

THIEVES
ABROAD

RAID HOMES IN NEIGHBORHOOD

Thieves entered the home of Herbert Brown near McLaughlin's Mills last Sunday evening. The family had been away from home from six until eleven o'clock. Upon their return they found the flower pots which they had left in the windows, in a row on the front porch. The shutters on the front and on the side of the residence next to McLaughlin's Mill had been closed, and the invaders had rummaged undisturbed. It was found they had used a box of matches in their search for spoil. An investigation proved that the party had suffered heavily, many supplies being missing. Several pieces of jewelry had been taken from a bedroom, but a purse containing about twenty dollars in cash, had been missed by the unwelcome visitors.

No clue as to the identity of the invaders has been found.

Thieves entered the home of Walter Smalley, at Harmony, on Monday about 9 p. m. and got away with a silver watch, a box of cigars, a blue serge suit of clothing and $2.80 in cash, besides other articles. The members of the family were at a store about fifty feet away at the time, and it is presumed that the thieves knew this and took advantage of the opportunity. They are supposed to be residents of the locality. Detective McCoy and Constable Jones scoured the country, but were unsuccessful in their efforts to find the thieves.

STORM RAGES
OVER EAST

Many Trees And Wires Down

The most severe wind and rain storm of the winter raged in this locality for twenty-four hours beginning about nine o'clock on Monday evening. Great trees have been torn up, roots and all, while telephone lines have been reported out of order at a rate which makes the linemen uncertain where to begin repair work. During the height of the storm an express train on the Maryland division of the Pennsylvania railroad, northbound, became derailed at Perryville tower, about 9.05 o'clock. Engineer James F. Murphy of Philadelphia was instantly killed, and Fireman Chas. C. Sayre of Wilmington, seriously injured.

The engine was thrown on its side, burying Murphy and Sayre, who stuck valiantly to their posts in the wreckage. Murphy was badly crushed, dying almost instantly, and Sayre, who was seriously hurt, was first taken to a hospital at Havre de Grace, after which he was removed to the Homeopathic Hospital, Wilmington. Three or four of the cars directly following the engine were derailed, but did not turn over. Two of the express cars were badly damaged and thrown across the track, tying up the traffic entirely. None of the passengers were reported injured. Wrecking crews were immediately sent from Wilmington and other nearby stations. All traffic on the "Penny" was diverted over the B. & O. between the West Yard and Baltimore.

Delaware's Horticultural Exhibit

The Horticultural Department of the Delaware Experiment Station had an interesting exhibit at the meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society held at Wilmington from January 12 to January 16. This exhibit comprised eighty varieties of Irish potatoes, showing the yield for the past season, eighty-five preserved varieties of peaches, plums, grapes, and currants, twenty-five plates of apples, pears and quinces, thirty plates of different varieties of grapes which have been in cold storage.

Suffrage Campaign
In Delaware

Members of the Delaware campaign committee for equal suffrage are carrying forward the work in an active manner, their plans including every section of the State. Mrs. Florence Bayard Hilles, who is a member of the advisory council of the Congressional Union, attended a meeting of the Council in Washington on Saturday. Since her return she has been busy working out plans for the campaign in this State, which have now assumed interesting proportions. Miss Mabel Vernon is now in Dover, in charge of the headquarters recently opened in the State capital. On Tuesday she addressed the first of a series of parlor meetings held at the home of Mrs. Henry Ridgely.

Gratitude From
Belgian Children

Bringing hundreds of letters from orphan children of Belgium, Germany and France addressed to the children of the United States, expressing their gratitude for the Christmas remembrances conveyed by the American Santa Claus ship Jason, John Callan O'Loughlin, who had charge of the distribution of the gifts, arrived in Philadelphia on the steamship Orduna. "The loading and despatching of the Jason by American children will prove to be one of the greatest things that the United States has done during the war," said Mr. O'Loughlin. "At every place visited we were received with enthusiasm, and I found that in hundreds of homes the Jason's gifts were all that the little war-made orphans received. The children were exceedingly grateful and asked nothing better than to be able some day to visit the land where the unfortunate and helpless were remembered as they had been."

