Miss Theresa G. Tehan,
University of Delaware,
Newark, Delaware.

My Dear Miss Tehan:

I am so sorry that it has been quite impossible for me to find time to write anything for the forthcoming issue of the Blue and Gold. Since my return from abroad every minute of my time has been occupied. There do not seem to be enough hours in the day for the things that have to be done.

I am sure that your issue of the Blue and Gold will not fall below the very high standard set by the editors of the annual who have preceded you. Not only have all the issues I have seen of the Blue and Gold maintained a very high standard of literary and journalistic excellence but my attention has been especially drawn to the admirable business management. The Women's College annual has never, I think, had a deficit. This reflects high credit upon the business acumen and ability of its editors and is a record which few college annuals can parallel.

Again regretting that I have not been able to contribute anything to the forthcoming volume and with best wishes for its great success, I am,

Yours very sincerely,

Walter Hullehen

PROGRESSIVE college must be "ever-changing hence always the same." We are awed by the scientific formulæ which express the relations between the swiftly revolving parts of our speeding universe. We are fascinated with the problems of Alice in Wonderland where she finds croquet a very difficult game to play with lively, moving creatures for balls and mallet. It takes our best thinking, however, even to approach a solution of the question as to what is best in matter and method to suit our education to our changing world. For alumnæ as well as students and faculty this must always be a co-operative effort, each supplementing that of another if this thinking is to be constructive and to build for the future at the same time that it conserves what is best in the past.

Yours sincerely,

Winifred J. Robinson
