Defense Day Here Is Very Poorly Attended

Only 40 Civilians Report For Duty in Test of Strength—Exercises in Armory

Efforts to bring Newark into line with other towns of the country in the Defense Day test on Friday last, met with but passive response, according to information received from leaders in the movement.

In all, about 40 civilians reported to the officers of Battery E here for duty in case of an emergency.

Various reasons have been advanced for the showing in Newark. Efforts were made by the Defense Day Committee, of which Major Clarence A. Short was chairman, to have an adequate representation present. Due to the fact that some of the members of the committee were out of town several days prior to Defense Day, it is believed that some of the detailed plans were not completely prepared.

A short parade was held early Friday evening, starting from the Armory to Elkton Road, thence to Main Street, down Main to Chapel, to Hoate and back to Armory. The parade was led by Major Short, followed by the Continental Band. Battery E, with about 40 men in line followed, and then a group of civilian volunteers.

The stands of colors failed to arrive in time for the start of the procession, but were put in line during the march.

Speaking in Armory

Immediately after the parade, a short speaking program was held in the Armory, in which about 150 citizens took part. The meeting was opened by Major Short, who, after a brief address, introduced Hon. James L. Hughes, of Wilmington. Mr. Hughes centered his talk upon preparedness as the only sure protector of peace. His address was well prepared and thoroughly applicable to the defense day.

Major Walter Hulihan, a member of the local committee, spoke of the General Staff work. Dr. Hulihan reported on duty on the Staff in Washington the same day, he being a reserve officer thereon.

Major Arthur W. Underwood, new commandant of the Military Department at the University, spoke briefly of the events in the latter part of the world war, in which American troops made such a fine showing. He spoke particularly of the Mouse-Argonne drive, and in conclusion urging that America be always prepared for an emergency.

A roll call of the organizations, clubs and firms in the town was taken. As the names were called, members of the audience arose to report them ready for duty. The Continental Band was not present at the meeting, having disbanded through a misunderstanding at the close of the parade.

DR. STEEL IS BETTER

Arm Felt Through Town When He Was Taken To Hospital

Reports from the Homeopathic Hospital yesterday indicated that Dr. H. Steel is recovering rapidly and will soon be able to take charge of his practice here. Dr. Steel was admitted to the hospital Sunday, following a cursory examination made by a fellow physician here. It was stated that a recent trouble with his leg had developed into poisoning of some sort. Hospital physicians prayed the leg and found nothing serious. It is believed he was suffering with a severe attack of grippe.

Dam Ready To Fill Again

Reports from Sunset Lake indicate that the recent break in the old race trackwork has been repaired and that water is being let into the lake once more. It is the hope of the anglers' Association that the project will undergo no further setbacks.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Lee Savage, colored, pleaded not guilty in General Sessions Court this morning before Judges Richards and Hynes to indictments charging him with a criminal assault upon Mary Annum, 15 years old, and an assault on battery upon Albert Crossan, the girl's aged grandfather.

The assaults are alleged to have occurred in the Crossan home at Corner Ketch on August 8.

FARMER KILLS SELF BY HANGING; FASHIONED NOOSE FROM GRAPEVINE

John M. Starr, Tenant on Samworth Farm, Found by Employer in Neighboring Woods Sunday

John M. Starr, aged 39 years, a tenant of the farm of Thomas G. Samworth, in the Pike Creek section of Mill Creek Hundred, committed suicide some time between Saturday evening and dawn Sunday morning last.

His body was found dangling from a grapevine noose, about a half mile from his home, in the woods of George Knotts. The gruesome discovery was made by Mr. Samworth, his employer.

The fact that Starr said nothing to his wife or friends which would indicate his desire to end his life, added to the discovery that he had fashioned the noose from which he hung from a long piece of wild grapevine, which he adjusted and made fast himself, combine to make the case one of the most unusual and tragic to come to light here in many years.

His body was brought to Newark Sunday morning by Robert T. Jones, local undertaker, and prepared for shipment to Starr's home in Carey, Ohio. The dead man is survived by a wife, about the same age, and one child, a girl about seven years old.

Disappeared Saturday Night

The events leading up to the discovery of the body began about 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon.

Starr, who has been farming the Samworth place since last June, left the house to bring in the cows, saying that he wanted to get the barn work done early so that they could go into Newark for the evening. Mrs. Starr then set about preparing an early supper.

When Starr failed to come back within a reasonable time his wife notified Mr. Samworth, who with his family live in another part of the big farmhouse. The latter suspecting that Starr might have been suddenly taken ill, went out across the meadow to find him and the cows. He came upon the herd in its usual place but saw no trace of his tenant.

As night drew on, both Mrs. Starr and the Samworths became extremely worried and at nine o'clock the owner of the place sent out a call to neighbors and organized a searching party. The group, with lanterns in hand, went to all parts of the farm, investigated thickets and vines, but failed to find a trace of Starr.

Newark Golfers Wallop Easton, Score 19-10

Win Deciding Match On Club Grounds Saturday—Armstrong Stars

Both the English poloists and the Easton, Md., golfers struck snags Saturday afternoon.

The Englishmen and their futile quest are already known. But it is for us to chronicle the fact that foreign invaders were repulsed right here in Newark the same day.

It all came about through a series of golf matches arranged between the Talbot Country Club of Easton and the Newark golfers. Until Saturday, both teams had won a match, and it was sink or swim for all concerned. Newark swam, and Easton sank. And there you have it.

The final score was 19-10, arrived at after several hours of struggling up and down the hills out on the course here. It was not a landslide, but it was a comfortable victory to tuck away, and considering that Newark is a "baby" club in competition, the score is not a little gratifying. In fact, it is with no mean pride that we were told of the slaughter.

Armstrong Wins Handily

J. P. Armstrong, one of the best the local club has in stock, won out over Gregg, of Easton, in the feature match of the day, 4 and 2. Armstrong was defeated at Easton by the same man a few weeks ago, but all was forgiven after his match Saturday. He played one round just a stroke above par for the course.

The other matches resulted in some nip and tuck struggles:

Dr. Sypherd lost to Polack, of Easton, 5-4; Ernest B. Wright lost his match with Bond, 2-1; Harry L. Bonham won from Spring, 6-5; Pie beat C. P. Buck, 4-3; Finnan defeated Johnson, of Easton, 5-4; Courtney Houghton scored a 2-1 win over E. R. Buck; Chester Moore lost to Armstrong, 2-1; "Doc" Smith, of Wilmington, a Newark member, beat Elliott, of Easton, 3-2, and C. O. Houghton closed the books with a win over Brougham, 2-1.

It was a big day for Newark all around. Perfect weather greeted the golfers as they set out over the course; a large gallery about the clubhouse, on the porch and over the course, watched the play from vantage points, and interest ran high as the results of each match were posted.

The showing made by Newark in defeating the Easton team as a starter shows the quality of golfers being produced up on the hill. While there is no boasting indulged in, this victory, in the opinion of members of the club, will go a long way towards instilling the confidence and aggressiveness necessary to make Newark Country Club a leader in the Ancient and Honorable Game as played in these parts.

ROTARY CLUB PLANS VISIT TO COLLEGE

Afternoon and Evening of September 27th Set For Annual Outing

Arrangements are now being made for the annual Rotary Club outing at the Women's College this year. The date set is Saturday, September 27th. Members of the Wilmington Club, their wives and lady friends will no doubt motor down in a body, arriving early in the afternoon. Sports of various kinds, including a baseball game between the Rotarians and the W. C. D. nine will be held. Dean W. J. Robinson will be hostess on the occasion.

Members of a local committee of Rotarians will meet with A. C. Wilkinson, business administrator at the College, on Thursday of this week to perfect plans for the entertainment of the guests. Dr. Walter Hulihan, president of the University, is chairman of the local committee.

INFANT SERIOUSLY HURT

Child Of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Potter, Near Town, Injured Yesterday

Falling down the steps at its home near White Clay Creek Church yesterday morning, a 13-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Milton G. Potter is believed to be suffering serious injuries. The baby was rushed to a Wilmington hospital, where it was feared that it suffered a fractured skull. The child's condition is said to be serious.

Mr. and Mrs. Potter occupy the old White Clay Church farm. Mr. Potter having completed a course in agriculture at the Rehab School here a year ago.

