SONS OF DELAWARE HEAR LIEUT. MILSON

More Than 250 Philadelphia
Sons Enjoy Annual Outing
at Delaware

The annual outing of the Philadelphia Sons of Delaware last Saturday was the most successful ever held at the University. More than two hundred and fifty members and guests arrived at Newark on the 1.52 and after being met by the reception committee they proceeded to the Women's College where they witnessed the Mid-May Festival.

After this very much appreciated entertainment, the Sons of Delaware returned to the Men's College and saw the overwhelming victory of Delaware over Haverford.

A shad dinner was served in Old College. The orchestra entertained and between the courses William P. White, of Wilmington, led the singing of popular songs. Miss K. B. Graybill sang two especially delightful songs. Her charming voice was very much admired by our Philadelphia guests.

Before the speakers of the evening were introduced, G. B. Wells introduced Burton G. Moore, who paid special tribute to those boys who are working their way thru college. His talk was so effective that a collection of two hundred and five dollars was received for the men who waited on the table. C. Armel Nutter, head waiter, thanked the Philadelphia Sons of Delaware and extended to them an invitation to return.

The speakers of the evening were introduced by Hon. Charles R. Miller. Dr. Hulihan gave a survey of the work of the University and also spoke of future plans. Lieutenant H. G. Milson, one of the eight survivors of the famous "Princess Pat" regiment, received an ovation when he arose to make the principal address of the evening. In his reference to the World War he said, "an honorable man who fights for an honorable country is worthy of honorable treatment when he returns." When Lieutenant Milson called Theodore Roosevelt the 100 per cent American, the entire assemblage arose and applauded vociferously. Lieutenant Milson closed his stirring address by reciting the latter part of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address. Hon. F. W. Stites, of the Pennsylvania Legislature, spoke highly of the efforts of Canada in the World War and pleaded for a closer union between Great Britain and the United States.

Chess Team Wins

Along with other victories last week, the Chess team came home from Haverford with a victory tucked under its belt. Three Delaware men vanquished their opponents and one lost. Sweezy defeated Wood, Johnson defeated Herrick, Weatherby, of Haverford, defeated McMullen, and Captain "Bill" Broughall defeated Captain Henderson.

ANNOUNCE CASTS FOR PLAYS NEXT TUESDAY

Promise of Surpassing Previous Performances Should be Fulfilled

After having practised diligently for more than a month, members of the casts who will appear in three plays to be given by the combined dramatic clubs of the Men's and Women's Colleges, in Wolf Hall, Tuesday evening, May 24, are now patiently awaiting the curtain for opening scene of "Simoom," the first of the plays to be presented. Critics have already declared these plays will parallel any which have been presented in Wolf Hall auditorium and it is believed they will even better past performances.

"Simoom," by August Strindberg, is laid in a Mohammedan Shrine, in the desert. An intense sandstorm, or Simoom, is raging without. A French lieutenant, within the shrine makes a losing fight against the religious fanaticism and black magic of Biskra. The atmosphere of the playlet is made exceedingly vivid by the use of oriental decorations, hanging lamps and flashy costumes of the East. The cast for this play will be:

Biskra, an Arabian girl
Ethel Ferguson, '22
Yusuf, her lover,
Howard Alexander, '21
Goimard, a lieutenant of the Zouaves, William Broughall, '21

There are but three characters in the next play of the series, which is a charming fantasy in one act, entitled, "The Maker of Dreams," by Oliphant Down.

This odd playlet is full of beauty, philosophy, humor and love. All of the characters who will participate in this play are particularly adapted to their parts and will doubtless present and interpret the parts in fine style. The cast will be:

Pierrot, Johnson Rowan, '23
Pierrette, Marian Spruance, '23
Manufacturer
Joseph H. Fairbanks, '21

"Gods of the Mountain," by Lord Dunsany, will be the extravaganza of the evening. It is a short drama, full of Eastern cunning and pithy satire, which presents a wide field for character study in make-up and costumes. The complete cast is made up of members of the Dramatic Club of the Women's College and Miss Louise Jackson, a Freshman, is taking the part of

Tennis Team Wins and Loses

The University Tennis Team lost two of the three matches played on the recent Pennsylvania trip. Drexel was the vanquished.

