NEWARK, DELAWARE, THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1931

NUMBER 41

"GREAT GUNS," SPONSORED BY LEGION GREAT SUCCESS

Conceded by the Audiences as the Best Amateur Show Ever Staged in Newark

"Great Guns," the Musical Revue, presented by the American Legion, in the State Theatre, November 2 and 3, was a big success. The production was under the personal direction of Charles S. Morgan, Jr., of Philadelphia.

The Aevue contained two broadsides with twenty-eight salvos and had a cast of seventy-five. The opening chorus, "Great Guns," was followed by the introduction of the Elements of the Revue, Wayne C. Brewer and Legion Hussars leading them—jazz, girls, music, rhythm, harmony, beauty—men, comedy, style, syncope, each following in their turn.

Mrs. John R. Fader was "Miss Legionnaire." The Footlights Club of the University presented a sketch, "Copy"—and three of their number did a specialty act. The Juvenile Ballet, led by Doris Smith, was a very beautiful number—as was the Moonbeam Girls, led by Mary Louise Pleasanton and Harry Williamson. Vera McCall, of the Women's College, gave a Specialty Dance, which received much applause.

"Beyond the Law," "Credit," "What's Wrong with this Picture," "Sense and Nonsense," "Court Room Sketches," "Phoney Talks," "Songs"—with John Fader, Paul Griffith, Alice Sullivan, Harold Sheaffer, Doc Skinner, T. A. Baker, Florence Fader, Harry Williamson, Ray Buckingham, Grif Moore, Con Lewis, Marian Griffin, Lester Scotten, Mrs. J. Q. Smith, Lee Lewis, Edna Dickey, Wayne Brewer, Wesley Dempsey, taking part.

"The Butterfly Ballet," by Con Lewis, Orville Little, L. Scotten, Frank Baling, Allyn Cooch and Doc Skinner, afforded the audience much amusement. "Harvest Moon," by Miss Pleasanton, Bob Strahorn and Harry Williamson, was favorably received, as was the dance number of Mr. and Mrs. J. Q. Smith.

The Revue concluded with a grand finale with the entire cast ensembled.

HALLOWEEN PRANKS CAUSES CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE OVER TOWN

A group of boys ranging in ages from 14 to 20, did considerable damage in the Orchard Road section and vicinity and other parts of the town Saturday night. The Post received several complaints this week and the parties calling complained there was more damage done this year than in any other year. They were not satisfied with taking signs and so forth, but wilfully destroyed property; and in one particular instance a bird bath was deliberately broken into about 100 pieces. We don't believe there is anyone in Newark who would interfere with the youngsters' pranks, but when they begin wilfully to destroy property, which damage runs into $40 and $50 to each individual, it is time to call a halt.

We would suggest that next year extra police be put on to bring this kind of so-called fun to a halt. There is an effort being made to locate the parties responsible for the damages this year and if caught they will be dealt with according to the law.

Alumni To Observe Saturday As Home Coming Day

With Swarthmore College as their opponents, Saturday of this week, will be observed by the alumni of Delaware College, University of Delaware, as Home Coming Day on the football schedule. The game will be started at 2 o'clock. Governor Buck has been invited to attend as a guest of the university.

Plans are being made to make this the greatest day in the history of athletics at the university and if favored by clear weather there is every reason to believe the largest crowd by several thousand that has ever witnessed a game on Frazer Field, Newark, will be on hand for the battle. Swarthmore and Delaware have been friendly rivals for more than a quarter of a century and the Little Quakers always attract a large crowd, but nothing compared with the crowd looked for on Saturday. Last year, for the first time in many years, Delaware defeated Swarthmore, and the team is hoping to repeat this victory.

In view of the great games played by Delaware against both Rutgers and the Navy more interest is being manifested in the Blue and Gold football team than ever before.

Anticipating a record crowd, athletic officials of the university have made arrangements to install about 3000 additional seats for this game. These plans will provide for a total of nearly 6000 seats and it is expected several thousands more will stand up along the terrace and the south side of the field.

Special features to interest the crowds are also being arranged. The band will be out in new uniforms and the cheering sections will lend a colorful appearance to the occasion.

Saturday of next week P. M. C. will play at Newark and will be the last home game of the season. The regular collegiate schedule for Delaware will close Saturday, November 21, when Delaware plays Haverford at Haverford, but after that there will be a game possibly with Washington College for the aid of the unemployed.

ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL STARTS ARMISTICE DAY

Judge Hugh M. Morris, Former Federal Court Judge, Chairman, in Charge

The annual roll call of the Delaware Chapter of the American Red Cross will start on Armistice Day and will be continued until Thanksgiving Day. Judge Hugh M. Morris, former judge of the Federal Court in Wilmington, is the general chairman in charge, and a number of volunteer workers throughout the State will give their services during this time to the work of renewing subscriptions and obtaining new members.

The work of the Red Cross is wide and varied. Disaster relief is the chief aim of the national organization and local chapters take up various other activities to aid citizens of their communities. One of the principal activities in Delaware is life-saving and swimming. During the summer classes in these departments were held throughout the State in several towns and a number of persons received certificates.

Last year the American Red Cross issued 52,798 life-saving certificates. This represents an increase of 5,900 persons or 12 1/2 per cent over the preceding year. Every day 20 drownings occur, an average of 7,000 to 8,000 a year. Water safety is being advanced by the Red Cross through life-saving classes, demonstrations and individual instruction.

"Within the last few years there has developed throughout the country a tremendous interest in swimming and other water activities," says a statement issued by the Playground and Recreational Association of America. "Among the factors responsible for this interest are the increased number of pools, the greater accessibility of beaches and natural bathing facilities, due to the automobile, the emphasis on swimming in school, college and playground programs and the effective work of the American Red Cross through its life-saving division."

"People are no longer content with the ability merely to stay afloat in the water, but are anxious to learn the proper strokes and become proficient in water activities."

The automobile facilitates outdoor recreation, and all public bathing places have doubled and tripled the patronage they had formerly, so while the number of accidents remains much the same, there undoubtedly has been a great decrease in the percentage of fatalities in comparison with the number of participating in water sports.

Deaths by drowning are unusually high in the early spring months, largely due to the fact that persons go swimming in water that is too cold, and in places where supervision by life-saving experts has not yet begun. The largest number of deaths by drowning occur in the age groups below 25, the greatest percentage being males between 15 and 19, and the second greatest, males between 10 and 14.

Red Cross life-saving instruction emphasizes not only methods of rescue and resuscitation, but also the dangers of swimming in hazardous ponds, pools and creeks where there is no supervision; in swimming alone; and in the attempted rescue of the drowning by any other than one qualified to perform a rescue.

Newark Schools To Observe American Education Week, Next Week

As previously announced the Newark Schools are preparing to observe American Education Week, November 9 to 12. This observation is in co-operation with the State Department of Public Instruction, the National Education Association, the United States Office of Education and the American Legion.

