Delaware Track Team Ties With Drexel in Phila.

Gregg's Spurt in Half Mile Ends
List of Defeats

Two Records Broken

The losing streak of the Blue and Gold athletes was dramatically ended when Gregg, in nosing out Lodge for third place in the half mile run, prevented Drexel from annexing a hotly contested victory over Delaware at Philadelphia last Wednesday. The meet resulted in a 63 point tie.

With only the half mile to run, Delaware was only one point in the lead, and the result of the meet depended upon this event. Whittaker, Drexel's captain, started out at the crack of the gun and led the field, getting first place. Chrisfield and Lodge, of Drexel, and Gregg, of Delaware, had a real battle for third place, resulting in Lodge's losing out by inches, when Gregg, by a terrific spurt, passed him on the straightaway.

Sigma Phi Epsilons Had Informal Dance Last Friday, May 9

The Sigma Phi Epsilon Fraternity held its annual spring informal dance in the Armory on last Friday night. The affair was attended by approximately one hundred couples, which included a great many of the local organization's alumni. The front of the programmes were decorated by an etching of the chapter house with the pin and crest in either of the upper corners.

Music for the occasion was furnished by Madden's orchestra. The patronesses were: Mrs. George Townsend, Jr., Mrs. Harold E. Tiffany, Mrs. Robert C. Levis, Mrs. Charles C. Palmer, and Miss Rachel W. Taylor.

Professor W. Mosher Represents U. of D. At History Meeting

Professor Mosher was the University of Delaware representative at the twenty-first annual spring meeting of the Association of History Teachers of the Middle States and Maryland, and the History Teachers of Maryland. This conference of history teachers was held in Baltimore on last Friday and Saturday.

Interesting lectures, discussions concerning new methods of teaching history, election of officers for the coming year, luncheons, and sight-seeing trips made up the program of the conference.

Some of the most prominent history professors in the United States were assembled at this meeting. The University of Columbia and the University of Maryland were both well represented.

THE RAT RULES HAVE PASSED TO OBLIVION AND "FROSH" REJOICE

Farraginateous Garbs

"They're off!"

Socially, the class of '27 died a natural death yesterday. All rat rules were abandoned. The straight and narrow path has come to an end. The gates of the Elysian Fields are now open wide to the first-year men. Rat caps are to be worn no more. Baskets will cease to be carried until the infantile collegiate marries and does the Saturday morning's marketing. Saluting is a form of respect that will be retained for the military department . . . on drill days. No more whimpering and slinking away from the upper classmen, into the dark corners. The day of the match has passed. The day of the cigarette has come to stay

Gamma Delta Rho Fraternity Have House On Campus

Extensive alterations and repairs are being made to the house in which the Gamma Delta Rho Fraternity expects to move next Fall. This house, which is near Wolf Hall and facing Delaware Avenue, will make a fine home for the "Gamma Delt" because it is almost on the Campus and is a much more roomy structure than their present home.

The house used to be situated on Main Street, adjoining the University Library until a short time ago when it was moved to the site on Delaware Avenue.

DELAWARE COLLEGE CLASS ELECTIONS WERE HELD TODAY

Hotly Contested

The Junior class elections for the coming year were hotly contested, and resulted in the following men being elected: Paul Rinard, President; Francis Miller, Vice-President; Harry Lowber, Secretary; Howard Hurff, Treasurer; and Alfred Turner, Historian.

William McKelvie barely defeated "Dick" Hoch for the office of Athletic Representative.

The four nominees for the Student Council were John Leach, Russell Hunt, Roger Cann, and William Jackson. Two of these men will be elected at the Student Body elections.

The Freshmen elected W. G. Lohman, President; Vance Mendenhall, Vice-President; J. C. Eyer, Secretary; W. L. Ellis, Treasurer; and Wakeland, Historian.

Their student Council nominees are Harper and Maguire. "Scoop" Hubert was selected as the Athletic Council Representative.