NO MORE CONCERTS

President Ryden, of the Newark Music Society, announced yesterday that there would be no further open-air concerts at the Academy bandstand this season.

Starr's Brother Was Killed In War

Mrs. John M. Starr, widow of the man who committed suicide in George Knott's woods some time Saturday evening, stated Sunday that she hated to tell the dead man's mother of the tragedy.

It seems that the old lady was almost fatally stricken when she received word of the death of another son in action during the World War. Whether she would be able to stand the shock of this added blow is problematical, it is said. The Starrs are natives of Carey, Ohio.

Collins To Run For Representative

Frank Collins, of Newark, confirmed last night the report that he is a Democratic candidate from the Ninth District to the General Assembly at Dover. Mr. Collins stated that persistent urgings on the part of his friends here caused him to change his position. He has heretofore steadfastly refused to be a candidate.

Mr. Collins and Robt. J. Crow are so far the only candidates on the Democratic ticket. The winner at their primaries will oppose James C. Hastings at the general election in November.

Colbert-Fader Nuptials Held This Evening

Wedding of Great Local Interest Solemnized in Presbyterian Church at 7 P. M.

A wedding of great local interest, since the bride and groom are both native Newarkers, will be performed in the First Presbyterian Church here this evening at seven o'clock, when Miss Florence Elizabeth Colbert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Colbert, of Delaware Avenue, will become the wife of John Raymond Fader, son of the late Gottlieb and Mary Fader, founders and for many years head of Fader's Bakery, on Main Street. The ceremony will be performed by Rev. H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the church.

The spacious church has been beautifully decorated for the affair with cut flowers and palms forming the chief scheme of arrangements. The pulpit has been banked on all sides with flowers forming a beautiful bower under which the wedding party will stand during the ceremony.

Miss Nellie B. Wilson, organist at the church, will play the wedding march. Miss Anne Ritz, a warm friend of the bride, will sing just prior to the entrance of the wedding party. The bride will be given in marriage by her father.

Large Wedding Party

A large wedding party, composed entirely of friends and schoolmates of both bride and groom, will attend them at the ceremony.

Mrs. George S. Wood, a sister of the bride will be matron of honor. The best man will be Walter D. Holton, a life long friend of the groom.

The bridesmaids will be the Misses Violet Fader, sister of the groom, Rebecca Morgan, Emma Lovett and Marian Smith.

The ushers are J. Paul Winthrop, Albert Rhoades, F. Johnson Rowan and A. Frank Fader.

Beautiful gowns worn by the ladies of the wedding party will be a feature of the ceremony. The bride will wear a gown of white beaded georgette. Her long trailing veil will be held in place by lilies of the valley. She will carry a bride's shower bouquet.

FARM HOUSE BURNED TO GROUND

Roberts Home, Near Summit, Destroyed Saturday Night; Firemen Respond

(Special Correspondence)

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Roberts, between Glasgow and Summit Bridge, was destroyed by fire between eight and nine o'clock Saturday night. It is thought that it started in the kitchen while Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were at Middletown on business. The complete dwelling was burned and all the contents except the furniture in the two lower front rooms.

Three fire companies responded to the call for aid. They were, Chesapeake City, Newark and Middletown. The outbuildings were all saved owing to the wind protecting them by its course and the work of the three fire companies.

The Barraca Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church will hold a reception for the congregation in the Lecture Room tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock.

All members of the Auxiliary and congregation are urged to be present.

ONE ON THE LIBRARIAN

The following squib was taken from "Gaylord's Triangle," a national magazine in interest of librarians. It has reference to Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of New York, who lectured at the Summer School here this year.

It is said that Dr. S. Parkes Cadman once asked in a library for "Letters of St. John." "What is his first name?" the assistant answered. "A depressing dialogue is this, supposedly true, 'Have you the psalms?' Who is the author?" "David." "David who?" But this happened in a book store, not a library.

Claringbold Loses Hoffercker Winner In G.O.P. Primaries Here

Mrs. Whittingham Defeated for Representative in Pencader—Local Workers Active at Polls

More than usual interest centered about the polls in White Clay Creek Hundred Saturday when the Republican primary elections were held. Although the contests among local people were few, what there were aroused plenty of action among political workers, candidates and the voters themselves.

Although his opponents predicted the result, the defeat of Thomas R. Claringbold for Levy Court Commissioner by George W. Burris, of New Castle Hundred, came as a surprise to many. Mr. Claringbold managed to carry this hundred with a majority of about 18, but he was beaten in the second district. A heavy vote polled in Red Lion and New Castle Hundreds won for Mr. Burris. His plurality was about 240. John F. Richards also of Newark, ran a poor third.

Large Vote Polled

About 15,000 votes were polled throughout the city and county for the contenders for places on the Republican ticket. One of the unlooked for results were the heavy majorities accorded David Hutchinson for Clerk of Orphans' Court; William N. Lank for Sheriff, and Harvey K. Wadman for Coroner.

Newark stood by Harvey Hoffercker for re-nomination to the Prothonotary berth, and he came through with flying colors, easily defeating George Wigglesworth.

A most spirited contest for representative took place down in Pencader Hundred Saturday. Three Candidates were in the field and the final result was not known until late Saturday evening. Mrs. Bessie Whittingham, the only woman in this section to run for office was defeated in a close race by Deputy. Charles Walton, W. C. Brooks and Mrs. Whittingham followed closely behind the winner, only four votes separating them. Brooks ran third by one vote over the Newark woman.

James C. Hastings ran unopposed for Representative from this hundred, as Clarence McVey, of Stanton, withdrew from the race two days prior to the primaries. It is reported, however, that Hastings was cut in the Christiana district by about 50 votes, and by 6 in the two upper districts of the hundred.

One other local man withdrew just before Saturday in the person of Charles P. Wollaston for Levy Court. He supported Burris.

Firemen Win Twice At Kennett Square

Carry Off Both First and Second Prizes in Competition Thursday Night

The Aetna Hose, Hook and Ladder Company of Newark proved to be the sensation of the big Firemen's Parade in Kennett Square, Pa., last Thursday evening.

The Newark fire laddies won undivided approval from all the spectators along the route of march, and ended up their night's activities by drawing down both first and second prizes.

The first prize of $25 in gold for the company having the most men in line went to Newark. In addition, the local firemen were awarded a beautiful silver loving cup for making the best appearance in the parade. Those red shirts and natty blue trousers made quite a hit in the Pennsylvania town.

Another nearby fire company, Rising Sun, was awarded the prize for coming the longest distance.

The Newark firemen, over fifty strong, left Newark with their big ladder truck shortly after six o'clock Thursday evening, and reached Kennett Square in plenty of time for the parade. They were headed by the Continental Band of Newark.

The Carnival at Kennett, a 10-day affair, was a great affair according to local visitors, many of whom went up Thursday night to cheer on their favorites from Newark. Companies were in line from West Chester, West Grove, Avondale, Coatesville, Parkersburg and other Pennsylvania towns.

One of the veterans of the fire fighting service of Newark, H. B. Wright, accompanied the firemen to Kennett. Mr. Wright was connected actively with the Aetna Company for many years, and is still a member. He served as treasurer for a great part of his life, and it was mainly through his efforts that the company was kept alive during the hard days of its early life.

Newark firemen are to be congratulated on their accomplishments this summer. They have won prizes consistently and always a splendid showing wherever they go.

19 DELINQUENTS IN SCHOOL TAX TO DATE

Magistrate Thompson Serving Summons On Backward Ones In Community

Nineteen names remained on the list of school tax delinquents prepared by Harrison H. Grey and handed to Magistrate Thompson for collection two weeks ago.

The original list included fifty residents of the school district who had been backward in their taxes. This number has been greatly decreased as a result of summons served on them, and continued efforts are being made to get the back money in the coffers.

Since the list is so small at present, it was deemed inadvisable to publish the names this week. The amounts due range from $5.00 up to $90.00.