It will be remembered that the first American Education Week was observed in 1921. The idea of a nationwide observance of a program planned to interpret the needs, aims, and achievements of the schools to the American Public, grew out of a series of conferences which began in 1919 between the Americanism Commission of the American Legion and officers and committees of the National Education Association.

The general plan of the week and suggestions for its observance are planned by a joint committee of the American Legion, the United States Office of Education and the National Education Association, with special adaptation for each state and community.

What the Schools are Helping America to Achieve is the theme for 1931.

The themes for the several days follow. Monday, November 9—What the Schools are Helping America to Achieve in Child Health and Protection.

The Market Basket

Family Food Guide

Every Meal—Milk for children, bread for all.

Every Day—Cereal in porridge pudding; potatoes; tomatoes (or oranges) for children; a green or yellow vegetable; a fruit or additional vegetable; milk for all.

Two to Four Times a Week—Tomatoes for all; dried beans and peas or peanuts; eggs (especially for children) lean meat, fish or poultry and cheese.

Winter Vegetables in Low-Cost Meals
The time has come, in many parts of the country, to give thought to winter vegetables. Nutritionists of the Bureau of Home Economics particularly emphasize one bit of advice to families with slender pocketbooks: "The fewer kinds of food in the diet, the more important it is that some of them should be vegetables."

Vegetables, then, must be included in the low-cost food supply if it is to be adequate. Then what have we this week? Fortunately, some of the best winter vegetables are among the cheapest kinds reported in current price lists. Potatoes, sweet potatoes, carrots, turnips, onions, and cabbage are first on the list because they provide exceptional food value at low cost. Then there are parsnips, beets, kohlrabi and winter squashes and pumpkins, with canned tomatoes, kale, spinach, and sauer kraut to give the tang that tickles the palate and adds more minerals and vitamins. There are, also, just now the half-dried beans and peas that sometimes appear in market, vines and all. There are, in any case, the dried beans, and peas, which are so very useful, as well as appetizing, because of their minerals and proteins.

A medium-sized potato, baked or boiled, has a fuel value of about 100 calories. It has also some protein or muscle-building value, some iron, and some vitamin C, all of which are important because we eat potatoes in quantity. To retain their food value, however, vegetables must be cooked right. The way to keep the vitamin C and the iron in the potato is to bake or boil it in the skin.

Next to the potato, the carrot probably is the cheapest and most important underground vegetable. Carrots are rich in iron; they are unusually rich in vitamins; and many people like them better raw than cooked, which is a sure way to get all the fine food value that is in them. Raw carrots will add, if you like, a cheap salad course to a meal. A strip of raw carrot makes a tasty relish. Carrots cut small, boiled, and buttered, are easy to prepare. Carrots fried with apples make a good combination, and apples, too, are cheap this fall. Mashed carrots are an agreeable variation, the bureau specialists suggest. To prepare mashed carrots, they say, steam them or cook them in a small amount of boiling salted water until tender, press through a colander or potato ricer, and season with salt, pepper, and butter.

Onions and turnips claim attention as winter vegetables not only because they are cheap but because they furnish variety and flavor along with exceptional food value. Raw onions, say the food chemists, contribute some vitamin C, which is important in the winter diet. Onions baked in tomato sauce combine two cheap and important vegetable foods.

Cabbage, according to the recipe expert, is surprisingly sweet and delicate if simmered in milk for 5 minutes, then thickened slightly with blended flour and butter and salt. Or cabbage may be scalloped with apples according to the recipe given today. Or, again, shredded cabbage may be cooked with spaghetti and cheese with buttered bread crumbs over the top, and baked until the crumbs are golden brown—making a good one-dish meal for a winter day.

This week's Market Basket shopping list is for a family of seven, two adults and five children, aged 2, 5, 8, 12, and 15 years. The menu suggested, however, should be modified for the youngest child—giving him, say, an egg and a potato baked in the skin, instead of spareribs baked with sweet potatoes around them, which may be too rich for a young child.

Some of the recipes for this week's menu, together with many other recipes, are in "Aunt Sammy's Radio Recipes Revised," or in "Food for Children," Farmers' Bulletin 1674-F, both issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Copies of these publications can be obtained free of charge on request to the Bureau of Home Economics, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

RECIPES

Spareribs Baked with Sweet Potatoes
2 sections of spareribs
Salt
Pepper
Flour
5 or 6 sweet potatoes

Select well-fleshed ribs, and have the breastbone cracked so that it will be easy to carve between the ribs. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Sprinkle the spareribs lightly with salt, pepper, and flour. Wash and pare the sweet potatoes and cut them in half lengthwise. Sprinkle with salt. Place the spareribs in a roasting pan without water and lay the halves of sweet potatoes around them. Cover and bake for about an hour, or until the meat is tender and the potatoes cooked through. Then remove the lid and continue baking for 15 to 20 minutes to brown.

Mashed Turnips

Pare the turnips. Steam or cook in salted water in an uncovered kettle for about 20 minutes, or until tender. Drain and dry, then press through a colander, season with cream or butter, and more salt if needed. Serve at once with a sprinkling of paprika over the top.

Fried Carrots and Apples

6 medium-sized carrots
6 tart apples
2 tablespoons fat
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon salt

Scrape the carrots and cut them lengthwise into thin slices. Pare the apples or leave the skin on, as preferred, core, and cut into slices about a fourth of an inch thick. Place a single layer of the apples and the carrots in a large skillet with the fat, cover tightly, and cook until well browned, turn, and brown the other side. Just before the cooking is finished, sprinkle with the sugar and salt. Serve on a hot platter, first a layer of carrots, then a layer of apples, so the two can be lifted together.

Creamed Mixed Vegetables

1 cup diced potatoes
1 cup diced carrots
½ cup chopped onion
1 cup diced turnips
2 cups finely chopped cabbage
2 tablespoons melted butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ teaspoons salt
1 cup milk

Cook the potatoes, carrots, onions, and turnips in three cups of boiling water until almost tender. Add the cabbage, allowing about five minutes for cooking. Prepare a sauce of the melted butter, flour, salt, and milk. Cook until thickened and stir this sauce into the vegetables. Cook a few minutes longer, until the desired consistency is reached, and then serve.

Scalloped Cabbage and Apples

2 quarts shredded cabbage
1 quart tart sliced apples
2 teaspoons salt
1 teaspoon sugar
2 to 4 tablespoons butter or other fat
1 cup buttered bread crumbs

In a greased baking dish place alternate layers of the cabbage and apples, seasoning each with salt and fat and sprinkling the sugar on the apples. Over the last layer spread the buttered crumbs. Cover, and bake in a moderate oven for 45 minutes, or until the cabbage and apples are tender. Toward the last remove the cover so the crumbs can brown. Serve in the baking dish.