MEETING OF FISHERMAN

To Discuss Proposed Uniform Fish Law

The laws of Delaware governing the taking of fish are so complex and unsatisfactory that the Board of Game and Fish Commissioners have recommended the enactment of an entirely new and uniform fish law.

That this law may best serve the interests of all the Fishermen of Delaware, the Board desires to consult and advise with fishermen from all parts of the State before submitting the proposed bill to the Legislature.

All those interested in the preservation and development of the Fish industry in both the inland and coastal waters of Delaware are invited to meet with the Board at the State Armory, in Dover, on Wednesday, January 20, 1915, at 10 a. m., to discuss and prepare the proposed law. A representative or committee from each community interested in fishing should be present.

John P. LeFevre,
Chief Warden.

Electricity On The Farm

On Wednesday evening, January 20, at 8 o'clock, Mr. T. W. Price, of the General Electric Company, will deliver a lecture in the Delaware College Oratory on "The Application of Electricity to Farm Purposes." The lecture will be given under the auspices of the Engineers' Society of Delaware and will be illustrated by lantern slides. The public is cordially invited to be present.

First Basket Ball Game

Delaware's basket ball season opens this evening with a contest with Temple University, in the College gymnasium. In the hard practice of the last week Coach McAvoy has had Captain Cann, Weiner, Wills, Geoghegan, and Doherty in the varsity line-up, while D. Horsey, H. Horsey, E. Wilson, Thomas, Bowen and Elliott were played on the scrubs.

The Growth Of Delaware

Dr. Mitchell, president of Delaware College, addressed the pupils of Wilmington High School last Monday. In the course of his remarks he said:

"Delaware College represents the ideal type of educational co-operation. Federal aid has grown from $5,000 to 1870 to $90,000 in 1914, and promises to steadily, if not rapidly, increase by Congressional acts. The Alumni have secured a $66,000 endowment fund, the first check for interest from this being received last week. This means greater opportunity in training for a more cultured, efficient citizenship.

"I believe that the College is destined to unfold as Dartmouth has done and in the near future reach the ideal 500 students. This, I believe, should be the limit set.

"The educational renaissance in Delaware is in evidence in the spirit of earnest co-operation that is manifested among all of the units of the system. Dr. Wagner is doing pioneer work throughout the State. The teachers of the rural schools are manifesting greater interest than ever before and all of the agencies at the present seem to point to higher educational standards than have ever existed at any time before in Delaware.

City Provides Employment

Wilmington Council on Thursday evening voted without dissent to borrow $400,000 to improve and pave streets thus giving work to all residents. Each member of Council will list streets to be improved in his ward and the final tabulation will be sent to the Street and Sewer Department for estimate of cost.

Quarantine Not Lifted

Dr. H. P. Eves has announced that all efforts to have the cattle quarantine lifted in the two lower hundreds of New Castle county have failed. Permission had been given to move cattle but it was rescinded. More or less trouble has resulted for holders of sales of stock on farms.

Promoted To Associate Superintendent

Friends in Newark have learned with pleasure of the promotion of Albert H. Raub, to the position of associate superintendent of the public schools of Philadelphia. William C. Jacobs, the newly elected superintendent of schools, who succeeds Governor-elect Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, according to the custom, last Thursday recommended to the committee two names of distant superintendents, from which the Board should choose his associate superintendent. Mr. Raub's election was made unanimous. The new associate superintendent has many friends in Newark, his home for many years. Mr. Raub is an alumnus of Delaware College, class 1891. Immediately following his graduation he became principal of the Newark Public School. During Mr. Raub's principalship the enrollment of the school was increased from 180 in September, 1890, to 280, in June, 1892. The first class graduated from the consolidated districts was in 1892, under his direction. Mr. Raub was later, for a period of ten years, principal of one of the largest elementary schools in Pennsylvania. Since 1909 he has served as district superintendent.

Lectures In Historical Series

On Thursday evening, January 14, Dr. William E. Linglebach, Professor of Modern History in the University of Pennsylvania, will give a lecture at Delaware College upon "The Basic Factors of the European War." Aside from its timeliness, this lecture will be significant as the result of personal observation and study in Europe last summer.

