Sunday School Convention a Success

Dr. Holloway Gives Constructive Address

Big Meeting Held at Presbyterian Church

Showing plainly that the Sunday Schools in White Clay Creek Hundred are flourishing, the annual convention held in the Lecture Room of the Presbyterian Church last evening was attended by a hundred or more ministers, superintendents, teachers and others interested in this work.

After the meeting had been called to order by the President, Warren A. Singler, a hymn was sung and a Scripture lesson read by the Rev. H. Everett Hallman, followed by prayer. Mrs. McCoy, the County Secretary, then gave an interesting talk, putting special emphasis on the fact that in order to have a wide awake

Open Season for Petty Thieves

Amateurs Start Another Campaign

Local Police Promise Round-Up

Thieves forced an entrance into the pool parlor of J. W. McCormick, on Main Street, and ransacked the store Sunday night. The robbery was committed after "Steve" McCormick had left at six o'clock in the evening and as yet no trace of the burglars has been found.

Entrance was forced through the alley between the pool room and the candy kitchen on the left. The window ledge bears the mark of a chisel and distinctly bears witness to the fact that amateur hands did the job, which closely resembles the work done in the Singler robbery about a month ago. The cash register, found on the floor behind the counter, had been battered apart and rifled of what small change there was, an amount of a dollar or two. The cigar case had been opened, and a choice haul of cigars and cigarettes made. About $15 worth of tobacco supplies was missing on Monday morning when Mr. McCormick opened up shop.

Policeman Tyrens states that the robbery was committed after he went off duty, and "wishes he could get some trace of the business." The chief is on the job and intends to break up the petty thieving which is going on in the town lately. It is recalled that during the summer, there was a flurry of excitement that amounted to a burglar scare for some of the more fearful residents. Steps will be taken to break up the petty work of the amateur crooks in the town, it is stated.

Their motto is, "Not Charity but a Chance," and he will tell just what is meant by this and prove that it is a well chosen motto.

The women are planning the greatest possible protection of the city's health and morals. They are co-operating with the local health department and the U. S. Public Health Service.

Field Meet for Dogs

Dog Fanciers Meet at Local Farm

Local Sportsmen Interested

The farm of Thomas Claringbold on the outskirts of Newark is the center of attraction for dog fanciers of the eastern United States this week, while the annual field trials of the Eastern Beagle Club are being held. The trials have drawn breeders from the north, west and south here to display animals with histories and family names in the six classes in which the competition is held.

Some of the principal fanciers who have entries at the trials are: J. B. Snyder, of Philadelphia; Dr. Kraker, of Philadelphia; W. B. Hawthorne, Pennsylvania; Joseph H. Baldwin, of West Chester; M. Haley, "Bud" Fisher, Ross Robinson, Charles Hartman, Fred Martin, and Prince Mousley, of Wilmington; J. E. Mettinger, of Greensburg, Pa., and Mr. Jackson, of Baltimore. Dr. Mettinger and Messrs. Haley, Fisher and Cann constitute the judges for the trials.

Six classes will be judged at the show, ranging from 15 inch high dogs, both male and female, of all ages, to "derbies," dogs under two years of age, both male and female. The middle class includes 13 inch high beagles, male and female. Larger entry lists are made up for these trials than ever before in the history of the club, thirty dogs being entered in the largest classes. On Monday, twenty dogs competed.

In commenting on the trials, Dr. Mettinger emphasized the qualifications which the animals must display in order to be considered for the awards. "The dog must have the competitive spirit," he specified. "When his braemate strikes the trail of a rabbit, the dog must come to his partner's assistance, honor his bark, and show the desire to beat him to his game, as all true hunters will do. He must be under the control of his manager at all times, get on a trail and then show that he is 'trail true.' Of course, the Pennsylvania went on, 'he must use his head. In this respect, the dog is like the woodpecker. He must use his head for a living. And then, he must get his rabbit,' he stated, recalling that the bunny returns to his starting point as the murderer to the scene of his crime.

Sending conditions were not of the best on the opening day of the trials. A high wind and the rough cover made it difficult for the animals to show just what they were capable of doing, according to the older competitors who have attended the trials since the inception of the club. The side of the hill was open to the March-like weather, but it is expected that more favorable days will bring out more of the well-bred beagles' sterling qualifications as a hunter.

The local members of the club are doing all in their power to put Newark on the map for dog fancying. Those extending hospitality to the Beagle Club visitors include Ralph Barrow, Ernest Cornog, and John Gregg.

Newark Girl Made Head of Commercial Department

Miss Patience Thompson, a graduate of the Newark High School, class of 1917, and a graduate of Beacom Business College, where she took the teaching course, is now in charge of the commercial department of the Devon Manor School at Devon, Pennsylvania. Committed to Industrial School

Held for Testimony in Fire Case

In order that no stone should be left unturned to insure the prosecution of Sam Clark, negro, charged with setting fire to the Newark Inn, Zelma Wright, who confessed to having assisted the negro, was committed to the Ferris Industrial School on the order of Squire Lovett, last Thursday. After her confession last week, Mrs. McGovern, the proprietress of the local inn, believed her testimony so important that she urged the girl's commitment in order to protect her case. The negro had confessed to her part in lighting several of the fires at the instigation of Clark, who is now being held in the New Castle County Workhouse, awaiting the November term of court.

