF

The importance of instilling in the child's mind a spirit of loyalty to his own home town, no matter how small it may be, was stressed by Dr. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell College when he spoke recently to the Northwest Iowa Teachers' Association at Sioux City.

We are glad to see somebody swinging a cudgel in defense of the small town. It is high time. The sneers of the vaudevillians, the jokesmiths on the humorous periodicals, the Menckens and Nathans and Sinclair Lewises, the wisecrackers generally, have all, of late years, had a tendency to make the professional smart alecks and urban youngsters a little ashamed of their home town.

If he believes all he hears and reads, he is likely to reach maturity with a sneaking idea that there is something shameful about being born and reared in a community where citizens go to bed of nights and church on Sunday.

So when he travels from Gopher Prairie, Minnesota, to Chicago, he is tempted to register as from Minneapolis; and when he goes on to New York, he is tempted to discard Minneapolis and say he is from Chicago. When, and if he reaches Europe, he is from New York.

But why? Why not from Gopher Prairie, and proud of it, wherever he goes? What is there to be ashamed of in "small town stuff?"

Small town stuff! The stuff of nearly all our Presidents, nearly all our senators and Supreme Court justices, nearly all of our important writers and painters and sculptors and musicians, present or past. The stuff of nearly every big game in New York or Chicago today.

So why not be proud, rather than embarrassed by the fact of small-town birth or rearing?—The Minneapolis Journal.

A FREE NEWSPAPER

The conduct of a newspaper in a free country is a task that no man can take lightly. There can be no responsible government unless there is a press which is fundamentally disinterested in its motives, tireless in its search for truth, vigilant of abuses, tolerant and more than tolerant, hospitable to those who disagree, yet fearless in the expression of what it believes. A newspaper may be wrong. The truth is often hard to get. Judgments are often difficult to make. No one newspaper can pretend to know it all or to be right always. But any newspaper can, if it wishes, be honest with itself and therefore honest with its public. And in that kind of honesty it can have opinions without price of opinion, it can fight without fanaticism for its convictions, and when it is wrong it can say so. As long as there are newspapers which are afraid neither of dictation from the outside nor of corruption from within, a healthy public opinion is possible, for then all shades of opinion will be expressed and in the test of open debate the right may ultimately prevail.—New York World.

A THEATRE WHERE "YOU ARE WELCOME"

A theatre in which 'you are welcome to smoke your pipe' and at which you are encouraged to arrive late if you so desire is an unusual institution, to say the least. But just such a playhouse is to be found in Cambridge, England.

The Festival Theatre provides the Cambridge University students with the best of the modern drama, and, at the same time, makes some effort to look after its patrons' physical comfort. A few quotations from the back of a Festival Theatre program are as follows:

"You are welcome to smoke your pipe."

The Management hopes that those who prefer to arrive late will do so without being made to feel uncomfortable. Special seats have been installed for late-comers, in which the play that is in progress can be seen and heard in comfort without disturbing the rest of the audience.

"The organization of the Festival Theatre is at the disposal of all amateur societies who care to avail themselves of any assistance that we can give."

"The Festival Theatre exists for the furtherance of the artistic life of Cambridge. The more freely the public makes use of such facilities as we can offer the more fully shall we be able to justify our existence."

"Any member of the audience wishing to see any play a second time can do so free of charge, provided seating accommodation is available, by signing his ticket in duplicate at the box-office at the end of the performance."

THE DUTY OF MAN

The duty of man is not a wilderness of turnpike-gates, through which he is to pass by tickets from one to the other. It is plain and simple, and consists of but two points: his duty to God, which every man must feel; and with respect to his neighbor, to do as he would be done by. If those to whom power is delegated do well, they will be respected; if not, they will be despised; and with regard to those to whom no power is delegated, but who assume it, the rational world can know nothing of them.—Thomas Paine.

