Traditional Rite Opens New Term

E-52 University Players
To Entertain Freshmen
With Dramatic Program
In Mitchell Hall Tonight

A full dramatic and music program will be presented in Mitchell Hall tonight at 8 p. m. by the E-52 University Theatre to introduce to the freshmen the facilities available to them in the field of dramatics.

Included in the program will be a one-act play, "If a Body," a backwoods comedy dealing with the sale of dead bodies that aren't dead and a fancy banjo that nobody involved has ever seen. Following the play, several selections from last year's musical, "A Connecticut Yankee," will be sung by members of the cast.

The play, entirely produced by students, was directed by Jean DeVries, president of the E-52 Players. In the cast, all members of E-52, are George Cavey, Bill Brown and Liz Parkhill.

Singing in the production will be Dave Tompkins, who played the male lead in "Yankee," Patti Phillips and Jane Banks, who played the female leads, Liz Parkhill and George Cavey. Jean Ryker will accompany.

The E-52 University Theatre is a student organization made up of students interested in dramatic arts. It is open to students of all departments of the university and not just to those majoring in drama. To become a member of the organization, a student must earn a minimum number of points by working on the full schedule of productions held in Mitchell Hall each year.

These points can be earned in any number of fields, including acting, make-up, crew work, lighting, sound, costumes, properties and publicity. There are vacancies in all these fields that can be capably filled by freshmen.

The program of the E-52 Players centers around three full-length dramatic productions, a children's theatre tour and several Lab Theatres, or experimental plays, produced entirely by students.

All interested freshmen are urged by Dr. C. Robert Kase, chairman of the Department of Dramatic Arts and Speech, to let it be known to himself, others in the department or to any of the students mentioned that they are willing to work on future productions.

University Enforces
Parking Regulations

The acute parking situation at the University of Delaware in the past few years has caused the administration to impose more stringent regulations on car owning students.

Starting this year, freshmen, not including commuters, will not be allowed to store, operate or maintain a car on the campus. In addition, all upperclassmen using cars on the university grounds will be required to register their vehicles.

Four different kinds of motor vehicle registration tags will be issued. There will be different tags for members of the administration and staff, commuters, uni-

Junior Advisors To Acquaint
New Frosh With College Life

No doubt by this time most of the Freshmen Women have come into contact, either in person or by letters, with their Junior Counselor. Possibly many do not, however, understand their relationship with these counselors.

Junior Counselors are selected members of the Junior Class, chosen on such qualifications as interest, training, academic ability and activity in campus life. Each is assigned a small group of freshmen and will be meeting with the group and leading discussions. The counselors, as the main force in the discussion, will be trying to make sure that matters in question are clarified and to encourage the freshmen women to participate. Individual problems will be considered privately.

Junior Big Sisters
To Hold Coke Fete

All freshmen and junior big and little sisters will have their first opportunity for a get-together on Tuesday afternoon at four o'clock. The annual coke party will be held, weather permitting, on the women's athletic field. This informal gathering will give everyone a good chance to become acquainted with one another.

Lee Seemet is in charge of the coke party, which in the past has proved to be a lot of fun for both freshmen and juniors.

They are a link between the students and the administration. In order to get the most from the opportunities available at the university, the freshmen are urged to take an active interest in the counseling program, attending meetings and giving forth their own ideas.

Chosen to counsel the freshmen women this year are Louise Czajkowski, Audrey Ellis, Filomena

Home Economics Girls To Hold
Open House For New Students

Sunday evening the Home Economics department will hold an Open House for all new students. Freshmen and transfer students will have opportunity to meet members of the Home Ec Club and Home Ec faculty.

The Open House will be held in Alison Hall, the new home economics and education building which will be used for the first time this fall.

The program will feature the introduction of new faculty members, Miss Griffin and Dr. Cheswald. Dr. Cheswald will be teaching research foods, and Miss Griffin is resident advisor of the home management house and also teaches home equipment. The party will start at 8:30, and everyone is urged to attend.

Dot Pierson, president of the Home Ec Club, is in charge of the party, and the committee members are: Betty Mae Snowberger, programs; Joan Russell, publicity; Nancy Prociuous, hospitality; and Dolores Lloyd, refreshments.

To Deliver Address

Tradition will be in the making when the students, administration and faculty of the university gather for Convocation Exercises on Wednesday, September 22, at 9 a.m.

Student participation in the opening exercises has been a principal concern in convocation planning. Dean of Students John E. Hocutt and Dean of Women Bessie B. Collins have addressed letters to student leaders urging them to encourage student attendance, and the class schedule has been adjusted to avoid conflict with the morning program.

President Perkins
To Hold Reception
For New Students

President and Mrs. John A. Perkins will extend a welcome to all new students at their annual tea on Sunday afternoon. The incoming freshmen and transfer students will have an opportunity to meet with Dr. Perkins and his wife and to acquaint themselves with the house directors of the men's and women's dormitories.

The President's reception will take place at the Perkins' home, Belmont Hall, 203 West Main St. In case of inclement weather, the tea will be held in Warner Hall Hilarium.