Gingerbread

½ cup fat
½ cup sugar
1 cup molasses
1 egg
3 cups sifted soft-wheat flour
4 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cloves
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup milk

Cream together the sugar and fat, add the molasses and beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients together twice and add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in two shallow pans in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

Stuffed Onions

5 large mild onions
3 tablespoons butter or other fat
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped parsley
2 cups bread crumbs
1 teaspoon salt
Pepper

Skin the onions cut in half crosswise, simmer in salted water until almost tender, and drain. Remove the centers without disturbing the outer layers and chop fine. Melt 2 tablespoons of the fat in a frying pan, add the chopped onion, celery, parsley, and cook for a few minutes. Push the vegetables to one side, melt the remaining fat and add to it the bread crumbs, salt, and pepper, then com-

Speed! Speed! Speed! Cause of 57% of Fatal Automobile Accidents

According to the statistics obtained by the Delaware Safety Council, "Safety Sally" is correct when she attributes 57 per cent of fatal accidents to excessive speed, driving on the wrong side of the road and failure to grant the right of way. In 1931 to date, 58 people have met unnecessary and untimely deaths. Of this number, 10 were killed in Wilmington and 48 in rural Delaware. Twenty-five were passengers and 33 pedestrians. This is one more death than occurred during the corresponding period of 1930. Speed has long been one of the major causes of auto accidents. Some drivers contend that because of superior equipment and special ability they can greatly exceed the speed limit with safety. But if so, we can readily realize what will happen when the mediocre driver attempts to follow in a car with inadequate brakes and other poor equipment.

The exclamation "Step on it!" was first used by Sir Walter Raleigh when he spread his cloak in the mud for Queen Elizabeth. Little did he realize that he was coining a phrase applicable to the automobile and later the cause of so many sad accidents. Driving on the wrong side of the road is not only a violation of the law but it will also tend to confuse and irritate approaching drivers.

The most difficult traffic problems occur at street intersections. At an ordinary four way intersection where no turns are prohibited vehicles may make 16 different directional movements. Two vehicles approaching an intersection from different directions may attempt any two of these movements. Some of them such as two right turns may be carried out at the same time without interference while others, such as crossing at right angles, involve conflicts if they are attempted simultaneously. In former days when vehicular speed was slower and the volume of traffic much less, the right of way at street intersections was commonly interpreted in simple terms to the effect that the vehicle from the right has the right of way. While this still holds, as a general rule it is a safer procedure to enter intersections cautiously even when you have the right of way because the other operator may not realize that the right of way is yours. Some drivers try and bluff the other fellow out of the right of way. Be courteous to the other fellow. Don't try to bluff him out of the right of way. He may be a bluffer himself. bine with the vegetables.

GEORGE WASHINGTON'S TRAVELS

By James W. Brooks

Historically Correct Sketches
By CALVIN FADER

Two days after Washington had been chosen to lead the American Army, he left for Boston to take command. The people had endured much, and were anxious that action should begin. Faneuil Hall (above) had been the scene of many stirring meetings, and the Old South Church (to the right) was the place where the Boston Tea Party was planned.

"PAUL REVERE'S RIDE" on April 18, 1775, is a dramatic part of the beginning of the Revolution. His house above, built in 1660, and the Old North Church where the signal lanterns were hung, are objects of awed interest to visitors of today. On his way to Boston, Washington was told of the Battle of Bunker Hill. His only question was, "Did the militia stand the fire?" and on being told that they did, his answer was, "The liberties of the country are safe."

When Washington Was Defeated at Brandywine

At "twelve o'clock at night," September 11, 1777, General Washington sat down in his improvised headquarters at Chester, within thirty miles of Philadelphia, to write Congress an account of the battle of Brandywine which had taken place that day. But the hand which had carried the sword all day was now too tired to wield the pen, and Washington had to ask one of his aides to write the news to Congress.

Timothy Pickering, Adjutant General, prepared the account of the battle which was signed by the Commander-in-Chief and sent to Congress. "I am sorry to inform you," the letter began, "that, in this day's engagement, we have been obliged to leave the enemy masters of the field."

The battle of Brandywine, as recalled by the Division of Information and Publication of the United States George Washington Bicentennial Commission, was the result of Washington's great effort to save Philadelphia from Howe. Handicapped as he was, he failed to stop the British, but only after a stubborn resistance that cost him many of his best soldiers.

In August General Howe had commenced his movement on Philadelphia. He disembarked his army near the head of Elk on the Chesapeake, about seventy miles from Philadelphia, paused only long enough to complete preparations for the march and started for the American capital. It was now evident that Howe meant to take the city, and Washington had either to fight or turn Philadelphia over to the enemy without a struggle. With a force numerically inferior and poorly armed, the General decided to fight.

In his general orders of September 5, Washington appealed to the army to support him to the utmost in the battle which was now inevitable. "Two years," he wrote, "have we maintained the war, and struggled with difficulties innumerable, but the prospect has brightened." He suggested that if they were successful in this campaign the war would be concluded. Howe moved forward slowly with the Americans withdrawing ahead of him, harassing his troops and in every way possible impeding his progress. General Washington at last took his position on the Brandywine at Chadd's Ford, directly in the Briton's path, twenty-six miles from Philadelphia. Here the two armies faced each other on September 11, in battle formation.

The story of the battle is told in the letter which Pickering wrote to Congress that night at Chester where Washington had sent his stores and directed the army to gather.

"Unfortunately the intelligence received of the enemy's advancing up the Brandywine & crossing at a ford about six miles above us, was uncertain & contradictory, notwithstanding all my pains to get the best. This prevented my making a disposition adequate to the force with which the enemy attacked us on our right; in consequence of which, the troops first engaged were obliged to retire before they could be reinforced. In the midst of the attack on our right, that body of the enemy, which remained on the other side of Chadd's Ford, crossed it, & attacked the division there under the command of General Wayne, & the light troops under Genl Maxwell, who after a severe conflict, also retired. The militia under the command of Major-General Armstrong, being posted at a ford about two miles below Chadd's, had no opportunity of engaging.

"But altho we fought under many disadvantages, and were, from the causes above mentioned, obliged to retire, yet our loss of men is not, I am persuaded, very considerable; I believe much less than the enemy's. We have also lost seven or eight pieces of cannon, according to the best information I can at present obtain. The baggage, having been previously moved off, is all secure, saving the men's blankets, which being at their backs, many of them doubtless were lost. I have directed all the troops to assemble behind Chester, where they are now arranging for this night. Notwithstanding the misfortune of the day, I am happy to find the troops in good spirits; and I hope another time we shall compensate for the losses now sustained. The Marquis de Lafayette was wounded in the leg, & General Woodford in the hand; divers other officers were wounded, & some slain; but the numbers of either cannot now be ascertained."

House Insulation Is Subject of New Commerce Booklet

Eminent Building and Housing Authorities Cooperate in Presenting Data

A group of eminent authorities on building and housing, headed by Leroy E. Kern, of Washington, D. C., representing the American Institute of Architects, have cooperated with the National Committee on Wood Utilization of the Department of Commerce in the publication of "House Insulation: Its Economics and Application," the Committee's latest report in the building and construction field.