The Sophomore elections resulted in Richard Torbert, President; Lester Owens, Vice-President;

May Day Exercises Will Be Tomorrow In Red Men's Grove

Miss Prugger Has Arranged Costume Dances

Emily Roe May Queen

On Saturday, May 17, the grove at the Red Men's Home will be the scene of beautiful and joyous festivity. The girls of the Women's College will celebrate the most beautiful day of the year, May Day, with appropriate songs and dances. The scene will be that of a large court, over which will reign the lovely May Queen, assisted by her devoted attendants. The custom of celebrating May Day is an old one at the Women's College, and it is hoped that many friends will be present to help the girls make the day a happy one.

The students have elected, from among their number, a May Queen and several girls who will serve in the offices of her court. Emily Roe, '24, has been chosen Queen of the May. Vera

Women's College Postpone Field Day to May 24

Field Day, which was to be held on the seventeenth of May, has been postponed until May 24th, on account of rain. It was decided that the ground would be too wet to use, hence the change until a later date.

Many of the class games will be played off at this date. It is also hoped that there will be finals in tennis and archery.

Dr. Quaesita Drake Elected President of A. A. Univ. Women

At the annual elections of the Delaware Branch of the American Association of University Women, held in Wilmington, last Friday, May 9th, Dr. Quaesita Drake, head of the Chemistry Department of the Women's College, was elected president for the next two years. Her assistant, Mrs. Arthur T. Spaid, was elected recording secretary for the similar length of time.

This association, formerly known as the Wilmington College Club, is of especial interest to the students of the Women's College, not only in that they look forward to becoming members on graduating; but also in the fact that it has given scholarships to members of incoming Freshmen classes ever since the founding of the college.

The girls of the University warmly congratulate Miss Drake upon this nomination because of an entirely personal point of view. She is one of the most popular professors in Delaware; and is noted for her humane tendencies in times of stress as well as her unwavering "fairness" upon all occasions.

DEAN DUTTON SPEAKS UPON FAILURES HERE AT DELAWARE COLLEGE

92.7% of Frosh from Del.

Last Friday and Saturday the University acted as host to the high school teachers of the state who assembled here for the sixth annual meeting of the State High School Conference. The conference opened Friday night with a banquet in the Commons. About one hundred high school teachers were present. In the absence of President Hullihen, who was to preside, Dean Dutton acted as toastmaster and extended a welcome to the visitors on behalf of the University. Dean Robinson extended a welcome from the Women's College.

West Wing was the scene of the conference on Saturday morning, which was featured by

Memorial Library Committee Select The New Equipment

At a recent meeting of the Memorial Library Committee selections of the different articles of equipment for the new library were made. Decisions were reached on everything but the style of chairs to be installed.

In regard to requests made by different college organizations concerning the allotment of rooms in the Memorial Library, President Hullihen stated that the distribution of floor space depends entirely upon the findings of a committee which will have to do with that question. Until the time that the committee meets nothing can be decided.

CANDLE OF ROMANCE A TEN MINUTE PLAY PRESENTED AT W. C.

Showed Evidence of Work

The Dramatic Club of the Women's College presented, Saturday night in the Hilarium, one of its ten-minute plays, "The Candle of Romance," written by a student of Wills College. The play was given at six-thirty, so that those who were going to the dance might have this opportunity of seeing it as well as those who were not.

Even though the play was but a short one, it showed evidence of practice and thought. Every one did very well in her part. Charlotte Dayett, '25, as Pom-charming. Giggie Wiggin, '26, as charming. Giggie Wiggin, '26, was equally good as the loving Pierrette, while Beulah Thompson, '26, took the part of the jealous Colombine with great zest. Pierrot, the absent-minded poet and player, was cleverly played by Lillian Deen, '26. Caroline Fouracre, '27, as Harlequin, added much life to the story, and Leonore Rosaina, '27, as the Lamplighter—old, but mentally keen—was to be commended. Last, but not least, Marjorie Records, '27, as the Masked player, came striding

CRITICISM

Certainly one course in a college career has called upon a student to criticize logically and fairly certain of works of writers, musicians, artists. Perhaps it does seem amusing to consider a college student presuming to remark on the accepted works of an acknowledged genius. Nevertheless such criticism if it be destructive is not very disheartening; the artist stands firm, assured that no small storm of censure, which may be aroused by mere aspirants, can ever harm his position as a genius.