The tea will begin at 3:45 p. m. for all new students whose last names start with "A" through "M". Students whose last names begin with "N" through "Z" are asked to come at 4:30 p. m.

Mickie Blaine, vice president of the S.G.A., and Dave Menser, president of the S.G.A., will stand with the Perkins to receive the guests.

The following women will pour: Mrs. Joan Livingston, house director of New Castle Hall; Mrs. Elsie B. Lawson, resident director of Sharp Hall; Mrs. John E. Hocutt, wife of the Dean of Students; Mrs. Elizabeth P. Dressner, co-house-director of Smyth Hall; Dean Bessie B. Collins, Dean of Women; and Miss Margaret Black, guidance counselor of the office of the Dean of Students.

George Worrirow
Heads Ag School

George M. Worrirow has been appointed Dean of the School of Agriculture succeeding George L. Schuster, who has retired; G. Fred Somers has been named associate dean of the school.

As an agriculturist, Dr. Worrirow has had published several brochures and booklets on cattle breeding and feeding and an authoritative study of farm leasing systems

'Kick-Off' Dance To Highlight
Opening Of UD Social Season

The "Kick-Off" Dance will officially open the 1954-55 social season with a bang next Saturday night, September 25. Featuring Clyde Bessicks and his combo, well-known on this campus, the dance will be held from 8 to 12 in Carpenter Field House.

Anyone who likes good dance music which gradually "fades" into hot jazz come 11:00 will be sure to circle this date with a red pencil. Clyde Bessicks in his numerous appearances at the Sigma Nu or Sigma Phi Epsilon House has made himself very popular for this sort of music. He will feature five

President John A. Perkins will greet the assembly and deliver the address. Dr. Perkins' theme will be "The Right Answer."

The degree of Doctor of Laws will be conferred upon Mrs. Alfred I. duPont. Dr. Francis H. Squire, Dean of the university and of the School of Arts and Science, will make the citation.

Mrs. duPont has had a distinguished career in higher education. She is a member of the boards of trustees of three institutions in Virginia, Tennessee and Florida; and she has sponsored for several years a scholarship program for students in Delaware, Virginia and Florida. Several students will attend the University of Delaware on scholarships under the program.

Mrs. duPont also sponsors the Alfred I. duPont Foundation, which supports the Alfred I. duPont Institute for crippled children. Other of Mrs. duPont's varied interests include the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation and the Alfred I. duPont Radio Awards Foundation.

The convocation will be held outdoors, if the weather permits, or in Mitchell Hall in case of rain.

Cheering Squad To Hold
Annual Frosh Pep Fest
On Library Steps Tonite

Freshman and transfer students will meet tonight on the south steps of the Memorial Library for the annual freshman pep fest. All new students will get their chance to learn the Delaware cheers and songs which they will use all during the coming year.

The pep fest will start at seven o'clock and will be directed by Bob Horn, head cheerleader for the coming year. Other members of the squad who will be present are Marty Baldwin, Pat Lyons, Nancy Angulo, Ollie Baker, Pete French and Bud Robertson.

The purpose of the pep fest is to acquaint freshmen and transfers with the yells, songs and cheers which make up an important part pieces, including piano, sax, trumpet, drums and guitar.

Making most of the plans for the "Kick-Off" dance are Mike Ferver and Mary Kaleel, president and treasurer of the Junior Class. Working on the various committees are Jean Ryker and Betty Tatnall, publicity; Barbara Taylor, Elise Wise and Marilyn Snair, decorations; and Mary Lou Miles, Doris Dukes, Janet Clay and Pat DeLangh, tickets.

Tickets for the affair will be on sale in the basement of the library next week and also at the door for seventy-five cents.

Director Welcomes Frosh To Smyth Hall

"We must work hard to get the freshmen acquainted and to make them feel at home," said Mrs. Forwood, House Director of Smyth Hall. Mrs. Forwood, a graduate of the University of Delaware, is beginning her seventh year here as a house mother. She has been in Smyth Hall since its opening in December, 1953. Originally from New Rochelle, New York, Mrs. Forwood was a housewife previous to her employment here.

Mrs. Elizabeth P. Dressner has just come to the university this year and will be located in Smyth Hall and Mrs. Forwood. Hailing from Richardson Park, Wilmington, Mrs. Dressner has one daughter. Before this year, Mrs. Dressner was employed by the Wilmington YMCA, where her specialty was recreation and entertainment.

The two housemothers are depending on the Junior counselors to help them get the freshmen organized. In a few weeks elections will be held to choose house councils for the three different units in Smyth. These three units consist of: ground and main floor, Unit A; 2nd floor, Unit B; and 3rd and 4th floor, Unit C.

Each unit will elect its own house council, and the junior counselors will help the officers in taking charge of their duties. "This has to be engineered very carefully," remarked Mrs. Forwood. House meetings will be held separately by the different units since it is practically impossible to fit all 215 girls in the same room; however, occasionally this will be done.

The Junior counselors in Smyth Hall have chosen Dorothy Brugge to be advisory head of house in order to help the freshmen officers fulfill their duties. Also, each freshman officer will have a junior to guide her.