At her apartment, Twelfth and Market streets, Wilmington, Mrs. Mary J. Pierce, widow of Ezra Pierce, died Saturday afternoon at 2.30, from diabetes. She was formerly of Newark, but had been residing in Wilmington for some time. Mrs. Pierce was a member of the Delaware Avenue Baptist Church. Funeral

Mrs. Sadie E. Lynam

Having suffered a general breakdown, Mrs. Sadie E. Lynam, aged 57 years, died at her home in Newport, last Wednesday, September 10, 1924, from phlebitis, poor blood circulation, after having been confined to her bed for three weeks. Deceased had been a resident of that township for 35 years, having moved there from New Castle, where she was born. As a member of the Newport Civic Club and the M. E. Church there she took an active part in the work, especially in the church, where she also belonged to the Ladies' Aid. Two years ago Mrs. Lynam opened the "Lynam Tea House" on the Newport pike, and was managing it at the time of her death. This tea house is in a building about 200 years old, having been, when first built, a stage coach stop, on the road between Philadelphia and Washington. Sixty-five years ago it was acquired by the Lynam's and has been used as their homestead since. Funeral services were held from her home last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. J. L. CROP REPORTS

Apples

A crop of 1,845,000 bushels of apples is forecast for Maryland this year by the United States Department of Agriculture on basis of growers' reports as of September 1, according to a statement given out at Baltimore this week, and of this total it is estimated about 302,000 barrels will be commercial. Total production last year was estimated to be 2,300,000 bushels. 460,000 barrels of this total it is estimated moved into consuming channels.

The Delaware crop is estimated to be about 1,203,000 bushels on basis of September 1 condition as reported by growers—about the same as 1923 production in Delaware.

Apples in northern and western Maryland counties were adversely affected by the cold, wet spring, says the statistician, and that prevented proper pollination in the opinion of many growers. On the Maryland eastern shore and in Delaware growing conditions were more favorable and a somewhat larger crop was realized there.

Hay Forecast

Farmers of Maryland and Delaware may hang up new high records for hay production this season, says John S. Dennee, federal crop statistician at Baltimore, who bases his opinion on September 1 farm reports to the United States Department of Agriculture. If the present crop outlook will be realized, and it will be, he says, allowing for average variations from now till the hay is finally gathered, a crop of about 718,000 tons will go into the barns of Maryland. This big total has never been exceeded since the Department began to keep records of hay production in Maryland, he adds. Average production of the past five years is 551,000 tons. During the season 1923 only 420,000 tons were made. The growing season this year was distinctly favorable of the time to hay-lands and meadows. Many farms report bumper yields. Condition September 1 in Maryland was given as high as 110 per cent of a normal.

Delaware's forecast is 139,000 tons against 93,000 harvested in 1923, and 98,000 tons, the average for the past five years—an increase of about 50 per cent over 1923 crop.

In Memoriam

In sad and loving remembrance of our dear son, Elmer L. Todd, who died one year ago, September 25, 1923.

In our heart your memory lingers, So tender, kind and true; There is not a day, dear Elmer, That we do not think of you.

I never will forget you, dear son, While in this world I stay, My heart has never been the same Since you were called away.

Gone from this earth, yes gone forever, Tear dimmed eyes do look in vain. I shall hear his voice no never, Nevermore on earth again.

Yes, I am lonely, sad and weary And my troubled heart doth mourn That the world should seem so dreary We are alone, alone.

Sadly miss by Mother and Father.

ELKTON DEFENSE DAY PARADE IS SMALL

Reports from Elkton on Defense Day indicate that the activities there were very limited, being consumed mostly by a short parade and a meeting in the Armory.

The parade had no music whatever, and it is reported that finally a drum was procured somewhere and led the parade the remainder of the route.

The procession was very small, it is reported. Flags were displayed in many homes, and some few stores and business houses were closed. There seemed to be little interest shown in the test.

A Lancaster despatch, dated last Saturday, says:

"The largest fish ever caught in the Susquehanna River on this side of the Mason-Dixon line, 160-pound sturgeon, was taken alive by D. Burk, of Peach Bottom. The fish is seven feet long and its value is estimated at nearly $100.

The fish was found stranded on a large rock in the middle of the river near Peach Bottom, several miles below McCall's Ferry dam. It is thought that the fish got on the rock and when the water receded it was left stranded.

Constitution Week and Its Call

"Let me write the songs of a Nation and I care not who makes its laws" has much meaning. Let us see the books a man reads and we will describe the character. Let us know the Events a people celebrate and we will write a Nation's history.

This week by Proclamation Appeal is Constitution Week, the idea being to bring to the attention of a Republic's citizenship, this Great Charter of Rights and Liberty and to renew a devotion to the principles here set down. And this is indeed well. These times, serious as we are forced to admit, demand not only a Thinking Citizenship enjoying privileges afforded but an acting electorate sensitive to the obligations imposed.

Upon our knowledge, our appreciation, our interest, in thought, word and deed of these documents rests the future of our Institutions. But Knowledge, in terms of Political Philosophy or legal interpretation will not do it; appreciation of its History with the dramatic appeal of blood and sacrifice, will not; nor will writing and speaking. Citizenship is not thought and word, today, but action.

And never before has our Country so needed action as now; never have our Ideals as expressed in the Declaration of Independence and Laws as set down in our Constitution so demanded individual attention. Reverence and Respect, no nor Celebration, either, are not sufficient—nor even thought. Action is the need of the hour and that can best be expressed by registration and voting.

The man or woman qualified to vote who fails to cast his or her ballot, fails as an American—and America never fails.

"Get Registered" is not an appeal from a political headquarters or candidate for office. It is a call from our Fathers who gave all for this Nation and a call from our children, yet unexpressed, to preserve it. Citizenship, ideal and practical, is not the thought, nor the word but the deed. Faust was right; "In the beginning is the deed."

Radio Fairy Tales vs. Reason

Calvin Coolidge will be the next President of the United States if the people of the United States exercise to the full their right of citizenship and express by ballot their sentiment and their judgment. It is only by a small vote in the nation on election day due to indifference of American citizens that there can be any other result. This prediction is made from a study of reports received from all sections of the country; reports not from politicians but from individuals in every walk of life and from newspapers, the editors of which have made a careful survey of conditions. This composite opinion represents the views of men and women in all walks of life, farmers, mechanics, bricklayers, dairymen, stock-growers, railroad men, lawyers, storekeepers, school teachers, plasterers, carpenters, plumbers, bankers, garage-men, editors, clerks, barbers, automobile dealers, ministers, members of women's organizations, and many others too numerous to mention.

The farmers have not been fooled by the LaFollette platform; they remember, as do the producers of dairy products, that the third party candidate, LaFollette, could have secured for them greater protection if he had made the effort and had been a constant attendant of the sessions of the committee, his vote might have blocked the free traders. The dairymen do not agree with LaFollette in his "reduce the tariff" policy on many things that are produced in this country, neither are the stockmen going to enlist under the banner of the man from Wisconsin. The fairy tales that sound like some of the bed-time stories one hears on the radio, that have been sent to the farmer have not been accepted as the truth by the men who till the soil; they have seen through the flimsy arguments and misleading statements that have been sent out by free traders and low tariff supporters who do not dare come out with a statement saying that free trade or a low tariff would help the farmer. These spellbinders when asked if a low tariff would cause our prices to compare with the prices of the poor peasant in Europe generally change the conversation.

A nation-wide movement is on foot to get out the vote this year, all classes of people are interested in having the verdict made square and clean cut and thousands who have never before voted for a Republican President will, this fall, register their votes in favor of the principles of liberty and justice as against the teachings of the soviet. As one paper in Wyoming says, "A good bit is to be gained by studying the LaFollette platform. In it will be discovered many surreptitious stabs at the very vitals of this country. In some way not open to public view, LaFollette is in close touch with alien forces engaged in boring from within for control of this country. And who knows the purposes for this desire for control? It cannot be honest or it would be open and above board. Dishonest purposes are those that are concealed and surrounded by mystery."

General Dawes said in a recent speech, referring to LaFollette's platform, "Does he think that we are a race of fools?" High wages, good times generally and a reduction of taxes and the strictest economy in government expenditures are matters that the voters are going to carefully consider when they go to the polls in November. No, we are not a race of fools.—From N. P. A.

NEWSPAPERMEN ON PARTY

Havre de Grace Rotarians Entertain Two Press Associations

A right royal time was had by every newspaperman belonging to the Delmarvian or Maryland Press Associations who attended the outing at Havre de Grace on Monday of this week. The Havre de Grace Rotary Club was host to the visitors.