Criticism which is certainly objectionable is that which is aimed at the people who are working to make something of an organization—to be specific, a college organization. It is realized that suggestions from onlookers are very helpful, that a disinterested person can find flaws which the accustomed worker cannot detect.

This is not the criticism which is offensive, rather it is the kind—generally destructive—of those who are content merely to look on. Time and time again adverse opinion is rendered against the Student Board, the Dramatic Club, and the other organizations of college life. However, nine times out of ten the girls, who criticize the most, are content to remain out of things. They are too much occupied with tuning ukeleles, and eating sundaes to become really interested in a school affair.

If these girls would offer their services to the college or appear willing to help when asked, perhaps the divers clubs of the college would run smoother. The girl who accepts a position in a college affair soon discovers how difficult it is to get any one to help in any way. Consequently when she realizes this fact she will never feel called upon to tear to pieces the work of any of her fellow sufferers. The girls of this college should realize that the thing needed here is co-operation and not destructive criticism.

TAP DAY

The ceremony with which the Derelicts made known their choice for new members was a particularly impressive one.

Even if the rites themselves had been lacking in spirituality, the setting alone would have been adequate to produce an atmosphere suitable for the dignity of the event.

In the early twilight, the verdant campus had become a concrete abstract. Instead of being merely a lawn with a few trees and buildings scattered over and around it, it had become a quiet gloriousness, a gloriousness which could be seen, heard, smelled, and felt.

Old College Hall, obstinately clutching to its white columns the last red rays of the sun, gazed down benevolently upon the scene. The majestic elms, which border the walks, with branches outstretched like priests' arms, whispered soft and eternal blessings on all who passed beneath. The fragrance of recent showers on new grass mingled with the odor of fecund earth, the breath of God, filled one's nostrils and being.

Old, sadly-sweet memories and silver-haired spirits sat in solemn judgment. Their vague presence giving that sense of holiness which ancient and honorable traditions never fail to give.

With such a background, the short, simple ceremony gripped all that which is noble in those who were fortunate enough to be present, and uncovered, for a short time, their souls, allowing them to function unhampered by selfish brains.

In the introduction of "Tap Day," Delaware has acquired the possibilities for a beautiful tradition, the sort of thing that will make her graduates remember their Alma Mater, respect her, cherish her, and love her.

In the spiritual sense, "Tap Day" is a distinct step toward becoming a university.

TRACK SEASON A SUCCESS?

Here is a letter from Mr. A. W. Haddleton, the Track Coach of Haverford College.

Haverford College, May 9, 1924.

Dear McKelvie:

I am writing to you because I believe you are the captain of the track team. I trust you will take my impressions of the meet yesterday.

First—The score does not tell the true relative strengths of our two teams. Take for instance the high jump. Due to the poor take-off your jumper who has a better mark than ours failed to jump near his best. In the pole vault our vaulter was extremely fortunate to have cleared 10 ft. 9 in. on his last trial. Thomas had to do his very best to win the discus throw. Summing up, on the whole, the meet was closer contested than the score would denote. I've had a fair team at times only to have the other fellow just a little better—I know how it feels to be in that position!

Second—I've already commented on the nice meal you served up at noon hour. I've said nothing about fair treatment by officials, spectators, and your men. Even while we ran up first places I did not hear one sarcastic or grouchy remark. This is what prompts me to write this letter.

This reflects the policy of Mr. Keyes's methods—possibly deeper than that your college policy towards visiting teams. It certainly was fine treatment.

Please convey my expressions of regard to Coach Keyes and Mr. McAvoy. I have not forgotten it's only to turn back the pages a bit to see some defeats checked up against Haverford in track.

May the best team win next time.

Sincerely yours,

A. W. Haddleton,

Track Coach.