In order to get the girls acquainted faster, Mrs. Dressner is planning to have a contest to see who can learn the names of every girl in the dorm first.

Nineteen of the 215 girls which Smyth accommodates arrived on campus Monday in order to be here for the testing on Tuesday. The rest of the freshman girls arrived Wednesday. Among the freshmen in Smyth will be 34 Junior Counselors.

Smyth Hall gets its name from Alice P. Smyth, who was one of the founders of the Women's College at Delaware. The College was opened in 1914 through the efforts of Alice P. Smyth and a group of her friends, including Mrs. A. D. Warner, from whom Warner Hall gets its name.

Delaware Student Hails From Utah

baggage. He has come about the longest distance of any of the American students. A freshman residing in Brown Hall, Bob chose the University of Delaware for studying Chemical Engineering.

Previously from Salem, New Jersey, he attended Salem High. From there he moved on to Atlanta, Georgia, and later, to Salt Lake City. It was while living in Salem that he first became vaguely acquainted with the U. of D. It was while living in Utah, however,

Old System Changes As University Dining Halls Initiate Cafeteria Style

With the change in the dining system to cafeteria style, student dining hall jobs have also undergone a change.

There is a new system for purchase of meal tickets and compensation for working. Theoretically, each employee will be charged for a full board meal ticket this year, but the worker may make arrangements with the Business office to apply earnings toward the cost of the ticket. The students will be compensated at the rate of 90 cents per hour, making it possible for them to earn the entire $200 per semester.

In comparison to the 83 regular employees last year, there will be only 45 this year.

Similar to last year, there will be an approved list of substitute dining hall employees to fill in for the regular workers. A major change in this arrangement, however, is that the substitutes will be paid at the same rate as the regular workers for the hours they put in.

Employees will be required to work at least one banquet or other special food service event during the school year. Their compensation for this work will be at the rate of $1.00 per hour.

Following a plan much like that of previous years will be the rules governing absenteeism, weekend work and the duties and responsibilities of the employees. The student will be responsible for complying with the published schedule and must adhere to the prescribed personal standards.

Memorial Library Alters Orientation Program For '54

The library is also undergoing changes in its activities for freshman along with other changes in the Freshman Week program. There will be no general talks to the students about the library due to the shorter orientation period.

Instead of the freshman English classes being taken in small bodies for tours and talks on the library, the staff hopes to be working more closely with the English Department. These changes, still in the early stage, will be made in conjunction with the changes in the Freshman English program.

The library has also been undergoing some other changes. Two new staff members have been added. Mr. Robert N. Cohee, U. of D., '51, and also a graduate of Drexel Institute School of Library Science, has been added as Assistant Reference Librarian and half-time Cataloguer. Mr. Richard C. Quick, graduate of Kenyon College and the Library School of Western Reserve University, will be heading the Circulation Division.

Book Plate Collection

Mr. Lewis, head of the library, has been working on the collection of approximately 13,000 mounted book plates, gift from the estate of Mrs. Augusta Lamotte Brewer. These are being indexed according to artist, owner in classification such as historian, type of plate, etc. Open for student inspection, they will probably also be shown on exhibits when the work is completed.

University To Furnish Dormitory Linen In '54

Dormitory residents at the university will not be required to supply their own linen this year, according to an announcement by Dean of Students, John E. Hocutt.

Under a plan initiated this semester by the university, students in the dormitories will be furnished with sheets, pillow cases and towels. The cost of this new service will be included in the general dormitory fee, but the fee will not be raised.

"Dormitory Linen Clerks" will be appointed from among the students in the various dormitories to administer the program. These clerks will be paid for their services.

The linen will be a loan from the university, and students will be held responsible for lost articles.

Women's Handbook Acts As Co-Eds Emily Post

Delaware co-eds will not be consulting Emily Post this year for the solution to their campus social problems, thanks to the Women's Executive Council. All the answers will be provided by the W. E. C.'s Handbook for Women.

Published annually by the W. E. C., the Handbook has become a way of introducing new students to the facts, traditions and history of the university, as well as serving as a reference book for upperclass women.

Each year the Handbook features the major and minor changes in the system of women's affairs, concerning the rules and regulations and the do's and don'ts of a successful college life.

Among other things, the Handbook includes information on dormitory living, financial matters, class privileges and the "things to know."

Dining Halls' Experiments Prove Novelty To Students

Tables placed in long rows instead of setting separately, water coolers, milk dispensers, a freshly painted kitchen and cafeteria style instead of family style are some of the alterations which greet the students as they enter the dining halls.

"The cafeteria style will not only be more economical for the university and enable us to know how many to cook for," commented dietician Hazel S. Morris, "but will produce quicker service for the students, more variety in the menu and more equal servings for all. The students must be patient and remember that everything is in an experimental stage, and changes will be made when needed."

UD Publications Offer Opportunities To Frosh

The University of Delaware has many publications which are of interest to all the students. The following describes some of these publications.