Release of the new bulletin was announced today by Axel H. Oxholm, director of the wood utilization committee. The booklet sets forth the findings of a subcommittee on house insulation, compiled to assist home owners and prospective home builders in acquiring a knowledge of insulating materials and their proper application. The bulletin may also be used as a ready reference manual by the architect and the professional builder.

Aside from the fact that the use of insulation in houses and buildings is an important part of present-day construction practice about which the public in increasingly large numbers is demanding reliable information, it also serves to utilize thousands of dollars worth of raw materials from the nation's forests which otherwise probably would be wasted, according to the report. This is because a number of insulating materials are made from wood fibre which is obtained from trees that are unsuitable for other purposes. The booklet, however, deals with all types of insulating materials whether made of wood fibre or not. It therefore covers the entire insulation field.

The bulletin outlines the history and uses of insulating materials in man's struggle to keep himself warm in winter and cool in summer. It explains the manufacture of wood fibre insulation and the application of all types of insulating materials in building and construction. Approximate cost tables for insulating various types of houses are a feature of the bulletin. It also sets forth comparative savings in fuel bills resulting from the use of insulation in typical houses in different parts of the country.

Eleven nationally recognized authorities on building and housing served with Mr. Kern on the house insulation subcommittee. They and the organizations represented are:

M. C. Betts, Washington, D. C., American Society of Agricultural Engineers; W. F. Chew, Baltimore, Md., National Association of Builders Exchanges; W. H. Ham, Bridgeport, Conn., Better Homes in America; E. J. Harding, Washington, D. C., The Associated General Contractors of America (Inc.); C. H. Osborne, Baltimore, Md., Building Officials Conference; William S. Quinter, Washington, D. C., United States League of Building and Loan Associations; Leonard P. Reaume, Detroit, Mich., National Association of Real Estate Boards; Prof. F. B. Rowley, Minneapolis, Minn., American Society of Heating and Ventilating Engineers; Dr. W. A. Slater, Bethlehem, Pa., director of the department of civil engineering, Fritz Engineering Laboratory, Lehigh University; James S. Taylor, Washington, D. C., chief of the Division of Building and Housing, Bureau of Standards; S. Percy Thompson, Washington, D. C., National Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

The bulletin was written by Russell E. Backstrom, insulation specialist of the wood utilization committee's staff. It is fully and attractively illustrated and non-technical in its treatment of the subject. The bulletin contains 52 pages. It may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., or from the district offices of the Department of Commerce in principal trade centers. The price is 10 cents a single copy.

Did You Ever Stop To Think?

By Edson R. Waite, Shawnee, Oklahoma

John Garland Pollard, Governor of Virginia, says: "The time comes in the life of every good father when his own ambitions begin to merge into his ambition for his children—when he begins to think about their future more than his own, when he begins to hope that his own failures may to some extent be redeemed by his son's successes.

"As a father I can think of no higher joy that could possibly come to me in this life than to see my children doing well and have the consciousness of knowing I had done my best to prepare them for life. This, to my mind, is the acme of human happiness.

"On the other hand, I can think of no greater sorrow that could possibly come to a father than to see his children blundering and stumbling through life and feeling that he had not done all he could for them.

"A man's success in life depends not only upon what he himself accomplishes, but also upon how much good he projects down through the years in the lives of his children."

Many people think that persimmons are not edible until they have been frozen or touched by frost. Freezing is injurious to persimmons as it is to other fruits. If they are not free from astringency and fit to eat before frost, it is because the variety is a late one and the persimmons have not matured.

Better methods of soil building and intensive soil cultivation have diminished the need for clearing up new lands for crops production. This favors the growing of timber as a crop on the less fertile or more broken parts of the farm, and makes it a part of the regular farm program.

TO CLEAN UP WILD GARLIC

Plowing, one of the steps in an effort to destroy wild garlic in fields, should be started in the fall in time to destroy the plants from soft-shelled bulbs when these plants are from 10 to 15 inches high, and also to destroy weak plants from the recently germinated aerial bulblets. The time of year when wild garlic plants are in this condition varies in different regions. In the South it is usually in October and November, and in the North it is in November and December. The plowing must be deep enough to cover the plants, and must be repeated in early spring to kill plants from the hard-shelled bulbs that have lain in the ground over winter. After the spring plowing, row crops that require thorough cultivation must be planted. These three steps, one in fall and two in spring, must be followed for at least three years in order to satisfactorily clean-up garlic.

UNCLE SAM SAYS

Long close-fitting husks on ears of corn are valuable to the farmer because they help to keep out the corn earworm.

How cholera, this fall, seems to be hitting its severest blows in regions where hoers are most numerous.

In September the Food and Drug Administration seized 73 consignments of food and drugs found to violate the law, and in 59 cases recommended prosecution of the shippers.

This year, farmers, on the average, will have to sell three times as much produce to pay taxes as they did in 1913. Prices are lower and taxes higher.

A simple remedy for search stain is to moisten the stain with water and place in the sun. For more serious cases a piece of cloth moistened with hydrogen peroxide may be placed over the stain, covered with a dry cloth, and the spot ironed with a medium hot iron. If the hydrogen peroxide soaks through, replace the upper cloth. Be careful to see that the hydrogen peroxide does not touch the iron as it will cause it to rust very rapidly. Rinse the garment thus treated before ironing. This method must be used carefully on colored fabrics as the dyes may bleach out.

Chopped raw celery may be added to many dishes, such as stews, hashes, creamed vegetables, and salads, to improve their flavor.

Departments Have Luncheon Meetings

During the present school term, Superintendent Brinser has entertained the various Curriculum Committees of the school at luncheon meetings in the School Dining-Reception Room.
Last week the Social Science Department of the school, including teachers from both the Primary-Elementary and Junior-Senior High School, met in a luncheon meeting. There were several invited guests representative of the service clubs and societies who are carrying on the social work in Newark during the winter. Mrs. Robert Spencer, director of the New Century Club Unemployment Bureau, and Mrs. Walter Hultihen, member of the Welfare Committee of the New Century Club, and Mr. Robert Jones, Mr. I. N. Sheaffer and Mr. John Dennison, members of the Welfare Committee of the Lions Club attended the meeting and luncheon.

The purpose of the meeting in addition to discussing the contents of the course and curriculum throughout the school in Social Science to get the united viewpoint of those in direct contact with the present day situation and the needs of those with whom the school and the students come in contact.

The meeting was very helpful and closer cooperation and understanding in problems of mutual concern together with a continuous survey of needs was one of the important phases of the meeting. It was announced by Superintendent Brinser that a large number of the Newark Staff have authorized the deduction of one per cent of their monthly salaries from October to March for the relief of the unemployed.