In the afternoon the entire party went to Aberdeen, where they were shown about the government proving grounds and everything explained to them. In the evening a dinner party was held in the Bayou Hotel, with members of the Press Associations guests of honor.

Elkton Rotarians present also were at the dinner, and joined in the fun. It was voted a complete success in every way.

HARMONY GRANGE IN REGULAR MEETING

Harmony Grange met in regular session Monday evening. The secretary, Mrs. Ethel Brackin, was absent due to a severe cold.

Both the fertilizer order and the timothy seed order are ready to be sent out. The former next week, and the latter within a day or two. Business of a minor nature was then taken up and disposed of.

The Lecturer's Hour consisted of a roll call, and each person as their name was called asked a question. If none in the assemblage could answer it, the questioner was required to do so. Many interesting and instructive questions thus came before the meeting and a most enjoyable time was had during the hour.

"Good Roads, Flowers, Parks, Better Schools, Trees, Pure Water, Fresh Air, Sunshine and Work for Everybody"—OUR MOTTO

THE CONSTITUTION

LET EVERY AMERICAN, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity, swear by the blood of the Revolution, never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of "seventy-six" did to the support of the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution and the Laws let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor; let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap. Let it be taught in schools, in seminaries, and in colleges. Let it be written in primers, spelling-books, and in almanacs. Let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. And, in short, let it become the political religion of the nation.

—ABRAHAM LINCOLN

THE LAST FORM

When earth's last form has been printed,
And the presses are rusted and stilled;
When the last slug is cast on the line
And there are no more forms to be killed,
We shall rest, and, faith, we shall need it,
Lay off for an aeon or two,
Till the Super of all good workers
Shall hand us some copy anew.
And those who set right shall be happy,
And each by a great golden case,
Shall fashion most wonderful settings,
In types of spiritual face.
And the quads and the leads will be plenty;
We shall all work with bright Golden Rules,
And when time is called for the recess,
We shall wash up in clear, limpid pools.
—Jo Swerling.

Reception At House

Immediately upon conclusion of the ceremony at the church, Mr. and Mrs. Fader and members of the wedding party will hold a reception at the home of the bride's parents, on Delaware Avenue. The bride has already received a large number of gifts.

Later in the evening, the bride and groom will leave Newark for a wedding trip, after which they will be home in their newly acquired house on Prospect Avenue, Newark.

Miss Colbert and Mr. Fader enjoys a host of friends in Newark and adjoining communities. Both have lived here practically all their lives and attended Newark schools together. Miss Colbert has for sometime been secretary to Dean C. A. McCue, of Wolf Hall, and actively connected with the business department of the Agricultural Experiment Station here. She is considered one of the most capable young women in the employ of the University, and her pleasant manner and friendliness has won her a host of admirers.

Mr. Fader, since the death of his father over a year ago, has, with his sisters, taken over the management of Fader's Bakery, founded fifty-two years ago on the same site it now stands, and they have conducted it successfully since that time. The groom was graduated from Newark High School and later entered Delaware College, spending two years here, when he was called to active management of the business of his father. He is a Newark boy in every way and is well known to every resident. His energy and ability in helping with the business has won him many personal as well as business friends. Numbered among the people the wedding tonight will be many remembered both bride and groom as children. Both are extremely popular in the community.

Dayett-Ayerst

A refreshingly simple and pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Irvin Dayett at Cooch's Bridge last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock when their eldest daughter, Emma Elizabeth, became the bride of Albert Douglas Ayerst, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Ayerst, of Kton.

The wedding was held on the lawn of the Dayett home in an almost perfect natural setting. The day was perfect for the affair and about 200 relatives and friends of the couple on nearby points witnessed the ceremony.

Leaving the house to the strains of the Lohengrin Wedding March, played by Miss Elizabeth Webber, an aunt of the bride, the wedding party moved around the porch to a point in the lawn where two tall trees standing side by side formed a natural altar. Banked around the trees were masses of fresh cut Fall flowers and attractive ferns and shrubbery.

Rev. H. Everett Hallman, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Newark, performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Miss Charlotte Willets Dayett, sister of the bride, was maid of honor, and Miss Natalie R. Ayerst and Ruth Ayerst were bridesmaids. Milton L. Ayerst, a college chum of the groom, was best man, and Messrs Robert P. Ayerst and Sterling E. Dunbar, of Kton, were ushers.

The bride wore white crepe de chine trimmed with pearls and rhinestones. Her tulle veil in coronet effect was caught by orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of bride roses and lilies of the valley. Miss Dayett, the maid of honor, wore French blue crepe with draped panels of the material at each side. Her hat was of French blue crepe combined with georgette and trimmed at the right side with a velvet flower. She carried a bouquet of gladioli, pink roses and blue larkspur. Miss Ayerst wore Nile green georgette, and Miss King, pink georgette. The dresses were made with tight bodices and bouffant skirts and were trimmed with rows of narrow silk lace. Both wore hats matching their dresses and trimmed with velvet flowers. The bouquets of the bridesmaids were also of pink roses, gladioli and blue larkspur.

While the guests grouped themselves about the lawn waiting for the wedding party to appear, Miss Eleanor Duffy sang two beautiful solos, accompanied by Miss Webber at the piano. The solos were "Because" and "Oh Promise Me."

Following the ceremony a reception was held where the wedding party stood on the lawn. Later delicious refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Ayerst entertained the members of the wedding party at a luncheon in the house. Dainty favors were found at each place at the table.

The ladies of the wedding party were given jeweled line bracelets and the gentlemen were the recipients of handsome watch chains from the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Ayerst received scores of beautiful wedding gifts, the bride's silver being particularly handsome.

Following a short honeymoon, the bride and groom will live in Pittsburgh, where Mr. Ayerst is connected with the West Penn Power Company.

Goldberg-Cohen

Over 250 people from Philadelphia, Newark, Wilmington and points in southern New Jersey attended an elaborate wedding last Sunday evening, when Miss Gussie Goldberg, of Rosenhayn, N. J., was wedded to Mr. Louis Cohen of this town. The ceremony was performed in Stanton Rose Hall in Philadelphia.

Following a honeymoon to Atlantic City, the bride and groom will reside in Newark, where the latter is engaged in the meat business. They will go to housekeeping in the dwelling next to Newark Inn, on East Main street.

Among the Newark people who attend the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Fader, Mr. and Mrs. Meyer Pilnick, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Handloff, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. I. Marritz, Miss Holton, Miss Emily Worrall, Mr. Wayne Brewer Lewes, Del., Mr. Louis Hoffman and Mr. James Sparks.

"Barney Google"

The small boy is expectantly waiting. The girls are in a quiver of excitement. The housewife is saving her small change. The old maid is just thinking. "Pop" will shave and put on a clean shirt. Even the horses in the stable are nervous. Why!!! "Barney Google" and "Spark Plug" are coming to Newark Opera House, Friday, September 26.

Dean Hayward Visits

Mr. and Mrs. Harry H. Hayward, of Philadelphia, Pa., were visitors for a few hours among their old neighbors and friends in Newark last Friday. They came to attend the Dayett-Ayerst wedding at Cooch's Bridge, both being warm friends of the bride and her family. Mr. Hayward is in charge of the agricultural department of N. W. Ayer and Son, an old established advertising firm in Philadelphia. He was for several years Dean of the School of Agriculture at the University here, and was greatly responsible for the building up of the College Farm and its herd of pure-bred Holsteins.

15 New Studebakers

Including an entirely new type of car—the DUPLEX-PHAETON

Today Studebaker has made Automobile History and established standards of value and quality more fully and obviously than ever before

TODAY Studebaker proves that beautiful, distinctive, stylish body lines can be originated by American body designers without following precedent or imitating or adapting what has been done before.

Today Studebaker proves that a practical and beautiful type of car can be made to combine the pleasure and performance of the open car and the comfort and protection of the closed car—and this without excessive price or compromised quality—a car "duplex" in open-car smartness and convenience and closed-car elegance and comfort—and at a price no higher than that of an open car!

Today Studebaker proves, in its new Standard Six Duplex model, that a six-cylinder car of fine quality, great power, plenty of room and impressive appearance can be made and marketed at a price of $1145.