At Moravian College, Horthy and Barker won in doubles. The score was Moravian 5, Delaware 1. The match with the strong Lafayette team at Easton went against Delaware, 6-0. Captain Horthy gave Mena, one of the best players in Eastern collegiate circles, stiff competition. The Drexel score was Delaware 4, Drexel 1.

The next match will be played Saturday against Johns Hopkins.

County Schools in Pageant and Meet

Frazer Field was invaded last Friday morning by a happy throng of school children. The reason for this was more or less unknown to the student body in general but it was soon found out that Superintendent Jump, of the County Public Schools, was holding the First Annual Field Day of the County School Association.

A pageant, depicting historic events in Delaware history, took up the morning program and the afternoon was given over to an athletic meet between the various schools of the county. du Pont High School won the meet and Newark and Middletown finished second and third, respectively. Coach LeCato and Coach Shipley supervised the athletics. Miss Alice L. Roop, an alumna of the University, assisted with the pageant.

Mid-May Festival at Women's College

The annual Mid-May Festival, held on the lawn of the Red Men's Home, by the student body of the Women's College, last Saturday afternoon, was the most interesting and successful that has ever been presented there.

The program consisted of the procession, which was followed by a presentation entitled "The Hue and Cry After Cupid," by Ben Johnson. After this there were dances by different groups of girls.

Costumes were gorgeous and the entire company presented a pleasing color effect against the verdure of the lawn. The presentation reflects much credit upon those who are responsible for the festival.

Inter-Battalion Match

At the close of firing, Monday night, the first platoon of B Company, was leading in the inter-battalion rifle match. The platoon scores to date are:

1st Platoon A Company 281
2nd Platoon A Company *
1st Platoon B Company 290
2nd Platoon B Company 278
1st Platoon C Company 275
2nd Platoon C Company 276

* Incomplete.

The Battalion Review for the President and Faculty of the University will be held on Frazer Field tomorrow from 11 to 12.

Students of the University, and townspeople are cordially invited to be present.

Delaware Takes Third Place in Middle States Meet

H. J. BETZMER
ESTABLISHES NEW RECORD FOR
JAVELIN THROW

Betzmer and Booth Star Performers;
One-Sixth of a Point Keeps
Delaware from Second Place

The University of Delaware track team repeated its performance of last year by taking third place in the Twelfth Annual Track and Field Meet of the Middle Atlantic States Athletic Association on Saturday last. The Blue and Gold fliers pushed Lafayette hard for second place, a sixth of a point separating the totals of the two schools. Rutgers romped home easily a winner, and the real interest of the meet centered on the battle for second honors. Lafayette's superiority in the dashes earned the decision for her over the Delaware team.

Homewood Field was packed with eager spectators from all sections of the east. It was Baltimore's debut as the home of the Middle Atlantic and the Monument City did her share towards making the contestants feel at home. The Hopkins officials ran the affair off in fine style and deserve a great deal of credit for the success of the meet. The meet was probably the fastest ever run and seven records passed into history to be replaced by new ones.

Trustee President Addresses Students

Mr. H. B. Thompson, President of the Board of Trustees, spoke to the students at College Hour, Monday. He opened his "chat" by congratulating the students on the record of the University at the Middle States Meet, last Saturday. In referring to Betzmer's record javelin throw, he said a man who can throw a javelin one hundred and seventy-two feet should be taken into consideration by the disarmament committee.

Mr. Thompson put before the students the growing problem in all colleges of accommodating the increasing number of students who want a college education. He said every undergraduate is obligated to do his best in college because a loafer keeps someone out of college who wants an education.

Seniors to Dance

In an effort to found a new tradition, the class of 1921 will hold the first annual Senior Dance May 20th. The committee in charge, Wise, Marvel, and Barnard, has engaged the Original Six to agitate the atmosphere with synchronisms and syncopations, for the occasion. The patronesses are to be Mrs. Walter Hulihan, Mrs. E. L. Smith, Mrs. Geo. Dutton, Mrs. Wilson and Miss Clark.