The Wright girl was escorted to the school for girls by Policeman Tyrens, of the local force. The chief states that he had no trouble with the girl, she seeming ready and willing to atone for her misdeeds. The case, according to Mrs. McGovern, the prosecuting witness, is in the hands of the Attorney-General and will be taken care of ably.

The sidewalk here has been in its natural state since the first settlement, and with the improvement, will come comfort to the pedestrians who use this route.

Right of Way Assured

Inasmuch as J. P. Wilson did not file suit on Monday last, the final day for action to prevent the county authorities from rendering the right of way for the Wilmington-Newark stretch of the Lincoln Highway, the county will now exercise its privilege of right of way, and proceed to cross the land near Lumbrook for the continuance of the road as originally planned. Lure of Open Road Attracts

Knights of "Wanderlust" Spend Night at College

Three little "tackers" who claimed they hailed from West Philadelphia, in the vicinity of 52nd street, and proudly displayed mail to prove their contention, were found here waiting a hop to Baltimore late Monday night. The boys, who gave their names as "Ed" Gallagher, Neal Maxwell, and Tom Duffy, faced the prospect of a cool evening in the open until a passerby suggested they seek the warmth of the college hall. The lads, harmless, with frank, open countenances, and full of the "wanderlust" were headed for Baltimore, "just for the trip," they said. But "pickups" were few Monday night along the Lincoln Highway, and there was a tired and sleepy look about them all—the oldest of whom had not yet reached eighteen, —as they leaned against the wall of Fader's garage. The lure of the open road had not proved so inviting at nightfall; thoughts of the "Two Orphans" before the Notre Dame de Paris, in that snow swept night, flashed through the mind of the passerby. There were plenty of soft spots in Newark for these adventurers in embryo. The boys, on discovering an open door to the college, hastily repaired to its sheltered walls for the night. In the morning, bright and early, the trip to Baltimore was resumed.

Baltimore Synod to Hold Annual Meeting in Presbyterian Church

The Woman's Synodical Missionary Society of the Synod of Baltimore will hold its annual meeting on Wednesday and Thursday of next week in the Presbyterian Church. Mrs. Ernest Frazer is the general chairman and has as assistants the following committees:

House: Chairman, Mrs. H. N. Reed, Mrs. C. W. Dunlevy, Mrs. George Potts, Mrs. W. Blackwell, Misses Margaret Anderson, Anna Frazer and Alice Kerr.

On Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 all the officers of the Synodical and the Presbyterian officers which form the Executive Committee, will hold a meeting. Immediately after this meeting, a Young People's meeting will be held at 4:45 to which all denominations are invited.

In the evening at 7:30 a public meeting will be held. Addresses will be made by Miss Florence G. Tyler, Secretary of Student Work of the Women's Board of Missions, and William P. Schell of the Board of Foreign Missions.

On Thursday morning between the hours of 10 and 12:30 there will be held devotional periods, conferences and speeches by noted persons.

Luncheon will then be served by the Century Club at the price of 50c per person. The closing hour will be from 1:30 to 2:30.

The delegates will be entertained in the various homes and it is hoped that the people of Newark will give these people a warm welcome and make their visit here a pleasant one.

Auto vs. Concrete

A freak accident occurred at some time on Monday when an automobile that failed to stop and make itself known, bumped into a two and a half inch steel, concrete-filled hitching post in front of the store of C. A. Bryan, and bent the post at a 60 degree angle. It is not known just what damage was suffered by the machine, but the construction of the hitching post is of that substantial variety which is not rudely and without difficulty turned aside. As to who suffered from the post's obstinacy, nothing is known.

Masons Plan for Scholarship at University

Gunning Bedford, Jr., Memorial Recommended

Edward Cooch Elected Grand Marshal

The Masonic Grand Lodge of Delaware, at its 116th annual communication in the Masonic Temple, Wilmington, which ended last Thursday, voted to raise and expend $70,000 for an infirmary and other improvements for the Masonic Home of Delaware.

The addition of an infirmary to the Masonic Home, on Lancaster Pike, will fill a long-felt want at that institution. Work will be started at an early date.

Another question taken up was that of establishing a Gunning Bedford, Jr., Memorial Scholarship at the University of Delaware. Both the infirmary and Scholarship were strongly recommended by the retiring Grand Master, William J. Highfield.

At the annual election of officers the following were chosen:

Most Worshipful Grand Master, Rev. George C. Williams, Hope Lodge No. 4, Laurel.

Right Worshipful Senior Grand Warden, J. P. Pierce, Temple Lodge, No. 9, Milford.

Most Worshipful Deputy Grand Master, Charles A. Bamberger, duPont Lodge No. 29, Wilmington.

Mr. Bamberger who was elected Deputy Grand Master was formerly Grand Treasurer.

Former Mayor of Wilmington, Charles D. Bird, was elected treasurer of the Grand Lodge. The newly elected officers were installed by William J. Highfield, the retiring Grand Master.