Dr. Albert Bushnell Hart, Professor of Government at Harvard University, has been secured for one of the lectures in the Historical Series. The lecture will be given in the College Oratory on the evening of February 13, and part of that day will be spent by Professor Hart in becoming acquainted with Delaware College and its work.

STATE FINANCES AND APPROPRIATIONS

It is my wish (in which I hope you will concur) that you promptly appoint either a joint committee from your respective Houses, or designate some one of your standing committees, to act conjointly, to confer with the Governor regarding these matters. I believe that if some such plan is adopted whereby the Executive and Legis-

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE

So prominent in detailed practical interest in educational affairs, Governor Miller's administration has been rightly stamped as one of Educational Advance in Delaware. For this interest, he has won the respectful attention of the citizens at large, irrespective of party. He has held that the improvement of our whole school system is the real basis for a stronger citizenship and greater Delaware. His message read before the General Assembly on last Thursday only emphasizes the policy heretofore presented and practiced in his official position. Further than that, the Message has added another striking feature to the Administration—that of Economy. As Governor of the State, he has announced a policy of business methods as applied to public affairs. The condition of the State finances has been presented to the members so that they can see just what the resources are. This information, an innovation in itself, serves as a check on reckless appropriations. Far too often in the past, money has been voted without any idea whether the State could afford it or not. Under the present scheme, it becomes a matter of plain every day business. The result can only be estimated. A precedent will be established that will be unpopular as well as unwise to break.

These prominent features are, however, only a small part of the message. The topics discussed show interest and detailed information of affairs in all sections throughout the State. There is not a semblance of sectionalism in the whole address. It is truly a State document. No message in our recollection has been received with so much generous applause by the newspapers. Void of party partisanship, it has been accepted by the commonsense of the State as worthy of more than ordinary consideration. The keynote of the Address is Service. The members of the General Assembly will do well to consider, seriously its recommendations and do their part in projecting the legislation as outlined.

RURAL WEEKLIES

Ex-Governor Francis of Missouri speaking of the rural weekly once said:

"Each year the local paper gives from $500 to $1,000 in free lines to the community in which he is located. No other agency can or will do this. The editor, in proportion to his means, does more for his town than any ten men, and in fairness he ought to be supported—not because you like him or admire his writings, but because the local paper is the best investment a community can make. It may not be brilliantly edited or crowded with thought, but financially it is of more benefit to the community than the preacher or teacher. Understand me, I do not mean mentally, and yet on moral questions you will find most of the papers on the right side. Today the editor of the local papers do the most for the least money of any people on earth."

NEWARK HACK SERVICE

It's not merely local pride but an appreciated Truth that Newark stands first in the State in many things of public utilities and service. The latest is the transfer service given by the Strahorn and the Stiltz Auto Transfers. A few weeks ago A. L. Stiltz came out with a fine passenger car, to be followed by Chas W. Strahorn replacing the old bus with a new car. There is no town from Philadelphia to Cape Charles that has anything to approach these new cars. They are not the usual rural town Depot hack we have experienced both in fact and fiction, but they represent real luxury. It's good to be met with such service on our return home. And it is a fine advertisement for first impression to strangers. Both men are to be congratulated.

HIT THE BALL

The world admires a wit, loves a humorist, but tires of the practical joker. The Democrats in their explanation of business conditions have become a joke. Varied from "psychological conditions," "the war" and now the latest—"an attitude of mind," their joke has lost its point. It is over a year now since that party's spokesman gave out statements of a rush of business throughout the country. The war, of course, did not enter into the prophecy. But a year ago—before the war began, they were calling the depression a "psychological condition." During the late summer, the War furnished the popular excuse. Now after five months of international strife, the only explanation is that business depends on an "attitude of the mind." President Wilson says the secret of public service is like playing golf—the main thing is to hit the ball. And right he is. Graceful, polished always, he never said anything wiser. What the country wants today is business. Any explanation by the party in power, must "hit the ball." We have had enough sun parlor talk on the game.

It is a matter of pride to note recognition given the local representatives at Dover. Our Senator, Mr. Hoffecker, Representative Richards of White Clay and Representative Evans from Pender are all given prominent recognition on the various committees.

After this week, The Post will have a weekly letter from Dover, giving a review of the Legislative proceedings.