Betzmer Breaks Javelin Record

Henry Betzmer, Delaware, better known as "Betz," pushed the Middle States javelin record of 158 feet up to 172 feet. The record was formerly held by Cann of N.Y.U. "Betz" also took second in the shotput, piling up eight points to add to his team's total. He was the biggest scorer for Delaware.

Fred Harmer, the Blue and Gold middle distance flier, romped home ahead of a fast field in the quarter, winning by a yard from the Bucknell star. Boxed at the start, Harmer dropped to the rear of the pack and then pulled around on the outside. On the last bend he cut down his opponents' lead and as the runners swung into the stretch, battled his way into the lead, flashing across a winner. It was a beautiful race, heady, and well-run.

Booth Proves Sensation

The mile event, generally conceded to Captain Crawford of Lafayette, proved the biggest sensation of the afternoon. Booth, Delaware's long-limbed distance runner, flashed into prominence by running the Easton star off his feet, forcing him to go beyond his limit to even tie for first place. Crawford led by several steps for nearly the whole distance. On the stretch, however, Booth challenged and Crawford tried to shake off his tenacious adversary. Booth gamely fought his way abreast of the bespectacled leader, how-

Conduct of Elections

Every year confusion is caused in the conduct of elections by the lack of a standard practice. Shall we elect by plurality vote, or shall we elect by a majority vote are questions which frequently give occasion for useless debate.

There is also a lack of knowledge of parliamentary procedure which often results in needless irregularities. For instance, during the recent class elections, a presiding officer refused to allow a nominee to decline his office. That is, of course, a gross violation of elementary parliamentary law which works an injustice on all concerned.

In the interests of our common welfare, it is necessary that all elections be conducted in an absolutely regular manner. This could be brought about if the Student Council would draw up a set of rules for the conduct of all student organization elections, and, in addition personally supervise the conduct of these elections.

Pledging Rules for Delaware?

By J. Morton Baxter, '23.
Awarded third prize in Editorial Contest.

The University of Delaware, its Freshmen, and its Fraternities are badly in need of a new pledging system. This set of pledging rules must be comprehensive and just. Our present pledging system is decaying, obsolete. It no longer fills its purpose. We must have a change.

A former Provost of the University of Pennsylvania said that strict pledging rules tend toward a greater fairness and better results both for Freshmen and the fraternities. This fact has been proved at other colleges and it can be proved here.

We have fraternity competition at Delaware. All institutions of learning have fraternity competition. It is a necessity. Whether it has always been fair and whether corrupt "political" bargains have been entered into is open to question. In our hearts we know that what a man earns he should receive. In seeking pledges, fraternities should always be honest, to themselves, and to the prospects.

Stated briefly, the following is the way in which men are pledged at Delaware. Freshmen are literally "grabbed" and a pin is placed on their lapel before they have been in college a week. This practice does not give the Freshman a chance to truly know his own mind. It is not fair to him. When the average Freshman comes to college and is thus summarily placed in a position of honor, he thinks that he has some appreciated qualities. He begins to feel a smug, self-satisfaction. Knowing that his future welfare is secure he rests on his "hard earned" laurels. He may learn much or he may learn little (which is more probable) during his first term. If he passes he will join a fraternity.

On the other hand let us picture what would happen if no invitations were given by fraternities at Delaware until after Mid-Years. Some men who "make" fraternities now, would not "make" them, and some who do not, would. However, that is not the point. Under this method of pledging there would be a better spirit of comradeship between members of the Freshman Class. These little cliques that tend to break up the right sort of class spirit would be missing. Besides, there would not be such a disgraceful number of Freshmen drop out at Mid-Years as there was this year. Men who were determined to make good, would exert a greater effort in their studies—there would not be so much of the bragged about "College Life." The athletic teams of the college would be stronger because a man would have to show a varied interest in order to succeed in his fraternity expectations. There would be a negligible number of Freshmen who would fail to buy the "Review" and the "Blue Hen." The Freshmen would take more interest in all college organizations.

Further, there would be a similar reaction among upper-classmen. All the existing members of fraternities would be compelled to make themselves "big men" in order to attract the Freshmen toward their fraternities. Such a condition as this, in itself, would be of immeasurable benefit to "Old Delaware."