A bread pudding will be "soggy and sad" if you use too large a proportion of bread to eggs. Or it may come from cooking at too high a temperature. It is much better to cook any custard-like pudding in a pan of water in the oven. The water keeps the eggs from being over-cooked.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

THE COMING OF THE AUTOMOBILE

There, in the highway, the evening life of the Midland city had begun. A rising moon was bright upon the tops of the shade trees, where their branches met overhead, arching across the street, but only filtered splashing of moonlight reached the block pavement below; and through this darkness flashed the fiery lights of silent bicycles gliding by in pairs and trios—or sometimes a dozen at a time might come, and not so silent, striking their little bells; the riders' voices calling and laughing; while now and then a pair of invisible experts would pass, playing mandolin and guitar as if handle-bars were of no account in the world—their music would come swiftly, and then too swiftly die away. Surveys rumbled lightly by, with the plod-plod of honest old horses, and frequently there was the glitter of whizzing spokes from a runabout or a sporting buggy, and the sharp, decisive hoof-beat of a trotter. Then, like a cowboy shooting up a peaceful camp, a frantic devil would hurtle out of the distance, bellowing, exhaust racketing like a machine gun gone amuck—and at these horrid sounds the surreys and buggies would hug the curbstone; while children rushed from the sidewalks to drag pet dogs from the street. The thing would roar by, leaving a long wake of turbulence; then the indignant street would quiet

POSTAL HINTS FOR CHRISTMAS MAILING

No deliveries Christmas Day after 12 noon. Mail early for delivery before Christmas.

LIMIT OF WEIGHT, SIZE

No parcel may be more than 84 inches in length and girth combined. For delivery locally and in 1st, 2nd and 3d zones, 70 pounds is the maximum weight; all other zones, 50 pounds.

PACKING

Articles that are perishable or easily broken or crushed should be packed with care and marked "fragile" or "perishable." Consider what a package must go through with before reaching its destination and pack accordingly.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

The early mailing of Christmas cards is as important as any other mail. A habit of late mailing of cards has caused great congestion in post offices and considerable delayed delivery. Uniform sizes in greeting cards greatly facilitate handling, as odd sizes upset the routine technique.

It will greatly facilitate handling and assure your mail of an earlier delivery, if you will tie your cards and letters in separate packages and "face" them. "Facing" is to arrange letters or cards so that the addresses are all in the same order. Mail that is "faced" can be cancelled without being sorted.

VALUABLE MAIL

All valuable mail should be insured. Coin, currency, jewelry and articles of similar value should be sent as sealed, first class, registered mail.

WHEN TO MAIL

Christmas mail addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed not later than Dec. 20; within two days travel, Dec. 18; three days, Dec. 16, and for more distant points not later than Dec. 14. Mail for local delivery should be mailed Dec. 22.

Prohibition Mince-meat Pie

When grandmother made mince-meat, she had never heard of prohibition. She brought forth mysterious flasks and added a little of this and a little of that, stirred it, tasted it, and stirred it again—and lastly she poured in a lot of brandy, maybe a whole quart.

Granddaughter's mince-meat tastes just as good—and therein lies a secret. We are passing it along to you in the form of a recipe for: Prohibition Mince-meat Pie—To ready-prepared mince-meat add one-fourth cup of strawberry preserves, one-fourth cup of grapefruit juice and one-half cup of apple sauce. (Fresh apples, chopped fine, or canned apple sauce may be used.) If one likes the tart taste of cider, a little of that, from the holiday can, will add a distinctive taste. Mix these ingredients thoroughly and heat to almost boiling.

Easily Digested

Bake as you would any two-crust pie for thirty minutes in an oven at 450 degrees F. Mince pies are always baked with two crusts, and for holiday pies, puff paste is delicious for the rim and upper crust, but it is not satisfactory for the under crust. The generous amount of fruit juices used in this sort of mince-meat, combined with the light flaky crust, makes this modern mince-meat pie so easily digested that it can be served with a clear conscience, even after an elaborate holiday dinner.

SPARROW SWEEPS FIELDS

One of the most efficient sweepers of the fields is the vesper sparrow, which we may recognize by the white outer tail feathers, says Nature Magazine. Many dwellers of the grass, insect larvae, leaf hoppers, army worms, young grasshoppers, are devoured during the summer; and innumerable weed seeds make up their fall and winter diet.

Rich in Vitamines

Tomatoes are also known to be rich in vitamins A, B, and C. From vitamin C, tomatoes gain their antiscorbutic properties. Owing to the acid nature of tomatoes the canned product retains its vitamins and health properties excellently. Dr. A. F. Hess of Columbia University, says: "Canned tomatoes are the most serviceable antiscorbutic for artificially fed infants. From the nutritional standpoint it may be regarded as a palatable solution of the three vitamins and should be fed to such infants at the rate of 30 grams per day."