Our attention has been called to Newark's impression of Billy Sunday. An article by anyone who has heard him will be appreciated.

Comment On Governor's Message

If you don't have any money to spend, don't spend it! What an iconoclast is Governor Charles R. Miller!

Very bluntly he advises Delaware's Legislature that dwindling State income compels lessened expenditures.

The Governor, being an exceptionally able business man, has been used to cutting his coats according to the cloth available. But that is not the routine method of most government.

Pile up the taxes, increase the appropriations and let us all have a nibble at the public crib, no matter how much the ordinary individual must economize! Everybody saves but Congresses and Legislatures, and they spread the butter on thicker than ever. Not since Colonel Haslet led the best-dressed regiment in Washington's army to Long Island, where birth was given to "Blue Hens Chickens," has anything more refreshing come out of Delaware than Governor Miller's business-like note in his message to the lawmakers.

Friends Remember Golden Wedding Day

The following original poems were received by Mr. and Mrs. James M. Pennington on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary, celebrated on December 29, 1914:

YOUR GOLDEN WEDDING DAY
Fifty years of wedded life—Oh, truly that must be
A precious sheaf of memories this morning unto thee;
A book of golden pages whereon with faithful care
You've penned the sweetest story e'er written anywhere.
And we who love that story rejoice today with you,
And send sincerest greetings and wishes firm and true,
For pages still unwritten e'en sweeter than the rest
For memories still more precious for futures still more blest.
YOUR GOLDEN WEDDING DAY
I cannot bring you golden treasure
Finely wrought by artist's skill,
But I bring you love's full measure
Hoping joy your hearts may thrill.

I'll not recount the year that's vanished
Since thou the bridegroom took thy bride,
And travelled on the way together
Half a century, side by side.

Each performing well your duty
As you travelled on your way;
Now your loving friends do greet you
On your golden wedding day.

May no lowering clouds pass o'er you
As you near the setting sun,
But joy and peace be with you
Until your earthly work is done.

Then hand in hand pass o'er the river
To the clear bright "Summer Land,"
There celebrate your diamond wedding
Greeted by an angel band.

PEOPLES' COLUMN

Mr. Washburn Replies To H. H. C.

To the Editor of The Post:

In your issue of January 6th "H. H. C." uses the People's Column to show that the United States Post Office Department has failed for some months to furnish a mail and parcel post box for outside use, at the Post Office and, with a saving "if" adds: "What nonsense to advocate public or federal ownership of all public utilities" and closes with the statement that it is "such stupid governmental red-tape as this that makes one look askance at the proposed government ownership of telephone and telegraph lines." I can but sympathize with one who, walking down the publicly owned street on a municipally owned sidewalk, past the State owned college and the publicly owned school, by a publicly owned park, drained by publicly owned sewers, to a publicly controlled post office building, to get his governmentally carried mail and packages, finds that the publicly owned post office department, which has brought his letters, from thousands of miles away, on special government-hired trains at the greatest possible speed, at two cents per letter, has neglected to get that box placed as soon as it ought to be placed. Having only some hundreds of thousands of such details to attend to each month and serving only a hundred million people the neglect is quite inexcusable. But if such neglect proves that the government should not be allowed to handle such matters and that it is not safe to trust the telephones and other public utilities to public ownership, I hope that your correspondent will explain what similar neglect by a private corporation, as, for example, an express company, proves when it takes a package and never delivers it at all. And what does it prove when the express company not only keeps the package, but, as it has done in more than one instance, never pays for the loss! And what does it prove when a telephone company, on long distance messages, charges an unfair rate. Does the same logic which helps government ownership to be wrong when a post office does not get the box quick enough prove that private ownership is wrong when an express company does not produce a box entrusted to it?