The yearbook of the University of Delaware, The Blue Hen, is an annual publication which describes in words and pictures the activities of Delaware students during the year. This volume comes out every spring and is much sought after by all of the students. Jacob Smith, a senior business major, is this year's editor, and Richard Greenstein, a senior political science major, is this year's business manager. Other members of the staff include: JoAnne Wood, senior editor; Dick Knoll and Charles Willis, boys' sports editors; David Fehsenfeld, photography editor; Stan Crewe, art editor; and Donald Williamson, junior editor.

The Needle and Haystack is an annual magazine published through the joint efforts of the members of the schools of agriculture and home economics. This year's editor is Bob Hastings, Ag '55. Other members of the staff include: Mike Fervor, business manager; and Burt Evans, advertising manager.

The undergraduate weekly of the University of Delaware is the Review.

They should keep in mind that the cafeteria is a 'self-busing' project, and students should remove their dishes from the table in order to make places for other diners. Unlike last year, there will be no assigned tables."

Meal tickets will be checked at the end of the line instead of at the beginning. This project may eventually lead into a commercial type cafeteria where one pays cash instead of using a meal ticket.

As bids were not taken for the renovations until August 1, and work was not started until August 15, not as much has been changed as hoped for. Next summer the kitchen will be fixed to "match" the cafeteria area.

With the self-service style, the number of waiters and waitresses has almost been cut in half; where there were eighty-three last year, only forty five are serving this year.

The new schedule is as follows: Monday through breakfast Saturday: breakfast, 7 to 8:30; lunch, 11:30 to 1:30; dinner, 5 to 6:30. Saturday lunch, 12 to 1; dinner 5:30 to 6:30. Sunday breakfast, 8:30 to 9:30; lunch, 12:30 to 1:30; and dinner, 4:30 to 6:30.

Welcome, Freshmen

Travel Advice

Welcome, freshmen! We hope that our greeting has not become too stale on this third day of Freshman Week, because we are sincere.

Welcome to college life and to the Delaware campus. We hope that your stay here will be profitable and memorable. On both counts, it's up to you.

Delaware is a good university, and the quality of the education it offers is high; but unless that offering is thoughtfully accepted it has no meaning. You and your families are paying for your journey through the realm of higher education, and your reward will come only from careful observation along the way. Those who seek out only the tourist-traps will complete their travels with little but a thin wallet and a fleeting sensation of having missed something.

However, all work and no play makes Jack a dull bookworm, a dreary fate at best. Student organizations and social activities provide a healthy and creative outlet for tired intellects, provided the initial impulse is healthy.

So there you are, college life compartmented and analyzed. At times it will not seem so simple, but the axioms are broad enough to apply almost universally.

Now let us stop wagging our editorial finger and say again—Welcome!

R. C. C.

The Newest Answer

To An Old Problem

Like all cities, large and small, Newark has a parking problem. The increase in the number of cars on American roads since the end of World War II has overloaded both the streets and highways of the nation, but the urban situation has become especially acute due to the limited amount of parking space at the curb. Large cities like New York and Los Angeles have tried to ease the overcrowding with off-street parking facilities. Newark has made some effort in the same direction.

Newark's parking problem, however, is aggravated by a phenomenon that is peculiar to small college towns. This is the large number of student owned cars that appear on the streets each fall at registration time. Over a period of years, both the town and the university have attempted to solve their mutual parking difficulties. To date no solution has proved effective. The students have had their share in these deliberations through the S.G.A., but their ideas have helped no more than the others.

As a result of this stalemate, the university has found it necessary to impose restrictions on the ownership of automobiles by students. Delaware is by no means unique in this respect. At present only freshmen students have been denied the privilege of bringing cars to school; many colleges impose this regulation on the entire student body. The university's new parking regulations, therefore, are moderate compared to those other schools trying to solve the same problem.

We hope that those freshmen who have been accustomed to the luxury of operating their own automobiles will understand the reasons for the university's actions and will comply with the parking regulations with a cooperative

New Development Sharp Hall Falls To Feminine Rule

The new resident director of Sharp Hall, Mrs. Elsie B. Lawson, has plenty of ideas on how to handle the University of Delaware men who will come under her advisorship at the university this year.

Mrs. Lawson, who previously worked with the YWCA in New Jersey, said, "Don't worry about me, I know what I am getting into."

After working with the YWCA for many years, Mrs. Lawson took a position as a men's dormitory advisor at the University of Connecticut. She came to Delaware from Connecticut because her son lives in Wilmington.

Mrs. Lawson has been in Sharp Hall since September 4, when the football team started practice. In her ten days here, she has noticed many things. She said, "I'm glad, this is a small school and the students are individuals, not numbers." One of the assets at Delaware, according to the director, is the fact that the dorms have floor advisors, who can be a lot of help.

She said, "I feel that if everyone cooperates . . . all the way around . . . we will have a happy dorm." Mrs. Lawson is impressed with the officials at the university, who, in her words, have "gone out of their way to help."

The new house "mother" at Sharp occupies two rooms on the south west corner of the dormitory. While she was being interviewed by the Review, she also handed out room keys to the incoming freshmen.