Assembly

The Senior High School Assembly programs for Tuesday and Thursday, October 27 and 29, were as follows:

Tuesday, Mrs. Hancock was in charge. A brief summary of the Life of Theodore Roosevelt.

Richard Brown gave a few facts leading to the landing of William Penn of New Castle, on October 27, 1682.

Dorothy Godwin gave a few facts about the anniversary of Theodore Roosevelt's birthday.

Thursday, Miss Stauter in charge. The cheer leaders led the Assembly in cheering for the school's football team. There was also a great cheer given for William Barrow. A new cheer was introduced by the cheer leaders, who are as follows: Louise Dameron, Louise Murray, Doris Strahorn, Elizabeth Tiffany and Kathleen Spencer. The cheer:

We have a High School,
We have a yell,
We have a team
That fights like —
Hit 'em high,
Hit 'em low,
Newark High
Let's go.

An announcement was made by John Sinclair of a Halloween party, to be given by the Seniors in the School Auditorium on Thursday, October 29, 1931.

Madeline Cunane.

Junior High School Assembly

On Monday the Junior High School met in the auditorium. There were two announcements:

Miss McKinsey said that all speakers in the Assembly must be seated on the platform.

All pupils living in town must time themselves to come to school at 8.30, not earlier. All out-of-town pupils will be let in when they arrive.

Roberta Spencer told about Dickens' story, "The Old Curiosity Shop." We also sang page 160. Miss Singles had the program.

Christos Pappas.

Library

The Newark School Library is fixed very neatly. There have been many new books placed in it this year.

When the different grades go in the library they go for something and not to sit and talk. When getting a book they go on their toes, so if anyone is reading they will not be annoyed.

So far the children have kept the Library very neatly, and we hope to keep it that way.

Evelyn D. Reynolds.

General Association of Newark Junior High School

An election of officers of the General Association was held in October. Erick Mayer was chosen as president and James Hall as vice-president.

The duties of these officers are as follows:

The president will preside over all meetings of the Association. The vice-president substitutes during the president's absence.

The General Association consists of the Senate, House of Representatives and the Student Body.

The Senate consists of all the Home Room's presidents, and the House of Representatives is made up of the chairmen of the committees. The committees are: Executive, Finance, Social Activities, Traffic, Art and Decoration, Journalism, Noon Hour, Assembly, Music.

Dorothy Crossgrove.

Jack Daly Elected President of Ninth Grade; Other Members Secure Offices

On Tuesday last, the ninth grade held their first class election since the beginning of their educational career. In preceding years the pupils in the class of 1935 have been organized as a home room and not as a class.

The election was interesting and the ballot counting, of course, had its thrills close and rivalry.

The other officers elected besides the president were: Joseph Maxwell, vice-president; Margaret Hogan, secretary; Dorothy Barrow, treasurer.

Robert W. Hancock, '35.

Sophomore Officers

The Sophomore Class now have elected their officers. Those elected are: President, Bayard Perry; vice-president, Mary Burnett; secretary, Beatrice Jamison, treasurer, Elizabeth Murray.

The Senior Party

On Thursday evening, October 29, 1931, a Senior party was held. It was sponsored by the Senior class, who needed money badly. The first sight we looked upon when entering the building was the Gymnasium decorated in orange and black. There were students and members of the faculty masked. The orchestra supplied us with music for dancing. The grand march was very pretty for the watchers. We marched around the auditorium and into the hall several times and then the prizes were awarded.

Those getting prizes were: Virginia Shumar, Virginia Thomas and Louise Ward (funniest dressed), and Margaret Waples.

After the grand march the rest of the evening was spent in dancing and enjoying ourselves.

The Seniors tried to sell the refreshments, but it could not be done so easily. Nevertheless, they gave none away.

The Junior High School

Halloween Party

There was a Junior High School Halloween party given on Friday, October 30 in the school gymnasium. There were streamers of orange and black twisted across the room and the lights were decorated with orange crepe paper.

The first thing they did was the grand parade. Then each home room gave their stunts. The games which were played were "Upset the Barnyard" and "Marching Through Jerusalem." All music was furnished by a radio.

The party then adjourned to the Cafeteria, where the prizes were awarded to Jean Danby, for the cutest dressed; Beatrice Bell, for the most original dressed; and to Home Room 7A, for the best stunt. The refreshments were then served. Everybody had a fine time.

Guy Hancock.

A Halloween Joke

One cold night in October a boy was in his home. He heard a sound like something creeping around the old white barn. He stepped out in the yard and saw an old witch on a broomstick staring at him. He jumped into the house as quickly as he could. He looked outside the window and what do you suppose he saw. Instead of seeing a witch it was merely the shadow of an old oak tree.

Margaret Shumar.

The History of Hallowe'en

The name popularity, given to the eve of All Hallows, or festival of all Saints, which being the 1st of November, Hallowe'en is the evening of the 31st of October. The name Hallowe'en means Holy Eve. In England it was customary to crack nuts, duck for apples in a tub of water, and perform other harmless fireside revelries. The celebration of it in various ways has spread widely and is very common in the United States.

Journalism Committee,
Virginia Phillips.

Don't Brag

"I'm not afraid of a thing," said Jack. "Folks say that ghosts and witches come out on Hallowe'en, but I don't believe that."

"Hello Jack, what are you going to wear tonight? I won't tell a soul if you tell me."

"Now promise me you won't tell. I am going to wear a clown suit, because there are no such things as ghosts."

A nice old man who lived in the neighborhood heard everything that was said, decided to show Jack it did not pay to brag.

That night a ghost jumped out from behind a bush. Jack said he would not brag again.

The ghost was the old man.
Ann Hamilton.

Elementary Grades

Celebrate Hallowe'en

Grades three to six celebrated Hallowe'en Friday afternoon, October 30, from two to quarter of three, by telling jokes and having refreshments consisting of fudge, cookies, apples, oranges and pears, brought by the children of each room. The children had a nice time with plenty of fun mixed in.

Newark Scrubs Easily

Defeat Middletown

A highly boring game, except in some instances, was played under the joint leadership of Barrow and Meredith, with the Newark Boys, easily nabbing the high score of the year for the D. L. A. A. league, 40-0.

Newark's coach, Gillespie was not present at the beginning of the game, as he had been confined to his room on account of illness, but Mr. Hancock, an eager follower of Newark's team, started the game with the second team, which played throughout the first half and third quarter, scoring during the time four touchdowns and three points. In the third quarter the first team made two touchdowns and one point.

Jackson's superlative kicking featured the game, for in the second quarter, his kickoff landed behind the goal line in the scoring zone. The ball was downed by a Newark player and was ruled a touchdown. This is the first time this feat has been performed by any team in the State this year.

Score by periods:

Newark ... 7 7 13 13—40
Middletown ... 0 0 0 0—0
Thomas Cooch, '33.

And fall, with me, in love.
Her hair is brown, her cheeks are pink,
Her eyes are bright and shiny;

Her nose is straight, her mouth is small,
She's very slim and tiny.

