

May Expects 10,000 In Population In Marketing Area

Increase Within 5 In Talk At C. of C. Meeting

Wallace Johnson estimates that 10,000 new inhabitants will be in the Newark marketing area in the next five years.

Johnson made this prediction in a talk last night at a Chamber of Commerce meeting in the New Century Club.

Johnson outlined ways in which the chamber can help the town meet its needs as an expanding defense production center.

The mayor urged the group to organize a traffic committee to aid town authorities in handling growing congestion here and to study long-range plans for handling increased activity expected following the opening of the Chrysler tank plant.

The parking problem will also be studied by the group. The mayor stressed that merely adding more parking meters will not clear up the situation.

Johnson said that the business district is virtually confined to its present area by the zoning ordinance.

Johnson pointed out that the town will be costly, but that debt of the town will be avoided if he said steps had already been taken to have Newark declared a police and fire protection area, he needed, he said, effort will be made to keep a low as possible, since the town is faced with increased federal aid.

Johnson said that the town's cooperation is needed to meet the town's growing pains as easily as possible. He also stressed that the organization or company is needed for the growth of Newark.

Johnson said that the town's location, in respect to metropolitan areas, seaports, main railroad and highways, is considered.

Council of Newark Church Women Will Be Organized Here

Constitution Will Be Voted On After Prayer Day Service

An interdenominational Council of Church Women, representing at least nine local churches, is about to be organized here, according to Mrs. Victor Manley Patterson, chairman of the constitution committee.

At a business meeting at 2:45 p.m. tomorrow following the World Day of Prayer service in St. Thomas Church, a constitution for the new organization will be presented by Mrs. Cyrus L. Day, chairman of the constitution assembly, and will be voted on by the assembly of women.

Seven of the nine interested churches already have voted to affiliate with the Council and have elected representatives to the executive committee.

The seven are First Presbyterian, Newark Methodist, St. Thomas Episcopal, Calvary Baptist, White Clay Creek Presbyterian, Ebenezer Methodist, and Head of Christiana Presbyterian.

All other Protestant churches in or near Newark are invited to join.

The Newark Church Council has been long considered by a group of local women. The first steps towards its organization were taken by Mrs. Patterson at a luncheon in the Presbyterian Church last May, when women of a number of other churches were guests. Organizational committees were formed soon after that.

Rotary Hears Talk On World Situation

Dr. James K. Eyre Is Speaker

Dr. James K. Eyre, of Wilmington, spoke to the Newark Rotary Club on Monday night on the current world crisis.

He pointed out that from the time of the Russian revolution until 1932, the U. S. had not maintained relations with the Soviet Union. We had considered her a menace to world peace. Eyre told of his personal experience as advisor to the president of the Philippines.

"We must threaten Russia with the worst type of reparations, should she drag us into another war. We must be ruthless and selfish—or else be dragged down. The United States," he continued, "must take a position of control of the world's trouble spots, Germany, Japan, Italy, and Russia."

Democratic Way of Life Still Puzzling to NHS Foreign Pupil

With seven months of her year's stay in the United States now behind her, Lotte E. M. Geck, 17-year-old German exchange student at the Newark High School, is still confused about this much discussed Democratic Way of Life she came here to observe.

This is not surprising in view of the fact that many native Americans could not say offhand just what democracy means. But Lotte is not so much interested in definitions as in getting "the feel" of living in a free country. And this, she says, she hasn't quite managed to do.

For one thing, her days are so full with the routine of school, farm work and agricultural meetings, she finds little chance for getting to know and understand Americans.

Council Proposes Extension Of Town Limits In All Directions

New Lines Would Take In Nottingham Manor, Chrysler Plant, Lambbrook; Will Be Written Into New Charter; 200 More Homes Proposed

Spectators at Tuesday night's Town Council meeting virtually could see the town grow before their eyes.

A plan for extending the town boundaries from three quarters of a mile to a mile in nearly all directions was approved for inclusion in the proposed new charter now being prepared for submission to the state legislature.

This followed a disclosure that another large scale housing development the third announced in recent weeks, is planned here.

Approximately 200 homes are proposed for the latest housing project slated for a 50-acre tract in the southeastern portion of town. L. W. Richards, Wilmington real estate broker, is negotiating for the purchase of the land for an unidentified client from the Misses Etta and Nell Wilson.