The Rev. George C. Williams, the newly elected Grand Master, then named his appointed officers as follows:

Grand Chaplain, Rev. R. W. Trapnell, rector of St. Andrew's P. E. Church of Wilmington; Grand Senior Deacon, S. J. Stein, of Seaford; Grand Junior Deacon, H. V. Holloway, of Dover, who is a member of New Castle Lodge; Grand Marshal, Edward W. Cooch, of Newark; Grand Sword Bearer, Grover C. McNamee, of Wilmington; Grand Senior Steward, D. NATIONAL EVENTS

Observations and Comments written for The Post

Columbus Day to be Celebrated in France as Tribute to All America

The city of Havre, the French port from which vessels sail to North and South America, will hold today an elaborate celebration to honor the discovery of America by Columbus, and to pay friendly tribute to all the countries of the new world. Consuls of American countries, now in France will take part in the day's ceremony. Each consul will receive a silver medal bearing the date of the discovery of America. As part of the ceremony a bronze tablet will be placed upon the house where Lafayette stayed before leaving for the United States, and a statue of Francis I, founder of Havre, will be unveiled before the city hall.

A pageant in which 200 French school children are to take part, will reproduce scenes from the day's of Columbus. Knights and ladies will be feted as in that day, at a banquet given in honor of the 23 consuls who are expected to be present. The spirit of the celebration more than the special festivities will help to cement the friendship of America and France.

Post Office Employment Service Proposed for War Veterans

Representative Allen F. Moore, of Illinois, introduced a bill at Washington last week, providing for the use of the Post Office Department as an employment agency for service men who need jobs. All postmasters are required to compile information regarding opportunities for employment in their locality, to be put exclusively to the use of former service men and the blood relatives of deceased war veterans.

At least once each month postmasters shall compile a summary of the applications for employment on hand and unfilled and shall cause such summary to be brought to the attention of employers and the public within the delivery of their offices through submission to the press for publication or by any other reasonable means at their command. Postmasters and employers under their direction are hereby authorized and directed to give to any veteran or the blood relative of any deceased veteran, every reasonable aid and assistance in securing employment, and they are also authorized and directed to bring to the attention of employers information concerning veterans and blood relatives of deceased veterans who have made application with the postmaster for employment.

Postmasters in towns of 25,000 to 50,000 population may employ one war veteran as clerk for the employment service. Larger cities may have additional clerks in proportion to size.

"This bill is not a panacea for the ill of unemployment. It is intended rather to set up machinery insuring the veterans of the world war of employment as rapidly as good times return," Representative Moore explained. It creates but 556 new places throughout the United States, although it brings into play the activity and services of more than half a million persons.

"In the matter of expenditure of public money I believe that no method of establishing an employment service of this magnitude may be attempted without utilization of some existing government department or the expenditure of millions of dollars.

The Boys Who Went to Spain

A few weeks ago when we read that Spain had recruited several hundred American and Canadian soldiers for her forces in Morocco, we could not help wondering why Spain was seeking American soldiers, and what were the inducements that could lead our boys to enlist. The average reader, who found no comment in the press, other than the news that the boys had been recruited and had sailed, doubtless came near the correct surmise, that need of a job chiefly and in some cases a desire for adventure had led American soldiers to enlist in the Spanish foreign legion without knowing at all the policy of Spain, the character of the Moroccan issue, or the conditions they would be under in the Spanish army.

Apparently, no warning was issued to Americans against the Spanish foreign legion. One of the most startling conditions revealed since the successful recruiting campaign carried on here by Spanish representatives is that every American soldier who joined the Spanish legion for the Moroccan war, forfeited his American citizenship. He will therefore be without the aid of this government if he suffers misfortune and distress in a foreign country.

English and French comment on the Spanish war in Morocco leaves no doubt that our soldiers will be in distress, and gives slight hope that they will survive their first skirmish with the inhabitants of Morocco. Spanish efforts have so far been futile against native warfare in Morocco, according to the Manchester Guardian, because the Spanish officers do not adapt their attacks to the conditions of the country. A stupid adherence to impractical "rules" of warfare has made it easy for the natives to annihilate the forces of Spain. As a result the Spanish people will not stand for sending more troops of Spanish soldiers to be slaughtered, and the Spanish government undertook the recruiting of a foreign legion. Familiar with this history, English officers and the press warned English soldiers against the Spanish recruiting officers' inducements; the French government forbade recruiting altogether, and Spain, unable to replace her slaughtered troops with French or English soldiers, turned to America. Our soldiers should have been warned.

The Nation's Records Open to Fire Hazard. Archives Building Recommended

Lieut. Col. Clarence O. Sherrell, in charge of public buildings and grounds at Washington, has recommended the immediate construction of an archives building to house the valuable government records now stored in various parts of the city, and in many instances where fire dangers are great. Congress has already authorized such a building and the purchase of a site, but has made no appropriation.

The proper protection of our national records is of interest to every citizen in the country. It is of interest to every soldier in the World War and to the families and particularly the children of men who have rendered service of any kind to their government, and who may have lost their lives heroically in that service. It is so primary and great an obligation of any government to preserve all important records and documents, that it is hard to believe that such provision has not already been made.

The space required to house the national government records is great. Col. Sherrell points out that the draft records of men in the late war now occupy 500,000 square feet in a building in Washington barracks, and that other records stored in a temporary building occupy 225,000 square feet. Many thousands of feet of storage space are needed for the great bulk of invaluable government records and documents.

Col. Sherrell recognizes the need for economy and emphasizes in his recommendations to the Public Building Commission that provision for the safe keeping of our national records is an economy measure in itself. It is not the place where the people of the country would want the government to be penny wise and pound foolish.