Is not the receipt of a letter expressing such sentiments of more value to us than the mere accumulation of points?

If we can make every team that visits us feel toward our University as Haverford apparently does, our track season will have been the most successful in the history of Delaware. And we haven't won a meet yet.

INTERSCHOLASTICS
RESULTS IN HAVING
3 RECORDS BROKEN

Sigma Nu Wins Relay

The largest crowd of the spring gathered on Joe Frazer Field last Saturday to witness the Interscholastic Track and Field Meet. More than twenty high schools and preparatory schools were represented in the meet.

Three records were smashed in the course of the meet. The most startling event came in Class II, 100-yard dash, when Sands, of Lansdale High, sprinted that distance in 10 seconds flat, bettering the former record by 3/5 second. In Class III, Norris, of Carolina High, broke his own record in the shot put by a heave of 44 ft. 2 1/2 inches; and in the same class Meintzen, of Easton, High, raised the high jump record to 5 ft. 5 in.

The feature of the afternoon was the interfraternity relay. This race was won by Sigma Nu. Every fraternity on the campus was represented. Sheaffer's lead which his team mates had given him in the early part of the race, was considerably lessened by Barker, of Sigma Phi Epsilon, who, in the last few yards, made a spurt which almost won the race.

Fifteen Freshmen
Elected To Druids
On Last Saturday

Fifteen of the first year men appeared on the campus last Saturday morning with little green ribbons running through the bottom buttonholes of their coats. No other announcement has been made of the Druid elections.

The new members of this Honorary Sophomore Society are: Lohman, Harper, Donohue, Hubert, Wooten, Eyer, Mendenhall, Beatty, Grier, Tremaine, Robbins, Warner, Nutter, Poole, and Maguire.

Haverford Athletes
Give Delaware Fourth
Beating of Season

Taking every first place, the Haverford Track Team defeated Delaware by the score of 93 1/2 to 32 1/2 on Frazer Field, May 8.

Considering the wet track the meet was exceptionally fast. One of the features of the meet was Frazier's sprint at the end of the two mile run. This sprint won the race for Haverford just when it appeared that Skewis was going to win a first place for Delaware.

Company C Under
"Pete" Shockley
Win Drill Honor

In the competitive drill which was a part of the annual military inspection, Company B, captained by Wilbur S. Shockley, was awarded first place. Last year's company drill honors were carried off by Company C, led by Captain John Challenger.

In recognition of his exemplary services as company commander, Captain Shockley will be presented with the handsome sword and scabbard on display in the window of Rhode's drug store. Moreover, the cadet first sergeant of the winning company will wear the Roberts medal during the coming year.

The members of Company B will be entertained at a banquet to be given in the near future by the Military Department.

Thirteen Juniors
Chosen Derelicts
On First Tap Day

"Tap Day" made its initial appearance last Friday, when the Derelicts made the first public appearance in the history of the organization, and "tapped" the thirteen Juniors who are to succeed the present members.

The Derelicts' selections were R. Hunt, A. Jones, P. Rinard, J. Leach, W. McKelvie, J. Deputy, R. Siegrist, W. Jackson, R. France, "Shorty" Crothers, F. Miller, and C. Tilghman.

The class histories and jokes prove very readable. One feature is the entire program of the entire year from September till the time of publication.

The books are bound in dark blue leather, trimmed with the University seal in gold and the words "Blue and Gold, 1925." The arrangement is neat; the different departments are concise; the general plan is very commendable. The several pages of cartoons, drawings and decorations are very well done and worthy of merit.

In a narrow circle the mind contracts.

The Footlights Club are determined to redeem themselves. The report of a Spring Show, to be held May 22, is not another form of grotesque college humor. In truth, the Club plans to match any other production ever seen this side of Lumbrook Station and at any weight ringside with their new enterprise.

In a letter sent to our dramatic reviewer, the Club flatly denied that they would try to play "Aida" on a circular saw with wine glasses. Time pieces can be brought along with immunity. There are to be no magicians to perform disappearing acts. For those who take this bit of advice, the second and last show at the village movie starts at 9:30.