She said "I thought the football players would be noisy and loud when I came, but they have been very quiet." Mrs. Lawson commented, "I guess their coach puts them through a rigorous training schedule, because they have to be in bed at 10 o'clock and up at 6:30."

of New Castle County and has been active in 4-H Club work. Beside holding several posts outside the state, he is secretary of the Delaware State Poultry Commission and is a member of the Governor's Committee on the Reorganization of the State Government.

Professor Worriow, who has been on the staff of the university since 1927, was recently honored by the University of Maryland, his Alma Mater, with the degree of Doctor of Agriculture.

Dr. Somers, recipient of the Rhodes Scholarship, two other scholarships and a graduate fellowship, came to the university in 1951. He is the co-author of two books and over twenty scientific articles.

Student Band Members Attend Three - Day Rehearsal At Camp

The University of Delaware marching band spent three days of practicing at a camp on the Chesapeake Bay this week in preparation for coming appearances. The 60-piece band arrived at Camp Tockwog on September 13.

Both veteran band members and incoming freshmen attended the concentrated program of basic marching drill and marching music. The pre-term outing, unique among Easter Colleges, was started three years ago at Delaware by Mr. King.

This pre-semester, according to Director King, has helped to prepare instrumental group for football game performances and the freshman concert. The new freshmen also had a chance to get a taste of college life before freshman week started.

The camp site offered the students cottages, a large dining hall, a recreation hall for playing rehearsal, area for marching practice and opportunities for swimming and entertainment. The band camp schedule included marching and playing rehearsals in both the morning and the afternoon.

In order to offer the early practice to freshmen as well as upperclassmen, Mr. King screened the university admission applications early last spring. After receiving verification of the musical capabilities of the college applicants, the musical director extended invitations to join the university marching band. Through this process, about ninety per cent of all freshmen who join the band have been admitted.

Progress achieved at the band camp will help prepare the musical organization for a season of football half-time appearances, tours and concerts in the coming college year. Also, a concert will be presented with the University of Delaware band and the duPont Employees Band in the Wilmington Playhouse on October 31. This program will be directed by Mr. E. Russell, conductor of the duPont Employees Band, and Mr. King.

Additional Delaware band functions will include appearances at each of the home University of Delaware football games, a tour of high schools of the state, two indoor concerts and two outdoor concerts in May.

Freshmen Dental Students To Take Tests October 1, 2

Dental aptitude tests for 1955 freshmen dental students will be given on October 1 and 2. Applications from students interested in taking this series of tests, which will be given twice more during this academic year, must be received by the Dental Education Association in Chicago, September 17.

The tests, which are required of all prospective dental students, will be conducted in approximately fifty colleges and universities throughout the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii and in all of the nation's dental schools.

The aptitude programs, which measure intelligence, manual dexterity and ability to visualize basic geometric patterns, have reduced the national average of scholastic failure in the dental schools from ten per cent in 1946 to two per cent in 1953.

Further information about the program and applications may be obtained either from dental schools or from the Council on Dental Education, 222 East Superior Street, Chicago 11, Illinois.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By DAVE TOMPKINS

Welcome Frosh!

Help! Put down that freshman handbook!! Don't hit me!!! Whew, that was close. I know just how you feel. It was one year ago that I was in your shoes. I was welcomed so much and by so many people that it got down right sickening after a while. But it is the only way the upper-classmen and the administration have of making you all feel at home in our one big happy family which is the University of Delaware.

We of the sports staff sincerely hope that you find the sports program here at Delaware a truly rewarding experience. The athletic instructors are top grade, well trained and friendly. Both on the athletic fields and in your physical education classes, you'll be meeting head coach and athletic director, "Admiral" Dave Nelson, "Mike" Lude, "Whiz" Wisniewski, "Tubby" Raymond, "Sully" Sullivan, Harry "Mr. Swim" Rawstrum, Roy "Racket Squad" Rylander, Ken Steers, Bob "Diamond Dust" Siemen, "Whitey" Burnham and "Rocky" Carzo. You couldn't find a finer bunch of guys anywhere.

Admiral Dave Nelson begins his fourth season as head coach of the Blue Hens this year. In three previous years, under his direction, the Blue and Gold teams have been victorious 16 times and have lost but 8 times. In compiling this record, they have never been shut out.

Delaware is a member of the Eastern College Athletic Conference, the largest collegiate athletic conference in the nation with a membership of 100 colleges. The E.C.A.C. membership takes in eleven states and the District of Columbia.

Led by Captain Dan Ford, Delaware's 1954 team will have size, speed, depth and experience. No less than fifteen lettermen are vying for starting positions. Some sophomores to watch:

Bart Wenrich—can throw the long pass

Jim Shelton—fast

Bob Moneymaker—good play maker

Tommy Thomas—should see action later in season

For all those freshmen that find it hard to break away from high school, just remember: You are now a member of the Delaware family.

Football Practice Draws 57 Frosh; Plan Scrimmage Against Varsity

A near-record number of freshman football candidates turned out last Wednesday afternoon for the season's first practice. A grand total of 57 boys reported to coach Jim Sullivan and his aides, Rocky Carzo and Charlie Sullivan.