Weight for weight tomatoes, raw or canned, rank with lettuce and green string beans as sources of vitamins A and B, and with oranges and lemons as sources of vitamin C. In fact, they contain more vitamin C. In fact, they contain more vitamins per pound than any other canned food and more than any food except fresh milk. At the present time, they retail at an average of less than eight cents per pound of contents. No other food that is comparable in therapeutic, dietetical value can be bought for eight cents per pound.

NATIONAL GRANGE DECLARATIONS

1. The National Grange reaffirms its advocacy of the Export Debuture plan for practical farm relief, as effective, workable and without the necessity for setting up costly administrative machinery; the plan being capable of independent application or in combination with other sound remedies; and the Grange declares its readiness to cooperate with any other group or organization in bringing about immediate relief.

2. The National Grange declares that the time has come when tax relief for an overburdened people must be found, especially for the farm and home owners of the United States; urges a refund to the states of a portion of income and inheritance taxes, to be distributed for educational and improvement purposes; opposes reduction in income taxes at the present time; and advocates curtailment of state, county and local expenditures until such taxes are materially lowered.

3. The National Grange demands the preservation of the cooperative features of the Federal Farm Loan Act and insists upon provision for long-time amortized loans for permanent development projects by farm cooperatives.

4. The National Grange demands a vigorous enforcement of the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act; pledges its entire energies in behalf of such enforcement measures as the present situation demands; and favors stern punishment for all vendors in narcotics.

5. The National Grange declares its continued support of the direct primary and will vigorously resist the efforts now being made in various sections of the country to overthrow it.

6. The National Grange declares its unqualified opposition to further expenditure of Federal funds for irrigation and reclamation projects so long as the present surplus of agricultural products continues to depress the selling price of farm crops.

7. The National Grange pledges its continued efforts for the establishment of a National Agricultural Day by Congressional enactment.

The National Grange Voted to Favor

Adoption of the budget system by states and local taxing units, with positive debt control laws.

A system of taxation based upon ability to pay and upon actual benefits derived.

Readjustment of the railroad freight rate structure, now seriously discriminatory against the farmer.

Flood control measures by Congress and the early development of a practical program for opening up the nation's internal water-ways.

A long-range reforestation program, with adequate measures to preserve the nation's remaining natural resources.

Increased import duties on wool, corn, copra oil and other products affecting agriculture.

A determined effort to enact an effective Truth-in-Fabrics law at the next session of Congress.

Immediate operation of Muscle Shoals for the production of nitrogen for fertilizer purposes.

Uniform regulations between states governing the use of motor trucks, weight of loads, lights, fees, etc.

Increase of excise taxes and license fees for bus and truck transportation. Immediate changes in election laws to prevent the undue expenditure of money at primaries and elections.

Retaining control of the Federal Farm Loan System in sympathetic hands and making it function for farm benefit to the full intent of its creators.

Tariff revision by competent experts instead of by Congressional action, on political basis.

Forcing luxury and income to pay their full share of governmental expenses.

Removing all import duties on fertilizers.

Developing a vigorous American Merchant Marine, with adequate appropriations therefor by Congress.

Use of all possible measures to check the spread of the European corn borer.

Employment of agricultural research work in the lines of marketing and distribution and less towards production.

Employment of rural-minded teachers in the country schools, who are both familiar and sympathetic with farm life.

Revision of medical college courses to encourage more physicians to locate in rural practice.

Supporting all patriotic movements that seek to outlaw war and promote world brotherhood.

A return to proper Sabbath day observance by the American people.

Indorsement of Near East Relief work and continuance of the plan of State Granges "adopting" refugee children.

Adopting a custom among American families of devoting one evening each week to "Home Night," with every member promising to spend it there.

The National Grange Opposes

Bond issues to run longer than the life of the improvement; or special elections for voting on bond issues.

Any program tending to increase the surplus of farm products in the United States.

Lowering tariff duties on foreign vegetable oils or fats which compete with American animal, vegetable or fish oils.

Federal regulation of motor trucks.

Any change in the immigration laws which will decrease the restrictions now contained in the ineligibility alien clause.

Any income tax reduction until existing war debts are materially reduced.