Many a man has joined a fraternity on the spur of a moment and has regretted it. Many a fraternity has initiated a man and later regretted it. Would these catastrophies not be averted if the fraternities made a ruling that no Freshman could be invited to join a fraternity until after February? Would the University of Delaware not be benefited in athletics, school spirit, and in reputation?

One a good movement is begun it cannot be stopped. Thus it would be with strict pledging rules at Delaware. The Freshman would start the year with such a determined effort to be successful that the momentum secured would last throughout his college course and throughout his life. This is the result that the right kind of pledging rules would have at Delaware. Every student in college wants to see his school become a better and stronger institution. Then, why not begin the College year of 1921 with a pledging system that will be the first step in realizing this noble purpose?

An Alumnus Dreams of Old College

Up under the glorious lindens which form that magic path leading to Old College, I wander today in fancy. Old College stands so proudly against the delicate colors of the evening sunset. The white columns, the red brick, the green creeper all harmonize to make the Delaware "masterpiece." The gentle rustle in the stately lindens causes me to think of the inspiration and tradition which they have given to Delaware men from the earliest times. The wonderful picture causes my breast to swell with pride. I drink in the gladness which Old College holds to my lips; I strain my vision and see old faces, old times. I feel a bound at my heart—the same bound I felt in the springtime of my youth. The odd little fountain in front of the college supports me as I look, and is it wrong to say my tears drop into it? I rest my forehead on my hand and I wish—. But I am but one alumnus. The last fond look—. I turn to go filled with the hope and encouragement which this monument gives; noble home for noble men, Old College.
April 24, 1921. Alumnus.

Rain Prevents Carnegie Game

One of the large attractions on the baseball schedule was dampened by J. Pluvius' tears last Thursday when the game between Carnegie Tech and Delaware was called off because of rain.

"Hans" Wagner, the veteran Pittsburgh Pirate shortstop, is coach of the Carnegie team. He brought his men directly from Pittsburgh to Newark and, running true to form, venerable Honus had his players out on the rain-soaked field to work out stiff muscles.

After it had been definitely decided that the game was off, Honus visited his numerous Newark friends. "Vic" Willis, a team-mate of Honus, is owner and proprietor of the "Washington House." "Vic" and Hans" talked of old times, when the "Pirates" won the championship.

An effort was made to obtain a game with the Carnegie team at a later date but this was not possible.

Alumni Notes

Joseph Weaver, '15, is enjoying a well-earned vacation at his home in Wilmington. Weaver has just returned from Jackson, Michigan, where he had complete charge of the installation of a centralized power plant for the Jaxon Steel Products Corporation, a General Motors subsidiary. The cost of the installation was more than $250,000. Mr. Weaver will leave New York in about a month for Antofagasta, Chile, where he will supervise the installation of a new dynamite plant. He will be gone from one to two years. "Pop," as he was affectionately known in college, is employed by the du Pont Engineering Company. His home address is 1304 Tattall Street, Wilmington.

J. W. Humphrey, 19, and W. S. Levey, 19, who are finishing their second year of graduate work in chemistry at the University of California, were recently initiated into Phi Lambda Upsilon, the chemical honor society at Berkeley. They may be reached by addressing the Sigma Phi Epsilon House at the University.

George Morgan, '75, and Charles Carswell, '20, visited the University with the Philadelphia Sons of Delaware last Saturday.

R. O. T. C. Unit to Train at Plattsburg

The members of the R. O. T. C. Unit, who are to train at Plattsburg this summer, will leave Newark in time to arrive at the Camp, June 16th. Major Row will attend the camp as Assistant Inspector and Instructor in Grenade Work. Sgt. Davis will be an Instructor.

A great many of the men are planning to make the first "hop" to New York where they will take in the sights of the "big burg" and also pay a flying visit to Coney Island. It is understood that the McAlpin, that hostelry of all good Delawareans, will be the headquarters of the men while in New York. The next stage of the journey will be up the historic Hudson to Albany, the New York State Capital. After remaining overnight at the Ten Eyck in Albany, the men will go by train through the wooded Berkshires to Lake George. Lake George, which is without a peer as far as scenic beauty in America is concerned, will be crossed by way of the lake steamer. Another short "hop" by land, the remainder of the trip will be made by steamer up Lake Champlain past the ancient Fort Ticonderoga to Plattsburg.