Previously announced were plans for a 500-family settlement on a 35-acre tract on Elkton Road just south of town. Another project is slated for property formerly owned by Mrs. Mary Richards between South Academy street and South College Avenue along the Pennsylvania Railroad. This was at first announced as a duplex home development, but Allan S. Hart, the promoter, said last Tuesday night it would be a landscaped apartment project similar to the University Garden Apartments which he erected here.

Progress on the proposed new charter was also reported. The Council now feels certain it will have a draft, including newly approved compromises on controversial issues as well as the suggested town boundaries, ready to send to Dover within two weeks.

Printed copies of the charter proposal will be prepared for public distribution, and a mass public meeting will be held here to discuss the measure either before it goes to Dover or at least before it comes to a vote there.

As outlined Tuesday night, the proposed new boundaries would extend the town in all directions. The Christiansa Creek, about three quarters of a mile west of the present line, would form the western and southwestern limits, taking in Nottingham Manor. The southern boundary would be formed by the Chestnut Hill-Ogletown Road, which is a mile beyond the present limits. This would take in the proposed Chrysler plant and the University of Delaware stadium. The eastern line would extend along an arc from the Ogletown Road to a point where White Clay Creek intersects the Capitol Trail, which is about three-quarters of a mile beyond the present boundary. The new northern limits would extend five-eighths of a mile from the present line on both Paper Mill Road and New London Road, taking in the Newark Country Club in the northwestern section.

The Council also authorized the drafting of a building code for the town and approved a proposal for an economic survey to plan extensions of water and sewer facilities.

All these projects have been set in (Continued on Page 6)

Constitution and the political theory behind it.

After school Lotte returns to the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Samendinger, near Milford Crossroads, who are her hosts during her stay here. The Samendingers speak German fluently, which Lotte regards as unfortunate, since, during her stay in the U.S. she wants to speak only English. She knew very little when she arrived and still speaks with a heavy accent. She feels she could progress faster in the language if she could speak it more in her after-school hours.

These latter are devoted mainly to farm chores and studying, with occasional grange and 4-H club meetings in the evenings. She already has won a sewing prize in the grange, and, despite the language problem, is doing well in her studies in school. A ninth grade student, she won a place on the second honor roll this month.

All this, however, adds up to a rather restricted life. She hasn't yet, for instance, attended a high school basketball game, seen a U.S. movie, or loafed over an ice cream soda with her fellow teen-agers. Such activities may be considered merely entertainment, but Lotte thinks they might open the way for her to get closer to America. School authorities, incidentally, are aware of her problem and arrangements are being made to have members of the school honor society take her in hand, escort her to basketball games and help her in other ways to join in after-school activities. She will also be included in more field trips to surrounding plants, museums and other points of interest.

Lotte is still impressed with the bigness of America. At home she says everything is compact. Here a car is almost essential, especially to a farmer, for such simple trips as going to church, to a movie or a grange meeting. In Germany such things are within walking distance and, for longer trips, a bicycle does handily.

Lotte is also amazed at the high status enjoyed by the U. S. farmer. His German counterpart, she says, has little community prestige and is still looked on as something of a "country bumpkin."

In her pocketbook Lotte carries pictures of her family and her home, a small, neat, white stucco farmhouse near Heilbronn in east Germany. Her relatives write regularly, mostly homey news, with little mention of the political situation. However, Lotte says all east German farmers fear a Russian invasion because they believe their farms would be confiscated by the state.

When Lotte returns to Germany next June, she plans to continue her studies, probably at a vocational agriculture school. She'll have a lot to tell her German teen-agers, facts about American farming methods, descriptions of the wealth of textbooks and education aids in use here.

She hopes also to be able to tell her countrymen how Americans think and feel, how they react to authority and regulate their government, and how, basically, they are, like Germans, just human beings. She hopes by doing this to contribute an important trifle to world peace and understanding.

The story of a faith that paid off

YOU KNOW IT'S TRUE BECAUSE IT'S HAPPENED TO YOU AND YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS

PROBABLY YOU'VE never thought of yourself as a maker of history. But you are. And here is how you, as a citizen of the United States, are creating the greatest success in all history.