Ah, woe is me, for I am lost,

"War is Hell" and is admittedly getting worse. Diplomats the world over are working on the problem of reducing the number of places where war is used to settle disputes. The Newark Christian Endeavor Society—along with other societies scattered throughout North America—is this Sunday taking the topic, "Our Share in Making World Peace Permanent." At the 6.45 p. m. meeting in the Presbyterian Church, Kent Preston will lead in the discussion of this topic.

An invitation is extended to all young people of vision to appear at this meeting, and thus to help make the meeting more worth while.

Newark School Reports Issued By Staff of Newark Schools

Last evening the Staff of the Newark School distributed the monthly reports for the month of October to the pupils. A letter addressed to the pupils explained more fully the meaning of school reports together with suggestions in which they can help to grow in their own self analyses and constructive judgment. The letter follows:

October 1931.
Re-issued, November 5, 1931.
Dear Fellow-learners of the Newark Schools:

In order that all of us—pupils, parents, teachers, and everyone interested in boys and girls and schools, may have a common meeting ground of thinking about you and your achievements, the report cards are issued. The reports received from your teachers represent many hours of concern and work. On the part of yourself, the report represents many days spent in school and achievements you have earned; on the part of your parents it represents great interest and cooperation in the matter of your getting to school on time, getting home work done, having lessons prepared on time, and general assignments completed; on the part of your teacher it represents careful planning for your welfare and hours of work in evaluating the results of your endeavor as shown on your card; on the part of the Board of Education it represents a certain phase of an account of their stewardship which the people of Newark have entrusted to them.

On the part of all of us it shows the path of action and progress a little clearer and points out phases needing immediate attention. What marks are used on Reports?

LAST OF CONFERENCES TO BE HELD IN NEWPORT SATURDAY

The last of the series of fall conferences for those interested in Parent-Teacher Association work will be held in the public schools at Newport, Saturday, November 7th, at 10 a. m., for white leaders, and at 2 p. m. for colored workers. Sectional meetings with President Howard T. Ennis, Miss Elizabeth H. Mensch, Miss Etta J. Wilson and Mrs. Orville R. Wright will be held for presidents, program chairmen and publicity chairmen. It is particularly desirable that each association be well represented in the program section in order that the State Program Committee may learn how best to be of service to each community in its Parent Education work. Such matters as the Summer Round-Up of the Children, Adult Education classes, etc., will be presented to the entire group by State leaders.

1. A mark of "A" indicates work of highest honor (95 plus). (Summa Cum Laude.)
2. A mark of "A-B" indicates work of high honor (90 to 94). (Magna Cum Laude.)
3. A mark of "B" indicates work of honor grade (85 to 90). (Cum Laude.)
4. A mark of "B—" indicates work slightly below the average (80-84).
5. A mark of "C" indicates lowest accrediting grade for college (75-79).
- (If you wish to be recommended to College unconditionally, 80% of your marks should be above C.)
6. A mark of "C—" lowest grade for promotion or diploma credit (70-74).
7. A mark of "D" indicates unsatisfactory work. It does not indicate a complete lack of understanding but does indicate a need for special effort in finding out the difficulty. In all cases you should know your own strengths as well as your own weaknesses; so that you, with your parents and teachers may rebuild the weak places and thus make you stronger than ever. Talk with your parents and teachers about the difficulties which you have. This will be a means for us to get a mental X-ray of your problems and as a result, we will be able to help you. By means of your cooperation, frankness, initiative, courtesy, and faith with yourself and your school, you will find the same fine qualities mirrored in your teachers. And with this combination of mutual helpfulness, genuine progress, and good results must be the ever present outcome.

"To error is human"; to correct that error and go ahead is the royal road to success.

Officials of the New Mansure & Prettyman Store, Wilmington, Del.

HARRY H. PRETTYMAN

JACOB F. MANSURE

Mansure and Prettyman Open New Store In Du Pont Building

After nine years of successfully serving a discriminating clientele in their quarters in the du Pont Building, Wilmington, Delaware, Mansure and Prettyman, men's outfitters, will move to more spacious quarters on the left of the new main entrance to the du Pont Building. The new Mansure and Prettyman store, just a few steps from the old quarters, is one of the largest and most complete of its kind that Wilmington has ever seen. The same policy of serving customers with high grade, but not high priced merchandise, will prevail.

The new quarters will not only be considerably larger than the old ones, but will give Mansure and Prettyman the added advantage of frontage on West Tenth street, and running back to the main corridor leading from Orange street through the building. There will be display windows both at the front end and in the rear of the store.

The firm of Mansure and Prettyman consists of Harry H. Prettyman, for many years connected with James T. Mullin & Son, and later employed by MacDonald & Campbell, of Philadelphia. Jacob F. Mansure, the head of the firm is a former Philadelphian and has long been recognized as an authority on clothing and haberdashery. For 21 years he was associated with MacDonald & Campbell as acting vice-president, treasurer and general manager. During the course of time he acted in these executive capacities he made many trips to Europe, in the course of which he acquired much valuable experience and made many splendid contacts.

A cordial invitation is issued by both Mr. Mansure and Mr. Prettyman to the general public to inspect their new quarters.

FRANK G. TALLMAN ELECTED HEAD OF RED CROSS GROUP

Organization's "Adventure in Friendly Relationship" Discussed by Hughes

Frank G. Tallman was elected president of the Delaware Chapter, American Red Cross, at the annual luncheon meeting held Monday in the du Pont-Biltmore, Wilmington. This luncheon, attended by more than 300 persons, precedes the roll call to be held from Armistice Day to Thanksgiving Day.

Other officers elected were: S. D. Townsend, Dr. G. Layton Grier, vice-president; Miss Emily P. Bissell, secretary; George Winchester, treasurer, and the following members of the executive committee: Judge Hugh M. Morris, Alfred E. Bissell, Mrs. Clarence M. Dillon, Mrs. Harry T. Graham, Miss Anna B. Hayes, J. Paul Heinel, Mrs. J. Monteith Jackson, Frank M. Jones, Mrs. Florence B. Kirby, Mrs. George W. Marshall, Miss Louise Nowland, Mrs. James Pennewell, Mrs. Willard Hall Porter, Mrs. Henry B. Thompson, Mrs. Thomas W. Wilson, Governor C. Douglass Buck, Walter Dent Smith, Mrs. Frank G. Tallman and C. Walter Kadel.

"The Red Cross, an Adventure in Friendly Relationship" was the topic of an address given by Herman J. Hughes, legal advisor to the executive committee of the National Red Cross. Mr. Hughes is a graduate of Johns Hopkins University and of the Harvard Law School. He also studied law a year abroad. He has been connected with the Red Cross since 1918 and has been in the legal department since 1919.

Walter Davidson, manager of the Eastern area of the American Red Cross, also addressed the group, using as his subject, "After 50 Years." Mr. Davidson is well known here, both to members of the Red Cross Chapter and to many others. He spoke at the annual meeting last year and has attended several executive meetings.