Today Studebaker proves in its new Special Six and its Big Six Duplex models that the ultimate in all the essential features of quality in five- and seven-passenger cars can be made and marketed at a price of $1495 and $1875 respectively.

And this is possible only because Studebaker cars are made in one of the most comprehensive industrial plants in this country, 70 per cent of which is new within the last six years.

Every modern method of manufacture and long experienced management are available for the production of Studebaker automobiles.

Today Studebaker proves that the highest grade closed car bodies—framed in selected hard woods, cushioned with the best cushion work, upholstered in fine mohair fabrics and fitted with expensive appointments—can be made and marketed on superlatively good chassis at moderate prices.

This is made possible by the new $10,000,000 Studebaker closed body plants. Studebaker designs and builds all of its closed bodies in one of the best equipped and most modern body plants in the industry.

The Three New Chassis

THE STUDEBAKER STANDARD SIX—113 in. wheelbase, 5-passenger. Engine 3½x5½, 50 h.p.—with 6 different bodies, including Duplex-Phaeton, Duplex-Roadster, Coupe-Roadster, Coupe, Sedan, and Berline.

THE STUDEBAKER SPECIAL SIX—120 in. wheelbase, 5-passenger. Engine 3½x5, 65 h.p.—with 5 different bodies, including Duplex-Phaeton, Duplex-Roadster, Victoria, Sedan, and Berline.

Three completely new chassis! 15 completely new bodies!
Completely new lines! Marvelous new performance

Completely new open-closed car!

Completely new radiators, new fenders, new lamps, new seating comfort, new finish, new colors in lacquer finish, three improved engines

Real balloon tires, not low-pressure cords. Sizes: 21"x5.25" to 20"x7.30"

New Studebaker automatic hydraulic 4-wheel brakes—optional

New values, never before equaled—even by Studebaker!

THE STUDEBAKER BIG SIX—127 in. wheelbase, 7-passenger. Engine 3¾x5, 75 h.p.—with 4 different bodies, including Duplex-Phaeton, Coupe, Sedan, and Berline.

The Ten New Closed Bodies

COMPLETELY NEW BODIES—each car a masterly expression of modern style, yet distinctly original in beautiful lines—individual, conservative, impressively elegant, but crisp enough in its departure from imitation to be entirely distinctive.

The Five New Duplex Bodies

(A new type of car originated by Studebaker to take the place of the open car)

SO ENTIRELY NEW and so different from any other body ever made before that a new name had to be created—the DUPLEX.

The upper structure is shaped in pressed steel and covered with the finest water-proof fabric. The steel construction permits the use of another radical Studebaker creation, the new roller enclosing curtains. There is the permanent beauty and durability of the steel top plus the instant convenience of the roller curtains.

Thus Studebaker engineers have solved the open-closed car problem.

The buyer who wants the airiness and practical convenience of the open car and who also wants the comfort, protection and beauty of the closed car can now get both in one car and at the price of an open car.

One moment the new Studebaker Duplex is a beautiful open car—a touch of the hand to the over-lapping roller curtains and it is a snug weather-tight closed car.

Ballon Tires

Genuine and full size balloon tires on all models. Every part that functions with the tires has been specially designed for balloon tire equipment—steering gear, steering knuckles, spindles and springs, even the fenders.

New Lacquer Finish

The Standard Six closed bodies are beautifully finished in semi-gloss, satin lacquer. The hood and lower panels are in light gray, the upper panels in darker gray. Hairline parallel striping in oriental red. Burnished nickel radiators, jet black fenders, light golden finished, natural wood wheels and big balloon tires are contrasting touches.

The Standard Duplex Models are finished in glossy jet enamel—lasting, lustrous and wear-resisting.

The Special Six and the Big Six Duplex models are in soft satin lacquer with dark blue hoods and bodies striped in light blue and ivory. Here, too, the sparkle is added with burnished nickel radiators and light, natural wood wheels in contrast with jet black fenders and big, black balloon tires.

More Power

The universally famous Studebaker engine is more than ever a peer among power plants. The crankshaft is heavier. ALL surfaces are perfectly machined to exact dimensions and balance. The bearings are larger.

The engine is in unit with the clutch and transmission. There is a force feed lubrication system with clean, strained oil always in reserve. There are many changes and improvements which result in MORE POWER, MORE QUIETNESS and SMOOTHNESS and STILL BETTER PERFORMANCE in every way.

New Brakes

Larger, more powerful, simpler and much easier operated two-wheel brakes. An entirely new emergency brake is operated from the instrument board, instantly convenient to the driver's hand where it simplifies the control and frees the floor board from the old style lever. It acts on the propeller shaft. There is uniform pressure at each wheel—equalized through the rear axle.

The regular two-wheel Studebaker brakes with their simplicity, safety and great braking power are entirely adequate.

But Studebaker 4-Wheel Hydraulic Brakes (with disc wheels) can be furnished as optional equipment on all models at extra charge if desired.

Studebaker 4-Wheel Brakes have three exclusive features not found on any other system in this country.

1. Braking pressure is furnished by hydraulic power automatically developed. A light touch to the braking pedals controls its great force like a touch to the throttle controls the power of the engine. This feature will appeal instantly to women.

2. The front wheels cannot lock.

3. There are only two adjustments required—one at each rear wheel. The front brakes are permanently adjusted at the factory. The oil in the transmission is used to generate the hydraulic power; the action of the gears and the pump keep it in circulation; it cannot congeal or freeze. Braking power is always instantly ready—in winter as well as in summer!

New Ease of Operation

New Ease of Gear Shifting—New power in braking, a touch to the pedal exerts a giant's strength at the rear wheels—New clutch action, soft as velvet—A new steering gear and steering knuckles designed for balloon tires—A new grouping on the dash, including ALL the usual instruments plus a gasoline gauge that always works accurately.

Lighting Control Switches—all on the steering wheel—instantly handy.

Automatic Spark Control—No manual attention required, so the lever is eliminated. Automatically governed to all speeds with the precision of machinery.

And the Details

The new cars are longer and lower to the ground. The line from the radiator to the rear is nearly straight. The wheelbase of all models is increased.

The fenders are much wider and deeper crowned to cover the width of the tires. They fit more closely over the wheels. The rear fenders are long and gracefully curved into the running boards.

The radiators are high and set low in the frames and convex curved just below the filler cap. The design is strikingly original and beautifully distinctive.

Entirely new head lamps, and cowl parking lamps designed by Studebaker—artistically appropriate and in perfect keeping with the originality of the body and fender design.

Deeper, stiffer frames, more cross members; shorter, flatter springs for balloon tires. All bodies lower, all roomier, better and more comfortably cushioned. Seats are lower, backs and sides are higher.

Look Forward Into Next Year

The new Studebaker is here today! And no matter how sweeping your ideas of what a new model should be this car will satisfy you. It will thrill you with the very newness and originality of its beautiful lines!

You may not be in the market now, or even this year. But to see the new Studebaker is to look forward into next year—and the year after! SEE IT TODAY!

NUMBER 34

BEAUTIES OF WEST COAST OUTLINED BY TWO FORMER NEWARK BOYS TO RELATIVES

In a letter to Newark relatives, James and Paul Jones, sons of Harry T. Jones, formerly of Newark, have written most interestingly of their experiences on the West Coast, in Oregon and Washington.

Among the novel experiences the boys had were sliding down the snow clad slopes of Mount Ranier in the middle of July, the exploration of the volcanic cones and queer formations about the peaks on the northern Rockies, and the happy times spent in the prosperous cities and towns of Oregon, together with hundreds of other adventures.

The writer says that practically every town of any consequence in that vicinity has its own motor camp, where every convenience is at hand for the comfort of the travellers. The Jones boys have already covered over 1800 miles from their home at Carnation Milk Farms, Carnation, Washington, to the various points of interest.

One of the points which aroused the most interest among the travelers was the great Oregon Cave, now a government reservation. Over two hours is consumed in going through the underground wonders, and only a small party is taken at a time.

Practically every state in the Union is represented in the motor camps in Portland and other West Coast cities save Delaware, which causes the writer to deduce that Delawareans are not much for long distance traveling.

The Post regrets that space forbids the publishing of the entire letter, but acknowledges with thanks the receipt of same from relatives of the Jones boys in Newark.

What Delaware Farms Mean In Round Dollars

Over 15 Million Invested In Farm Buildings Alone In This State, Report Shows

Dover, Del.