Remember back in 1941 when the Defense Bonds you were buying suddenly had to become War Bonds? How you and your neighbors pitched in to buy them in ever-increasing numbers, to back our fighting men and to help achieve the victory of World War II? After V-J Day, when those bonds became Savings Bonds, you continued to buy them because you had learned how regular saving could build security and contentment for yourself and those you love.

The face of the land has undergone some dramatic changes in those years since V-J Day. Now the landscape is dotted with new homes that Savings Bonds built. Thousands upon thousands of new automobiles travel the highways—Savings Bonds cars, bought with the product of individual thrift. On the farms, Bond-purchased equipment has helped produce bumper crops and prosperous years. Everywhere in America, man's urge to get into business for himself has become a bright reality. So has the ambition of loving parents to send their children through college. Time and time again, Savings Bonds have made those dreams and many others come true.

You KNOW they've come true, because it's happened to you or to some of your own friends.

And this is only the beginning of the story. Even after accomplishing so much, millions of American families still enjoy the financial security of owning more than fifty billion dollars—fifty thousand million dollars in Savings Bonds. More than at the peak of war-time Bond holdings!

How much money is that? It's enough to build a new $10,000 mortgage-free home for every family in San Francisco—and Sacramento—and Salt Lake City—and Denver—and Kansas City—and St. Louis—and Indianapolis—and Cincinnati—and Pittsburgh—and New York City—and the whole state of Texas!

And every week, everywhere in America, new millions of dollars are added to the total—as crisp new Savings Bonds are typed up with your name on them.

Kind of a king-size success story, isn't it? Your success story because you and the millions of your neighbors are living it right now. Your own faith in America—your own desire for the warmth of family security and independence—have made the story of United States Savings Bonds the thrift miracle of all time.

For your security, and your country's too, save now - through regular purchase of U.S. Savings Bonds

February has arrived with real winter weather. It is an outstanding month with its numerous celebrations. There are two holidays honoring famous men of these United States—George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Then Valentine brings real joy and pleasure to the children. One must not forget that February also brings the birthday anniversary of Henry North Longfellow, the noted poet. In a short month, the shortest in the year, but one can be grateful to February for what it has contributed to the world.

Harmony Rural School
This little one room school has broken the attendance record for January with 100% attendance. According to Mrs. Martha Barnes, county attendance officer, no one or two room school has equaled this record in the past 25 years, and perhaps even longer. Records aren't available beyond 1926. The parents, the children and the teacher, Elsie W. Stradley, have the opinion that the hot soup served three days each week has played a large part in the lack of absences. The 21 children who gave the school this fine rating were: Beverly Cannon, Joyce Cannon, Barbara Cannon, Faye Cannon, Linda Hahn, Maryann Springer, Sophie Springer, Sallie Evans, Mary Emma Ransom, Norma Ransom, Faye Trimble, Nancy Barlow, Shirley Barlow, Connie Ogden, Francis Farmer, Philip Schuler, Warren McCall, Daniel Barlow, Stanley Springer, Anthony Springer, Robert Cannon.

The following girls attained the first and second honor rolls for the third marking period: Faye Trimble, Joyce Cannon, Sallie A. Evans, first honor rolls; Beverly Cannon, Maryann Springer, and Linda Hahn, second honor roll.

A program on "Nature Study" was given by the school's club last Friday afternoon.

Capitol Trail News

Mrs. James H. Bishop, Correspondent
Phone 6318
Kirkwood Highway

Our column is handicapped this week by the absence of Mrs. Bishop who is spending a couple of weeks visiting her mother, Mrs. Jane Mason, in New Haven, Conn. Mrs. Mason is still confined to a convalescent home due to a broken hip which she suffered several weeks ago. Her friends will be glad to know that she seems to be making excellent progress in spite of her age.

We learn from Mrs. Margaret Johnson, who resides on Possum Park Road, that her grandfather, John Grier, is visiting her for awhile. We are also pleased to know that her son, Martin, is making such excellent progress with his saxophone and has played several engagements recently.

Another of our young musicians is Peter Furness Jr. who is taking accordian lessons and making such progress that we expect to be hearing him play at some of our functions along the Trail soon.

White Clay Creek News

Sunday, Feb. 11, will be an important day at the church according to information given by the pastor, Rev. James H. Bishop. At the Sunday School hour, 10 a.m., a class in preparation for church membership will open with Rev. Bishop as teacher. An opportunity is thus afforded to a number of youth and older people who would like to enter into full church membership on Easter Sunday. Anyone from the community, even though not contemplating seeking membership in the church at this time, but desiring to know more about the church, its work and responsibilities, will be cordially welcome.