SEAPLANE FLIES 188 MILES IN 80 MINUTES

Three Passengers Carried in Record Flight from Aberdeen, Md., to Port Washington

Travelling at the rate of more than two miles an hour in relation to grounds and water, a Loening seaplane established last week what was said to be the world's record for a seaplane, over a distance of 188 miles, when it flew from Aberdeen, Md., to Port Washington, L. I., in 80 minutes. The 88 miles air distance between Philadelphia and the Battery, New York City, was covered in 32 minutes.

The seaplane carried three passengers, Grover Loening, the designer; H. C. Richardson, who commanded one of the N-C flying boats on the trans-atlantic flight, and Clifford Webster, the pilot. To avoid varying wind currents he climbed to an altitude of 10,000 feet after flying a short distance at 2,000 feet.

Statue of Lincoln May Be Put on Battlefield

Crated and hidden from view in the government storeyard back of the bureau of engraving and printing, the statue of Abraham Lincoln, which formerly stood on Judiciary Square, may be resurrected from its obscurity to receive a triumphal rededication on the battlefield of Fort Stevens, where the martyred President was under fire during the civil war.

Col. C. O. Sherrill, officer in charge of public buildings and grounds, and the custodian of the statue, believes no more appropriate site could be selected for its permanent location, and will ask Congress to authorize its removal to the battlefield.

Congress has had the matter before it for some time. There has been strong support of and opposition to the proposal to give the statue its former location. Col. Sherrill, it was learned, will urge strongly the Fort Stevens site and ask Congress to reach a decision as soon as possible. —Washington Star.

More Women Seeking Higher Education

More girls than boys graduate from high schools, but more men than women have always been enrolled in the colleges and universities and other institutions of higher learning, according to a very comprehensive statistical report just completed by the United States Bureau of Education. That women are catching up with men in the number seeking higher education as well as high school diplomas, is shown by the figures of H. R. Bonner who directed the government study. In the past 26 years the number of college women has increased 156 per cent while the percentage of increase for men has been only 143 per cent.

A very interesting condition in present day education is that the proportion of high school students who enter college, falls off as the high schools are improved and broadened to cover vocational subjects. Mr. Bonner says:

"It is evident that colleges and universities have not succeeded in recent years in drawing as large a proportion of high school graduates as they formerly did.

"The multiplication of high schools, in the attempt to give every boy and girl the advantages of a high school education, has not resulted in a large proportion of subsequent enrollment in collegiate and graduate courses. One who has completed a commercial course in high school is not so likely to enter college after graduation as a student who has taken the purely academic or college preparatory course."

The information upon which Mr. Bonner bases his findings was collected from 672 universities, colleges and professional schools. Most of the number are small colleges, although a few large institutions are included.

"These percentages are significant," the report states, "in view of the fact that in public high schools only 35 per cent of the teachers are men, and in the elementary only 13.3 per cent. There is a tendency, therefore, for women to monopolize the elementary and secondary school work and for men to control the work in the higher institutions. The percentage of men instructors in colleges and universities has been steadily increasing since 1892, while the proportion of women teachers has decreased correspondingly. About one-half as many women as men receive graduate degrees from our colleges and universities, but only about one-fourth as many teach in these higher institutions. On the other hand, about eight times as many men as women receive the Ph. D. degree conferred on examination, yet only four times as many become teachers in universities."

Pussy Dead and Soldiers Mourn

A big cat, hero of the war, in the French lines at Amiens, has just died. Dispatches from Paris carry this news and the war record of "Diamond," as a tribute to the faithful mascot of the French soldiers.

The cat appeared one day, probably from a household in the rear of the lines, and refused to leave the soldiers. He was immediately named and adopted. Every day he went on a tour of inspection and indulged in a little scouting expedition of his own, crossing no-man's-land, picking his way through the entanglements to the very edge of the German front trenches.

The French soldiers in order to protect the cat, tied a package of cigarettes around his neck and a card with the words: "I bring you cigarettes; do not kill me." Since the war, Diamond, being a veteran has had the best of care and his death is mourned by many of the Poilus for whom he was a lucky mascot.

Read His Mind

Ambassador Jean Jules Jusserand, for the last twenty years the representative of France in the United States, has a sense of humor that is a constant delight to Washington.

What is probably his prize quip was made some years ago, when the public was engaged in laughing a ridiculous statue out of the capitol grounds. This statue was of George Washington. It represented the father of his country sitting, entirely nude, amid the snows and wintry blasts of Capitol Hill, one finger raised solemnly above his head.

"I know just what he is saying," M. Jusserand opined. "He is saying: 'My soul is in heaven and my clothes are in the National Museum.'" —Philadelphia Evening Ledger.

Ask Coleman du Pont

"A little flattery brings advancement more rapidly than service for the public good," remarked the cynical courtier.

"Why do you say so?"

"Because Walter Raleigh stepped into prosperity by spreading his cloak on the ground for the queen to walk on. He never would have gotten anywhere if he had started an agitation for a good roads movement." —Washington Star.

Jud Tunkin says he doesn't miss the charm of the human voice in motion pictures because conversation is one of the things he wants to get a rest from. —Washington Star.

New Uses For Cement

A pound can of plastic roof cement, price 20 cents, may save a much larger expenditure if the repairing is something that can be done by an amateur. We first used it for the purpose indicated by its name, and stopped a leak in a flat tin roof where the seams had spread a trifle. I used the cement on another roof and stopped a leak that carpenters and tanners had tried in vain to locate.