If this is an indication of things to come, it appears that the frosh team will equal or better last year's 4-1 record. The main problem at present is an excess of backfield material which may have to be shifted to fill gaps in the line.

The freshman squad will continue intensive training and within the next two weeks will hold an exhibition scrimmage with the varsity team.

Delaware's Fighting Blue Hen Eleven To Open Rugged 9-Game Season Against West Chester

A DELAWARE INTERCEPTION during last year's West Chester game. The Hens hope to repeat this play many times in next Saturday's clash with the Rams.

Carzo, Former Football Star To Coach Freshman Backfield

Rocco J. Carzo, June graduate and former Blue Hen varsity fullback, has been awarded a graduate assistantship and coaching position here at the university, announced David M. Nelson, director of athletics.

Carzo, 22 years old of Woodlyn, Pa., assumed the task of freshman backfield coach when the team reported on September 15. In addition, the ex-gridiron star will instruct classes in a required physical education program.

Carzo, already familiar with head coach Nelson's brand of college football, will train the first year men with the techniques already in force in the Delaware varsity. When questioned about the latest addition to the coaching staff, head coach Nelson replied, "I think he's going to do a good job. He's a student of the game, and is interested in coaching." Nelson noted the Lehigh game of 1953, when Carzo scored twice, as one of the fullback's best appearances.

One of the outstanding things about him, remarked Nelson, is that he did exceptionally well for his size, since the Hen fullback weighed in at a scant 167 pounds.

James V. Sullivan, freshman coach and Carzo's immediate superior, was full of praise for the new coach. "I've known Rocky for three years, and I know that he will be an asset to the team and to me. I'm sure that the backfield candidates will be able to gain a lot of knowledge that they will be able to use in the varsity."

Carzo's best year in collegiate football was in the 1952 season when he led the entire Delaware squad in rushing, earning an average of 4.56 yards per carry, from 103 carries netting 470 yards. The Woodlyn junior placed third in scoring with three touchdowns and fifth in pass receiving, catching four for a total of 66 yards and one extra point.

Last season, though handicapped by a brace protecting a dislocated shoulder, Carzo ranked fifth in the Mythical Middle Six conference in scoring with a total of 24 points. He ranked fourth in rushing among the Blue Hens with 63 carries for a net gain of 177 yards. The four passes, one for a touchdown, which Carzo caught in 1953 placed him seventh on the list of Delaware pass receivers.

In his first season with the Hen varsity, Carzo led the squad in rushing, his 7.0 yards per carry average stemming from 27 carries with a net gain of 189 yards. The new Delaware coach also placed fourth in punting in 1951, with eight punts enveloping 246 yards.

Carzo was recently married to the former Miss Terry McDermott of Chester, Pa. Mr. and Mrs. Carzo reside at 76 N. Chapel Street.

Charlie Sullivan has once again been appointed Frosh line coach this year. Sullivan, although still a student on campus, is also a student of the game. He played on the varsity squads during the 1951 and 1952 seasons. A head injury during the latter season ended his football playing career.

Opponents of the 1954 frosh team include Lehigh, Lafayette, Villanova and Temple.

Blue Hen Of The Week

With this issue, the Blue Hen of The Week inaugurates its third year of honoring the top student sports personality. Although the first football game of the season has not been played, it is fitting to honor at this time a student who has already been very instrumental in the organization of the football team as well as showing outstanding football ability during spring practices — Captain Dan Ford.

Being one of the few athletes to have received letters in three consecutive seasons under Coach Dave Nelson, Ford was a former captain of the Pottsville Catholic High School team in Pottstown, Pa. During his freshman year, he was one of the few capable enough to break into the starting varsity lineup — freshman then allowed to do so.

Ford played for four years on the high school gridiron and in the 1950 North-South All-Star Game at Ashland, Pa. In the same year he won the Pottsville Lions Club Award as the most valuable senior member of the squad.

Last year Ford returned to his fullback position, after a need for ends caused him to be shifted from the backfield during the 1952 season. As a junior, Ford was the team's third leading ground gainer in rushing with 194 yards gained

Last Year's Loss Spurs Hen Team Toward Victory

Next Saturday's game with West Chester State Teachers College will top off a rugged nine game gridiron schedule which faces the Fighting Blue Hen eleven during the 1954 season.

The Hens will be out to avenge the 27-13 setback handed them by West Chester in last year's skirmish, Delaware's lone football defeat. The Rams will again be coached by wily Glenn Killinger and directed on the field by John McAnaney, who was picked at quarterback on the Blue Hens' All-Opponent team in 1953.

Pre-season indications seem to favor the Hens this year. The Rams' backfield, with the exception of the quarterback slot, was virtually left vacant after graduation last June. Delaware appears to have an overbalance of backs this year, including Little All-American quarterback Don Miller from Prospect Park, Pa. Coach Dave Nelson has found it necessary to switch some of the excess backfield talent to end and guard positions, where the Hens are weak.

Captain Dan Ford, a veteran player and a bruising runner, will be the number one fullback. He will be counted on for his individual performance and inspirational team leadership.