The men who will attend the Camp as follows:

Aikens, Alexander, Bernard, Brown, Jones, McMullen, Carll, Averst, Carter, Challenger, Dantz, DeLuca, Draper, Fletcher, Geoghegan, Goffigon, Gutowitz, Hallett, Harper, Hopkins, Hurff, Jacobs, Keith, Magee, Middleton, Moulds, Repp, Reed, Roemer, Sackett, Smith, Stewart, Triggs, Twoes, Wilson, Wood, Woodrow, Zimmerman, McManus, Crawford, Christfield.

Delaware Graduate

Addresses Rehabs

Last Wednesday, Arthur S. Houchin, '13, addressed the Rehabilitation Division of the University. Mr. Houchin is now connected with the Philadelphia Office of the Federal Board For Vocational Education.

The substance of Mr. Houchin's remarks was that men must possess things other than the ability to earn a livelihood in order to be considered educated. He especially stressed the value of morale and fellowship in educational work. The spirit of the Rehabilitation Club was commended. Today, Dr. Thomas S. Manns of the Experiment Station addressed the Assembly on an agricultural subject.

Chemicals Visit Rubber Plant

On Wednesday, May 11th, Prof. H. E. Tiffany conducted a very interesting trip thru the works of the Lee Tire and Rubber Company at Conshohocken. The treatment of tire rubber was explained from the time the wild and plantation rubbers are shipped in up to the point where it is vulcanized and is ready to market. The mechanical means of working the stock were especially instructive and efficiently executed in the fine new factory. Prof. Tiffany was the recipient of samples of the various grades of gum at different stages of treatment and these will be on exhibit in the Chemical Department shortly.

Blue Lantern Elects Officers

The first meeting of the newly elected members of the Blue Lantern Society was held in Old College last Thursday evening. Working in conjunction with the "old-timers," the active members elected officers for the coming year. The following men were elected:

Schaefer, President.
Leamy, Vice-President.
Betzmer, Secretary and Treasurer.

ILLUMINATING GAS AND ITS BY-PRODUCTS

By Harry E. Hodgson, Ass't
Supt., U. G. I., Before Wolf
Chemical Club, April 14

More than one hundred years ago, Murdock, in London, lighted his home by gas. In about 1840, private plants were installed in Philadelphia, and using fuels such as coal, gasoline or resin. This gas was really carburetted air.

Illuminating gas is water gas and coal gas. Water gas is made as follows—incandescent carbon (coke) is sprayed with steam and air from a primary and then a secondary source. The resulting gas is carburetted by an oil sprinkler, fixed in a super-heater and then scrubbed with water. Coal gas is manufactured by destructive distillation of coking coal and the gas purifies along with the water gas, in towers of ferric oxide and shavings.

The gas is then metered, stored and supplied to the city mains. It is tested for its B. T. U. value and sold on that basis.

The principle by-products are ammonia, toluols and cyanogen. The gas is pumped through towers and sprayed with water with which it forms aqua ammonia. This in turn is concentrated and sold as such. The oils—toluol and benzol—are recovered from the tar separated out from the gas. The CN is reclaimed by the formation of its insoluble salt.

It is to be regretted that so few remarks can be made in our limited space regarding the exact and interesting details of Mr. Hodgson's practical talk. However, the foregoing, together with the speaker's forceful and pleasing delivery, should recall the facts to the hearers.

The Story of Romulus and Remus

(With apologies to George Ade.)

Once upon a time two favorite sons left the home-hearth on "Main Street," Odessa, for the Great Adventure. Their names were Romulus and Remus. The call of Higher Education, Original Sixes, and the W. C. D. led them to the U. of D. Now Romulus was a pill-roller with a custard finish and a hard center. He went "big" with the ladies, but the boys wouldn't let him in on their crap games. He had a cauliflower ear and a hoarse laugh, so he decided to take "Ag".