The Hon. T. E. Meredith, former Secretary of Agriculture under the late Woodrow Wilson in a recent address made the following statement: "That agriculture is fundamental and that all business is influenced by conditions in agriculture is generally conceded, and yet the average man does not seem to give that fact the consideration that its importance warrants."

It has been shown conclusively by the events of the past few years that the prosperity of the farmer bears with positive emphasis on the prosperity of the rest of the nation. Delaware, classed as an agricultural state, is vitally interested in what happens to the farmer, and naturally the prosperity of the Delaware farmer has a direct relationship to the prosperity of Wilmington.

Delaware covers an area of 1,257,000 acres. There are 10,150 farms in the state totalling 944,511 acres. This is 75 per cent of the total area of the State. Of the acreage classed as farms 650,052 acres, or 69 per cent of the entire acreage of the State is improved.

Crop production in Delaware is indeed diversified—wheat, corn, rye, potatoes (sweet and Irish), buckwheat, small fruits and berries, apples, peaches are all found within the borders of the State, and the interesting feature is that production is on an upward climb—that the farmer is receiving greater returns each year for his efforts.

The result to industry and to the resident of the city is apparent. The first result is that living expenses are materially reduced, and the second is that the farmer's purchasing power is increased.

Delaware has, as stated before, 10,140 farms. The total value of all farm property in the State is $8,137,614. According to the last published census report, the value of all farm products produced in Delaware reaches the sum of $23,158,906. The greater portion of this sum was in turn spent by the farmer for labor, machinery replacement, property improvement and living expenses.

The farmer in Delaware has invested in implements and machinery $6,781,318. The life of farm machinery and implements is estimated at 10 years. Therefore the annual replacement necessitates the expenditure of over 600,000.

The farmer has approximately $15,000,000 invested in farm buildings, and if buildings last forty years, he puts $374,000 a year in repairs, to say nothing of what he spends for new buildings.—Dover Index.

CRISFIELD ENJOYS A VISIT FROM PRESIDENT

Coolidge and Party Drop Off There Sunday During Mayflower Cruise

Crisfield, Md., experienced "the thrill that comes once in a life-time," Sunday morning, when the presidential yacht Mayflower, with President Coolidge and his party aboard on a week-end cruise, steamed in Crisfield Harbor and tied up at the dock.

The Presidential party was met by Mayor Charles L. Ward and several other citizens who had been confidentially apprised of the intended visit, and escorted to the Emmanuel Methodist Episcopal Church, where they heard a sermon by Rev. John L. Johnston.

Because word of the visit had been kept secret, very few people saw the party, which included Secretary and Mrs. Hughes and C. Bascom Slomp, arrive, but before the time the church services were over and the Chief Executive had been taken on a sightseeing trip the news had traveled fast and a large crowd was at the wharf to see the distinguished visitors depart.

President Coolidge and his companions smilingly returned the salutations of the townspeople but there was no handshaking or other demonstration and the Mayflower quickly cast off and continued on its way.

The missing man's wife, it is understood, had never any reason to believe that her husband was despondent. He had been feeling poorly for a number of weeks, but Saturday afternoon seemed cheerful and happy. The night wore on with both families becoming panic stricken.

Found At Daybreak

About six o'clock Sunday morning, Mr. Samworth arose and proceeded north from the farm house in another effort to locate the missing man. He journeyed up across his fields and into the woods of George Scotts.

The woodland lies on a slope and at the top of the rise is a clearing. As he approached the open space he saw, outlined against the sky in clear silhouette the body of Starr, dangling from a limb with his feet about three feet from the ground. Hasty investigation showed that he had been dead several hours.

Mr. Samworth immediately phoned undertaker Jones, who hurried to the scene, and took charge of the body.

When told that her husband had taken his life, Mrs. Starr was prostrated with grief, but soon recovered and is bearing up bravely under the pain.

Made His Own Noose

Those who were present when the body was cut down were amazed at the methodical and workmanlike way in which Starr prepared for his own death.

He first cut a long piece of native grapevine which abounds in the woods, and with his penknife trimmed and "barked" the length of it.

It is then believed that he climbed the tree, crawled out on a lower limb about fifteen feet from the ground, and fastened one end of the vine at point five feet from the trunk.

He then descended, adjusted the vine about his neck, climbed a large trunk he had rested against the tree trunk, and jumped out from the tree. "Death was instantaneous," said Mr. Jones.

"The shock of the blow broke his neck. It was the most methodical suicide to have come to my attention in many years." The noose with which he hanged himself was fashioned with his own hands. A peculiar sort of knot was allowing the utmost freedom as the noose tightened.

When discovered by Mr. Samworth Starr's dead man's hat was pulled down over his face, and his left hand placed carefully in his overalls pocket. His right hand dangled at his side. It is believed that he even took pains to assume this attitude before he took his life. No sign of a struggle of any sort could be seen.

Came From Washington

Although he was originally from Ohio, Starr came to Newark from Washington, D. C., being brought here by Mr. Samworth to manage his farm. The latter is in business in Washington and comes out about once each week. Mrs. Samworth and family occupy a part of the farm-house, while the Starrs use the other part. Mr. Samworth could give no reason for the dreadful tragedy. Starr was considered by him to be a good farmer and attentive to his duties. He and his family seemed happy and contented in their new home.

DELAWARE EXPORT TRADE INCREASES

Second Quarterly Figures Show Big Gain in Leather Shipments

Delaware increased its export trade for the quarter ending June 30 by $13,176 over the figures of the previous quarter, according to statistics just released by the Department of Commerce.

Reaching total exports of $1,427,919 for the period in question, Delaware was well ahead of its nearest rival, Montana, whose figures amounted to $1,257,006. Goat and glazed kid shipments maintained its premier position among the commodities with total valuations of $498,134, an increase over the preceding period of $162,948. Other advances in trade were noted in steam railway cars and passenger cars sent abroad, comparative figures being $213,692 and $280,102; vulcanized fiber exports which increased $94,172 to $105,795; rubber hose from $35,044 to $74,180, and cotton cloth, piece dyed, from $22,915 to $35,057.

Of the leading ten states in the list, New York naturally tops all others, and is followed in order by Texas, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, California, Louisiana, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio and Massachusetts. Some of the states behind Delaware besides Montana were South Dakota, Colorado, North Dakota and Vermont, while Nevada brought up the rear of the fifty-two states and regions included in the tabulations.

FARMER'S WIFE DEFENDS CURBSTONE MARKET

Mrs. John W. Chalmers of Newark Deplores Criticism of Old Custom

In a letter to a Wilmington newspaper this week, Mrs. John W. Chalmers, of Meadow Creek Farm, near Newark, stoutly defends the practice of attending the farmers' curbstone market in Wilmington. In particular, she denies that the farmers and farmers' wives, who take produce to the market, charge exorbitant prices for their wares.

Continuing her letter, Mrs. Chalmers says:

"Let us consider what would happen were the farmer ousted from the curbstone market. He could of course turn huckster himself—or is it the intention of 'Victim' to deprive him of the right to sell the produce he has labored to bring forth from the soil by the sweat of his brow?"

Did 'Victim' ever notice that when foodstuffs have passed from the hands of the producer into speculators' hands how 'corners' are formed and the public gouged?

Did she ever consider that if a plentiful season has blessed the farmer with a big harvest—that the law of supply and demand compels him to sell cheaply? Or when an unfavorable season, as the past one, has given him short, inferior crops, he may ask a greater price for the little he has, but he is not thereby enriched?

Perhaps she is not informed as to the distress which agriculture has suffered since the war. Unable to compete with manufacturers in wages paid to labor, production has been greatly curtailed. Unfavorable weather conditions, and the recent quarantine because of the Japanese beetle, also have been factors. The cost of producing food is very great—labor, upkeep of machinery, horses and buildings, fertilizers, feeds—(yes, the farmer buys feed. Last year he sold wheat at 95 cents a bushel and bought back bran at forty dollars a ton)—all these things are factors which are discouraging farmers, and putting the "for sale" sign up on his front gate post.

Labor fights for short hours and big pay, but the fruit of the soil is produced only by long hours, and if you would have it cheap, small wages. But who will work on a farm for long hours at little pay? Nobody. Hence reduced production with an ever-increasing demand commands high prices—not to enrich the farmer but to enable him to pay his bills so that he may continue to produce the bread which keeps life in the world."