Jimmy Zaiser and Jimmy Flynn, two speedy scabbards who accounted for over half the yardage gained on the ground by the entire Delaware team last year and scored 83 of the 201 total points, will also be welcome returnees.

Steve Butcher, the powerful all-around sports star will seek his regular left tackle position, while Nick Mergo, who served as alternate for Butcher and Captain Johnny Borreson last season, is expected to take over at right tackle.

Other veterans from the '53 season who will probably receive starting assignments this year are centers, Frank Gyetvan and Lenny Williams; ends, Tom Redfield and Marty Apostolico; guard, Bob Trivits; and back, Andy Wagner.

From the sophomore ranks come Bart Wenrich, a capable understudy for Miller, Carmen Cella, Johnny Oberg, Bob Moneymaker, Jim "Duke" Shelton, Ed Malinowski and Tommy Thomas. All these, plus veterans Tony Candeloro, Vince Grande, Reds Regan and Bob Hooper, will provide the much needed reserve depth for the Delaware squad this season.

The West Chester game will be played at Delaware Stadium next Saturday, September 25 at 2 p.m. Tickets may be secured at the athletic office next week.

Sullivan Slated To Coach Frosh Grid Candidates

Freshman football candidates will have the opportunity to learn more than football during the coming season under Coach James V. Sullivan, recipient of the degree of Master of Education at last June's commencement exercises.

A Navy veteran, "Sully" graduated from the University of Maine in 1951 where he captained the defensive team then coached by his present boss, Dave Nelson. After serving as equipment supervisor and general coaching assistant, Sullivan became head coach of freshman grid teams and in two years has posted an enviable record of 7-2-1.

Special shoulder pads which he designed are being manufactured by the MacGregor Sporting Goods Company and will be used by a number of high school and college teams in 1954.

DAN FORD, this week's Blue Hen of the Week.

Pre-Season Forecast Shows Top Year For Hen Gridders

Pre-season predictions by the nation's leading sportswriters indicate a top season for the University of Delaware's 1954 football team. Foremost among the predictions was a team breakdown in Street and Smith's Football by Jesse Abramson, New York Herald Tribune sports reporter. This list placed Delaware eleventh among eastern independents.

The Blue Hens were preceded on the list by Villanova, Fordham, Boston University, Syracuse, Colgate, Holy Cross, Boston College, Navy, Penn State and the great Army team in the number one spot.

In successive paragraphs, the sportswriter states that, "New Hampshire, defending its share of the Yankee Conference title, also is packed with veterans, particularly in the line, while Delaware, in the Middle Six, has its team virtually intact, too." He further adds, "The Blue Hens may hatch an unbeaten team."

The 1954 Schedule and Selector's Chart, also appearing in Street and Smith's Football, favors Delaware to win every game on its schedule.

The Official Collegiate Football Record Book, an NCAA publication, omitted the Blue Hens from the list of thirteen "major eastern independents." Temple, appearing at Delaware Stadium on October 9, received a number seven billing.

The NCAA review of the Yankee Conference teams stated that "New Hampshire has a veteran squad back, but had a winless freshman team. Connecticut has many good holdovers and has a good crop of sophomores." Both New Hampshire and Connecticut were victims of the Hens' 1953 onslaught, 48-0 and 30-7.

Stanley Woodward's Football states that "Delaware is considered the likely champions of the mythical Middle Six..." Coach Dave Nelson, the old Michigan player, who is beginning his fourth year at Delaware, has a top quarterback, Don Miller, to make his wing-T offense work.

Miller was also mentioned by Collier's when Francis Wallace in his football preview remarked, "The fighting Blue Hens of Delaware will again be spurred by Don Miller, a potential Little All-American quarterback." Wallace also lists Lafayette, Delaware's opponent on November 13, as the best of the small Pennsylvania colleges.

A successful season for the 1954 Delaware football team will rank Head Coach David M. Nelson among the top coaches of the university's football career. As he enters his fourth season as coach of the Delaware varsity, Nelson sports a winning average of .667. This figure places him third in the list of Delaware and opponents, being surpassed only by Coach Glenn Killinger of West Chester and Coach John Yovicin of Gettysburg.

The son of Mr. Dan P. Ford of Pottsville, Ford is now a senior in the School of Arts and Science and maintained Dean's List average during the past semester. He is vice president of the Theta Chi Fraternity, senior class representative to the S.G.A. and has served as secretary of Sharp Hall as a member of the house council.

He is also a member of the Newman and Varsity Clubs and held the office of treasurer of the training house when the football team was quartered there in past seasons.

German Republic Educators Offer Jobs To Graduates

Opportunities to teach English in the secondary schools of the Federal Republic of Germany are open to American graduate students or teachers under the Educational Exchange Program conducted by the Department of State. It was announced today by Mr. Kenneth Holland, President of the Institute of International Education, 1 East 67th Street, New York City.

Under the German assistantship program American students will serve as assistants to teachers of English and will be assigned to institutions in German cities. Successful candidates will have an opportunity to gain teaching experience and at the same time to undertake courses of study or research at German universities.

Awards are for the 1955-56 academic year. The closing date for application is November 1, 1954.