The next place that received an application was a kitchen window. One pane was badly cracked, and we thought we would see how the cement would do before buying new glass. The sash was taken out, laid flat and the cement was spread all along the crack. It was left in this position until the cement was somewhat set. There was a very small hole at one corner of the crack where a splinter of glass had broken off, and it, too, was mended. A bit of adhesive tape was first used to cover the hole, then the cement plastered thickly on both sides. For some time afterward the heat of the sun would soften it a little, but it finally hardened and has now given satisfaction for a year. It is not at all noticeable, being in the lower half of the window, and a sash curtain always in use. Some of the putty had loosened and fallen off, so we used the cement in its place, with good results. The frame was painted black on the outside, so the cement did not show; otherwise a coat of paint would have been necessary after it set.

A leak in a large galvanized iron bucket was stopped by spreading the cement on the outside of the seam. A small coal oil can was treated in the same way.

We are going to use this preparation on a crack in the bowl of our heating stove. A friend mended a base burner that way, and it held well. It is almost impossible to get stove repairs in any reasonable length of time, and it is also expensive. —Rural New Yorker.

Safe as a Bank!

Why do you so often hear that expression?
What makes banking the safest business?
What does this mean to you?

If You Are a Banker:

You believe in figures—accurate figures, and enough of them to show clearly just where your business, or any borrower's business stands.

Therefore you believe in the business principle embodied in Burroughs Machines, in their accuracy, time-saving, and profitable service to business.

Doubtless you post your ledgers on a Burroughs—most banks do—but are you familiar with all the ways Burroughs can serve you?

Have you seen the application of Burroughs Calculators to interest and analysis, or of other Burroughs Machines to teller's proof, transit letters, check and deposit journals, and many other bank uses?

If not, ask us for information, you'll find it interesting.

If You Are a Business Man:

You certainly desire to run your business as well as the banker does his—to be sure that accounts are posted, balanced and proved daily;

—to have an automatic check on over-extension of credit, to make prompt collections and avoid bad debts.

Then why not do it? It requires no big investment—you can buy a Burroughs Machine on easy terms. You will be surprised to see how quickly it will pay for itself, by preventing costly mistakes, saving time, and giving you a check on all your operations.

If you don't feel sure that it will more than pay its own way, we don't want you to take it. Call us on the telephone and let's talk it over.

America's Unknown Soldier

As befits a republic whose institutions exalt men as men, simplicity is to mark the solemn ceremonies which will end with the interment at Arlington of America's Unknown Soldier.

On the arrival of the cruiser Olympia from France the casket will be carried to the rotunda of the Capitol, to lie in state for a day and a night under the great dome. Then, on Armistice Day, President Harding, on foot and accompanied by the members of the cabinet and other high officers, will march at the head of the funeral cortege. By Presidential proclamation business and pleasure will everywhere stand at rest for two minutes to enable all to join in the observance of the day and to reflect briefly on the message and the meaning of the life and the death of this Unknown Soldier.

If it were feasible to transport these sacred relics from one end of the nation to the other, then the states would appear as mourners and great cities deem it a privilege to serve as pallbearers. But it is enough to join in spirit in the ceremonies at the capital and permit them to express and to symbolize a great people's universal feeling.

As the nation bows its head in the unseen presence of those who did not fail a new birth should come to high resolves. By the wine of other men's sacrifices let us be stimulated to press on to fulfill their victory. Their death may be rated a sufficient atonement for past folly and weakness. As the final salute echoes in the Virginia hills there will assemble near by representatives from the principal nations, intent on doing something to make it less needful in the future than in the past to summon unknown soldiers to offer their bodies as shields to right and justice. In the august company of the delegates will be a super-delegate, silent, but out of no man's thought—the average man whose foe is war.—New York Tribune.

Sunday School the teachers and officers must be enthusiastic. The reports of the Sunday Schools were given as follows: Mrs. Guessford for Salem Methodist Episcopal; A. E. Tomlin for Christiana Methodist Episcopal; Mrs. Poulter for Christiana Presbyterian; Miss Miriam Null for Newark Presbyterian; W. D. Dean for St. Thomas Episcopal, and Earl Dawson for the Newark Methodist Episcopal. Each report showed that these schools were increasing in attendance and desirous of higher goals for the coming year.

Dr. H. V. Holloway, Superintendent of Schools in Delaware, was the speaker of the evening. He gave a very interesting and constructive talk on "The Bible as the Text Book of the Sunday School," and outlined a practical illustration of teaching a lesson.

The officers elected for this year were: President, H. E. Tomlin, of the Christiana Methodist Episcopal Church; Vice-President, Miss Miriam Null, of the Newark Presbyterian Church, and Secretary-Treasurer, Earl Dawson, of the Newark Methodist Episcopal Church. The Executive Committee consists of M. O. Pence, of the Newark Methodist Episcopal; Rev. John MacMurray, of Head of Christiana Presbyterian; W. D. Dean, of St. Thomas Episcopal; Mrs. L. Elliott, of Christiana Methodist Episcopal; Mrs. Poulter, of Christiana Presbyterian; Mrs. A. G. Brooks, of Salem Methodist Episcopal, and Warren A. Singles, of Newark Presbyterian.