MRS. JOHN W. CHALMERS.

"Preservation Committee," Recently Organized, To Visit Henlopen Light During Week

Estimates for Saving Landmark Will Be Made, and Immediate Pressure Brought to Bear on Washington Authorities

As a result of an enthusiastic meeting held in the Old Colony Club room in the Hotel du Pont, Friday morning last, definite steps have been outlined for the permanent salvation of Henlopen Lighthouse at the mouth of Delaware Bay, a few miles north of Rehoboth Beach.

The old light house, as is generally known, has been expected to collapse at any time from the undermining of its base by the sea. Latest reports state that only eight feet of solid earth remains between the base and the edge of the sand cliff, as shown in the above illustration. It is believed that unless measures are at once taken to check the inroads of the sea, the old light will go down to destruction when the first "northeaster" howls down the coast.

Would Be Sacrificed

As far as the Lighthouse Department service in Washington is concerned, the light has outlived its usefulness. A temporary light has been placed in position just to the rear of the famous structure, and is ready on a minute's notice to send a beam out across the water. There is no sentiment in the government.

There have, however, been numerous cases wherein the pressure from a group of citizens from any one state, adequately presenting their request and action is taken. Without concerted effort, nothing can save Old Henlopen Light for Delawareans.

Are Ready To Act

And so it happened that a meeting was called of representatives from the various service clubs in Wilmington and throughout the State.

Everett C. Johnson was named permanent chairman and H. Warren Cornelius secretary of an organization to be known as the "Henlopen Lighthouse Preservation Committee."

Various issues were brought up for discussion at the meeting. Suggestions, advice and temporary plans were made at the meeting. It was decided that as many of the committee as possible take a trip to Rehoboth and thence to the lighthouse either today or tomorrow, in company with John Lyle Harrington, president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, an authority on such matters, and one who has offered his services to aid in the reclamation of the lighthouse.

It is then planned to take the estimates thus prepared to Washington, where Secretary Mellon, members of the Lighthouse Commission and other prominent officials in the government will be consulted.

The matter of time will be stressed, say the members of the committee; for not many weeks ahead are the drab days of winter with their accompanying storms. Something must be done this fall.

It is reported that New Jersey is also fighting for the preservation of Barnegat Lighthouse, another famous coastline marker, and that they are petitioning the government now that it be handed back to the State.

Although it is believed that lightships might be placed off Cape Henlopen, the necessity for a land light even then is generally admitted in maritime circles.

When the facts are at hand, and when the attitude of the government is ascertained, then the Preservation Committee expects to plan an active campaign for the saving of the historic old light.

CHICKEN THIEF BUSY

Cooch's Bridge Residents Alarmed Over Persistent Thefts of Poultry

Magistrate Thompson has been notified of a wave of chicken stealing spreading about the farms and dwellings at Cooch's Bridge. Several people are reported to have suffered by the inroads of the thief. Mrs. James O. G. Duffy lost fifteen pure strain chickens last Friday night.

As yet no trace of the marauder has been found. The residents of the community are keeping strict watch, and promise all sorts of terrible fates to the unlucky person, if he is caught.

Grows Beautiful Dahlias

H. Warner McNeal, local coal and feed merchant, is displaying in his office this week a beautiful cluster of dahlias presented to him by Mrs. Daniel Krapf of Prospect avenue.

Mrs. Krapf is an expert in growing the flowers and has a large and productive bed of them at her home. The samples in Mr. McNeal's office include practically every known shade.

CHRISTIANA OGLETON MCLELLANDSVILLE

HOW THESE TOWNS GOT THEIR NAMES

These three White Clay Creek Hundred towns derive their names from the names of persons—the first from the Christian name of a Queen of Sweden, and the others from the surnames of early Delaware pioneers.

Christiana was formerly called Christiana Bridge, and was in the early days an important shipping point, sloops of slight draught coming up the Christiana Creek to this point. The coming of the railroad sounded its knell as a port.

The village was established at an early date, the first records in 1737 showing there were ten houses at that time.

Christiana derives its name from the creek of the same name, which was in turn derived from that of the youthful Queen Christina, who ruled over Sweden when Delaware was first settled by the Swedes.

Ogleton, formerly Ogleton, was named after Thomas Ogle, at one time the owner of the land on which it stands. When it was first named is unknown, but certainly prior to 1767. It is noted that in 1684, George Talbot, of the Council of Maryland, built a fort on land belonging to the Widow Ogle.

McLellandsville is named after William McLelland, one of its earliest residents. William McLelland was the first postmaster. The first store was established in 1860 by William Kennedy.—Sunday Star.

ENGINE BREAKS WHEEL

Causes Tie-Up Of Trains On B. And O. Tracks Saturday

Engine No. 5212, drawing the 6.09 p. m. north bound B. and O. passenger train, broke a pilot wheel somewhere between Elk Mills and Newark Saturday evening. It pulled into the local station badly crippled.

Fearing that further use might derail the locomotive, the crew sent out a hurry call for a relief engine. When the latter arrived and took charge of the train, the crippled one was shifted to a siding for repairs. Trains were delayed about an hour both ways, due to the fact that only one track was available for use near Newark.

The wrecking crew from Wilmington yards arrived in the evening and repaired the broken wheel.

SALISBURY LAWYER IS QUITE SOME HUNTER

Bags Wild Animal of Some Sort; No One Knows Its Name

Salisbury, Md.—Teddy Roosevelt and his big African game hunts found a worthy rival in Salisbury Friday in the person of Ben Johnson, local lawyer and sportsman. Roosevelt's latest successor in bagging various kinds and species of game was out early yesterday morning, scanning the thickets for squirrels, when his attention was attracted to a tall hickory with its topmost branches shaking as if a young chimpanzee were doing its morning exercises.

Lawyer Johnson sighted along his full-choked left barrel and pulled the trigger. Through the blaze of smoke a heavy form came toppling down, and, according to the hunter's own words, "It sounded like a bear when it landed at my feet." The object of this sketch is now on full display in the offices of Long & Johnson, where many local hunters have pronounced it the most unusual and peculiar specie of squirrel they have ever seen. Of the "cat" variety, the animal is about twice the size of an ordinary squirrel. The distinctive mark about the prize is that stretching from its head back to the tail, the fur is of rich raccoon variety, the tail being very long and fluffy. The lower part of the body from the head back and including the legs showed a sleek satin black. The animal gives the appearance of being a cross between a raccoon and a cat. The hunter is as puzzled as his friends as to just what he shot, but he adds, "It was a doggone good shot way up in that tree."

GET OUT BIG EDITION

"Cecil Democrat" Issues 24 page Boosters' Number

The "Cecil Democrat" of Elkton, Mrs. George R. Ash, editress, got out an elaborate 24 page "Boosters' Edition," in connection with their regular issue, on September 6th last.

The edition contained business notes of many firms in and about Elkton, supplemented by a large amount of advertising. The Democrat, in its editorial column, informs us that it was the biggest single weekly edition ever gotten out in Cecil County.

The task of publishing the Boosters' Edition was in the hands of Business Manager Leffer and A. Stuart Strickland, the latter an Elkton resident, and in the advertising business in Wilmington.

Chester County Town Without Cop; Residents Are Padlocking Windows

Parkburg Town Council In Open Fight Over Dismissal Of "Hercules" Man, Leaving 4000 Witeout Protection

The dismissal of Walter Mann as chief of police and lone patrolman of Parkburg, Pa., near West Chester, has worked havoc in the little town. Friends and neighbors now stare blankly at each other when they meet in the street and one Councilman has threatened to go before the Chester County Court and ask for a writ of mandamus compelling the divided town Council to appoint a police force if the trouble isn't soon cleared away and the townsmen able to go to bed at night without worrying about turning the latch on windows.

Until three months ago the safeties of the four thousand inhabitants were watched over by one William Hawk. He was the only policeman in Parkburg. Recently he celebrated his seventy-second birthday by retiring from the force, and the mantle of office descended by a 6-to-1 vote in Council upon the mighty shoulders of Walter Mann.