This church, "by the side of the road," desires to be known as "The Friendly Church." It is open to all who desire to worship God and hear helpful messages in these trying days. At the 11 a.m. service, the pastor will present the second of a Lenten series on "Little Walks With Jesus." The message will be on "The Samaritan Way and The Water Of Life."

A special musical service will be held in the evening at 8 p.m. This service under the theme, "To The Glory of God" will be well worth attending. Kenneth Faulkner, of Camden, Del., will be at the console of the Hammond organ and the electronic chimes. Mr. Faulkner graduated from The New England Conservatory of Music, and is a Fellow of The American Guild of Organists. He has been playing organs for fifty years, beginning at age of 13.

The newly organized Junior-Minister Fellowship is planning its first regular meeting at the church, Sunday, Feb. 18. Plans for the year will be worked out by the group.

Large eggs should average 2 1/2 to the dozen, medium eggs 2 to the dozen, and pullet eggs 18 ounces a dozen.

K. T. Keller, Chrysler Corporation's Chairman of the Board . . . L. L. Colbert, President . . . and F. M. Zeder, Vice-Chairman of the Board and head of Engineering, with the revolutionary 180 horsepower new Chrysler FirePower Engine.

Chrysler Corporation now brings you . . .

THE FINEST ENGINE EVER PUT IN AN AUTOMOBILE

THIS is the new Chrysler FirePower Engine that outperforms any other automobile engine . . . the finest engine ever to power an automobile.

"This new full-compression power is about to be introduced in our new Chrysler New Yorker and Imperial cars . . . and like the first Chrysler high-compression engine, it will set basically new standards of motor car performance.

"It combines more engineering ideals than have ever been made practical before in a single engine. It introduces the combustion chamber designed for efficient combustion and full-compression—the Hemispherical Combustion Chamber that enables you to use more of the energy in every drop of gasoline than ever before!

"It gives you a reserve of power far beyond anything you have known. It will operate effectively on every kind of gasoline that's available now or in sight for the future. You'll get a new flexibility in acceleration and a brilliant performance range that's far smoother and far quieter than anything you've experienced. And your engine will operate with less effort . . . less strain . . . less wear of parts than any other engine today.

"What our engineers, research and production men did was to start afresh . . . challenging many beliefs held in the industry as to what could and what could not be done. Trying new ideas and new applications of scientific principles. Finding ways to make ideals practical. Rejecting all the easy 'me too' answers! Using all the imagination, ingenuity, experience and technical daring that have brought you so many important developments first from Chrysler Corporation that have given Chrysler products superior world-wide years.

"The new Chrysler FirePower Engine is the most advanced yet of the kind of engineering you get in Plymouth, De Soto and Chrysler cars.

"In these fine cars today, as well as in Dodge trucks, marine and industrial work all over the world, you have America's first family of engines . . . acclaimed everywhere! Now we give that family a great new power and performance."

Home Care Of Sick

Edith Kendall, R. N., American Red Cross

When home nursing instruction is given, it makes time for the nurse and mother. And women can save time, money, effort, and health by learning how to prevent illness and recognize symptoms—as well as learning how to take care of home patients. Instructional equipment isn't necessary. A cardboard box can double as a bed back-rest, a bed table, or a support. Blankets and bath towels can be fastened to make simple pillows and bed-jackets. ## Know Your Schools

Meet Newark's School Teachers

(Fortieth in a Series)

Since 1925, Mrs. Palmer has made her home in Newark (Glasgow Route 1). Previous to 1925 she lived in Scott County, Virginia. She attended East Radford State Teachers' College for two years and spent four summer sessions at the University of Delaware. Mrs. Palmer's teaching record includes three years in Virginia, six years in Newark public schools from 1925 to 1931 and returned to teaching again in Newark in January 1948. She is now teaching Second Grade.

During the war, Mrs. Palmer served as an airplane spotter and knitted and sewed for the Red Cross. She has been on the P-T-A Membership Committee for two years.

Mrs. Palmer tells us that her special interests are restricted to the activities of her 14-year-old son. When not teaching school, she is active in the Home Demonstration Club. At present she is interested in the church choir and has a Sunday School class.