Does our friend believe his own logic: would he put the office back in the private corporation class; would he give up streets, sidewalks, schools, sewers, and many other things to private ownership and management? If so he should say so frankly and if not I would like to have him tell by what logic he thinks the telephone and telegraph service should not also be owned and conducted by the government. How often do you hear this expression? Yet when the suit or overcoat is delivered to you the collar either stands away from the neck or it ropes across the back or something else is the matter that does not make you feel comfortable and at your best. My long list of clinging customers who are both satisfied with the goods and the moderate prices show that what I say when I tell you that I give you a perfect fit is so.

and eighty-one dollars to meet the offer of the national government.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE

The Women's College of Delaware was opened for the reception of students on September 15, 1914. The Dean, Miss Winifred J. Robinson, assumed her duties early in the summer. The dedication of the buildings, laying of the corner stone and installation of the Dean, were all celebrated simultaneously with ceremonies appropriate to the occasion on Saturday, October 10, 1914. Fifty-eight students were enrolled when the College opened. The number being so much larger than anticipated indicates that the young women of Delaware are fully alive to the opportunity which is now offered for them to procure a practical education as comprehensive in its scope as that offered by some of the larger colleges. Therefore in the future it will not be necessary for our young women to go outside of the State to obtain the advantages to be derived from a college education.

LIVESTOCK SANITARY BOARD

On November 9th last the United States Government, through the Department of Agriculture, declared the State of Delaware under quarantine on account of hoof and mouth disease having broken out in Mill Creek Hundred, New Castle county. This disease had become so prevalent throughout the country that fifty states had already at that time been placed under quarantine by the national government.

To protect the live stock interests of our State and comply with the regulations prescribed by the national government the State Livestock Sanitary Board was forced to take immediate action. New Castle county of necessity was placed under strict quarantine, all cloven footed animals upon premises where the disease was found were killed and an effective patrol was established to prevent the spread of the disease. By the most diligent activity on the part of the United States and State veterinarians, who deserve your highest commendation, the disease was practically confined to the localities where first discovered and held in check. A more detailed report of this campaign will be presented to you through the State Livestock Sanitary Board and I recommend that you act favorably upon the request for such financial assistance as the Board may be compelled to request.

The citizens of Kent and Sussex counties can hardly appreciate the inconvenience and annoyance experienced by their fellow citizens living within the quarantined districts. This trouble came just as the hunting season opened and deprived many citizens of a few days sport which they had been contemplating for months. With few exceptions the farmers, sportsmen, and others, co-operated with the authorities and thereby materially aided in preventing the spread of the disease throughout the State. The Attorney General by the prompt manner with which he enforced the laws against those who violated the quarantine regulations contributed valuable assistance in the suppression of the disease.

The prevalence of hog cholera in the State, especially in Sussex County, is such as to threaten the destruction of this important industry. I counsel you at this session to enact such legislation as will give the State Livestock Sanitary Board sufficient authority and financial assistance to combat and effectually eradicate this epidemic. Supplied with these two essentials, hog raising, by use of methods employed with perfect success in other States, (with which methods the Board is familiar) can be continued in Delaware successfully and profitably.

The epidemics to which I have referred, as well as other diseases, are liable to break out in your State unannounced and find us helpless to resist them. At such times immediate action is necessary to prevent disastrous results. There should be ways and means provided to legally procure financial assistance to meet such emergencies. Would it not be advisable to vest the Governor, the State Livestock Sanitary Board, the Attorney General, and the State Treasurer with authority to make such financial arrangements as emergencies of this character might in their judgment demand?

INFECTIOUS DISEASES (BIZZARDS)

The outbreak of the foot and mouth disease in the upper part of this State has brought to our attention the possibility of this disease being transmitted from one locality to another. It is a well established fact that infection is conveyed by dogs, cats, animals and birds—the latter have been known to carry disease a long distance. This being the case authorities agree that the buzzard is a menace to the livestock industry. These birds are now protected on the assumption that they are useful as scavengers.

Therefore it is recommended that you enact at the present session such legislation as will ensure the prompt and effectual extermination of these birds.

RABIES

The disease of rabies among dogs which is prevalent throughout the State has become a menace to our citizens and the animal industry of our State. Its spread is no doubt due to the great number of stray dogs which are running at large because they have no owners. In order to effectively stop this menace I recommend that a State dog license law be enacted which will require all dogs to be registered with the Clerks of the Peace of the respective counties, and a fee of one dollar be charged for this registration. These licenses could be issued by the local Justices of the Peace in the same manner as the marriage licenses are handled. The killing of all unregistered dogs running at large by the proper authorities, would give us a better class of dogs, and tend to considerably reduce the cases of rabies.