The life saving program of the Red Cross was discussed by D. Melville Carr, representative of the National Red Cross, in charge of swimming and life saving. He is a nationally known aquatic and water safety expert.

Judge Hugh M. Morris, former judge of the Federal Court, who is chairman of the local chapter, also gave a short talk.

Negro Farmers Take Part-Time Instructions in Slack Seasons

How part-time vocational agriculture classes for Negroes are being used to good advantage, especially during slack periods in the farm year, is disclosed in reports recently received from Southern States by the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

According to these reports vocational agriculture teachers in South Carolina, Georgia, Arkansas, Louisiana, and several other States are organizing part-time classes not only in the slack period of the summer—principally July and August—but also during the winter months. These classes are operated in connection with the regular public school system.

The plan followed by South Carolina and several other States is to organize during the slack farm seasons part-time classes for groups of farm boys who have dropped out of school, are behind in their studies, and who can not attend regular all-day classes. Ordinarily no special teacher is required for such classes since the regular vocational agriculture teacher simply arranges his schedule so as to give at least 90 minutes each day for a period of six to twelve weeks to the part-time class. In addition to unit courses in agriculture the instructor teaches such subjects as English, farm arithmetic, and civics. This plan is varied to some extent in some States in that agricultural instruction is given by the regular vocational agriculture teacher, all subjects outside the agricultural field being taught in the regular classes of the school. Part-time schools are held either at some period during the day or at night.

Half-day part-time schools are carried on in Louisiana. Under the county unit system in operation in that State, also, a teacher from one community is at liberty to organize classes in another community. This plan makes use of the vocational agriculture instructor's time during the summer months to advantage, and makes it possible to reach a larger percentage of farm boys than before. Incidentally, the school board is satisfied to pay the teacher on a twelve months' basis when he is tangibly employed during the summer months.

Some States even go to the extent of making a survey of possible part-time students and send teachers to confer with them and persuade them of the advantages of attending classes. This has the added advantage that it gives the teacher a closer insight into the conditions on the home farms of prospective pupils and gives him an opportunity to gain the confidence of parents.

Not infrequently, also teachers are able through such contacts to make arrangements with parents or with landlords, when a farm is rented, whereby a supervised practice program, outlined in connection with a part-time course, will enable Negro farm boys to make a profit.

Part-time classes for Negroes fit in so admirably with slack farm periods, that they are becoming increasingly popular in the States in which they have been established.

Veterans of Foreign Wars of U. S. A., Lieutenant J. Allison O'Daniel Post No. 475, and Thomas Cooper Auxiliary 475, of Newark, held a joint installation at their post rooms in the Academy Building, Monday, November 2.

The Post had a very nice service, the installing officer being Past Commander William Rupp, who installed officers very efficiently. The new Commander being Fred Snooks, for the coming year.

The Auxiliary officers were installed by Past Chief of Staff Sister Lloyd of Wilmington. The officers for the year are: President, Elizabeth Tweed, Senior Vice, Thelma Morrison; Junior Vice, Frances Edmanson; Chaplain, H. R. Collison; Treasurer, Rena Harrington; Secretary, Alva Wagner; Conductress, Bessie Cataldi; Patriotic Instructor, Edith Morrison; Historian, Agnes Snooks; Color Bearers, Susie Morrison, Lillian Morrison, Margie Smith, Verla Smith; Trustees, Verla and Margie Smith.

The installation ceremony was very beautiful as all the officers were in uniform and were installed superbly by Chief of Staff Lloyd.

The Auxiliary presented the installing officer with a lovely gift. Also Past President Eva Spregel received a pin. Past Treasurer Rena Harrington and Past Secretary Elsie Pierce each received a pin for their three years' loyal service.

The speakers for the evening were Colonel S. J. Smith of Newark, Post Chaplain, who gave a very fine speech; Past Commander Rupp and Past Commander Harrington, and the State Commander, Pedosky, of Wilmington, also spoke.

There were about sixty present, including the Spear Auxiliary and Memorial Auxiliary, both of Wilmington. President Baily of Memorial Auxiliary, and President Brickly, of Spear Auxiliary, wished the new President, Elizabeth Tweed and officers a very successful year. The new President also spoke and expressed the hope with the help of the Auxiliary to attain a very successful year.

After closing services a very fine lunch was served and a pleasant time was had by all.

The Post and Auxiliary are holding a card and bingo party every Thursday evening in the Academy Building, second floor, for the benefit of the unemployed, their National Home in Eaton Rapids, Mich., and the needy veterans. They are looking for the town folks to show their kindness of heart and help the needy and yet have a pleasant evening in so doing.

An even break for your heater means EVEN HEAT for you

You know about milk from contented cows . . . but how about heat from contented heaters? Silly idea? Don't think so! After all, your heater is no magician . . . it can't take a rabbit out of a silk hat . . . or produce even, economical heat from inferior coal. But it can and will give you greater comfort and show you a very real saving if given a break in the matter of diet and care. Feed it on Old Company's Lehigh Anthracite . . . the brand of hard coal that has been established for more than a century. The coal that is noted for purity, uniformity, high-heating value and low ash content.

And another thing! Consider the operation. How about drafts and dampers . . . firing methods, etc? Maybe a very slight change will mean a substantial saving.

Let us look at your heater and tell you how to get the most out of it.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for November 8
PAUL IN EPHEBUS

GOLDEN TEXT—And have no fellowship with the unfruitful works of darkness, but rather prove them. LESSON TEXT—Acts 19:1-41. PRIMARY TOPIC—Paul in the City of Ephesus. ADULT TOPIC—Paul in the City of Ephesus. INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—A House of Bad Books. YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Gospel Facing Error.

I. John's Disciples Become Christians (vv. 1-7).
These twelve disciples had only been taught the baptism of repentance as preparation for the Kingdom. Paul taught them to believe on Christ; that is, to receive Christ as the one who on the cross provided redemption for them through the shedding of his blood. When they believed and received Christ as their Savior, they were baptized in the name of the Lord Jesus, and Paul laid hands on them and they received the Holy Spirit.

II. Paul Preaching in Ephesus (vv. 8-19).
1. In the Jewish synagogue (v. 8). Though the Jews were Paul's enemies, he indoxibly followed his rule to go first to them with the gospel. His preaching was characterized:

- By boldness (v. 8).
- By reason (v. 8).
- By persuasion (v. 8).
- By speaking concerning the Kingdom of God (v. 8). He did not discuss on philosophy, or the latest in literature, but upon the message of salvation through Christ.

2. In the schoolhouse of Tyrannus (vv. 9, 10). The Jews, being enemies of the gospel, were only hardened by Paul's preaching, and spoke openly against this way of salvation in Christ. Paul separated the disciples from them and resorted to the school house of Tyrannus.