Mrs. Palmer's travels have taken her

Plan For Revamping State Gov't. Joined With School Study

The report of the Commission on Reorganization of the State Government will be used in a study of current government in secondary schools of Delaware under the jurisdiction of the State Department of Education.

Dr. George R. Miller, Jr., state superintendent of education, in releasing today, said the teaching program will tie in with a statewide educational program designed to acquaint the people of the state with modern Delaware government in action.

A weekly television show to be announced later will tie in with the current study materials to be used by the schools. The report of the commission was prepared by Griffiths, Associates, a recognized firm of government consultants, and deals with the structure of government in Delaware. It will be a study of what we have, and a consideration of what we will have if the plan is accepted, said Dr. Miller.

Council Meeting

motion to handle the town growth expected as a result of the proposed Chrysler tank plant, the expansion of the Stine Laboratory and the erection of a large DuPont office building near here.

The proposed building code, which Town Solicitor John P. Sinclair was ordered to draft, will be based on the abridged building code recommended by the Building Officials Conference of America, Inc. The draft is expected to get its first and second readings at the March meeting.

The economic survey for extending water and sewer facilities will be carried out by a Baltimore firm of consulting engineers. Their findings will be used as a basis for planning an enlarged system.

An ordinance limiting parking in the residential area surrounding the Danita Hosiery plant was also proposed. Complaints have been coming in the past few months from residents of the section protesting all-day parking by Danita employees in front of homes and driveways. Work on a company parking lot has been delayed due to weather conditions, according to officials of the firm.

The proposed ordinance, which Mr. Sinclair is expected to have ready for initial readings next month, calls for two hour parking on Chambers Street, Wyoming and Ashland Roads. Parking will be forbidden altogether on South Chapel Street between Delaware Avenue and Continental Street and between Chambers Street and East Park Place.

A request for the addition of four more patrolmen and another patrol car to the town police force was made by Chief William Cunningham. The proposal was referred to the police committee for study. Councilman William Coverdale, speaking for the committee, said that a system of qualifications for police personnel should be set up, including a requirement that all applicants secure training at the state police school. The Council agreed to this.

It was also admitted that new patrolmen must soon be hired either on a part or full-time basis and some action is expected in the near future.

The lawmakers also agreed to step up their regular meetings from one to two a month, to be held on the first and third Tuesdays.

Jottings

It was 4 years ago, near the end of February, that the Main Street door to our new shop was opened and you, dear customers, could enter without ladders that blocked the "Petitecoast Lane" entrance. (Time passes, doesn't it?)

We're still building—improving our facilities, becoming more particular (if that were possible) about our fashion selections, more fastidious about the fabrics, the workmanship—more sure of our fashion-rightness and customer guidance!

Fashions with a flair — At prices that are fair — (and thus the story of Peggy Cronin Fashions is told)

Sale! Satin Seuffies, 85¢! In two-tone lingerie colors with airfoam soles that make you feel you're walking on air—were $1.25, now only 85¢. Buy 2 or 3 pairs. You'll love 'em!

For Valentine—may we suggest a single red rose that looks, feels and smells like a real rose? It is only $1.25 and will delight her time and time again! (See it in our window)

The little navy faille suit with the so smart flared skirt, pert jacket and rhinestone studded plique collar, over a self-collar that stopped window shoppers is only $15. Sizes 9 to 15.

News of London-Britain Vicinity

Martha Lee Ness, Correspondent
Phone Kemblesville 2171

A state birthday is a very special one for most girls, and Janet Ruth Hill is no exception. Her parents, the Ralph Hills, gave Janet a big party at Kemblesville Hall January 27. The Hill daughters did a lovely job of decorating. Over 50 friends from Kemblesville and from Newark (where Janet is a junior) made up the party. All sorts of games, dancing and refreshments made the festive occasion one to remember for a long time.

It was a most gratifying sight to observe how packed Kemblesville Hall was for the "School Meeting" the other night. A start is being made. There is to be a meeting of the presidents of the school boards at Avon Grove School February 9 for the purpose of considering having an economic survey made for this area. This survey would be authoritative and would cost us only the actual cost of publishing the information obtained. The information would include a study of population trends, the economic assets of the area, and all those things which need to be considered in planning for efficient, good education for now and the future.