Those in charge of the convention are enthusiastic over the attendance and spirit displayed. The success was considered truly remarkable and plans are already being considered for the next meeting.

It has been left to the Executive Committee to decide the time and place for the next convention.

Interesting Speakers for the Delaware State Teachers' Association

The Delaware State Teachers' Association will hold its third annual meeting at Dover on November 10th, 11th and 12th. The session will commence with meetings of the executive board and of the various standing committees on the evening of November 10th. The first general meeting will be held on Friday morning, November 11th. At this meeting there will be addresses by State Supt. H. V. Holloway and Supt. David Ward of Wilmington, followed by an address on Physical Education by Dr. Burdette, director of the Public Athletic League of Maryland. In the afternoon there will be addresses by Prof. Florence E. Bamberger of Johns Hopkins University and Dr. S. H. Carress, Administrative Head of the Federal Board of Vocational Education, Washington, D. C. The round table discussions so popular last year will again be featured. These will include the following topics: Primary School Problems, Grammar School Problems, Rural School Problems, Problems of Secondary Education, Problems of Parent Teacher Associations, Problems of School Boards.

Through the courtesy of Dr. Budd of Wesley Collegiate Institute, the dinner and social hour will again be held at the Institute. In the evening Dr. Wm. H. Kilpatrick of Columbia University will be the principle speaker. After the address there will be a meeting of the representative assembly. Saturday morning there will be the annual business meeting followed by an address by Miss Mabel Carney of Columbia University. Saturday afternoon there will be a demonstration under the direction of Mr. Totten, of the work that is being done in the state in physical education. All the main meetings will be held at the Wesley Methodist Church.

WEDDINGS

Hopkins—Cornog

One of the first of the Fall weddings took place last Saturday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, when Miss Irma Love Cornog, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Cornog, became the bride of Mr. Clarence H. Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hopkins.

The ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Frank Herson, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal Church, officiating. The house was beautifully decorated with a mass of fall flowers and greens.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a gown of white canton crepe, with a tulle veil held in place with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas, was attended by Miss Mary Clancy as maid of honor. Miss Clancy wore a gown of yellow satin with shoes to match and carried yellow chrysanthemums. Mr. Ernest Cornog, a brother of the bride, was the best man. The wedding march was played by Professor Charles T. Edwards, of Wilmington.

About one hundred and fifty relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony and were guests at the wedding supper.

Both young people were members of the office staff of the Continental Fibre Company. They received a number of beautiful and useful gifts from their many friends here.

After a honeymoon in West Virginia, Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins will be at home in Newark, on the corner of Chapel and Main Streets.

Morgan—DuHamell

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. DuHamell announce the marriage of their daughter, May Virginia, to James F. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan, of Pennsville, New Jersey, on Saturday, October 8th, at 6 o'clock at the parsonage of the Brandywine M. E. Church, Wilmington, the Rev. W. E. Greenfield officiating.

Miss Edith Aiken was the bridesmaid and Daniel DuHamell, a brother of the bride, was best man.

After a short wedding trip the young couple will make their home here. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan are both well known here. She is a member of the office force of the Continental Fibre Company.

POLITICS IN DELAWARE

Return of Senator du Pont and Retirement of Marvel Topics of Discussion

Wilmington is all agog this week. Senator du Pont is home from the West, Josiah Marvel is about to retire from politics—what more is needed for a political sensation.

Early Monday morning friends, personal and political, began to arrive to pay honor and homage to Senator du Pont who has just returned from a rest in Colorado. But the Senator was ahead of them. Arriving by sleeper from New York, he had a normal man's day's work done before friends began to arrive. The Senator is reported as especially fit and seems ready to prove his case. He is much interested in the harbor improvement. If his enthusiasm for Wilmington development is carried to Washington, Delaware may expect big things from the next Congress. The Senator spent Monday and Tuesday in conferences with leaders, near-leaders and rank and file of his party. Today he is at Dover attending a meeting of the Highway Commission.

It is reported that Josiah Marvel will resign today from the Commission and following this will retire from active participation in Democratic management. This announcement has thrown a bomb into Saulsbury circles. His name gave them their big slogan for talking. His absence from active participation will be seriously resented by his friends. According to political prophets, his action while generous will in no way relieve the disturbance in Democratic ranks.

DELAWARE LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS TO HOLD ANNUAL CONVENTION

The Delaware League of Women Voters will hold its second annual convention at the Hotel du Pont, Wilmington, on Wednesday and Thursday, October 19th and 20th.

Mrs. Maude Wood Park, who is not only National President of the League, but in addition to that office holds the honor of representing thirteen of the big leading women's organizations in the United States as chairman of their joint legislative committee at Congress, will be present throughout the convention.

Of particular interest to club women in Delaware is the fact that opportunity will be given them at this time for hearing Miss Grace Abbott, chief of the Children's Bureau of the U. S. Department of Labor at Washington. As successor to the famous Julia Lathrop, Miss Abbott will be in charge of the administration of the Sheppard-Towner bill where it becomes a law. This bill carries with it an appropriation of one million dollars to be distributed among the states for the protection of maternity and infancy.

Many other speakers of national and local prominence are scheduled to speak at this convention—a convention which, by the way, invites the public regardless of race, creed or political faith to attend and enjoy. To prove its all-partisan attitude in politics, those members who happen to be staunch Republicans are urged to show their true sporting blood by bringing a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat with them and vice versa.