III. God Working Miracles by Paul (vv. 11-16).

Ephesus was noted for its wonder workers. That Paul's ministry might be successful here, God in an extraordinary way put his seal upon the work. Handkerchiefs and aprons that had touched Paul's body healed the sick and cast out evil spirits. Seeing the marvelous power operating through Paul, certain Jews who went about the country practicing magical arts under took to use the name of Jesus in their incantations. Knowing that their connection with Christ was not real, the use of his name by them only enraged the evil spirits who sprang upon and overcame them.

IV. A Glorious Awakening (vv. 17-41).

1. Fear fell upon all (v. 17). News of the casting out of these evil spirits created impressions favorable to Christianity.

2. It brought to the front those who professed faith in Christ while not living right lives (v. 18).

3. Many gave up the practice of the black arts (v. 19). Black arts are forms of jugglery by the use of charms and magical words. No one can have fellowship with God and practice such arts. They proved the genuineness of their Christian profession by publicly burning their books, valued at $12,500.

4. Uproar of the silversmith at Ephesus (vv. 23-41).

a. The occasion (vv. 23, 24). The power of the gospel was destroying the infamous business of Demetrius and his fellows. Their primary interest was its financial effect upon the principal business of the city.

b. The method (vv. 25-29). Demetrius, a leading business man, called a meeting and stated that much people had been turned from idolatry and that the market for their wares was materially weakened. He appealed to his fellows:

(1) On the ground of business (v. 27). The world is willing to tolerate any kind of religion or moral teaching so long as it does not interfere with its business or way of living.

(2) On the ground of religious prejudice. He said that the temple of the great Goddess Diana would be de-royed (v. 27). He became religious when he saw that his business was being damaged. His speech gained him the crowd in a rage cried, "Diana is Diana of the Ephesians." The mob was quieted by the tact, good judgment, and counsel of the town clerk (vv. 35-41).

Obedience
The golden chain of obedience is broken if one link is missing. If you are hanging over a precipice by a chain and one link goes, you are lost.

Difference in Men
One man will make all human nature seem contemptible; another will make it immeasurable heights of beauty and dignity. So there are men who make it hard, others who make it easy to believe in God.—Jno. W. Chaffin.

Holiness
The holiness taught in the Bible is the same as that lived by the saints of the Bible. The saints of the New Testament are loved as how holy people ought to live.

Bear, Del.

A very enjoyable time was spent at Eden School on Wednesday evening in the form of a Halloween celebration. Mrs. Appleby, Mrs. Walker and Mr. Whittington acting as judges awarded prizes to Sylvia Walthers, Edith Suppi, Thompson Eastburn and Ellen Moody. Games and dancing followed. Music was furnished by Mr. Thorpe, Mr. Duling and Mr. Webb. Refreshments suitable to the occasion were served.

Everyone seemed pleased with the recent improvements in equipment and appearance of the school room.

The children were very proud of the Attendance Banner which they earned by having 100 per cent attendance for September.

AVIAN TUBERCULOSIS CONTROL

Eight essential points in the control and eradication of avian tuberculosis, which affects many farm poultry flocks, are summarized in a miniature poster just issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, under the title "Free Your Poultry Flock of Tuberculosis." This poster, measuring 5 by 8 inches, is available to veterinarians, extension workers, and anyone interested in aiding in the eradication of this malady. A primary step in eradicating tuberculosis from the flock, the poster shows, is to "dispose of all birds more than 1½ years old and replace them with disease-free stock." Another recommendation is the "disinfection of chicken houses and equipment promptly after disease outbreaks." It is also important to "keep the land around poultry houses clean." "Carcasses of animals or fowls that die of disease should be burned or buried deeply," it shows further, "and in no case should such carcasses be fed to poultry or other stock." The principal symptoms of avian tuberculosis are shown to be weight, lameness, droopiness, and marked paleness of the head. Post-mortem observations usually reveal white or yellow spots on the liver and tuberculous knots on the intestines.

Only four of the many species of pine trees in the United States sprout from the ground when cut or burned, says the Forest Service. These are the shortleaf pine of the Southeastern States, the pitch pine of the Northeastern States, the pond pine of the Coastal Plain, and the Chihuahuan pine of the Southwest. And all these sprout successfully only when small. Sprouting of the shortleaf pine sometimes aids in getting return crops of this valuable species found from New Jersey to Texas. Redwood and southern cypress also sprout from stumps. Many hardwoods, or broadleaf trees, in contrast to the conifers, sprout freely.

Typhoid Fever In Cecil County

On Tuesday, when this was written, there were five persons under treatment at Union Hospital for typhoid fever, and two others for suspected typhoid fever. One of the five cases was a patient brought here from Kent County.

The other six cases are the only known or suspected cases in Cecil County. Of these one patient only, Anna Carter, aged eight years, of Elkton, is considered to be very seriously ill.

Dr. Clinton Kane, Health Officer, states that the disease is not epidemic, and that no water or milk supply is responsible. The majority of cases spread from an unsuspected case in the western part of Elkton, and the whole matter is being thoroughly checked up.

The great preventive of catching the disease when there is no central source of contamination is personal hygiene and absolute cleanliness, as the typhoid germ is taken into the body through the mouth.

Dr. Kane states that all told there have been but ten cases of the disease in Cecil County this year.—Cecil County News.

Among the players in "Great Guns" were Miss Mary Louise Pleasanton and Wayne C. Brewer, who are seen above in the costumes in which they appeared. Miss Pleasanton, who is well known as a radio artist, was heard in several song numbers. Mr. Brewer, who is an active member of the Legion, was master of ceremonies in the first act and also was seen in the other parts of the show.

75,000 Birds Tested and Culled for Pullorum Disease

The blood testing and culling of poultry flocks for the elimination of Pullorum Disease (bacillary white diarrhea) by the Poultry Department of the State Board of Agriculture, has been progressing for the last two months. So far this year, 75,000 birds have been culled and blood tested.

Flocks which are culled for vigor, standard breed and egg production, and are blood tested for Pullorum

Disease, are classified as Supervised-Tested flocks. Hatcheries using eggs from these flocks are known as Supervised-Tested Hatcheries. The Department is now culling and blood testing the flocks supplying the hatcheries of Byron Pepper and Sons, Georgetown; W. V. Steen, Dagsboro; O. A. Newton and Son, Bridgeville; D. Herman Hettinger, Elsmere-Wilmington; Robert O. Boyce, Seaford; F. T. Warrington, Georgetown; W. V. Steen, Dagsboro; W. B. Hatfield, Greenwood, Warren Poultry Farm, Lewes, and Pencader Poultry Farm, Newark.

Since the fall of 1929, standardization of turkey breeding flocks has been in force. At the present time, there are four flocks that meet the requirements of Certified Meat Production Flocks. These flocks are owned by Miss Mary R. Lockerman, Greenwood; Mrs. Hannah M. Thompson, Rehoboth Beach; Raymond Lank, Milton, and Joseph Kirby, Milford.