During the meeting, County Superintendent outlined the state and county plans for the school structure for a while. These plans have been acted on by nearly all the southern districts, according to the map shown at the meeting, with the exception of the four townships represented at the meeting. In other words, part of our district is consolidated (Avon Grove) but we aren't. Mr. Saylor stated that due to the increase in the school population in the future it would be impossible for any one section to plan on using the buildings of another section, with contribution only for the operating expenses. There just won't be enough buildings for that. Avon Grove High School has found it necessary to refuse to take any students from outside the Avon Grove area from now on. The law states we must provide education for our township students. We can't provide it economically if we try to do it by townships alone. According to Mr. Saylor, the experts feel consolidation is the answer. He suggests the four townships or any desired combination consider a joint primary school, and that the same four townships also consider working out contribution of physical facilities to Avon Grove School, so they can take our high school students.

Assistant Supt. Lander spoke to us about the advantages a consolidated school could offer our children, and stressed the fact that the three "R's" should never be neglected, but modern education has come to recognize the fact that it is the duty of the school to offer glimpses into the many avenues such as art appreciation and participation, music, athletics—those avenues which make us more informed, appreciative and understanding people. He stated that by trying to learn about other people and their way of life, through making ourselves more generally informed, we could best achieve working arrangements so the world can live in peace. True education, he stated, is the answer.

Plans were made to hold another general meeting when the economic survey has been made by the State Economy League. This meeting will take place this spring. Mr. Saylor emphasized the fact that things like this take time, to do the right way, and that in his thirty years in office he had never found anyone who said "Now this is a good time to build a school." When times are good, some people say, "Oh, it would cost too much to build now. Now isn't a good time." When times are bad, these same people say, "Oh, my, no, we can't build any schools when people have no money and we can't even collect taxes." Mr. Saylor concluded with the forceful remark that "The time to build schools is when you need them!" Dale Nichol attended the Presbytery at Phoenixville, Pa., recently.

Kurt and Karen Kalb, Judy and Janet Nichol, and Wendy Klauck were escorted into the Delaware Art Center January 20 to see a play "The Rackety Rackety House," based on the book by Frances Hodgson Burnett.

A "Home Demonstration" group has been formed, under the direction of Miss Altemus, who works out of the Chester County Office. Present members are Anne Paxson, Dorothy Akerman, Mildred Herr, Jean Hayden, Agnes Sanford, Georgia Owen, Susie Poole, Clara Ayers, and "Hen" McVey. Have fun, girls!

Mr. and Mrs. Mark B. Crossan, Sr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Doris M. Crossan, Landenberg, to Gilbert W. Holton, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Holton, Landenberg. Miss Crossan is a graduate of Avon Grove Consolidated School while Mr. Holton graduated from Kennet Consolidated School and the Goldie College in Wilmington. He is at present associated with the Mushroom Transportation Co. of Kennett.

Reverend Douglas Stirling of the Landenberg Methodist Church wishes to welcome anyone who is interested in attending the Christian movies shown each Friday night at the church, at 7:45. The movie on February 2 was "A Letter From China."

Feb. 8 will mark the Fourth Quarterly Conference of the Landenberg-Hamorton charge, to be held at the Hamorton Church. Dr. Galloway Tyson, District Superintendent, will speak.

YELLOWJACKET HIGHLIGHTS

At Newark High School

High School Girls Visit Memorial Hospital

Twenty-seven girls made a trip to the Memorial Hospital on Saturday, January 27. About 250 girls from all over the area gathered at the hospital for a tour which included the nurses' home, a film and refreshments.

While in the hospital, the girls visited David Arnett, a ninth grade student, who is recovering from burns. They found David watching television and reading books. When seeing the Newark Evening News, he remarked, "First, they send me homework and now they are sending the whole school."

Mary Louise Greenplate.

"Moving Day" for Science and Commercial Departments

The science department plans are progressing for the transfer of scientific equipment to Mr. Roman Ciesinski's third floor room. By this transfer Mr. H. Lewis Miller will be located on the third floor. Mr. Ciesinski will then move into the room now occupied by Mrs. Overby the typing department. The shift in rooms is being made to facilitate the teaching of science and to group all work in that department together. In addition the change will place all classes in the commercial department together on the second floor north.