The National Grange deprecates the appalling increase in the cigarette habit among the American people, particularly among women; and sternly condemns the growing practice in cigarette advertising of picturing the feminine sex as encouraging the spread of the cigarette habit.

Diddy's Playmate

An elderly woman was taking a walk near a golf course with her little dog Diddy. From over the crest of a small hillock came a golf ball, which, before it had stopped rolling, the dog seized in its mouth.

The next moment an irate golfer appeared, shouting and waving his club in the air.

"Put it down, Diddy," said the woman. "Put it down, my precious. Here comes the kind gentleman to knock it for you again."—Columbus Dispatch.

EATS FRUIT TREE PESTS

The orchard oriole, sometimes called basket bird, is found in eastern North America, over the central plains, south to the Gulf of Mexico. The tribe is of sufficient numbers to be useful to the agriculturist as a destroyer of injurious insects and their larvae, especially those affecting fruit trees.

"For the nature of the thing which we call an 'appeal', a 'spell', or what not, is altogether elusive. Its subtlety seems to defy analysis. It is a thing which the senses absorb, one which is without the province of words. It is felt, rather than recorded upon the conscious thought."

DR. HURWITZ LECTURES
IN WOLF HALL TONIGHT

At eight o'clock this evening, Mr. Henry Hurwitz, of New York City, will give the last of the series of lectures on Jewish Life and Culture which has been given in Wolf Hall during the past month. He will take for his subject "The New Spirit in Jewish Learning."
Mr. Hurwitz is not a rabbi, but rather is an educator and editor. He is chancellor of the Inter-collegiate Menorah Association and editor of the Menorah Journal. The Menorah Association has chapters in nearly all of the large universities of the country and its Journal gives expression to the new developments in Jewish scholarship.

The public is cordially invited to attend this lecture.

A TRIO OF PROFIT

Since the close of the Great War the cow, the hog and the hen have proved the salvation of Eastern and Southern farmers. More and more the production of standardized grain crops is being left to the wide stretches of the western plains, while the farmers of the East turn to specialized farm industries. Many of the farmer's troubles have resulted from his innate conservatism and resistance to a change in methods to meet new conditions. Some who have sensed the profits to be made in poultry and egg production and large scale dairying, where they have ready access to a city market, have made large and increasing profits at a time when western Congressmen were making the rafters ring with the harrowing story of the economic condition of their farmer constituents.

Shrinkage in the average size of farms points to a decreased production of beef and a corresponding increase in the market for poultry, eggs and milk. In part this has been due to the great increase in arrival of immigrants from southern Europe who were not beef eaters. With competent management it has been demonstrated again and again that poultry can be made to yield good profits even upon small and agriculturally unproductive landholdings.—Every Evening.

Margaret Ogilvy
on Clubs

Now that I was an author, I must get into a club. But you should have heard my mother on clubs: She knew of none save those to which you subscribe a pittance weekly in anticipation of rainy days, and the London clubs were her scorn. Often I heard her on them—whichever room I might be in, and it was when she was sarcastic that I skulked the most: "Thirty pounds is what he will have to pay the first year, and ten pounds a year after that. You think it's a lot o' siller? Oh, no, you's mista'en—it's nothing ava. For the third part of thirty pounds you could rent a four-roomed house, what is thirty pounds, compared to the glory of being a member of a club! Where does the glory come in? Sal, you needna' ask me, I'm jist a doited auld stock that never set foot in a club, so it's little I ker about glory. But I may tell you if you bide in London and canna become member of a club, the best you can do is to tie a rope round your neck and slip out of the world. What use are they? Oh, they're terrible useful. You see, it doesna do for a man in London to eat his dinner in his lodgings. Other men shake their heads at him. He maun away to his club if he is to be respected. Does he get good dinners at the club? Oh, they cow! You get no common beef at clubs; there is a manzy of different things all sauced up to be unlike themselves. Even the potatoes daurna look like potatoes. If the food in a club looks like what it is, the members run about finging up their hands and crying, 'Woe is me!' Then this is another thing, you get your letters sent to the club instead of to your lodgings. You see, you would get them sooner at your lodgings, and you may have to trudge weary miles to the club for them; but that's a great advantage, and cheap at thirty pounds, is it no, I wonder they can do it at the price."