The mug-wumps too, are included in the invitation. The following organizations in the State have been asked to send fraternal delegates:

The Delaware Federation of Women's Clubs, Women's Temperance Union, Delaware State Grange, Parent-Teacher Association, Consumers' League, Delaware Association of College Women, Business and Professional Women's Club, and the Delaware State Teachers' Association.

The program is printed below. The League is not permitted to release the name of the speaker on "Limitation of Armaments" for the evening of the 19th. He is one of the most prominent statesmen and effective speakers in this country. This is an unusual opportunity which no man or woman can afford to miss.

Building Boom in Newark

Whatever conditions may be elsewhere, Newark has a Building Boom. It shows good judgment, too.

Building materials are certainly down to low ebb now. It is almost certain that spring will bring an advance. Then labor is plentiful now.

It's just the time to build.

Fall weather is usually good--there is yet time to get in your own home before winter.

Cool, Cozy, Indoor Nights

There's the tang of Jack Frost in the air these nights! And a smell of wood fires and visions of soft-lighted living-rooms.

The indoor nights are coming!

There's prospect of many cozy hours with our books or our knitting—of pleasant visits from our friends—of after-supper hour with the kiddies.

And certainly you'll want your living-room to be not only comfortable, but a place you'll be proud to welcome your friends to.

And what beautiful living-room furniture is here—and priced at today's low prices!

There are big, roomy upholstered suites, some covered in tapestry, as low as $200.00 for the suite—and others, in mohair and velour and two-tone effects, that range up to $700.00. Suites that are built right, the Megary way. Suites that are going to add immensely to the comfort and the appearance of someone's living-room.

There are Cane Suites as low as $135 for the three pieces, covered in tapestry and velour up to $450.

And easy chairs!

Dozens of soft, comfy chairs, covered in tapestry and velours and Morocco leather. Inviting, restful chairs that make us long for the cold, wintry nights and a good book.

Every one of these chairs is down to today's price and in many cases below today's price.

Indoor nights are coming!

Fix up your home now for these nights.

It may be a new rug or a soft-shaded lamp or an extra chair or new draperies.

But get it now and LIVE in your home these coming months.

B-r-r-r-r! Where's the Blankets?

There's a hurrying and scurrying these nights!

For the wind is blowing cold and no one wants to sleep in a cold bed. Consequently we are all hunting warm bed clothes and some of us have discovered perhaps that our supply is low.

Here are some particularly good blankets:

They come in white and grey and plaid and are priced at $6.50, $8.75, $10.50, $12.50, $15.00, $17.50 and $18.00. They will weigh from five to six pounds and are, according to price, from 15 to 100 per cent wool.

Cotton comforts, in fine silkline covered, are $4.00.

Lambs' wool comforts, covered in silkline, sateen and silk mull, are $7.00, $7.75, $8.75, $11.00 and $17.50.

Silk-covered comforts range from $19.00 to $30.00, filled with lambs' wool, soft and warm, the finest comforts you can buy, in blue and old rose.

Surely there's no need to shiver these nights when you can buy such warmth at such prices.

And note that these are TODAY'S prices on this bedding and that every blanket is plainly and truthfully marked with its filling.

If you're doing up your curtains a curtain stretcher is a necessity. Three good styles are $3.00, $4.50 and $6.00.

HEAVY INCREASE IN COLLEGE ROLLS*539 Princeton Freshmen

If there is a business depression in the United States it does not show in the number of students enrolled at the colleges and universities, which report, almost without exception, large increases and so many members of the freshman class that the institutions are seriously embarrassed. The roster follows:

Princeton—Princeton has enrolled 539 freshmen, the largest entering class in its history. Last year's class totaled 456.

Colgate—The freshman class numbers 197, which is second in size to last year's class of 250.

Georgetown—There are 872 freshmen in Georgetown University this year, an increase of 128.

Hamilton—Hamilton College has a freshman class of 122, an increase of 35 per cent in five years.

America to Have the Best Zoo in the World

A wealthy Chicago woman, Mrs. Harold F. McCormick, has donated a tract of forest preserve to the county in which it lies, near Chicago. She has engaged Edward Kreu, who has come here from Europe, to draft plans for zoological gardens which will rival the famous Hagenbeck Gardens in Germany. The latter were sacrificed during the war, and Mrs. McCormick has both the opportunity and the ambition to make the new gardens in this country the finest in the world.

Smyrna Eleven 67 to 0

The Newark High School football team, State champions for second class High Schools last year, opened the home season last Friday afternoon by overwhelming Smyrna High School, 67 to 0. The local boys outclassed their lighter opponents in all angles of the game.

Captain Swartz, Hayes and Myer were the aces on the Newark team. The former tore through the visitors' line repeatedly for long gains and scored three touchdowns. Hayes, at quarter, ran his team well and did Newark's kicking. The locals used a mass formation that crushed Smyrna's line before it. Deamer was the star for the visitors.

Henning, who left school last week, will be in Newark's lineup for their next game. Henning starred against Wilmington High last Saturday and his return to school will greatly strengthen Coach McDonald's squad.

How Soon Will All of Us Own Automobiles?