This plan, set up in 1949, has been anticipated for sometime but adequate equipment for the change was not secured until recently.

Nicholas Vlasveld.

A Day of Radio Broadcasts Shown By Junior High Students

Miss Wooten's homeroom presented a radio broadcast on Wednesday, Jan. 31, in the school auditorium.

The group gave its versions and ideas of radio programs on the air today. Participants depicted advertisements of commercials as well as a version of Arthur Godfrey's talent scout show. The talent scouts were James Jackson, who sang "Tennessee Waltz" and "Orange Colored Sky"; Phyllis Manning and Virginia Lee Moore, who tapped to several numbers; Phyllis Hawery, who sang "I'll Always Love You" and "It's a Most Unusual Day." James Jackson and Phyllis Hawery sang a duet of "My Heart Cries For You." Talent winners judged by the applause of the audience were Phyllis Hawery and James Jackson.

Also included in the program were the soap opera stories "John's Other Wife" and "The Mystery Hour."

Others who participated in the program were: Reid Kinlock, Sam Perry, Andy Moore, Arthur Johnson, George Arthur, Peter Furness, Peter Cooper, Edward Wilson, Earl Gibson, Robert Fink, Raymond Windle, Shelby Milliken, Natalia Bohdan, Sally Dickel, Ruth Watson, Phyllis Daney, Pauline Insigna, and Joan Porter.

The script was written by Karen Schumann and Susan Gore. Dorothy Gray was master of ceremonies and Thelma Gray, a senior, directed the musical part of the program.

Broiler Output In State To Level Off

Delaware is likely to stay about the way it is now, according to Dr. Herman I. Miller, Deputy Director, Poultry Branch, U. S. Department of Agriculture Production and Marketing Administration. Miller spoke to a group of broiler growers at the University of Delaware Farm and Home Week in Newark, last week.

There is much talk that the new season coming into broiler production will drive Delaware broiler growers out of business. "Mr. Miller said, 'It is not contention that this will not happen. More likely, it seems to me, is the prospect that the Delaware area will not continue to expand as it has over the last 15 years, but production will be stabilized in this area with the increased national needs met by production from new areas.'"

Winter "Outing"

The North Wind and Jack Frost's antics need not cheat your youngster of her daily fresh air quota. It's possible to keep roses in cheeks and appetites high with indoor "outings."

On really bad days, merely dress the little one as though for outdoor play, then pull up her playpen beside an open protected window. If there's some sun, it's a "plus value"; if not, fresh air alone is still a health-giving factor.

It's important not to overdress the youngster, because after all, she is in a warm room. It's also wise to protect her chin.

Plan For History Conference In June

State And Local Group To Meet June 14-16

A 22-member committee on local arrangements for the annual conference of the American Association of State and Local History, which will be held June 14, 15, and 16 at the University of Delaware and New Castle, has been appointed by Dr. Albert B. Corey, New York State historian and president of the association.

The committee, which will meet for the first time next month, is headed by Dr. R. O. Bausman, of Newark, professor of agricultural economics at the university, and chairman of the Institute of Delaware History and Culture.

The third day of the conference will be held at New Castle when that town's tercentenary is observed. Tentative plans call for the first two days' sessions to be held on the Newark campus.

"One of the purposes of the Association of State and Local History is to stimulate interest in the local history of the regions where it meets," Dr. Bausman said. "Therefore, the Institute of Delaware History and Culture is particularly anxious to have all historical societies and similar organizations cooperate in arranging the conference and participate in its sessions."

Both Local Banks Renewed By FDIC

Deposits Insured Up To $10,000

Both the Farmers Trust and the Newark Trust Company received new certificates of membership this week from the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, Washington, D. C. The certificates give effect to the recent increase in insurance coverage to $10,000.

Both J. Irvin Dayett, president of the Newark Trust, and Miss Edna Campbell, vice-president of the Farmers, pointed out that this insurance does not cost depositors of the bank a single penny. The surplus of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which now exceeds $1,300,000,000, in addition to all deposit insurance losses and operating expenses of the Corporation has been paid in by the 13,650 insured banks of the nation in the form of annual assessments based on their total deposits.

"Under the leadership of its chairman, Maple T. Harl, and his predecessors," the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation has made a great contribution to the soundness and solvency of our banking system and to the safety and security of bank depositors.