Best of all, a one-act play written by one of the members of the alumni will find its place on the program. It is to be a Chinese melodrama, and, at bottom, a gripping piece of dramatic writing. It is rumored that it will make the audience have that cold and weird feeling that they experienced the first time they saw Simon Legree beating Little Eva in "Uncle Tom's Cabin." But the manuscript has been read by our dramatic critic. He says that it will be the hit of the show. Some of the lines that will be heard are:

The Chinese opium seller: "You dirty, greasy villian, you!"

The Chinese villian who speaks like Keats or Shelly: "Shut up you silly old man." . . . (The heroine enters and the villian sees her) . . . "Ah! exquisite rose of old China, those marble features, this silvered moonlight, your soft lips so gently parted, I long for your kisses, your kisses, do you hear? Ah! Ca! Ca! Ca! Ca! (evidently Chinese) with those lines of your statute-like figure . . ."

To go on would be to give the whole thing away. You'll see the Chinese opium den; the young girl's confession of a life of past sin; the manly brushing of it aside by the hero named "John"; the villian, a Chinese who sells dope, speaking in his lines of prose poetry that would call forth a blush from Robert Herrick; and then the detectives enter; the villian is shot right off the stage (all for $.75); and the old Chinese, who turns out to be the heroine's father, is allowed to depart in peace. The curtain is scheduled to come down here but if the groundlings become unruly . . . well, shows have been known to stop five minutes before they began.

Come one, come all. This delicious compound of histrionic art will be ripe and juicy; there is no doubt. It will be the work of the talented imaginations of the members of the Footlights Club who, according to our dramatic critic . . . excepting Leahy and Yanowitz of course . . . are all HAMS!

The election of officers of the Phi Kappa Phi honorary fraternity resulted in the following selections: Professor Howard K. Preston, president; Miss Quaesita Drake, vice-president; and Professor W. H. Wilkinson, Secretary.

The Faculty of Delaware College entertained the men of the Senior Class at the annual Faculty-Senior Party on Tuesday evening, May 13, in the Faculty Club rooms.

SONS OF DELAWARE

will begin at quarter of four. At 6.15 the Sons of Delaware will have their banquet in Old College Hall. The entire program is scheduled on Daylight Saving Time.

Several prominent public speakers will constitute the major attraction at the dinner. Mr. William P. White, of Wilmington, will lead the group singing which is on the program to fill in between courses.

The Arrangement Committee has provided a special train, via the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, to bring the "Sons" here and to take them back home again. The train will arrive in Newark at 2.03 P. M. (D. S.) and leave at 10.00 P. M.

A special feature of the outing will be the issuing of an invitation to all citizens of Delaware, whether they are members of the organization or not, to meet with the "Sons" in Newark, to renew old acquaintances, and to "swap" stories and reminiscences.

There will be no charge for the dinner to members whose dues are paid for the current year. Guests' tickets and tickets for those who are not members of the Sons of Delaware can be obtained at $2.00 per plate.

TRACK TEAM TIES

Delaware showed its superiority over Drexel in the field events by capturing the shotput and discus throw, and also in the hurdles, garnering a total of 33 points out of a possible 36 points. This was sufficient to overcome the lead that Drexel had established by capturing ten out of fourteen first places, two seconds, and seven thirds.

The high scorer of the meet was Maher, Drexel's star sprinter, who won the 100, 200 and 440 yard dashes. "Bill" McKelvie was high scorer for Delaware, winning the discus and taking second place in the shot and javelin. Two track records were broken when Whitaker of Drexel won the half mile in 2.05, and when Richards of Drexel won the high jump by 5 feet 9 inches.

The results of the meet were as follows:

One mile run—Won by Antes, Drexel; second, Chrisfield, Delaware; third, Tremain, Delaware. Time, 4 minutes 58 seconds.

120-yard high hurdles—Won by Baxter, Delaware; second, France, Delaware; third, Corson, Drexel. Time, 17.1-5 seconds.