PUBLIC ARCHIVES COMMISSION

I desire to call your attention to the work being done by the Public Archives Commission which has been engaged during the past two years in searching for State papers of historical interest and value to the State. Our Revolutionary records which were supposed to have been lost have been unearthed, and within a short time all of the State records and papers prior to 1850 will be properly and safely filed in the fire-proof room of the Public Archives Commission. The Revolutionary Records and those of the war of 1812 will be in printed form as a result of the appropriation allowed by the last General Assembly.

CAESAR RODNEY

I have been reminded by citizens from without our State that there is no painting of Caesar Rodney in Independence Hall in Philadelphia and that inasmuch as there is no likeness of sufficient authenticity extant from which a portrait could be painted, the State should erect a tablet to commemorate the patriotic services which this distinguished Delawarean rendered his State and Country.

The expense of providing a tribute of this character is so small that it would seem the State of Delaware could with propriety express the patriotic sentiment of her citizens by placing in Independence Hall a tablet to the memory of her distinguished son.

DRAFTING AND REFERENCE SERVICE

The past years a great amount of time has been uselessly expended by members of the General Assembly, in considering bills which after they were enacted into laws have been found to be unconstitutional, obscure, and defective. In the drafting of bills for submission to the law making body, brevity and simplicity, consistent with accuracy in the language of the statutes, should be kept constantly in mind. To provide for the proper preparation of bills many states have established legislative bureaus in charge of a competent attorney, whose duty is not to direct legislation, but only to advise. The bureau feature would be too extensive for the needs and requirements of our State. As a substitute for it, something akin to the New Jersey plan could be adopted in Delaware, at a minimum expense.

In New Jersey the Attorney General appoints a competent counsel at law, of the State, to act as legislative advisor or examiner during the month of December, and during the session of the General Assembly, and for such further time as shall be designated by the president of the Senate and the speaker of the House, on request of either house of the General Assembly, or any committee or member thereof. His duty shall be to examine all bills and resolutions, and any amendments thereto, for the purpose of avoiding repetition and unconstitutional provisions, thus insuring accuracy in text, and references to existing statutes, and to advise as to the constitutionality and effect of proposed legislation.

The appointment of this advisor by the Attorney General ought to ensure the services of a counsellor sufficiently learned in the law to perform properly the duties required. The compensation of this official could be fixed by statutes or by some other method whereby he would be adequately compensated for his services. Should this suggestion not find favor with you at the present session, some plan might be devised whereby at a future

General Assembly the system, in some form could be profitably adopted.

PRIMARY ELECTION LAWS

The statute passed at the last session of the General Assembly extending the Primary law to Kent and Sussex counties, received its first trial at the primaries held previous to the last general election. There were many instances where the spirit of the Primary law was violated by over-zealous people in both parties, which resulted in members of both parties participating in the primaries of the opposite party. Such practices violate the intent of the law and do not conform with the principles of honesty and fairness. If the law could be amended so as to provide for holding party primaries on the same day in each county, the conditions cited above would be reduced to a minimum and the spirit of the law upheld.

STATE MILITIA

It has been demonstrated that the Militia Organization of your State has attained a high degree of efficiency. It took part in the Inaugural parade at Washington on March 4th, 1913, and received high commendation from the authorities for its military bearing and excellent deportment. In July 1914 a test of the organization's efficiency was fully illustrated by a practice march, which was begun at the State Rifle Range, New Castle, on July 19th and ended at Milford on July 26th, covering a distance of about eighty miles. During this march the officers and men were subjected to the same service conditions they would have experienced if called into active service within or without the State. This march gave the citizens throughout the State an opportunity to observe the personnel, equipment, and discipline of the organization. Having accompanied the troops during this time, I can bear personal testimony as to the benefit of this character of service to our citizen soldiery.

As at present organized, our State Militia consists of a regiment of eight companies of infantry, which under a recent ruling of the War Department, the Federal authorities claim, does not conform with the United States militia regulations. In order to comply with this ruling, it will be necessary to organize four additional companies or change our present regimental organization to that of an organization consisting of two separate battalions of four companies each. In view of these conditions I submit this matter to your for your consideration and determination.