Now Remus was a square-set, thick-necked plugger, who had all the earmarks of Thomas A. Edison. He got sore whenever the Calculus class was dismissed early. He knew the signals well and so played guard on the Varsity wrecking crew. He wrote to his girl twice a week and only rarely chewed gum; never "sipped a coke." With all these qualities and a few feathers thrown in, he would have made a fine filler for a J. Fenimore Cooper novel.

But "Life's Kaleidoscope in Ambiguous Disclosure Lies," as the Realart Pictures say, and "Curfew Rings Upon An Unforseen Finale." Reel 5.

Behold Remus after a ten hour run as engineer on the B. and O. going home to Maggie and the Kids, and Corned Beef and Cabbage. Whereas Romulus Rolls down Fifth Avenue in his "Rolls" to tiffin.

Moral: Better a Ring Lardner than an Edgar Allen Poe.

STUDENT COUNCIL DANCE IS WELL ATTENDED

Many Visitors at Soiree in Armory

The end of a perfect day was embodied in the Student Council dance which was held in the evening after the Interscholastic Relay Carnival. Many contestants took advantage of the Student Council invitation to dance in the Armory. Many more Delaware students answered the call and the consequence was a successful dance.

Decorations were supplied in part thru the kindness of Newark High School. Music was supplied in full by George Madden and his musical contortionists.

The patronesses were: Mrs. Wilson, Miss Clarke and Mrs. Mrs. Hullihen.

DELAWARE LOSES TO MARYLAND TEAM

Remarkable Game at College Park; Keene Allows One Hit

Delaware lost to University of Maryland, at College Park, last Monday, 1 to 0. This was one of the most remarkable games ever played at College Park. Keene, Maryland's hurling ace allowed but one hit.

In the ninth inning "Zeke" Bailey, the Maryland catcher, tripled. Later, he romped home on Groves' single.

Collins and Ramsey were on the mound for Dealaware. Both pitched good ball.

Delaware Beats Haverford

The "Chicks" got an early lead on Haverford in the game here Saturday afternoon and Haverford never had a look-in after the second inning. One of the features of the game was Delaware scoring two runs on a squeeze play in the second inning.

Dantz leading off in the second was out. Underwood walked and Marvel and Collins followed with hits, filling the bases. With Jimmy Robbins at bat the squeeze was tried. Jimmy dumped the ball towards third and while he was being thrown out at first, Underwood and Marvel scored.

Collins pitched good ball for six innings, allowing no passes and "whiffing" seven. He was taken out to allow Rothrock to warm up. The latter was wild and after two innings was yanked and Ramsey finished the game. The three Delaware pitchers fanned 14 batsmen. Haverford had very few chances to score.

The visitors displayed a listless brand of ball. There were few thrills deserving of applause from the big holiday crowd.

"Yellow Dogs" Grow

At the last meeting of the "Yellow Dogs," held in Wolf Hall, two "highly esteemed and mangy curs" were introduced into the "kennel." Prof. H. E. Tiffany barks forth that the past assemblage of the noble and mystic canines has proved to be the best and most enjoyable growl yet held. The new fire cure for insects, which was formulated earlier in the year, was not tried out on the young flea-bitten pups but its practicability will be determined both from a chemical and a dog-matic standpoint at the following meetings of the "Dogs." The "kennel" hopes to be able to quiet the whines of all concerned regarding next year's "crunches" and organization, before the approaching dog-days.

Correction

The fact that the general elections were announced last week by the Review for the 16th of May was due to an error in transmitting the information from the Student Council to the Review and not to any "mixup" on the part of the Review Board. However, the general elections will occur on the 23rd, as announced by the President of the Student Body.

DELAWARE TAKES THIRD PLACE IN MIDDLE STATES MEET

(Continued from Page One) ever, and stride for stride they fought toward the tape. The race brought thousands to their feet as Booth refused to give ground to the much vaunted Crawford and the thousands saw the Delaware blue flash across the line at the same instant that the maroon of Lafayette crossed. It was a heartbreaking but wonderful race, run in the exceptional time of 4:28.

Tom McDonnell added to the total with points in the pole-vault, Kemp, of Swarthmore, capturing first in that event. Humphries came thru with a second in the javelin and Middleton helped out with a tie for fourth in the high jump. Delaware finished with a total of 22 5/6 against 23 for Lafayette.