Javelin throw—Won by Jones, Drexel; second, McKelvie, Delaware; third, Humphries, Delaware. Distance, 143 feet.

440-yard dash—Won by Maher, Drexel; second, Evans, Delaware; third, Beatty, Delaware. Time, 53.4-5 seconds.

High jump—Won by Richards, Drexel; second, Baxter, Delaware; third, Corson, Drexel. Height, 5 feet 9 inches.

Broad jump—Won by Proctor, Drexel; second, Elliott, Delaware; third, Clarke, Drexel. Distance, 19 feet 11 inches.

220-yard low hurdles—Won by Beatty, Delaware; second, France, Delaware; third, Clarke, Drexel. Time, 28.2-5 seconds.

880-yard run—Won by Whitaker, Drexel; second, Chrisfield, Delaware; third, Gregg, Delaware. Time 2 minutes 5 seconds.

Shotput—Won by Elliott, Delaware; second, McKelvie, Delaware.

Edwards, '24, will be the Queen's first attendant, the Maid of Honor. Duchesses have been chosen from each of the four classes. Josephine Burnett will be the Senior Duchess, Mary Catherine Bradley, the Junior Duchess, Georgia Wiggin will represent the Sophomore class, and Kitty Ady, the Freshman class. The other members of the Queen's court are the class attendants. The Seniors have chosen Sara Hatfield and Elizabeth MacIntire, the Juniors, Charlotte Dayette and Eunity Jones, the Sophomores, Louise Harris and Carmela Carleto, and the Freshmen, Marie Jackson and Jean Middleton.

Miss Prugger, director of Physical Education, has arranged a very beautiful program of costume dances. It is called "A Springtime Fantasy." Esther Ruston, Bertha Staats, Helen Cohen, and Linda Bassett will give solo dances. Among the group dances will be the dances of the Elves, Fireflies, Gypsies, Violets, Wild Roses, Spring Flowers, and Summer Breezes. A Flemish dance and a dance of the children will also be given. One of the most interesting features of the program will be the Maypole dance, which will be given by the members of the Sophomore Teacher-Training class. Miss Wilcox has planned appropriate music for the festive occasion.

the address of Dean Dutton, whose subject was "Failures in Delaware College." Dean Dutton said that the cause in the cases of a large percentage of students dropped owing to unsatisfactory work is due to weakness in English and Mathematics.

Much criticism has been directed at the College authorities relative to the number of students dropped because of unsatisfactory work, and the alleged discrimination against students from the state of Delaware in favor of students from outside the state. Dean Dutton gave figures showing that in the past five years of 544 Freshmen admitted to Delaware College only 121 or 22.2 per cent were from high schools outside of the state. In the present Freshmen class, of the 101 admitted but 8, of 7.3 per cent, were from outside the state.

The conference adjourned in time for the Interscholastic Field and Track Meet on Frazer Field.

The Delaware-Johns Hopkins baseball game, which was played at Baltimore on May 14, was "called" in the sixth inning on account of rain. The score at this time was Johns Hopkins 3 and Delaware 1. Pryor was pitching for Delaware.

RAT RULES OFF

for three long years.

With tobacco and chewing gum, clad in varicolored golf hose, entwined in roomy knickers, the Freshmen came to dinner yesterday. There were the customary clowns who wore those hectic pieces of neckwear and swaggered about as if they were residents of Hoboken, N. J.

Now that the rules are lifted there will be a violent reaction. It is psychologically necessary. The blue nose who wore his Sunday school pin when he entered Delaware will soon be scarlet. The green mind will become a brown vault of cynicism. White honor will still remain white honor—it is hoped. The sense of self-importance will become greater. That is the formula! It is all that is needed to become a full-fledged Sophomore in every respect.

But the grey phantoms of "exams" are hovering near. The warning is: "Don't be intelligent at the wrong time."

The costumes and curtains were some of those which had been used by the Freshmen in the competitive play. This play was just another one of the fine pieces of work that Louise Jackson, president of the Dramatic Club, has accomplished this year.