Everybody who drives an automobile or has tried to find a vacant place in which to park one, and every pedestrian who is daily obliged to dodge automobiles, or to wait for an endless stream of them to pass, that he may cross a busy street—every one of these persons, or nearly everybody—must have asked himself some time:

"What is going to happen when there are several times as many automobiles as there are now? How many automobiles are there going to be in this country, anyhow? Where are we going to put them all?"

The presumption always seems to be that there is practically no end to the increase in the use of automobiles. Out 9,000,000 are now in use, but there are something like 105,000,000 people in the United States, so that there are still many millions who do not own their own cars. How many of these 105,000,000 are eventually going to buy? Not nearly so many as might be expected. Indeed, it appears doubtful if there will ever be as many cars in use as there are today. The point of saturation is probably only a few years ahead.

The greatest number of possible automobile buyers, even by a liberal estimate, is less than 20,000,000—about the number of white American families. Not every man who has the price of an automobile will buy one. For example, there are fishermen, lumbermen, sailors, soldiers, light-house keepers and others who would have scant opportunity to drive a car after they got it. Then there are thousands of people living in cities whose earnings might permit them to keep automobiles if they were in a smaller place, where garage rents are less, and also where there is less traffic.

The productive capacity of the automobile industry in this country has been stated to be 2,660,000 cars a year at the close of 1920. If all plants should produce at their full capacity and if the cars should last on the average long enough to be registered during six seasons, the annual registration would soon be from 15,000,000 to 16,500,000.

The answer appears to be, then, that competition between these manufacturing establishments will be sharper than ever, and prices of automobiles will eventually be much lower.—New York Times.

New Jobs for English Women; They Want to Fly

The proposed opening of a school in London for training skilled flyers to handle public air-taxi planes, brought a half dozen women applicants. Airplane experts have decided that women are particularly fitted to handle the modern flying machine, the proper guiding of which depends greatly upon delicacy of touch.

Women passengers are being booked in growing numbers for all the regular airplane travel in England, and women are actively interested in promoting both the expansion, and the comfort and efficiency of airplane service.

The English press is supporting this interest on the part of women by printing numerous accounts of incidents in which the women have displayed courage and skill.

SEES MARVELS FROM INTELLIGENCE TESTS

Predicts We'll Do With Mind What Burbank Does With Matter

Dr. Frank P. Graves, the New York State Commissioner of Education, and Dr. John Enright, the new New Jersey Commissioner of Education, were speakers at a dinner of the Schoolmasters' Club recently in the Aldine Club, in New York. Dr. Graves spoke on "Intelligence Tests," which he said were among the most prominent educational factors we have today. Such tests, he said, were no longer a matter of theory but of practical usage among men who try to get hold of the mind power of the country. Dr. Graves divided intelligence into three groups—abstract intelligence, mechanical intelligence and social intelligence. The last he defined as the ability to understand and manage men and women—this, he said, was the most important. Here are some excerpts from his speech:

"Don't worry if the child is precocious. He will be precocious when he is your age. If he is the slowest at 15 he will be the slowest at 50.

"The time will come when we will do the same thing with intelligence that Burbank has done with vegetable life.

"It is a terrible calamity that we try to push through college a boy with an intelligence quota of 85.

"What is sometimes called low intelligence is lack of education.

"We used to hold that a rich man was both good and intelligent and made him a trustee of our universities, put him in the vestry of our church or gave him a place on the board of deacons. Now we are swinging the other way."

Dr. Enright, in discussing "Modern Tendencies," touched on intelligence tests. He told that once as a test he asked a class why it wanted education. A little hand shot up promptly.

"Well, my boy," he said, "what do you want an education for?" "For my dog," was the answer.

Studebaker

This is a Studebaker Year

We have been asked the question how we account for the tide of Studebaker popularity which has swept the country.

Among others, two fundamental causes explain it:

1. The outstanding cause is the value of Studebaker Cars, in quality, style, performance, durability, and price, demonstrated by the complete satisfaction and enthusiasm of nearly one-half million owners who know values.
2. The universal respect for and confidence in the integrity of the name STUDEBAKER which for seventy years has been the symbol of quality and fair dealing.

Crowning proof of the dependability of Studebaker cars is reflected in our diminishing business in service parts.

With approximately 116,000 more Studebaker cars in operation on September 1st, 1921, our parts business the first eight months of this year was 3% less than in the same period two years ago.

While our car manufacturing plants operated this year 41% ahead of last year, our service parts manufacturing plant has operated at from one-half to two-thirds of last year.

Studebaker Cars are standing up in service and staying out of repair shops, to a degree unexcelled, we believe, by any cars of whatever price.

High School Scrimmage with Reserves of University

The Newark High School eleven engaged in a practice scrimmage with the Reserves of the University football squad, on Frazer Field, Monday afternoon, and managed to hold the collegians to a 7-7 tie. It is easily installed—goes in your basement, out of the way. Does away with stoves and their unsightliness, their dirt, their discomfort. No need of keeping up several different fires—no ashes and no smoke in the living room.

The Waterbury warms your entire home with moist healthful air; air free from coal-gas, smoke, ashes and dust. There is no waste heat. The Waterbury is very economical of fuel.

The cost of the Waterbury is moderate and it can be installed in a few hours. Will outlast several stoves. Your basement stays cool.

Make your home cheerful and comfortable. Come in and talk it over with us.