Walter has the figure of Hercules and previous to his new office he worked in the iron works. Naturally, he believes that all offenders, friends and foes alike, should be put down with an iron hand. On one occasion he was reputed to have grabbed a wandering child from the pathway of an automobile with one hand while the other was busy worrying the scruff of a bootlegger's neck. Peace reigned again in Parkburg.

Until last week.

Mann was dismissed a week ago at the expiration of thirty days' notice by Burgess Horace Boice. At a meeting of the Council in the Borough Hall on Monday night hundreds of residents demanded that Walter be reinstated as police chief and patrolman. The burgess refused. Four Councilmen, John R. Humpton, James White, George W. Woodroffe and A. C. Hamill, the latter a member of the Police Committee, seconded him. The other three members, A. H. Gerberich, president of the Council; Levi Townsley and Samuel Doutrich, routed stoutly for Mann. They were overwhelmed.

Councilman Townsley then announced that unless police protection was afforded the town within the very near future he would ask the Chester County Court to issue a writ of mandamus compelling Council to take such action. Another meeting of Council is not scheduled for a month.

tention of selecting another policeman.

Prominent citizens declared yesterday that beyond presentation of petitions to the Burgess and the holding of indignation meetings, no definite step could be taken until the next meeting of Council.

In the meantime, the town's one and only police uniform is gathering dust in the Parkburg Town Hall and the townsmen lock their windows when they go to bed at night.—Ex.

The Key to Better Business

Home Trade

Years ago The Post adopted the slogan "If you can't get it in Newark, buy it in Wilmington." The idea back of this is, "Buy at Home." The citizen who is most interested in his town does this. If a Newark Merchant by chance does not have the exact article wanted, the real citizen places his order through him. The merchant makes the profit, the citizen gets the article at the same price, the money stays at home, the town prospers. It is good citizenship, good sense, and good business to buy in Newark.

BUY AT HOME

The Advertisers in the Post are good business men and good citizens. They are working for a profit, of course but that is not all. They are real citizens who contribute in taxes, in gifts, time and energy in making Newark the worth while town it is. Without their support of every good movement, without their taxes, the town would not have the rank and record that we now enjoy.

They boost Newark not by lip loyalty but by service. They are friends of ours, friends of yours, friends of Newark in a very practical way.

Let our readers try their service.

UNCLE SAM'S PEACE TIME HEROES

Being a Story of the Faithful Mailman on Some of the Dangerous Trails; Ice, Snow, Open Water, Blistering Heat—He suffers with them all to "Bring the Mail."

Special Release to The Post

"When the carrier can not find solid ice on which to travel he usually resorts to his motor launch. This he has conveniently moored inside the edge of the heavy ice with a channel cut away to open water.

Here he may have to buck new ice for long distances and travel through slush ice which will be 8 to 10 feet deep and oftentimes impassable. In such circumstances, he has to return and seek out new openings in the ice fields. Sometimes his boat is caught in drifting ice fields and carried out into Lake Michigan and forced to stay out over night. Finding suitable landing places on either shore during the winter, cutting off all access to docks. Then the carrier must land along the beaches wherever the surf will permit, anchor his boat in deep, navigable water and ferry the mail into shore in a row boat, then carry the mail bags over the ice banks and hummocks to the waiting team on land.

Another mode of carrying the mail is by the use of the ice boat. The carrier attaches ropes to the gunwales forward and hauls the boat along the ice like a sled. When open water is encountered he launches the boat, takes his place at the oars and pulls for the other side. This sounds exceedingly simple to the uninitiated but the difficulty comes when attempting to launch the boat from the edge of the ice. Naturally, there is a wide caused by the seas pulverizing the outskirts of the ice floes. Sometimes the seas are so heavy that they will dash the small boat back on the solid ice. At other times the cakes that comprise this belt of broken ice are too heavy to row through. When this happens the carrier leaps out on the cakes and holding on to the gunwale of the boat pushes it along toward open water, leaping back into the boat when his footing has disappeared.

"The wonder of it all is that there are not frequent drownings but I know of no loss of life while carrying mail across Death's Door. Naturally, with all these difficulties to overcome, there are periods when the carrier is unable to cross, quite frequently for five or six days at a time. During these delays, mail is piling up at the Ellison Bay post office making it quite a problem for the already overworked carrier as to how to transport such a large volume of mail with the means at hand. These periods of non-mail delivery are trying to the one thousand inhabitants on Washington Island since the parcels post system affords the only means in winter to procure supplies, medicine and other commodities. These conditions will belt of slush ice and small cakes continue to exist as long as the mail is transported along the surface of the water. Perhaps the airplane will solve the problem in the future. Why not?"

The carrier who supplies mail in the Newport-Otter Rock route in Oregon, immediately on the Pacific coast, is up against many difficulties and hardships and many times takes his life in his hands in order that the patrons on the route may receive their letters and packages. The carrier is compelled to travel down the beach at low tide. If for some reason the incoming tide catches him before completing his trip, he must either abandon his team and the mails and climb the rocks or be dashed to pieces against them.

The most expensive star route in the United States is from Price to Vernal, Utah. It is 121 miles long and for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, the cost of maintaining it was approximately $96,700. As high as 20 or more tons a day of mail matter—mostly parcel post—are handled over this route.

The longest routes are from Two Harbors to Grand Portage, Minn., and from Midland, Texas, to Lovington, New Mexico. These routes are each 143 miles in length.

DELAWARE CITY SHOWS UP WELL IN DEFENSE

Engineers at Fort Du Pont and Civilians Join in Preparedness Day Friday

(Special to The Post)

Delaware City, Sept. 15.—The citizens of this town joined with the Corps of Engineers at Fort Du Pont in observation of Defense Day, Friday last, with appropriate events. It was considered one of the most successful of its kind in the State.

In the afternoon a parade of troops from the fort, with ranks filled with civilians who reported to the military authorities for the test, formed and marched through the principal streets of the town, with the Engineer Band in the lead.

The parade disbanded within the Fort enclosure, where a speaking program was then held. Addresses were made by Major Kingman, commanding the troops at DuPont, and by several other citizens of the community. Following this meeting the Engineers staged a Regimental Parade for the spectators, and the civilians who took part joined the soldiers at their evening meal in the mess hall.

In the evening movies were held at the Fort. Major Kingman in his address to the Delaware City people said in part:

"The United States has always entered war unprepared. Until recently our only military policy has been unpreparedness. That is the policy now being advocated by some of our citizens who believe that the way to prevent war is to be unprepared for it. We have tried that policy without success. So far as I know it has never succeeded in any country.

"The tremendous cost of unpreparedness, both in life and money, was made clear to us in the World War; and as a result of that lesson, we adopted four years ago a National Defense Policy; the first real military policy the United States has ever had. That policy consists in maintaining in times of peace a small professional or Regular Army backed up by a Citizen's Army composed of the National Guard and the Organized Reserves. During these past four years we have been busy organizing and developing that Citizen Army.

MINNEHAHA BAND IN 5th STRAIGHT CONCERT

Local Musicians Deserve Great Credit for Their Work This Summer

On last Thursday evening on the Academy bandstand here, the Minnehaha Band played its fifth consecutive open air concert.

Due to the chilly weather, the usual comfortable crowd was thinned down to a handful. However, several cars parked along Main and Academy streets held their quotas of listeners.

Thirteen of the sixteen members of the band were present and they played a delightful program. Varied with marches and popular airs were several semi-classical numbers which were rendered with real expression. The Minnehaha Band, in its five straight concerts, has not been forced to repeat a number already played. This in itself, shows the energy and musical ability of the men making up that organization.

Deserve Great Credit

This band has been ready for service each time it was called upon by Chairman Heim of the Newark Music Society publicity committee, who is in charge of the open air concerts. Some weeks the band was not notified until the day before, due to a mixup in dates, but has always been on hand and given their best.

Director A. C. Hahn led the bandmen last evening. Mr. Hahn is generally considered to be one of the best baritone players in this section. Added to his playing qualities is the appreciation of good music and his ability to train his fellow players. Hard and faithful practice has brought the Minnehaha Band to a high point of efficiency, and their concerts have been and will be thoroughly enjoyed.

They have played every Municipal concert at the new bandstand, save the first one, when the Continental Band played. It was the original plan of the Music Society, it is understood, to have these two bands alternate with weekly concerts each Thursday evening.