STATE HIGHWAYS

Concerning this important subject so much has been spoken and written, that any extended discussion of the matter at this time seems unnecessary. The General Assembly in 1913 ratified an amendment to the Constitution so that now, under certain circumstances, state aid may be legally obtained for highway construction. The growing tendency to issue long time bonds for construction of new roads serves to increase the ability of the counties to properly maintain them in good condition. This appeals to me as being wasteful and extravagant. We had better have a reasonable mileage of good roads, than a large mileage of inferior roads. The patrol system which has been adopted by most of the New England states has reduced the cost of maintenance and prolonged the life of the initial construction. Wider tires would have a very beneficial effect upon our roads and materially reduce the cost of their maintenance.

Light on vehicles are now required in many states, their use serving to prevent accidents at night. With the growing popularity of the automobile, travel on the highways increases every year, making the need for the adoption of such a precautionary measure as to lights more apparent. It would seem that the part of wisdom for our State to provide some legislation which would reduce the possibility of this character of accidents.

CITY OF WILMINGTON

Legislation having important bearing upon the interests of the citizens of Wilmington will in all probability be presented for your consideration. The Constitution wisely provides that all our cities and municipalities shall come to the General Assembly for their legislation.

I therefore trust that you will give earnest consideration to whatever legislation may be presented to you affecting the city of Wilmington.

MESSAGE OF THE GOVERNOR

orably upon the recommendations which the Commissioner of Insurance and Banking has incorporated in his report, which will shortly be presented to you. This action on your part is essential if the State of Delaware is to retain the respect and confidence of those who transact business with her institutions. Circumstances have occurred under the operations of the present insurance law, which render it imperative that those laws be altered and amended immediately.

The suggestions which the Commissioner will submit to you in his report for the regulation of the State Banks and Trust companies are most important, and they ought to receive your cordial endorsement and be enacted promptly into laws, then the shareholders and depositors will receive the additional protection of State supervision, and the business of all our financial institutions will be conducted in conformity with the laws and regulations which have been adopted for the safe conduct of the banking business throughout the country.

AUTOMOBILE LAWS

The present General Automobile law was passed for the purpose of increasing the State revenues and giving to the citizen and travelling public adequate protection. Under present conditions neither of these objects has been fully accomplished, principally because the constables and local officials throughout the State have failed in the performance of their duties. Increased diligence and more stringent enforcement of the laws will accomplish the result, and be productive of much good. Two State detectives connected with the Attorney General's office, and the State Revenue Collector, are the only officials which the State can command to carry this law into effect. It is obviously impossible for these officials to devote sufficient time to this important matter. I recommend that you authorize the Governor to appoint one or more automobile inspectors for each County, who shall act in conjunction with the State Department, so that the Secretary of State, who has charge of these matters, can procure for the State the full amount of revenue to which it is entitled. The salary of these inspectors could be placed at a nominal figure and be augmented by additional remuneration out of the fines collected.

That section of the Motor Vehicle Law which provides for the revocation of a license, should be amended in such a manner as to be made practicable. Under the present provisions of this section it is almost impossible to revoke the license. Many instances have occurred where licenses should have been revoked, but the number of convictions required before revocation can be secured, makes revocation difficult, and this encourages reckless drivers to continually break the law, thus creating a condition which is manifestly detrimental to the best interests of the general public. It is for you to supply the remedy promptly by passing the necessary legislation.

SALARY OF LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, STATE TREASURER, AND INSURANCE COMMISSIONER

I am of the opinion that the office of Lieutenant Governor, created by the Constitution of 1897, should be placed upon a specific salary basis. It now carries a per diem allowance, the same as is given to the members of the General Assembly, which gives that office in the years when the General Assembly sits, and for the alternate years no compensation, except a per diem allowance for meetings of the Board of Pardon.

I suggest that the Constitution be so amended as to provide a specific salary for the Lieutenant Governor, such as would befit the dignity and importance of the office. In this connection I would also suggest that the statutes providing for the compensation of the State Treasurer and the Insurance Commissioner be so amended as to provide a specific salary for these two officials instead of the salary and fees now allowed them.