My wisest policy was to remain down-stairs when these withering blasts were blowing, but probably I went up in self-defence.
"I never saw you so pugnacious before, mother."
"Oh," she would reply promptly, "you canna expect me to be sharp in the uptake when I am no a member of a club."
"But the difficulty is in becoming a member. They are very particular about whom they elect, and I daresay I shall not get in."
"Well I'm but a poor critter (not being member of a club), but I think I can tell you to make your mind easy on that head. You'll get in, I se up-hand—and your thirty pounds will get in, too."—From Margaret Ogilvy, by J. M. Barrie.

Sigma Phi Defeats Wilmington Tones

Fraternity Football Team, With
Delaware Varsity Lineup, Beats
Wilmington Pros, 12 To 8

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity football team of Delaware College, with a line-up practically the same as the University varsity of this season, went to Wilmington Saturday and gave the undefeated Wilmington Tones a 12 to 8 lacing. The game was played on the Pennys field.

The Tones, a semi-pro organization, had the ball on Sigma Phi's 3-yard line in the first period, where they were held for downs, and from there on the first half saw-sawed, with neither team gaining much advantage.

In the third period, the College boys took a passing attack out of the bag that had the Tones completely bewildered, and before the Tones could solve the combination, Sigma Phi had two touchdowns. Rose was doing the throwing with Glasser and Taylor relieving. Rose mixed his passes into short and long ones, and soon had the ball on the Tones 10-yard line. A short pass over the line to Glasser made the first score. A little later Taylor caught a short pass and dodged over the line for another touchdown. Both kicks by Rose failed.

In the last period, Krieg scooped up a short punt by Rose and ran it into the Tones only touchdown. The other two points were made when Rose was tackled behind his own goal line. Line-up:

BAVARIANS ARE TEMPTING DAINTIES

Bavarians are among the most attractive desserts we have. They are simply delicate fruit gelatine, with whipped cream folded in, just as the mixture begins to set.

These charming light desserts, however, have high food value on account of the cream and fruits they contain, and are excellent carriers of vitamins and mineral salts. They are greatly relished in the hot weather by children, and by adults as well.

A fact that may not be known to all housewives is that evaporated milk will whip either alone or in combination with whipping cream. In either case, a light, fluffy whip is obtained, ideally adapted for use with bavarians.

"Heavenly Hash" is a variation of bavarians. It is made by folding in chopped fruit just as the mixture begins to harden.

They are excellent desserts to serve at the end of a hearty meal, and their presence on the table adds color and atmosphere.

Pineapple Bavarian—1½ tsp. gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, ½ cup sugar, 2½ cups drained, grated pineapple, ¼ cup lemon juice, ½ tsp. salt, ½ cup evaporated milk, ½ cup whipping cream.

Soak gelatin in cold water five minutes. Set over a pan of hot water to dissolve gelatin, add sugar, salt, pineapple and lemon juice. Set in a pan of cold water, stirring occasionally until mixture thickens. Fold in the whipped evaporated milk and cream. Chill. Yield: 5 servings.

DELAWARE HAS HEAVY BASKETBALL SCHEDULE

sugar and orange juice and heat over hot water until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat, add salt and lemon juice. Cool, stirring occasionally until mixture begins to thicken. Combine evaporated milk and cream, chill and whip. Fold into gelatin mixture just as it begins to set. Yield: 5 servings.

Raspberry Bavarian—2 tsp. gelatin, ½ cup cold water, ½ cup boiling water, 1 pt. crushed red raspberries, 1 cup evaporated milk chilled and whipped with 1 cup whipping cream, 1 cup sugar, ½ tsp. lemon juice.

Soak gelatin in cold water and dissolve in boiling water. Cool and add crushed fruit mixed with sugar and lemon juice. As soon as the mixture starts to jell fold in the whipped cream mixture and pour into molds to set. Yield: 10 servings.

Chocolate Bavarian—¼ cup boiling water, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup heavy cream, ¼ cup evaporated milk (scalded), 1½ tsp. gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1½ squares chocolate, 1 tsp. vanilla.

Soak the gelatin in cold water. Add the scalded evaporated milk. Stir until gelatin is dissolved. Melt the chocolate over hot water, add the sugar slowly and then the boiling water a little at a time. Add slowly to the gelatin mixture while both are hot. Cool. When the mixture begins to set fold in the cream and vanilla. Pour into molds. Yield: 5 servings.