Basic requirements for the assistantship awards are: United States citizenship; A bachelor's degree, or its equivalent, by the time the award is taken up; working knowledge of the German language; and good health.

Assistants selected for this project usually will not teach regular classes, but will conduct conversational exercises and sponsor English clubs and workshops on American history and literature.

The U.S. Educational Commission in the Federal Republic of Germany would prefer for these posts young Americans with some teaching experience and a Master's degree. Candidates with preparation in the fields of English or history are desired. Applicants should have broad experience in extracurricular as well as academic activities and should be well informed about American history, institutions and educational practices.

spirit. We also hope that the fraternities will take heed of the warning implied in the comments contained in the regulations concerning the overcrowding the neighborhood streets and the car-lot appearance of fraternity houses. We are all familiar with the parking difficulties in Newark. If the freshmen and fraternity men do not do their best to help the university with these new regulations, there is an excellent possibility that further restrictions may be imposed in the near future. Nobody wants to see this happen. The students themselves have it in their power to prevent it. This is a fine opportunity for the students to take some of the responsibility which the Review feels should be theirs at all times.

Hugh Pendexter Writes For National Magazine

Hugh Pendexter III, instructor of English at the University of Delaware, is the author of a humorous feature story in the August issue of the national magazine, "Popular Dogs."

Dr. Pendexter describes the exploits of his seventy pound, black Standard Poodle in amusing fashion in "Hannibal Goes to College," a description of his poodle's introduction to students and professors on the campus of the University of Delaware.

A graduate of Bowdoin, Dr. Pendexter received his M. A. degree from Northwestern and his Ph. D. degree last September from the University of Pennsylvania. While working toward his doctor's degree, he was a graduate assistant at the University of Pennsylvania and his teaching experiences include a membership on the faculty of the Wilmington Friends School from 1947-51. Since his appointment to the Delaware teaching staff, Dr. Pendexter has taught literature and composition.

Extension Division Lauds 15 Students On 3.5 Honor Roll

Fifteen students enrolled in courses offered through the University of Delaware's Extension Division have been cited for outstanding scholastic achievement during the past semester.

The roster of select students is similar to the dean's list issued for undergraduates except that a 3.50 index is required for the extension students as compared to 3.00 for the regular day scholars.

Those who made the required average in the final semester of 1953-54 (based on six or more credit hours) were:

4.00—Raymond E. Hollis, 254 Wilson Street, Harve de Grace, Maryland; Harriet C. Burris, Clayton, Delaware; Loren A. Higman, Jr., 3830 Katherine Avenue, Dunlinden Acres, Wilmington 8, Delaware; Edwin J. Mears, 164 Winder Road, Garfield Park, New Castle, Delaware; Ethel C. Wright, 1 East Milby Street, Harrington, Delaware.

3.66—Harold P. Burdick, 711 Woodtop Road, Newport, Delaware.

3.57—Artus Vatvars, 2206 Sconset Road, Ardentown, Wilm. 3, Del.

3.50—Andrew H. Betley, 915 Linden St., Wilm., Del.; David E. Brandiff, 149 Sherron Ave., R. D. 2, Salem, N. J.; Gladys K. Henry, Laurel, Del.; Virginia C. Morrow, Felton, Del.; James W. Porter, 512 West 36th St., Wilm., Del.; Betty Jane Brown, 901 W. 23rd St., Wilm., Del.; Grace P. Collison, Marydel, Del.; and Audrey W. DePrisco, 1404 Lincoln Ave., Silverside Heights, Wilmington, Delaware.

Bob's main academic interests are science and math. Extra-curricular ones include his hobby, boating, and golf, about which he modestly claims, "not par though." The main outside information he will divulge about himself is that he has "really seen the United States, 39 of the 48 states," and has spent a day and a night at Las Vegas.

"My only real look at the university was quite a few years ago, so I almost forget what it looks like," said Bob during the summer. "What I expect is an average size college with brick buildings in a small college town." Quite true—as for appearance. We wonder what other ideas he has formed by this time.

Denver Initiates Plan To Improve Fraternity Grades

Denver, Colo. (IP)—The Interfraternity Council at the University of Denver will inaugurate a new plan, approved last spring by the IFC, for improving grades within the fraternities. A committee composed of representatives from all Denver University fraternities will send out blanks to all professors having fraternity men in their classes.

These blanks will be filled out with names of individual fraternity men. The professors will fill in the grade the man is making at the time, the grade he is capable of, and any other remarks. These blanks will be sent back to the committee.

The slips will be evaluated by the committee according to the professor, as well as according to the individual fraternities. The committee members will then form plans for raising the grades of their respective fraternities. They will report the plans to the Interfraternity council for approval.

According to the plan, the 1.5 grade average that is now required for fraternities and sororities at the University of Denver will remain the same. Blanks sent out will name the fraternity man in question, the course and the course number.

In a letter sent out to the university professors, the committee said in part: "Our individual fraternity scholarship chairman will be able to work personally with his own fraternity and report your findings to the interfraternity committee. In our planning we felt reluctant to ask this service of you, but we feel the ultimate results will be of great value.