GARNISHES LEND ATTRACTIVENESS TO THE DISH OF MEAT

Garnishing, like many another good thing, may be over done. While garnishes may be elaborate or simple, it is better to err on the side of simplicity than of ostentation. Insofar as possible the garnish should be edible; nor should the garniture interfere with the service of the food.

Garnishes are an added means of carrying out a color scheme for luncheon party or dinner, but the simple garnishes should have their place at the family table because the food will be enjoyed so much more.

Parsley, watercress, celery, and lettuce should be crisp and tender. Lemons should be freshly cut. Vegetables such as beets, carrots, and turnips may be cut in fancy shapes; these also must be fresh and tender. Given below are a few attractive garnishes for meat dishes.

Aspic cut in dice or in fancy shapes is an attractive garnish for cold meat platters or for meat salad. The aspic may be colored with fruit or vegetable coloring.

Drain canned apricots, pears, or pineapple. Pan fry in butter until delicately browned on both sides. Serve as a garnish for roast meats.

Roast pork may be garnished with baked apples or pan fried apple rings filled with tart jelly.

Tufts of parsley, lemon, cut in fancy shapes, or watercress are simple and attractive garnishes for steak. A border of French fried or lattice potatoes is also effective.

Newark Drops Game To Fort Du Pont, 6 To 0

Fast Attack And Long Pass In First Period Give Soldiers Game;
Newark Has Edge In Last Three Quarters

A dazzling attack behind perfect teamwork in the first period gave the soldiers from Fort du Pont the jump on the Newark football team in a game played Saturday afternoon on Frazer Field; and before the Newark stars could get organized, Fort du Pont had a touchdown which decided the game, 6 to 0. Shortly after the period opened, a long pass put the ball on Newark's 10-yard line and in two plays Barney took it across. The kick failed to go over the crossbar.

From the second period on, Newark had Fort du Pont on the defensive most of the time and gained more ground than the soldiers. However, it couldn't get the ball over the line to tie the score. In the last part of the fourth quarter Chalmers hurled a long pass to Luten, and then threw another directly over the line, but the second pass was fumbled, and Fort du Pont kicked out of danger.

"Shorty" Chalmers, who has just been selected as the best scholastic football player in Maryland, was the individual star of the game. Preston and Hubert also played good football started for the soldiers. Line-up:

DELAWARE TIES WESTERN MARYLAND IN SOCCER

A goal from the field in the last few minutes of play gave the University of Delaware soccer team a tie with Western Maryland in a game played on Frazer Field last Saturday. A. O. U. W. Dance To Aid Ambulance Fund

Affair to be Given Thursday Evening, December 15, at New Century Club

On Thursday evening of next week, December 15, the A. O. U. W. Boosters Club will give a dance and card party in the New Century Club building, one-half of the net proceeds of the affair to be donated to the Newark Ambulance Fund.

This will be the second Boosters Club dance this season, the first one being a very successful masquerade affair several weeks ago. Arrangements are being made to take care of a larger crowd than ever and it is hoped to have a very substantial sum to turn over to the Ambulance committee, as they are much in need of funds.

Music will be furnished for the dance by Buckingham's Serenaders.

The Aetna Fire Co. houses the ambulance free of cost in their building and furnishes volunteer drivers. It is safe to say that the ambulance in the short time it has been in service here has been the means of saving a number of lives, beside mitigating the suffering of a number of those sick and injured by taking them to hospitals for care and treatment.

About $800 Yet Due on Ambulance

There is still about $800 due on the cost of the ambulance, and in order to show their appreciation of the good work it has already accomplished and the service the firemen render in keeping it running, the A. O. U. W. takes this means of helping blot out the debt now held against it.

The ambulance was first put into service on August 5, 1926, and since that time, about 16 months, it has made over 200 calls. It has been called out as high as 22 times in one month, and is always available for the use of anyone needing it, day or night.

During the evening the forthcoming dance and card party of the Boosters Club was discussed and arrangements for the same completed.

"How marvelously one's capacity for assimilating beauty varies! There are days when a roadside violet holds more delight in its beauty than the soul can contain—and there are other days when the whole majesty of the Alps will not suffice to fill the craving for beauty in the human heart."—Ruskin.
